Judge Emmert imposed a gag order in Deal scuttled in dispute over SMU's Bush library

DALLAS (AP) — A deal has evaporated that would have ended the property dispute involving George W. Bush's presidential library at Southern University, attorneys on both sides of the case said Tuesday.

Two former condominium owners filed a lawsuit accusing the school of illegally taking control of a Dallas condo complex and forcing out the residents. Last month, former condo owners Gary Vodicka and Robert Tafel reached confidential agreements with SMU to end the dispute.

University attorney Mark Lanier said Tuesday that Vodicka and Tafel backed out of the settlement to try to squeeze more money

Texas," Lanier said. However, Vodicka contended the deal with SMU fell apart after the university tried to expand the settlement beyond its original

Vodicka said the alleged bait-and-switch was the equivalent of SMU going to the grocery store to buy "milk, cereal, eggs and peanuts, and now they want filet mignon, trout almondine and red snapper."

"I did not agree to any of that," Vodicka said, "And if they want all that, then they have to pay for it."

In 2005, vodicka and Tafel filed their lawsuit that claimed SMU lied about its intention to use the condominium property for the Bush library. SMU has said the process of acquiring the complex was lawful and that it did not intend to bid for Bush's presidential library when it began buying condos in Lawrence Friedman, Tafel's attorney, did not immediately respond to a message Tuesday left by The Associated Press.

A court hearing is scheduled for Friday and the settlement dispute is likely to be discussed, Vodicka and Lanier said.

That beaten, broken woman is gone now. Her hair is all one length and beautiful again. She speaks with confidence and strength. She holds down three jobs to support herself, her toddler daughter and teen-age son. She has her own home and it's filled with love, not abuse.

She credits a part of her healing to the listening ear and support of her Tralee advocate.

"It's a wonder I didn't have a heart attack," Stacey remembers of that time when she was living in the chains of emotional and physical abuse. "My heart was beating so fast, all the time. I was always scared."

She doesn't feel fear now, she says. Her abuser presently resides in prison. He's up for parole in a year, but Stacey knows that Tralee will be there to advocate for her safety and to listen and support her as her healing continues.

Stacey is a real person who was served by Tralee Crisis Center this past year. Her story is shared with her permission because she believes that others can learn from her story and break the cycle of violence as she has done as she has done.

This year marks the 25th year Tralee Crisis Center has been a vital part of Pampa and the surrounding area. Tralee is the primary source – and in most areas, the only source – of victim services for Carson, Childress, Collingsworth, Donley, Gray, Hemphill, Roberts and Wheeler counties. Tralee's service area covers more than 6,400 square miles and affects more approximately 52,000 citizens.

Tralee is a non-profit agency, guided by a Board of Directors made up of community volunteers. The agency maintains a central office here in Pampa, a shelter, and a resale shop with 18 staff and 26 trained volunteers. Tralee is funded through the United Way, donations from foundations, civic groups, businesses, and individuals and through government grants. The annual budget is just under $500,000.

Tralee's mission is to provide shelter and support services to victims of family violence, sexual assault and other violent crimes, to educate the community about the causes and implications of family violence, to help the public understand victims' needs and to help victims know what resources are available to them. Tralee staff members consult with and help train other community service providers and recruit and train volunteers to assist victims who come to the agency for help.

Tralee's advocates work with local law enforcement agencies, county and district attorneys, courts, social service and health agencies to ensure that victims receive a seamless support as they go through the legal process of holding perpetrators accountable and as they return to a normal life after a lifechanging violent experience.

Tralee provides crisis intervention, safe shelter, peer counseling, emergency transportation, law enforcement, medical and legal accompaniment, assistance with protective orders and crime victim compensation applications and guidance through the legal process. Weekly women's group meetings

"HE TOLD ME IT WAS ALL PERFECTLY LEGAL!"

Dear Abby...

By Pauline & Jeanne Phillips

DEAR ABBY: Some friends and I shared a vacation house last month. While I was out hiking, a supposed friend, "Lynette," rummaged through my purse (which had been stashed in a closet) and made a non-emergency phone call on my cell. She didn't tell me about it. I found out on my own.

It's not that I mind her using my phone, but a purse is private, and I felt violated. Let me add that she also knew about an article I had packed in a zipped pouch that I keep in my beach bag. I don't know why she snooped through my stuff.

Am I wrong to be upset? And do you think this "friendship" is worth continuing? -- LIVID IN LEXINGTON, KY

DEAR LIVID: Are you wrong to be upset? No. And the friendship is only worth continuing if you set some boundaries, because Lynette appears not to understand the concept of

DEAR ABBY: What is the protocol when parents dine out with their successful, married adult children and their spouses? As parents, are we expected to pay for their meals and costly alcoholic beverages for the rest of our lives? Or it is fair for these adult children -- all of whom have well-paying jobs -- to split the bill and tip with

We feel each couple at the table should chip in and pay their share of the costs whether it's our adult kids or contemporaries -but we have been criticized for it. It has reached the point that my husband and I split an entree to keep our restaurant bill within reason.

We're approaching retirement age. Shouldn't it be our choice whether we "treat" others to a meal or not? -- PUZZLED IN LOUISIANA

DEAR PUZZLED: Of course the choice should be yours. However, you created this "monster," so it is up to you to set the record straight. The way to do that is to make clear to your successful adult children before their next bite that you are all adults now and that as adults they will be responsible for paying their part of the tab.

DEAR ABBY: My former boss, "Ken," is 30 years older than I am. We slept together several months ago while my boyfriend, "Vinny," and I were separated. The affair was short-lived, and Vinny and I reconciled.

When I discovered I was pregnant, Vinny and I eloped. Abby, I'm almost positive this is Vinny's baby, but I'm not 100 percent sure, so I told him everything.

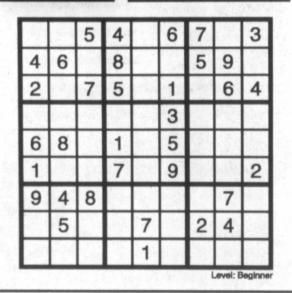

Now Vinny wants me to tell Ken and his wife that I need a paternity test. I agree that Ken's wife needs to know, but I'm afraid that bringing this out will bring some serious repercussions. What should I do? -- NEEDS CLOSURE IN OHIO

DEAR NEEDS CLOSURE: You and Vinny should have the DNA test performed. If it turns out the baby isn't Vinny's and you're afraid to approach Ken and his wife for fear that Ken might retaliate in some way that could hurt your career, consult a lawyer before telling them about the upcoming blessed

If Ken is the father, he has an obligation to support his child. And you'll be doing the wife a favor, because if your former boss is the naughty boy I suspect he is, you aren't the first woman he has had unprotected sex with, and she needs to be tested for-

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Wednesday, Aug. 26, 2009:

This year, open up to swift changes, which often come from others' exagger-ated reactions. By adopting a quieter attitude, you'll draw the types of results you desire. Maintain an element of control, if not over others, then over yourself. Often you might wonder about what is going on behind the scenes, anticipating changes. Others will tend to hold back in your personal life. Often you take their actions personally. If you are single, you could choose the wrong person, or the emotionally unavailable person. You can't get to know someone well enough before diving into a relationship or deciding this person is it. SCORPIO always adds another perspective.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-I 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
*** Pressure builds. You have decisions to make. But make sure you are informed. Not everyone has to agree with you. Unexpected news comes in from out of left field. Tonight: Dinner for two. TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

**** Defer to others with the knowledge that you must grow and evolve to a new level. Walk away from a power play; don't indulge in a contest of wills. If not handled properly, an angry moment could cost you more than you realize. Tonight: Dinner for two. GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

*** Stay on top of your work. You often waste time running around nervous, trying to handle everything. Eventually, something slips between the cracks. Get as much completed as you one hoop after another. Tonig CANCER (June 21-July 22)

**** Your creativity bubbles forth, and suddenly you are dealing with a brand-new idea for an old situation. If someone is challenging, you might be more reactive than normal. Stop and think about your reaction. Are you hold-ing distorted feelings? Tonight: Visit with a friend.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) ** Investigate what is going on with you, as well as with a co-worker. At present, you see this person as difficult. On the other hand, you note a lot of feelings popping up from out of nowhere.

Tonight: Happy at home. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) **** Keep communication flourishing. Your perspective changes radical-ly given more information and people's behavior. You might be leaning in one direction, but you could head in the opposite direction later. Tonight: Catch up on a friend's news. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) *** Sometimes your need to disclose a matter or review with someone else could lead you in a new direction. Investigate options rather than shut them down. Extremes and an ability to identify with others come forth. Tonight: Time

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) **** While many people can run rings around others, you are not to be toyed with. How you let someone know that enough is enough might be very uncomfortable for him or her, but extremely necessary. The fur might fly, and it needs to happen. Stay on top your game. Tonight: Early, if possible. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

*** No one can blame you for drag ging your heels. You could be overwhelmed. You often have a way of enlighteni enlightening your life through periods of withdrawal. Take your time tossing yourself back into the flow of life again. Tonight: Nap and then decide.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) **** You might want to see a situa-tion in a new light if you are frustrated by the present indications. Lighten up some and detach. Ask yourself some questions about the role of this issue in your life How could you bypass it? Don't let anger get to you. Tonight: Where people are AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

*** All eyes turn to you. Your perspective changes radically when you see what looks like a very defiant individual who could impact your work or daily life. Know when to put yourself on cruise control and leave a situation. A trusted friend or loved one remains responsive Tonight: A must appearance.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) **** Look to others to help you gain a new perspective or overview. Not everything is exactly as it seems or will be. In some manner, you are preventing yourself from seeing the whole situation. Detach, and you might gain more insight. Listen to another person's suggesti

Lady Harvesters sweep Clinton, fall to Plainview

BY ANDREW GLOVER aglover@thepampanews.com

The Pampa Lady Harvesters swept Clinton (25-21, 25-20, 25-18) and lost to Plainview (25-14, 14-25, 16-25, 26-24, 6-15).

Pampa trailed Plainview 24-23 in the fourth game, with the Lady Bulldogs serving, but Taryn Eubanks got a kill that tied the game at 24. Eubanks said she caught Plainview's defense being lazy.

"I just put the ball in play and it worked," Eubanks said.

In the fifth game, Plainview jumped out to an early 4-1 lead and went on to win the match. Senior Kara Stephens said the team took a step back against Plainview.

"We didn't use anything we had been using in practice," Stephens said. "We just fell apart."

Head coach Libby Garza said her team took Plainview for granted.

"We got lazy on the fundamentals," Garza said.
"We stopped talking.
Regardless if we are young or not, everybody when they make mistakes they turn to themselves. They stop talking they stop trusting each other."

The Lady Harvesters played strong in the first game against Plainview. Pampa jumped out to a 7-3 lead, and maintained at least a three point lead. The Lady Harvesters pulled away leading 15-10, scoring four out of the next five points. Pampa went on to win by 11.

win by 11.

In the second game, both teams were exchanging points, with Plainview leading 13-12. From that point in the game, the Lady Bulldogs took control scoring four of the next five points, to lead 17-13. Garza called timeout, but it didn't help her team. Plainview outscored them 8-1 to end the game.

Pampa started well in the third game, gaining a 6-4 lead. The teams played back and forth for a little while, but the Lady Bulldogs took over the game. With the Lady Harvesters leading 8-7, Plainview outscored them 4-1 to take a 12-8 lead. The Lady Bulldogs maintained at least a four-point lead winning the game by nine.

Frustration started building up in the third game, as Garza had to take Stephens aside during a timeout. The head coach said the team feeds off of how Stephens does offensively.

"But if she is having an off match offensively, everyone else kind of freaks out instead of saying this is my chance to step up," Garza said. "It's hard when you have three girls out there, Emilie, Taryn and Kara who are trying to pick everybody up. Nobody is looking at them and goes there own way."

Trailing in the match 2-1, the Lady Harvesters started strong in the fourth game. Pampa jumped out to a 4-1 lead, and expanded it to 7-3. Plainview got back in the game with a 4-1 run, and eventually gained the lead 16-14. Both teams went back and forth till the end of the game, with Pampa winning. Stephens said the team realized they had to come together after they lost games two and three.

"We wanted that fifth game," Stephens said. "But when did get the fifth game, we didn't take advantage."

The Plainview match was the second match in a row for the Harvesters. Pampa started their day by playing Clinton, and the Lady Bulldogs were resting after they started the day, playing Clinton. Garza said she wasn't going to let Plainview's rest be an excuse for how they played.

"We just kind of gave up," Garza said. "Like I said talking goes a long way in volleyball. It's such a momentum sport that when someone gets the momentum it's hard to break. If you are not talking and leaning on each other then it becomes difficult."

Pampa started the day by playing Clinton. In the first game, Clinton took an early 6-3 advantage. The Lady Harvesters went on a 6-1 run to take a 9-7 lead. The Lady Reds went on another run scoring six unanswered points to take a 13-9 lead. Garza called a timeout when their lead got to 18-13 and told her team

"I told them to make sure they were doing the fundamentals right," Garza said. "If they can show composure they would be fine. All we have to do is put the ball on their side of the net and let them make the mistake."

From that point, Pampa took control. The Lady Harvesters outscored the Lady Reds 12-3 to take the first game by four. In the second game, both teams played back and forth, until Pampa went on a 4-0 run to take a 11-6 lead. Pampa did not allow Clinton to get closer than four points winning the match by five. In the third game, Pampa jumped out to a 4-1 lead, but Clinton went on a 4-1 run to tie the game. The Lady Harvesters outscored Clinton 11-4 to take a 16-9 lead. Pampa did not allow Clinton to get closer than five points, sweeping them with a seven point win.

Eubanks said the team was more together during the Clinton match. "We were leaning on each other," Eubanks said.

"We were talking and getting excited when we did something good. The next game we decided we could coast through it. We just got to keep playing consistently."

Garza said the key for her team is to continue taking steps forward and not going backwards.

"Right now it's such a roller coaster," Garza said. "We'll find that character and lose it for the next match. We just got to get more consistent at finishing games, making adjustments during the match and talking during the rally. It's all on our side, we just got to get better on our side."

The junior varsity also played the same teams and won both matches in three games.

The Lady Harvesters next game is September 1 at the Borger Bulldogs.
