Services set for men killed in explosion

DAVID BOWSER
dbowser@thepampanews.com

Services for two Pampa men killed in a pipeline explosion will be on Friday and Saturday.

Memorial services for Steven Douglas "Doug" Odell, 32, will be at 2 p.m. Friday, at Carmichael-Whitley Colonial Chapel, with Leonard Cummings of the Seventh Day Adventist Church of Santa Fe, N.M., officiating.

Services for Johnnie Mike Renner, 44, will be at 2 p.m., Saturday, at the Soldiers for Christ Fellowship in Skellytown, with Howard "Duck" Wright, national vice president of for Soldiers for Christ Fellowship, officiating.

Cremation and arrangements for both men are under the direction of Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Directors.

The two Pampa men were killed as they stood 200 to 300 yards away from the bulldozer Tuesday afternoon waiting for a truck to be loaded with caliche when a ruptured natural gas line exploded.

Authorities said a bulldozer digging caliche struck a natural gas pipeline about two-and-half miles northeast of Darrouzett, sparking the explosion.

The bulldozer operator, Dwayne Wood, 32, of Fritch, was airlifted to Baptist Medical Center in Oklahoma City where he is listed in fair condition. Two other men were treated at the Hemphill County Hospital. A sixth man was uninjured.

Lipscomb County Sheriff James Robertson said the men worked for Nick Thomas Inc. of Canadian, an oilfield service company. Robertson credited the company's training for saving Wood's life.

Robertson said apparently Wood came off the bulldozer and rolled on the ground to extinguish the flames. He said when his deputies arrived on the site of the explosion, they found Wood lying at the foot of the hill, his clothes still smoldering.

Officials said Josh Jackson of Pampa and Ben Martinez of Canadian were taken to Hemphill County Hospital Tuesday after the blast where they were treated for their injuries and released.

Denver-based DCP Midstream shut off valves leading to the 14-inch pipeline and allowed the fire to burn out about 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Federal investigators were in Lipscomb County Wednesday examining

Wanda, the Wandering Turkey, stops morning traffic on U.S. Highway 60, just west of Hobart, as she crosses the street and pecks at the car's tires. staff photo by David Bowser

Community's 'wild pet' hit by a car this morning

DAVID BOWSER
dbowser@thepampanews.com

Wanda, the Wandering Turkey, is no more.

The turkey was killed shortly before 7 a.m. today, when it was struck by a passing vehicle in the 900 block of Wilks. Wanda, named by southwest Pampa residents, was actually a male.

"It was an immature male," said Pampa Animal Control supervisor Monty Montgomery today. "They're known as Jakes." The bird had alternately angered and amused motorists and residents for more than six months as it wandered the neighborhoods. Shortly before being hit in the humid gray dawn today, the turkey snarled morning traffic on Wilks (U.S. Highway 60) east of Hobart (Texas Highway 70), bringing morning commuters to a halt several times. Teresa Dalrymple, who lives in the 1000 block of South Nelson, said everybody she had talked with about the bird said there's nothing that could be done.

Dalrymple and her neighbor,

Robyn Sanders, were worried about the wild turkey that had been roaming Pampa for the last six months. It was first noticed in the downtown area in January. In the last few months, it had moved to southwest Pampa. "She's been around long enough now that we kind of adopted her," Dalrymple said. There are people that would stop and feed the bird, Sanders said. Dalrymple and her neighbors talked with police, animal control officials and even the state game warden about the situa-

Commission hears first reading of parked car ordinance

The Pampa City Commission passed the first reading of a new city ordinance concerning parked cars in front yards.

During Tuesday afternoon's city commission meeting, the Pampa City Commission split 3-2 to support the ordinance. Pampa lawyer Ken Fields spoke in favor of the ordinance that would prevent parking cars in front yards. City Commissioners Neil Fulton and Robert Dixon opposed the measure.

Commissioners also approved supporting a group of panhandle cities in suspending the effective date for Southwestern Public Services rate increase for 90 days while the cities reviews the massive amount of data in the rate increase request.

The electric utility that serves Pampa filed for an increase of its base rate of $62 million across their service area. It would mean a monthly increase in the base rate of about $9.31 in the summer and $11.71 in the winter over current base rates. That's a 16 percent increase in the summer and a 24 percent increase in the winter.

SPS officials said that would translate into an increase of about $5.60 to $7.00 per month in residential rates.

City officials said that the extra time is needed because of the voluminous amount of material that must be reviewed by city staff.

The commission also approved a lease agreement with New Cingular Wireless PCS, LLC, for a communication antenna atop the Foster Street water tower.

The lease is for five years at $900 per month.

The commission approved a move to expand the city's seal coating project.

In May, the commission awarded the seal coating bid to Lewis Construction, Inc., of Dumas for the amount of $242,440.05. That was $47,559.95 less than the amount the city had budgeted for the project.

Tuesday, the commission expanded the seal coating project, using the excess funds, to include a portion of Duncan.

Five arrested in raid

Five Pampa men were in Gray County jail today after being arrested in a raid early Wednesday morning.

AFTERNOONRUSH US arrests 2,200 in 22-month Mexican drug trafficking probe

Rains flood central Texas

NEW BRAUNFELS, Texas (AP) Heavy overnight rains flooded parts of central Texas on Wednesday, leaving at least one dead while forcing dozens of high-water rescues and swamping a popular water park, officials said.

New Braunfels police spokesman Lt. John Wells said the body of 65-year-old Norman Walker of Iowa Park was recovered Wednesday morning from the swollen Guadalupe River in Gruene, about 30 miles northeast of San Antonio.

A slow-moving storm dumped nearly 12 inches of rain starting Tuesday night in areas northwest of New Braunfels, said Joe Baskin, a meteorologist with the National Weather Service.

A wastewater plant was shut down after sewage began flowing into the Guadalupe River, said New Braunfels Utilities spokeswoman Gretchen Reuwer. The U.S. Centers for Disease Control warned residents to wear protective clothing while cleaning homes and to boil their water.

Comal County dispatchers received more than 800 calls starting late Tuesday night and ended up making 89 high-water rescues from rooftops and trees, Wells told the Herald-Zeitung newspaper in New Braunfels.

Gov. Rick Perry activated state search and rescue operations and warned residents to be aware of forecasts that called for continuing rain.

Gov. Rick Perry to Bill White: Quit race

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Republican Gov. Rick Perry accused Democratic challenger Bill White Wednesday of "profiteering" from Hurricane Rita and said White should drop out of the race if he can't clear up the allegations.

Perry said White should "immediately resign from the race for governor" if he can't better explain an investment he made months after the storm. The Associated Press reported Tuesday that White put $1 million into an energy company that he had enlisted for help after the 2005 hurricane.

White's campaign said the former Houston mayor had done nothing wrong. White spokeswoman Katy Bacon said Perry had "sunk to new lows" by urging White to get out of the race, calling the attacks "absolutely appalling."

White acknowledged Tuesday that he made money by investing in a company, BTEC Turbines, hired to help the region recover from the storm. White also had served on BTEC's board of directors.

As the storm was walloping parts of Houston, White said he asked BTEC to help provide power generators to ensure the Houston-area refineries and the adjoining city of Baytown could maintain their water supply during the power outages.

The company ended up getting a $1.8 million contract from the regional Coastal Water Authority to provide the generators, the White campaign said. White explained BTEC's role in the hurricane recovery efforts Tuesday after releasing his tax returns dating back to 2004.

About a year after Rita, White invested about $1 million in the privately held BTEC, and reported more than $500,000 in profits from the investment.

White says he took a personal financial stake in BTEC for the same reason he called them during a crisis: because the company performed well.

Exhibit includes fire-damaged Texas gov's mansion

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - A new exhibit at the Bob Bullock Texas State History Museum chronicles the more than 150-year-old governor's mansion leading up to the 2008 fire ruled arson.

"Texas Treasure: Inside Our Governor's Mansion" runs through Aug. 1 at the museum in Austin.

The exhibit is billed as a chronicle of the "ongoing life and history of the state landmark from the time of Sam Houston to the devastating arson fire." The exhibit opened earlier this month.

No arrests have been made over the June 2008 fire as the historic structure was vacant and being renovated. Gov. Rick Perry and his wife, Anita, are living in a rental house during the mansion overhaul.

Texas Historical Commission officials last month approved a modified plan for an addition to the fire-damaged mansion.

PETE YOST
Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — Law enforcement agencies have arrested more than 2,200 people in a 22-month investigation targeting Mexican drug trafficking organizations in the United States, the Justice Department announced Thursday.

The probe, called Project Deliverance, focused on the transportation networks that carry methamphetamine, cocaine, heroin and marijuana into the United States, with return trips of drug proceeds and weapons.

Attorney General Eric Holder told a news conference the initiative struck a significant blow against the cartels, but called it "just one battle in what is an ongoing war."

Over 400 of the more than 2,200 arrests were made Wednesday.

The Justice Department says the nearly-two-year probe has led to the seizure of $154 million in currency, over 1,200 pounds of methamphetamine, 2.5 tons of cocaine, over 1,400 pounds of heroin and 69 tons of marijuana.

The Drug Enforcement Administration, the FBI, and Immigration and Customs Enforcement worked on the effort with state and local law enforcement agencies.

Among those arrested in recent days was Carlos

Ramon Castro-Rocha, believed by law enforcement agencies to be among the leaders of organizations importing narcotics to the U.S.

In Mexico, Ramon Pequeno, head of the anti-narcotics division of Mexico's federal police, said that U.S.-Mexico cooperation has been key in arresting traffickers.

People like Carlos Ramon Castro-Rocha "keep a low profile, manage significant amounts of drugs and money, are little known and don't belong to any traditional drug trafficking organization, which makes it difficult to identify and capture them," Pequeno said. "It is at this stage that the exchange of information and the collaboration with authorities from other countries is heightened."

At the news conference in Washington, Michele Leonhart, acting administrator of the Drug Enforcement Administration, described the law enforcement strategy as an effort to cut off and shut down the supply of drugs headed northward and the flow of drug profits and guns southward into Mexico.

Violent drug distribution networks in the Southwest pose a threat to U.S. border security, said assistant FBI director Kevin Perkins of the bureau's criminal investigative division.

Arrested

19, were in Gray County jail in lieu of bonds ranging from $5,000 to $110,000.

The four were arrested by Pampa police on drug charges early Wednesday when officers served warrants at 1230 North Russell.

Salvador Rodriguez, 32, was arrested later Wednesday by White Deer City Marshall Darell Luster after a traffic stop.

Gray County Justice of the Peace Kurt Curfman set bond for Rodgers at $5,000 on charges of possession of marijuana in a drug free zone, minor in possession of alcohol, failure to identify himself and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Curfman set a $6,000 bond for Grajeda on charges of assault on a family member, possession of marijuana in a drug free zone, possession of drug paraphernalia and minor in possession of alcohol.

Curfman set $110,000 bond for Rudy Rodriguez on charges of aggravated assault causing bodily injury, unlawful possession of a firearm by a minor, furnishing alcohol to a minor, possession of marijuana in a drug free zone and possession of drug paraphernalia.

The judge set bond at $10,000 for Joe Jacob Rodriguez on charges of unlawful possession of a firearm by a felon, possession of marijuana in a drug free zone, minor in possession of alcohol and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Curfman also set bond at $100,000 for Salvador Rodriguez for aggravated assault.

Officers said today that one juvenile had also been detained in the drug raid.

In 1907, eleven men in five cars set out from the French embassy in Beijing on a race to Paris. (Prince Scipione Borghese of Italy was the first to arrive in the French capital two months later.)

In 1940, Italy declared war on France and Britain; Canada declared war on Italy. President Franklin D. Roosevelt, speaking at the University of Virginia, said the U.S. stance toward the conflict was shifting from one of "neutrality" to "non-belligerency." Jamaican-born Pan-African nationalist Marcus Garvey died in London at 52.

In 1964, the Senate voted to limit further debate on a proposed civil rights bill, shutting off a filibuster by Southern senators.

In 1967, the Middle East War ended as Israel and Syria agreed to observe a United Nations-mediated cease-fire.

In 1977, James Earl Ray, the convicted assassin of civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr., escaped from Brushy Mountain State Prison in Tennessee with six others; he was recaptured June 13.

In 1978, Affirmed won the Belmont Stakes and with it, horse racing's Triple Crown.

Ten years ago: Syrian President Hafez Assad died at age 69; he was succeeded by his son, Bashar. The New Jersey Devils won their second Stanley Cup in six seasons with a 2-1 victory in double overtime over the Dallas Stars in Game 6 of the finals. Commendable won the Belmont Stakes. Frenchwoman Mary Pierce beat Conchita Martinez 6-2, 7-5 to win the French Open women's singles title.

Five years ago: President George W. Bush and visiting South Korean President Roh Moo-hyun pressed North Korea to reopen deadlocked talks on its nuclear weapons program while trying to minimize their own differences over how hard to push the reclusive communist regime. Democrat Jim Exon, a two-term Nebraska governor and three-term senator, died at age 83.

One year ago: James von Brunn, an 88-year-old white supremacist, opened fire in the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum in Washington D.C., killing security guard Stephen T. Johns. (Von Brunn died at a North Carolina hospital in Jan. 2010 while awaiting trial.) Donald Trump fired Miss California USA Carrie Prejean.

tion. Wednesday, according to neighbors, Pampa Animal Control officers tried to catch the bird, but she flew up on top of a building and escaped. Officers said she apparently didn't like to stay with the rest of the flock. Montgomery said animal control officers had tried repeatedly to catch the bird. "I just hate to see it get killed," Dalrymple said. She said that when she went to work before 7 a.m. each day, the turkey would be in the intersection of U.S. Highway 60 and Texas Highway 70, one of the busiest intersections in Pampa. Nobody seems sure where Wanda came from. There is speculation that she's part of the flock that lives in a creek bed near the Pampa County Club on the east side of town. Dalrymple said she's seen the bird peck at the tires of moving cars and chase vehicles. One neighbor reported that when she was out walking her dog, the turkey chased them. Another woman reported sitting through two red lights at Wilks and Hobart because the bird wouldn't move from in front of her car. Dalrymple said that she had seen the bird chase cars in the area. "She stayed in Hobart Pack a lot," Dalrymple said of the turkey. Wednesday, the turkey was reported in the 1000 block of South Nelson near Dalrymple's and Sander's homes. January was when Dalrymple first remembered seeing the turkey's tracks in the snow. "We first saw the tracks in the snow up at Senior Citizens," Dalrymple said. "That's where we work." The turkey had been reported in Coronado

Wanda, the Wandering Turkey, in the 900 block of Wilks, just west of Hobart, shortly before being struck by a vehicle.

Center. "We've seen her at Coronado Center," Dalrymple said, "and then back this direction." For a while, the bird seemed to have disappeared, but she showed up again in the southwest part of town. "She was gone about a week," Dalrymple said. Then residents started seeing her on U.S. Highway 60 on the west side of town. "It really scared us," Sanders said, "because of the trucks and traffic." "We were afraid either she's going to get hit," Dalrymple said, "or there was going to be a wreck." "My husband said he's almost seen a wreck because people are trying not to hit her," Sanders said. "We don't want her to cause a wreck." In the end, the bird was hit by a motorist and killed. Dalrymple and Sanders named the bird Wanda, the Wandering

Turkey. "She really lived up to her name," Dalrymple said. "It's become kind of personal," Sanders said, "when you see her every morning."

Texas police chief near border faces drug charges

DALLAS (AP) — The police chief of a small Texas town near the Mexican border faces federal charges of conspiracy to distribute marijuana and possession of marijuana. A federal indictment unsealed Thursday charges Sullivan City Police Chief Hernan Guerra with one count of conspiracy to distribute more than 1,000 kilograms of marijuana and four counts of possession with intent to distribute between 100 kilograms and 1,000 kilograms of marijuana. Guerra attorney Oscar Alvarez did not immediately return a message left by The Associated Press. Guerra remains in federal custody. City manager Rolando Gonzalez says FBI agents raided Guerra's office Wednesday. Guerra has been the police chief of the small community near McAllen since 2004.

Houston jury awards $82M over 2007 explosion death

HOUSTON (AP) — A Texas jury has awarded $82.5 million in damages to the family of a Mineral Wells man who died in a 2007 explosion at a natural gas processing plant in Hood County. According to an Ammons Law Firm news release Houston-based Exterran Energy Solutions L.P., formerly Hanover Compressions L.P., constructed, engineered and installed the natural gas processing plant. The jury found the company grossly negligent in the death of 27-year-old Joshua Wade Petrie. An Exterran spokeswoman said Thursday that the company is declining comment at this time. The jury Monday decided that Hanover was 90 percent responsible. Quicksilver Resources was cited for 10 percent responsibility. Petrie had been employed by Fort Worth-based Quicksilver at the time of the explosion.

DEAR ABBY: My parents told me that a member of their congregation carries a licensed gun when he's in church. He is not a law enforcement officer or a private security guard, but keeps the gun on him "for protection." When I asked what the pastor has to say about this, I was told, "He doesn't know or can't do anything about it."

I suggested that Mom and Dad speak to the congregation board of directors because they are legally and financially responsible for the church. They refused even though they are not happy about this gun issue.

My parents have a long history of complaining about things but doing

Dear Abby...

By Pauline & Jeanne Phillips

nothing to resolve them. I feel that if someone needs to carry a gun at all times, I don't want to be in his presence. If he's the target of an assassination, the killer might shoot the wrong person. I will not set foot in the church as long as that man is there.

I'm not sure what bothers me more — that this man is packing heat or that my parents have valid concerns and won't speak out. What do you think? — GUN-SHY IN N.Y.C.

DEAR GUN-SHY: If the man has a license to carry the gun, then he is breaking no laws. You are certainly within your rights to refrain from being in his presence. If your parents were really concerned about their safety, they would either talk to the pastor or go somewhere else to worship. Because they have done neither, I think you should let it go.

DEAR ABBY: I am the oldest of three. Our mother was verbally and physically abusive while we were growing up. I now suspect she suffered from bipolar disorder, but back then no one had any idea what it was or how to treat it.

Her behavior drove our father away, leaving her to manage finances on her own. She made a miserable mess of it and, at 70, is still working so she can support herself. She wants to retire, but has almost nothing in savings. Because of the way she treated us, none of us wants much to do with her, and we are in no position to support her after she retires.

The problem, Abby, is that she has started laying an enormous guilt trip on my 22-year-old daughter and wants her to take her in. I caught wind of it and stepped in. There is no way my daughter should be burdened caring for her grandmother for the next 20 years. I feel bad that she has nowhere to go, but I feel she's reaping what she has sown. Am I wrong? — GUILT TRIPPIN' IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

DEAR GUILT TRIPPIN': No. But has your mother ever been diagnosed as bipolar? Is she on medications now that help her to control her behavior? If the answer is yes and she has tried to make amends, then perhaps you should try to be more forgiving and forthcoming. If the answer is no, then taking her in would be a disaster.

DEAR ABBY: My husband thinks it's hilarious to sneak up and scare the daylights out of me. I have told him repeatedly that I don't think it's funny and it triggers anxiety attacks, but he won't listen. I enjoy his playful personality, but the startling has to stop. Any suggestions? — NOT LAUGHING IN GREENVILLE, N.C.

DEAR NOT LAUGHING: Just this: What he's doing is immature and sadistic. Humor at the expense of others isn't "playful" — it is hostile. Because it is causing anxiety attacks, consult your doctor and let the doctor explain to your husband the reason that what he's doing is a bad idea.

DAILY HOROSCOPE

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Friday, June 11, 2010:
This year, you become even more expressive. Do be careful how much you say when triggered, especially with a family member or roommate. You have a lot to deal with, but are more than capable. A key relationship plays a strong role in your choices. This person is likely to be controlling at times. If you are single, you draw many different types of people. Ask yourself what type of relationship you want before choosing your sweetie. Another GEMINI is intrigued with how different the two of you are!

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19) ***** Whether going to work or leaving, you seem to be talkative. It is as if someone infused you with energy. Don't push too hard to attain a goal. If you relax, more will fall into place. Consider a new diet and/or exercise program. Tonight: A force to be dealt with as the weekend begins.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) ***** Be aware of how much you have to offer. New beginnings become possible through a misunderstanding. You could feel uncomfortable with vacation plans or plans that involve you spending more money. Rein yourself in. Tonight: Treat a buddy to TGIF.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) ***** Though you might be at work, you are energized and want to dive into your weekend plans. Expect a hassle later when you want to leave. In fact, somehow anticipating another's demands could be critical. Tonight: Footloose and fancy-free.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) ***** You could be overworked. Watch a tendency to swallow your moods and internalize situations. You will discover at a later point that you misread a situation. Don't make any judgments until you know more. Take a walk if you're stressed out. Tonight: Relax at home.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) ***** Zero in on what you want. A meeting could be instrumental. Don't commit more funds than you want or can. There are many different ways to the same end. Opt for a late lunch, though there could be a problem with the other party. Tonight: Do absolutely what you want.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) ***** You could question a key authority figure. This person doesn't appreciate having his wishes questioned. You know this fact; perhaps you will need to claim responsibility for part of his reaction. You might need to work late. Tonight: Don't even consider an early night.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) ***** Don't get caught up in another person's version of what is happening. Remember, people only see what they want to see. Bring your expertise to the table and help open up thought. It is clear that no one is clear! Tonight: Take off ASAP.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) ***** Deal directly with others. Delegating could be problematic. A friend or a meeting could be disconcerting. Deal with a money master head-on. Lunch could become a happening if you are open. Tonight: Continue the togetherness theme.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) ***** Your thoughts could change radically during the day. A boss or someone in charge could be seeing red, which impacts your plans. Others seem to know how to appeal to you. Just go with the flow. Tonight: Wherever you are, there is fun to be had.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) ***** Keep your eye on the big picture. Yes, someone is pushing you very hard to get certain results. Establish clear boundaries, and let this person know what you are capable of. Tonight: Clear out an errand or two on the way home.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) ***** Mischief, even if just thought of, seems to become you. Others gravitate toward you. Be careful, as an associate or partner could feel threatened. You don't want a problem, do you? A brainstorming session could be rich with ideas. Tonight: You know what to do.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) ***** Understanding will evolve to a new level if you take the time to stop and talk to a family member. Often you find this person cold and touchy. What you see happening could change radically with a positive approach. Tonight: Head home.

Four Pampa softball seniors selected for all-star game

aglover@thepampanews.com

Pampa softball seniors Ashley Facio, Carlyn Teichmann, Shelby Watson and Samantha Pearson were selected to the Greater West Texas Softball Coaches Association All-Star Game.

The game will be played 3:15 p.m. at Lubbock Christian University. Facio said she was excited and grateful that she was selected.

"I'm really excited," Facio said. "There is a lot of great seniors on that team and I'm glad that I was selected."

Teichmann and Pearson said it was an honor for them to play in the game.

"I'm really excited," Teichmann said. "The best people in the region are going to be there."

"I know that people see talent and appreciate it," Pearson said.

Pampa's seniors will be on the 4A-5A North team and playing with players from Coronado, district foes Randall and Canyon, Plainview and Frenship, who knocked Pampa out of the playoffs. Watson said she is looking forward to playing with them.

"They are really good players," Watson said. "So it will be fun to get to play with them."

The North team will be coached by Pampa's head coach Bobbi Gill and Canyon's coach Brian Cronk. Gill said it's an honor for her seniors to be selected.

"It speaks volumes about the program to have four girls on the team," Gill said. "All four have worked very hard and it's nice to see them get rewarded."

Gill said she was asked in May to be one of the coaches but had other plans for the weekend.

"They asked Steve Singleton (Randall) to do it," Gill said. "Singleton got hospitalized with pneumonia. So I made other arrangements for the weekend so I could help out. I get to coach my four seniors one more time."

All four seniors are looking forward to playing one last game together.

"We've played with each other so long," Facio said. "It's going to be a fun way to go out."

"I'm really excited to play one last game with them," Teichmann said.

"It's really exciting and I'm sure it will be a fun game," Watson said.

"It's bittersweet for me," Pearson said. "I'm excited that I get to play with them again but sad because it's my last softball game at a competitive level. Hopefully I can end on a high."

Blackhawks win in OT to claim first Cup in 49 years

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — There was no red light, just Blackhawks flying over the boards in celebration.

Sticks and helmets were thrown, scattered all over the ice and still no signal for a goal.

After a brief review, there was no dispute — the Chicago Blackhawks were the Stanley Cup champions.

Patrick Kane sneaked the puck past Michael Leighton 4:06 into overtime and stunned Philadelphia to lift the Blackhawks to a 4-3 overtime win in Game 6 on Wednesday night for their first championship since 1961.

No one but the Blackhawks appeared to know what was going on for a few frozen moments. Kane and his linemates seemed the only players on the ice who knew the puck found the side of the net. The goal light never went on, but that didn't stop most of the Blackhawks from storming the ice and mobbing each other in celebration.

Kane will go down as scoring one of the biggest goals in team history.

"I was just hoping to God it was just an actual goal," said captain Jonathan Toews, the Conn Smythe Trophy winner as playoff MVP. "They came back hard in the third and we just stuck with it."

Kane raised his arms right away and skated behind the net, knowing the goal was good. While the Flyers sat on the bench in stunned silence with confused looks, the Blackhawks began to celebrate in their own end around goaltender Antti Niemi.

"I knew it went in right away," Kane said. "What a feeling. I can't believe it. We just won the Stanley Cup. I can't believe this just happened. ... It's something you dream about, scoring the final goal in the Stanley Cup finals."

Before reaching the group hug, Kane stooped to pick up some loose ice shavings — looking like a mischievous kid on Christmas ready to throw a snowball in the backyard.

"There's so many great things about winning a Stanley Cup. This is it," Toews said. "This is the best feeling you can ever get. I just can't believe it's happened."

Toews was first to touch the Cup, taking it from commissioner Gary Bettman and hoisting it above his head in triumph. Marian Hossa, whose last two attempts at a title were denied the last two years with Detroit and Pittsburgh, was next. He lifted it and bench-pressed the big trophy, snapping his head back in exhilaration.

"I'm so happy I finally did it," Hossa said. "We couldn't just put our heads down. We had to work, and we knew we could do it."

The Blackhawks completed their revival from the bottom of the NHL to holding the silver trophy on the strength of rising stars Kane and Toews. They won their first Stanley Cup since Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita led the way 49 years ago.

It ends the longest active championship drought in the NHL. Kane is the first player to score the Stanley Cup clinching goal in overtime since Jason Arnott did it for New Jersey at Dallas in 2000.

"I heard the sound, it was a funny sound," coach Joel Quenneville said of the Cup-winner. "Nobody knew where the puck was. Kaner thought it was in."

Leighton stopped 37 shots — just not the last one.

"I went to the corner and saw a guy drive the net," he said. "I thought he was going to pass it but he threw it at my feet and it went underneath me."

Fitting in a series where neither team had much wiggle room, this one needed OT.

Just when it appeared the Flyers season was over, Scott Hartnell squeezed out another clutch goal.

With the offense revved into desperation mode, Hartnell was leveled by Toews right in front of the crease as he knocked a loose puck in to make it 3-3 with 3:59 left in the third.

He raised his arms while flat on his back.

Knocked down, never out.

The Flyers faithful turned their white towels into rally symbols only moments after they could have been used for surrender.

The fans politely applauded when the game was over, but the few thousand who stuck around booed as the Blackhawks took their turns hoisting the silver trophy. A few hundred Blackhawks fans went wild as the team took a picture with the Cup.

"It's no consolation," Hartnell said. "The storybook ending ended the wrong way for us. It hurts."

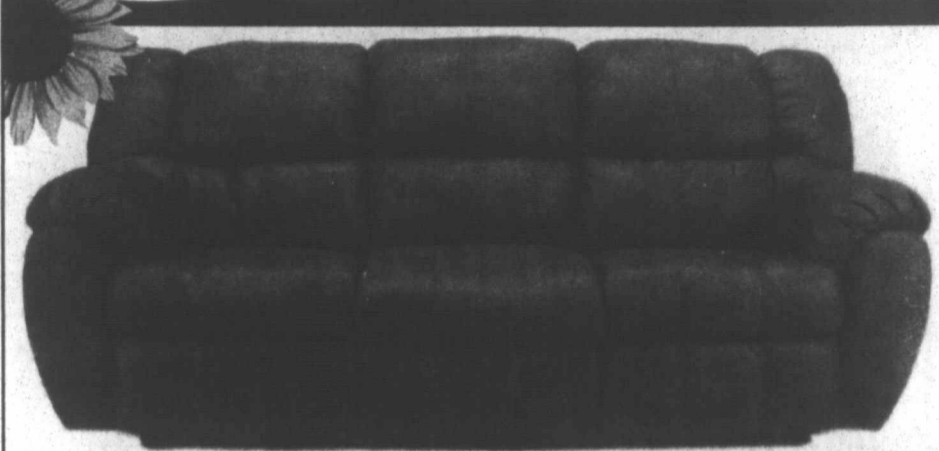

The Blackhawks ruthlessly attacked the Flyers and it paid off with two should-have-been-stopped goals against Leighton.

Leighton, who had been flawless at home this post-season, couldn't come up with two crucial saves and that helped put Chicago in the driver's seat.

Andrew Ladd, an injury scratch the first three games, deflected Niklas Hjalmarsson's slap shot from the circle with 2:17 left in the second. That made it 3-2 and nearly stood as the winner.

His goal followed Patrick Sharp's soft wrist shot that scooted under Leighton's left skate to tie it a 2 mid-way through the period. Sharp's 11th goal of the postseason came during a 4-on-4.
