CLASSROOM DYNAMO

staff photos by Arnie Aurellano

The energetic Ron Clark, 2001 Disney Teacher of the Year and best-selling author of two teaching books, brought his dynamic brand of speaking to the M.K. Brown Auditorium to speak with area educators on Friday.

Educator Clark speaks to area teachers

ARNIE AURELLANO
editor@thepampanews.com

Ron Clark's Friday morning speech at the M.K. Brown Auditorium got off to a rather auspicious start: His microphone didn't work.

Even a slew of early audio issues, however, couldn't stop the dynamic Clark, the 2001 Disney Teacher of the Year and best-selling author of a pair of teaching books, from speaking to a standing room only crowd of educators from several area school districts.

Calling Clark's speech a mere speech, in fact, seems like a bit of an understatement. Clark jumped, danced, whooped and hollered as he related his many teaching experiences, from his start as a fifth grade teacher in Aurora, N.C., to the establishment of the Ron Clark Academy, a learning institution in Atlanta based around Clark's unique curriculum and philosophy.

"(When I first became a teacher), the other teachers didn't like me very much," said Clark. "They didn't like me because I did these things that were different. Well, don't be afraid to be different."

He spoke about using costumes, off-the-wall projects and parent participation to liven up his classroom activities, even though such practices originally bought him the ire of fellow teachers. He talked (and sang) about re-writing the words to pop music hits to relate his kids to subjects like geography and science. He recalled attending a problem student's baseball games and cheering to form a bond with the boy in the classroom.

Oh, and there was also the time he asked Oprah Winfrey to come to his class' graduation, the time his class was invited to the White House for Christmas, and the time an anonymous "Santa Claus" (who turned out to be Michael Jordan) donated $12,000 towards an ambitious school project.

All of these things, Clark said, came about because of the novel ways that he pushed, motivated and related with his students.

"Aim high," he said. "All these things that my classes were able to do, we wouldn't have done them if we didn't aim high. Higher expectations lead to higher results. We got all this attention because we didn't just settle for what we were getting."

Clark preached the importance of pushing students to achieve their potential through creativity, innovation and teaching to our achievers instead of bringing our classes down to lower levels.

"We're doing a disservice to these kids if all we're doing to rehashing stuff they already know," he said. "We have to challenge them. Around the world — Finland, China, Russia, CLARK cont. on page 5

School board postpones Jr. High decision

DAVID BOWSER
editor@thepampanews.com

After hearing a presentation on an alcohol and drug rehabilitation center that a Pampa group wants to put into the old Junior High School, the school board decided to postpone a decision until Monday night.

The Pampa Independent School District board of trustees will meet at 6 p.m. Monday in the Pampa High School Commons to discuss the fate of the old junior high school.

David and Mac Smith, a father and son team, wants the old Pampa Junior High for their Lifetime Recovery Center of America alcohol and drug rehabilitation facility. During their presentation, Mac Smith said they planned to renovate the building and add several hotel or dormitory facilities on the grounds along with a lake and landscaping.

Each of the Smiths spoke in favor of the project during a public comment period Thursday night along with Kyle Ohsfeldt and Patricia Drury.

Sena Brainard spoke in opposition to turning the old school into a rehabilitation facility. She opposed putting an alcohol and drug rehabilitation center within the city limits.

Derrell DeLoach, school board president, said that donating the old school was off the table.

The old junior high school initially had been considered for use as an administration building, but architects overseeing the district's building and renovation program said asbestos issues would double the estimated renovation estimates for the renovation of the building.

They said the cost of renovating the building had soared from an estimated $3.3 million to more than $5 million because of the asbestos issue, and it would be expected to last about 30 years.

They estimated building a new administration building would be about $4.2 million, and a new building would last about 50 years.

In other business, the architects said they were checking the warranties on the new junior high school and finishing up several SCHOOL cont. on page 3

County still debating over airport funding

ARNIE AURELLANO
editor@thepampanews.com

The Gray County Commission is still debating funding the Perry Lefors Airport Terminal.

County Judge Richard Peet said they haven't made a decision fund the terminal construction yet.

"We're still evaluating that," he said.

He noted that the state will fund half of the project. The judge indicated that he would like to talk to the Pampa Economic Development Corporation concerning the funding for the terminal.

"We haven't asked them," Peet said, "because we don't have the cost yet."

The commission met Friday morning to discuss a number of items as they work to put a budget together for the new fiscal year.

They are also evaluating the assistance Gray County COUNTY cont. on page 2

Cops' Corner

The Pampa Police Department receives calls that require us to respond to them immediately. The speediness of the officer could mean the life or death of an individual. In these cases we want to get there as quickly and safely as we can. We have recently had drivers not giving the right of way to the approaching emergency vehicle. Due to this we want to make the citizens aware of what to do if an emergency vehicle approaches them. If an emergency vehicle such as a police car, fire truck or ambulance approaches with emergency lights and sirens, the Texas Traffic Code 545.156 states the driver of the "other" vehicle needs to immediately drive to a position parallel to and as close as possible to the right-hand edge or curb of the roadway clear of any intersections; and stop and remain standing until the authorized emergency vehicle has passed.

In some instances the driver may not be able to move to the right hand side of the street due to other cars being in the way. In these cases we ask that you stop and let the emergency vehicle go around you. If you have any questions in regard to this law please call Crime Prevention Officer Stormy McCullar at 806-669-5700 ext 259.

McLean will bring some concrete numbers indicating their budgetary needs. The McLean Volunteer Ambulance Service has only one paramedic at present, Peet said.

Gray County contributes $12,000 a year to the ambulance service.

That primarily pays the insurance on the two ambulances that they have, Peet said.

The ambulance service in McLean may have to go to a paid paramedic position, Peet said. He noted that several other area ambulance services have done that.

Peet, another commissioner and Joe Anstey with Pampa EMS met with McLean officials last week concerning the ambulance service.

Dominion, Marathon pay up

HOUSTON (AP) — Marathon Oil Co. and Dominion Oklahoma Texas Exploration and Production Inc. will pay $6.9 million to resolve claims the two Houston-based energy companies separately underpaid natural gas royalties to the government and Native Americans, the Department of Justice said Friday.

Most of the $2.2 million paid by Dominion Oklahoma Texas and $4.7 million by Marathon will be distributed to federal, state and American Indian accounts affected by the underpayments, the department said in an announcement from Washington.

More than $1.8 million will go to heirs of a whistleblower who filed a lawsuit more than a decade ago in Beaumont.

Companies are required to report to the Interior Department each month the value of natural gas produced from their federal and Indian leases. A percentage of that value is paid as royalties.

The government contended the companies made improper deductions from royalty values and violated the False Claims Act by underpaying the royalties.

Attorney faces child porn rap

VICTORIA (AP) — An attorney who chairs the Victoria County Democratic Party is facing child pornography charges.

U.S. Attorney Jose Angel Moreno says 57-year-old Stephen Jabbour was arrested Friday at his law office in Victoria on charges of possession and distribution of child pornography. Jabbour faced an appearance before a magistrate in Corpus Christi.

A grand jury Thursday indicted Jabbour on seven counts of distributing child pornography via the Internet and four counts of possessing child pornography. The time frame is June 2009 to January 2010.

A spokeswoman for the Texas Democratic Party, Kirsten Gray, confirmed that Jabbour is the party's chairman in Victoria County.

Messages left Friday at Jabbour's law office, by The Associated Press, were not immediately returned.

Blind woman sentenced

WACO — A legally blind Waco woman has been sentenced to 12 years in prison for causing a December traffic accident that left a motorcycle rider dead.

A McLennan County jury on Thursday sentenced 39-year-old Trena Evette Mitchell, a day after her manslaughter conviction.

The defense sought probation for Mitchell over the Dec. 12 death of 45-year-old Richard Craig Schroeder. The victim was delivering charity Christmas toys.

Defense attorney Phil Martinez says he will appeal. Martinez also told jurors that Mitchell will never again drive without corrective lenses and a driver's license. She was cited at least twice, prior to the 2009 wreck, for driving without a license.

Mitchell will be eligible for parole in three years.

Texas dismisses nuke bond appeal

AUSTIN (AP) — The state's highest court has dismissed an appeal by two West Texas sisters opposed to a new radioactive dump site.

The sisters wanted results of an election that narrowly approved $75 million in bonds for the project overturned.

Documents filed by the Texas Supreme Court on Friday dismissed the appeal of the May 2009 bond election in Andrews County, saying it lacked jurisdiction to review the case.

The bond referendum allows Andrews County to borrow to build the nuclear waste disposal site for Waste Control Specialists.

The bond issue was approved by a three-vote margin, and a recount verified the 642-639 vote. Peggy and Meloye Pryor unsuccessfully challenged the balloting, and an El Paso appeals court upheld that outcome in May.

Broken curfew ends with ad

SOUTHLAKE (AP) — A Texas teenager who broke curfew is headed for a reluctant adventure in baby-sitting.

Robert Rausch placed an advertisement offering his daughter's free baby-sitting services in the community newspaper in Southlake, a wealthy suburb of Dallas-Fort Worth that is home to business leaders and professional athletes.

The advertisement names Rausch's 16-year-old-daughter and says, "Want a FREE BABYSITTER for a night out?" It explains that she is in trouble for missing her curfew and offers 30 hours of free baby-sitting.

Rausch says he wanted to discipline his daughter and help others at the same time. And it appears his daughter has already learned a lesson. She says she won't violate curfew again or throw any more late-night parties.

projects there.

The new Pampa Junior High School will open for use when school begins Tuesday.

Randy Stephenson with the Pampa Independent School District said there would be a formal open house at the new junior high in late September.

Stephenson said the football field at the new junior high had been seeded, but the contractor, Western Builders, said the field shouldn't be used until November. He said that the football team might be bused to the old junior high for practice.

The architects said two halves of a prefabricated building had been delivered Thursday morning to the corner of Randy Matson and Duncan for use as the new tennis building. They said it should be ready for use in September.

Sam Haynes of the district's transportation department said that more students would be riding school buses to the new junior high, but he had worked out a schedule for the buses.

Paul Nies, the junior high principal, said the tentative traffic pattern for the new school would call for morning drop off for all student in front of the building. Sixth graders would be picked up at the rear of the building. Seventh and eighth grade students would be picked up in the front of the building.

Turning to this year's budget, PISD Business Manager Carol Fields, who will retire at the end of this month, said the district's tax rate, $1.3688 per $100 valuation, will remain the same as last year even though valuations are down this year.

The school board approved changes to the district's policy concerning standards of conduct by employees, particularly concerning texting and cell phone interaction with students.

School Board Member Matt Brock was selected as the district's delegate to the Texas Association of School Board Convention Sept. 24 through 26 in Houston. Board Member Cay Warner was named the alternate.

The school board hired Shannon Bonner as a special education teacher at Pampa High School for the 2010-2011 school year. They hired Joseph Scott Nall as an instructor at Pampa Learning Center, Robyn Shaw as a special education teacher at Wilson Elementary and Andrea Wyatt as non-full time math coordinator at Austin Elementary.

Notice of Public Hearing of The City of Pampa Proposed 2010 - 2011 Budget

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held on the proposed 2010-2011 City of Pampa Operating Budget. The hearing will be held by the City Commission on the 7th day of September 2010 at 5:00 p.m. in the City Commission Chambers, 3rd Floor, City Hall, 200 W. Foster, Pampa, Texas.

This budget will raise more property taxes than last year's budget by $262,240 or 8.49%, and of that amount $39,357 is tax revenue to be raised from new property added to the tax roll this year.

Citizens are encouraged to attend the public hearing and express their views. A copy of the 2010-2011 proposed budget is on file in the Office of the City Secretary for public review.

Today in History

Today is Saturday, Aug. 21, the 233rd day of 2010. There are 132 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Aug. 21, 1959, President Dwight D. Eisenhower signed an executive order making Hawaii the 50th state.

On this date:

In 1609, Galileo Galilei demonstrated his new telescope to a group of officials atop the Campanile in Venice.

In 1807, Robert Fulton's North River Steamboat set off from Albany on its return trip to New York, arriving some 30 hours later.

In 1831, Nat Turner led a violent slave rebellion in Virginia resulting in the deaths of at least 55 white people. (He was later executed.)

In 1858, the first of seven debates between Illinois senatorial contenders Abraham Lincoln and Stephen Douglas took place.

In 1878, the American Bar Association was founded in Saratoga, N.Y.

In 1911, Leonardo da Vinci's "Mona Lisa" was stolen from the Louvre Museum in Paris. (The painting turned up two years later, in Italy.)

In 1940, exiled Communist revolutionary Leon Trotsky died in a Mexican hospital from wounds inflicted by an assassin the day before.

In 1963, martial law was declared in South Vietnam as police and army troops began a crackdown on Buddhist anti-government protesters.

In 1983, Philippine opposition leader Benigno S. Aquino Jr., ending a self-imposed exile in the United States, was shot dead moments after stepping off a plane at Manila International Airport.

In 1991, the hard-line coup against Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev collapsed in the face of a popular uprising led by Russian federation President Boris N. Yeltsin.

Ten years ago: Rescue efforts to reach the sunken Russian nuclear submarine Kursk ended with divers announcing none of the 118 sailors had survived.

Five years ago: Pope Benedict XVI triumphantly ended his four-day trip to his native Germany, celebrating an open-air Mass for a million people in Cologne. Robert A. Moog, whose self-named electronic synthesizers revolutionized music in the 1960s, died in Asheville, N.C. at age 71.

One year ago: Libyan leader Moammar Gadhafi welcomed with a hug the only man convicted of the 1988 Lockerbie bombing that killed 270 people and praised Scotland's leaders for "their courageously right and humanitarian decision" to release him.

Weak home sales numbers don't tell the whole story, economist says

BRYAN POPE
Associate Editor, Real Estate Ctr.

COLLEGE STATION (Real Estate Center) — Home sales statistics are likely to paint a picture of a weakening market through the end of 2010 and the first half of 2011. While it's tempting to attribute the bleak numbers to a deteriorating housing market, an economist with the Real Estate Center at Texas A&M University said that doesn't tell the whole story.

"The year-over-year decline in existing home sales will be the result of comparing months when there was no tax credit with those from a year earlier, when the tax credit was artificially increasing sales," said Dr. Mark Dotzour, the Center's chief economist.

The $8,000 tax credit for first-time homebuyers went into effect in January 2009 and was planned to expire in November 2009. Home sales gradually started to increase after the tax credit was announced, after bottoming out in January at an annual rate just above 4.5 million sales.

Existing home sales gradually increased in 2009 as buyers and real estate agents became more familiar with the program. Sales topped an annual rate of five million in July 2009 for the first time since September 2008.

As the tax credit deadline approached, home sales spiked in September, October and November 2009. November 2009 was the peak at an annual rate of almost 6.5 million.

The tax credit was extended late in 2009 to include sales with contracts written until April 30, 2010, and closed by June 30 (extended to September 30). Initial homebuyer response to this extension was tepid, but sales picked up substantially in March, April and May 2010, when sales were up 18 percent, 28 percent and 18 percent, respectively, over the same months in 2009.

Then the process reversed itself. Pending home sales fell dramatically in May 2010, the month after the tax credits expired. This was followed by a significant drop in home sales in June and July. In Texas, July 2010 sales were down approximately 25 percent from July 2009.

Dotzour said August figures may not be much better since many buyers purchased homes before the tax incentive expired.

"When you 'bring forward' sales through tax incentives, sales will be lower after the tax credit ends," he said.

Unless Congress creates a new tax credit this fall, Dotzour said monthly sales for 2010 will likely exhibit significant variance from 2009, and a true reading of housing market conditions may not be possible until June or July 2011.

Texas AgriLife Research corn irrigation field day Wednesday

KAY LEDBETTER
Special to The Pampa News

LEDBETTER — The Texas North Plains Corn Irrigation Research and Extension Field Day has been scheduled for Aug. 25, and the theme will be "Working Together to Make a Difference."

The day will be divided into two parts, with the morning session taking place at the Texas AgriLife North Plains Research Field at 6045 Road E. north of Dumas, and concentrating on limited-irrigation research on corn.

The field day will run from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., with registration beginning at 8:15 a.m., according to Thomas Marek, Texas AgriLife Research senior research engineer and superintendent of the research field.

The second half of the day will be an irrigation technology tour and meeting in the Sherman County Exhibit Building in Stratford, said David Graf, Texas AgriLife Extension Service agriculture and natural resources agent for Sherman County.

Topics will include corn plant and root development, upcoming drought-tolerant corn varieties and their water-use efficiency, soil-moisture capacitor probes, crop infrared sensors, irrigation computer modeling and gypsum blocks.

A trade show begins at 1:30 p.m., followed by the program from 2:30-7:30 p.m., including a field tour and steak dinner.

"Our theme this year is Working Together to Make a Difference," said Dr. Wenwei Xu, AgriLife Research corn breeder from Lubbock. "Producing 200 bushels per acre of corn with 12 inches of irrigation is a very challenging task. It requires all — research, extension, university, federal, water district, producers, industry and policy makers — to work closely together."

Morning speakers and their topics will include:

- David Gibson, Texas Corn Producers Board, Corn-producer needs and funded research.
- Dan Krienke, North Plains Groundwater Conservation District president, district updates.
- Dr. David Brauer, U.S. Department of Agriculture-Agricultural Research Service, Ogallala Aquifer Program update.
- Mike Caldwell, USDA-Natural Resources Conservation Service, Water efficiencies through technical assistance/Environmental Quality Incentives Program.

A tour of the research fields will take place from 9:45-11:45 a.m., with Xu discussing the corn-breeding research and limited irrigation. Marek will then discuss the research being done under the water district's 12-200 project, aimed at growing 200 bushels of corn per acre with 12 inches of irrigation.

The noon program will be sponsored by the Texas Corn Producers Board and North Plains Groundwater Conservation District.

Following the close of this portion of the field day, attendees are invited to travel to Stratford for the afternoon portion, where presenters will discuss irrigation in more detail.

For more information, contact Marek at 806-677-5600 or tmarek@ag.tamu.edu or Xu at 806-746-6101 or wxu@ag.tamu.edu.

India — they're teaching to the top (percentile of their classes). They're racing and pushing their attentions.

"I look at our country and it's like everything's slower, the focus is on all the kids that aren't achieving. That's where all of our time and money and energy and effort goes. When you compare our country to others, we're like molasses — slow, boring, quiet. We need some energy. We need some spark... We need to move the focus in our country from here, on the kids who aren't achieving, to up here."

It's vitally important, Clark added, to see the potential in every student.

"See potential," Clark said. "See hope. See brilliance. See a future teacher. See future presidents in your classrooms."

"Does it matter if they're going to be presidents or not? No. You have to believe in the potential in these kids."

Clark illustrated this point by telling the story of his first class of kids in Harlem, N.Y., where he moved to teach in 1998. After taking a group of 37 troubled inner city kids and helping them all pass their state math and reading exams with the highest scores in the school, Clark was disappointed to hear of the principal's reluctance to help the children apply to the most prestigious junior high school in New York.

"Mr. Clark, it's a long application process," Clark recalled the principal say. "The kids will have to go through interviews and take tests. It's a waste of time because they never take any kids from our school... They only accept 30 students a year."

"I'm going to nominate my top 12 students," said Clark. "All 12 of them applied and went through the interviews."

Later in the year, Clark said, he received a call from the best school in Manhattan.

"(The man who called) told me, 'Of all the kids we interviewed — and we interviewed a lot — your kids were different,'" Clark said. "They showed us a certain passion, a certain spark. They showed up with more desire. They showed up more excited to come to our school than the other kids we interviewed."

"We decided to accept all twelve."

Pampa Independent School District Superintendent Barry Haensch, who helped bring Clark to Pampa to speak, said that it was great to have Clark address local educators.

"Literally, it was a year ago that we first tried (to get him)," Haensch said. "It took us a year to find a date to get him here, and this was the only date we could secure him."

"When we were able to secure him, we talked to other school districts in the area who said they wanted to hear him. It was worth the wait for all of us, I think."

Today in History

Tomorrow is Sunday, Aug. 22, the 234th day of 2010. There are 131 days left in the year.

Tomorrow's Highlight in History:

On Aug. 22, 1910, representatives of Japan and Korea signed an annexation treaty under which Korea remained under Japanese control until the end of World War II.

On this date:

In 1485, England's King Richard III was killed in the Battle of Bosworth Field, effectively ending the War of the Roses.

In 1787, inventor John Fitch demonstrated his steamboat on the Delaware River to delegates from the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia.

In 1922, Irish revolutionary Michael Collins was shot to death, apparently by Irish Republican Army members opposed to the Anglo-Irish Treaty that Collins had co-signed.

In 1956, President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Vice President Richard Nixon were nominated for second terms in office by the Republican national convention in San Francisco.

In 1968, Pope Paul VI arrived in Bogota, Colombia, for the start of the first papal visit to South America.

In 1989, Black Panthers co-founder Huey P. Newton was shot to death in Oakland, Calif. (Gunman Tyrone Robinson was later sentenced to 32 years to life in prison.)

Ten years ago: Publishers Clearing House agreed to pay $18 million to 24 states and the District of Columbia to settle allegations it had used deceptive promotions in its sweepstakes mailings.

Five years ago: The last Jewish settlers left Gaza, making way for the Palestinian government.

One year ago: Dozens of wildfires broke out across Greece, sending residents fleeing as one of the largest blazes swept perilously close to Athens.

Today's Birthdays: Author Ray Bradbury is 90. Heart surgeon Dr. Denton Cooley is 90. Retired Gen. H. Norman Schwarzkopf is 76. Broadcast journalist Morton Dean is 75. Author Annie Proulx is 75. Baseball Hall-of-Famer Carl Yastrzemski is 71. Actress Valerie Harper is 70. Football coach Bill Parcells is 69. CBS newsmen Steve Kroft is 65. Baseball Hall of Famer Paul Molitor is 54. Rock musician Vernon Reid is 52. Actress Regina Taylor is 50. Rock singer Roland Orzabal (Tears For Fears) is 49. Rock musician Debbi Peterson (The Bangles) is 49. Rock musician Gary Lee Conner (Screaming Trees) is 48. Singer Tori Amos is 47. International Tennis Hall of Famer Mats Wilander is 46. Rapper GZA is 44. Actor Adewale Akinnuoye-Agbaje is 43. Actor Ty Burrell is 43. Actor Rick Yune is 39. Rock musician Paul Doucette (Matchbox Twenty) is 38. Rap-reggae singer Beenie Man is 37. Comedian-actress Kristen Wiig is 37. Actress Jenna Leigh Green is 36. Rock musician Jeff Stinco (Simple Plan) is 32. Actress Aya Sumika is 30.

Thought for Today: "Life does not give itself to one who tries to keep all its advantages at once. I have often thought morality may perhaps consist solely in the courage of making a choice." - Leon Blum, French statesman (1872-1950).

Dear Abby...

By Pauline & Jeanne Phillips

DEAR ABBY: I'm a teen mom who feels like I am being taken advantage of by my newborn's grandmother. (I'll call her "Liz.") My baby's father, "Todd," lives with her. They provide no financial support.

Liz puts me on the spot constantly and makes me feel bad if I tell her she can't have the baby that day or take her to a certain place. Since day one, she has wanted to take my baby out of town. That bothers me because I don't want my daughter going out of town unless I am with her.

I feel obligated to let Todd's mother see the baby all the time to avoid the drama she would cause in my life if I don't. I don't want to be mean, but I need to let her know how I feel. How do I approach her? — YOUNG MOM IN RICHMOND, IND.

DEAR YOUNG MOM: No one can be taken advantage of unless she (or he) allows it. Do not allow anyone — no matter how well-intentioned — to do anything with your baby that makes you uncomfortable. You may be young, but as a mother you are responsible for your child's welfare.

Do not "approach" Liz; let her approach you. When she does, be polite, firm and stand your ground. If she tries to turn it into a power struggle, end the conversation. Do not allow her to make you lose your temper.

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend of four years, "Omar," and I have been having major arguments lately. They're about the relationship he has with his sister. I feel he confides in her more than he does me.

I realize she's his sister, but he consults her about finances, what kind of pet to buy, how things are going at work, etc. He's never open with me about those issues. He shuts me out to the point that I have told him if it doesn't change, we're through. He says I'm "over-reacting."

Even more peculiar, she makes phone calls for Omar — like when his mortgage payment was late or when he had to ask the IRS a tax question. Omar is 34 and should be handling these things himself.

It galls me when he puts her on a pedestal and puts me down when I make a mistake. I'm a single mom, doing well on my own, but he refuses to acknowledge it. What should I do? — SECOND FIDDLE IN ARIZONA

DEAR SECOND FIDDLE: It is possible that Omar's sister has been running his life for so long that she's the first person he thinks of when he gets into a bind. And obviously she has done a capable job of it, or he wouldn't keep having her intercede for him.

It should be clear to you by now that putting yourself in competition with her is getting you nowhere. So accept the two of them as a package deal or find a man who is independent.

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 and recently became engaged to my boyfriend of three years. We are trying to pull off a wedding on a budget. My parents dislike my fiancé, so we are footing the bill.

My fiancé's mom owns a beauty salon and, in the past, has offered to cut and highlight my hair. I have accepted twice in the last two years. She also fixed my hair for my university mixer. Would it be appropriate to ask her, as the mother of the groom, to fix my hair on my wedding day? — BUDGETING IN FAIRFAX, VA.

DEAR BUDGETING: I see nothing inappropriate about it. Go ahead and ask.

DEAR ABBY: My wife, "Jan," is having problems related to my late wife, "Ellen." Ellen and I were married 31 years. We built a business together and raised three sons. Obviously, I have a lifetime of memories associated with her. I admit that I still grieve, but I have tried to move on.

I am forbidden to mention Ellen's name around Jan. She says five years should be long enough to "forget." When we married two years ago, she moved into my home because it was bigger and closer to my business than hers. Jan now says she has no "place" in this house, although we moved most of her furniture in and sold mine.

Abby, Jan won't let me have a photo of Ellen, even in a drawer. I had to buy her a second piano because she refused to play the one that Ellen had played on, nor will she consider a certain make of car to replace hers because Ellen drove one.

She says she feels like "the other woman" in our marriage. It's not a threesome, and I'm not trying to mold her into my first wife. Did I make a mistake marrying just three years after my wife died? Am I inconsiderate of Jan's feelings, or is she being unreasonable? — RE-MARRIED TEXAN

DEAR TEXAN: It's not unusual for a second wife who moves into an existing home to want to "sterilize" the interior so she can make it her own. However, I agree that Jan's reaction is extreme. Obviously, you married a woman with serious insecurities. Her insistence that the name of the mother of your children not be mentioned, or a photo of her kept — even in a drawer — is unrealistic and heavy-handed.

Dunn's celebrate 30th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Randy Dunn celebrated their 30th anniversary, August 14, 2010, with family and friends.

Randy Jake Dunn and Brenda Sue Talkmitt were married August 16, 1980, in Wilson, at St. Paul Lutheran Church. They are the parents of Kori Adele Dunn of San Angelo and Kristen Lea Dunn of Lubbock.

The high school sweethearts moved to Pampa shortly after they married, began their careers, and raised their family there.

Randy received his bachelor's in Agricultural Education from Texas Tech University in 1980 and retired after 29 years as the Agriscience Teacher at Pampa High School. Brenda attended South Plains College and Methodist Hospital School of Nursing in Lubbock and worked as a registered nurse at the hospital and a doctor's office in Pampa. For the past 10 years, she has worked for Pampa ISD as an elementary school nurse.

Randy and Brenda enjoy traveling, cooking and spending time with their daughters who have been blessed with the best parents and wish them many more exciting years together.

WEDDING BELLS

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Ely

Harmon, Ely married July 3

Karon K. Harmon and Larry D. Ely were married on July 3, 2010 in a ceremony that took place in the backyard of their residence.

The bride has been a resident of Pampa since 1993 and the groom returned to Pampa in 2004.

The children of the bride, Amber and Tyler, were present to give her away while Danny Duree performed the wedding.

Phoebe Spence was the maid of honor. Kaylee Holland stood with the groom. Also present were Karon's mother, Ricki Baker of Hedley, and Larry's parents Ronda Rider and Ray of Odessa as well as Jerry Ely and wife Cheryl of Pampa.

Many family members and friends attended the celebration on that special day for the couple.

Altrusa has planned a Back to School Supply Drive for two local schools, Lamar and Wilson. Members will be at United Food Store on Wed, Aug 25-Sunday, Aug. 29 and at Wal-Mart on Saturday, Aug. 28 from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Barrels will be located at United and Heard-Jones throughout the week and also at Wal-Mart on Saturday for those wishing to donate supplies. From left are: Tammy Kingcade, Heard-Jones pharmacy tech.; Allison Watson, Altrusa president and committee co-chair; Elizabeth Ramirez, Heard-Jones sales; and Kitty Hall, Altrusa committee co-chair. The following items are needed: Crayons, Pencils, Map Pencils, Erasers, Glue Sticks, Scissors, Wide Rule Paper, Construction Paper, Spiral Notebooks (large and small), Kleenex, Gallon size Zip-Lock bags, and Backpacks

YOU SHOULD'VE SEEN BELLE SMILE.

Belle's only granddaughter, Cecelia, was having her first baby. Naturally, Belle wanted to be there for the shower. But because of her health, she couldn't. And that disappointed her, her granddaughter and the whole family.

When a loved one moves into a care community, family matters even more. At the Bivins Foundations, we've been caring for senior adults for decades — so we know. In fact, to put everything we've got into caring for people like Belle and her family — and to make your hard decision about someone you love a little easier — we created Bivins' Childers Place for skilled nursing and memory support ... and rededicated ourselves to living up to your idea of care.

CHILDERS PLACE

So, if she can't go to their party, her family will bring the party to Belle: They had that baby shower right here in our café, with everybody crowded happily together around the gifts table — grandmother, granddaughter, a host of family and an as-yet-unborn child, who'll grow up to treasure her Great-Grandma Belle.

Need a little help for someone you love? Add our care to yours. Call 806.350.7655, and let's begin to talk.

WEDDING BELLS

Mrs. Cory Yesel

Woodruff, Yesel exchange vows

On July 31, 2010, Miranda Hope Woodruff and Cory Ray Yesel exchanged their vows at Sunset at Cottonwood Springs Ranch and Wildlife Refuge in Pampa, TX.

Miranda is the daughter of Rhonda and Van Hagan of Pampa and Larry and Chrisie Woodruff of Pampa, TX. Miranda is the granddaughter of Wanda and the late J.P. Wright of Pampa, TX, Dorothy and the late Troy Brewer of Pampa, TX, and Jerry and Cheryl Ely of Pampa, TX. Cory is the son of Gary and Rhonda Yesel of Littlefield, TX. Cory is the grandson of Pat and the late Jack Yesel of Littlefield, TX, and Grace and the late Roy Robertson of Littlefield, TX.

The ceremony took place at sunset after a light rain shower in front of a 100 year old cottonwood tree. The arch was decorated with royal blue organza bows and large wrought iron planters containing green orchids, ferns, green and blue roses and peacock feathers.

Guests were registered by Elizabeth Hayford, college friend of the bride. The registry table was decorated with a wish tree heavily decorated with crystal beading.

Guests were ushered to their seats outside by ... Van Hagan, step father of the bride, and John Allen, cousin of the bride. The seats were covered in bright white linens with royal blue organza bows.

As parents and grandparents were escorted to their seats for the ceremony, "Singing over Me" by Kari Jobe played in the background. Bridesmaids entered to "My Beloved" by Kari Jobe.

Emily Woodruff, sister of the bride was the maid of honor, and was escorted by Best Man, Gary Yesel, father of the groom.

Ashlie Johnson, college friend of the bride was escorted by Dusty Rogers, friend of the groom. Melanie Granzow, college friend of the bride, was escorted by Buddy Holmes, childhood friend of the groom.

Jordan Albracht-Trahan, childhood friend of the bride, was escorted by Ryan Harper, college friend of the groom. Kristina Casperite, college friend of the bride was escorted by George Johnson, childhood friend of the groom. Elizabeth Thomas and Lindsay Rhoades-Kotara, both childhood friends of the bride, were escorted by Omar Chavez, friend of the groom. The flower girl, Jordan Stroud, cousin of the bride, threw white feathers and green orchids down the aisle as she was escorted by Jacob Stroud and Carson Allen, both cousins of the bride.

Given in marriage by their parents, and escorted by her mother and father to the "Feather Song" from Forrester Gump, Miranda wore a Grecian white taffeta gown. The gown featured a halter with a sweetheart neckline and a heavily diamond beaded empire waist. The gown flowed into an A-line skirt and featured a small train. The bride wore braided white patent sandals. The bride's bouquet was peonies, bright green orchids decorated with emerald gems, and peacock feathers.

In tradition, "something old" was the groom's grandmother's engagement ring featuring three princess cut diamonds in a single gold band. "Something new" was the bride's dress and a new princess cut diamond chandelier earrings. "Something borrowed" was a diamond bangle belonging to a family friend of the bride, and "something blue" was the camouflage and blue garter.

The ceremony was officiated by Tim Roberts, cousin of the bride. He read from 1 Corinthians 13 and Ephesians 5. The couple then participated in a sand ceremony.

The couple said their vows and when it came time to exchange rings, the groom pulled out a Cracker Jack box and pulled a bright emerald ring pop out. The bride charmingly declined and then the groom exchanged the bride's five-carat emerald engagement ring featuring 150 diamonds. After the ceremony, the newlyweds left to the music of Lee Dewyze "Beautiful Day." Guests then went to the reception where the tables were fitted with bright white table cloths and were seated in white country wooden chairs.

Reception guests were served a barbeque buffet by Red River Steak House, family of the bride. Guests then served themselves from a large cupcake tree that featured a variety of different cupcakes and icings, made by Karen McGahen, friend of the bride. The groom's German Chocolate Cake was a large football with a Texas Tech double T on the front from Belmar Bakery.

Guests then danced to music provided by RT and DJ and had drinks. The bride and groom danced to "Always be my baby" by David Cook. Miranda and her father danced to "In my daughter's eyes" by Martina McBride.

Cory and his mother danced to "Forever Young" by Rod Stewart. The newlyweds danced their last dance to "Let me" by Pat Green. Guests then gathered around as the couple left and blew bubbles. The newlyweds honeymooned in various spots in the Texas Hill Country and plan to reside in Littlefield, TX.

Bragg, Smith wed

Jennifer Bragg of Keller and Mike Smith of Pampa were united in marriage on July 30, 2010 on the beaches of the Secrets Resort Maroma Beach, Riviera Maya, Mexico.

Jorge A. Cinto officiated. The bride is the daughter of Jon and Kelli Crosland of Fort Worth and Amy Lawry of Lewisville.

The groom is the son of Mike and Linda Smith of Pampa.

Mike graduated from

Pampa High School in 1997 and received a Bachelor Degree from the University of North Texas in 2001.

Jennifer works in Las Colinas for Chase Bank in the Commercial Lending Department as a Senior Loan Closer and Mike is the President/Owner of Smithland Custom Construction in Keller.

The couple resides in Keller with Jennifer's children, Byron and Beau and their yellow lab, Zoey.

Former Pampa state track finalist Parker to run at Tech

ANDREW GLOVER
aglover@thepampanews.com

Recently graduated Lady Harvester track state finalist Natalie Parker has run track since seventh grade. Still, she didn't entertain dreams of be running at an NCAA Division 1 school until her last two years of high school.

This year, Parker's dreams will become will continue her career at Texas Tech University.

Parker said she is really excited and nervous to be running college track.

"It will be fun to run with other runners who are successful at the sport," Parker said.

With Pampa, Parker ran in the 100-meter and 200-meter dashes, and the 4x200 relay. At Tech, however, Parker will be running in the 400-meter. Parker said she would rather run sprints but can handle the 400.

"I ran the 400 in my junior year," Parker said. "So it isn't something that I can't handle. I'm looking forward to competing, getting better and stronger."

Parker, also earned a spot on the Texas Track Coaches All-State Academic team for 2009-2010. The incoming Tech freshman finished her high school career ninth in her class with a 3.956 GPA. Parker said she always kept her grades up.

"I hope I can do that in college," Parker said. "Keep a balance with grades and running."

Parker finished eighth at state May 14 in the 100-meter run with a time of 12.95 seconds.

At the district track meet, April 15 to the 17, Parker ran personal bests in the 100-meter (12.12) and in the 200-meter dash (25.43).

Besides track, Parker was a member of the volleyball team and helped lead Pampa within a game of the state playoffs in her junior and senior seasons.

The Tech women finished ninth at the 2009 indoor national championships and 29th at the outdoor championships.

Hidden Hills celebrates 20th

ANDREW GLOVER
 aglover@thepampanews.com

Twenty years ago, Current Hidden Hills manager David Teichmann was living in Pampa with a two-year-old son and his daughter Carlyn wasn't born when Buddy Epperson founded the Hidden Hills Golf Course.

Today, both of Teichmann's kids are in college and the golf course is holding a 20th anniversary celebration.

Teichmann says it's really neat the golf course has been around so long. "It's amazing how fast time flies," Teichmann said. "I've been here all 20 years."

City Manager Richard Morris, Gray County Judge Richard Peet and course founder Buddy Epperson spoke at the event.

After the speeches, people engaged in a four-person scramble. Lunch and soft drinks were provided after the scramble.

Over the last 20 years, the golf course has been actively used by senior citizens and hosts tournaments practically year-round.

According to the City of Pampa Web site, the course was given three stars by Golf Digest. The course was designed by Ray Hardy and features several deep valleys, extreme elevation changes and a creek that winds through the back nine.

The course was built by a partnership by private donations, volunteers, Gray County and the City of Pampa. The course is owned by the city.

Daily Horoscope

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Monday, Aug. 23, 2010.
 This year, you demonstrate your innate skills in the workplace. You create new avenues to make — and also spend — money. Others begin to understand your savvy. You will find that many people around you defer to your expertise more often. If you are single, you could meet someone through work. Be careful about mixing your work and your personal life. You cannot be smart enough here. If you are attached, your partner often presents very different views. Remember, you are a team, not opponents. Listen and understand. AQUARIUS can add another quality to the workplace that you admire.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
 ★★ Zero in on the task at hand, not only completing it but also seeing if there might be a more effective way of handling this matter. Count on the fact that there probably is. Schedule meetings late in the day. Tonight: You find a certain friend to be inspirational.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
 ★★★★★ Keep your high energy focused. Emphasize what is expected. Listen to a boss who sometimes comes up with intuitive ideas. You will wind up working through it. Share your appreciation of an associate's efforts with him or her. Tonight: Check up on an older relative.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
 ★★★★★ Keep reaching out for experts. You see a matter from another perspective.

Your creativity is stimulated because of your ability to move past a locked conversation. Tonight: Be spontaneous.
CANCER (June 21-July 22)
 ★★ Work with a partner to establish greater security ultimately. You are coming from a very secure point of view, though you might need to rethink what appears to be a solid yet controversial view. Tonight: Let go and relax with a favorite person.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
 ★★ Others present options, but so can you. In fact, the interaction evolves into a brainstorming situation. You are naturally proactive and draw results. Be careful when driving or handling machinery; your mind drifts. Tonight: Say "yes."
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
 ★★ Stay level and finish a project. You get feedback from those around you. You suddenly feel like you are no longer in the dark. Be aware of what is happening in the workplace as well as with your friends. Tonight: Sigh, finally time for you.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
 ★★★★★ Allow more playfulness into your life. You have been coming down on a child or loved one. Isn't it time to relax and let go? Understanding will evolve to a new level if you can back off of your position. Tonight: Allow more silliness in.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
 ★★ Stay centered and understand the feelings that surround your personal life, especially a specific issue. Reveal not-so-pretty feelings as well. Root out some basic emotions that have been causing you a problem. Tonight: Share with a trusted friend.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
 ★★★★★ Discussions are animated, with friends or anyone else who might come across your path. People take a stand when you least expect it. You cannot be this verbal and not expect a reaction. Tonight: Hang out with your pals.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
 ★★★★★ You might want to take a stand when pushed on a financial matter. You understand the pluses and minuses better than most people. A partner is demanding, at best. Take your time explaining your position so that others can hear it. Tonight: Your treat.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
 ★★★★★ You are full of energy and are personality plus. Listen to news that heads in your direction. Sort fact from fiction. Understanding builds within a partnership. A discussion is inevitable. Tonight: Say "yes" to an offer.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
 ★★ Let your instincts serve you. Others become more and more verbal during the next few days. Be ready to deal with different opinions on what you feel are critical issues. Learn to absorb what might feel like criticism and use it. Tonight: Get some extra R and R.

Daily Horoscope

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Sunday, Aug. 22, 2010.
 This year, you reach out for new information and different solutions. If you are attached, your willingness to grow and evolve to a new level could challenge a partner. Communication will flourish if you can encourage your sweetie to accept the new you. Your significant other also might start transforming. If you are single, you will have a bevy of friends and potential suitors. You just might not be ready to commit. Enjoy the social whirl. AQUARIUS comes through for you.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
 ★★★★★ Friends surround you. You can forget any leisurely downtime with the Sunday paper. A loved one contributes to the mood of the moment. Go with the unexpected. Frolic with friends and family. Tonight: Where the action is.
 This Week: You might be thinking about summer fun, but somehow your mind is already on work and the fall.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
 ★★ Step right up. Whether it is bringing friends and family together or handling a situation differently, you are in the limelight. Remain easygoing with an older friend or relative, even if internally you trigger. Tonight: A must appearance.
 This Week: Your best efforts mark whatever you do. Certainly it isn't just work.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
 ★★★★★ If you haven't taken off already, you just might hop in the car. A change of pace recharges your batteries and helps you detach. You even might be inclined not to deal with what was troubling you. Focus on a family member. Tonight: At home.
 This Week: Emphasis is on home and hearth. Still, there is a lot to be done.
CANCER (June 21-July 22)

Deal directly with a loved one and/or friend. If you choose a quiet spot for a conversation, the end result will be better. You could hear news that might surprise you and be uncomfortable. Tonight: Visit with others.
 This Week: Communicate your intentions, then follow through.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
 ★★★★★ Defer to those around you. Your conversation with a partner or close friend could be difficult at first but is worthwhile. Unexpected actions by someone you trust could force you to regroup. Tonight: Just don't be alone.
 This Week: Toss a devil-may-care attitude to the wayside, for your sake.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
 ★★ Stay on top of a project, though someone easily could entice you to take off for brunch or a get-together. A partner could be surprising in his or her ideas or actions. Well, at least you are not bored. Tonight: Dot your i's and cross your t's on a project.
 This Week: Claim your power. Don't let others push you where you don't want to go.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
 ★★★★★ Others think of you as sedate and charming. Let go and enjoy yourself. Worry less about what others think — a Libra trait — and let your playful side emerge. Remember, it is your weekend, too. Tonight: Funnel some energy into thinking about Monday.
 This Week: Know when to kick back. Like now.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
 ★★ You might want to stay close to home. Invite family over for an early dinner, or perhaps ask for help on a project. Reveal your inner thoughts with a family member. The unexpected occurs with a child. Tonight: Get together with friends.
 This Week: Zero in on what you want. Don't let events interfere with your goals.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
 ★★★★★ Make calls to friends and loved ones. Make plans, even if you hadn't intended to get together. You discover that in a crowd you relax much more than you thought possible. Tonight: Surprises happen.

 This Week: Understanding evolves to a new level. Be aware that you are not the only voice making a critical decision.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
 ★★ Be aware of the costs of taking an older friend or relative out or inviting others over. You alone know what works best for you — not only financially but also in other areas. Keep reaching out for a forgotten friend. Tonight: Fun doesn't have to break the bank.
 This Week: Stretch and see beyond your backyard. You will be empowered through detaching.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
 ★★★★★ Allow greater give-and-take could be surprising in his or her ideas or actions. Sometimes, perhaps not intentionally, you cut yourself off. Share your ideas more openly and be willing to try another person's suggestion. Tonight: Quality time with a special person. Isn't it overdue?
 This Week: No one can deny uproar when it occurs.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
 ★★ You need a break. You need a timeout. No one can say otherwise, as no one lives in your skin. Structure your day with the knowledge that you cannot afford not to take a break. Others find you unpredictable at times. You find them unpredictable, too! Tonight: Get some extra R and R.
 This Week: You might think you are wearing the pants. Surprise!

Final Ft. Hood shooting report released

FORT WORTH (AP) — The military must make sure supervisors have access to soldiers' personnel records and be aware of signs of potential workplace violence, the Defense Department said Friday in its final report on the Fort Hood shootings.

The report's recommendations address some government failures and other problems uncovered in the Pentagon investigation launched after the Nov. 5 shootings that left 13 dead and dozens injured on the Texas Army post.

Soon after the Pentagon report's January release, Defense Secretary Robert Gates ordered a comprehensive weapons policy for military bases and addressed other pressing issues.

The Defense Department report released Friday addresses the remaining matters in the Pentagon report. But it also says more studies are necessary in certain areas, because medical and mental-health screening policies "do not provide a comprehensive assessment of violence indicators" and another policy "lacks the clarity necessary to help commanders distinguish appropriate religious practices from those that might indicate a potential for violence or self-radicalization."

The report's recommendations include improving communications between government agencies and military installations regarding potential threats, and expanding military bases' emergency response capabilities.

"These initiatives will significantly improve the department's ability to mitigate internal threats, ensure force protection, enable emergency response, and provide care for victims and families," Gates wrote in the report.

An Army psychiatrist, Maj. Nidal Hasan, has been charged with 13 counts of premeditated murder and those threats are," Galligan said Friday from his office near Fort Hood, about 120 miles south of Fort Worth. "The idea of looking inward for threats calls into question people's privacy and constitutional rights."

House Armed Services Committee Chairman Ike Skelton, D-Mo., said he was optimistic that the revised policies in the report "will improve the safety of our force in measurable ways for years to come."

The report addresses the two-month Pentagon investigation that found numerous problems, including discrepancies between Hasan's performance and his personnel records. Hasan was described as a loner with lazy work habits and a fixation on his Muslim religion, and he had been promoted to major based on an incomplete personnel file, investigators found.

Separately, the FBI has said it would revise its own procedures to make sure it notifies the Pentagon when it investigates a member of the military. In the Hasan case, a local joint terror task force run by the FBI with some military personnel examined Hasan but did not alert the Defense Department.

32 counts of attempted premeditated murder. In October he faces an Article 32 hearing, similar to a civilian grand jury proceeding, in which a judge will hear witness testimony to determine whether the case should go to trial.

Hasan's attorney, John Galligan, said Friday that the Defense Department's report is vague.

"This whole report is designed to tell people we need to start looking for internal threats, but it doesn't say what

Recall expands to over half a billion eggs

WASHINGTON (AP) — A half-billion eggs have been recalled in the nationwide investigation of a salmonella outbreak that Friday expanded to include a second Iowa farm. More than 1,000 people have already been sickened and the toll of illnesses is expected to increase.

Iowa's Hillandale Farms said Friday it was recalling more than 170 million eggs after laboratory tests confirmed salmonella. The company did not say if its action was connected to the recall by Wright County Egg, another Iowa farm that recalled 380 million eggs earlier this week. The latest recall puts the total number of potentially tainted eggs at over half a billion.

An FDA spokeswoman said the two recalls are related. The strain of salmonella causing the poisoning is the same in both cases, salmonella enteritidis.

The eggs recalled Friday were distributed under the brand names Hillandale Farms, Sunny Farms, Sunny Meadow, Wholesome Farms and West Creek. The new recall applies to eggs sold between April and August.

Hillandale said the eggs were distributed to grocery distribution centers, retail groceries and food service companies which service or are located in fourteen states, including Arkansas, California, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, Texas, and Wisconsin.

A food safety expert at Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y., said the source of the outbreak could be rodents, shipments of contaminated hens, or tainted feed. Microbiology professor Patrick McDonough said he was not surprised to hear about two recalls involving different egg companies, because in other outbreaks there have also been multiple sources.

Both plants could have a rodent problem, or both plants could have gotten hens that were already infected, or feed that was contaminated.

"You need biosecurity of the hen house, you want a rodent control program and you want to have hens put into that environment that are salmonella free," McDonough said.

The salmonella bacteria is not passed from hen to hen, but usually from rodent droppings to chickens, he added. This strain of bacteria is found inside a chicken's ovaries, and gets inside an egg.

CDC officials said Thursday that the number of illnesses related to the outbreak is expected to grow. That's because illnesses occurring after mid-July may not be reported yet, said Dr. Christopher Braden, an epidemiologist with the federal Centers for Disease Control.

Almost 2,000 illnesses from the strain of salmonella linked to both recalls were reported between May and July, almost 1,300 more than usual, Braden said. No deaths have been reported.
