Cold Wave Nips Fruit Prospects

It was a short summer and there "were" a lot of fine fruit and early garden prospects in Memphis and Hall County until Tuesday night.

But the eagerly hoped-for and badly-needed fruit crop was literally nipped in the bud when a cold wave from Canada to the Gulf sent the temperature down to 25 degrees for two days straight running, Wednesday and Thursday mornings.

C. C. HODGES

As an indication of immediate action on various projects now believed opportune with the end of the war approaching, Mr. Hodges announced his various council committees. On the airport committee he named Mr. Alexander, Mr. Tarver and Mr. Allen.

Ben Wilson Named County Chairman On Clothing Drive

His appointment came by telegram Wednesday from the national headquarters and was verified by a telegram to Postmaster Jim Vallance.

A complete list of committees, plans of collection and other details of the drive will be announced next week by Mr. Wilson.

The registration is to bring rentals in Memphis under federal rent control, which was announced last week by the OPA. Rental prices will be frozen as of July 1, 1945.

Chickens Must Be Kept Penned, Warns McCreary

A warning that chickens must be kept penned, stray dogs will not be tolerated, and that all the city's sanitation and traffic laws will be rigidly enforced, has been issued by Police Chief Ed McCreary.

The warning was issued after the newly-elected city council instructed Chief McCreary to take drastic steps, if necessary, to see that these ordinances are enforced.

Chief McCreary called attention to ordinance requiring cow lots to be cleaned once a week, to keep staked cows off sidewalks, against double parking and parking in alleys.

"All of these ordinances are going to be enforced to the letter," he said.

Narcotics Stolen From Drug Store

All of the narcotics in stock in the prescription room at the Memphis Drug Company store were stolen Tuesday night by a burglar, or burglars, who pried the iron bars from a rear window, ripped off the screen and raised the window.

Nothing else in the store was missing, reports Lon Alexander, owner. The narcotics were in a box in the prescription case, he reported.

Early gardens, too, were off to a fine start, due to ideal Spring conditions. It was one of the coldest spells of the winter over the Plains country, the mercury hitting 14 at Amarillo and 12 at Pampa and Hereford. The 14-mark at Amarillo tied the low reading of the winter there.

Snow covered the ground over most of the Panhandle as the norther moved in Tuesday night, and railroads reported snow all the way from the Canadian border to Clarendon.

County Cotton Yield of 37,900 Bales Reported

Bureau of census figures show the latest tabulation on the Hall County cotton crop as 37,900 bales ginned up to last week. This is 11,000 bales more than last year and is one of the best yields in the county in recent years.

The report is not final on the 1944 crop, as considerable cotton has been ginned since the figures were gathered from the gins, and some cotton is yet being gathered. Final figures are expected to bring the ginnings to approximately 40,000 bales.

Bad weather last fall and a shortage of hands resulted in a heavy loss of cotton in the county. If all of it could have been gathered the total yield would have been (Continued on page twelve)

Roy Guthrie has been named by Commander Glenn Thompson as chairman of the general committee to make arrangements for the convention. He will have subcommittees on housing, entertainment and other activities.

CLAUDE'S COMMENTS

It's goodbye fruit. The freeze Tuesday night put a quietus to any ideas of a fruit crop this year. And this is to be a year of all years when fruit would do the most good to the most people.

And we were all in hopes there would be no freeze. Anyway, we had the pleasure of seeing more fruit tree blooms this year than in many years.

After four terms (8 years) as mayor of Memphis I am just a private now. What a relief! Being mayor is not a position, but a job anyway one takes it. There are some duties that are pleasant and a whole lot unpleasant. A newspaper man should not hold office, especially that of mayor. The newspaper man wants to print all the news and the mayor tells him no, don't print it. The result is that the public is not kept fully informed as to what the city government is doing. Ration Changes To Help Vets in Business, Made

An important step in the OPA program to assist veterans in adjusting to civilian economic life has been announced by W. A. Robertson, Veterans Relation Advisor in the District Office of Price Administration.

Changes in ration regulations which will permit veterans of the present war to open small businesses making use of rationed foods—businesses which under rationing have been closed to newcomers became effective March 26.

"This is only one of several moves OPA is making to help veterans get started," Robertson stated as he announced that two types of businesses are thrown open to veterans by the new ration order. One type is establishments which use rationed foods as raw materials. The other type is establishments which use rationed foods in the service of "refreshments."

Existing regulations, Robertson pointed out, already permit the opening of certain types of new establishments dealing in food, such as retail and wholesale establishments distributing rationed foods, restaurants or other institutional users using rationed foods in the service of meals, and certain establishments producing rationed foods.

The amounts of rationed food that a veteran may obtain are limited so that, in general, the business operated will be comparable to typical "small" businesses now operating, Robertson said.

Other OPA regulations are being reviewed, it was announced, to determine whether additional changes if aid to veterans can be made within the allotments of scarce commodities for civilian use. It was emphasized that scarce supplies of rationed foods will not be permitted the opening of large businesses under the new regulation. It was also pointed out that price regulations applying to other businesses of the same type will apply to businesses operated by veterans, and that they should obtain information about ceiling prices before making financial commitments in connection with new businesses.

Producers May Sell Live Poultry, WFA Office Announces

WFA's 100 per cent set-aside order on canned poultry for the Armed Forces does not restrict producers from selling live poultry. Dan L. Boyd, district representative, WFA's office of supply, has explained.

Marketing of live turkeys and chickens can proceed as usual without violation of the order, he said. Poultry dressed for home consumption or canned for home use also are not violations.

Poultry also may be placed in food lockers if the capacity is not more than 15 cubic feet.

Boyd was informed of the interpretations by C. H. Evans, WFA's regional dairy and poultry representative, who said the set-aside order was a joint move by WFA and the Quartermaster Corps to supply U. S. military demands for about 70,000,000 pounds of canned chicken and poultry during 1945.

Less Meat for Civilian Use

The tightening of meat values which became a fact Sunday, March 4, was to bring them into line with restricted supplies of meat for civilian use resulting from military requirements. The fact that hog marketings are running below previous estimates according to Ely Fonville, Rationing Executive for the Office of Price Administration, is not surprising. The meat allocation to civilians in March, Fonville said, is five or six percent below that of an average week in 1944 and 13 to 15 percent below that of the first six months of 1945. "It is likely that the first six months of 1945 will show a further decline in the amount of meat for civilian use than the 15 percent we are anticipating."

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 11 FUR EXPERT HERE

Is Your Fur Coat DATED?

Look at your fur coat as others see it. Is it outmoded? Is it worn in spots? Does it look shabby? You'll be amazed at the expert job we can do with your old coat — and now is the time to come in for an estimate. LIBERAL TRADE IN ALLOWANCE—We will gladly give you a very liberal allowance for your old fur coat towards the purchase of a new one. Get our estimate now — you will be under no obligations.

IMPORTANT STEPS IN FUR CONSERVATION:

PROTECTION—

During the summer months, furs should be protected against moths, fire and theft. The old custom of keeping them in cedar closets dries out the natural oils.

PREVENTION—

Often tears and rips are due to strain through the back, shoulders and underarm seams. By having these attended to immediately, the durability of the garment will be greatly lengthened.

DETECTION—

Furs need cleaning once a year to remove dirt, grime and dust, to restore oils which the heat of the body and the dry atmosphere have dried out of the leather, then glazing to restore luster.

The most durable furs may be ruined through improper care, while years of wear may be added to a fur of much less durability through the consideration it receives. Why not see our furrier now?

Bring your furs in this week. Storage space went quickly last year—don't wait too long this year.

Aubry L. Durham Describes Naval Assault on Jima

Aboard the U. S. S. Nevada, Aubrey Lee Durham participated in the naval assault on Iwo Jima before the Marines went ashore, and in a letter to his mother, Mrs. G. L. Durham, and his grandmother, Mrs. W. R. Durham, describes the heavy bombardment; he also tells of the Nevada being attacked by a Jap plane and being shot down.

His letter: By now you have read in the papers or heard on the radio that the Nevada participated in the invasion of Iwo Jima, so I am sending you this letter in order to bring you up to date. After leaving Hawaii, we moved out to join up with other units of a large Fleet. We continued to have intense training practice enroute in preparation for the big event that we knew was coming. After the preliminaries were completed, we moved on to the forward area to await the time when we would participate in the pre-invasion day bombardment. At dawn on the scheduled day we approached the island of Iwo Jima along with other units of the Fleet and opened fire with our heavy guns (incidentally the Nevada had the honor of firing the first shot.) This preliminary shelling lasted for several days and we were proud and pleased to see that we were effectively knocking out Jap installations

Former Local Man Has Close Escape on Leyte

Lt. Sumner C. Reed of Dallas and former Memphis resident had a close call on Leyte, it has been learned. The invasion of Leyte was his first campaign and his headquarters was scheduled to be set up in a certain building, but at the last minute the plans were changed. That night Japs were caught planting enough explosives under the building to have blown it to bits. He is a member of the intelligence corps and is the son of Mrs. Willie M. Reed of Dallas. He is a nephew of N. A. and Walter Hightower.

Recruiters for Coast Guard Here

Two veteran members of the Coast Guard were in Memphis last Friday, interviewing 17-year-old youths who might be interested in entering this branch of the service. The recruiters were Ph. M. Cecil Singleton, who has spent 18 months with the amphibious forces in the South Pacific, and Coxswain Allen Matherne, who was with the amphibious forces in the European theater for 19 months. There are 13 Coast Guard training schools now open to young men of 17 years of age, the recruiters reported. Information as to the Coast Guard may be obtained at the post office.

such as pill boxes, block houses and anti-aircraft gun emplacements. We have no idea of the number of Japs we killed, but we did see several go down under our own fire.

The island of Iwo Jima is practically a fortress. It is similar in shape to South America but only about 5 miles long, 2 1-2 miles wide at its widest point. It is composed of rugged volcanic rock with many cliffs, crevices and caves, and the Japs were well dug in having taken advantage of every natural protection. On D Day the Marines landed on the island. Thanks to our heavy bombardment they encountered light initial resistance but it wasn't long before the Japs started putting up a stiff fight. All I can say is, those leathernecks have plenty of courage. By now your newspaper has told you how well they are doing. During all this time the men on the ship worked hard. We were at our battle stations for long periods of time and even the K Rations tasted good when we found time to grab a bite to eat.

One of the high lights of the whole show came when the ship was attacked by a Jap plane. His attack did not last long however, as he was promptly shot down by our batteries, and fell flaming into the water. We are all tired, but happy for we know we have contributed our share. I am well and will write to you again soon.

Local Youth Tells Of War Front at Paducah Banquet

Folks down at Paducah really "put the big pot in the little one" Friday night at the annual ladies' night program of the Lions club when Rep. Hubert A. Lee brought a group of distinguished visitors from Austin as guests of honor. It was a twoday affair as the annual Horse Show was held on Saturday, which attracted visitors from a wide territory.

Attending the banquet, held at the First Methodist church, were C. H. Gilmer of Kerrville, speaker of the house of the 49th Legislature; Rep. Fred Jones of Greenville; Price Maddux of Sweetwater, commissioner of the Department of Public Safety; Capt. Posey of the Highway Patrol, Abilene district; Cpt. John Draper, head of the license division of the Department of Public Safety, Austin, and Rep. Lee.

The visitors lauded the work of Rep. Lee, who is attending his first session and predicted an outstanding record for him in the law-making body. Speaker Gilmer reviewed the work of the Legislature and discussed the trend in legislative matters and in state government. He foresees a more compact and streamlined state government with the consolidation of many governmental agencies which now provide overlapping and duplicating services.

T-5 R. E. Martin of Memphis, home on leave from an Army hospital at San Francisco, played a group of piano numbers and also made an interesting talk on his experiences in France, where he was wounded last July shortly after D-Day. He praised the medical corps of the Army, saying that wounded men were given the finest attention in the world. He told of the privations the people in England and France are undergoing and said that if the people here "could see for themselves what the people in those countries face, we would not complain but would do everything possible to support the men on the fighting fronts."

Others from Memphis who attended the banquet were President N. W. Durham of the Lions club and T. E. Johnson of The Democrat.

Cpl. Jas. L. Burke Of Parnell, Missing

Cpl. James L. Burke, son of J. A. Burke of Parnell, has been missing in action over Japan since Jan. 27, the War Department has announced.

Tail gunner on a B-29 super fortress bomber, Cpl. Burke has been in the Army Air Force since October, 1944. Before entering service he was employed at the Amarillo Army Air Field.

Lieut. Keith Wells Wounded, Remains To Direct Men

Despite several fragment wounds in both legs, Marine First Lieutenant John K. Wells, 28, remained to direct a successful infantry assault on Jap positions below Mount Suribachi, in the Iwo Jima invasion.

Ignoring the pleas of hospital corpsmen, the young officer remained with his men for an hour and a half until reinforcements and supplies were brought up. The lieutenant, who lives in Lakeview, then made it alone to the first aid and evacuation station, despite heavy enemy fire.

"We were only 75 yards from Jap entangled positions," he related, to a Marine Corps correspondent, "and they let us get halfway to them before they opened fire with mortars and machine guns."

Inside the heavy foliage, where the enemy was entrenched, the Japs began tossing grenades by the hundreds.

"It rained grenades and we couldn't see anything," Lieutenant Wells related. "The shrubbery was too high. So we began a grenade battle."

It wasn't long before the lieutenant's men ran out of supplies. Three of his runners were shot down by snipers. An amphibious tank bringing supplies received a direct hit by a mortar shell.

For two hours the fight waxed hot and heavy. It was near the end of the grenade battle that Lieutenant Wells was wounded along with three of his men.

After that his unit advanced into clearer territory. When reinforcements started pouring in, he left for the air station.

"I never saw braver men in my life," he said.

COTTON OFFERS YOU MORE OPPORTUNITY TO SAVE LABOR!

Labor-saving machinery will be used on thousands of Cotton farms this season. Mechanical Cotton choppers — flaming machines to control weeds — homemade sleds, strippers and pickers made by farmers, or local blacksmiths, and machine shops—plus pickers that manufacturers are developing—will help to harvest this season's crop.

You can make use of your own machinery, as others are doing, to handle your Cotton crop this season; and, in addition, the U. S. Department of Agriculture says: "By harvest time, more labor is expected to be available." BUT, REMEMBER, FIRST YOU'VE GOT TO PLANT THE CROP AND DO EVERYTHING POSSIBLE TO INSURE MAXIMUM PRODUCTION.

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood streams free of an excess of toxic impurities. The art of living—life itself—consistently producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's Pills at all drug stores.

Free WFA Cotton Grading and New Service Available

Free cotton classification market news service during 1945 crop year is again available from the War Food Administration to organized cotton marketing groups which apply under the Smith-Dowey Act.

Applications must be filed with the Office of Marketing Service, WFA, not later than August 1 or August 15—depending on locality. Improvement of which file applications can obtain the maximum for their members.

Cotton samples classified for improvement groups under Smith-Dowey Act in the 1944 season are expected to represent about 3,850,000 bales, or one-third of the total ginned in the United States. This compares with samples classified covering 350,000 bales from cotton produced in the 1943-44 season.

Membership of improvement groups and the reported amount planted by members have a steady increase since the Smith-Dowey classing service became available to farmers in the 1938-39 season. The average number of members per group has increased annually from 60 in 1938 to 1944.

Instructions and application blanks may be obtained at county agricultural agents.

New Crop Insurance Rates in Hall County Based On Individual Farm Records

New insurance rates on cotton crops in Hall County have been received at the local AAA office and farmers are showing considerable interest in the plan, reports County Agt W. B. ...

Premium rates on the 1945 crop are based on individual farm records rather than on county yields, this being the principal change in the new insurance plan over previous years.

Under the 1945 plan the individual farmer with a good yield and a crop loss record in past years will be entitled to higher coverage and lower premium rates. Formerly, the insurance was based on county average yields and losses.

There has been no cotton insurance for the past two years. The average this year will cover everything over which the farmer has no control, except loss by theft and predatory animals.

Final date for taking out the insurance is April 15. If loss occurs before June 15 and the crop has been plowed once he will be paid 75 per cent of the coverage; if loss occurs before that date and the crop has not been cultivated it will be paid 40 per cent of the coverage.

A typical case of how the insurance works and the cost of the coverage is as follows:

On 200 pounds of lint yield the insurance will cover 75 per cent of 150 pounds and the premium will be 10 pounds of the crop; if coverage is for 50 per cent, or 100 pounds of lint, the premium will be four pounds. Twenty per cent additional coverage may be taken out to include seed, and the premium cost will be 20 per cent extra.

gram, growers may insure their cotton crops and cottonseed, if desired, up to 75 per cent of their average yields, or up to 50 per cent if less protection is desired. Applications may be made at the AAA office or filed with any authorized agent. April 25th has been set as the final date to take out insurance.

Payment of indemnities on crop losses will vary with the stage of growth under the new setup.

Example: If loss occurs after it is too late to reseed to cotton, but prior to first cultivation, the indemnity will be 40 per cent of the maximum coverage. The land can then be released from the policy and put to another use by the farmer. If loss occurs after the first cultivation but prior to harvest the indemnity will be 75 per cent of the maximum coverage.

All cotton producers, whether sharecroppers, tenants, or landowners may apply for the crop insurance on the interest in the crop.

The insurance program is so designed that producers may spread the cost of crop failures or low yield over a period of years, without insurance the producer pays and all in one year. Benefits of crop insurance are provided the farmer without administrative costs, which are paid by the government.

It will assist the price panel members in making sure that every merchant gets the information he needs in preparing his pricing chart. The chart, which the merchants are ordered to prepare under new OPA regulations, will show the cost and selling prices of all goods offered for sale.

Shamrock Man Wants Old Guns For WT Museum

The famed collection of old guns, gathered during the past 40 years by O. T. Nicholson, banker of Shamrock, has been presented to the Panhandle-Plains Historical museum at Canyon.

This collection of guns has been made through much research and at heavy expense to the Shamrock man, but Mr. Nicholson feels that it isn't as complete as it should be and in a letter to J. Claude Wells, who is a director of the Museum, he asks his help in locating additional firearms.

Mr. Nicholson particularly wants six-shooters of the early cattlemen, pioneer law enforcement officers and "even desperadoes" of this section of the country.

"It is not so much the gun," he writes, "as the memory of the owner that it is my hope to preserve."

His present collection, which will be placed in the museum when the new building is completion on the campus of West Texas State college, consists of more than 300 pieces. In it is every known system of firing from the original matchlock on down to the cartridge system, with some of these arms dating back 400 years and many of them exceptionally rare and valuable.

"To be rounded out, as I think it should be," he declares, "I should have more of the guns (preferably six-shooters) of the early cattlemen, law enforcement officers and desperadoes."

"I will buy such guns, if I can do so at reasonable price and add to my collection or if the owner of such gun should prefer, I will take it and condition it, prepare the proper history and record as furnished me, show that it was donated to the Museum by such owner and when my own collection is placed in the Museum, will see that such gun is given the place of prominence it deserves.

Roberts are to be voted on for new terms. Hold-over members of the board are Roy Coleman, E. E. Cudd, T. B. Rogers, Carl Harrison and George Cullin.

"If you know of such a gun and the present owner, I would be glad to have you contact such owner for me or write me who it is and I will attempt to make a deal with him.

"I know there are many of the old six-shooters left among the descendants of our pioneer settlers, possibly many have already been thrown away or destroyed, but it is my hope that by the time our new building is ready to receive my collection and with the help of the other directors of the Society, I may be able to add this finishing touch to my collection."

Former High School Boxer, Now In Marines, Climbs to Top In Golden Gloves Tourney; Wins N. Y. Title

A former Memphis school lad is being hailed as one of the great welterweight fighters of the country. He is La Verne Roach, winner of the eastern half of the nation in the Golden Gloves tournament, and who entered the national championship contest in Chicago Wednesday night.

Roach is a stalwart 147-pound Marine and sports writer of the New York and Chicago newspapers are picking him as the outstanding welterweight of the nation.

He was rated by the sports writers as the nick of the 27-man team representing the East as it departed for Chicago to meet the champions of the West.

Roach is stationed at the Cherry Point, N. C. air base and won all of the district and regional Golden Gloves tournaments to the championship at the New York meet.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Roach and the family moved to Plainview in 1940. La Verne was a freshmen in the 1939-40 class and participated in various boxing meets here when he was coached by Abe Murphy.

A clipping from the Chicago Tribune, sent to The Democrat by Pvt. Y. Z. Taylor, who was in school with Roach, stated: "With the other youngsters in training at the Bear Mountain camp, Roach made a great hit. They admire his fighting ability and it is the general opinion that he is the safest bet New York has against Chicago. But they admire even more his quiet demeanor and readiness to assist the coaches in their work with the other members of the team."

Hot Water Plus After Meals For Acid Indigestion

Thousands of unfortunate people who suffer from so-called dyspepsia, acid indigestion, food fermentation, sour stomach, flatulence, gas or stomach distress brought on by excess food will try drinking slowly each evening a glass of hot water containing one spoonful of acid which usually get relief in a very few minutes. This is not a laxative—it is soothing and comforting to the mucous membranes and very agreeable to take. New—this physician's formula can now be had at Standard Pharmacy or any class drug store.
