

New Insecticide Will Be Available Soon for Public

Good news for the thousands of families in Texas, is the information that DDT, the almost miraculous insecticide developed during the war, is now available for civilian use, and if not already on the market in every community, the time is approaching when it may be purchased wherever insecticides are sold.

Formerly restricted to military use for the suppression and control of malaria and other insect-borne diseases among the armed forces at home and abroad, civilians have availed with interest the opportunity to use DDT in homes and business buildings, to rid them of flies, fleas, roaches and other common pests.

"If every householder in the State will spray his home and out-buildings with DDT," Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer declared recently, "there is a definite possibility of bringing the incidence of insect-borne diseases down to an absolute minimum. Such insects as fleas, lice, flies, mosquitoes, and roaches have been recognized as vectors of diseases for many years, but heretofore there has been no satisfactory method whereby they could all be controlled by a single poison. That is why DDT is referred to as a 'miracle insecticide.' It is as fatal to one of these pests as to another, and homes, business buildings, outhouses and premises can be rid of such insects through the use of DDT."

Accidents Don't Just Happen, Say Extension People

"Oh, I've heard all this before," Mrs. American Housewife is likely to say when you try to talk to her about home accident prevention. Yet nearly half the accidents that occur in the United States happen at home.

"They don't just happen, either," says Mrs. Bernice Clayton, Home Improvement Specialist for the A. and M. College Extension Service. "Most of them are caused by carelessness, dangerous economy, poor housekeeping, haste, or bad judgment."

Last year, 4,650,000 persons were injured at home, and 130,000 of these were put permanently out of the running. Fatal accidents at home claimed 31,500 lives.

"Cluttered cellar stairs, children's toys left scattered about on the floor, dangerous drugs not under lock and key—all these conditions are widespread among American homes. And each of them can be the cause of a serious injury," says Mrs. Clayton.

Some people forget that babies are no match for pillows in a tussle. Next to burns and scalds, smothering causes most of our accidental infant deaths. Other people can't seem to remember that carelessness with matches is arson of the worst order. Keep matches especially the kitchen variety, away from small hands.

"Opening cans with a bread knife may open a gash in your wrist," Mrs. Clayton warns. Wrong use of tools causes one out of ten home accidents. Stew pans on the stove with handles turned out invite curiosity—and perhaps tragedy if your youngster grabs at them.

Remembering to do the simple things—like wielding a knife away from you, and buying new fuses instead of replacing old ones with pennies—will create the amazing difference between a safe, reassuring home life and one filled with lurking dangers.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1 Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.

2 Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

Amarillo Territory Short in Used Fat Campaign

Amarillo and the surrounding territory has collected 120,651 pounds of used household fats since the start of 1945. E. C. Johnson, Acting District Officer of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Federal Administration said today that this is far short of the 1945 goal for this territory.

Mr. Johnson said, "The goal here had been set at 1,556,719 pounds. It seems an almost impossible task to collect 1,436,068 additional pounds of used fats between now and the first of the year, but it may be able to reach that figure if every housewife in the territory will salvage every ounce of used fats and get these fats to collection point."

Mr. Johnson pointed out that the national goal was 250,000,000 pounds for 1945 and that the Amarillo figure is based on the national goal.

Cream Soups Excellent Meat Extenders

A cream soup made from a choice of wholesome ingredients may be substantial enough to be a meal-in-itself. And a well seasoned vegetable chowder, with cheese added, gives a flavor combination everyone will enjoy.

If you have some vegetables from your Victory garden, you will probably have everything on hand that you need for this Victory Garden Chowder. However, if you are not fortunate enough to have the vegetables, they are readily available at the store. The variety you use will depend on your likes and dislikes.

These hearty cream soups contain high-quality proteins which are also found in meat. In addition, milk and cheese furnish substantial amounts of the daily calcium, phosphorus, vitamin A and riboflavin requirement. And the vegetables increase the valuable vitamin and mineral content of these foods.

If you pack lunch boxes for children, office or factory workers, you will find a thermos bottle of cream soup an ideal hot food to include. Be sure the thermos bottle is scalded and the soup piping hot when it is packed — there is nothing more unappetizing than lukewarm soup.

VICTORY GARDEN CHOWDER

- 1/4 cup butter or meat drippings
  - 3 medium onions, chopped
  - 2 slices green pepper, chopped fine
  - 2 cups green beans, cut thin
  - 3 medium carrots, sliced thin
  - 5 medium potatoes, grated
  - 3 1/2 cups boiling water
  - 4 cups milk
  - 3 teaspoons salt
  - Black pepper to suit taste
  - 1 1/2 cups American cheese, grated
  - Seasoning salt
- Melt butter or drippings in soup kettle. Add onion and green pepper and simmer 2 minutes. Add beans and boiling water to butter and onion mixture, and cook covered for about 15 minutes. Add sliced carrots and grated potato and cook about 15 minutes longer, or until the vegetables are tender. By this time most of the water will be evaporated. Add the milk to the chowder; heat just to boiling. Add salt, pepper and grated cheese; remove immediately from heat and stir until cheese is melted. Serve piping hot, with a sprinkling of seasoning salt on each serving. Serves 6.

DON'T THROW AWAY THE KEY

The termination of the war did not bring a clean-cut victory to the United Nations. The avowed objective of freedom from political oppression for which the war was fought, is less in evidence today than at any previous time, not excluding the era of Hitler. The United States now stands alone as the champion of individual enterprise and the exponent of government as the servant rather than the master of the people. Over most of the world peoples numbed by suffering, seem anxious to become charges of masterful governments.

The United States remains the one great nation with production and distribution under the ownership and management of private citizens. Thanks to this system, our farmers and factories, our retailers and workers—tens of millions of them—can make a living independent of government. As long as they can do that they need never fear political oppression. The privilege of earning a living unsupported by government handouts and resultant political "persuasion," is the key to freedom. The people of Europe have thrown away this key. Even in England and France, the key is being turned over to government.

Let's not throw away the key to freedom in our own country. Private enterprise, which socialism destroys, may have its drawbacks. But its shortcomings can always be corrected. Private enterprise is the source of independent jobs—for employer and employe alike. As long as private enterprise exists, government payrolls can be kept to a healthy minimum, and we can tell officialism to go to blazes, without fear of the consequences.

"FILL HER UP!"

We have all heard so much about the tremendous problems of reconversion that we have felt it would be months, if not years, before we could again enjoy buying the most common-place prewar products. And then almost before the guns had stopped shooting, gasoline and fuel oil were off the ration list. It is a question of whether more beef and more sugar would have meant as much to the people.

But the real point is that the oil industry, which had been called on to meet an unprecedented war demand, was ready at the drop of the hat to take on the full peacetime load of the greatest oil using nation in the world, plus the still great demands of the greatest mechanized army, navy and air fleet in the world. This is an accomplishment of private enterprise that is deserving of more than passing recognition.

Even during the war, the oil companies were preparing for peace. Their incentive and initiative had not been dulled by government ownership and control which was out of touch with civilian needs, and which it might have taken weeks or months, or even years to end.

It is worth remembering that American private enterprise, as typified by the oil industry, rendered unparalleled worldwide service in a global emergency and dropped back without a hitch to normal peacetime domestic service in a manner not duplicated by nations whose resources are the playthings of politics and government control.

Four Young Texans Help Build Giant Plant and Develop Nickel Resources in Jungles of Cuba

A little bit of Texas and Texas "know how" today flourishes where once a Cuban jungle stood, and part of the credit goes to four young men from this state.

They are among the small group of young engineers who early in the war went off to the tropics to aid in developing a huge, new industry, the recovery of critically needed nickel from low-grade Cuban ore. Nickel is an indispensable alloy in toughening armor plate for planes, tanks and ships.

Work of the young engineers, at that time, was considered so vital to the war effort in view of the threatened nickel shortage that the Army and Navy urged that they and all other technical men remain on the job.

The Army even sent artillery troops to Cuba to guard the new plant from possible attack from the sea by enemy submarines, while the Navy conveyed material and supplies from the United States to the plant site at Nicaro.

The four young Texans trained in Texas for their tasks, then started from scratch in a jungle to help place a brand new metallurgical process in production against seemingly insurmountable obstacles, and they have com-through.

They are William A. "Bill" Atkinson, Jr., 25, of Lovelady; V.
H. "Broggie" Brogdon, 31, and B. F. "Ben" Fredericks, 29, both of Houston, and Oran W. Collier, 26, of Florence.

All are engineers at Freeport Sulphur Company's Nicaro mining and nickel recovery plant in eastern Cuba, today the largest industrial unit on the island.

Atkinson was graduated from Tulane University with a B. S. and M. S. in chemistry and physics. Brogdon has a B. S. in mechanical engineering and Fredericks a B. S. in chemical engineering from Rice institute. Collier obtained a B. S. in chemical engineering at the University of Texas.

Outbreak of the war in Europe and the fear that a nickel shortage might dangerously impede armament production by the United Nations determined the war jobs of the young engineers. They worked on experiments with Cuban ore at Hoskins Mound, Texas, but by the time of Pearl Harbor the experiments had only reached the stage at which one ton of ore a day was handled in a small pilot plant. Then the government stepped into the picture and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation urged Freeport Sulphur to build, man and operate a mining and recovery plant in Cuba.

Construction began at the height of the materials shortage, tremendously increasing problems already magnified by distance and isolation. Nicaro agents sifted through the United States market for used equipment, buying abandoned plans to obtain some of the structural steel needed.

The submarine menace in the South Atlantic made it necessary to ship the hard-won material by rail to Florida and then in Navy convoys to Cuba.

The manpower shortage imposed still another handicap, but by recruiting Cuban labor, an army of 8,000 construction workers was employed to build the huge project, which cost $33,500,000.

Today the plant is producing nickel at the rate of 27,500,000 pounds a year.

"It takes youth, nerve and stamina for the job like this and our young engineers have got it," said J. T. Claiborne, Jr., vice president of Freeport Sulphur.

It was in the late summer of 1941 that the four young Texas engineers with about 12 others, began work and study at the pilot plant. Their employment was in line with the company's policy of selecting promising young men in the country's engineering schools and offering them an opportunity to take their knowledge and ability into fields in which they are most interested and in which their particular talents can be best adapted.

After nearly two years at the pilot plant and in the laboratory, during which time numerous changes in the recovery process were made, the young engineers were already to put their knowledge and experience to the test.

All went to Nicaro, where at the outset they fought the production "bugs" that exist in any new process and when not doing that they fought the bugs out of the tropical nights. But they won and nickel was obtained for the nation's war machine.

A vital wartime job had to be done—the Army and the Navy insisted—and four young Texans went out and helped to do it. And while they are about it, they don't seem to be passing up opportunities to tell the Cubans about the Lone Star State. Someday, they say, they're coming back.

AMERICAN GENIUS AT WORK

100 years ago, the U. S. Commissioner of Patents said, "The advancement of the arts... seems to

His statement was a challenge to American

Friendship Mississippi Takes Active Part Against Japan—Accomplishments Told Memphis Lad, G. M. 2-c Hiram Wood

Mr. Wells: Public Relation Committee given its permission for articles for publication in newspapers for the purpose of giving the readers full knowledge of the battle performance of this ship. This article first pass Naval censorship may be printed word for word without further censoring. One of Vice Admiral Jesse Oldendorf's "old Battleships" S. S. Mississippi climaxed her arduous and awe-inspiring career when she sailed proudly to Japs own Tokyo Bay as member of Admiral "Bull" Halsey's Third Fleet of occupation.

The "Missy" this jaunt to was a return engagement, being the third ship of the name to bear that name. Ninety years ago, the first Mississippi was the flagship of Commodore M. C. Perry when he led the expedition into the uncharted waters of Japan for world wide peace. The commanding officer of the Mississippi on that day was Capt. Sidney Smith brother of General Robert E. Lee. During the war between the States, Captain Lee became Commander-in-Chief of the Confederacy at the same time General Lee became leader of the Confederate Army. It was in this that the Mississippi was severely damaged in the Battle of Hudson and was subsequently destroyed.

The second Mississippi, displaced 3,000 tons was commissioned in 1907. She played an early role in the beginning of Naval operations, but was in 1913 decommissioned prior to World War I and later sold to Greece.

The present Mississippi, displacing 40,000 tons was commissioned on Dec. 18, 1917. During the first World War, she saw action and contented herself with a period of peace with normal duty in both Atlantic and Pacific waters.

When the Japanese struck Pearl Harbor, the Missy, with her sisters, Idaho and New Mexico, rising Battleship Division 3, was on occupational duty in the North Atlantic. Already a lady, virtually untried in the Missy was shifted to the Pacific and as one of the few remaining undamaged battlewagons, she became the bulwark of defense against the rapidly approaching

Centennial Edition Of Texas Almanac Is Now Ready

The new Texas Almanac is off the press, the 1945-46 edition being commemorative of the Centennial of Texas Statehood. Although print paper is still alarmingly scarce, the fact that the new book contains 608 pages—the largest in history—is considered adequate proof of its value to the public. In harmony with its dedication, a considerable portion of the book is devoted to historical matter. There is a revised history of Texas, from Cabeza de Vaca to Coke R. Stevenson, and there are additional chapters on events and places of historical interest, including an extensive current account of Texas' participation in World War II. As usual, data and statistics on rainfall, crops, mineral deposits, farm demonstrations, railroad mileage, reports of state and county officials, Mayors and City Managers, sources of state revenue during the last fiscal year and articles on Texas counties, with individual maps, are included in the current issue, together with revisions in up-to-date form, covering rail, highway, air and shipping commerce; banking and insurance; Texas athletic events, parks and tourist attractions, school, libraries, health and hospitals.

In view of the postwar program of economic development, special attention is given to Texas manufacturing industries between 1940 and 1944, when pay rolls and volume of production more than doubled. There is full treatment also of Texas minerals, of which more than sixty kinds were produced last year, for a total value of more than a billion dollars—the greatest value of mineral production of any single state in the history of the nation. Included also, are late developments in soil and water conservation, telling of the construction of such new projects as Lake Texoma, near Denison, one of the largest reservoirs in America.

Approximately 85 per cent of the current edition of the Almanac had been sold before the first volume came from the press a few days ago.

Pfc. Warren Adam To Arrive in States From European Area

Pfc. Warren G. Adams of Memphis will arrive in the United States shortly with the 17th Airborne Division when the division, representing the Airborne Veterans of the European Theater of operations, returns home deactivation.

Pfc. Adams is a member of the 82nd airborne. He served as a squad leader in the 509th Parachute Bn. and is a qualified Parachutist.

He participated in the following campaigns: Rame Arno, Southern France, Ardennes, Rhineland, Central Europe, and wears the Purple Heart, Combat Infantryman's Badge, and Presidential Citation.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Adams live at Memphis.

The 17th Airborne Division is now composed of high point men from all the fighting airborne units in the European Theater. Although no one unit nor any individual took part in all the airborne operations the composite membership of the present 17th has taken part in each one, including those of North Africa, Sicily, Italy, Southern France, Normandy, Holland and across the Rhine in Germany.

The original 17th, which wears the golden eagle claws insignia and is commanded by Major General William M. Miley, trained at Camp Mackall, N. C., and Camp Forrest, Tenn., and arrived in England last summer. It was rushed by air to the continent last winter to help stop the German drive in the Battle of the Bulge and later helped push the Nazis back to their Siegfried Line defenses. After the Ardennes Rhineland Campaigns, the 17th spearheaded the Battle of Central Europe by dropping across the Rhine and later helping clear out the Ruhr pocket. During this campaign it captured Franz Von Japen, German diplomat now awaiting trial as a war criminal.

Your Gin Is Now Ready To Handle Your COTTON

Your gin plant has received a complete overhauling during the months just passed, and it is now in tip-top shape. By a complete overhauling, we mean that nothing has been left undone to make it possible for you to get the best of turnouts.

A new AIRLINE CLEANER has been installed, will make it possible for us to better prepare all snapped cotton for the rest of the gin plant to handle. This cleaner will take out nearly all foreign matter before the bolls reach the gin machinery, thereby preserving the life of the equipment. This means more money to you even when dirty bolls are brought in.

Last year this gin returned $9,000.00 in rebate payments to the farmers. Of equal importance is the fact that this season we are starting out with our gin FREE OF ALL INDEBTEDNESS! And we still have money in the bank to begin operating on.

But we will need every bale we can get to make this a successful season. At this time we want to invite the farmers to bring their cotton here. A competent crew is ready to serve you in any manner they can.

Stay at Home and See Him Sooner

The quickest way to see your son or husband being returned from overseas, to be discharged from the Navy, is to remain at home.

That was the safe advice offered today by the Navy Department to relatives who are anxious to welcome their "boys" coming back to the States for release.

In the first place, if relatives travel to debarkation ports it is highly improbable that they will even see their sailors because the Navy demobilization plan calls for returning men to separation centers in their own Naval Districts. In consequence, men will not be free to visit their families at coastal port, but will move without delay to their own districts.

Secondly, travel by dependents will only crowd the already overloaded transportation system and hamper the orderly operation of discharge.

And last, living accommodations in coastal ports are not and will not be available.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!
Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The art of living—life itself—consists constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

In Pennsylvania, Future Farmers and Future Homemakers chapters in Wyoming and Sullivan Counties are taking the lead in the canning program. The entire crop of a large field of beans grown by Future Farmers in the small community of Tunkhannock, Pa. will be canned for war relief. This will be 2,500 cans.

Reports from other local committees who are supporting the nation-wide canning campaign indicate equally gratifying results, Mr. West declared.

Army Answers Your Questions

Your questions on allotments, insurance, legal problems or other matters as they relate to Army personnel and their dependents will be answered in this column or by letter. Write Headquarters Eighth Service Command, Dallas 2, Texas.

Q. My brother has been overseas for over three months and I haven't heard from him. Where could I find out his overseas address?

A. Requests for addresses of soldiers should be sent to The Adjutant General, Washington, D. C. Include in the request his full name and serial number, the name and number of his unit and the last address you have of that unit.

Q. Can an illegitimate child obtain a family allowance from his father in the service?

A. Yes, if one of these requirements is met: the soldier must declare in writing that he is the child's father, the court must decide that he is the child's father, or the court must decree that the soldier shall contribute to the child's support.

Q. I understand that the National Service Life Insurance my husband took out when he enlisted in the Army is good for only five years. If he is in the Army longer than this, will the insurance automatically be dropped?

A. No. The five-year term period for all National Service Life Insurance issued before December 31, 1945 and not converted to other plans, has been extended for a period of three years.

Q. Is there a medal besides the honorable discharge pin which veterans of this war can wear?

A. Not yet. A bill was approved July 6, 1945 authorizing the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy to procure medals for those serving honorably in the armed services between December 7, 1941 and the termination of hostilities, but no such medals have yet been prepared for distribution.

Q. Does the Bronze Arrowhead count five points for discharge? A. No credit points for discharge under the adjusted rating system are allowed for Bronze Arrowhead, which is awarded to a combat aviator who participated in a combat jump, combat glider landing, initial assault landing on a shore. They will count the same as the stars for the same service, however.

Prepare for Winter Dairy Herd Care

Although Texas still is in the shank of summer, G. G. Gibson of the A. and M. College Extension Service believes it isn't too early for dairymen to commence thinking about the problems which come in with the frost, chill winds and cold rains. It's a hard fact, he observes, that with a little over-delay it will be too late in the season to do anything about some of them.

The major problems, says Gibson who is the Extension dairy husbandman, are adequate fall pastures, supplemental feed, proper winter shelter for milking cows, and selection of the over-winter herd. An early start and progressive follow-up on getting these things in hand, Gibson says, will enable dairymen to ride into the spring with fewer worries.

Adequate small grain pastures for fall and winter grazing should be the first thought. Early planting is urged in order to get maximum growth before cold weather. With a limited supply of protein feed possible, there is more reason than ever for attempting to assure small grain pasturage. Here is one sure way to get more feed for less money.

The silo should be ready for the late feed crop. Each farmer and dairyman should use the kind of silo which best suits his condition. It is important to have the storage available when the feed is harvested.

Winter normally being the expensive feeding period, now is the time to examine the herd and cull out low producers, Gibson says. By keeping only high producers feed is sold to the cows which pay highest prices. With fewer cows to be milked and car-

Needle Craft Club Meets September 18 With Mrs. Cummings

The Needle Craft Club met Sept. 18 in the home of Mrs. Robert Cummings. Following a short business session, presided over by Mrs. T. J. Hampton, the afternoon was spent in conversation and needle work.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Geo. Hammond, Pearl Massey, T. D. Weatherby, Sidney Mayfield, T. J. Hampton, Morgan Baker, Perry Hale, Bess Hudgins, Earl Pritchett, J. M. Ferrel, Henry Newman, Nat Bradley and the hostess, Mrs. Robert Cummings.

The next meeting of the club will be held Oct. 2 in the home of Mrs. J. M. Ferrel.

Sugar Shortage To Continue At Least for Year

The U. S. Department of Agriculture holds up the mirror to the world sugar situation and predicts that production for 1946 probably will be somewhat larger than this year. Notwithstanding, this will be insufficient to meet unrationed demands at current prices of sugar.

In a statement received by the A. and M. College Extension Service, the U. S. Department of Agriculture forecasts that Cuban production may be slightly larger next year since the drought which reduced the 1944-45 yield appears to be broken. The outlook in Europe suggests a gradual increase in sugar beet production in the years ahead, and a similar increase normally would be expected in that area, however, may be slower because of the length of time necessary to reestablish cane fields and harvest a crop. World sugar supplies in 1945 are the smallest since the war commenced.

Accordingly, supplies available to the United States this year will be about 20 per cent smaller than the quantity used in 1944, the statement says.

Present household rations to individual consumers in the U. S., not including sugar for home canning, are 62.5 per cent of the level permitted in 1944. Householders will receive only about one-third as much as in prewar years, or one-half if sugar for home canning is included. Allowances of sugar for home canning in 1945 average about 60 per cent of those in 1944. The cuts went right down the line because rations for institutional users range from 70 to 75 per cent of those for 1944.

Except for reserves for local consumption and the needs of other Latin-American countries, the United States has bought the 1945 Cuban sugar crop, the statement says. But by previous agreement, substantial parts of the total will go to Canada, Great Britain and the liberated areas which imported sugar from Cuba in prewar years.

Urges Grain Seed Treated for Smut

Chemical treatment of small grain seed before fall planting is a cheap and safe insurance against losses from disease, says E. A. Miller, agronomist for the A. and M. College Extension Service.

Wheat, oats and barley are subject to fungus diseases called smut. Under favorable conditions the diseases often cause reduced yields and further loss from dockage when infected grain is marketed. Accordingly, Miller urges farmers to thoroughly clean and treat their planting seed unless they are certain that it is free from infection.

Wheat is affected by two types of smut disease. Stinking smut can be controlled readily by fanning the seed wheat or cleaning it by other methods to remove the smut balls, and then treating it with either two ounces per bushel of 50 per cent copper carbonate, or one-half ounce per bushel of ethyl mercury phosphate called "improved ceresan." The grain may be treated in a commercial seed-treating machine or in a homemade container with a tight fitting lid. An oil drum with a pipe soldered diagonally across it and extending about one foot from each end to permit it to revolve easily will do the job. For small amounts any type of container will do. The important thing is to get the powder well distributed over each kernel.

FAT SALVAGE CAN'T QUIT!

"This wonderful headline still doesn't mean we can let up on our fat salvage for a long time yet," Capt. Wesley B. Moore, Director of Food Service, Hospital Center, Camp Edwards, Mass., tells cook T-5 Arthur M. Maxwell. The armed forces know that used cooking fat, required in great quantities for civilian products and peacetime reconversion, will continue to be needed until the islands of the South Pacific again become fats and oils exporters.

Two Former Memphis Boys Expect Release From Army Shortly

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Conrad Jones have received the following letters from their sons, Earl and Joseph.

Sir: Earl D. Jones, who after two years in the Pacific is finally on his way home. Pfc. Joseph L. Jones is still with the army in Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones were formerly of Memphis, but are now residents of Los Angeles, Calif.

Dear Mother and all:

I received your letter yesterday and was very happy to hear from you and to know that every body is getting along well and as for me, I am OK.

I did a little work this week. We went on a firing range and was out three days and it rained all the time we were firing. It was about 50 miles out and we got back Friday.

I haven't done anything today. Mother, I received the writing material and the two boxes and I ate so much candy it made me sick.

Mother, the food we get is not what you would call real good but we get all we want of it. We get some kind of meat about every day and potatoes three times a day, also beans and peas and fruit twice daily and a few other things.

Dad, I had a lot of German things that I had picked up here and there that I was going to send home but someone liked them better than I did, so they took them when I wasn't looking.

Mom, if everything goes like they say it will, I will be home before Christmas. They say we are to leave around the last of the month, but I don't think we will get to leave that soon. You know that most anything can happen in 30 days in the Army and it can't be too soon for me. Love to all,

J. L.

Dearest parents:

We arrived in Pearl Harbor this A. M. and immediately turned and started to work unloading fish.

I have just finished writing a letter to Carol and I just know you will be tickled to learn that I am on my way home.

We left Sufic Bay on Aug. 19 and went by the way of Saipan then here. I don't know exactly how long we will be here, not more than 72 hours at least I hope.

We took on 65,000 gallons of fuel today so will be able to run standard speed all the way on four engines and if I don't miss my guess, we will be in the good old U. S. A. not later than Sept. 15. I will call as soon as we land.

I had four letters from you and three from Carol and that helped me along.

Joe and I are going to Honolulu tomorrow to try and buy a few things and look around.

Well, I feel pretty good now. I had a shower and have had three cokes today, the first in a long time. They were really good.

We had turkey for supper tonight and it was so good. In fact, I am munching on some now.

I must close now and will try to write tomorrow. "Cheerio" and love to all of you,

EARL

Roving Reporter At Adak, Alaska

Curtis Harrell, the Democrat's Roving Reporter, lets it be known that he is located at Adak, Alaska, and describes some of the experiences in that desolate place:

Adak, Alaska, 9-3-45. Dear Mr. Wells:

Now that I can write you from over here, without censorship, I hardly know where to start so there is only one thing to do and that is to start from Seattle on Oct. 22, 1944.

We sailed through Puget Sound and then into the cold waters of the North Pacific. The water is pretty rough most of the time between here and Seattle but we hit it lucky and had fairly smooth sailing.

The night before we reached Dutch Harbor, we had a "Sub" scare and were at G. Q. all night. That was when I really got cold trying to sleep standing up as we were made to stay on the weather deck for about eight hours!

When we reached "Dutch," I was very surprised to find that it wasn't as large as I had expected. We didn't get off the ship but from all I could see, I didn't like it.

We landed here on Adak on the morning of Nov. 4. All the way from Dutch Harbor, we saw plenty of land and some of which is very hard to describe. It seems that you are in a very narrow passage with sharp pointed mountains sticking straight up out of the sea.

When we arrived here, we had to stand in the cold for a few hours before going to our huts, but when we did get in out of the cold, it was nice and warm.

It started to snow in October and really gets started by mid-December. It takes about two months to get so you don't mind the snow, wind and ice. Now that it is summer, we only wear light clothing, such as we would back home in winter. In May the days get longer and warmer, then the grass gets green and the flowers bloom, the snow melts off the low land it doesn't look so bad. In winter, the days are light about eight hours, in summer the sun goes down about 10:30 and it is still light at 11:15.

The fact that we get mail from home in three days or a newspaper from Seattle in one day makes home seem very near. As you noticed, the plane that flew the documents from Tokyo to Washington, stopped here in only 10 hours flying time.

The latest addition is the Radio-Telephone service from here to the states at a very low charge of $9.00 to New York! We also have a good radio station which gives us the latest news and programs of all types from the states. It is W.K.L.B., Adak.

Two weeks before Japan surrendered we only had a small fleet here then all of a sudden, there were about 30 ships here including six carriers. The day before the surrender all ships left for Japan and now we are all alone again.

We lost 119 men out of 800 on point system. The rest of us feel very hurt because we didn't go too. We agree that they had to start some where but we also feel that overseas service should have been considered more than dependents. It is unfair for a man serving three years in the States with his wife all that time to get out the same as a man serving all that time overseas on a deserted island.

Will write more later and will also send you a copy of the Adak Tribune. As ever,

CURTIS

A new cotton fabric that will not mildew or rot has been developed by scientists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This new material has the strength and appearance of ordinary cotton, in addition to its ability to resist rot. And the process by which it is made causes no discoloration of the fabric.

Specialists of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service hail the new development as a boon in two general fields which consume large amounts of cotton. First this modifies cotton cloth, yarn and sewing thread will make clothing which will not mildew. It can be used for awnings, lawn furniture, and tents which will not rot in damp climates.

It's COTTON Pickin' Time

Yes, it's cotton pickin'—or boll pullin'—time in this area again, and all three of our gin plants have received an overhauling from one end to the other to get them ready for the months ahead. This repair work has been going on all summer, and at the present time the gin plants at Memphis, Plaska and Eli are in fine shape.

Good crews have been employed for this season's ginning, and they will do everything in their power to furnish as good a sample as possible to every farmer who brings a bale of cotton or bolls onto one of our gin yards.

NEW GIN EQUIPMENT

Besides receiving complete overhauling, two new MURRAY DRYERS have been bought and installed in two of the plants. One was added to the Memphis gin plant and the other to the gin at Plaska. These new dryers mean you can turn loose your hands earlier in the day, and make possible a better turnout when some of the bolls are pulled a little green.

BRING US YOUR COTTON

We want to invite every farmer in this area to gin with us this fall. If you have been bringing us your cotton, we want you to know that your patronage is appreciated. But if you have not, then accept this invitation to give one of these three gin plants a trial. They are located in such a manner that at least one of them is near you.

Radar Guarded Allied Leaders

THE INVISIBLE ELECTRIC RAYS of that amazing scientific war secret—radar—can now be disclosed to have played a vital part in protecting the great conferences of Allied leaders. This picture shows British Air Force Engineers atop the Great (or Cheops) Pyramid in Egypt with their radar equipment ready to detect any possible enemy air attack during the Cairo Conference, November 1943, between President Roosevelt, Premier Churchill and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. The Khopren Pyramid is beyond. In the same way, the world's first chain of radar stations around the coasts of Britain was already in operation protecting that country a full year before the outbreak of the European war. They enabled the gallant few R.A.F. pilots to win the Battle of Britain in the summer of 1940 and were the first operational demonstration of a whole range of new applications with infinite beneficial peacetime uses.

John H. Maxwell Jr. Aboard Cruiser When Japs Capitulated

John H. Maxwell Jr., machinist's mate, second class, USNR, 821 South Sixth St., Memphis, was at his station on the Cruiser Louisville in the Pacific when news of the final capitulation of the Japanese was announced over the loud speaker in mid-afternoon, Aug. 14.

It wasn't a riotous reception with which the crew greeted the news. The feeling was rather one of relief, because the tension had been so great in the closing days of the war.
Following the announcement, Capt. Rex L. Hicks, Commanding Officer, of 4000 Cathedral Ave., Washington, D. C., addressed the crew, explaining that the war would not be over for the Navy until every Japanese soldier and Naval unit had ceased hostilities.
"Gosh, I wish I were back in the old hometown. I'll bet they're really tearing the place to pieces," was the reaction of nearly everyone aboard.

SAYS SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE:

Despite Victory Used Fat Saving Must Go On!

Every woman in America should know that our country continues to face a serious fat shortage. And victory over Japan won't solve the problem immediately. We must keep on saving used fats in our kitchen!

If you have any thought that saving used fats is one of those wartime chores we can drop, now that Victory is here, please consider these facts and tell them to your neighbors.

Don't let a single drop of used fats go to waste! Little trimmings of fat left on the platter at the table, scraps left on plates, and even the skimmings of soups and gravies are important. It is the consistent saving of even these small amounts that counts.

America still needs salvaged fats. Not even at the peak of our war effort, when fats were required for mountains of shells and bombs and medicines, in addition to the ever-present need for soap, were our needs for salvaging fat greater than now. Our stocks have been drained by four long years of war, and there isn't enough on hand to meet all requirements.

Don't turn in fats that can be re-used! But some fats, such as those rendered from lamb and mutton, are not suitable for re-use. Put them immediately in the salvage can. And, with other fats, after you've got all cooking good out of them, there is always a little left. No matter how little it is, save it.

Don't let "Victory psychology" blind you to this national need! If housewives stop saving fats now, the shortage will become even more critical.

Your butcher will still give you 4¢ and 2 red points for every pound you turn in. Save consistently—save every drop you can—every day—until Uncle Sam says the job is done.

War Chest—

For at least six months, and probably for a year, therefore, there can be no substitute for the service of the private agencies. As President Truman has said, their role is "indispensable and unique."

So to bring sympathy and support when it is most needed—to brave peoples who are as yet too stunned, exhausted, cold and hungry to stand on their own feet unaided, we have stepped up European relief budgets, and the budget for the Philippines, in order to concentrate our help within the coming Fall and Winter.

To accomplish that within our total budget of $115,000,000, the emergency fund has been reduced from $68,682,792 (originally set for 1944-45) to a new low of $5,151,511, and we have fixed budgets for six months instead of three months only—though all budgets will be reviewed quarterly, as before.

It is plain that we are now facing the peak of the need, and that this is the time when our agencies must be at the peak of their programs.

It is equally plain that this task, to which we have all pledged our best effort, must be carried through.

The American people have spent hundreds of billions to prove that the United States can win wars. Surely they are now ready to give $115,000,000 to demonstrate that they are as loyal as ever to those in our own armed forces, and still friendly and generous to suffering and stricken neighbors in their time of greatest need.

In the case of violations, the county committee will also report these violations to the field man, and each violator will be subject to prosecution in criminal court. When this happens, the violator will not be allowed to deduct any expense for cotton pulling when he makes out his income tax return, and the maximum fine will be $1,000.
