Tarver Named Outstanding Citizen of '46

Around 250 local citizens and out-of-town guests from Amarillo, Fort Worth, Wichita Falls, Childress, Vernon, McLean, and other cities attended the annual chamber of commerce meeting last Thursday evening highlighted by the naming of Horace Tarver as the outstanding Memphis citizen of 1946 and an address by J. Lewell Lafferty, vice president of the Fort Worth National Bank.

HORACE TARVER

In presenting Tarver with a trophy as the most useful citizen of last year, J. B. Crockett, chamber of commerce manager, cited his outstanding record. In addition to serving as president of the chamber of commerce and a member of the city council last year, Tarver played a major role in securing many civic developments. "We Americans are not satisfied with things as they are; we want them better," Lafferty said, in his address. "Our physical comforts and luxuries are the envy of the entire world. We have no desire to live under any set of past conditions. As long as we have this desire, this great country of ours will always be dynamic. Progress of America depends upon unity of action, and it is through such cooperative efforts as the chamber of commerce that such progress is made." He predicted the next ten years would see the greatest advancement in the history of Texas, and said that study of the chamber of commerce's annual report showed the group realized their responsibility in the expanding economy. Musical entertainment featured assembly singing, directed by T. E. Noel. Rev. B. L. Peacock, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, gave the invocation. The dinner was prepared by the Memphis High School cafeteria. A report on the chamber's activities last year, prepared by Horace Tarver, was distributed to the guests. Brown-Guest Nuptial Vows Are Read In Church Ceremony at Iowa Park

Miss Bettye Brown, popular Wichita Falls business girl, became the bride of William D. Guest of Fort Worth, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Guest of Memphis, in simple rites performed Sunday evening at the First Christian Church in Iowa Park. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Francis E. Barnes, pastor.

A lighted cross stood high in the background to form a center of interest for the decorations which featured twin arrangements of white gladioli. Also included in the decorations were branched candelabra in which candles were lighted preceding the ceremony by Mrs. Hugh Manly Looney of Wichita Falls and Miss Joyce Curlee of Iowa Park.

Pianist for the ceremony was Miss Hazel Ruth Roby of Iowa Park while Miss Doris Jacks of Wichita Falls was vocalist. The latter sang "Because" as the pre-nuptial solo with Miss Roby providing accompaniment. The latter also played "Always" and gave "O Promise Me" as the processional selection. She concluded her offerings with the traditional recessional by Mendelssohn.

The bride was a smart picture in a Carlyle original two-piece frock of smoke blue wool with which she wore brown accessories including an especially designed brown straw hat from which arose a halo of forget-me-nots entwined with brown veiling. Her flowers were white orchids arranged in a corsage. She completed her costume by wearing her grandmother's ring as "something old," rhinestone ear-rings belonging to Miss Jacks as "something borrowed," and the traditional "sixpence in her shoe."

Matron of honor was Mrs. Modine Whitson of Wichita Falls. She wore a gray mist sheer wool frock with gold button trim, black accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations.

Hugh Manly Looney of Wichita Falls served as best man.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Brown of Iowa Park, is a graduate of the high school in that city where she was chosen the school beauty and "most popular girl." Since completing her education, she has been employed in the offices of the Orchid Shop.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Guest of Fort Worth. He is a graduate of Granbury High School and attended North Texas Agricultural College at Arlington before entering the army air forces to serve three years, with eight months of that time in England. He formerly was manager of the Iowa Park theater and now is associated with his father in the motion picture business in Grapevine where he and his bride will establish residence.

Immediately after the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Guest departed for a honeymoon in Mexico. The bride traveled in a smart smoke gray dress, red coat and hat, and other accessories chosen to harmonize.

Businessmen Get Remodeling Urge

Memphis residence owners have been busy building and remodeling, but business men aren't far behind as they enlarge, remodel, and modernize.

The C & F Grocery is adding 1,900 square feet of floor space to their store, extending the plate glass front 20 feet east, adding fixtures and repainting. Partitions are being removed, making the additional space part of the store proper. New light fixtures and a new meat display case are being installed. The store is also getting a new coat of white paint. Remodeling should be completed within a couple of weeks, it was reported.

Johnnie Brewer has remodeled and changed the name of his business from Johnnie's Service Station to the Memphis Motor Company. He has done away with the service station and has built a large Kaiser-Frazer show room and will also have a parts line and garage. He is adding a seven-foot neon sign.

E. E. Rice has remodeled the Rice Motor Company building, located east of the Pounds Hotel. A large show room has been built to display new Hudsons, and a service station and garage has been installed. A 14-foot neon sign will be hung out within a few days.

Murphy-Spicer-Estes have remodeled their funeral home at 7th and Main. A modern reception room has been built in the chapel, the display room and office enlarged, and the office has been refurnished, redecorated, and painted.

Leo Collins has remodeled the City Cafe on the east side of the square. The kitchen has been enlarged considerably and all fixtures have been refinished and painted.

Among those installing new neon signs are McDaniel Implement Company, Thompson Hardware Company, City Drug, Montzingo Bros., White's Auto Supply Company, Hayes Cafe, and the First State Bank.

Each club member takes a safety survey of his own farm, not only with a view of eliminating hazards, but to improve the general efficiency of work, and farmers of the communities are encouraged to join in this drive.

Poor housekeeping on the farm, the Extension Service says, means letting rubbish and old furniture accumulate in barns, attics, and outbuildings or letting dried vines, weeds, or brush accumulate along fence rows and near farm buildings—a ready target for a stray spark.

It is estimated that 90 per cent of all home and farm fires could be prevented by cleaning out rubbish and unnecessary combustible materials, and by correcting other fire hazards.

On our farms alone 3,500 people were killed by fire last year and the fire bill to the American farm approximated $100,000,000.

Baptist Association last September it was decided that all the Baptist churches in this area would cooperate in simultaneous revival services. Rev. Hal Upchurch of Clarendon will direct the area revival, it was announced.

Revival services will be held three times daily, according to the announcement. A special service will be held from 7:10 a. m. to 7:50 a. m., for business men and older school children who would not be able to attend the regular morning service at 10:30. Evening services, will also be held daily.

The Baptist church is planning a rally to be held here at 2:30 o'clock Easter afternoon, with area church members attending.

In connection with the announcement of the simultaneous revival of the Baptist churches in this area, it was announced that the Southern Baptist Convention plans for all churches in its region to adopt the plan by 1949. Rev. C. R. Tennison, who has

New Tricks With Garden Vegetables

There is nothing that will give a meal a lift more than a variety in vegetables. To add variety doesn't necessarily mean to serve different kinds of vegetables but new ways of preparing the regular ones.

The popularity of vegetable custards is approaching that of the nutritious golden milk and egg custard desserts, favorites with grown-ups as well as children. So if you haven't tried one of these tasty vegetable custards for a luncheon main dish or as a vegetable for dinner, you will want to include this Mexican corn custard in your tomorrow's menu.

Vegetable custards combine nourishing fresh milk and eggs and the added goodness of garden vegetables chock-full of vitamins and minerals. Bake the mixture either in one large casserole or in individual custard cups or casseroles.

MEXICAN CORN CUSTARD

- 1/4 cup minced onion
- 3/4 cup diced green pepper
- 3 tablespoons chopped pimento
- 3 tablespoons butter or bacon fat
- 2 cups whole-kernel corn
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 2 cups milk
- 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Cook minced onion and green pepper in melted butter for 3 minutes; add with pimento to whole-kernel corn. Beat eggs slightly, add sugar and hot milk; add seasonings and corn mixture. Pour into a well greased 1 1/2 quart casserole. Place in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven, 325° F., for 1 hour and 15 minutes, or until a clean knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Serves 6.

Red Cross Fund Collections Lag

The Red Cross fund drive is far short of the county quota of $2,400, and as the closing date is March 31, only three days remain for collections, Roy Coleman, county fund drive chairman, said this week.

Brice remains the only community having turned in the quota, Coleman said. Newlin has turned in $35.50, however, and Weatherly has turned in $23.50 to Pete Smith, treasurer for the drive.

Memphis collections have been good, $1,209.89 having been contributed to date.

Coleman urged all people of the county who have not contributed to do so during the next three days. He emphasized that the Red Cross has a big job to do during peace time as well as during a war; that their work is still being carried on with the armed services and they are the first to answer in a community emergency.

He is survived by his widow; four brothers, Jim, Albert, Cecil, and John R. Scott; and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Coffee and Mrs. Thelma Phelps, both of Amarillo. Members of the painters' union served as pallbearers.

Attending from Memphis were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Miller, Joe Miller, and Mrs. Dewey Hawkins.

HANGAR GAS

By AIRPORT REPORTER

Flying activity at the municipal airport has again become brisk with the advent of favorable weather. A few pilots venturing out in the recent snow storms came down believing very firmly in the advice of more experienced pilots; i. e., the best way to fly in bad weather is to sit on the ground.

G. I. training is now in full swing at the airport. Several students have already made the most memorable of all flights—their first solo. Now flying by themselves are the following: Billy Ballew, Jay Gould, Raymond Powell, Douglas Mendenhall of Hedley, and J. R. Wooten. Their training will continue until they are able to pass the requirements for a private flying license. This license will allow them to take passengers aloft.

Other students enrolled include Lester Grimes, Cecil Little, L. V. Bruce, Billy Kinslow, Cecil Galloway, Rayford Harris, Scott Sheppard, Linden Gerlach, Randolph Johnsey, Harry Rascot, Wil-

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like aching and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

- 1 Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.
- 2 Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Planning for airport development under the federal airport act is getting under way, and work will be started when engineering details are worked out. Two representatives of the Civil Aeronautics Administration have been visitors here while working on the plans.

One of the nation's pioneer pilots, Colonel Fritz Shankle, visited his family here recently. After seeing flying develop from its infancy and after active service in two world wars, Colonel Shankle is now retired. Many Memphis people will remember his early flights here to see his family. He was very enthusiastic over the development of the Memphis airport, and with good reason. No longer will he have to buzz the cattle off a cow pasture and dodge mesquite trees when he lands here.

Fred Smith of Clarendon visited recently in a new Luscombe Silverair. He will use the ship in a commercial course for veterans which will be started shortly in Clarendon. Fred is now in Austin working out plans for improving the road to the Clarendon airport.

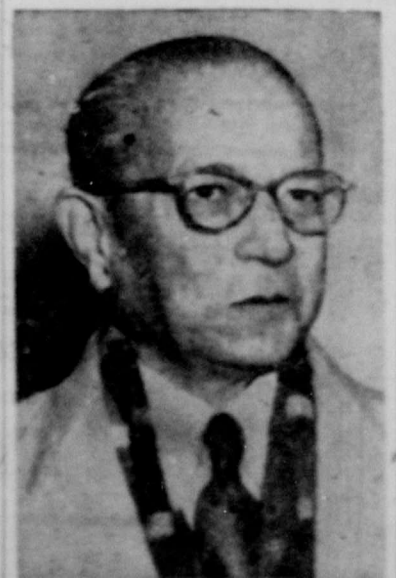

Connie Taylor has moved his Cub from Hedley and now keeps it on the local airport. Connie holds an instructor's rating and a rating as aircraft mechanic.

J. W. Simmons of Dallas flew up on oil mill business last week. He was flying a new four-place Stinson 150. Dr. G. G. Ingham came in for gas a few days later. He was also from Dallas and also in a Stinson 150.

Jimmy Ragsdale of Childress proudly exhibited his new Er-coupe here Tuesday. He plans to use the ship in the veterans training program at Childress.

Billy Faston of Turkey recently brought his ship over for a hundred hour check and annual re-licensing by Vernon Geiger. Plans are being made in Turkey for extended development of the present airport there.

The youngest and most enthusiastic student on the field is Raymond Cullin. He assists in the shop and office at the airport after school hours. He has only extension service, who confers with extension agronomists, horticulturists, and other specialists to determine just what treatment need be given to the soil from which the sample was taken.

When the soil recommendations are completed, they are sent, along with a copy of the analysis, to the farmer. Copies of these recommendations are also sent to the agricultural agent of the county, who checks the farmer's activities to see what results are being obtained from following the recommendations.

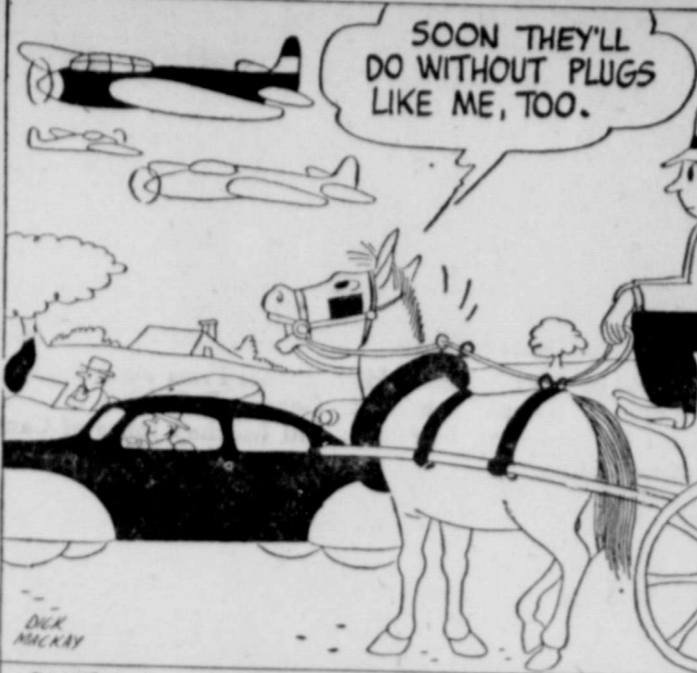

M. K. Thornton, extension agricultural chemist, states that by following this procedure, the extension service hopes to build up a pattern of soil treatment for the various parts of the state that will be of lasting benefit. Already, promising results have been shown by farmers who have fertilized their land according to the recommendations coming from the soil tests, Thornton says.

DDT Deadly To Codling Moth

Experiments during 1946 by the U. S. Department of Agriculture have brought out recommendations on the use of DDT for various fruit insects, particularly the codling moth.

Paul Gregg, assistant entomologist of the Texas A. and M. College extension service, reports that the research has shown DDT to be "highly effective" against the codling moth. Wettable DDT powder is the most common form in which the insecticide is applied for this purpose.

The one "catch" to the recommendation of DDT for the codling moth is that the material seems to have no ill effect on many orchard pests other than the codling moth. This situation, says Gregg, has caused entomologists to ponder the question: what other pests of previous small significance will become destructive in orchards when DDT is substituted for lead arsenate and when DDT kills off beneficial parasites?

DDT has a good record in the control of several other fruit insects beside the codling moth, says Gregg. On grapeleafhoppers, a dust of 2 to 5 per cent DDT has proved effective. For tarnished plant bugs, promising results have been had with a spray consisting of 1 pound of DDT per 100 gallons of spray. The oriental fruit moth is controlled by one application each month before picking time.

Effective control for the apple maggot is three or four applications of DDT at 10-day intervals, and pear thrips are killed by any one of several forms of DDT mixtures at the time the thrips appear on the trees in the spring.

"34,112 MILES ... an additional 15,000 miles before tread will disappear," writes Ray Anderson, Arcadia, Calif.

"33,527 MILES ... on Voice of Safety car... without doubt finest tires on the road today," writes Safety Patrolman John Olson, Everett, Washington

"36,664 MILES ... over all types of roads at comparatively high speeds... still has good tread," writes E. B. Palmer, Denver, Colo.

"38,376 MILES ... carrying heavy loads... over unpaved roads," writes R. J. Morissette, Ogdensburg, N. Y.

Here's Proof of Extra Mileage in the Tire That OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES

Testimonials like the above about the new B. F. Goodrich Silvertown are not uncommon. Nor are we surprised at this evidence of long mileage... because before a single tire was offered for public sale, millions of test miles on police cars, taxi fleets and special test cars had proved this new tire would outwear prewar tires.

This extra mileage was scientifically engineered into the tires. First, a wider, flatter tread was developed for longer wear and greater protection against skidding. Second, to hold that huskier tread, a new 35% stronger cord body was developed using more and sturdier cords which gave better resistance to bruising and road shock.

That's why we say, if you'll be needing new tires for your car soon, see us today... equip your passenger car with the new B. F. Goodrich Silvertown... best in the long run.

Plains Show Set April 12 to 18

The highlights, will inaugurate a round of dances, banquets, bathing beauty revues, and other attractions. More than fifty young women have been designated by firms and organizations to vie for the honor of dairy show queen. The exposition royalty will be selected at a tea dance for princesses and their escorts Monday afternoon at Hilton Hotel.

The 441 head of cattle shown last year more than filled the barns. With increased facilities and improved transportation since the 1946 show, officials of the association are looking for a record breaking entry list.

There will be departments for exhibit and contests for 4-H club and FFA members. The FFA cattle judging contest will launch Monday's show program.

Cattle will be shown in four divisions, Jersey, Milking Shorthorn, Holstein-Friesian, and Guernsey. Wednesday is official Jersey day. That date calls for the annual Plains A. and M. exes and student roundup in addition to judging Jerseys and other events. Prize money totals $3,057.

School Band News

By SCHOOL REPORTER

The Memphis High School band left Memphis early Monday morning, March 17, for Shamrock where they had been invited to enjoy a day of fun with other bands from different parts of the Panhandle and Oklahoma.

Upon arriving at the grade school in Shamrock, the band members were met by the Shamrock band members and presented with a banner which was worn throughout the day. After mixing with the other bands for about thirty minutes, the Clinic Band was formed and played until 11 o'clock. The Clinic Band was composed of several members from each band present.

At 11 o'clock all of the bands assembled in sections on the outside of the building and held a mass concert. While the bands were playing, the twirlers performed to add a flash to the music.

The band members were served free lunches at the First Methodist Church by the Girl Scouts. Lunches were furnished by the Band Mothers Club.

There was a parade that afternoon consisting of all the bands, and it presented a very colorful picture with all the different colors of the band suits. Immediately after the parade, there was another mass concert on a main street roped off from the crowd.

The Clinic Band played until 4 o'clock, at which time the bands began starting home. Although some were tired, a day of enjoyment had been spent having fun and learning new things.

EDITORIAL Our Tomorrow Dawns

"WE WANT TO LIVE in tomorrow, and we want to do it today." That was how J. Lowell Lafferty phrased it, speaking at the annual chamber of commerce meeting last Thursday evening. Lafferty said that as long as we have that spirit our society will always be dynamic.

He predicted the next 10 years would see the greatest advancement in the history of Texas, but he believes a more balanced economy will be necessary before the greatest economic expansion can be reached.

"Balanced economy" is what most people have been striving for since they began to live in groups. But often the paths of least resistance centralize the economy within a short period.

By proper development of agricultural resources and their by-products, by centering their manufactures as near as possible to the source, in the state, and creation of the greatest amount of these profitable by-products, the most varied type of agriculture consistent with the region, people of a state can go a long way toward balanced economy.

When production habits are formed they are hard to divert. But an intelligent and extremely determined group can change their production and marketing systems within a few years. Lafferty demonstrated this by examples from a farming community in Tennessee. This low-productive community was completely transformed within a few years time—because men worked hard enough at discovering the possibilities of the region, and continued their efforts until these potentials had been realized in production.

Balanced economy means a more equal distribution and development of many different kinds of wealth. If a region shows enough determination to grow into its fullest potential, others will see its future.

Roger Babson released an article last week giving further impetus to a growing conviction that the central area of United States has the greatest future of any section. Hill County is included in the southwestern part of this area. Babson believes this area, reaching Omaha and Sioux City on the north, Springfield and Memphis on the east, Fort Worth and Dallas on the south, and near Denver on the west, offers youth the greatest opportunity, its citizens the greatest wealth, if only its people will develop wisely what they have.

QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Highway Sign Contest
 A bright idea right now may be worth $25 in cold cash to some Deaf Smith citizen.

That's the amount the Hereford chamber of commerce is offering for the best design submitted for highway signs, which will be erected soon on Highway 51 and Highway 60 to let all visitors know they are entering Deaf Smith county.—The Hereford Brand.

"Civic Loyalty"
 The Post is now running a series of cartoons on the editorial page, under the title "Civic Loyalty." Readers are asked to turn to the editorial page each week and read those little "humorous skits" showing why we should at all times be loyal to the "home town." When we say loyal, we mean support its organizations, trade at home, don't always be saying some unkind thing about it... and above all continually strive to help in community betterment. Prattler knows of a few instances of persons journeying to nearby towns in order to save a few cents??? on some purchase, and yet their home is in Paducah, they send their children to school here, their salaries are helped paid by home town people. If those persons think they can save so much buying elsewhere—then why in the hell don't they pack up and move? In other words, don't sit the hand that's feeding you. Our motto should be, "Buy at Home." Of course there are times when the article or item desired may not be found in the home town, but 99 times out of 100 it can. So the next time, Mr. Citizen, you get the urge to drive thirty, sixty, or one hundred miles to save two cents on a can of sardines—remember rain or shine the business houses of Paducah function for the betterment of the community.—Al Hinds Paducah Prattle, in The Paducah Post.

BOYCE HOUSE

Uncle Zeb says, "Why don't other folks stay at home so I can get a hotel room when I travel?"

Sen. Grady Hazelwood of Amarillo proposes a constitutional amendment making house members' terms four years. But the best way to keep officials responsive to the people is to require 'em to go back to the people pretty often.

The senator's amendment prohibits legislators from receiving anything of value for voting for or against any legislation. That's against the law now, isn't it—or is it?

His amendment would give each legislator a salary of $4,000 a year and would prohibit a lawmaker from practicing influence before a state department—but apparently a legislator could still take what is sometimes called a "fee" from somebody whose business is affected by proposed legislation.

Getting around over the state: You remember the tune about the music goes in here and come out there? Saw a stove in a filling station in Luling that reminds me of the tune. Three sections of old-fashioned stove pipe are laid one on top of the other and connected by elbows and the heat goes in at one end, wanders all around and comes out at the other. Looks like a Rube Goldberg invention—but it works.

Near Jacksonville is the rather oddly-named Simpson's Dining Car Orchard—11,000 peach trees.

In LaGrange, two grand old oaks stood in the street, so they just ran the parking around them. Incidentally, the winding highway as one enters LaGrange from the south is most picturesque and gives a beautiful view of the town below.

Best eating in a good while: Backbone and dumplings, with cornbread, at Palestine in the O'Neill Coffee Shop. That was really East Texas cooking at its best!

This Week in WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Truman's victory in his "fight to the finish" over John L. Lewis, as a result of the decision of the U. S. Supreme Court upholding the contempt conviction of the United Mine Workers' boss, and the subsequent influence of the decision on future labor legislation and labor disputes highlighted the Washington front.

And coincident with the Supreme Court decision, the President's stock with the people, which started to come back immediately following his determined stand against Lewis last November has again started on the upswing, making him more popular with the people, according to the polls, than ever before.

All Washington is agog over the fight within the Republican leadership and the attempt of National Chairman Carroll Reece to bring about harmony among the membership of both house and senate. Indications are that Mr. Reece's attempt at peace-making and pouring oil on the waters backfired, for sixteen of the GOP freshman Senators have signed a round-robin letter directed at Sen. Eugene Millikin, Colo., chairman of the senate finance committee, in which they deplore the fact that they are not consulted in the party policy-making and ask that they be taken into the confidence of the leaders.

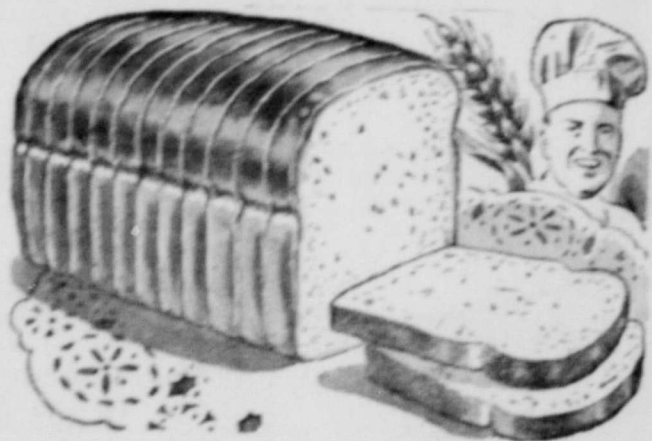

It is commonly known here that the younger GOP senators and the group headed by Senators Morse, of Oregon and Allen, of Vermont are changing against the leadership provided by Senator Taft, of Ohio.

The Ohio senator has, unfortunately, been unable to win a single fight in the senate to date and the Republicans are now looking to Senator Vandenberg, of Michigan for their leadership. On the other hand, Speaker Joe Martin and Majority Leader Charles Halleck, in the house, have maintained party discipline on most issues and the house Republicans have "gone down the line" together on all partisan measures.

On the other side of the political fence, there is a shake-up going on within the headquarters of the Democratic National Committee with Ouel Sullivan, former third assistant postmaster general, pulling the levers. The wise ones here profess to see in Sullivan the successor to Chairman Robert Hannegan as boss of the Democratic committee when Hannegan is ready to step aside, probably within the next few months. The new boss, Ouel Sullivan, St. Louis, has a record of being a successful business man, and is regarded as a list of successful business men. In the meantime, the Democratic committee, compared with the national and international case which has been the result of the party's policy-making and future peace, and settlements depends on the outcome of the elections now just proclaimed. If a veteran entered the service on or after January 1, 1946, he has 5 years from the effective date of the policy to carry it as term insurance. After the close of the term insurance period, insurance must be converted to one of the six types or plans of insurance: ordinary life, 20 payment life, 30 payment life, endowment at age 60 and endowment at age 65.

Veterans may reinstate their insurance and convert to one of the permanent plans of insurance at the same time of reinstatement. There are four modes of paying these policies to beneficiaries upon death of the insured:

Option 3—120 months certain or for the life of the first beneficiary.

Option 4—As a refund life income with guaranteed return of the face value of the policy.

THE WAYWARD BUS

By John Steinbeck

Steinbeck has used one of the oldest and most elemental of story forms for his latest novel: a group of diverse people are brought together by coincidence and the story is the account of an interplay of personality.

Henry Seidel Canby has pointed out that Boccaccio and Chaucer, among others, used the same structural idea. Canby commented on the evolution of Steinbeck's style, contrasting it with his war-time writing and his earlier works. The book is written in leaner, more direct prose than the "Grapes of Wrath" period, and in some ways it is more fluid. White this is a gain in one respect, some of the rich beauty of phrase is lost.

The book is not for the adolescent shelf, and it will be found objectionable by many. It has been customary to ban Steinbeck's books in some sections because of the frank reportage of human speech, emotions, and the frankness of the author's social consciousness.

The book covers a couple of days in the lives of a handful of people traveling in California. The scenes are mainly set in a small cafe, where the travellers are forced to spend the night, and a dilapidated bus, which makes connections between two large bus lines.

The book does not rank with the Steinbeck classics, "Grapes of Wrath," "Tortilla Flat," or even with some of the better Steinbeck stories. But it is an improvement over "Cannery Row," which was received well in most sections.—A Review.

"The Wayward Bus" has just been received by the Carnegie Library.

Other new books at the Carnegie Library, as reported by Mrs. W. V. Coursey, are:

THE PLEASURE WAS MINE

And the pleasure is ours, too, of reading a book of famous Parker pieces from the New Yorker. Here is the quintessence of sophisticated humor covering many subjects. Through it all moves Parker, detached, a little nervous and altogether appealing. Simple, subtle sentences with large implications, a constant smile exploding into uproarious laughter from time to time—this is Parker. He is also an expert craftsman when it comes to writing dialogue, and his book teems with conversation of many fascinating varieties.

Six-Inch Sermon

† REV. ROBERT H. HARPER †

The Risen Lord and His Disciples

Lesson for April 6: John 20:19-23; 26-29; 21:15-17.

Memory Selection: I Corinthians 15:20.

In the resurrection evening Jesus suddenly appeared among the disciples in a closed room, perhaps the upper room. Again commissioning them as his apostles, and, breathing on him, he said: "Receive ye the Holy Ghost."

Thomas was not present; when the disciples told him they had seen the Lord, he said he would not believe except that he should see the wounds of Calvary. Eight days afterward, when Jesus again appeared, Thomas waited not to touch the Master's wounds, but cried: "My Lord and my God." He believed because he had seen; "Blessed are they," Jesus said, "that have not seen, and yet have believed."

From the incident comes the name, Doubting Thomas. He was an honest doubter who would make sure. But he asked for the lowest order of proof, that of the senses. "Seeing is believing," but believing is seeing. Spiritual things are spiritually seen.

On the seashore the loving Lord led Peter to reconsecration. The three-fold question all too bitterly reminded Peter of his three-fold denial. Thrice vowing his love for his Lord, he heard first, "Feed my lambs," then twice, "Feed my sheep." To this day there can be found no better command for pastors and other workers in the Kingdom.

The resurrection means more than eternal existence. It means resurrection from sin through the ever-living Christ. If you believe, "seek those things which are above."

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strains on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, grating or night, leg pains, swelling—feet constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!
