Pontiac will make ten body types for 1949 and with two exceptions each may be had as standard or with certain refinements which Pontiac designates as its Deluxe models.

Pontiac owners may choose, as in the past, between the 90 horsepower six cylinder engine, and the 104 horsepower eight. Compression ratio with standard head is 6.5 well in the upper range of American motor cars and not requiring premium fuels.

Seventy-five percent of 1948 Pontiacs were ordered with Hydra-Matic drive—an indication of the public's enthusiasm for this automatic transmission.

THESE ARE THE BENEFACTORS One of the greatest accomplishments of civilization has been the remarkable progress made in increasing the average life expectancy. In the Middle Ages the average life span was twenty years. In the seventeenth century it had advanced to twenty-five years. Through the years there has been a steady increase until, today, the life expectancy is sixty-three years for men and sixty-six for women. Authorities agree that the most productive years of life lie between the ages of forty and sixty. Medicine and the allied sciences have thus been indirectly responsible for all progress. Good minds that had sickened and died before reaching their zenith now live to apply the judgment and experience of maturity. As pharmacists, we are proud of our function in the distribution of lifesaving medical supplies. CALL FOR YOUR "D. & N." GREEN STAMPS Durham's PRESCRIPTION PHARMACY MEMPHIS, TEXAS

Lathrop Grain Corporation of Kansas City will start construction immediately on a new 1,500,000-bushel terminal grain elevator in Fort Worth, William Holden, executive vice-president of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce announced this week.

The new structure will be located on a tract in the north yard of the Burlington Lines between Fort Worth and Saginaw.

Co-managers will be James F. Meyers and Sam E. Muir who have offices in the Bewley Building. Meyers says construction will be completed in time to handle this year's grain crop.

"The completion of the new elevator will boost Fort Worth's grain storage capacity to more than 29,000,000 bushels," Holden said. "This is the second expansion in grain storage facility announced this year and is conclusive proof of the increasing importance of Fort Worth as a grain marketing center."

The new Lathrop will be constructed so that grain can be handled by both railroad and truck. Trackage to accommodate 150 cars will be ready by the time the operation starts.

God is the Author of the Bible. There are books in it, thirty-nine in the Old Testament, and seven in the New. In the Old Testament we have the word of God given to the Jews by inspiration, and the visions of the Old Testament are history, law, and poetry. The New Testament, with its twenty-seven books, is also subdivided into the history of the death and resurrection of Christ, and the giving of the great commission for the first time sending men to preach the word of God to all nations. The Bible is right. It is the book of God who believes the Bible and wants to do what the Bible says. The Bible is right. It is the book of God who believes the Bible and wants to do what the Bible says. The Bible is right. It is the book of God who believes the Bible and wants to do what the Bible says.

Dale Carnegie

Author of "HOW TO WIN FRIENDS and INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

DID you know that one of the surest ways of getting "worn to a frazzle" is by allowing yourself to become bored? Boredom is far, far more tiring than work, or, I might say, more tiring than work you are interested in, for if you are not interested in your work that work is going to bore you.

Not long ago I read a book entitled "Archives of Psychology" in which the author, Dr. Joseph E. Barmack, told of experiences that proved the truth of boredom producing fatigue. He put a group of students through a series of tests in which he knew they had little or no interest. He says that pretty soon those students were tired, sleepy, even complained of eye strain and headache. Some of them were irritable, some even nauseated.

D. Carnegie

To make sure that they were not imagining their ills, he had metabolism tests made on them, and these tests showed that the blood pressure of the body, and the consumption of oxygen actually decreased when they were bored, and that the whole metabolism picked up immediately when their interest was aroused in something.

Last summer I took a vacation in the Canadian Rockies, up around Lake Louise. I spent several days trout fishing, fighting my way through brush higher than my head, stumbling over logs, fallen timber, yet after eight hours I was not exhausted. Why? Because I was excited, exhilarated. I had a sense of high achievement; a creelful of cut throat trout. But suppose fishing bored me? I would have been worn out by such strenuous work at an altitude of seven thousand feet.

Mr. S. H. Kingman, president of the Farmers' and Mechanics Savings Bank of Minneapolis, Minn., says that during the war, the Canadian Government asked the Canadian Alpine Club to furnish guides to train the members of the Prince of Wales Rangers in mountain climbing. He was one of the guides chosen, all men ranging from 42 to 59 years of age. They took these young men across glaciers and snow fields, up forty foot cliffs, where they climbed with ropes and tiny footholds. After fifteen hours the young "Rangers" were utterly exhausted, some of them fell asleep without eating. And they had been hardened by commando training! The guides, much older men, stayed up for hours, not exhausted because they were interested. The young men, you see, were not.

If your work is boring, find some element in it that interests you, or you'll grow old before your time.

Chances Good That Small Towns Might Get An Industry

COLLEGE STATION—If your town is in the 1700 to 7500 population bracket or thereabout, chances of securing an industry are good. The 1700-7500 bracket is pointed out as one of the most sought-after by the industry of the United States.

Important industrial location factors will soon be available to the industry. Forms have been prepared and are being sent to the towns by the Management Engineering Department through the Engineering Experiment Station, Texas A&M College.

When the forms have been filled in and returned to the Management Engineering Department they will reveal to industry the available locating factors to be found in the towns. This information will be made available to inquiring industries.

The forms have been prepared after an exhaustive study in the requirements of industry in choosing a location for a plant. Factors considered by a manufacturer in search for a suitable location will vary with the different industries.

"However, it has been found that most industries are interested in such factors as nearness to market for the materials and the produce," says R. W. Downward of the Management Engineering Department. "Power cost, availability of labor, labor conditions and rates, climate, transportation facilities, water and sewer facilities, housing facilities, building and warehouse facilities, taxes, banking facilities, social facilities such as churches, schools and places of recreation are other important factors," Downward points out.

"These forms will be of much assistance to cities in evaluating local conditions and determining whether or not they are in a position to attract new industries," Downward says. "This is an opportunity for the cities to make their local advantages known to industry, since many inquiries are being received. The assistance of all chambers of commerce in preparing the forms was sought and given the Management Engineering Department."

"The past several years have witnessed a gradual realization of the part of communities that movements in industry are not regulated entirely by chance," Downward points out. "Communities have discovered that industry chooses locations according to certain very definite location factors, and that those farsighted enough to make data on these location factors available to industry have developed industrially more rapidly than the others."

Farm Co-Operatives Chalk Up Good Year; 53 Paid Loans Out

COLLEGE STATION—Farm business in Texas chalked up a good year as far as co-operatives were concerned. Texas farmers took advantage of favorable business conditions during 1948 to put a little more money in their cooperative pockets, says M. C. Jaynes, extension organization and cooperative marketing specialist of Texas A. & M. College.

Fifty-three Texas cooperatives paid back their loans in full last year. Many others made pretty good-sized payments to reduce their debts.

During the year, more than 28 million dollars was lent to 173 farmers' cooperatives serving 114 thousand farm and ranch families. These associations are set up to perform a variety of off-the-farm services which only a few farmers can provide for themselves. For example, farmers use their cooperatives to gin their cotton, handle and market grain, rice, fruit, vegetables, livestock, dairy and poultry products, to crush and market cottonseed, manufacture feed and purchase supplies needed on the modern mechanized farm, says Jaynes.

A normal increase was made last year in the number of new farmer's cooperatives in Texas. Eighty-nine new ones were chartered. More than 95 percent of the 1100 active cooperatives in the state serve local groups of around 200 farmers each.

The family size farm would have a tough time competing with the large corporate farming organizations if it weren't for the farmers' cooperatives, says Jaynes.

Recent Drouth Is Part Of Cycle; To Recur Periodically

The recent Texas drouth was part of a climatic cycle which can be expected to recur about every 11 or 12 years, says a University of Texas archaeologist who is interested in the relation between climatic change and human history in North America.

Alex D. Krieger, participant in a program on weather cycles at the recent Plains Archaeological conference in Lincoln, Neb., says drouths have recurred repeatedly for many centuries in the Great Plains states, and this information should be a sign-post to farmers to anticipate these changes in their crop planning.

He points to modern drouth periods in 1934-36, 1923-24, 1910-12, 1899-1901, and the 1880's as examples of climatic cycles which have had profound effects on American economy.

Establishment of the exact dates on climatic periods in North America during the past 25,000 years is one of the problems facing climatologists.

The archaeologist can date his finds through geological and other means, thus helping the climatologist to determine the date of climatic periods which changed life on this continent during the past 25,000 years, Krieger says.

Hotel Symbolizes Success Brought To Texan By Idea

CISCO—Hundreds of visitors thronged the beautiful Victor Hotel here when open house was held upon completion of a program of modernizing at a cost understood to have been around $75,000 and everyone agreed that no hotel in West Texas is any finer.

But more remarkable than the hotel itself is the story of the new owner, Victor Cornelius, who was struck one day by an idea—and, as a result, he built a nation-wide business and made the fortune which enabled him to acquire a hotel that cost close to half a million dollars to build.

Cornelius was born in a cross-roads community in Limestone County, lived in Coleman County (at Rockwood and Santa Ann), then in 1918 went with his parents to Eastland. He observed a man painting a sign, asked where he could buy some brushes, taught himself the art and made his way through high school by sign-painting.

Then he pioneered in the juke-box field. In fact, he was so far ahead of the times that he hauled his first music machine from Eastland to Breckenridge, Graham, Olney, Seymour, Rule, Munday, Knox City, Albany and back to Eastland because he could not find a place of business whose owner was sufficiently impressed with the money-making possibilities to allow the juke-box to be installed!

Eventually however Cornelius put out a hundred of the machines. The one in an Olney cafe was stuck over in the corner out of sight and wasn't taking in any nickels so Cornelius devised a slotted side for a napkin holder and inserted a card showing the names of the songs. This machine soon was doing more business than any of his others, so he used the card method for them, too.

Then came the big idea! Why wouldn't the card help motion picture theaters? So he had 100 holders made and offered free use for a year to the Eastland picture show manager, who was so delighted by the results that Cornelius decided to print the cards and go after business on a wide scale.

Vocational School Plans Education Classes For Vets

The Hall County Vocational School plans new classes in distributive education for veterans, interested in business training, says J. A. Ballard of Estelline, co-ordinator.

"If you are interested in receiving some real training in merchandising, selling, book-keeping and business training in general, you will be given that opportunity by your Hall County Vocational school," said Ballard. "Classes will be organized either on a half-time basis or a full-time basis, to suit the desires of the majority of the students. Veterans entering training on a half-time basis will receive half benefits and use eligibility at the rate of half-time.

"Courses run from 18 to 24 months in length. Class schedules will be arranged to suit local situations. No homework is required; however, outside reading is encouraged. Veterans who attend are not required to be employed, but many veterans find they can work while going to school. Qualified instructors will give well-rounded business instruction, which will include instructional movies, field trips when possible and class-room supervision of study. Visiting lecturers will contribute from their experiences. All books and instructional materials will be furnished you free which will be yours upon completion of the course.

"You will learn things that will help you at work, such as: business English, letter writing, business arithmetic, book-keeping, store organization, store organization and typewriting.

"Entrance requirements are established in the local school. Veterans should have a grade school education or its equivalent. "Those interested should contact Mr. Ballard at the city hall in Estelline. Copy of discharge, marriage record and birth certificates of all children are required."

The first issue of the New Weekly Journal, Nov. 15, contained an article on the press.

The first successful news in the colonies was started in 1766 by the royal government of Massachusetts in 1764.

Six-Inch Sermon

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER

Jesus' Early Teaching and Healing

Lesson for February 6: Mark 1: 14-15, 32-39; Luke 4:16-21. Memory Selection: Matthew 4:23.

Galilee was the scene of our Lord's first preaching and healing. The first two verses of the lesson text give us a pattern of his ministry throughout Galilee.

Jesus at once became the Great Physician—healing the bodies of men that he might reach their souls. His miracles were usually those of healing. They also demonstrated his divine power and won adherents. Many people were so deranged by sin and disease that they were said to be possessed with demons. One of the great works of Jesus was casting the demons out of afflicted ones.

Capernaum was the place of many healings. On a notable day "when the sun did set" all the diseased and those possessed with devils were brought unto Jesus. "And all the city was gathered at the door." Afterward he went into the synagogue throughout Galilee with his gracious ministry of healing.

In his native Nazareth he declared himself fully. In the synagogue, given the book of Isaiah, he read a prophecy and claimed it had been fulfilled in Himself. The spirit of the Lord was upon Him first to preach the gospel, for in the order of time and importance, preaching the good news comes first. There is a wide need of great preaching today. Let the blessed gospel sound from our pulpits. And let every Christian be aware that men are reading the gospel according to Him. Does the gospel which men read in you square with that which Jesus preached? It does, if it is saving you.

Before the telegraph was used for sending news, Horace Greeley installed printers on steamboats and railroad trains, so that a speech in Albany, for example, could be set in type ready for publication on the way back to New York City.

A pencil and a small notebook—along with the sales slips and bills—take the guessing and forgetting out of record keeping of home expenses.

Pierce Addresses Rotarians On REA Set-Up

Rapid Growth Of Movement Told By Utility Chief

The Hall County Electric Co-Op, Inc., now has 1500 members, or joint owners, who live along 800 miles of energized distribution lines in five counties, C. L. Pierce, manager, told the members of the Memphis Rotary club in an address to that group Tuesday at noon.

"Ultimately, our plans call for 1,000 miles of line to serve some 2,000 members," said Mr. Pierce. "Many of your customers, your patrons, your patients, your clients and your friends are members. Collectively, they are the Hall County Electric Co-Op Co-operative.

"I like to look back over what has happened here in our community since 1939, when the co-operative was organized. Some of the local people you know started it with hardly more than an idea and a hope. Into the organization they put $5.00 each as a membership fee and a lot of hard work, faith and hope. Today they have 800 miles of line and all that it takes to operate a large scale of business, with assets totaling 593,294 dollars.

"The co-op is not a government agency but is a private business institution, incorporated under the laws of our state, owned and operated by its users, members, mostly farmers. It is controlled in its policies by the vote of the members, each member having one vote. Its governing body is a Board of Directors, consisting of 7 farmers, elected by the members at their annual meeting. They serve without pay. Neither I, nor any other employee of the cooperative, is a Government employee. I am responsible only to my Board of Directors, and through them to the members. Can you have any other form of business organization that is MORE democratic?

"More important today is that most of the rural families in our territory have electricity are using it to put farm production on an increasingly efficient basis. All this adds up to new wealth for the community—the kind of wealth that creates more business and more prosperity. Electricity is making the farm a good place to LIVE, not LEAVE.

Everyone Benefits
"Probably every one of you has benefited to some extent from this program—either DI-RECTLY from the money spent for construction, wiring, equipment and pay rolls, or INDIRECTLY through the increased farm income electricity has helped to make possible. These benefits will continue and become even greater as electricity is taken to many of the rural neighborhoods still without service, and as it is used more intensively on the farms already electrified.

"Now as to the direct benefits that Memphis has derived from our cooperative, let us be more specific. Experience has shown that for every dollar invested in line construction, the farm-consumer spends $4.50 or more in wiring, plumbing, appliances and other equipment, the use of which is made possible through the installation of electric service.

"The equipment that they buy is not limited to electrical items. With the installation of a pressure water system, using an electric motor as a power source, comes the desire for a modern bathroom with all the plumbing equipment—bath tubs and lavatories, showers and sinks. With good lighting comes the desire for an easy chair to read the newspaper at night after the hard day in the field. These are only two of hundreds of examples.

"Using this figure and the amount spent by the co-op for construction, we find that our co-op members have spent or soon will spend $3,600,000 for wiring, appliances, and other equipment. Ultimately, with plans already made for area coverage, rural consumers can be expected to run this up to $4,000,000.

"Gentlemen, do you want to throw away that kind of business? How much of this has flown directly into Memphis? You hold the answer to that. The business is there. How much have you have gone out to get? (This town is the trading center for a wide area.) You are GOOD businessmen. There is no doubt in my mind that you have been getting your share.

Power from Lake Pauline
(Most of the power which we distribute is generated in Lake Pauline. We are buying more than $1,000 worth of it a month, $12,000 worth a year. Frankly, I do not know what this will eventually amount to on our ultimate system, but there is little doubt that $2,000,000 is a conservative estimate. Memphis will benefit from this.)

"Our monthly pay roll is approximately $3,600, or $43,000 a year. How much of this is spent here I don't know. But a good bit of it is, I am sure. Take me, for example. Even though I am a rural electric cooperative manager, I do have on a suit. As I look on the label inside the coat I see a local dealer's name. Surprisingly enough I have on shoes—and inside them is an imprint of a local dealer. I have on a shirt which came from the local dealer. This could be carried further . . . but I think I have made my point.

"At the present time we are building our lines. So far, more than $800,000 have been invested in the lines and ultimately this figure probably will reach $1,000,000.

"We are proud of our operational record, and the record of all REA-financed systems. We gladly will compare the financial record of REA-financed systems with that of any other type of business enterprise. The same kind of practical dollars-and-cents economics is behind our record as is behind your own business operations. The incentive for good management is just as great in our case as in yours.

"Before an application for a loan is approved it undergoes just as careful scrutiny as a request for a sizable loan receives at our local banks. When a loan finally is approved, the notes are protected by mortgages on the physical properties and other assets of the borrower.

"Here in five counties we have nearly 500 unserved applications on hand.

Must Complete The Job
"To meet this demand for electric service from un electrified areas, REA and the local co-ops have given painstaking care to preliminary plans for completing the job as soon as possible. We are committed to the principles of area coverage—a program for taking electric service to every rural consumer living in our territory who wants it and cannot get it otherwise. It is a huge undertaking, yet the obstacles are no greater than those that have already been overcome. A shortage of material is handicapping the program at present, but time will improve this situation.

"We have the natural resources for profitable agricultural, industry and trade all around us. With electricity available, not just here and there, but in every nook and corner, we will have the means of developing these resources to the full.

"I have touched briefly on the benefits that I believe our cooperative has brought Memphis. It is a subject that cannot be covered thoroughly in a few short minutes. If there is any time left and you have questions that you would like to ask about our organization, I will be glad to try and answer them. I have appreciated this opportunity to be with you today and sincerely hope that I have brought you some food for thought."

J. J. McDaniel left early Sunday morning by plane from Amarillo for Chicago on business.

New REA Loan Made Last Week For 8 Counties In Area

Hall County is one of eight counties that will get a combined loan of $190,000 for construction of 115 miles of new rural electrification lines, according to news dispatches from Washington.

Construction work under the new loan, approved last Friday, will be done by Reinhart and Donovan of Oklahoma City, according to R. A. Yarbrough of Childress, manager of the Gate City rural electric co-operative.

SOIL ERUPTION—On the 60 acre farm of Henry Huppenthal near Cedar Lake, Ind., two hills of rich black soil are growing in an area of clay-loam farmland. One hill covering 2,500 square yards, has erupted to a height of 3 feet in the past 25 years. The other has risen 15 feet in 10 years. Huppenthal says he raised more than 110 bushels of corn to the acre on the new soil, and that the yield of oats was so heavy that stems of the plants collapsed under the weight of the heads of grain.

Dean Shirley To Retire From Long Career At WTSC

Dr. D. A. Shirley, dean and senior member of the West Texas State faculty, handed his resignation to President James P. Cornette this week, retroactive to January 1.

His action was due to poor health which has kept him from his desk since last October.
In accepting his resignation,
Dr. Cornette said: "The history of any college is the composite shadow of great personalities whose lives have gone into its making. Personality of Dean D.
A. Shirley, or Doug, as he is affectionately known by those who know and love him best, is one of the greatest of West Texas State personalities and its brightness as well as his contributions will endure through many years to come."

Dean Shirley came to West Texas State in 1913 as a physics teacher. Before that he was with Christian College in Hereford and the Hereford public schools.
In addition to his teaching duties, he was football coach in the early years and served as chairman of the athletic committee from its inception until this year.

In 1923, Dr. Shirley became registrar, a position he filled until 1945, when he became dean of the college. He received his Bachelor degree from Texas Christian University, his Master's from the University of Michigan and was awarded an honorary
LL.D. from T.C.U. in 1940.

The popular dean is also an ardent civic worker, having served in the Christian Church and the Canyon Chamber of Commerce.
He is a member of Phi Delta

sociation, Texas State Teachers

Economic Highlights

Comment on Mr. Truman's legislative program and proposed budget runs the gamut from complete approval to unqualified disapproval. Those who hoped or feared that the President would conveniently forget many of the pledges he made during the campaign no longer have any doubts—so far as he is able, he will carry them out to the last comma.

The President's program is largely noncontroversial so far as defense and foreign aid provisions go, except as to details which do not affect the broad principles. So it is the domestic program which occupies the center of the stage.

The essence of Mr. Truman's position is that it is the duty of government both to protect the individual against the exigencies of life through more old-age security, higher minimum wages, compulsory health insurance, etc., and to provide certain commodities and services which formerly were within the realm of private enterprise, such as power, government steel plants and housing.

To this extent, the Truman program flows with the tides of recent history—it does not go so far as the Labor party has in England, but it is geared to the same kind of philosophies. The opposition has two main points: first, from the economic point of view can such a program be successful; second, what would such a program do to the moral fiber of the people and our representative form of government?

Neither those who like the program nor those who dislike it should regard its major points as separate, disassociated things. Its importance lies in its cumulative effect.

The water association got their bill in the hopper at the legislative level and their newspaper publicity incident to it before the ground water people of the high plains and the towns and cities of Texas got ready. They have the argument pitched on the plane where they wanted it to begin with. We fear the Temple and Houston point of view on water matters in Texas will be in the saddle, the West Texas ideas making a poor also-ran in the race for consideration of the Legislature. Both Temple and Houston have enough run-off water to teach the land and log all the boats. But they want what they want the way they want it. This Week in WASHINGTON
OUTSTANDING during the past weeks in congressional circles was the vote by which Dean Acheson was confirmed by the senate as secretary of state—83 to 6.
Facts are that every senator was anxious to disassociate himself with the public hearing on the Acheson nomination which broke a precedent of more than 100 years in the government. Of those six senators who voted against him, Homer Capehart and William E. Jenner of Indiana had not as yet apparently weighed the Indiana vote on last November 2. For that vote swept in a Democratic governor and an entire Democratic state ticket and came within something like 15,000 votes of sweeping the state for Truman—a state which had been doped as 150,000 for the Republican ticket.
So Capehart and Jenner just cannot read the figures on the score board, according to observers here in Washington. Langer of North Dakota, of course, is against any American foreign policy and his vote was not anticipated.

The two votes which could not be tabulated to any degree of certainty were those of Sen. William F. Knowland of California and Styles Bridges of New Hampshire. Knowland followed the line of several influential newspapers in his state—influent insofar as Knowland is concerned but not otherwise—and of course Bridges has always been unpredictable.
Sen. Kenneth Wherry has been consistently wrong on foreign policy ever since he has been in the senate. His vote against Acheson when he came up for approval as under-secretary of state in the 80th congress. At least Wherry is consistent.

In a reshuffling of committee assignments as radical as possible within the seniority system, Democrats in house and senate have picked committees which will put through the Truman program. Where the rub may come, insofar as the administration is concerned, is in the senate and house appropriations and finance committees which must furnish the money to carry out the program enacted by the congress.
For instance, on the senate finance committee there are two new members, Clyde R. Hoey of North Carolina and J. Howard McGrath, the Democratic national committee chairman. Besides these two, the

Drainage In Lots Now, Says Ege Professor

...lots need draining and filling. And the dry spells between the wet ones are the time to get the draining and filling done. Concrete shelter floors will help solve this problem along the coastal regions of the state. Profit and loss in a dairy herd can be checked on about this time of year—at income tax time. If you have records available, they can give the figures as "Where am I making or losing money?" or "Is the size of my operation an efficient one?" The outlook for Texas dairymen is going to be good for the dairymen that do a good job, says Burleson. Others will need to do a ...better job in the future of feeding, managing, and raising herd replacements. On herd replacements, Burleson asks, "Is this a hit-or-miss proposition in your herd? Where are the replacements coming from? Are you making progress, standing still, or dropping back in the production level of your herd?" Texas dairymen need to pay more attention to the answers to such questions as these in their problem of herd replacements, Burleson said.

Stop and take stock of your dairy set-up. Now is the logical time of year to make these dairy check-ups. A successful dairy operation will depend on a well balanced dairy program. Real estate, farm buildings—milk processing, milking barn, sheds and cooing house—cows, feed, supply, labor, machinery and equipment all form the dairy program, says Gibson. And the "weak link" in this chain is the thing that will determine just how profitable your dairy operation will be.

The announcement was made at the regular meeting of the post last Thursday night at the Legion hall. In a short ceremony, five of the certificates were awarded that night to: Roy Guthrie, H. H. Lindsey, O. V. Alexander, John Deaver and J. E. Reheis with Nugent E. Brown making the presentation.

Those not present who were given the same awards include: A. M. Sims, M. G. Tarver, C. S. Compton, W. C. Davis, B. B. Smith, L. A. Stillwell, Wiley W. Whitley, J. H. Vallance, C. C. Meacham, L. B. Merrell, Oren B. Jones, Otrif F. Jones and J. E. Roper.

The post voted to make a donation of $50 to the Hall County police fund and Finance Officer H. C. Pounds was instructed to send the check to Chairman R. C. Lemons. This was in answer to a plea by the commander, T. D. Weatherby made the motion.

The group also voted unanimously to invite the 18th District to hold an inter-post convention in Memphis on March 18. Commander Van Pelt told the group that he would like to extend the invitation. It was brought out in discussion that some 125 guests will be fed at a banquet to be given by the local post.

It was announced that 152 members have now paid their 1949 dues. The remodeling work on the hall will be completed in another 40 days, the group was told. Some of the members are volunteering to do some of the work at night. A lot of staining and varnishing work remains to be done. The recreation room was used for the meeting.

Maybe you're the "slow" one!

Have you been a little slow about giving your engine the extra protection it needs for winter-weather driving?

It's easy to change now to winter-grade Conoco Nth Motor Oil and the extra protection of an engine that is OIL-PLATED!

Because free-flowing Conoco Nth actually fastens extra lubricant right to cylinder walls. This extra OIL-PLATING protects working parts from winter's grinding "dry-friction" starts... from metal-eating combustion acids... and from power-robbing sludge and carbon due to wear.

So stop trouble before it starts...

Oil-Plate for Extra Protection!
