Hodges Says City Doesn't Buy Gas Bill

MAYOR C. C. HODGES

Mayor C. C. Hodges today said he would not help put in a street lighting system in Memphis since it became mayor here. Mr. Hodges also donated a lot of his time and labor to helping with the local city park in the days of the W.P.A. "Yes, I want to quit and just enjoy life for a while," he added. At the same time, Mayor Hodges gives the credit for work done by the city while he was head of the government to his co-workers on the council. "Don't give me all of the credit," he urged.

BILLY JOE WYNN GRABS CALF AT HOUSTON BUT LOST IT IN A TANGLE

Assistant County Agent Bill Pallmeyer drove all the way to Houston last Friday so as to be there Saturday when Billy Joe Wynn, whom he took along, entered a calf scramble. They spent Friday night at College Station and drove on to Houston early Saturday. The calf scramble was scheduled at 7 p. m. Pallmeyer told what happened: "Billy Joe got away with the rest of the boys, grabbed a calf, but some other boy and his calf ran over him and, when the dust cleared, Billy Joe had no calf in sight. Some other boy had gotten him." "So, we spent Saturday night in Houston and drove home Sunday," added the agent. Maybe the bright lights helped assuage Billy Joe's disappointment!

Most Unheard-Of Event Will Draw 5,000 Spectators

Tentative plans were made at a meeting of all interested groups last Friday afternoon at the county agent's office for what promises to be the biggest "one-day event" in many moons in Hall County. The plan calls for a one-day demonstration of rebuilding a farm in a day's work. If present plans go through, at least 5,000 persons will attend the affair. "Never before have we had anything like it in this state, if our plans materialize," said W. B. Hooser, county agent, who was made permanent chairman of the general committee that was organized to put on the demonstration. County Judge's Wife Dies Early Tuesday

"The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want." "He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; he leadeth me beside the still waters." The minister read the 23rd Psalm all the way through. "It was Mrs. Laura Ella Goodpasture's favorite Scripture," declared Rev. Bedford W. Smith, pastor of the First Christian Church at the services Wednesday afternoon. The church was crowded with friends and neighbors of the family. "She will be with the Lord in the dawning of a new day," added the minister. "For she loved the Lord and served him well. In this life, He is present with us. In the other life, we'll be present with Him." The choir sang "Abide With Me" before the minister gave his message. The opening song had been "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me." Following the message, the choir sang softly, "Sweet By and By." All were favorites of Mrs. Goodpasture's. Memphis and Hall County were shocked Tuesday morning as the word flashed across the landscape that Mrs. Goodpasture had passed to her reward early that day. She had gotten up about 6 o'clock, lighted the fire and then lay down again. Judge Goodpasture heard her groaning and (Continued on page 8)

Byars Outstanding Club Boy Of County

John Luther Byars, 16-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Byars of Lakeview, has accumulated a total of 48 prize ribbons in six years of 4-H club work. Today, John Luther is acclaimed as the champion all-round club boy in the county. That means something as club work in Hall County attracts about 500 boys and girls every year. The enrollment up to date this year is 481, with others expected. The story of how John Luther started in 1944 with one Duroc gilt, and in five years, he now owns 10 head of Hereford cattle, one dairy cow, 141 chickens, seven hogs, a crop of his own and "an improved knowledge of growing into the cattle business," as he phrased it in his annual report. County Agent W. B. Hooser says of John Luther: "He is one of the most outstanding 4-H club boys with whom I have had the pleasure of working during the last 13 years. He has been an outstanding student in school. He has ability to recognize quality. He is really conscientious in all of his work and really applies himself. He is a tireless worker, a real leader and an excellent follower." Among his many prizes, John Luther won an all-expense trip to Chicago in 1947 as the state winner in the National Safety contest. Most noteworthy awards and honors received by John Luther are: "Registered gilt in an essay contest in 1944; a registered boar in 1945, another registered boar in 1946. First place in showmanship in county show in 1947, with more prize money in county and state shows in 1947 than any other boy in Hall County. CLAUDE'S COMMENTS

By J. C. W. Six funerals are listed in this week's issue of The Democrat. As I stated last week: "Ordinarily, it is a pleasure to publish a paper, but not so when about every other news item concerns the passing of a friend." And that happens again this week. Who's funeral stories about old settlers like L. F. Mook, J. B. Wrenn, M. P. Moore and Mrs. M. O. Goodpasture all appear in one issue, I cannot help being stirred to the bottom of my heart, and my sympathy goes out to the relatives. This week a feature story about Judge Goodpasture, written by Zeke Brown, news editor, was set to type and ready to be printed in this issue. This story is being held up for another week in deference to the family. It is a shame we didn't publish the feature last week so Mrs. Goodpasture could have had the pleasure of reading it. Louie Mook, who died this week at Azle, was a very prominent farmer of Hall County when I moved to Memphis. At the same time I met other old-timers, who have died recently: C. Gerlach, Miss Grace Ezzell, and J. B. Wrenn—all of them I came to know well and appreciate as friends. Two youths, who gave their lives on foreign soil for you and me—Howard Wooten and J. D. Liles—are now on home soil. While we go about our daily tasks, let's not forget we owe these (Continued on Page 8)

SKIDS ON ICE; OVERTURNS; FAMILY ESCAPES INJURIES

A steel top on their car is credited with the escape from serious injuries of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Tucker and son, Lannie, Monday morning on the toll highway south of Estelina. The trio were coming toward Estelina when the car started skidding on the ice down toward Mountain Creek. In fact, it slid over a 15-foot embankment, turned completely over twice and then landed upright. "Alright except for a few bruises," declared Mrs. Tucker, principal of the grade school at Estelina, when the fond Lannie arrived there somewhat later. She lost no time on the job. The Tucker's car was partially wrecked, it goes without saying. "We sure are thankful for that steel top," added the teacher. Mr. Tucker went off with the business of getting his car fixed up. He kept his fingers crossed.

Burkett Opposes Law To Nominate State School Head, He Says Here

Donley and Hall County teachers, assembled at the Memphis high school Tuesday night for the annual banquet of the county units of the Texas State Teachers association, heard L. R. Burkett of Hardin College discuss features of the so-called Gilmer-Aiken bill now before the legislature. During the hour that Senator Rogers Kelly was holding a filibuster in the Texas State Senate at Austin against the bill that would make the office of State superintendent appointive, Burkett declared his opposition to it before the group assembled here. However, Mr. Burkett, who is second vice-president of the (Continued on page 8) went to work building a two room house. This house was built on the section which is known as the Lane Farm and on this section Uncle Dave spent the greater part of his life. When the baby girl was two weeks old they moved into their new home. They also built a house for Mrs. Lane's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Cooper. These two houses were the first ones built in the Turkey Community.

Traded Cedar Posts For Groceries
Uncle Dave cut cedar posts out of Little Red to fence his fields. The 'brakes' were so rough that it was impossible to get his wagon close enough to load his posts, so he would snake them down the hill, then carry them on his shoulder to the wagon. After supplying posts for his own needs he would cut them and haul them to Childress and sell them to buy groceries. In those days eggs brought 4c per dozen and butter brought 10c per pound.

Uncle Dave and Mrs. Lane's brother, Sam Cooper, would take the wagon and scout (what was then) the vast plains, for cow bones which they would sell at Childress.

He trapped animals and sold their hides. Wolves, bobcats, and skunks were plentiful in this country at that time, as were quail and wild turkey, especially along Turkey Creek.

There were no roads or bridges, only cow trails, and transportation was rough and slow. All mail, household supplies, and vital necessities had to be hauled from Newlin or Estelline. This trip would take three days if weather conditions were favorable and during this time Uncle Dave would have to leave his family alone, but Mrs. Lane managed to care for everything until his return. Often a cloud would come up and she would bundle the children off to the storm cellar. Often too, they would hear the scream of a panther as he stalked through the night.

Skunk Ruins Load of Flour
On one of these trips Uncle Dave had bought a year's supply of flour, one thousand pounds, which he stored in the cellar for safe keeping. A skunk invaded the cellar and had to be shot there. The thousand pounds of flour had to be thrown away and another trip made.

Uncle Dave stayed in Hall County for four years, then he decided to return to Bell County. Raising wheat had not turned out well with so large a family. He stayed in Bell County four years and decided that cotton might be produced in Hall County much more successfully than wheat. So he loaded his family into the wagon and came back to Hall County. The cotton proved successful and he started a small herd of cattle. As there was vast space and no fences, the cattle had free range and did well.

Uncle Dave dug the well that provided all of his water by hand.

Gets Doctor On 'Horseback
The closest doctor was in Estelline and in 1899, when Homer, the fifth child, became deathly ill with a congestive chill, Charles, Uncle Dave's brother, rode this distance to summon Dr. Vardy for aid. Dr. Vardy had to travel horseback too, but with two neighbors, Mrs. Alec Lyles and Mrs. Alice Yowell, who were competent nurses, he brought Homer through his illness.

The country was sparsely settled now and they felt the need for a church. So, in 1891, the first Methodist church, in that community, was organized. The home of Mrs. Lane's father, W. M. Cooper. They had no church house so the services were held in first one home, then another. The first pastor was Rev. Terry, and they paid him a salary of $25.00 per year.

In 1898, they hired a teacher, Miss Allie Thomas, and the first school was started. The two older children, Gerald and Lizzie, started their studies at this time.

In 1900, R. B. Lane, Uncle Dave's father, who had been making his home with his son, passed away. He was the third one laid to rest on the little plot of ground Uncle Dave had given to provide the cemetery for the community. W. M. Cooper, Mrs. Lane's father, and Mr. Frazier were the first and second buried in this cemetery.

Snake Causes A Runaway
While Uncle Dave was serving as Commissioner of Precinct 4, he was returning from Memphis in his buggy when he saw a snake and stopped to kill it. While he was doing this, his horse became frightened and ran away. The horse went home, buggy and all, when Mrs. Lane saw the driverless horse and buggy, she feared Uncle Dave had met with disaster. She got in the buggy and hastily traveled back over the road from whence the horse had just come, looking wildly for her husband. She found him, none the worse for wear, walking down the road toward home.

A Real Bible Student
Uncle Dave was loved by everyone who knew him. He was kind and sweet and never raised his voice to anything or anyone, yet he commanded the love and respect of every living thing around him. He was very religious and there was no weather bad enough to keep him from attending church. He walked the distance regularly to attend. Only after his hearing and sight began to fail him, did he waver in attending church, but even then he made up for it at home. He read in his Bible every day and listened to church services through his radio. His favorite topic was God and he never tired of talking it. If his children or anyone else came to him with a problem, he would do his best to explain to them what they couldn't understand. He knew the Bible well; often remarked humbly that he wished he were big enough to know and understand it as he knew he should. At every meal he remembered to thank God. He had expressed his wish to live long enough to see the new Methodist Church building completed and he was almost granted this wish, because the beautiful new building was finished, but for a few details, when he passed on. He was instrumental in getting the new building and contributed to its construction. To his family, this church stands as a monument of his love and faith.

Children Lived Near Him
He had nine children, five girls and four boys. All of them are living except Gerald, who passed away 20 years ago. They all lived in Turkey, all of their lives, and saw their Daddy every day. He was awfully proud of his children and, even when death was so close to him, he spoke of his children to the doctors' and nurses and told them how well cared for and loved he had been.

He was very active for one who had lived so long. When the weather permitted, he would take his old worn-out hoe and go to the field. He would trim and prune the trees, and once, after his sight became dim, he cut himself. He stumbled to the house, his sleeve drenched with blood. In the fall, when boll pulling time was in full swing, he would go down one row then another stacking neat little piles of cotton for the boll pullers. Even the Negroes loved him and called him Uncle Dave and when he passed away they asked if they might see him for the last time.

Died Last November
He was never cross or childish, not even in his last few years, and he could sit for hours rocking his great grandchildren or watching them play at his feet.

He had 23 grandchildren and 23 great grandchildren living at the time of his death. He was 91 years old. His birthday, which is February 16, was "family day" to his children. They hold a family reunion on that day every year.

Mayor Hodges Says $5 Salary Doesn't Even Pay Gas Bill

MAYOR C. C. HODGES

Mayor C. C. Hodges will soon be selecting a new council. I have appreciated the honor of serving you and am retiring from civic activities." In this statement, Mayor C. Hodges this week told The Democrat that he feels he has a right to private life for a while. "I am now 66 and feel I have given my portion of time to public life, especially when I received a $5 a month salary no matter how many meetings I had attended and how many calls I received."

Mayor Hodges also donated a lot of his time and labor to helping with the local city park in the days of the W.P.A. "Yes, I want to quit and just enjoy life for a while," he added. City Fathers Report In 4 Years Record

Imposing list of accomplishments of the city government during the past four years has been handed The Democrat by Mayor C. C. Hodges. On the list is a citation of what city employees have been raised, the top being $195 per month, as against only $100 a month two years ago. A resolution is being carried in this issue of the Democrat, signed by all of the councilmen, including Mayor C. C. Hodges, Clyde W. F. A. Linder, H. E. Taylor, T. Lightower, H. J. Howland, W. Harrison and O. R. L. City Secretary D. L. C. also signed it. "Four years ago, the town was a shantytown," reads one of the items on the statement. "A Report To The Citizens of Memphis." The City Council has a proposition with the company, and we now have the best-lighted towns in the state." The report also calls attention to the fact that a total of $1,193,000 was collected in rentals last year at the airport. 40 acres of the airport was set aside adjoining the new cemetery, new additions and surveyed, streets laid, and a full-time man is now at the cemetery under supervision, reads another item. "New Equipment Bought" report also calls attention to the purchase of a new streetcar to replace the old horse-drawn one that "Mr. T. T. Loard bought in 1921." Also, a 9-ton fire truck was purchased with all of the latest fire-fighting equipment. Two blinkers were installed, new additions to the city barn and a fence built around the city. A new load packer has been ordered for use in garbage disposal.

"It was Mrs. Laura Ella Goodpasture's favorite Scripture," declared Rev. Bedford W. Smith, pastor of the First Christian Church at the services Wednesday afternoon. The church was crowded with friends and neighbors of the family. "She will be with the Lord in the dawning of a new day," added the minister. "For she loved the Lord and served him well. In this life, He is present with us. In the other life, we'll be present with Him." The choir sang "Abide With Me" before the minister gave his message. The opening song had been "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me." Following the message, the choir sang softly, "Sweet By and By." All were favorites of Mrs. Goodpasture's. Memphis and Hall County were shocked Tuesday morning as the word flashed across the landscape that Mrs. Goodpasture had passed to her reward early that day. She had gotten up about 6 o'clock, lighted the fire and then lay down again. Judge Goodpasture heard her groaning and (Continued on page 8)

Byars Outstanding Club Boy Of County

John Luther Byars, 16-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Byars of Lakeview, has accumulated a total of 48 prize ribbons in six years of 4-H club work. Today, John Luther is acclaimed as the champion all-round club boy in the county. That means something as club work in Hall County attracts about 500 boys and girls every year. The enrollment up to date this year is 481, with others expected. The story of how John Luther started in 1944 with one Duroc gilt, and in five years, he now owns 10 head of Hereford cattle, one dairy cow, 141 chickens, seven hogs, a crop of his own and "an improved knowledge of growing into the cattle business," as he phrased it in his annual report. County Agent W. B. Hooser says of John Luther: "He is one of the most outstanding 4-H club boys with whom I have had the pleasure of working during the last 13 years. He has been an outstanding student in school. He has ability to recognize quality. He is really conscientious in all of his work and really applies himself. He is a tireless worker, a real leader and an excellent follower." Among his many prizes, John Luther won an all-expense trip to Chicago in 1947 as the state winner in the National Safety contest. Most noteworthy awards and honors received by John Luther are: "Registered gilt in an essay contest in 1944; a registered boar in 1945, another registered boar in 1946. First place in showmanship in county show in 1947, with more prize money in county and state shows in 1947 than any other boy in Hall County. Won garden medals for 1946 and 1947; (Continued on page 8)

CLAUDE'S COMMENTS

By J. C. W. Six funerals are listed in this week's issue of The Democrat. As I stated last week: "Ordinarily, it is a pleasure to publish a paper, but not so when about every other news item concerns the passing of a friend." And that happens again this week. When funeral stories about old settlers like L. F. Mock, J. B. Wrenn, M. P. Moore and Mrs. M. O. Goodpasture all appear in one issue, I cannot help being stirred to the bottom of my heart, and my sympathy goes out to the relatives. This week a feature story about Judge Goodpasture, written by Zeke Brown, news editor, was set to type and ready to be printed in this issue. This story is being held up for another week in deference to the family. It is a shame we didn't publish the feature last week so Mrs. Goodpasture could have had the pleasure of reading it. Louie Mock, who died this week at Azle, was a very prominent farmer of Hall County when I moved to Memphis. At the same time I met other old-timers, who have died recently: C. Gerlach, Miss Grace Ezzell, and J. B. Wrenn—all of them I came to know well and appreciate as friends. Two youths, who gave their lives on foreign soil for you and me—Howard Wooten and J. D. Liles—are now on home soil. While we go about our daily tasks, let's not forget we owe these (Continued on Page 8)

The Chicken-of-Tomorrow

CULMINATING a three-year competitive program to find a breeding formula that would add at least 10 per cent more meat to the present-day chicken, the "Chicken-of-Tomorrow" came into its own recently at a dinner-meeting of poultry breeders in New York City.

Conducted by the National Chicken-of-Tomorrow committee under the auspices of the Atlantic and Pacific food stores, the industry-wide competition gave poultry raisers from coast to coast an opportunity to vie for a $5,000 grand championship prize plus $3,000 in regional progress awards.

Dressed poultry contests were conducted among states, the five top-ranking entrants in each of the state contests being eligible to compete in their respective regional trials, with the grand national championships held last spring in Delaware.

In the finals, eggs sent in by the 40 top breeders of the nation were hatched under identical conditions under the supervision of a committee of poultry experts headed up by H. L. Shrader, senior extension poultry husbandman of the United States department of agriculture. In addition to the top cash award of $5,000, there were runner-up prizes totaling $2,000.

The Chicken-of-Tomorrow, introduced to the world for the first time at the poultry breeders' dinner-meeting in New York, boasts a higher percentage of meat to bone structure, with added layers of white meat on the wings as well as meatier drumsticks.

D. D. Slade of Lexington, Ky., secretary-treasurer of the International Baby Chick association and chairman of the national committee which blueprinted specifications for the bird, is confident that the improved strain of meat-type chickens produced under the committee's program will reward both producers and consumers.

"First it was 'houses of tomorrow.' Then 'cars of tomorrow,' 'home appliances of tomorrow,' etc. Now it's the Chicken-of-Tomorrow—a bigger and better strain of meat-type chicken developed by a three-year competitive search for a breeding formula that would add 10 per cent more meat to the present-day chicken. Evelyn Short of Milford, Del., is shown holding tomorrow's chicken on her shoulder during a dinner-meeting of poultry breeders in New York City which culminated the competition.

He also pointed out that development of a broad-breasted turkey has helped the gobble out of the holiday class. Development of meatier birds, he said, was partially responsible for a 73 per cent increase in per capita consumption of turkey in the past 15 years.

Similar success, he added, is expected to result from the development of the Chicken-of-Tomorrow.

If Yolk Breaks, Eggs Not Stored Right, Expert Says

If you can't drop an egg into the frying pan without breaking the yolk, perhaps you aren't storing the eggs correctly in the refrigerator.

There's a right and wrong way to store eggs in the refrigerator. And the right way, Myrtle Murray, extension home marketing specialist of Texas A. & M. College, says is standing on the small end with the large end up.

Here's why. The large end contains an air cell just inside the shell. If this end is down, the weight of the egg presses against this air cell, causing the air cell to rise and gradually loosen the membrane. At the same time, the yolk, because it's heavier than the "white" part, rises from its normal position in the center of the egg to the top, or small end.

When the yolk floats to the top, it becomes attached to the membrane and may stick there. This is why it's often so hard to break eggshells and drop the yolks out without breaking them.

Yolks in eggs stored large end up will remain in the center, and not float to the top where they'll stick to the membrane.

Miss Murray says that 640 farm wives from 35 Texas counties report selling eggs on a basis directly to the consumers. And the women guaranteed these eggs on their grade basis.

The way eggs are candled before they are packed and marketed has quite a bit to do with maintaining their quality, too, she says.

Leroy Stilwell Takes Position With Foxhall Firm

The Foxhall Motor Company this week announces its service department is now under the supervision of Leroy Stilwell, formerly of Breckenridge.

Mr. Stilwell has moved here, with his wife and 15-year old son, Donald. They reside at 613 North 12th Street. Donald is in high school and is a football prospect.

With a background of some 27 years experience, of which 12 years were with Ford cars, Mr. Stilwell adds much to the service department of this firm. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Stilwell, reside in Breckenridge. His wife was the former Miss Nellie Marie Long of the same city where her parents also reside.

The new service department manager also has had experience with Mercury, Lincoln, Dodge and Plymouth cars.

The Jersey Wakefield, Copenhagen Market or Glory of Enkhuizen are good varieties of cabbages to plant. Cabbages should be set a foot apart in the row.

First Report

By JOHN H. HOSE

THE downstate train was late, and he hurried across the dirty, brick sidewalk that lay between the B. and O. depot and the East-West Pennsylvania station. Entering the latter he noted, after a reassuring glance at the train bulletins, that the Chicago mail was late too. For a moment, he just stood there looking around the grimy waiting room.

It hadn't changed much in two years. The radiators hissed forth the fetid steam which always seem to pour in such quantities from their escape valves. Another layer or two of coal dust had been added to the buff and maroon decorative scheme of the ancient building.

He slid the small bag under one of the uncomfortable benches as he took a seat. He tried to relax, but it

He remembered her as he loved her most. The night of the prom in the wine-colored velvet gown she had made for herself. Its only decoration was a bit of ivory lace, but her white shoulders had really set off its sheen. How he had whirled her in the dances to make the full skirt billow about her. She had laughed and begged him to stop because it made her dizzy. And after the dance, he played Romeo to her Juliet on the platform of the "L" steps.

Then again... early on the morning of V-J day when he smiled up at him from the hospital bed. Her hair wasn't beautiful then, he remembered, just stringy and dry-looking. Beads of perspiration still clung to her face. He could hear her voice, weak and breathless.

"Sorry, darling... but it's another girl... isn't it?" He hadn't really cared. She was all right, that was the big thing. Not every fellow was lucky enough to have three girls to love, even if two of them were little tykes. Would this train never get to Chicago?

Finally it was Englewood. He was brighter now, being the first to reach the coach vestibule. For the 10 or 12 minutes from Englewood to the Union station he stood, shifting anxiously from one foot to another. The train had hardly stopped when he leaped onto the long, concrete ramp, and hurried toward the gate.

In spite of the early hour, there were quite a few waiting to meet the train, and he failed to see her in the surging group. He kept searching for her as he jostled among the red caps and passengers. Thoughts of disappointment went racing through his mind.

How could he stand it after two years if she were not there... or perhaps the Milwaukee train was late... Then he heard his name called, and a moment later she was in his arms, sobbing.

"Carl! Oh, my darling Carl!" The other passengers crowded around them, a few smiling at the couple locked in a firm embrace. Slowly the line of cars in his train was emptied, and still they clung to each other, saying nothing, just holding tight, as though to avoid ever being separated again. Then Carl spoke, ever so quietly:

"Thank you, darling. Thank you for having faith and waiting. Now, don't you think we'd better get along to Milwaukee. I seem to remember that two little girls are waiting there to see their Daddy."

"Yes, dear," she sighed, as they turned to walk arm-in-arm up the ramp, "but it's seemed so long."

"An eternity," he replied as he removed a long envelope from his inner coat pocket. "Now I have the courage to mail this, for together we can do anything." She looked at the envelope before he dropped it in the mail box. It read,

Lions Hear High School Students

Perry Keyser, director of band and choral music of Memphis High School, presented a group of girls on the program of the Lions Club Wednesday at the regular luncheon hour.

The high school sextette sang "The Silver Swan" and "Now Is the Hour" as the first numbers on the program. Members of the sextette are Billie Dell Martin, Billie June Sturdevant, Leota Sturdevant, Edith Compton, Joanna Davis and Roddie Patton.

Numbers sang by the high school quartette included: "Shet Jo Eyes, Ma Honey" and "The Blue Tail Fly". The quartette is composed of Leona Robertson, Jannet Mueller, Cleve Mae Tiner and Joy Davis.

Jeanne Way, talented trombone soloist, was next introduced by Mr. Keyser. She played "Castles in the Air" and "Beautiful Dreamer."

Concluding the program were two piano solos by Lois Wines, who also accompanied the high school girls in all numbers. She played "Malaguena" and "Sabre Dance."

two engines hauling the passenger train loomed out of the darkness with a string of cars behind. He hurried forward to where the coaches would load passengers, and finally mounted the steps behind the others.

"Now," he thought as the train ground out of the station some few minutes later, "only four more hours." He closed his eyes and tried to remember what she looked like.

She was taller than most girls, with blue eyes, and a little pointed chin which gave her that air of independence that always amused him. But her beautiful hair, which he liked to see in rich, golden, French braids, was easily her crowning glory. The last time he saw her, she had been wearing a bright green hat with a pert feather pointing skyward like a finger. They made a striking couple, everyone said.

He remembered her as he loved her most. The night of the prom in the wine-colored velvet gown she had made for herself. Its only decoration was a bit of ivory lace, but her white shoulders had really set off its sheen. How he had whirled her in the dances to make the full skirt billow about her. Memorial Service Held By Teachers For Miss Ezzell

Well-deserved tributes were paid to the memory of Miss Grace Ezzell near the close of the program for teachers held in the cafeteria Tuesday night.

Toastmaster Loran Denton introduced Sup't. W. C. Davis who spoke of Miss Ezzell as follows:

"Our hearts have been saddened by the great loss which has come to the Memphis independent school district in the home-going of Miss Grace Ezzell, who, since 1920, has served as a first-grade teacher here.

"She was efficient and faithful in the performance of the duties of a teacher; and she will sorely be missed by us all in the formulation of plans and in the activities of our organization. Each of us feels a keen sense of personal loss in her passing.

"Sweet and generous in her nature, she was a true friend of all, the old as well as the young. All who came in contact with her esteemed her for her graciousness, her sincerity and the high ideals which she exemplified. She will ever be remembered for her careful devotion to duty, her love of the beautiful, her capacity for genuine, sincere friendship and her genial, radiant nature. The beautiful light of her life is still shining and will ever shine.

"To the bereaved loved ones and great circle of friends, our sincere sympathy is lovingly extended."

Following Mr. Davis' tribute, Mrs. Verna DeBerry read a poem, written by Miss Esta McElrath, dedicated to Miss Ezzell: A flower grew in a garden here In grace and beauty rare This flower was loved by all who passed Each day it grew more fair.

Her life was spent in service true Assuaging grief and care. One day God plucked that lovely flower For his heavenly garden there.

A teacher friend has gone away— Her memory we dearly love. We'll meet her again that joyous day In Heaven's bright home above.

Church Of Christ Leads Donations For Polio Drive

An additional $189.60 had been added to the Hall County polio fund this week, according to a report from Chairman R. C. Lemons Thursday morning.

The Memphis Church of Christ headed the list with a donation of $46.61, with the Lakeview Church of Christ making a donation of $20.97, both of which the county chairman stated are very much appreciated.

Five persons in Estelline sent in $26 this week, putting that community near the top when it comes to helping out in a campaign like this one. They made up $248 down there last week.

Tips Given Seniors On Vocation That Will Provide Job

AUSTIN—Attention high school seniors: The University of Texas Teacher Placement Service can give you a tip on a good vocational field to enter.

Director Hob Gray says the greatest demand for teachers right now is in the field of library science, and he would recommend it as a study course with excellent possibilities.

There is a shortage of trained library personnel, partially because there are few schools of library science in this part of the country, Dr. Gray says. (The University of Texas re-opened its Library School this fall.)

In addition to a standing demand for high school librarians, Dr. Gray says the placement service has many calls for elementary education teachers (grades one to seven); and teachers of high school mathematics, science, commercial subjects, and health and physical education for women.

Supply has just about caught up with demand in the area of high school English and social studies teachers, he says.

Miss Mary Sue Huckaby Becomes Bride Of J. J. Albrecht In Amarillo Ceremony

In a simple but impressive ceremony which was read before an audience of close friends and relatives, Miss Mary Sue Huckaby of Amarillo and formerly of Memphis, became the bride of John J. Albrecht of Doland, South Dakota at high noon Valentine's Day. The service was read in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. J. E. Edwards, 1011 West 20th Ave., Amarillo, with Rev. H. B. Coggin, pastor of the Buchanan Street Methodist Church, directing the couple in the exchange of wedding vows.

Mrs. Bruce Edwards, pianist, played the pre-nuptial concert, traditional marches and accompaniment for Miss Peggy Edwards who sang "Thine Alone" and "Always."

For the exchange of vows, the couple stood before an improvised altar of fern and white gladioli.

The bride was attired in a powder blue afternoon frock complemented by grey accessories and a corsage of white orchids. She carried out the bridal tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue. As the something old, she wore a brooch which was worn by her maternal grandmother at her wedding in 1875.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Mary Jo Lamb of Memphis, who was maid of honor. She wore a dusty rose crepe dress with black accessories and a corsage of blue iris.

George W. Roden of Amarillo served as the best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Huckaby was attired in a dress of grey crepe accented by a corsage of pink roses.

A reception honoring the couple was held in the Edwards home immediately following the ceremony. The table was beautifully appointed with a white lace cover and crystal punch service. Centering the table was a lovely arrangement of white carnations and blue iris, featuring the bride's chosen colors of white and blue.

Mrs. George Roden presided at the punch service and Mrs. Jack Edwards served slices of the three-tiered wedding cake which was decorated with a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. U. G. Berry registered the guests.

Daughter of Mrs. Jessie Huckaby of Amarillo and Angus Huckaby of Memphis, Mrs. Albrecht is a graduate of the Memphis High School with the class of 1941. She attended Amarillo Business College and at the time of her marriage was employed as a stenographer at Clowe & Cowan, Inc., in Amarillo.

The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Albrecht of Doland, S. D. He is a graduate of Doland High School and later attended South Dakota State College, Brookings, S. D. He served with the First Armored Division of the U. S. Army in Africa and Italy during World War II and was awarded the Bronze Star and Purple Heart.

Immediately after the reception the couple left via motor to points of interest in Oklahoma, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota. For traveling the bride wore two-tone suit of tan and brown with brown accessories.

After March 1, Mr. and Mrs. Albrecht will be at home in Doland, South Dakota.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were the bridegroom's sister and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Brink and son, Freddie of Redfield, S. D., and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Burwick of Hylton.

TABLETS HE WILL NOT SELL

Modern miracle drugs... the sulfas... but your pharmacist will sell them to you without a prescription.

They are dramatically effective against many infections... saving thousands of lives each year... but he also knows that, if used, they may affect the kidneys, cause headaches and nausea, or produce other equally uncomfortable and undesirable results.

When your physician prescribes the sulfa drugs he watches for these signs and can take prompt, effective steps to prevent serious reactions. Without this supervision you cannot take sulfa drugs. The sulfa drugs are not the only drugs which are unsafe for self-medication. There are others in the same class which require the supervision of a physician to safeguard their use. They, too, are dispensed without a prescription.

Remember this: your pharmacist will never sell you a drug over his counter unless it is safe to take according to the directions on the label. That is your pharmacist's contribution to public health... and it's his job to sell potentially dangerous drugs except on prescription that offers your greatest protection.

Your pharmacist is responsible for your safety in the drugs you use and he takes his obligation seriously. This is but one phase of your pharmacist's contribution to public health.—Reprinted from a copyrighted pamphlet published by Parke, Davis & Company, Detroit 32, Michigan.

A Report To The Citizens of MEMPHIS

HOW WE SPENT YOUR MONEY

Four years ago, the City's employees received from $50.00 to $100.00 per month. Today, salaries range up to $195.00 per month, and please bear in mind everything the city buys has greatly increased in price.

During this administration, we purchased a new two-ton Chevrolet truck with hydraulic dump bed, a tractor and power-loader for loading grain, and a line marker for painting parking stripes in the business district. We installed two blinker lights; one on North 10th Street and the other at 10th and Noel streets; built additions to the barn where equipment is stored, and, recently, a cyclone fence was built around this property.

We bought a new Austin-Western street sweeper to replace the horse-drawn one, Mr. T. T. Loard started using in 1921. Also, a two-ton Ford fire truck was purchased with all the latest in fire-fighting equipment and the old obsolete Stutz fire truck, which saw 25 years service in Memphis, was disposed of.

The past summer, part of the disposal plant was overhauled and built at a cost of several hundred dollars.

In co-operation with the federal government, parking facilities at post office were more than doubled, of which the City's part was $500,000. All of the above equipment is paid for—not a cent owing on a single piece.

In the past 30 days, the City Council has placed an order for a Garwood Load Packer which will enable garbage to be handled more economically and in a more sanitary manner.

Four years ago, the town was in darkness. The City Council worked out a proposition with the utility company, and we now have one of the best lighted towns in West Texas.

With a bond issue of $15,000, an airport was purchased from the City, in 1948, received $1,193.69 in rentals. Over 40 acres was set aside adjoining the present cemetery, new additions were opened and paved, streets gravelled and a full-time man is employed at the cemetery under city supervision.

All of the above was accomplished by the City Council working together, every man carrying his part of the load.

In conclusion, the City Councilmen join me in expressing their appreciation for the support you have given us the past four years. May Memphis continue to move forward.

Former Hall Co.
Farmer Dies Fri.
At Home In Azle

Louis Francis Mock, 74, resident farmer of the Plaska community for over 25 years, died last Friday at his home in Azle, suburb of Fort Worth.

Mr. Mock, well-known to hundreds of people in Hall County, moved back to his former home county of Tarrant some 16 years ago. He had left there about 1905 to come here. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mock, had come from Danville, Kentucky, in 1866 and settled near Fort Worth. J. L. Mock later was one of the county's commissioners.

Survivors of Mr. Louis Mock include eight sons and daughters: Randolph of Ozona, Owen and Louie Jr. of Fort Worth, Gene and J. T. Mock of Azle, Mrs. Mary Lou Glenn of Azle, Mrs. Denzil Wright of Azle and Miss Ella Margaret Mock of Fort Worth.

Services were held in the Baptist church at Azle last Saturday afternoon.

A sister-in-law, Mrs. Jean Lamb of Memphis, attended the funeral from here. Mrs. Mock, who was her sister, died about nine years ago.

Area Instructors
To Visit Memphis
Veterans Classes

Instructors and co-ordinators from adjoining counties will be brought to Memphis on next Wednesday, the 23rd, to watch demonstrations in methods of teaching in two veterans classes here.

County Co-ordinator, J. A. Ballard announced Tuesday that Fred Brownlee of Childress, regional supervisor for the T. Q. I. Division, will bring the visitors here since Dave Price's class in auto mechanics has made an outstanding record for the last two years. Mr. Price's class will be visited between 5 p. m. and 10 p. m. The group also will visit the new class in auto mechanics being taught by Carl Kulp which started this week.

"We feel that Memphis classes are really on the job," says Ballard.

Prior to that time Texas Exes in Childress, Hall, Collingsworth and Donley counties were members of a Four County Association. It is hoped that a similar association may be organized at this meeting.

Childress exes sponsoring the dinner extend a cordial invitation to all exes in the area to attend. Further details of the dinner will be in this paper next week.

Farmers Need To Lower Production
Costs To Make It

The price-cost "squeeze" is reaching out for the farmers. And there isn't much they can do about the "fixed-cost" end of it. For operators can't pop off the cash out-lay for labor, fertilizer and materials. But they can adopt improved farm practices that will lower their cost of unit production.

That's what C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist of Texas A. & M. College, says about the pinch of high production costs and sagging incomes farmers generally are feeling. A recent drop in meat animal prices has the producers wondering "What next?" about the net returns in livestock production. And nearly everywhere people are asking questions about how to meet this situation and still keep fairly good living standards. To be a profitable farmer, you've got to study the farm business carefully, says Bates, and work toward more efficient production. Whether the farm need is for new machinery, a dairy barn, a tractor or a pasture fence, the "pay-off" should be increased goods per worker. In the long run these added investments not only pay for themselves, but lower costs and increase net profits. High yields from crops help lower costs, too.

ing profits. These are obtained by planning and aiming for the best.

Most farmers can improve some phase of their operations. They need only to plan to better utilize the same resources—land, livestock and modern equipment, says Bates.

Burns rank next to falls as the leading type of farm home accident.

paving program. A little thinking on the part of the city dads and citizens may result in a paving expansion program. Of course, the City of Memphis faces the same old problem when planning improvements—lack of funds. If the people want more streets paved and sufficient interest is shown, planning and preparing for it could be started immediately.

"Somehow I had the idea that my number was 13 on your list of devout readers, so straighten me out on this," writes Mrs. Bill Tucker of Ranger. "You might tell Matilda Upstart if we even had a bathtub here on the farm, six would have to share the thing in order to save water and soap. Our cistern almost went dry during the drouth."

By the way, I haven't said anything about yard improvement for many months. Now is the time to begin planning to have better looking homes due to nicer yards and outside appearances. Mr. get out the hoe and rake, and if the Missus just won't do the work, you might try limbering up your dormant muscles by doing a little digging and raking. This is just a warning. Other reminders will follow as warmer weather advances.

Bill Phleuger of West Main Street says: It's interesting to know that when God made men, he didn't arrange any of the joints of his bones so he could pat himself on the back... A cross-eyed girl may be virtuous, but she doesn't look straight... She was the light of his life, but she went out too often.

Burkett Opposes

TSTA, argued in favor of two other bills now before the Senate, one setting up a reorganization of the Texas school system and the other providing for financing the proposed new set-up.

The reorganization bill provides for abolishment of the offices of county superintendent as such and placing county-wide supervision in the hands of one of the larger school heads in the county.

A total of 124 persons were served in the cafeteria Tuesday night when the menu consisted of fried chicken, English peas, stuffed celery, hot rolls and coffee and apple pie and whipped cream for desert.

Bates Made Chairman

Loran Denton, superintendent at Lakeview, was toastmaster. Miss Gertrude Rasco furnished the opening music. Mrs. Lucy Way presented the Memphis Junior all-boys choir, followed by a brass sextette, vocal sextette and trombone solo, the last by Jenne Way.

During the business session, R. L. Bates, head of the Estelline school, was named county chairman for next year; Sup't. C. F. Harris of Turkey, vice-chairman, and Mary Foreman, secretary-treasurer. A. W. Francis of Lakeview, Ray Newton of Memphis and C. O. Gregory of Estelline were elected to the house of delegates to the state convention. Donley county teachers postponed their business session until later.

Following Mr. Burkett's talk, a short memorial service for Miss Grace Ezell was held by the group.

and old fences and rebuild it entirely in one day, including all of the terracing needed, a rebuilt house, new fences, etc," explained Hooser.

Enough terracing machines and other equipment, including all of the tractors, will be on hand to do all of the job that day. Carpenters, paper-hangers and others will be there to make the house over completely.

Veteran To Be Selected

"We will pick a war veteran and sell him the land, lending him 90 percent of the purchase price," declared R. C. Land, secretary of the Farm Home Administration. "Can anything be fairer?"

Chairmen of the sub-committees were named at the general meeting last Friday. Frank Monzingo is chairman of the implement committee and he promised to take 25 tractors out for the day, if they are needed. Nat Bradley is chairman of the terracing committee and he said he could get a machinery firm out of Amarillo to spend $2,000 on the demonstration if it takes that much to do the job in one day. Gene Lindsey of the Cameron Lumber Company is chairman of the lumber yard committee who will see that the house is completely rebuilt. Bill Kinslow is chairman of the oil agencies committee to get all of the fuel needed in the demonstration. Lynn McKown promised the aid of the ACA committee. R. C. Land is chairman of the lending agencies committee. H. J. Howell is chairman of the food committee to get a barbecue ready for 5,000 persons. Herschel Combs and Nugent E. Brown constitute the publicity committee. U. F. Coker Jr., a teacher of a veterans agriculture class, promised he would get all of the drivers needed for the tractors. Guy Cawfield promised the aid of the soil conservation service in laying the terrace lines.

Others present at the meeting included two of the County ACA committee, Alga Turner of Turkey and Star Johnson of Brice; Ott Bevers of Lakeview, O. T. Toney of the oil mill, Tracy Davis, William Moss, Joyce Webster, and Ira Lawrence.

May Build Road, Too

Chairman Howell of the food committee had James F. Smith, Clifford Farmer, Matthew Allen and Herschel Combs from the C-C agricultural committee with him.

"I'll build a road, if necessary, to this demonstration," declared Manager Matthew Allen of the Memphis Compress. "I'll also donate a calf for the barbecue."

Guy Cawfield, Hooser, Land and others will make a trip to Tucumcari, N. M., this weekend to find out how they put on a similar demonstration over there recently that drew 5,000 cars to the big show. As soon as they return, another meeting will likely be held to let the general committee find out more about such a project.

A lot depends on when the farm deal can be consummated, and the date depends on the lending agency committee of which Land is the chairman.

rushed to her side. Then he called the doctor. But the soul winged its way Heavenward in a few minutes. Mrs. Goodpasture departed this life peacefully. It was heart failure.

Became School Teacher

Born February 4, 1875, Mrs. Goodpasture was Laura Ella Pedigo, only child of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Pedigo of Red Boiling Springs, Macon County, Tennessee. She trained for the teaching profession and attended a teacher's college near her home. She met her future husband after both began teaching. They were married June 3, 1900 and moved to Texas that fall, stopping at Saint Jo. They moved to Collingsworth County in 1904 and stayed eight years and moved to Memphis in 1912. They had resided here since that time. Mrs. Goodpasture had been a member of the Dorcas Society over 35 years and a lifetime member of the church.

Survivors include the husband, County Judge Goodpasture, three sons, Orville of Memphis, Cordell of Amarillo and Henry of Grand Prairie, and three grandchildren. Two of her children had preceded her in death. Following the services at the First Christian church at 4 p. m., burial was in Fairview Cemetery under direction of Murphy-Spicer Funeral Home. Pallbearers were: Roy Patton, Fred Berry, H. W. Spear, Roy Russell, W. B. Hooser and J. W. Coppedge.

The final goal of such a program, Estes said, after a better understanding between nations is brought about by this method, is "when people of all nations understand each other, agreements may be reached without war."

The Fans Were All From Memphis

Cyclones Win That Championship In Struggle Packed With Thrills

Memphis Cyclones won the district championship last Saturday night at Clarendon by defeating the Shamrock Irishmen 29 to 22 in one of those thrill-packed games before a jam-packed gymnasium.

The final game of the tournament was everything the doctor ordered, with the outcome dangerously uncertain until the last two minutes of play.

Some of the fans on the other hand, even went so far as to claim that the night's most thrilling game was when Clarendon nosed out McLean 37 to 36.

included: Walter Buice of Shamrock, Bob Kramer of McLean, Roger Skaags of Shamrock, Jimmy Jenkins of Clarendon, L. M. Watson of McLean, Roger Melton of Wellington and Wayne Martin of Shamrock.

Although no correct count was made, it was estimated that three-fourths of that crowded gym Saturday were people from Memphis up there to back up their favorite team. When the final whistle blew, the crowd went wild with joy and the members of the squad put on what appeared to be a miniature Indian war dance.

Men Outnumber Women At Tech

Enrollment figures for the spring semester at Texas Technological college reached 5,386 at the unofficial count.

Men students continue to outnumber the women students by 4,159 to 1,227. Of the total enrollment 2,570 are veterans. H. A. Anderson, co-ordinator of veterans affairs, said veteran attendance has dropped 200 from the fall semester.

Arts and sciences division is leading in enrollment with 1,856 followed by the engineering division's 1,578. The other divisions have enrollments of: Business administration, 816; agriculture, 719, home economics, 332, and graduate, 85.

Surgeon's Knife May Help Canyon College Football

It could be that a great deal of West Texas State College's football prospects for next fall depend on a surgeon's knife.

Big Pete Bromley, 200-pound guard from Clarendon, recently underwent a knee operation. If the operation cures an ailment which kept Bromley out of play for the most part last year, the Buffaloes' football chances will be greatly enhanced.

Sometimes a knee operation is successful and sometimes it isn't. Time alone will tell in Bromley's case. Year before last he was rated as one of the best guards in the Border Conference. During the summer vacation he hurt a knee when a team of mules ran away with him. He tried to play, but it was no go, the knee being re-hurt each time until toward the end of the season he did not even suit out.

Of course, the team's fortunes do not entirely depend on how well the surgeon's knife did its job on Bromley's knee, but if the star lineman does return to form next fall, they will be greatly improved.

That Taylor Man Still Eats Grass; Says Doing Fine

TAYLOR—Elmore R. Torn now is in the 12th month of a grass diet experiment testing the chemurgic potential and health values of chlorophyll and natural vitamins as found in cereal grasses.

Used in this novel experiment is cerophyl and viet—dehydrated cereal grass tablets—made from tender young succulent unjointed grasses known as cerogras.

These grass products are being tested as a source for natural vitamins, a form of chlorophyll, and substitute for certain foods.

Torn lived practically on grass alone for 66 days in the start of the experiment with beneficial results.

Since then he has kept the same amount of dehydrated cereal grass tablets in his diet, but has varied the amount of food intake. He will continue his present grass diet until after one year is up.

Torn believes that medical science research may be overlooking a big bet if it doesn't fully explore the health properties or certain ingredients of the grasses family.

LATE FOR HER TRIAL—Arriving in Los Angeles from New York to face trial on marijuana charges, Vicki Evans, shown here, was greeted with the news that Robin Ford, involved in the same case, had been arrested again on similar charges. Summoned to appear for trial in mid-January, Miss Evans repeated her story that "lack of funds" prevented her appearance at that time.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon in Ada, Oklahoma, for Mrs. Mary Ann McKinney, 87, who died last Saturday night in Olton at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Ellis Jennings. They had just moved two weeks ago from Estelline to Olton.

Deceased, born in Missouri, came to Texas at an early age with her parents. She married George McKinney in 1880 in Montague County and they moved to Ada, Okla., where they lived many years, her husband passing away in 1907. She later moved to Estelline to live with Mrs. Jennings.

There also were 49 grandchildren, 79 great grandchildren and four great, great grandchildren.

Murphy-Spicer Funeral Home of Memphis had charge of arrangements, carrying the body overland to Ada for the funeral which was held in the Baptist church in that city.

Mrs. L. M. Thornton returned home Friday after spending the past two months in Fort Worth with her daughter, Mrs. T. A. Paulsel and family. Mrs. Paulsel and son Lee Allen accompanied Mrs. Thornton home and visited here until Sunday. Mrs. Thornton reported that she had a most enjoyable vacation. While there she enjoyed attending the fat stock show and rodeo and also the quilt show held there the first of this month. On display were quilts of every kind and description and some that were as old as 200 years or more, Mrs. Thornton said.

Only 11 Hall Co. Farmers Sign Up For Sorghum Deal

Only 11 Hall County farmers had requested grain sorghum loans up to Tuesday, Secretary Lynn McKown reported.

"Monday, February 28, is the last day for making applications for government support price loans and signing purchase agreements for the 1948 grain sorghum loan program," McKown pointed out.

"With the local price of grain sorghum at $1.95 per cwt, all farmers should consider the loan or purchase agreement program before selling their grain.

"The only way producers can obtain the government support price for their grain sorghum is to place the grain in the government loan or sign a purchase agreement before the deadline. All those interested should contact the ACA office immediately."

National Heart Week, Feb. 14-21, Stressed By Cox

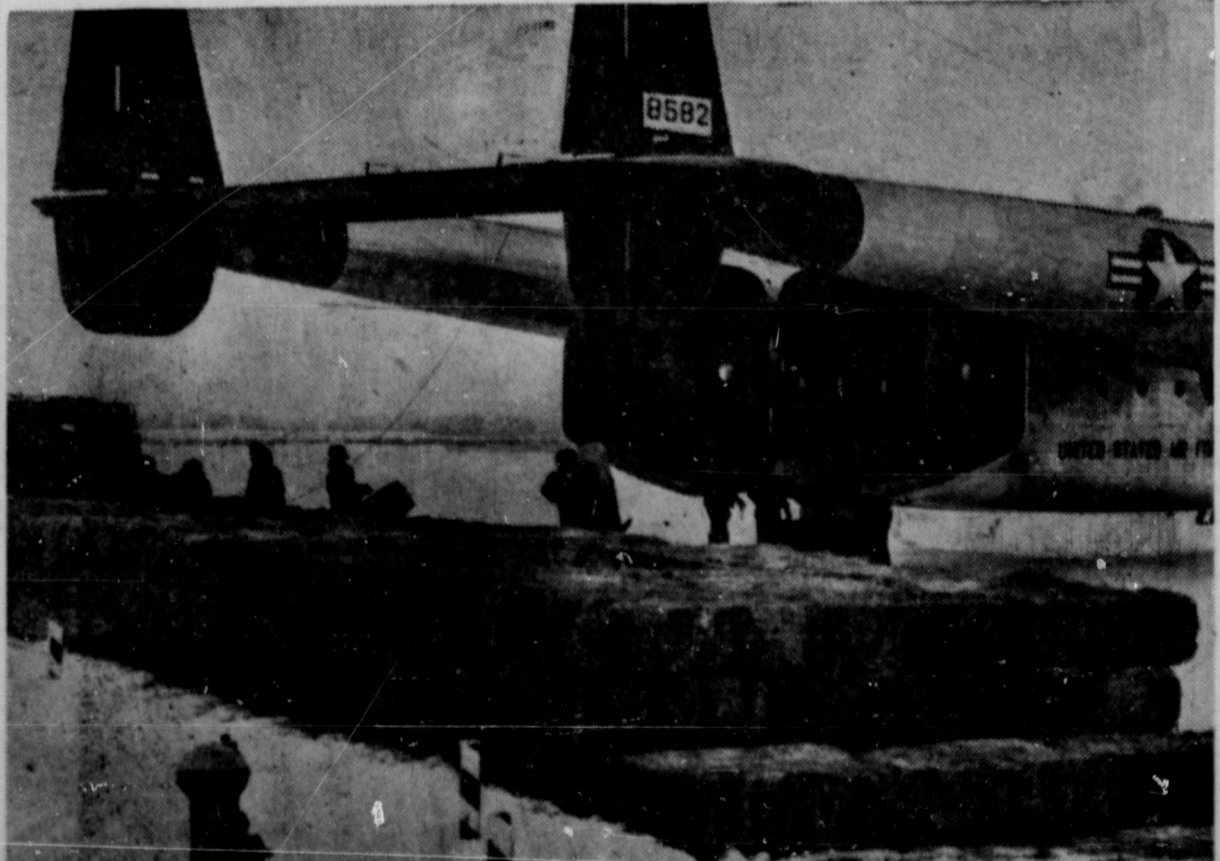

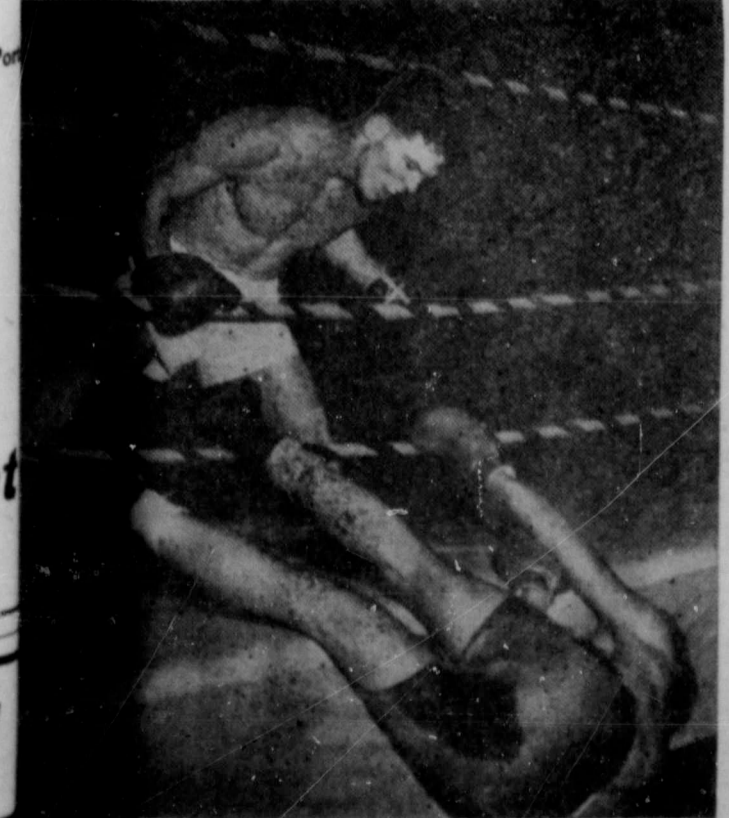

Throughout the United States the week of February 14-21, will be observed as National Heart Week, and Mr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer has announced that the State Health Department will cooperate to the fullest extent in stressing to the public the necessity for full information and intelligent action in attempting to control this nation's major killer, heart disease.

From a national level, heart disease is the leading cause of death, and yearly takes a greater total number of lives than the next five leading causes of death combined. One out of every three deaths in the United States is due to diseases of the heart and blood vessels, and it is estimated that one out of every twenty persons suffer from some form of heart or blood vessel disease.

A great amount of research in the causes and treatment of the heart diseases has established the fact that some of them can be materially helped by certain drugs, or even surgery, and it has been proved beyond doubt that the heart patient who places himself early under competent medical care, has by far the best chance of survival. In many instances the patient can, under competent care, lead an almost normal life, with only certain restrictions as to activities and indulgences which might adversely affect his condition.

"Consult your doctor for a physical check-up at least once a year," Dr. Cox advises. "If heart disease occurs, he will have an opportunity to find it, and begin proper treatment in the early stages, thus assuring you a better chance to finish a normal, comfortable life span."

Chemical treatment of seed and inoculation of legumes lowers the losses from see-borne diseases.

Kidneys Must Work Well

For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at night, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulates the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

Cotton Bowl Tickets Now On 20-Year Plan

Purchase Options
$50 Each Now
Red The Fans

Tickets for the major games in the Southwest to be more scarce than ever. This, despite greatly increased facilities for the accommodation of fans. The largest stadium in the Southwest will be more severely tested in any of the others, as early indications. This year's Cotton Bowl, which has a seating capacity of 40,000, which may be added before the opening of the stadium by a program by State Fair of Texas officials.

The State Fair of Texas is offering the 20-year Cotton Bowl registered ticket program for a flat price of $50. In plain language, this means that for the sum of $50 you may obtain a guaranteed right to purchase at one seat for any or all of the games played in the Cotton Bowl the next twenty years. The cost of this plan is $2.50 per year. The plan will not be obnoxious to games he does not wish to attend. The Year's Cotton Bowl is included on the list as the annual Texas-Oklahoma game, this year's South-West-Notre Dame extravaganza and all others that are included on this site.

There is no limit on the number of individual may be purchased on the sale of the plan. If consummated, the plan will be built on a double decking of the bowl, matching in some degree at least, last year's addition on the west side. As in the case of stadium bond purchasers a year ago, a limit of 20 seats has been placed on the number that can be drawn in one group for location purposes.

May Pool Requests
Special attention has been called by State Fair of Texas President, R. L. Thornton, to the fact that groups may pool their requests and obtain seats together. Each individual option purchaser must file separate application but, he and his friends, by making specific request, and by mailing their applications in the same envelope will be permitted grouping in one block for seat drawing purposes. All seats allotted will be in the new section to be built with funds obtained in this option sale campaign and this drawing will be held separate from that of the previously sold Cotton Bowl Bonds.

The 1949 Cotton Bowl schedule already includes eight games, including the New Year's Day Classic. The others are SMU-MISSOURI, Oct. 1, TEXAS-OKLAHOMA, Oct. 8, SMU-RICE, Oct. 15, SMU-KENTUCKY, Oct. 22, SMU-TEXAS, home-coming, Oct. 29, SMU-ARKANSAS, Nov. 12, and SMU-NOTRE DAME, Dec. 3. State Fair officials hope only to provide some relief in the football ticket problem through the proposed new enlargement of the stadium. The following facts and figures prove conclusively why it would be utterly impossible for them to satisfy all demands in an area that now is going through the nation's greatest gridiron mania.

T-O Game Sold Out Early
The Texas-Oklahoma game last year was sold out the first week in August. Had seats been available, this annual spectacle would have drawn 125,000 or more fans. Mail order requests filed in a four-day period for the New Year's Day Cotton Bowl Classic totaled 123,000. The Cotton Bowl Athletic Association had only 25,000 tickets with which to fill these orders.

Last New Year's Southern Methodist's own demands by priority groups exclusive of the Mustang Club totaled 30,000 with a limit of two tickets imposed upon each individual. The school then had only 6,000 active alumni and the figure had increased 250 per cent over the preceding year. With 45,000 SMU Exes scattered over the country and most of them in this area, there is every indication that the active list will be trebled in 1949.

Ticket requests with checks to cover costs already have been received to the number of 3,000 at Southern Methodist University, reports the business manager of athletics, Lester Jordan.

No Sale Before Aug. 1
All have been returned with notice that there will be no public sale before Aug. 1. The requests came from half of the 48 states. Contact with Notre Dame reveals that demands for tickets to the Dec. 3 game, in which the Irish make their first Dallas appearance in history, already are giving athletic officials there headaches. What Notre Dame's seat demands will be is not yet known, but it can be assumed that they will be enormous.

If you want to be assured of a seat to one or more of these games, this proposed option plan provides the best opportunity. Applications or requests for further information should be mailed to State Fair of Texas, P. O. Box 7755, Fair Park Station, Dallas 10, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Greene and daughter, Ginger, left Sunday morning for Lexington, Mo., where they will visit with her relatives. They were accompanied by Mrs. L. B. Merrell who went as far as Kansas City where she will visit her daughter, Mrs. Lee Triggs, and Mr. Triggs. They expect to be gone about two weeks.

New Football Rule Keeps Punter On Job At All Times

The new football rules will force coaches to keep a punter in the game at all times next fall, and Coach Frank Kimbrough, West Texas State College, plans some shifts in his line-up to meet this requirement.

Although he has not yet set spring training dates, Kimbrough already has completed plans for it. Bill (Canadian Comet) Cross, 145-pound scat back sensation of the Border Conference, will be shifted to the fullback position so that he can carry the ball more often, run to either side, and, if the occasion demands, do some punting.

Deane Wright, reserve end from Spur, will be moved to tackle. This move, plus the material coming up from last fall's fine freshmen team, will give Coach Kimbrough more reserve strength at end, tackle and guard, the lack of which was a glaring weakness last year.

AN HISTORICAL EPISODE OF LIFE IN THE GREAT SOUTHWEST

INDIAN WAYS AND TIMES

BY EVETTS HALEY
ILLUSTRATED BY H. D. BUGBEE

AS A PROUD REGION reaches a measure of maturity it is inclined to hark back to the lessons of its beginning, much as reflection and reminiscence follow action with a man of age. It is easy now to recall that white settlers once rushed to cross over and forget these southwestern plains, mesas and breaks—this section that even those tough travelers found so austere, so severe, so unforgiving.

But as the trails of these first white men—Santa Fe traders, gold seekers, army explorers and others—cut their significant ruts through the clean sod, a race of rugged red men went their free and independent ways along dim trails, the beginnings of which were even then lost with age.

Scientists still potter around in ancient ruins and ponder the origins of the Indians, artists continue to portray their life and customs in lasting oils, and historians dig into the written records to depict in print their durable nature. In the light of all the records, those of the Great Plains and the bordering mountain ranges were a notable breed.

There were the wily Apaches and the more stable Utes on the western fringes, the mighty Comanches and the Kiowas on and around the Staked Plains, and the fighting Cheyennes and a host of others farther north. In a way, and by modern standards, they lived upon a squalid level of subsistence. Fortunately for those who cherish the heroic qualities of the human race, however, their glory was not dependent on their plumbing, but on their rugged character and their dauntless courage.

Still this is not to gloss over the violence of their period or the savagery of their deeds. For nearly a hundred years on the Southwestern frontiers, it was never gentle but it was war to the knife. For those wars then, as are wars now, were for survival. The pattern of the story in this section is generally known. Marble shafts mark the spots where bitter memories record the deeds: Carson's fight on the Canadian; Mackenzie's battle in the Palo Duro; Chivington's massacre on the Big Sandy; Custer's on the Washita; embattled buffalo hunters fighting for their lives at Adobe Walls; and many others just as important and sometimes more commendable.

Yet on through the sixties and seventies these mighty warriors held the southwestern peaks and plains within the memory of our oldest men—until the regions round about were fairly civilized and settled. Only when the combined forces of the Texas Rangers and the regular army from outposts in Kansas, present Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico—with a riotous sprinkling of outraged settlers—moved against them, was their resistance definitely broken. And then their tactics and their strategy—models of mobility and movement—were apparently forgotten until the late world war.

And while a mechanical age makes a mockery of distance, there is still something wildly challenging to the imagination in the magnificent sweep of the Comanches, from their buffalo ranges on the upper reaches of the Arkansas across half a continent, to depredate upon the cattle ranches of central Mexico. There was the stubborn mettle of determined men in the long resistance of the bloody Apaches in their mountain strongholds. There was pathos and tragedy, as well as bold maneuver and military genius, in the last flight of the Cheyennes from the hated reservations in Indian Territory, back to their ancestral home on the northern ranges. And finally, when all were subdued and beaten, if never conquered, they simply submitted with the grave stoicism and the high and haughty dignity of worthy warriors and real men.

In retrospect, it should be conducive to civilized tolerance to realize that there is no monopoly upon virtue in the rugged realms of the human heart.

FARMING is our BUSINESS too!

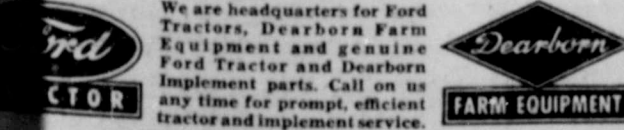

It's our job to help make farm work easier and better paying. That means doing a lot more than just selling tractors and implements; it means that we must make farming our business, too.

That's why we like to spend as much of our time as we can out visiting our farmer friends. That's how we learn why and how one farm is different from another... and see how the many different problems can be licked.

If we haven't been around to see you lately, we're hoping to do it soon. We'd like to get better acquainted... both with you and your farm. The better we know you, the better we'll be able to serve you.

Meanwhile, next time you're in town, drop in and see us. Lots of folks do. You'll be welcome.

We are headquarters for Ford Tractors, Dearborn Farm Equipment and genuine Ford Tractor and Dearborn Implement parts. Call on us any time for prompt, efficient tractor and implement service.

VETERANS' QUESTION BOX

Q—I am a World War II veteran? Is my wife eligible for treatment at a VA hospital?

A—Not unless your wife is an ex-service woman. Dependents of veterans are not entitled to hospitalization under the VA.

Q—I want to give the beneficiary of my NSLI the right of choosing, in the event of my death, either a lump sum settlement or any of the available monthly payment plans. If I designate no option, will she have this right?

A—No. Payment in a lump sum may be designated only by the insured. However, if you provide for lump sum payment, she may have her choice of available plans.

Q—The automobile furnished me by VA was totally wrecked in an unavoidable accident. Will VA give me another one?

A—There is no provision under the law to provide more than one automobile to an eligible veteran.

Q—Must a disabled veteran go to a vocational school or may he go to a liberal arts college, a high school, or similar institution under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act?

A—He may enroll in any VA-approved educational institution or training establishment offering the course of training which Veterans Administration has found that he needs to insure his proper rehabilitation in line with his own desires.

Q—My husband, a World War II veteran, holds a bad conduct discharge. Is he entitled to benefits under the GI Bill?

A—Since your husband holds neither an honorable nor a dishonorable discharge from the armed services, it will be necessary for him to ask his nearest VA office for a decision as to whether he was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable. He also may apply to the Army or Navy for revision of discharge.

Q—Is my aunt, the daughter of a Civil War veteran, eligible for pension? She and her mother were dependent on the veteran at the time of his death. The widow received a pension until her death, leaving her daughter, aged 75.

A—Unless your aunt was permanently helpless by reason of physical or mental disability prior to having reached the age of 16, she could not now qualify for pension based on her father's service.

Q—Is there any time limit to the duration of a business loan?

A—Yes. A non-real estate loan must be repaid in 10 years or less; real estate loans may run up to 25 years.

Q—Am I eligible for a GI loan to buy a share in a going business in another city?

A—You are eligible if you devote your personal labor or supervise the business either on a full-time or part-time basis.

Oren Stewart Goes To Vets Hospital After Car Accident

Oren H. Stewart of Memphis is in the Veterans Hospital at Amarillo Tuesday for observation of possible internal injuries following an accident in the 3300 block of Northeast Eighth street early Monday morning.

Bills Introduced For Prairie Fork Dam Site Gauges

Information from Austin this week revealed that Legislator A. J. Rogers has a bill in the hopper to get an appropriation to cover cost of water and siltation gauges for the site of the proposed dam across the Prairie Dog Fork.

Rogers' bill is number 78 on the House calendar. At the same time, Senator Grady Hazelwood of Amarillo has a similar bill in the Senate hopper, numbered 144, for the same purpose. Governor Jester, so far, has failed to make either bill an emergency measure so they will have to run their course. This means that all kinds of amendments can or may be tacked on to them by the time either one reaches the floor for consideration, a procedure that delays and often kills a bill.

Rogers writes home that he has talked with the governor and left a lot of data, photographs and a map of the site with the chief executive.

The governor recently indicated to a delegation from here, including J. Claude Wells, Ott Beyers, Dr. Roy Barr of Childress and others, that he would push the matter. So far, he has not done so, according to latest information.

The appropriation for the gauges must be forthcoming before sufficient data can be assembled for presentation to the Reclamation Bureau in Washington which, in the final analysis, will undertake the construction of the proposed dam.

The site is a few hundred yards above the wooden bridge on Highways 70 and 256.

Walker Air Base Picks Slickchick From Sweethearts

WALKER AIR FORCE BASE, ROSWELL, NEW MEXICO.—A honey-haired Miami Miss won the title of "Walker Valentine of '49" in the Walker Air Force Base widely-heralded "Operation Slickchick." She is Miss Esther Jean "Bunnie" Sym of 653 North West Eleventh Street, Miami, Florida. She is the girl friend of Sgt. James N. Wellman of Air Refueling Squadron at WAFB.

Miss Sym is a 22 year old senior at the University of Miami, Coral Gables, Florida. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Sym of the above address.

Miss Sym was chosen from countless entries submitted by the men of Walker Air Force Base. The contest was designed to find the most attractive wife, sister or sweetheart of the men stationed at the base.

Among other honors bestowed on this charming young lady there will be many gifts presented to her by Roswell and Miami merchants. She will be the guest of the Base and Commanding Officer, Col. C. S. Irvine, and she will be escorted about by her very lucky boy friend Sgt. Wellman. A tea will be given in her honor by the Non-Commissioned Officers Wives Auxiliary, and she will be the official hostess of a retreat formation given by the men of the base. Throughout her visit she will be attended by an impeccable Honor Guard from the 509th Air Force Squadron.

It's Results That Count

If there is any doubt in any person's mind that athletics play a big part in the life of a high school, he or she should have been at Clarendon last Saturday night to witness that title game which Memphis won from Shamrock after a thrilling battle up and down the court by the players.

Just to sit on the sidelines and watch those boys work feverishly and excitedly in an air of "anything can happen" will work anyone's blood pressure. As Roy Guthrie said, after the second quarter was over, it was "hard work" just keeping up with the fast play, back and forth.

The Memphis Booster club definitely has a place in the life of the high school athletic program. When you stop to consider that one or two of the players would probably be missing had it not been for the encouragement and support the Boosters gave them to stay on in school, you will help the club in every possible way.

The Cyclone basketball club has won another district championship. Coach L. E. McColloch had a tremendous lot to do with it. The boys had a lot to do with it, everyone will grant.

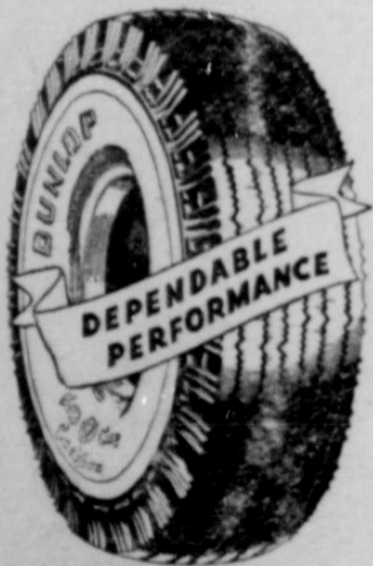

Back of the coach and team, however, stands the Booster club, ever ready to help at the right time and place.

It's the results that count.

Press Paragraphs— QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Russia Has No Intention of Waging War On The U.S.A.

We heard a nationally known writer speak the other night. He was bold in declaring that Russia would not fight America—provided we were sufficiently strong to scare Russia off. Russia is a nation of bluffers.

His main theme was that America should be prepared for war by having a strong air force. He made fun of the idea of a big navy, which could not get near to Russia; and he deplored a big, showy army which could not be used 5,000 miles away from home. The big B-36's are able to fly 5,000 miles to a target and return to their home base. With ample bases in Europe and Asia, our bombers could drop bombs on any Russian target.

While deploring the use of atomic bombs, the speaker was glad that we had the bombs, instead of Russia, and urged that we should improve both bombs and planes in order to have the best.

The Newsman feels a little puffed up by this declaration. We advocated the very same thing when it was evident that Russia had no intention of playing ball with us. We advocated then that we build 1,000 bombers, load them with atomic bombs and then tell Stalin to either behave or have Russia blasted off the face of the earth.

Russia has profited by chaos and misery, while we have undertaken the job of feeding and arming those nations which are in distress throughout the world.

America is going to pay for the tragic mistakes that we made following the war, when he traded off property which did not belong to us, and attempted to convert Germany and Japan into agricultural nations when they have always been industrial nations. Perhaps by the time World War III is fought America will learn a few things about handling our enemies.—Canyon News.

WHILE PASTURES AND FIELDS ARE SOAKED TO A GREATER EXTENT THAN THEY HAVE BEEN IN YEARS, the county roads have been cut into the most deplorable condition and most traffic has been stopped. Friday, the lateral roads were water-soaked and cut with deep ruts, but on Saturday and Sunday the mud had reached a gummy state and, in many instances, 20 feet was too far to manipulate to get to the pavement. Cattlemen traversed the roads early while the ground was in a frozen condition to reach their feed lots and to take care of their stock. All roads were impassable in the afternoons of last week. Pastures were wet down to the point where the ground had not thawed. The tops of hills were as wet and mushy as the flats. Cultivated fields are as wet as they have been in many years and much water escaped where terracing had not been practiced. Stock farmers and cattle men say that winter grasses will come soon and that the feed problem is over for the year.—Quanah Chief-Tribune.

"THE PRESENT ADMINISTRATION HAS STEPPED INTO AN ECONOMIC BOOBY TRAP," Dr. Arthur A. Smith, professor of economics at S. M. U., told the 350 who attended the annual banquet of the Childres C-C last Thursday night. "Even now, people are anticipating a change, a lowering of prices. The break has come in wheat, cotton and textiles, which bodes no good for the future." Dr. Smith pointed out the dangers of continued deficit spending by the federal government, stating that such a policy could lead nowhere except to bankruptcy. The government should follow a policy of spending in depression times and taxing highly in times of prosperity. "The Democrats may find themselves in a paradoxical squeeze if and when a depression comes," he added. "In order to forestall a depression, they will have to spend heavily. This will call for higher taxes when the taxpayers can afford it least. I see no balanced budget in the future. The Republicans may yet find their defeat in the November election a blessing in disguise.—Childres Daily Index.

Shamrock Oil Uses Author And Artist For Historical Ads

In this edition of The Memphis Democrat is the first of a new series of Shamrock Oil and Gas Corporation advertisements which depict historical episodes of life in the Southwest.

The current advertisement features a story titled "Indian Ways and Times" by Evetts Haley, and a graphic illustration of the era by H. D. Bugbee. The same author and illustrator will collaborate on the entire series which includes sketches of Buffalo hunters, Mustangs, railroads and other subjects.

The unique use of Southwestern historical themes in its advertising was started by Shamrock several years ago. Among the best remembered sketches presented in the past were those on "Brands" and "Old Southwestern Trails."

Rev. Hoggatt Reports California Has Bad Weather On His Trip

Rev. I. T. Hoggatt of Lakeview, pastor of the Nazarene church in Memphis, returned last week from a three-weeks trip to California.

"But it wasn't sunny California as they had rain and snow there while I was out there," he said Saturday after his return home. "It was my first trip. I went out to see a brother, N. A. Hoggatt who was ill at his home in Sacramento. But I also visited a sister, Mrs. Lillie Bullard, who lives in Early Mart. I saw one of my sons, Dennis, who lives at Arvin. I visited friends in Santa Marie and my wife's people in Wilmington. All of these towns are in California. I stopped over to see a brother-in-law in Phoenix, Arizona, on the way home."

Mr. Hoggatt says he went out via Denver and across Wyoming and that his train was 12 hours late getting into Sacramento because of the snowfall in the mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smith and son and Mrs. Munson CoeVee visited Thursday in the home of the Misses Black.

This Week in WASHINGTON

THE REPORT of the commission headed by former president Herbert Hoover on reorganization of the executive branch of the federal government likely will be filed piecemeal with the congress between now and March 13 when the commission will officially die. "Several billion" dollars would be saved if report of the commission is carried out, and more effective and efficient government would result, according to the report. President Truman is in full accord with the report of the commission.

In the meantime, of tremendous importance as the congress got down to the committee stage in legislation was a report made by Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug before the senate committee on interior and insular affairs headed by Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming.

Secretary Krug's report was revealing in its scope both in the work being done with our natural resources and what is not being done but should be done to conserve the raw materials and energy required by the nation to produce the staggering amounts of goods and services necessary for our standard of living.

For instance, we consumed two billion barrels of oil, six hundred million tons of coal, 96 million tons of iron and steel and 300 billion kilowatt-hours of electric power last year. But what happened in addition to this tremendous output? For every two tons of coal mined, one was left in the ground and lost; more energy was wasted through flaring of natural gas in the fields than is produced by the entire series of TVA dams; weight of the average automobile increased in the face of declining iron ore and oil reserves; public range land was over-grazed at the cost of less meat and wool tomorrow; we waste more undeveloped electric power than we produce, and burn in the air a fifth of the natural gas we produce.

What we need do is look for more mineral ores in the 90 percent of our area which is not even geologically mapped; we need to add 17 million acres to farm land by irrigation and increase yields on 9 million more acres by supplemental water which can best be done by basin-wise development in the Columbia, Missouri, Colorado and other river valleys. Half the public range in the west needs more grass and other vegetation; 220,- 000,000 acres need to be we are using up and need 80 million kilowatts of power by 1975. million kw should be electrically provided by government; we must from shale and coal maintain the principle family-sized farm.

Said Secretary Krug and traditional principles sure the use, development and conservation of our natural resources for the benefit of the people were seriously attacked 80th congress by those like to be able to exploit sources for private gain, came dangerously close particularly insofar as it at the public power program concept of the family-

Testimony before the senate committees on public welfare in hearings on the minimum wages and hours act, is a More testimony insofar as cities and towns are coming the raise from 40 to 75 percent minimum will cause a since that wage is already Not so, however, in many areas, mostly in rural areas, mostly in Some testimony was that average wage of in many sections of the about 50 cents an hour boost to 75 cents will put businesses out of business.

Probably never so close without question never or with such polish and a question been handled department as Secretary Dean Acheson handled Stalin press peace propaganda with such there could be no question's mind, least of all about where this country regard to Russia and Russia's promises. President's bombarded with questions press conference following Acheson statement. The wisely refrained from more other than to say he had covered the question and had said all there on the subject.

Treat Garden Seed To Insure Better Growth Right Soon

Bigger than the neighbor's. That's the ambition of every home gardener. Everybody who grows vegetables for the family table wants to be able to boast the biggest—in size and yield—in the neighborhood.

In order to do this, J. F. Rosborough, extension horticulturist of Texas A. & M. College, suggests getting a big start with even the smallest seed. This calls for seed treatment and inoculation. From the standpoint of the home gardener, the easiest way to treat the seed is to get a packet of seed disinfectant from the local seed store. Then tear the top of the seed packet off, and sprinkle a small amount of the disinfectant dust inside. Then all you have to do is shake the packet well. Make sure the shaking is thorough enough to cover every seed in the packet.

It's best to plant the treated seed right away. Seed treatment not only destroys certain seed-borne diseases, but helps along the process of germination. There are certain fungus molds that often damage seed at the time of germination, and seed treatment gives a higher percentage of vigorous plants at the soil surface.

Inoculation of legume seed stimulates early growth because of certain bacteria in the soil. So, when you plant English peas in the next few weeks, Rosborough suggests trying this inoculation process to get an early start. Later in the season you might also inoculate your early plantings of beans, as well as the black-eyed peas or purple hulls and cream peas.

The inoculation and seed treatment supplies are available at the local seed store.

There are a couple of ways to get ahead of your neighbors in growing bigger and tastier vegetables. If you start now, you'll have a good chance to get the jump on them.

meeting of the board of directors as there were some 30 or more members on hand in addition to the board members. If future meetings of the C-C board are attended by as many members as this one, the commercial organization will really go to town this year. The biggest problem facing any chamber of commerce is to get interest in the program such as was shown by that group of the community leaders. The other meeting was the one at the county agent's office where some 30 business leaders and farmers met to discuss the proposed demonstration to be put on by this community at an early date. Every man present showed 100 percent co-operation with the project after it had been explained. This sort of team work most certainly makes for better living in any community. Memphis business men are to be commended highly for their attitude and co-operation in these matters.

Such a contest surely ought to arouse a lot of interest around town. Courtesy is as courtesy does. It is something that is appreciated by any customer who walks into a store.

PAUL REVERE'S COMMISSION AS OFFICIAL MESSENGER

- This document now on exhibition in our bank lobby, is a photographic enlargement of Paul Revere's certification as an official messenger of the Committee of Safety. The commission was issued by Gen. Joseph Warren, an intense patriot, who sent Revere to Lexington to alert John Hancock and Samuel Adams to the fact that the British troops were on the march to seize them and to destroy the military stores at Concord.
- This is the seventh of a series of reproductions from the originals of important historical documents being brought to this community as part of the Public Service program of this bank. You are invited to come in and see it, as well as those which will be displayed later.
