

Feed Experiment Shows Comparison Of Cottonseed and Cottonseed Meal

Which is better—cottonseed or cottonseed meal—as a supplement in the ration of fattening calves? That question has been harrassing cattle raisers for some time. The Extension Service of Texas A. & M. College made a comparison several years ago between the two types of feeds as supplements to ground milo heads and chopped summac fodder in the rations of yearling steers, according to data of W. B. Hooser, county agent.

One group was fed an average daily ration consisting of 12.74 pounds ground milo heads, 2.37 pounds cottonseed meal, and all the sumac roughage they could consume; while another group was fed 12.48 pounds ground milo heads, 4.08 pounds cottonseed, and all the sorghum roughage they could consume. In other words, slightly less than twice as many pounds of cottonseed than cottonseed meal was fed to one of the two groups.

The results of the experiment shows that the meal-fed steers gained 351 pounds per head and sold at $5.85 per hundred pounds; while the other group showed an average gain of 382 pounds per head, and sold at $6.00. (Ed's Note: These were market prices back when the experiments were made.)

These two groups, the report said, apparently carried about the same degree of finish; however, the slaughter data revealed that the group which was fed cottonseed meal carried 24.5 pounds of caul and ruffe fat per head, as compared with 23.1 pounds of similar fat by the lot which was fed plain cottonseed. The meal-fed group showed a dressed yield of 61 per cent as compared with 62.7 per cent for the other group.

Thus, in the comparison of 4.08 pounds of cottonseed and 2.37 pounds of cottonseed meal consumed per head daily by the two groups of cattle, as supplements to ground milo heads and sumac fodder, the seed were slightly superior to the meal, according to the experiment results. It indicates that seed can be safely fed in

ROME USO OFFERS AMERICAN HOSPITALITY TO GI'S

ROME, Italy—A favorite American "home away from home" for visiting U. S. GI's in the Eternal City, is the popular USO Club located near Vatican City. Thousands of American soldiers, sailors and airmen on leave here gravitate to the Rome USO, where they enjoy the familiar USO recreational and welfare services available back in the U. S. To hundreds of servicemen of all faiths, most prized USO aid is its arrangement for group audiences with the Pope.

Leaves Should Be Used, Not Burned

Every fall tons of leaves go up in smoke instead of being saved for use later in the vegetable garden, flower beds or for mulches on the trees and shrubs. Burning is an easy but wasteful way to tidy up the home premises of fallen leaves but it is not the best, says Sadie Hatfield, extension specialist in landscape gardening of Texas A. & M. College. She says it takes little trouble or space to make a compact pile and when the leaves decay into humus or leaf mold, you not only have organic matter that has fertilizing value but, more important, it adds to the water holding capacity of the soil and makes it easier to work.

Making a compact pile may seem complicated to the amateur but it can be simple. A stack of leaves held down by boards or a layer of soil will decay in two or three years but this can be hastened by turning the pile over occasionally with the spading fork and keeping it moist. She says leaves and similar grass and garden trash will decay even faster if the pile is made of alternate layers of leaves and rich soil. It is a good idea to mix in some nitrogen fertilizer or manure if it is available, she adds. Wood ashes from the fireplace may be mixed with the leaves. Use about a pound of ashes for every 20 to 25 pounds of leaves.

She says that leaves make a good fall mulch for the bulb beds and for trees and shrubs. Apply the leaves before the ground is frozen as a protection against heavy freezing and against starting of growth during warm spells in winter.

small amounts over an extensive period of time with satisfactory results.

On account of the possibility of cattle going off feed as a result of getting too much oil, it is recommended by experiment officials that those of similar age and weight as reported in this test be fed not more than four pounds of cottonseed daily, this report says.

Shivers Proclaims Better Health Week

Governor Allan Shivers, by official proclamation, has designated the week between December 4—11 as Better Health For Texans Week, emphasizing venereal diseases.

The purpose of the week-long drive, according to State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox, is to "acquaint all segments of the population with true facts concerning this most serious group of illnesses, thus providing a weapon of knowledge which all persons can use in their own protection."

Cox indicated that the health department informational campaign would be a year to year project from now on, with a different phase of public health being the subject each year.

Highlights of this year's drive will be a state-wide radio address by Governor Shivers, and a short motion picture trailer featuring the Governor and the State Health Officer. Informational packets have been prepared for distribution throughout the State by city and county health units.

The official proclamation reads: "One of the most important factors that will influence the future of Texas is a healthy citizenship. Public health has many phases, all contributing to the welfare of mankind.

"One of these is the campaign to eliminate the venereal diseases. Methods of diagnosis and treatment are at hand to prevent the unnecessary suffering caused by these diseases. All that remains now is to induce our citizenship to take advantage of the present knowledge.

"In recognition of these facts and the vital importance of health in our everyday lives, I, as Governor of the State of Texas, designate the week of December 4—11 as Better Health For Texans Week."

Principle appeal of the campaign is directed to leaders of individual communities. Dr. Cox believes that the "final solution to the venereal disease problem will be forthcoming only when it is tackled on a community basis."

Clarendon Church Scene For Wedding Of Miss Molesworth and William Craft

Wearing her grandmother's wedding gown, fashioned of embroidered ivory Brussa silk, Dorothy Patricia Molesworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Molesworth, became the bride of William Eugene Craft, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dewey Craft of Brice, on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 26.

The bride's gown, which was fashioned of material brought by her great-grandmother, the late Commander George Keith Gordon of the Royal British Navy, in 1878 from Asia Minor, to his wife, was made up for their daughter, Mrs. A. L. Mudge, for her wedding in 1896 and worn by Mrs. John Molesworth, at her wedding. Her veil, which cascaded from a melon-shaped cap trimmed with clusters of orange blossoms, was of handmade Spanish linen lace, which has been in the family since 1878 and was worn by her mother at her wedding.

She carried a shower bouquet of Johanna Hill roses. For something old, she wore the heirloom wedding gown, something new was her cap and something borrowed, an antique brooch, which is a portrait of a great, great, great aunt. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Introducing the ceremony, Mrs. Rayburn Smith, organist, played "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," "O Perfect Love" and "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden." The traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional.

Arrangements of smilax, white chrysanthemums and white candles featured the decorative setting at the altar. The chancel and pews on the bridal aisle were marked with white chrysanthemums and stock.

of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Fred Molesworth, brother of the bride, Tom Rogers of Memphis and Jack Moreman of Hedley. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Molesworth chose a royal blue crepe dinner gown with gray accessories. Mrs. Craft, mother of the groom, wore a plum crepe gown with winter pink accessories.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party was honored at a reception in the home of the bride's aunt, Miss Charlotta Molesworth. Bouquets of white chrysanthemums and Johanna Hill roses decorated the rooms and centered the serving table. The wedding cake was a replica of the one served at the bride's grandmother's wedding. Intimate friends of the bride comprised the house party.

After a trip to East Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Craft will be at home Dec. 15 on their ranch at Tahoka. For traveling, the bride chose a tweed suit with dark green champagne accessories. Her corsage was of white roses.

Mrs. Craft, granddaughter of Mrs. Arthur L. Mudge and the late Arthur L. Mudge of Junction, and the late Mr. and Mrs. John Molesworth, was graduated from Saint Mary's Hall, San Antonio, and attended the University of Colorado, Boulder.

Mr. Craft was graduated from Lakeview High School and attended Texas Christian University, Fort Worth.

Clarendon, Texas
November 28, 1948

Dear Editor:
I attended the Texas Farm Bureau Convention in Dallas, Texas on November 21, 22 & 23. I was very much impressed with the attendance, the order in which the meeting was carried on, and their ability to get the meeting started off on time. Above all, their accomplishments.

Dr. Kenneth McFarland, superintendent of Public Schools of Topeka, Kansas, one of the nation's most sought speakers, a man with plenty of what we call "horse sense," was one of our principal speakers. It was his purpose to impress upon us that the salvation of our country lies within the organization of its farmers.

Our United States Senator, The Hon. Lendon Johnson, was also one of the speakers. He impressed upon my mind that the greater our membership becomes, the more weight it would carry in Washington.

One of the things the Farm Bureau has already done, was to ask the government to buy cottonseed outright from the farmer. This was put in effect and the price jumped from $38.00 to $46.50 per ton.

One of the resolutions adopted at the Texas Farm Bureau Convention was: "Inasmuch as an emergency now exists for storage space for baled cotton, and the government in the past has made support price loans on wheat and cottonseed stored on the ground; and inasmuch as both are more perishable than baled cotton, we urgently request that farmers be extended this same privilege for baled cotton stored suitably in the open on his farmstead."

I came home with the inspiration to urge everyone to "Read about it, Think about it, Talk about it, and above all, Join the Farm Bureau."

Sincerely,
Lee Shaller,
Vice-President, Donley County Farm Bureau.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Landers of Dumas were guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Gerlach, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Drake had as Thanksgiving guests Mr. and Mrs. Tom Draper and children Charles, Phoebe and Nancy of Amarillo. Mrs. Draper and children stayed until Sunday.

Postal Receipts

Postal receipts in Texas stepped up 6 per cent from September to October, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported.

Receipts for 62 Texas cities amounted to $3,887,480 in October, gaining 12 per cent from October a year ago.

Corsicana registered the highest gain in postal receipts from September to October—50 per cent. Other large monthly increases were recorded in Jacksonville, 44 per cent; Bryan, 32 per cent; New Braunfels and Coleman, 31 per cent; Del Rio, 30 per cent; and Brownsville, 27 per cent.

September to October declines were registered in only four Texas cities: Gladewater, 15 per cent; Denton and Austin, 11 per cent; and Edinburg, 6 per cent.

In comparison with October 1948, outstanding gains were turned in by Snyder, 89 per cent; Bryan, 36 per cent; New Braunfels, 37 per cent; Jacksonville, 30 per cent; Lamesa, 26 per cent; Tyler, 23 per cent; and Mildonr, 19 per cent.

During the 12-month period, declines varied from 1 per cent in Childress, Harlingen, Lockhart, and Longview to 16 per cent in Gladewater.

October postal receipts amounted to $1,027,727 in Dallas; $623,895 in Houston; $422,307 in Fort Worth; $150,236 in Austin; and $134,818 in El Paso.

International Trucks Make Appearance

Completely re-designed and re-engineered International trucks from International Harvester's new L-line were introduced Wednesday at the showrooms of McDaniel Implement Co.

The new International truck line consists of 87 basic truck chassis models designed to handle any type of hauling job, Ira and J. J. McDaniel, dealers, said.

The heavy-duty engineered L-line presented a completely new design in motor trucks, at once apparent from the massive front end to the smartly styled cab. They pointed out that many new mechanical and engineering improvements, designed to promote operating efficiency and economy, were features of the new line.

Outstanding advances in design and engineering include:

1. New chassis dimension engineering permitting better load distribution, greater maneuverability, improved engine accessibility and short overall lengths while maintaining or increasing load-carrying lengths.

2. New, improved valve-in-head International truck series engines, including an all-new Silver Diamond engine.

3. A newly designed cab offering roominess, added comfort and convenience and all-around visibility, factors in safer operation.

4. Complete restyling that blends a new modern truck streamlining with extreme practicality.

The new trucks, introduced after years of exhaustive testing and research, required the greatest expenditure of any new models in International history. Thousands of new machines, tools, dies, patterns, gauges and fixtures were acquired, and many new buildings were added along with extensions to existing facilities.

The new L-line is spearheaded by four classifications of four-wheel model trucks, ranging in gross vehicle weight from 4200 pounds to 30,000 pounds. The new International line further features new multi-stop units, product of the company's Bridgeport, Conn., plant; a new group of six-wheel chassis units ranging in GVW from 22,000 to 50,000 pounds, and a new group of cab-forward chassis units, ranging upward from 14,000 pounds.

Scores of body sizes and styles are offered in the new line.

Dimensions of the chassis of the new L-line have been engineered to provide better load distribution, greater maneuverability, shorter overall lengths and improved engine accessibility. Biggest change in chassis dimensions is in the wheelbases, which have been shortened as much as seven inches in some models.

The shorter wheelbases, together with re-proportioned cab-to-rear axle dimensions and front-axle-to-cab dimensions, have resulted in a shifting of load weight, so that it is in balance between front and rear axles.

The new Silver Diamond engine used in the company's light and medium duty trucks is a valve-in-head, six-cylinder power plant built in two sizes—the 220 cubic inch displacement size developing 100 horsepower, and the 240 cubic inch power plant which develops 108 horsepower. Improved engines are the Super Blue Diamond and the Super Red Diamond, both incorporating numerous engineering refinements. The Super Blue Diamond has a displacement of 260 cubic inches and a horsepower rating of 100.5. Compression ratio is 6.3 to 1. The Super Red Diamond is available in three sizes. The 372 cubic inch displacement size develops 144 horsepower; the

LETTERS FROM READERS

(Ed's Note: The Democrat will consider letters from readers who wish to express their opinions on subjects of general interest. All letters must be signed, and names cannot be withheld.)

Dear Editor:

Not a drop of precious, life-giving water that falls on West Texas should ever be permitted to reach the Gulf of Mexico. Our entire annual rainfall is no more than one-fourth of what West Texas needs to survive and develop industrially, commercially and agriculturally.

That is the opinion of West Texans who have given the vital water problem serious consideration and study.

The water conservation program, sponsored by West Texas Chamber of Commerce, is practical, complete and comprehensive. Many lakes, large and small, are planned. A water reservoir wherever one can be built, urges the 406 cubic inch displacement size, 154 horsepower, and the 450 cubic inch displacement size, 162 horsepower. Super Red Diamond compression ratio is 6.3 to 1.

West Texas organization, which is leading in this movement.

Farmers are urged to terrace their land, and build lakes and ponds, to hold and control all rainfall. The thirsty soil needs every drop of water that falls on it.

Lakes and reservoirs must be built on all rivers and streams to supply water for the towns and cities, or West Texas faces disaster. These will require extensive planning and financing, and time, but small lakes and ponds on farms can be built quickly and cheaply, and with Government aid.

Already Texas farmers have 200,000 private lakes and ponds supplying a large food item in fresh fish. An acre of lake, fertilized and cared for, will produce 300 pounds of fish per year, besides conserving water on the land. An acre of Texas pasture produces 150 pounds of beef.

Any farmer can secure complete information about private lakes and soil conservation from his county agent or conservation director, and instructions on financing and building them. This is one of the most profitable operations on any farm, especially in West Texas.

Wallace Jenkins, Farmer, Box 919, Pemberton Hill Road, Dallas.

Famous Composers To Conduct Fine Arts Festival

Two of America's most eminent contemporary composers—Dr. Howard Hanson and Don Gillis—will conduct the TCU Symphony Orchestra in concerts of their own works as the musical highlights of the TCU Fine Arts Festival Dec. 4 to 11, dedicating the University's new $1,500,000 Fine Arts Building and Auditorium.

The Festival schedule also includes three other concerts, featuring chamber music, the a cappella choir, concert pipe organ, symphonic band and choral club.

Dr. Hanson, who is now in his 25th season as director of the Eastman School of Music at Rochester, N. Y., will conduct the Sunday evening (Dec. 4) concert. The program will include his "Second Symphony" and the "Lament for Beowulf" for chorus and orchestra.

The famed composer and educator will also deliver the featured address Sunday afternoon at a formal convocation dedicating the new Fine Arts Building and the Ed Landreth Auditorium, a part of the building.

Gillis, who is production director of serious music for NBC in New York City, will conduct the TCU orchestra in Tuesday evening's concert.

The program will feature the concert premier of one of Gillis' two newest compositions, "Dance Symphony" or the "Sixth Symphony." The former was played for the first time a few weeks ago over the air by the NBC Symphony Orchestra but has never been performed in concert. The "Sixth" has not yet been performed.

Ancient Caves is Subject of Book By Tech Students

Ancient caves in Dawson and Borden counties which contained pottery, crude utensils and even human remains of some forgotten civilization are mentioned in an article by two former Texas Tech students released recently.

Mrs. Jean Quinn and Jane Holden, both history and anthropology majors, describe their findings in the Texas Archeological and Paleontological Society Bulletin for 1949. They did not pin-point the exact period when the arrowheads, baskets or cords found in the cave were used, or when the burial of the infant took place.

However, they believe their findings are important because of the prevailing belief that few archeological discoveries would be made on the High Plains.

Heretofore, the feeling generally seems to have been that High Plains inhabitants during prehistoric times were migratory or nomadic tribes who left few remains for modern scientists.

The Bulletin contains articles on archeological made in Texas.

Shivers Proclaims "Operation Democracy"

Wednesday, December 7, is proclaimed "Democracy Beats Communism Day" by Governor Allan Shivers, seated above with American Legion State Commander Joe Spurlock, standing left, and John Ben Shepperd, State Legion Americanism chairman, standing right. Governor Shivers called upon the seven million citizens of Texas to join with more than 100,000 Legionnaires in 758 Texas American Legion posts in "a calm, patriotic, appraisal of Democracy."

Chief, with headquarters in Austin, is Colonel Oscar B. Abbott, former Texas A&M student and Brigadier General during World War II.

The principal advantage of the reorganization, says Army officers, is incident to the decentralization of individual records of members of the Organized Reserve Corps to the State level. It is contended this decentralization will increase the efficiency of the administration and training.

Headquarters also points out the new reorganization provides for appropriate specialist administrative personnel in connection with career guidance, retirement benefits and credits for participation in active duty training, Reserve duty training and Army extension courses. It also provides for centralized command and supervision of all officers and enlisted men of the Regular Army on duty with the Civilian Components, at one headquarters within each state.

Under the new directive the Army Commander will delegate to the Chief of the Texas Military District authority to command and the Military District Chief will be directly responsible to the Army Commander.

County Agent's Office Recently Completes Annual Work Report

A voluminous report has just been completed by the county agent's office—a record of activity of the past 12 months.

Every phase of agricultural work has been recorded by County Agent W. B. Hooser and his assistant Charles Hickman. It includes everything from 4-H Club reports to poultry raising information to crop demonstrations. For instance, 458 4-H Club members were enrolled with projects consisting of swine, beef cattle, dairy cattle, poultry, home gardens, cotton, alfalfa and kilo.

Other projects included a program of improvement of commercial and registered cattle, the introduction of better sires and dams, and 26 demonstrations were held on the control of parasites in beef cattle.

Farmers and ranchers were assisted in building creep feeders for calves, and self feeders for beef cattle.

A number of meetings were held to promote good practices such as Bangs Disease Control, spraying, year-round grazing and marketing at the right time.

An enlarged and better dairy program was carried out, and with gratifying results. A large number of prizes were won by Hall County Jerseys at various shows even though the program had not been in operation but a few months.

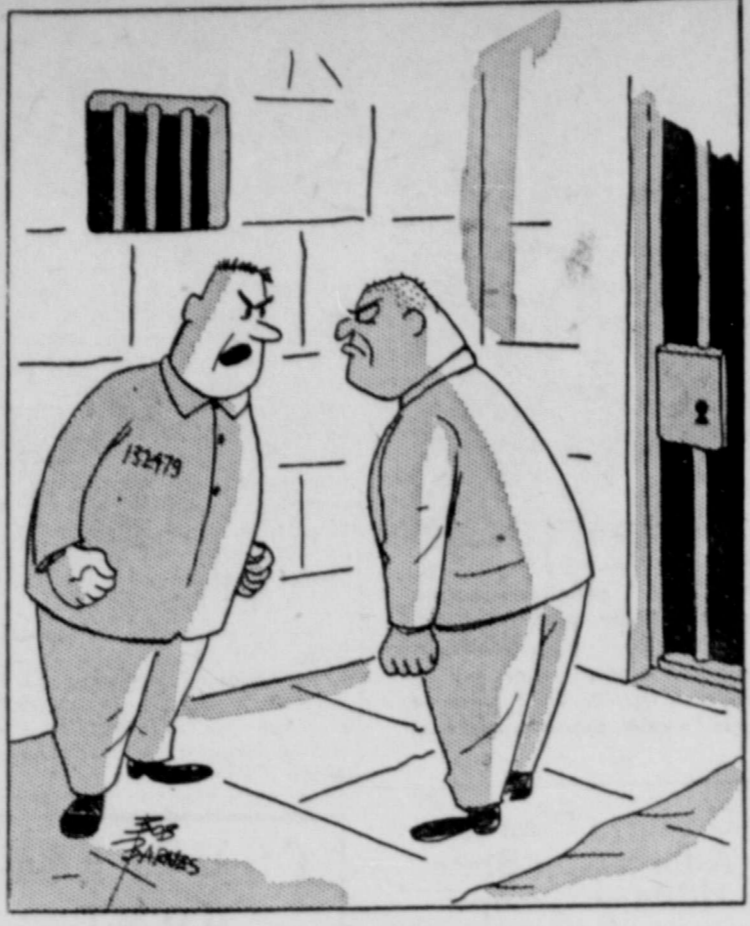

The year's activity also consisted in furnishing farmers with blueprints and specifications for houses and barns, for all sorts of terracing and other soil conservation measures, potential electrical advantages, range management and other things.

These are only a few of the details of the annual narrative report submitted by the local county agent's office to the Extension Service of Texas A. & M. College.

Noah Webster began writing the dictionary in 1807 and finished in 1828.

Huskless Popcorn May Be Developed

There's an outside chance that South Plains farmers may be able to cash in on the current pop corn "boom" which has theatergoers planking down dimes whenever they enter a movie.

The landfall to West Texas farmers may come through the development and use of "pop sorghum" — it's just like pop corn only smaller, more tender and has no husk. In other words, all the joy of pop corn-eating — without the husks between the teeth—is in store for kernel-munchers.

The plant industry department at Texas Technological college reports that the pop sorghum has been developed by the Texas Agriculture Experiment station and might catch on with the public. Observers say the texture of pop sorghum is better than pop corn's. Furthermore, it has a good "Expansion coefficient." Simply told, it expands the kernel about as well as pop corn.

South Plains farmers could grow the cross-bred sorghum without using irrigated lands. Pop corn is ordinarily grown in areas with consistent rainfall or irrigated facilities. Some farmers in West Texas are planning to grow small amounts of pop corn for local consumption because of the "boom", it was pointed out.

The Lakeview Eagles basketball squad has carded a seven-game schedule and an invitation tournament to prepare them for a tough eight-game district schedule which starts Jan. 3 with Kirkland at Lakeview.

Deer Plentiful This Season

Texas deer hunters should have one of their best seasons. The supply of bucks is good and they are in excellent condition, says R. E. Callender, extension specialist in wildlife conservation of Texas A. & M. College, but he also offers this word of caution to the thousands of hunters who are in the field ready to bang away at a moment's notice. Be sure of your target, know your hunting lease, handle your gun with care and don't point it unless you aim to shoot.

Take care of the meat after you have made the kill. Don't waste an ounce of it, Callender says, because venison is a palatable substitute for domestic meats and this year it's extra good.

Deer meat can be cured successfully but the thicker, plumper muscles, or rounds, cure best. Loins may also be included but boneless pieces are preferable. The most satisfactory method is to have the carcass cut into the desired pieces and placed in the freezer locker. Otherwise, says Callender, a good cure mixture is one and one half pounds of salt, a quarter pound of sugar and one ounce of saltpeter dissolved in one gallon of water. The meat should be weighted down in the container so that it will be completely covered by the brine. Best results are obtained if the meat in brine is kept in cold storage at 36 to 38 degrees during curing. If cold storage is not available, curing should be done only in cold weather.

The meat should be left in the brine two days for each pound and after that can be eaten or smoked. It can be kept under most conditions but tends to mold if the climate is moist and hot. For sanitary reasons, it is best to cover the venison with a tightly tied paper bag.

The shoulder, neck and lower portion of the ribs when boneless make good sausage, says Callender. Two parts of venison and one part pork fat is a good mixture, but for a drier product use three parts of venison to one of pork fat. Season with 14 ounces of salt and three ounces of black pepper to 50 pounds of meat before grinding. Callender says you may want to use only salt on the ground meat and later add the other seasoning, thus permitting the choice between sausage, hamburger meat or meat loaf.

Callender offers this word of caution on transporting the meat. He says it may keep better if first frozen solid and this is especially true if you have a considerable distance to travel. But remember that frozen meat should be cut and used as soon as possible after thawing.

County Agent Deserves A Bib Hand

Another year of important accomplishments have been recorded by Hall County's agricultural office. A number of prizes were won by county livestock breeders, and three boys won trips to the National 4-H Club Congress, among other things.

Free trips to Chicago by boys of Hall County—as well as national championships—are by no means rare feats, since a large number of them have achieved the honor in the past. Although the boys themselves were the ones who did the majority of the work, the amazing past records of the county have been made possible largely through the untiring efforts of our county agricultural agent, W. B. Hooser.

While Hooser declines to accept credit for the splendid record, and insists that the boys deserve all the credit, it is a foregone conclusion that without such a man the achievements could not have been made.

4-H Club work is considered by Hooser as an important phase of a county's agricultural program; but it is by no means the only one to which he devotes his time and energy.

A voluminous report of this year's activity has just been completed by his office. Proof of his patience and integrity is displayed even in this summary of activities, which is published elsewhere in this paper.

"My office stands ready at all times to assist the farmer in all his needs," says Hooser. "Our job is to keep him informed of the latest marketing facilities, correct practices to follow, and anything within our power to give the Hall County man the service he deserves."

Regarding the enviable record in the past, Hooser insists that only through the wholehearted cooperation of farmers and their organizations, civic groups, the Commissioners Court, other governmental agencies, the gins, compress and oil mill have the accomplishments been possible.

Those were the words of a man who has probably done more toward the furtherance of Hall County agriculture than any other person or group. Hall County is exceptionally fortunate in having such a man as W. B. Hooser.

A good neighbor is one who loans but never borrows.

While government is designed to serve the people, it cannot support them.

Money may not explain everything but it makes clear the motives of many people.

QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Press Paragraphs—

Higher Supports for More Crops?

The Texas Farm Bureau Federation wants higher crop price supports, specifically, 100 per cent parity instead of the present 90 per cent. And it thinks additional crops should be included. At present only the so-called basic crops of wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco and rice are included in the general parity price scheme, though it is a fact that other crops now receive support. The federation wants 100 per cent parity at normal supply-demand balance with a parity increase during periods of shortage and a decrease when there is a surplus.

If we assume that there are to be price supports, then the federation is right in the second and third demands. There is no reason, other than political, for setting up price supports for some crops and ignoring others. In doing so, the price support scheme follows the pattern of most New Deal "welfare" effort. All of them, including social security, are scandalously inequitable, with the "forgotten man" more completely forgotten than ever. (The "forgotten man" nowadays is the one with no organized political strength.)

Again, assuming that we must have price support, the sliding scale, as suggested by the federation, is the most practical plan. It gives recognition, at least, to the law of supply and demand.

But it should take only a little fork on the adding machine to prove that the extension of price support to all crops could easily lead to a situation that would bankrupt the government. The present basic crop support could contribute mightily to this disastrous end. And the very fact of the federation's demand for a higher price support under present national economic conditions is evidence that, regardless of formula, the application will be largely to meet political demands. The farmer is in a mad race with labor and every other organized group to keep the living cost spiraling upward.—The Dallas Morning News.

Does this mean Mrs. John Public is any more likely to get a mink coat? One of these days? Hardly. It will merely help keep the price of mink coats high so none but the really rich can afford them. But the middle class people who would like to afford mink coats will help pay (by federal taxes) the handout to the mink farmers to keep mink coat prices high . . .

Joplin (Mo.) Globe (Ind.) says:
Mink farmers complain of poor business, so the government is loaning them about half a million dollars.

Pittsburg (Texas) Gazette (Dem.) says:
Communism and Socialism are so closely related it would take a wise father to tell them apart. Both are playing on the same political playground, and Washington sits in the grandstand looking on with fearless eyes. Isn't it time somebody was getting scared?

SERVING the Gulf South

... through our payment of TAXES

A public school education for our boys and girls is one of the great benefits of the American way of life. The cost of that education, as everybody knows, is defrayed through the payment of millions of dollars of taxes by individuals and businesses.

Last year our Company paid out more money in taxes than the gross amount we received for the natural gas we sold to all our 288,000 residential customers. Much of that tax money went to support your schools, your highways, your courts and other essential functions of local government. This is another example of the way the American Business System works to bring better living to your community.

Eddie Foxhall, owner of the Foxhall Motor Co., has purchased a new Temco "Swift" two-passenger monoplane. The low-wing craft cruises at 140 m. p. h. and is equipped with two-way radio, blind flying instruments, a new type aeromatic propeller, and has a range of 600 miles.

Foxhall states that it is as near 100 per cent air worthy as a plane can be built. For instance, its wing stress is reported to be greater than that of the Army P-51—in proportion to its weight.
 The plane, also equipped with a retractable landing gear mechanism, is one of several planes owned by Eddie and his brother Lewis. Eddie was a pilot during his AAF days, and saw action in the North African and European campaigns.
