Cotton Acreage Controls Removed By Ag. Secretary Brannan Tuesday

Removal Of Controls Not Expected To Affect This Season's Prices

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan announced Tuesday that farmers will be free to grow all the cotton they want next year.

Rigid government planting and marketing restrictions in effect this year will be withdrawn for the 1951 crop.

Prospects of a short supply of some grades of cotton led the secretary to free the crop from government controls.

This year's production was far short of expectations, due largely to the fact that farmers did not plant all the land they could under acreage allotments and marketing quotas.

The short supply situation has contributed to a cotton price advance of about a third in the past 12 months.

The 1951 crop will be covered by government price supports. Brannan did not say at what levels prices will be supported.

Under the law, price supports must range between 80 and 90 per cent of parity, which is a level calculated to be equally fair to the producer and the purchaser. The nation needs at least 16,000,000 bales next year. Such a crop would compare with this year's unusually small one of 9,637,000 bales.

Commenting on the possibility of overproduction, the secretary said it was in the "public interest" to have too much rather than too little.

Several weeks ago, Brannan announced a 1950 wheat program calling for a larger crop next year to assure the country of ample supplies in connection with the national defense program.

Tuesday's action announcing that there will be no acreage allotments or marketing quotas next year applies to both upland and long staple cottons.

Brannan said acreage planted by farmers next year will be considered as a part of individual farmers' base acreage in establishing any future cotton acreage allotments.

Brannan said the fact that neither marketing quotas nor acreage allotments will be in effect for next year's crop will help insure production of at least the 16,000,000 bales needed to take care of increased domestic and export demand and to avoid depleting reserves.

The secretary's statement took a slap at cotton acreage control laws. He said acreage allotments under present legislation would not be satisfactory or realistic.

A press service said that the president of the Dallas Cotton Exchange said he believed the announcement Tuesday freeing the cotton industry of planting and marketing restrictions would not have any appreciable effect on the cotton market.

"The announcement has been expected," M. H. Miller said, "It is not a surprise."

October 8-14 Fire Prevention Week

October 8 to 14 has been designated as National Fire Prevention week.

This is the week that the nation becomes fire conscious and puts up posters warning the people to be careful with fire.

Memphis Fire Chief Clayton Thomas said, "we observe fire prevention one week a year, but we should work to prevent fires 52 weeks out of the year. We must clean out all rubbish," he stated, "and check heating equipment and flues and all other danger points."

WALTER ROGERS SUPPORTERS TO MEET MONDAY

Supporters of Walter Rogers for Congress will hold a political rally Monday evening in the county court room at Memphis according to announcements this week. The meeting will start at 7:30 o'clock.

The gathering is being sponsored by the Hall County Rogers for Congress Club, which includes several dozen supporters of the Pampa attorney. Rogers is the Democratic nominee for the office of Congressman of the 18th District, and is opposed by a fellow-townsmen, Ben Guill, a Republican.

"We want to invite all Democrats of Hall County who can to attend this meeting," supporters of Rogers stated. "Many issues vitally affecting this farming area are at stake, and these issues will be discussed at the session."

J. Claude Wells, chairman of the Hall County Democratic Committee, stated Wednesday that he has called upon all precinct chairmen to attend the mass meeting. These chairmen have been urged to bring interested persons from their separate communities, and to take an active part in the discussions.

One of the questions which will be up for discussion is the "child labor law" which is creating much discussion among Hall County farmers at this time.

Walter Rogers told friends Wednesday afternoon that he would be present at the meeting here Monday evening, and would make a short report to those in attendance concerning vital matters affecting the Panhandle.

This committee will also consult several business firms that sell the uniforms and compare the prices offered.

Chief Black said that it was customary for the officer to furnish shoes, Sam Brown belt and holster and gun. Each officer would have two uniforms.

The Memphis air attack is appearing stronger as Roddie Stargel has sharpened his already good throwing arm. He tossed one pass last week for 28 yards and a touchdown against the Pirates.

Both teams are undefeated. The Cyclones have four wins and one tie. Memphis beat Dallas, Canyon, Plainview "B" and Lefors. Shamrock beat Lockney, Dalhart, Perryton and tied Phillips.

The winner of this game will be the top spot in district 2-A. Shamrock was the pre-season favorite and Memphis was rated in the third slot. But the outstanding

This being the game of the week in class A football in the Panhandle, more than 3,000 fans are expected to witness this school boy battle.

Free Rides for Kids . . .

Fire Fighter's Day Set Saturday, 7th

Fire Chief Clayton Thomas stated this week that the Memphis Volunteer Fire Department will observe Volunteer Fireman's Recognition Day on Saturday, October 7.

Clayton said that on this day the fire department will give rides to all children of Memphis on the fire trucks. Any child still in junior high school or younger is invited to come to the fire station at 10:30 Saturday morning for the free ride on the fire truck.

Firemen will be there all morning to show the children around the fire station, answer questions, and supervise the children while they are riding the fire wagons.

Governor Allan Shivers has proclaimed October 7, 1950, as the Volunteer Firemen's Recognition Day in Texas, together with Minnesota and Nebraska.

The Governor's proclamation was issued on August 25, and reads as follows:

the commendable activities of the Volunteer Firemen of this state in protecting lives and property from dangers of fire.

It is an appropriate date, inasmuch as it is the Saturday prior to the opening of National Fire Prevention Week.

The fire departments of this State, both paid and volunteer are continually on guard to protect their fellow citizens. Such loyal and unselfish service should have proper recognition and public cooperation.

THEREFORE, I, as Governor of the State of Texas, hereby designate October 7, 1950 as TEXAS VOLUNTEER FIREMEN'S RECOGNITION DAY and urge all Texans to take this opportunity of expressing their appreciation to our volunteer firemen in appropriate fashion.

Allan Shivers.

Farmers Pack Hall Co. Courtroom To Hear Labor Law Explained

Walter Rogers Offers Law Interpretation To Farmers

Walter Rogers, Democratic nominee for Congress, offered a number of interpretations to the "oppressive child labor law" of the Fair Labor Standards Act which would relieve the farmers of this section of the difficulty which they face as harvesting of cotton begins in Hall County.

The Pampa attorney directed his remarks to Harry B. Nunn, Jr., field office supervisor of the U. S. Department of Wage and Hour Division. Nunn has discussed the law before a packed county courtroom consisting of farmers, ginners and business men Wednesday afternoon. He pointed out that the law prohibits child immigrant laborers under the age of 16 years from being employed while school is in session.

After listening to Nunn explain the applicability of the provisions of the act as they affect farm labor, both domestic and migratory, for approximately 30 minutes, Rogers began his questioning as to the interpretations which the supervisor was placing upon the issue. Using Federal Statutes to back up his suggestions, Rogers brought to the attention of the group the fact that Nunn was giving interpretations which the Department of Labor had placed upon the law.

His suggestions were especially directed at the use of children of migratory workers, and were favorably received by the crowd.

"Since this problem has arisen, I have done a great amount of work on it," Rogers said. "I hope to get it worked out with the Department of Labor so that the crops could be harvested without undue hardships or violations on the part of the farmers."

Rogers' approach to the problem was from a legal standpoint, and appeared to have worked out the difficulties involved.

Mr. Nunn seemed to be very favorably impressed with his solution and suggestions, and stated that they will be submitted to the regional office of the Department of Labor for approval.

If these suggestions are adopted Rogers explained, the labor problem will be settled for the present and the entire matter can be worked out in the next Congress or by a court decision before next fall.

"Since the law itself was intended to prevent oppressive child labor under 'sweat shop' conditions, it appears that the proper method for the farmers is to work out their problems so that immediate relief can be obtained and no delay be occasioned," Rogers stated.

He called attention to the fact that under the law itself, proper construction, taking into consideration the difficulties

People were sitting in the windows and standing in the halls of the county courthouse yesterday as over 200 farmers packed the county courtroom in an effort to hear H. B. Nunn explain the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act as it applies to agriculture.

Nunn is employed by the Wage and Hour Division of the Labor department and has been traveling over Texas trying to explain to farmers how the 1949 amendment of the law will effect the hiring of children under 16 to work on farms.

This law affects the harvesting of cotton crops where the grower hires transient families to pick the cotton. The law states that no children may be hired to work in the field during the time school is in session where the child lives.

During school hours means the hours each day that school is in progress in the district in which the child lives. Where a child lives is where he stays at night. If the district where the child stays at night is not having school, then the child is free to work where ever he can get employment, but he must return to his home district each night.

The question was asked what if the schools were so crowded that the children would not be accepted. Nunn said that in checking with the school authorities over the state, none said that there was no room for the kids.

Nunn said that if a youth had finished high school before he reached the age of 16 and had a diploma to prove that he had finished, then he could work. This law will be a great hindrance (Continued on Page 8)

Yearbook Staff Is Elected For 50-51 Freshmen Enjoy

The Second Year Home Economics girls have spent most of this first six weeks painting and improving the Home Economics lab. They have been studying kitchen improvement and decided that the lab could stand a face-lifting. They have carried out the Home Economics Club's colors with a red and white color scheme. They have hopes of being able to paint the walls next summer.

Bonnie Benton, Roberta Nelson and Glenna Faye Harrison showed skilled surgery in painting the large supply cabinet white with red interior and handles. Lois Carpenter and Jessie Faye Hammonds assisted by painting the stools red. Betty Burnett and Betty Goodall selected new equipment and cleaned the individual cabinets. Tommie Sue Roach and Billie Hartman made red cannister ests for each of the eight individual cabinets.

The radiators seem to give light as well as heat. They were given a new dress of aluminum paint by Cornelia Ann Bufkin, Sylvia Weddel, Sue Wesson, and Betty Jean Stewart. Gloria Harris and Laura Mae Hull brightened the lab with red plastic curtains, and cleaned the venitian blinds. Frankye Lynn Srygley and Peggy Smith painted the window facings white. Mrs. Ben Wilson, the Home Economics instructor, is pleased with the girls' work and thinks they have shown excellent cooperation.

There have been more than 6,000 students who have enjoyed films in the cafeteria each week. There are two films a week—each of a different caliber. One was football games of the Cyclone team, one was a comedy and another with Bud Abbott and Lou Costello. The students are certainly enjoying this.

Cyclones Trounce Lefors Pirates 12-7

The Cyclone Stadium was jam packed with a record crowd gathering to witness the Memphis Cyclones trounce over the Pirates from Lefors, 12-7.

Coach York's 'Big Wind' is the first district team to plow over the mighty Pirates in two years. Spurred on by the enormous tackle, 276 pound Don Stokes, the Pirates pulled the quick line up play, which temporarily stunned the Cyclones, however, it proved to be the Pirates' downfall.

Although the Memphis fans were highly pleased at the final score, one unpleasant incident marred the victory for the team. In the last half, husky Pete Moore was removed from the game with a twisted left knee. It remains to be seen whether or not he will be able to play against the dreaded Shamrock Irish on October 6th.

The Memphis Cyclones, in the first half of play, racked up 12 points, with Pete Moore totting the ball for the first 6. After which right end Don Rasco completed a pass heaved from the arm of quarterback, Roddy Stargel and ran 28 yards for the second Cyclone touchdown. Pete Morre failed on both conversions.

The starting line-up for both teams were:

Mizpah Guild Hears Interesting Talk By Mrs. Morris

An interesting program was presented by Mrs. A. Burr Morris when the Mizpah Guild of the First Presbyterian Church met on Monday, October 2, in the home of Mrs. Carl Harrison.

Officers elected for 1951 were Mrs. T. E. Noel, president; Mrs. Minnie Kinslow, vice-president, Gladys Power, secretary; Mrs. Allen Grundy, treasurer; Mrs. Lucy Alexander, correspondence; Mrs. Ira Foster, overseas sewing; Mrs. Rex Snell, spiritual life; Mrs. Mac Wilson, scrapbook custodian, Mrs. Ora Denny gave the devotional on "And Ye Shall be Witnesses unto Me". Man will be right and the world will be right.

The Mission lesson was given by Mrs. A. Burr Morris, who received her degree in Religious Education at McCormick Theological Seminary last May. Before moving to Memphis with her husband, the Rev. A. Burr Morris, she spent the summer of 1948 on the National Mission Fields of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., in Oklahoma, Dwight-Indian Training School conducting daily vacation Bible schools among the Choctaw, Seminole, and Cherokee Indians. Although she herself is a descendent of the Choctaw tribe, she was unable to understand the younger Indians and an interpreter was provided. Not only did the small children attend these daily vacation Bible schools which lasted a week in each community, but entire families came and camped and attended the meetings from early morning until late at night.

At the conclusion of the program Mrs. Frank Finch gave the closing prayer, and a social hour followed, during which the hostess assisted by her delightful daughter, Sharon, served delicious refreshments to the following members: Mmes. Ora Denny, Clyde Ferrel, Howard Finch, Frank Finch, Clifford Farmer, Ira Foster, Allen Grundy, Buster Helm, Minnie Kinslow, T. E. Noel, Gladys Powers, Boyd Rogers, Rex Snell, Mac Wilson, Paul Montgomery, A. Burr Morris and Miss Tommye Noel.

Mrs. Pool Robertson of Plainview visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan McCollum over the week end.

Mrs. A. Anisman Host To Memphis Little Theatre

Opening the 1950-51 theatrical season, The Memphis Little Theatre entertained its members with a one-act play in the home of Mrs. A. Anisman Wednesday afternoon September 27, with Helen Boswell as co-hostess.

The play titled "Low Bridge" written by Gravatt was ably directed by Mrs. Boyd Rogers. The portrayals of the four women characters were by Mrs. Gene Lindsey, Mrs. Claude Ferrel, Mrs. M. E. McNally, Jr. and Miss Onie-ta Ables. The comedy was delightfully entertaining with the characters displaying their bridge ability with one among them not knowing how to play anything but poker, therefore mixing the game considerably.

The President's Message was given by Mrs. T. M. Harrison. During the business session the play director, Mrs. Robert Sexauer explained the story and the cast of the public performance to be presented October 25 and 26 at the District Court Room in the Court House. The play "The Night of January 16th" is about a trail of a murder accruing on that date and will keep the audience in suspense throughout.

Delicious cake and coffee was served during the social hour to the guests, Mrs. Ben Fisch, Mrs. Bobby Lindsey, Mrs. John Schwind and the members, Mmes. Jim Beeson, Ray Childress, H. A. Combs, John Deaver, Joe DeBerry, Claude Ferrel, Rufus Greene, T. M. Harrison, D. L. C. Kinard, Gene Lindsey, M. E. McNally, Jr., Clyde Milam, Boyd Rogers, Robert Sexauer, Gayle Greene, Miss Laura Mai Hightower and Miss Roselyn Williams and the hostesses.

Owl Strikes Plug Of Local Caster

All fishermen like to go fishing when the bass are striking, but when the owls start it is a different story.
B. H. Hayes of Memphis was on the local Club Lake Saturday, September 25, doing a little casting and thinking about a fish dinner Sunday. The quiet was broken by the screeching of a large owl in a tree near Ed Foxhall's cabin. On a power line post near the trees was a second owl which joined in, to make it an owl duet.
Not caring for the noise, Hayes went on with his fishing. He was about 200 yards from the owls when he cast his plug out into the lake. Suddenly one of the owls made a dart at the plug, grabbing it in his talons, it brought the plug back over Hayes and his boat.
As the bird went over, the line caught on Hayes' ear. The surprised fisherman knocked the line off with his hand as the owl carried the plug out to the end of the line. The force of the owl hitting the end of the line jerked the bird into the water. It was then the bird's time to be surprised. The water-soaked bird turned loose of the plug and flew off screeching.

Two Small Fires Give Fire Dept. Busy Week-End

Two small fires Saturday and Sunday nights kept the Memphis volunteer fire department on the jump.
The first alarm was answered at the Memphis Farmers Co-op. Gin. This fire was caused by sparks coming up the burr pipe and setting off some lint in the gin and causing more smoke than fire.
It had the town excited though. Walter H. White, manager of the gin was there checking on the fire to see that no damage was done and he still had shaving cream on his face, where he had started to shave.
The second fire was Sunday night when a car belonging to a negro caught fire on West Noel street. The damage was not great.

J. T. Dennis visited his daughter, Mrs. Frank Petersaw and family at Devine from Friday until Monday.

Air Force Major Is Freshman At Baylor University

Joseph Frank Braun, major in the U. S. Air Force, retired, and lieutenant colonel in the U. S. Air Force Reserve, has enrolled as a Freshman in Baylor University.

He's a big strapping fellow, 5 feet 9 inches tall and 215 pounds heavy, but the gay smile on his face and the freshman cap on his head belie his 53 years.

Across the front of his green and gold cap, he had lettered "Slim Joe Braun."

Lt. Col. Braun is a veteran of 30 years with the air force. He served with the AAF in France in World War I and since then has been stationed at various Texas fields as maintenance technician.

Braun was able to show only four years of formal schooling to his record when he made application to Baylor for admission. But Registrar Truett K. Grant gave him the green light when the veteran made a good score on his General Educational Development admission test.

He's enrolled in public speaking courses—because ability to speak well and put across his point is the chief purpose of his present educational ambitions.

"I've been out-talked in many conferences, when I knew I had the facts on my side," he told a reporter. "I want to learn how to put my point across."

Braun is the father of eight children—seven sons and one daughter. Five of the sons are in the air force; the other two are too young. He is a Mason, belonging to the Scottish Rite and the Shrine. He also is a member of Toastmasters International.

Yearbook Staff Is Elected At Special Assembly

The Cyclone Annual Staff was chosen in a special assembly called on September 26. The Editor-in-Chief, chosen last year, is Scotty Grundy, a popular 17 year old Senior. The other members were chosen by the popular vote of the student body. A nominating committee from the different classes chose the following students who were approved by the student body: assistant editor, Frank Norman; sports editor, Thomas Messer; society editor, Beryle Davis; art editor, Ann Spoon; business manager, Lee Bloxom; photographer, Troyace Rhudy; secretary, Patsy Hays; treasurer, Patsy Nell Combs.

This year the 1950 Cyclone will have approximately 100 pages. The standard size is eight by eleven. The Memphis Annual is published yearly by the Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas. The school pays half the price for each annual so that the students get them for only $2.50. The year-book fund is kept up by the annual "Pie Supper Queen Race" proceeds.

The student body is expecting an excellent 1951 yearbook. And to this the staff replies, "We'll put out the best annual that Memphis has ever had."

FIRE EXTINGUISHERS

The students of Memphis High were very surprised when they noticed something new had been added to the halls of M. H. S. There are new fire extinguishers that are placed on the first and third floors. So if the students are puzzled about these new contraptions, they now have the answer.

NEW STUDENTS

The snooping reporter found that two new students have enrolled in school this week. They are: Harold Muncrief, from Arkansas; and Betty Ray, from Memphis.

LOUD PEP RALLY

The band started the pep-rally off with a bang Friday morning by playing a few peppy songs. The newly elected cheer leaders took over and really got the student body yelling. The walls of M.H.S. literally shook with enthusiasm over the game. The football team certainly knew that the student body was backing them—"win, lose or draw."

Farmers Pack—

derance to the Mexican families that follow the harvest each year with a large number of children under 16 years of age. Most of these families depend on the money that the entire group earns to feed and clothe the family during the winter months.

Nunn said that the question of who would feed and clothe these people had been asked him everywhere he had been and he said that he did not have the answer to that question, but he said that no one would be allowed to starve.

"We also want to find out how many people will be kept out of work," Nunn said "and how many grown workers are not working in the harvest because their children cannot work."

There are no emergency provisions in the law which will allow the sidestepping of this measure.

Nunn stated that when the law was passed in 1938, it was passed to get young children out of the "sweat shops" in the industrial areas and put them back in school. "We'll all agree," he said, "with the philosophy of the law in getting kids back in school, for we know that they must have an education."

When the law was passed in 1938 there were numbers of loopholes that allowed for evasion of the law by farmers, but the 1949 amendment closed all the holes and is putting teeth into penalties for evasion.

A farmer who is caught willfully working under age workers, the first offense is a fine of up to $10,000 dollars, and the second offense is $10,000 dollars fine and or up to six months in prison or both.

The farmer is protected if he is presented with a birth certificate or a certificate of age from the U. S. Department of Labor.

Rogers Offers—

to be remedied, could give the farmer the right to use the children of migratory workers without being in violation.

"I hope to have some workable interpretation worked out within the next few days," Rogers said. "I intend to devote most of my time in the immediate future to this problem, and hope to be able to announce a solution soon."

City Council—

now the officers are working as much as 10-12 hours a day, seven days a week.

This would incur any extra expense to the city as the council has already agreed to hire another patrolman for the fall season.

Black said that the extra patrolman was needed only on the week-end and during the week he could fill in for the man taking his day off.

The council voted to buy one of the two gasoline tanks at the airport and the pump that is there from the Magnolia oil company. The other tank is being purchased by Phillips oil company.

The city sewer ordinance was discussed and the rates that are to be charged the residences and business houses were presented to the committee.

The council meets the first Tuesday in each month.

In the dining room an arrangement of bronze chrysanthemums graced the refreshment table. Mrs. Sam West presided at the silver tea service. Members of the house party included Mrs. Jim Vallance, Mrs. Doris Jo Ham of Childress, Mrs. Sam West, Mrs. Violet Gillenwater, Mrs. Dick Shelton, Mrs. Bill Greene Jr., of Clarendon, Mrs. Elmo Whaley, Mrs. C. PUT YOUR HOUSE IN ORDER

Between October 8 and 14, Fire Prevention Week will be observed. So it's time to consider just what that week can mean to you.

You can, of course, take a cursory glance at fire prevention posters and news items and promptly forget them. You can doze when a brief fire prevention film is shown at the movies. Do that, and you'll run a good chance of having a destructive fire—with the ever-present possibility of death and injury—some time in the future.

On the other hand, you can take the week seriously—and give your full attention to the suggestions and advice offered you. Then you can apply the expert knowledge thus gained to your home and other property. As a rule, fire prevention is both easy and inexpensive. It consists largely of such common-sense practices as periodically inspecting heating and lighting equipment, ridding buildings of accumulations of junk, providing proper storage for paint, cleansers and other inflammables, and giving due care to matches and smoking materials. The basic purpose of the week is to refresh your mind on such matters, and to encourage you to get the job done as soon as possible.

Do this, and the chance of your having a fire will diminish. Fire Prevention Week is designed to help you put your house in order. How about it?

"Every member of Congress needs to be ever on guard against those sly, scheming collectivists who hope to use the war emergency as a cloak under which to fasten Socialism or Fascism on our nation."—Wilford I. King, Chairman, Committee for Constitutional Government.

FIVE YEARS OF SQUANDERING

Senator Byrd has summed up, in telling words, the financial experience of this government since the end of the last war.

"In these five years," he said, "we have squandered the greatest prosperity ever to come to any nation. The Federal government has collected far more taxes than ever before. It has spent far more money on purely domestic-civilian programs than ever before. It has spent far more money abroad than ever before. It has spent far more money for defense than ever before without achieving preparedness. And we have failed to curtail the greatest public debt any nation has ever known."

This is not a matter of crying over spilt milk. It is true that the ghastly waste of the past cannot be retrieved. But the failures of yesterday can serve as a guide for today and tomorrow.

Pending measures, which have the near-unanimous approval of Congress, will bring the cost of national defense alone to $30,000,000,000 a year and perhaps much more. In the battle for survival in which we are engaged, such costs may continue indefinitely. In the light of this, what conceivable excuse can there be for domestic spending which can either be postponed or abandoned entirely? To take a single outstanding example, all the public-power fanatics are still in full cry with their proposals for billions of dollars for socialized electric plants and facilities. Yet these would not produce a single kilowatt of juice which would not be produced by the heavily taxed, publicly regulated utility industry if it is given the chance.

Many more examples could be cited—including the all-inclusive social security scheme whose cost cannot even be accurately estimated. It is said that the Russians look forward to the collapse of the capitalist nations, particularly the United States, from inner weaknesses. If our criminal government waste continues, the Russians will eventually be proved right.

FIRE ON THE FARM

Fires on farms kill some 3,500 people each year, injure thousands more, and destroy property at an annual rate approaching $100,000,000. To help reduce this loss, farmers can now use a new Farm Safety Inspection Form, prepared by the National Board of Fire Underwriters. It will be sent free, on application to the Board at 85 John Street, New York City 7.

The new form is easy and convenient. All the farmer has to do is check a series of yes or no answers. The blank was submitted to several of the nation's leading authorities on farm fire protection, as well as farmers, for criticism and suggestions. The comments received were incorporated in the final version.

The check list covers in detail such hazards as lightning, flammable liquids, electrical installations and equipment, and heating systems. These are primary causes of farm fires—as, indeed, they are of all fires. And many a grave hazard goes uncorrected simply because it has been overlooked. The National Board's blank provides a way to ferret it out if it exists.

Fire on the farm is one of the gravest matters. In many instances, organized fire fighting facilities do not exist. Once a fire starts, it usually finds a wealth of flammable materials on which to feed. It may be completely out of control in a matter of minutes. Under these circumstances, fire prevention should be one of the first and most continuous jobs of every farmer.

Press Paragraphs— QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Newspaper Week

October 1-8 is National Newspaper Week, and as your Publisher and Editor, here is a little insight as to some of the duties: As your publisher across our desk go problems of the news, paper. If a business, a complex and varied, can be said to have a "head", then Prattler is that head. On us rests the ultimate responsibility for everything printed in your newspaper.

In our mind we carry problems of the editorial, the business, and the mechanical departments, and publicity we respect your newspaper. Whether we deal with the problems from our desk in a two-Linotype shop, or from a desk in the offices of a big city daily, the problems are the same.

Someone must be sure the news is well-covered and timely so people will want to read it. This will provide sufficient circulation to enable your newspaper to charge rates of advertising to provide a living for the people who work on the paper and enable the paper to operate. All the while the news paper must provide a public service to each person who contacts the paper in whatever way. When all these problems are co-ordinated and solved, then you have a newspaper.

Our day may begin with breakfast, but before lunch time we make decisions as widely separated as what the newspaper's official attitude is on our national foreign policy and why a Linotype kicks out slugs that only say "etaoinshrdlu". By the time our day is may have brought newspaper, figured a number of commercial jobs, checked the mail, token subscriptions, answered the phone many, many times, checked the mailer to see why Joe Doe missed his paper and etc.

Across our desk go all the yards of news you read in your paper. We must decide what is news. We must find the news if it does not come to us.

Daily your newspaper receives a flood of unsolicited articles... some of these are news, most are publicity stories product, individual or organization. We must separate the news from the chaff. The editor must be where news is happening, or see that some staff member is there to watch it. We must attend or have a reporter cover every meeting of importance—and that means most every night.

Once we have the news in the office, we must edit it, see that the stories are clear, concise, and above all, correct. We cut out unnecessary wordage, check any points that seem unclear, and double-check the news for any erroneous statements.

Then the news must be fitted into column provided for it. All the while we must keep in mind our "space budget"... columns to be filled with news, while the rest of the paper carries advertising. There may not be a line too much news, nor yet a line too little. Every edition the paper must be filled exactly.

No opinion must creep into the news columns. In this column which Prattler pounds out each week you may find the policy of the newspaper. Some columns reflect public opinion, some praise endeavors or individuals, some seek to reform where reform is needed, while others criticize where criticism is due, or praise.

We must be careful if the paper is to succeed. We use local stories at our disposal, buy certain features, and exercise our knowledge of news as a commodity available to the public. All this we must do if our paper, and your paper, is to be wanted by its readers.

Minor Problems

Leaving the Korean situation, taxes, and high finance, for the moment only, to wiser heads and better informed persons, we speak of the weather, in line with what all the neighbors are doing. We don't speak too kindly, since it is the fashion of the week to complain about the unequal distribution of the weather in our kind of a country. Sometimes, often, it gets dry and stays dry too long. Occasionally it gets wet and stays wet too long. This is one of the times when it got wet and stayed wet too long for our continued complacency. Our customers need for it to dry up and stay dry for 70 days, and we need for it to do the same thing, and then come a good rain or some kind of moisture.

The weather man ought to know that, even if the wheat sower and the cotton harvester and the maize men are to be disregarded, we have some building going on between spells in Floyd county. The new court house, the new dwellings, the new school house and physical education building, need dry weather. You can't build in a puddle of water. We mention this just in passing. The court house job, the school house job and all that will be another two years in finishing if August and September weather continue. Five days a month isn't enough time for a man building a house to make any showing. We also point out that more than one woman in Floyd county wants to be sure to have a new house ready to move into

Richard COKE

Richard Coke, first Democrat to hold the Governor's office after Reconstruction days, was more responsible than any other for the founding of the A. and M. College of Texas. A well-known legislator, he pushed through the acts which established the college as a state institution, and served as chairman of the college's first board of trustees. In his speech dedicating the new institution, on opening day, 1876, Richard Coke laid the foundation stone for the education of the young men of Texas for the high duties of citizenship. "The aim and mission of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas," he said, "is to prepare the young men of Texas for the high duties of citizenship, at the same time to train their intelligence in the use of appliances of science, and their hands to the skillful utilization of them in the everyday pursuits of life... It has as its constant aim the bringing down to the lowest possible cost of an education which shall be at the same time thorough and practical." On this foundation, the A. and M. College has been built, in its first 75 years, into one of the outstanding schools for men in the nation.

TEXAS ECONOMY COMMISSION

Note: Today's article is a series on the Texas Economy Commission, consisting of editorials from Texas citizens, plus comments to two of them. In four months remain before the Legislature meets in January to consider the requirements of the commission. The commission is to render invaluable service. Waste, duplication and extravagance in state affairs must be reduced to a minimum to keep the load from becoming too heavy for Texans to carry. Agencies must be overhauled, merged or abolished when desirable. Houston Post, June 15. The state government has grown because the people have demanded more of it. The Texas Economy Commission may well conclude that the time has come to reverse that process. The people may be reminded that unless they are prepared to dig deeper into their pockets—and pay perhaps 200 million dollars a year additional taxes, which might be levied on sales or income—they must get along with less, not demand more, state services or "assistance." San Antonio Express, Sept. 5. The twin problems of the survey, and ultimately of the commission, will be the fact that Texas has built up something over 200 boards, agencies, commissions, bureaus, departments, and that it has its treasury accounts split into more than 100 special funds, some constitutional, some statutory. There is almost an unlimited range of possibility in the reorganization plans that may be proposed by the Economy Commission. Austin American-Statesman, Sept. 5. Income to the state also is running ahead of last year. It is an opportunity here for eleven months the state counted $511,188,363 in revenue, compared to $470,970,616 in a like period of last year. But spending is running ahead of income. Before the next year is up, the state is scheduled to be in the red. News Article, Dallas Morning News, Aug. 4. The Governor of Texas has acted in good faith and has created the Texas Economy Commission as an instrumentality through which recommendations can be made for more economy and efficiency in the executive branch of our state government. The commission has been formed and is now ready to function. The Governor of Texas has shown his good faith. It's time the business men and women of Texas manifest their interest and desire in economy and efficiency by formulating a county unit in every county in Texas and by raising the necessary money to get the job done properly. James F. Melton, Manager, East Texas Chamber of Commerce, Aug. 29. I am interested in furthering—not retarding—the growth and development of our great state. To that end, I want us to be able to distinguish between true economy and false economy... between thrift and parsimony... between liberal support of worth-while institutions and profligate spending of hard-earned tax monies. In short, what is good about our state government, let's make it better. What is bad, let's cut it out. Let's stand for things that make Texas a better place in which to live and work and raise families. Governor Allan Shivers. The last article in this series will be by Governor Allan Shivers.

It is time to plant winter lemons. In most areas of the state, the best time for fall planting is from the middle of September to November 1. Defoliation of cotton, either naturally or with chemicals, is a must if the crop is being harvested with machinery. The speed of hand picking is increased and the opening of mature bolls is hastened when the cotton plants are defoliated. Skin Coloring Important Key In Physical Exam

A physical examination actually begins the minute you walk into your doctor's office. When he first looks at you, he starts piecing together bits of information which fit together into the jigsaw puzzle that makes up the picture of your health.

The color and texture of your skin may be important signals to his practiced eye. A tanned, ruddy complexion, a weather-beaten skin associated with outdoor life would be out-of-place in an office worker who seldom ventured into the elements, just as a pale skin wouldn't fit into the picture of a farmer, laborer, or athlete. Such misplaced coloring might be indicative to your doctor of illness, with pallor, or paleness of the skin, due to anemia, fright, faintness or nausea, while a reddish skin may be the result of an excess of red blood cells or alcoholism among other things.

Other colors of the skin are sometimes a sign of one specific disease or physical upset. A definite yellow tinge is associated with jaundice; a deep bronzing of the skin is characteristic of Addison's disease; a silvery or bluish gray coloring may arise from drug poisoning.

Changes in the color of the skin are always important, whether it be spread over the whole body or in spots. Liver spots, moles and scars that undergo a change in color should always be checked to be safe. Other spots, those that come and go like acne, hives, or any fleeting rash or eruption will also be checked by your doctor. Sometimes the cause of such eruptions is quite clear to him to be the distribution, size and contents of the "sores," and at other times the cause may defy detection.

Swelling or puffiness of the skin, whether in just one or two spots or over the whole body, may be one of the more significant hints your doctor picks up during a physical examination. Sometimes swelling is caused by fluid, sometimes by air and sometimes by gas. The texture of the skin over the puff is usually indicative of how long the swelling has been present with a new spot covered by smooth and shiny skin and an edema of long standing covered with fleshy, hardened skin. Wrinkles develop when the fluid starts disappearing and the skin, which has been stretched, becomes slack.

One of the most common "skin tests" for health signs is the touch of the hand on the forehead to see if you have fever. Not entirely reliable, this traditional maternal gesture seldom comes alone. Mama will usually resort to this test for fever only after an unexplained outburst of temper of a complaint of a tummy ache or maybe just a "different" look in the eyes.

To your doctor a number of less obvious signs may be a hint that the body temperature is higher than normal, a signal that all is not well with you. He may not always take your temperature during an examination but if he gets an idea, a hint, that your temperature has a bearing on your general physical condition, the thermometer is popped into your mouth.

Normal temperatures may vary from 98.6 to 99.5 degrees with variations of a degree and a half during the day, usually higher in the evening than in the morning. After an extended illness the temperature may be subnormal and after very strenuous exercise it may go up as much as three degrees.

Allergies
I've blown my nose and dried my eyes.
I will weep no more.
I'm tired of sympathetic glances.
As I scramble to the door
To keep from interrupting church
By a seizure I deplore.

I'm as happy as a lark!
I could "gambol on the green!"
The cause of my hilarity,
Is easy to be seen.

You run different kinds of fever with different diseases; sometimes the fever goes up and stays up during the illness until it suddenly breaks and returns to normal. That break in the fever is known as the crisis. Some illnesses are marked by fevers that go up and down during the day and this type, called intermittent fever, is frequently marked by chills when the fever starts up and heavy sweats as it breaks and starts down to normal.

A less common type of fever is one that stays up for a certain period of days, then drops to normal for a period, only to return to a high mark again and so forth; this is remittent fever such as is common in the disease called relapsing fever.

Fever is a very definite signal sort of a stop light that warns you to take stock of your health. And it may play a significant part in the periodic physical examination.

I'm dousing nose drops down the drain,

I'll deck my hair with sunflowers,

By J. H. R.

The medical dictionary defines "allergy" as the natural sensitiveness of an individual to an antigen or allergen. Regardless of what the book says, those victims of one or more phases of the dreaded malady know, by bitter experience, that it is nothing more or less than a terrible misery from which you wish you could die but somehow, never do. As in the case of seasickness, the sufferer arrives at the stage of desperation when sudden death would be sweet oblivion but no such luck. Whether an allergy results from pollens or foods; regardless of the form it takes, e. g. migraine headaches, eczema, hives, or chills, it is a devilish nuisance which thirty years of constant research by eminent allergists have failed to alleviate to any marked extent.

These "Johnnies to the rescue" have made some progress in that they know the most probable cause and by use of the Chinese herb, ephedrine, adrenalin, and lately the anti-histamin drugs can effect temporary relief for the patient. Of course, in extreme cases, the patient can be put into an oxygen tent and, by adding a little helium to the oxygen, he will live to pass the disease on to his grandchildren. A lovely inheritance, hay-fever, but they do say it can be inherited, whether it is mentioned in the will or not. Life is just a bowl of cherries or I should say a cherry-red nose for the hay-fever addict.

Of course, there are other things in life besides chocolate, ragweeds, golden rods, and strawberries to which one can be allergic. For instance, there are those allergic to housework (like husbands) and those who break out in a rash at the thought of darned socks (like wives); and little boys with an allergy for soap and water and young men whose breath comes in short pants at the sight of a shapely coed. For these phases of allergy, even the oxygen tent gives no relief. And after careful research, prominent psychoanalysts have concluded that such allergies are more often a convenience than a misery.

Perhaps it is true that "the rose by any other name would smell as sweet" but, to the unfortunates plagued by hay-fever, asthma, and the like through the late summer and fall, the flora and fauna rise up as formidable enemies to fill the air with pollen dust generally making their lives miserable. There is only one comforting thought in all the discoveries relative to allergies. Psychiatrists do say that, if allergic people find life hard to take, it's probably because as a group they are more intelligent, responsive, and dynamic than the run-of-the-mill human beings. So chin up, fellow sufferers! Henceforth, wear your red nose and weepy eyes with pride and flaunt your kleenex as a banner of honor! You are worthy members of the intelligencia! So "gesundheit" (God bless you) forevermore!

Cyclones Take First Conference Game 12-7

Two thousand scared Memphis football fans heaved a sigh of relief as the timer's watch ran out and the Cyclone of Memphis had their 12-7 win over the Lefors Pirates safe.

As the game ended the Cyclone man of the night, Pete Moore, was on the bench with an injured knee and the Pirates were threatening the Cyclone goal.

Moore was the man in front of the Cyclone victory. The 190 pound center handled the Pirate terror, Don Stokes, 270 pound tackle, the entire game. Moore moved the big boy, allowing him to do little damage to the Memphis running game.

Game at A Glance

Memphis	Lefors
154 Yards Rushing	101
28 Yards Passing	42
182 Total Yards	143
12 First Downs	8
3 Passes Att.	10
1 Passes Comp.	3
2 Passes Intercepted.	1
3 Punts	3

Not only did Moore open up the Lefors line, but he was the block in the middle of a Memphis line that allowed the Pirates only 34 yards rushing during the first half.

He also became the 2-A district's highest scoring center when he moved to the halfback to ram over the first Cyclone score from the eight yard marker, dragging the last tackler with him.

Although Moore rammed the ball over with a bruising line

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

back, it was the workhorse of the squad, Tommy Messer, that carried the ball on ten of the 25 plays necessary for the score.

The drive started on the Memphis eleven and Messer gained 57 of the 89 yards gained in the drive.

The touchdown came mid-way of the second period when the Cyclone took the ball on downs after Lefors had driven to the Cyclone eleven.

Moore tried to run over the extra point, but was met by a solid wall of Pirates that he could not penetrate.

The second Cyclone score came suddenly in the waning moments of the second quarter on a pass from Roddie Stargel to Don Rasco.

Stargel's first pass had been intercepted by Clemmons for Lefors on his own 13. The Cyclone line held the visitors for a gain of one yard on three tries. Dickerson got off a 17 yard punt that went out of bounds on the Lefors 31.

At this point Stargel started the Cyclone toward the goal. He sent Miller into the line for no gain, then Lee tried and got a weak two. Then with the defense pulled in, Stargel sent Rasco down behind the defense and hit him with a 28 yard toss. Moore tried to run the extra point, but was stopped.

With a 12 point lead and the visitors befuddled from trying to figure who had the ball in the Split T, Memphis seemed headed for victory with a safe margin.

The half time was all the Lefors coach needed to tell his players the defense for the split T was to grab everything that was running and that is exactly what the Pirates did in the second half.

It was on the kick-off for the second half that Lefors made the bobble that cost them the game. Charles Messer kicked-off for Memphis and Dickerson took the ball on his own four. He exploded through the converging Cyclone on about the 25. He broke completely in the clear in mid-field and the nearest man to him was Don Rasco. Two Pirates converged on Rasco and with Dickerson nearing the goal, fate stepped in and became one of the Pirates to throw a block. He did, hitting Rasco from behind and the referee that was running with the play dropped his red flag.

The Pirates put the ball in play on the 35, but could never get started.

The Pirates scored mid-way of the fourth period when they drove 75 yards to score. The big push in this drive was made when Martin caught the Memphis defense flat footed and scampered 41 yards before anyone realized who had the ball. He was dropped from behind, but this only checked the goal-bound Pirates momentarily. A few plays later Martin went over from the 11, after bouncing off of three Cyclone tacklers.

Watson ran the extra point over to make the score 12-7.

The Pirates started a second drive late in the fourth period, fighting both the Cyclones and the clock. The Memphis defense tightened long enough for the clock to run out with the Pirates on the Cyclone 15.

Farm and Ranch Chatter

It used to be that pastures were something for farmers, ranchmen and technical experts to think about.

But the forage crop has put on a white collar now and got itself into society.

First of all, not long ago a group of women, mostly wives of livestock men but not altogether, asked a pasture and grass man to work up a pasture tour for them. That was in Bosque county.

As far as we know, it was the first pasture tour ever held strictly for women. And they loved it.

It does make sense, all right. Actually, more than half the knowledge that channels into the farm and ranch homes comes through the lady of the house, who does more reading, more radio listening, etc., than her husband. A great deal of it comes in by way of youngsters, too, what with their schooling, their 4-H work, and their Future Farmer and Future Homemaker club activities. And look at the women who inherit farms and have to run them.

Now, last week, fabulous millionaire Glenn McCarthy, fell hook line and sinker for the idea of having a pangola grass cutting distribution on the front lawn of his fabulous Hotel Shamrock in Houston. It was the brain child of some of the main springs of the 2000-member Houston Farm and Ranch Club. In Houston, as everyone knows, things are done in a grandiose manner. What could have brought more publicity to pangola grass than to have the Shamrock as the backdrop for the distribution of enough sprigs of the grass to take care of 800 acres in some 85 Texas counties, all the way from the Rio Grande to Red River, and everywhere in one or two counties in the Panhandle. It was the Houston Farm and Ranch Club which first got so many people in Texas interested in reseeded crimson clover as a degume crop a couple of years ago, after it conducted some tours of the crimson clover in Alabama. Last spring the Club took two planeloads of Texans to Florida to look at the pangola grass. Results orders from Texas farmers for it. Order blanks went out to county agents and others in east Texas. Over eight hundred farmers ordered enough of the sprigs to take care of one acre. Given plenty of water, that is supposed to be enough to take care of as much pasture land as desired. About half of this grass was trucked from the Norris Cattle

HAIL DAMAGE GREAT — Wednesday afternoon Hall and other counties were visited by a destructive hail storm that did destructive damage to crops in many communities, in more or less amounts. Reports are to the effect that the storm reached from Oklahoma City to Plainview, spotted it is true, but disastrous in many sections of the country.

From reports brought into Memphis this Thursday it seems that Friendship, Plaska, Lakeview, Leslie, Deep Lake, Turkey, Quitaque, and Salisbury were the greatest sufferers. The reports are from small damage to some crops to total losses to others, in the same neighborhood.

NEW GEM THEATRE OPENS — The new Gem Theatre, under the management of Mr. Hall, opened last Monday night with a crowded house. The band played several selections in front while the crowd was gathering and the Red River Rambler Orchestra furnished music for the occasion on the inside.

Better Buy Buick!

PERHAPS you've noticed that there seem to be a lot of these brawny beauties running around on America's highways — and it isn't just that boldly gleaming forefront that spreads this impression. It isn't just the fact that folks who own a Buick get such a bang out of it that they do a lot of driving. Back of all this is another fact. It's a fact that contains a broad hint to anyone who'd like to know what's what in motorcar buys. 1950 Buicks are breaking all past popularity records, as registered in sales.

So we suggest that you do some personal investigating. Find out, for example, how masterful you feel, with Fireball power purring away the miles, at a polite touch of your toe on the gas treadle.

Find out how the jolts and jars seem to disappear, when you have big soft coil springs on all four wheels, and fat low-pressure tires on wide Safety-Ride rims.

Then there's Dynaflo Drive,* which Buick owners vote the biggest automotive hit that has come along in years.

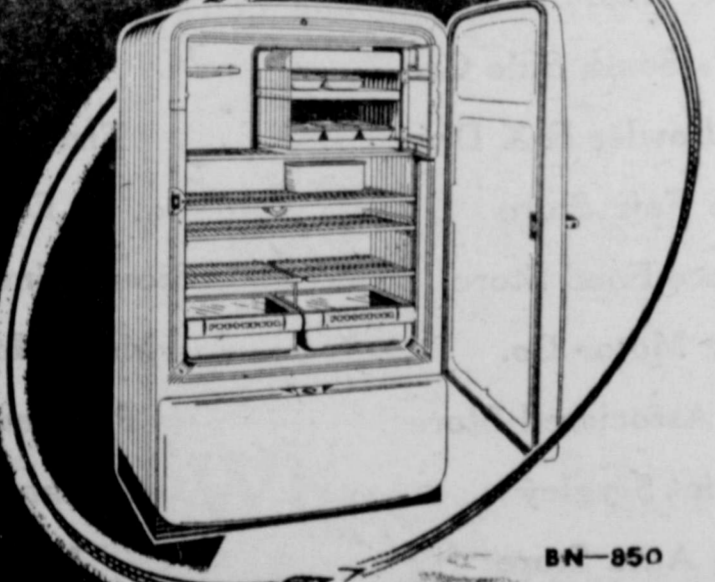

With all this, there's room, and comfort, and road-hugging heft combined with a light and willing response to your hand on the wheel — and prices that start down with the sixes.

Seems like almost everyone wants to own one of these Buicks — and most people can. How about you? Isn't it a smart idea to see your Buick dealer now and get your name on his list?

Only BUICK has Dynaflo — and with it goes HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.) * NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD fender, taper-through fenders • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube
