Meanwhile buyers at the annual Panhandle Hereford Bre-

ders Blue Ribon Sale Wednesday set new records in the 35-year history of the cattle auction.

Seventy-three head of bulls were sold for $59,985, an average of $821, a head and sixteen head of females brought $13,740, an average of $858.

Top animal in the sale was Dr. HH Domino 28th consigned by F. Jake Hess of McLean, who sold his bull to C. A. Hoover of Perryton for $2,555.

Record Cotton Crop Of 175,000 Acres Predicted for 1951

Hall county farmers are expected to plant a record crop of cotton during 1951 which will approximate 175,000 acres according to information released by the Production Marketing Administration office and the County Agent office.

Total acreage planted in cotton in Hall county this past year amounted to 104,000 acres; however 40,000 acres were ruined by hail last summer.

The record year of acre planting was in 1949 when local farmers sowed 165,000 acres and reaped a 91,000 bale harvest for the county.

Final figures for the 1950 crop are not complete but estimates place the total bales near 30,000.

Due to the national crisis, most farmers intend to plant all available land in cotton. At present, Hall county has about 40,000 acres in wheat and 10,000 in alfalfa plus some pasture acreage. After the recent moisture most farmers will probably take advantage of the wheat they have planted, although before the moisture many considered plowing it up to make additional room for cotton.

Ginning activity this season is expected to last through March and part of April.

Seed delinting is in process at present.

Hints & Tips on Gardening

In order to stimulate interest in the beautification program which is being sponsored by the City Federation of Women's Clubs, a garden column will be featured in The Democrat for the next few weeks. The purpose of this column will be to aid those who would like to know more about how to grow plants and shrubs.

"It is our aim through a city wide beautification and clean-up campaign to make Memphis a more desirable place in which to live," Mrs. D. L. C. Kinard, general chairman of the project, stated. "And we want to urge each citizen to cooperate with us in this project."

Featured in the garden column will be valuable information on how to plant and care for flowers and shrubs best suited to the climate here. All information for the column will be compiled by Mrs. W. T. Hightower and Mrs. T. J. Dunbar, chairmen of the plant and shrub committees, who have had much experience in growing flowers.

The first in the series is published below:

Keep in mind the color picture when your shrubs and flowers come into bloom. For instance, if you have space in a corner in your back yard, plant a red bud which is tall in the corner. Next, plant forsythia (yellow and lower) in front and put cydonia (flowering quince) and fill in the border spaces next fall with daffodils. You can circle the bed if you like with violets and outline them with crocus bulbs. They all bloom at practically the same time and make a pretty color combination. If you have a flowering peach you can add these plants near it. They, too, have the same blooming season.

Almost all lilies, except regal and madonna, should be planted now. Give them drainage, rich dirt with plenty of bone meal, dust with sulphur and put them where they can stay for years.

March is a splendid time to plant pansies. Plants that are well established should be set in beds. Cold weather and snow will not effect them if they are well set and watered. You may see beautiful pansies blooming in the snow.

Peonies may be planted now. However, you'll probably have to wait a tall for blossoms.

W. E. Collins Honored With Birthday Dinner

W. E. Collins, who observed his 82nd birthday Sunday, was honored with a dinner Sunday at his home in Carey.

Those enjoying this affair were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Collins and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Collins, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wyatt all of Childress, Mr. and Mrs. John Collins of Kirkland, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Wyatt and son of Tell, Mrs. Lonnie Wade of Wichita Falls, Mrs. Harley Skidmore and children of Northfield, Mr. and Mrs. Strauss Wade and family of Bowie, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Collins and family, Mr. and Mrs. Estal Collins and family, Archie Collins and boys, all of Memphis, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Thomas and family of Clarendon, the honoree, W. E. Collins and Mrs. Collins.

VFW Auxiliary Enjoys "Cootie" Party Thursday

Members of the V. F. W. Auxiliary enjoyed a "Cooties" party Thursday evening, February 22, in the VFW hall. Mrs. John McCauley and Mrs. Robert Moss were hostesses.

Refreshment of cherry pie topped with whipped cream and coffee were served following games of cootie to Mmes. Lynn B. Jones, Wilda Trent, Elmer Spruill, W. R. Scott, Lloyd Vandeventer, William Moss, Carl Kulp, Garland Moore, Bill Crowder, Melton Ellis and E. W. Godfrey, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Hanna and Carroll visited in Abilene with their two sons, Bob and Weldon, and Mrs. Hanna's aunt, Mrs. Rhea. Bob is attending Hardin-Simmons University and Weldon is attending Draughon's Business College.

Enrich ground now and let's settle for such plants as snapdragons as they should be planted soon. Reset violets, daisies, phlox, day lilies and plant delphinium and columbine right away. These last two grow in part shade.

Begin planting gladioli bulbs the first of March and plant bulbs every two weeks through March and April. Bulbs should be set six inches deep in the ground to give sufficient stem support to blossoms.

Whatever plants you have to spare when separating your own, either call a neighbor who can use them, or phone 182.

Panhandle Region Center of Study For Development

A study of potential industrial development, population growth, and requirements for municipal and industrial water supplies in the Panhandle-Plains area has been initiated by the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas.

Announcement of the study was made Saturday in Amarillo by H. E. Robbins, regional director of the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation.

The survey, Director Robbins said, will be conducted in 44 counties in Texas to include the trade areas of major cities in the region.

The survey area includes all counties in the north and south Panhandle-Plains Region; Motley, Dickens, and Kent counties to the southeast, and Borden, Dawson, and Gaines counties to the south.

crews, under the direction of Dan C. Hill, Jr., will interview many persons in each 44 counties comprising the survey area. Among those to be contacted are heads of business concerns, including petroleum refining plants, smelters, chemical and food processing plants, which now use water for industrial purposes; city officials and commanding officers of defense installations.

Looking to the future industrial development and water supply requirements in the area, the survey will provide estimates of potential municipal and industrial water use trends in 1960, 1980, and 2000.

The university's detailed analysis of the many factors that influence industrial expansion and population growth, and which result in increased water requirements, Director Robbins explained, will facilitate planning operations by the Bureau of Reclamation when funds are provided by Congress for construction of the Canadian River Project.

The bill authorizing construction of the 84-million dollar Canadian River Project to supply water for 11 cities in the Panhandle-Plains area became law last December when it was signed by President Truman.

However, the Congress has not provided funds for construction of the dam on the Canadian River or an aqueduct to transport water to the 11 project cities.

Powered Milk Can Help Cut High Food Cost

Here's a suggestion from Jimmie Nell Harris, associate extension foods and nutrition specialist of Texas A. & M. College, that may help homemakers get more food value into meals at a low cost.

She suggests using dry powdered milk for cooking. She points out that non-fat dry solids are made from fresh milk—the liquids are removed by evaporation. If you need a liquid, there are two methods commonly used for changing the dry powdered into liquid skim milk.

Make Up

Use a mixing bowl and pour into it enough water to make up the required amount of skim milk—sprinkle the dry skim milk powder on top of the water and beat with a rotary egg beater until the milk solids have dissolved. The mixture can also be placed in a glass jar with a tight fitting lid and—a few hard shakes will dissolve the powder.

After the dry solids have been changed to a liquid, Hiss Harris says to use it just as you would fresh milk—and this includes proper refrigeration.

blem and help our own grain sorghum market.

There are many points to consider in the proposed food grain shipments to India. Would appreciate the thoughts of you people in the Panhandle concerning this. Many letters have already come in.

Raw Cotton Ceilings: We are trying to do away with the ceilings on raw cotton. I placed in the Congressional Record a most pertinent resolution adopted by the State Legislature of Texas concerning this situation.

Visitors: We enjoy visits from the following Panhandle folks this week: H. A. Wallace, Glen Osborn and W. V. Swinburn, from Tulla; Worth H. Nicholl, Charles M. Rogers and R. A. Selby, from Amarillo; Curtis A. Cryer and Ernest Kelly from Borger; Elmer J. Moore from Shamrock; J. L. Russell from Canyon; H. F. Railsback from Dalhart; C. R. Zevely and Hueyn Laycock from Pampa; and Lee Jackson from Phillips.

Six Days A Week: Letters have been pouring in from all over the nation concerning my statement that Federal departments should stay open six days a week. Many of these are most abusive; many highly complimentary. The abusive ones did not come from the 18th District, but mostly from large cities and from Washington, D. C.

Tempo: The Tempo is increasing. Look for lots of news in the next few months, especially on the international situation.

The Eskimo dog possesses the heaviest fur.

Why do some of the cotton seeds you plant fail to come? Seed rot is the answer in great many cases. Disease organisms in your soil attack the seeds and make them rot before they have a chance to sprout or germinate.

The rot-producing organisms attack your seeds in any kind of weather. Their effects are worst in a spell of cold, damp weather shortly after planting time. But even in fine weather, they can cut down your cotton crop before it ever gets to grow.

There are several kinds of harmful bacteria and fungi that can live in your soil. You cannot see them without a microscope. But you can see their effects all too clearly, by scooping up some dirt from a spot where you planted seeds that never came up. Just by looking at them, you can plainly see how the seeds have decayed.

Fortunately you can prevent much or most of this seed decay, and at a low cost for the chemical—less than 10¢ per acre. Just treat your seed (or have it treated) before planting, with an organic mercury dust. This will protect your seed from the bacteria that cause decay. Ask your County Agent about the value of this treatment and where you can get your seed treated.

REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

By CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS

THE STATEMENT OF JOSEPH STALIN: The great significance of the recent statement of Joseph Stalin does not lie in what he said or what he said, but in the fact that he broke a silence of approximately two years duration.

It is well known that under the "Silent Joe" theory it was supposed to say anything unless it is for the purpose of settling inner-party differences which are of such great importance as to require a definite statement of policy by Uncle Sam.

Therefore his statement could indicate that there are recessions within the higher echelons of the Party in Russia as to method of handling the great issues in Russian proper and the satellite nations.

There is no doubt that the trouble has been encountered in the satellite countries that demanded some immediate and extensive measures.

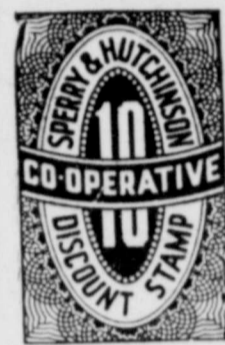

It is necessary for Joe to speak his piece and definitely underwrite the policy of the "big lie" propaganda words were still number one with the Reds. More about this.

Sorghums
Sorghums: The loan maturity date of grain sorghums could cost many farmers of the 18th District and 19th District lots of money. Congressman George Mahon and myself have conferred on several occasions with the Commodity Credit Corporation hoping to secure a sixty-day extension of the loan maturity date and have enlisted the aid of numerous other Texas congressmen in this fight.

There are several excellent arguments against the extension of this maturity date, but we have kept up the fight and expect to meet with Commodity Credit officials sometime within the next few days for the purpose of trying to work this matter out to the benefit of the Panhandle farmers.

I have just talked to Mr. Underhill of the department and expect to have a conference with Mr. Kruse and Congressman Mahon within the next few hours.

Wheat
Wheat to India: There is a sharp division in Congress on what should be done on the Indian situation. The grain being considered is not all wheat. The request has been for food grains, which of course, includes grain sorghums. The Indians grind this and make bread. Perhaps we could do a little research on this pro-

C. L. Schmalried served as his brother's best man.

David and Frank Schmalried, younger brothers of the groom, lighted the candles.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's apartment. Misses Kayla Young and Wynelle Fitzgerald, roommates of the bride, served the wedding cake and punch.

Delinter Machines In Operation Here

Hall county now has its own delinting plant capable of delinting from 14,000 to 16,000 pounds of cotton seed every 24 hours.

Omer Hill Elevator and Delinter located on the Southeast side of Memphis on Highway 287 has recently installed a delinting process.

Farmers from this area previously had to carry seed to Childress, Vernon and distant points for delinting.

Hill stated that the delinting machinery is now on a 24-hour operation.

Tracing the cotton seed through the delinting process proved to be an interesting and fascinating trip. As it is unloaded from the truck or wagon, it falls into a pit-like bin which a conveyor belt carries it up to a second floor where a mechanical shaker takes out dirt particles and rocks.

The cotton seed then fall into the linter machines built of circular saws. The seed is tumbled in these machines on saw-tooth edges. Brushes then take the lint severed from the seed and it is pulled out by air.

Cleaner
The cotton seed proceed onto another conveyor belt which takes them to a second delinter machine to cut further lint.

From the second they are carried to a cleaner composed of a screen and an air stream. Afterwards they are processed in a chemical solution, a Ceresan seed disinfectant, and re-sacked.

The cotton seed undergo about a 20 per cent loss through the delinting process.

ing process. In other words, a on of cotton seed processed through the delinter gives about 6,000 pounds of lint-free seed.

This delinted seed not only enables faster planting but requires only about five or six pounds to the acre and goes further than seed not delinted. Research also proves delinted seed grows faster and fairs better in dry soil conditions.

Additional information concerning the delinting process may be obtained from the Hill Elevator and Delinter.

Farmers, who have wheat, believe the one-inch (more or less) rain of last week was beneficial—at least was given a lease on life until more moisture falls. Wheat have been greening up this week. A lot of farms are being put in shape for planting cotton and other crops.

Remembering how Fairview Cemetery looked just a few years ago, I cannot help but be proud of the fact that our city officials had the interest of the entire community at heart to the extent that a lot of improvements have been made during the past few years, and still being made such as graveling all the streets, straightening up the monuments and otherwise dressing up the City of the Dead. No longer do our people have to apologize for an ill-kept plot of ground. The City Dads who have had the lead in the enterprise are C. C. Hodges, Wendell Harrison and Hbrace Tarver.

CIVIL DEFENSE

Volunteer Army of Civilians Will Guard Us From Disaster

By Walter A. Shead

(This is the first of five articles on civil defense.)

A TALL, LEAN, SQUARE-JAWED, broad-shouldered man sits in a temporary office in one of the many converted government buildings, a short two blocks from the White House. His name is destined to become well known to millions of Americans. He is Millard F. Caldwell, former governor of Florida, who has been handed the tremendous responsibility of the nation's civil defense and who will head up a volunteer army of civilian Americans which will total some 20,000,000 men and women in every state of the union.

His immediate job is to weld together a small force of approximately 3,000 paid employees, approximately 1,000 of whom will be administrative workers here in Washington, the rest field officers in various states and strategic areas.

At the same time, he must start from scratch to train these people who will in turn train his 20-million-man army in an entirely new field of civilian defense warfare—a type warfare new to civilization in which the mode of defense is largely over pioneer and untrod paths, and in which men, women and children, untrained, without knowledge of possible defense—may be helplessly slaughtered by the thousands.

Governor Caldwell must come up with the answers to these questions: What can I do to protect myself and my neighbors if an atomic bomb is dropped in or near my home? What about a hydrogen bomb? What protection do I have in case a bacteriological bomb or balloon is loosed in my community? What defense is there against radiological warfare? Or the dropping of insect pests or plant disease to destroy crops and animals?

Governor Caldwell believes that it is entirely within the realm of possibility that the American people face one or all of these terrible methods of modern warfare if the nation should get into a full-scale war with Russia. The extent would depend only upon the enemy's ability to pierce our air defenses, our sea defenses and just how far the Russian's were determined to go.

So a well-trained civilian army is as essential to the nation's defense as a well-trained and equipped military force; is just as essential, and possibly more so in saving the lives of American civilians and, without civilian all-out production our military cannot move.

There are defenses to atomic bombs, to attacks against esti-

Sailing due east out of Boston Harbor, one would land first in Spain.

By the end of 1950, more than 2,447,000 World War II veterans had obtained GI guaranteed and insured loans having a total value of nearly $14 billion. Ninety per cent of the loans were for homes; the remainder were for farms and businesses.

and crops and animals. But every citizen must be as well educated in these defenses, as acutely aware of the danger, and as alertly conscious of just what action to take as he is of any chore of his daily life; for it is possible we shall be living with these dangers for many years to come if we live at all.

So the job of the civilian defense administration is to educate the people, to organize defenses, to set up this volunteer army, to see that state legislatures pass such enabling legislation and appropriations as are necessary, and to train men and women in scores of facets incidental to a catastrophe such as certainly will happen if a bomb is dropped in their midst.

These include, not only protection against the bomb itself to minimize loss of life and injury, but efficient first aid, fire fighting, evacuation, health facilities, water supply, medical attention, food supplies, social services, warning signals, and an efficient organization for any contingency, which spreads from the cities into the small towns and rural sections of every area in the nation.

The help of every organization in the nation and of every individual will be enlisted not only to join in the civil defense, but to help make the masses of the people bomb-conscious, to prevent fear and hysteria so that a major catastrophe may be averted.

The government has been for months making detailed studies of the bombing of European cities in World War II, of the effects of the atomic bombs at Nagasaki and Hiroshima. They have worked out pattern and effects and defenses. The public health service and the American Red Cross have worked out detailed plans for health protection. The bureau of animal husbandry and the bureau of plant industry of the department of agriculture have a plan of action for defense against release of gases, pests and plant disease aimed at animal and crop destruction.

Blue tags attached to sack of certified seed carry accurate information about the variety of the planting seed. Blue tags are issued by the Department of Agriculture use on seed which have not high standards of purity germination. In 1950 blue tags were issued for 96 varieties 12 different crops grown in as.

When farmers buy certified seed, they know what they are getting. Hooser reminds farmers that the certification tags are an excellent source of valuable information when they are needed.

- 1. Treat the seed before planting.
- 2. Inoculate leguminous crops as peas and beans for better nodulation.
- 3. Plant good seed of all varieties that have high yields.

Cancer Society Releases Report Describing Work

How Texas is "meeting the challenge of cancer" is described in the 1950 annual report of the American Cancer Society, Texas Division, just released.

Cancer deaths in Texas are increasing every year, the report portends. During 1950 almost 8,000 Texans died of the disease. As in the rest of the United States, cancer is second only to heart disease as a cause of death in this state.

Menace

To meet this menace, the Texas Division of the American Cancer Society in 1950 spent $387,903.59, the amount contributed to the 1949 Cancer Crusade. One-fourth of this money went into research—$96,975.90.

Medical Scientists at four units of the University of Texas, at Baylor University and at the Foundation for Applied Research, are conducting research under grants from the Society.

Fifteen cents out of every dollar donated to the Texas Cancer Crusade went for service to cancer patients, through financial help to eleven tumor clinics in Texas, the report states.

Part of the Society's service program also includes the preparation of dressings, the supplying of loan closets and sickroom items, and other aids for the cancer patients.

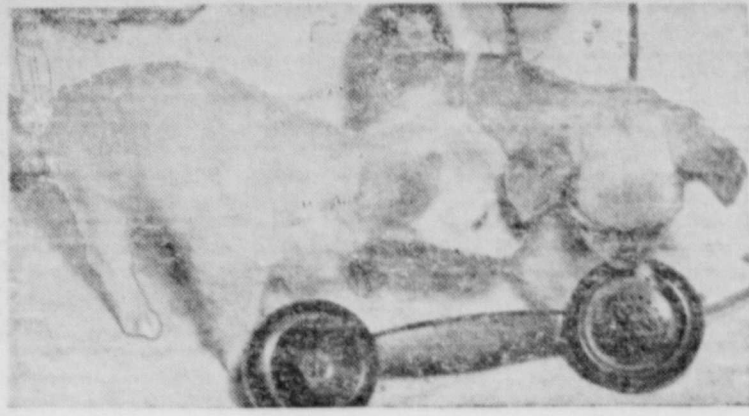

Last year El Paso County Unit of the Society, alone, reported 250 women volunteers participating in this program.

Requests

Last year the state office of the American Cancer Society received 3,311 requests for cancer information through a special mailing arrangement by which letters are addressed to "Cancer", in care of the local post office. All were answered with a letter and literature.

County units of the American Cancer Society are operating twelve cancer information centers in Texas. The centers are located at El Paso, Texarkana, Amarillo, San Angelo, Dallas, San Antonio, Austin, Galveston, Houston, Eastland, and Prairie View.

Part-time centers include those at Waco, Texas City and Baytown. The Prairie View center, one of the most recent, was established in September for special cancer educational work among Negroes of the state.

Dairy Industry To Make Plans For Convention

Texas' expansion dairy products industry will prepare wartime-footing blueprints at the 43rd annual convention of the Dairy Products Institute of Texas in San Antonio, Feb. 25-27.

All segments of the vast, multi-million dollar dairy industry of the state will be represented among the 800 delegates, their families and guests expected to attend.

George M. Clarke, executive vice-president of the Institute, said this week the convention program had a two-fold purpose: (1) to lay plans to meet heavy demands for dairy products; and (2) to discuss steps for fulfillment of consumer requirements of civilians and war plant workers.

"As mobilization is accelerated and camps in numerous Texas towns begin to fill up," Clarke said, "it will become increasingly important that the dairy industry be prepared to change over from normal to emergency operations. We plan at the convention to lay the groundwork for such a step and be ready to act upon short notice."

Clarke said the dairy products industry in Texas was fully aware of its important place in keeping the nation healthy.

Charge Politics Cause of High Coffee Prices

Veteran business reporter Leslie Gould charged today that the State Department helped cover up coffee price manipulations which gained millions of dollars for U. S. and South American speculators.

Writing in the February issue of Cosmopolitan magazine, Gould says the artificial rigging of the market added six to seven hundred million dollars a year to America's coffee bill, or around $20 a year for each family.

According to this expert, the State Department even forced a powerful Senatorial investigating committee to tone down its report and soften its criticism of the racketeers.

Gould says that published stories about small coffee crops and increased consumption were entirely false, and points out that, between early spring and October of 1949, prices soared from 21 cents to 42 cents a pound on the New York Coffee Exchange.

Explaining that price manipulations were easy for South American speculators "because the U. S. antitrust and antimonopoly laws do not apply to them," the writer cites rumors that some Washington politicians may be splitting some of the millions snatched from the American wife's purse.

Gould names Manuel Mejia, head of a hundred-million-dollar Colombia combine, as the man who "can hold coffee off the market or release it for sale, according to market conditions."

National Crisis Causes Student Enrollment Lag

The national emergency was primarily responsible for the 979 drop in enrollment figures at Texas Technological College for the second semester, Registrar W. P. Clement announced.

Clement said 4,493 students registered for the second semester, compared with 5,472 for the first semester. The registrar said, however, that expected enrollment in proposed night classes should boost the total figure above 4,500.

WINTER SUNTAN

Winter sunshine is the best of all, says this eye-catching Florida vacationer who has migrated south to escape the ice and snow. To absorb her quota of Vitamin D, the pretty sun worshipper wears a trim, strapless shorts outfit. She made the solid-colored shorts suit from dyed cotton flour bags and a contrasting striped skirt and jacket from gaily striped feed bags!

accounted in part for the enrollment drop, Clement said, but was not responsible for such a big dip. He explained that over 300 men had gone into the armed services during the latter part of the first semester, and that others signed up between terms.

Clement said the enrollment drop included less than 100 women. The great discrepancy, some 24 per cent, was in the men's enrollment. He said that was caused by the military situation.

Top 25 Records Of All Time Lists Favorites

Surveys made among music publishers, composers, bandleaders, disc jockeys and music stores showed that records made by Bing Crosby, Artie Shaw and Glenn Miller lead a list of "The Top 25 Records of All Time."

Results of the poll, which are published in the February issue of Cosmopolitan magazine, list three of Bing's records among the top 25, with Shaw and Guy Lombardo winning two places each. Crosby's "White Christmas," which sold over eight million copies, was named most popular in the survey, and his "Jingle Bells" was runner up.

"In the Mood"

The next four platters, listed in order of their popularity, are: Glenn Miller's "In the Mood"; Artie Shaw's "Begin the Beguine"; Les Brown's "Sentimental Journey"; and Shaw's "Stardust."

Guy Lombardo's "Winter Wonderland" and "Humoresque" were in 17th and 24th places, respectively. The oldest record on the Running Away from Security

Can you remember back in history to the Civil War days and a few years before when the Negro slaves ran away from the White man's plantations in the South?

Let us think for a few paragraphs about those slaves that ran away and why they did seek to get to the North.

To help us remember his position remember, the slave received all meals for himself and his family for nothing.

He paid no rent.

He and his family received free clothing.

His house was furnished for him.

He got his working tools for nothing.

In fact, he didn't have to pay for anything. He didn't even need to have any money.

Despite these, he ran away!

You know the answer. The picture we have given is an old familiar one of a slave running away from all the blessings mentioned. That slave and a lot of others, preferred freedom and insecurity to slavery and security.

Why do we bring this up?

Because we, as individuals, are sacrificing our freedom to become slaves.

For every benefit we gain, we have to pay a price. That price is part of our freedom.

Compare our lot with that of our ancestors, the pioneers With little more than their two hands, they won a living from the wilderness. But they had freedom, and what they earned was their own. They supported themselves, but not their masters.

They didn't ask for or want subsidies or support prices.

Just remember we, today, are becoming like slaves, for every bit of ground our government gives toward socialism, we lose that much freedom.

Our forefathers supported only themselves, but a slave has to support himself and his master.

QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

WRONG TREE
The 1500 members of a housewives league in a Texas city recently announced that they have agreed to reduce their weekly grocery bills by three dollars apiece. They call this action a "semi-boycott" of the grocery stores. The league also sent letters to the President and a Congressman asking for immediate price controls based on the average prices charged over the last two years.

The worry that the rising cost of living has caused is certainly understandable. But here is a case where the housewives in question are barking up the wrong tree.
The food merchant—or any other kind of merchant—is not responsible for inflation. He, like the consumer, is one of the victims of it. And the fact is that, in this crisis and in those of the past, he has fought inflation with all the weapons at his disposal.

The figures tell the story. The grocery chains commonly keep a profit only a cent to a cen-and-a-half of the money spent across their counters. All the rest goes out for supplies, wages, taxes and other necessary expenses. Other kinds of food stores have a similar financial experience. In the general merchandise business—which is complicated by style and seasonal trends, and other inventory problems—the profit runs to only a few cents out of the consumer's dollar.

In their letters to the government officials the housewives would have been wise had they demanded the strictest kind of economy in domestic government spending. Government waste and extravagance, accompanied by ever-recurring, ever-growing deficits, are the most powerful inflationary forces that exist and that goes for government of all kinds, from a little school district to the huge Federal establishment itself. To blame the merchant for a condition which is completely beyond his control is to do him an injustice—and, far more important, to divert the minds of people from the real causes of booming prices.

Annual Crucifixion Program On Greatest Story Ever Told

Radio's most honored program, "The Greatest Story Ever Told," will again present its Easter Programs on Sunday, March 18 and March 25, with "The Crucifixion" on Palm Sunday, and "The Resurrection" on Easter Sunday, at 5:30 p.m., EST, over the ABC network. These two Easter programs, as well as the Christmas programs, have become traditional radio fare for the American public. The fine dramatic presentations of these Biblical stories have constantly increased in popularity since their first presentation, five years ago, when "The Greatest Story Ever Told" first came on the air.

Most unusual among radio programs in many respects, there is no commercial announcement at any time on this program, except for the sponsor identification required by law. Neither are actor, director, writer, or music credits ever given, so that the program is entirely in the spirit of a sincere public service. It is not surprising, therefore, that this sincerity in presenting a radio program has brought it more honors than any other radio offering.

Early Love Call

The north winds may blow and we will have snow and what the poor robin will do, I don't know for already the robins have returned to this part of the country and what's more—the coo of the mourning dove has been heard. Yes, the gentle dove is cooing his early love song to Spring, wooing her this way. The flowers don't yet appear on the earth hereabouts but "the time of singing birds is come and the voice of the turtle (dove) is heard in our land".

The snow fell, the winds blew. Then came a quite day. . . . And from a distance, I heard the coo Of the mourning dove's roundelay.

Plaintive, wooing notes, and I knew Spring was coming this way.

The name "mourning dove" was given to this bird because of its plain dress and plaintive coo. Although, the 5 to 7 note call is melodious. And there is an old superstition that the direction from which you heard the first dove coo in the spring is the way you will next travel. Be that as it may, it is the coo of the male dove which you hear at early morning or just before sundown. Neither rain nor cold (unless below freezing) stops his calling. As home builders, they are "slip-shod lovelies", the male brings a few sticks or pine needles which the dutiful spouse lays in place. The will even use second hand nest if one is available. Then undaunted by its flimsy construction, the mother bird settles down to lay two eggs, a day apart, and they take turns hovering them. Usually the male stays on the nest during the day and his "little gray lady" receives him at night. Neither brings food to the other. "Pigeon milk" is the first food given the baby birds. This fluid from the inside throat glands is supplied by both parents. From the time a pair of birds begins building the nest until the brood is on its own is little more than a month so sometimes a pair nests five or six times a season. Often they become grandparents the same season. The mourning dove has a "devoted" family life and it is believed, that a pair remains mated throughout a nesting season, unless one is killed. The soft-voiced mourning dove is the only game bird that nests in every one of the 48 states.

It breeds from southern Canada to northern Mexico. In some states hunting seasons open too early and last too long to be much protection. Where hunting is made legal before the end of the nesting season (mid-October) many nestlings die when one or both parents are killed. The numbers are dwindling in the Eastern and Southern states, so much so, that the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service recommends that the annual kill by hunters should be held down to less than one-fourth of the total number of doves.

In poetry and legend the dove has always been a symbol of innocence, love, and gentleness and in the Christian religion, it has played a prominent part. It was a dove that Noah sent from the Ark to search for dry land; a dove rested on the head of Christ after His baptism, and St. John "saw the spirit descending from heaven like a dove." In Bible times, even the poorest were able to have their dove-cotes and doves were among the few birds allowed to be offered as a sacrifice under the law of Moses. The dove was an emblem of the Holy Spirit, of peace, purity, and affection even in those days. Furthermore, doves have been used freely in pictures throughout all periods of Christian art. Most familiar to us is the picture of the dove with the

Cotton Leaders Fight Diseases

An educational program to fight diseases of cotton is being conducted in Texas and across the cotton belt by agricultural leaders. The objective of the campaign is to reduce the huge annual losses which cotton farmers suffer because of seed rot, sore-shin or damping-off, angular leaf spot and anthracnose boll rot.

Proper treatment with a seed disinfectant can reduce the effects of all these diseases and the importance of seed treatment is being emphasized by a poster and by educational releases on the subject from the Texas Extension Service. Because of the huge cotton production goal for 1951 and a below average supply of cotton seed, the treatment of seed is particularly important this year.

Texas leaders are shown above examining the poster for the campaign, which is being distributed for display in county agent offices, cotton gins, seed stores and other farm headquarters. Left to right are: Dr. G. M. Watkins, head of the Department of Plant Pathology, Texas A. & M.; Fred C. Elliott, Cotton Specialist, Texas Extension Service; and J. D. Prewitt, Chairman of the Texas Cotton Production Committee and Associate Director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Why does the Atlantic salmon take an artificial fly? A trout fisherman might say: A salmon takes the fly because it looks like food and he's hungry.

But one of the few proved facts about the Atlantic salmon is that they virtually stop feeding after they come from the sea into the river where we fish for them. Besides there are hours when salmon take the fly, but many more hours when they refuse it.

Dr. William J. Long things the answer is mainly that they take it by force of habit in a subconscious reaction, or reflex which has nothing to do with hunger. But, you may ask, if this is so why is the habit active at times but dormant at others?

Could it be water temperature? Dr. Long thinks that water temperature of itself has little effect on a salmon's activity. The real reason why he is more active in cool water is that it holds more oxygen in solution.

The point is that every change in the oxygen content of a river, from more to less or from less to more, has its effect on a salmon's mood or comfort and therefore on his outward actions.

So long as salmon are in a comfortable mood they rest for hours or days and until they wake up one might as well go fishing for Simple Simon. Fortunately for the angler, their mood may change at any moment.

It changes from sleepy to alert when an otter glides into the pool or slowly from comfort to restlessness when the supply of oxygen decreases. The conviction of many anglers that no salmon takes the fly unless disturbed or restless, is right I think, but impossible to prove.

Rules and methods of catching salmon are many but the one that works is this: Keep your fly in the water. What fly? I should say that your first choice might be a silver-bodied fly—Silver Wilkinson or Dusty Miller or Silver Doctor, as you please.

Your second might be a dark-bodied fly—Brown Fairy or Jock Scott or Black Dose. Your third pattern is for a time when salmon are not rising and you imagine that something different may tempt them. Then choose a pattern as different as possible from the other two.

VET PROBLEMS AND ANSWERS

Q. Can you tell me what type of evidence I should submit to VA in order to apply for death pension benefits? My husband, a World War I veteran, died recently but not of service-connected causes.

A. You should submit proof of your husband's death; complete information as to your annual income, and proof of your marriage to your late husband. If either you or your husband had been married previously, you also should submit proof that the earlier marriages were legally dissolved.

Q. I started school under the GI Bill a month ago. I just learned that my school, through oversight, had not yet returned my certificate of eligibility to VA. Meanwhile, I never received subsistence and my tuition hasn't been paid. If the school sends the certificate to VA now, will I get back subsistence and will the school get back tuition?

A. So long as the school sends the certificate back to VA within 90 days of the date of receipt VA will consider that date of receipt as the date of your entrance into training. Subsistence and tuition payments will begin as of that time.

Q. I am a World War I veteran and I have a $10,000 U. S. Government Life Insurance policy. I am thinking of turning $5,000 of it in for cash. If I do so, and later change my mind, will I be able to reinstate the cashed-in $5,000?

A. No. Under the law, U. S. Government Life Insurance surrendered for cash may not be reinstated. However, before you surrender, you should write to the Office of Insurance, Veterans Administration, Washington 25, D. C., and ask what courses of action are open to you under your insurance contract that would preserve your valuable reinstatement rights.
