Hints & Tips on Gardening

Watch for new growth on all perennials and as it begins they should be divided and reset. If this is postponed until the new growth is too far advanced it will set them back for sometime. Set out verbenas, snapdragons, Columbine, delphinium as soon as possible that roots may become established before hot weather. Roses should be sprayed every week from now on. They should be fertilized and kept well watered. When your peony stems are three to six inches tall dig a shallow trench about six inches from the stems around each plant and stir in about a tablespoonful of superphosphate. Soak this thoroughly into the soil. It will give you larger and more perfect blossoms. It is a good time to trim and shape evergreens of all kinds. The statue of Liberty was presented to the American people by the French government on the hundredth anniversary of American independence. Lions Talk Stresses Citizenship Virtues

Editor's Note: The following is a reprint of a speech delivered by B. M. Litton, minister of the Church of Christ, to members of the Memphis Lions Club recently. Min. Litton's ideas regarding the ingredients of good citizenship deserve serious thought.)

When the apostle Paul on Mars Hill, in the City of Athens, Greece, faced an audience of philosophers and worldly-wise men, they questioned themselves: "What will this babbling say?" No doubt you, too, are questioning in your minds: "What will this Campbell say?" Be that as it may, I'm not sure what I'll say myself. I do want to say that I am deeply grateful for this opportunity that you have given me to speak to a group of business men, teachers, doctors and other professional men.

I wish that I were qualified to speak on a variety of subjects. I would like to tell you business men how to be successful in business, but of course I know little about that. I would like to speak on state or world affairs, but you know as much about them as I do. Being thus limited, I shall try to stick to a subject on which I am—or should be—qualified to speak.

I want you to think with me for a few minutes about some of the necessary ingredients of good citizenship: some of those virtues necessary to instill into the lives of boys or girls or our own lives to create good citizenship. I shall not attempt to enumerate all of these necessary ingredients, but only some which seem of greatest importance.

One of the most important of these ingredients is HONESTY. We all know how much to be desired is this trait—in other people. We all want our groceryman or the service station man or any other person with whom we do business, to be honest with us. Honesty may be described first as FAIR DEALING, by which we mean fairness in business. Giving our customers, our employers or our employees, or the public, full measure in service or merchandise is our ordinary conception of honesty.

At the same time we realize the necessity of fair dealing with our country and our community. It goes without saying that every honest citizen will pay his taxes and render such service as his government, either local or national, may require. This, however, is not all that honesty to country and community requires.

At the beginning of the present fighting in Korea we heard much about hoarding. Someone said that hoarding is "feathering your nest while brave men die to protect it for you." While I do not know whether much hoarding is now being done, there is no doubt that many otherwise honest citizens are "feathering their nest" while brave men are dying to protect them.

Honesty in a second sense may be described as FAIR THINKING. We should never forget that every person has the God-given right to think for himself. If your political convictions differ from mine, you have a perfect right to try to convince me that I should vote as you do. You do not, however, have the right to force me to vote your way.

Fair thinking will also require you to extend to me the privilege of convincing you that my political views are to be preferred. If you are a merchant, you have a perfect right to try to convince your neighbor that your store is the ideal place to trade. You have no right, however, to take any advantage of him that will force him to trade exclusively with you. If you are an insurance man you have a right to strive to convince me that you have a better policy than the one I am carrying.

Fair thinking requires that I be grateful if you can sell me a policy giving better protection for the same or less money than I am paying. I need to know about it.

These same principles hold true also in religion. Fair thinking requires that we be willing at all times to have our religious faith examined by those who disagree with us. "Be ready to give an answer to him that asketh thee, concerning the faith that lieth within you."

We should always be willing to discuss our religious differences but never attempt to force them upon others. * * *

A second ingredient, almost, if not altogether, as necessary as honesty, is COURAGE. In I Corinthians 16:13 the apostle Paul wrote: "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit ye like men, be strong." This is a good definition of courage. It does not require that we be without fear of anything, and I am sure there are none of us who are without fear of the muzzle of a gun, but it gives us the power to "stand fast" in the face of our fears and to be victorious despite our fears.

It requires that we be firm and

IT'S OFFICIAL!

Here is the official portrait of the 1951 Maid of Cotton, pretty Jeannine Holland, of Houston, Texas. The brown-eyed, brunette Maid is 21 years old and was a senior at Texas State College for Women before she was chosen King Cotton's 1951 fashion and goodwill ambassador. Maid Jeannine is making a 64,000 mile trans-continental tour, visiting more than 40 cities in the United States, Europe, and Latin America as the cotton industry's emissary.

vigilant in our convictions; conducting ourselves like men at all times. Courage requires that we be willing to stand alone if needs be, for the right, for the glory of God and the welfare of our people. When we thus "stand fast" we have the assurance that God stands with us.

LOVE is a third essential of good citizenship. Without this virtue no man can qualify as a good citizen notwithstanding his honesty and courage. The apostle Paul wrote in I Corinthians 13:4-7 "Love suffereth long and is kind; love envieth not, is not puffed up, doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil; rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in truth, hereth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things."

Love is the prime driving force that has moved the best of our citizens to their most noble deeds. Without it our civilization would never have been planted nor our battles won. Real love is to rise above love of self.

MORALITY, purity of heart, cleanliness in thoughts, words and deeds is also an indispensable ingredient in the life of a good citizen. You expect a preacher to preach, therefore I make no apology for doing so at this time.

Not only must we keep our own morals pure, but we must take care not to do or say anything that will cause others to be tempted to immorality. Revelation 2:14 states that "Balaam taught Balak to cast a stumbling block before the Israelites." You may recall that Balaam, a prophet, to curse the Israelites and although Balaam wanted the rewards offered him by Balak, he could not pronounce the desired curse because God placed blessings in his mouth instead. Failing in this Balaam told Balak that if he would tempt these people to commit fornication, that God himself would destroy them. As a result thousands of these people were destroyed for their immoral conduct. An immoral person cannot be an honest person and consequently cannot be a good citizen.

INVESTIGATION is a fifth trait which is also essential to the making of a good citizen and a sound society. "The truth shall make you free," said Christ. Truth cannot be found without investigation.

Paul said, II Timothy 2:15 "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a Workman that needeth not to be ashamed, handling aright the word of truth." One of the greatest institutions in our government is the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

We have reached the present stages of perfection in science, medicine, transportation and communication because of the investigation of men hungry for truth.

Paul the apostle again says "prove all things; hold fast that which is good. Abstain from every form of evil."

In confusion I want to mention two virtues which seem to go together as a team. They are SERVICE and SACRIFICE. Jesus glorified service in his personal ministry. His teaching was "he that is greatest among you shall be servant of all." Jesus also gave the crowning example of sacrifice in shedding his blood for all mankind.

It seems to me that the ideal example of service and sacrifice are the doctors, nurses, teachers, and allied professions whose service to the public require the sacrifice of personal liberties and desires.

Those who have a real desire to serve God and fellow-man will find that their service will require great sacrifice but will bring greater reward both here and hereafter.

Deductible Clause Is Made Optional By Insurance Men

The much-discussed $100 deductible clause applicable to wind, storm, hurricane, and hail insurance in Texas has been made optional effective April 1, according to local insurance agents.

New rates and rules adopted by the Board of Insurance Commissioners, Austin, have been published and distributed.

Under the new rules, a policy holder may continue to carry the deductible clause, or he may have the clause eliminated by payment of an additional premium. Local agents indicated that all policies would be written with the deductible clause as in the past, unless advised by policy holders to eliminate the deductible.

Cost
Cost of eliminating the $100 deductible clause on a $3,000 policy written for one year on a frame dwelling would amount to $19.50, according to Allen Dunbar, local agent. To eliminate the $50 deductible clause on a farm dwelling insured for $3,000, an additional premium of $14 would have to be paid, he said.

Local policy holders are urged to call at offices of local insurance agents for full details.

Furlough Fares On Railroads To Remain Low

Reduced furlough fares on all railroads for military personnel traveling in uniform at their own expense have been extended to January 31, 1952, it was announced today by Eary B. Padrick, chairman of a group of passenger transportation workers of the nation's railroads who met yesterday in Chicago. The reduction in furlough fare for members of the armed forces would have expired on March 31, Padrick said.

Padrick also stated that the return limit for using the round-trip tickets, good in coaches only, had been extended from 30 days to three months.

This action provides fares for military personnel at the rate of 2.025 cents per mile or less which means a saving of up to one cent per mile, Mr. Padrick declared, and includes regular stop-over and baggage privileges.

Good Foods Help Build Sound Health

This young American, enjoying his tapioca pudding with bananas calls attention to an important day devoted to the welfare of youngsters — National Child Health Day, May 1.

A bright eyed eager child is usually a healthy child. And so that more little Americans may have a healthy happy childhood, a day each year is set apart by our government for calling attention to the well being of children. It is National Child Health Day, observed on May 1.

Puddings like this banana tapioca are favorites with children and like other good foods they help build sound health. Most youngsters like creamy tapioca pudding, a nutritious, milk-rich dessert, easily prepared with quick-cooking tapioca as in the following recipe:

Tapioca Banana Pudding

1 egg white 2 or 3 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons sugar 1/4 teaspoon salt
1 egg yolk 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
2 cups milk 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Beat egg white until foamy throughout; add 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon oil, and continue beating with rotary egg beater until mixture will stand in very soft peaks. Set aside.

Mix egg yolk with small amount of the milk in saucepan. Add 2 or 3 tablespoons sugar, salt, quick-cooking tapioca, and remaining milk. Place over medium heat. Cook until mixture comes to a boil, stirring constantly — this takes 5 to 8 minutes.

Pour small amount of hot mixture gradually on egg-white meringue, blend. Add remaining mixture, stirring constantly. (The hotter the tapioca and the faster it is blended in, the thicker the pudding will be.) Add vanilla. Cool, stirring once after 15 to 20 minutes. Chill. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

When serving, top pudding with sliced bananas.

CIVIL DEFENSE

Rural Units Must Supplement Metropolitan Defense Groups

By Walter A. Sheard

(This is the last in a series of five articles on the civil defense program)

WHETHER YOU LIVE in a city, or a small town or on a farm in the rural areas of the nation, you have an obligation as a citizen, interested in saving your own life and the lives of your fellow citizens in the civil defense program.

Many folks in small towns or on the farms may be inclined to take the dangers inherent in a full-scale war with a grain of salt. There are no barriers to poison or nerve gases. There are no limits to biological warfare, and the destruction of the means of providing food to our military personnel may be a main objective of our potential enemy. Appose your neighbors in a nearby city have the most efficient civil defense system possible to work out and an enemy attack knocks out large numbers of its personnel. Then it may be the duty of those in surrounding cities and towns and counties to move in as rescue teams to care for evacuees, to improvise hospitals and many other essentials of defense work.

There are hundreds of jobs for civilians which must be filled—airplane spotters, apprehension of saboteurs, guarding against water poisoning or pollution, amateur radio operators, ambulance drivers, messengers, first aid trucks, storage of thousands of items of supply in medication and food—transport, engineers, housekeeping employees for nursing and dietary departments, cooks, laundresses, blood donors, watchmen at plants, utilities, and essential services such as dairies and pasteurization plants, immunization of small animals to prevent rabies, grave diggers, specially trained radiation detection teams, air raid shelter construction—and dozens of other essential workers.

Alert watchfulness on the part of farmers to detect dangerous diseases in their live-stock, and pests and plant disease is highly important. The bureau of animal industry already has given instructions to a large number of veterinarians in the differential diagnosis of these diseases and at the first suspicion the farmer should call the state livestock sanitary officials for prompt investigation. In many instances large amounts of vaccine must be promptly available and in any widespread outbreak, quarantine procedure and destruction of animals and their burial may be all-important to prevent spread. Special equipment for disinfecting crews should be immediately available.

Reason is the only crime mentioned in the Constitution of USA.

The same watchfulness is essential in detection of plant pests and diseases. County agricultural agents, farmers and regional, state and federal agricultural agencies will advise which crops in their respective areas are most essential for national welfare, and therefore more likely to be the aim of biological warfare.

The State and local governments are furnishing approximately half of the three billion dollars appropriated in the national civilian defense act to provide for this nationwide program. But in spite of every thing the federal administrator may do, the responsibility of adequate defense rests at each level of local government including the responsibility for health-service operations. It is up to the state civil defense director to map out his state and to determine in each locality just what type of organization must be set up. A community then would find itself in one of three categories: first, cities within critical target areas; second, mutual aid communities; and third, mobile support communities. The folks in the small towns and rural areas would find themselves in one of the last two categories and their principal function would be to receive casualties from the nearby principal city, and to send health-service rescue teams to its aid.

The mobile support communities may be anywhere from 50 to 150 miles from the nearest principal city. And while these latter communities might not be the deliberate aim of a bombing attack, there is always the possibility of a bomber's error, as many communities in Europe and Asia discovered in the last war. The organization of these mobile support communities in rural counties are of greatest importance to the whole civil defense program. The health-service in these communities would be organized to operate as self-contained teams in such fields as first aid and radiological defense. Larger communities with hospitals or sizable clinics would also be prepared to receive casualties and should be able to supply complete surgical, burn and shock teams to disaster areas.

REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

By CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS

Government Economy: The upswing in the House of Representatives this past week is a mere reminder of what is to come. The Appropriations Committee of sub-committees are working day and night to cut every possible dollar off of the non-defense appropriations. Last week the House decided that the committee had not reduced appropriations enough and pared them other. Congressman Gene Cox Georgia told the House that a motion was made to cut the budget that the "honeymoon" is over. To fully appreciate these cuts mean, we must understand that they were reductions in the appropriations for the departments of the Government—treasury, post office, and forth. This action of cutting the basic departments is a good indication that the many departments that have been established in the last few years can get ready for a good trimming when the appropriations bills get to the floor. One of the sub-committees doing an excellent job of cutting down the expenses of the military, and I can assure you the military is not going to all they are asking for. They better get their shop in order so that every dollar spent is a full dollar's return. This is a temporary situation. It is a definite recognition of the need for reduced government expenditures on a permanent basis. The moving force is the solid bloc of Southern and Southwestern Jeffersonian Democrats. Our weight is beginning to be felt. We are getting up a full head of steam and you can expect some drastic results.

Defense Contract Discrepancies: The Congress is already uncovering some bad, if not dishonest, practices in carrying out construction work under defense contracts. There could be a repetition of many things that happened during World War II. For example, on a New York project it was discovered that one man on the payroll was shown to have worked ten hours a day straight for four days, 23 hours and a half each day for the next three days, and then ten hours a day for the following days. The 23 and a half hour days are time and a half and double-time days. Anyone knows that it would be physically impossible for a human being to do this, and this Congress is going to stop that sort of dishonesty, regardless of whose head has to fall. This is just one example and there are a number of others. This sordid type of treasury robbing is being fully investigated and will be fully aired.

on shivering this Wednesday morning when you found that Old Man Winter was making a repeat performance. Plenty of cool wind with a scattering of small raindrops and a lot of dust, and that right after the good shower of a day or so before. Folks in the northeastern part of the Panhandle had wind, snow, rain and ice, with some freezing temperatures.

When this cool weather passes I think it will be safe to plant flowers and do some gardening.

Apropos to weather, especially the sandstormy kind, Dr. A. D. Keeler who is preaching at the First Presbyterian Church this week, made a toast to Texas at Lions Luncheon Wednesday. He had composed the toast during that morning's dust storm, as follows:

Toast to Texas
What was it that got in my eyes today,
It's nothing, they said, it's not always this way,
It got in my ear and put out my eye
In fact it almost made me cry.
It got so bad I could hardly see,
I had a hard time to tell I was me,
When I got home, my wife said,
"that you Abie"
I answered, "Darling, I guess so maybe."

The dirt may fly and the wind may blow
But this I'll say, wh'er I go:
Texas may be filled with sand in the street
But the folks that live there, can't be beat.

Their heart is big as the Texas plains
So let sand fall instead of the rains;
I love every bit of God's fair land
But what I love best is Texas sand.

The election of city officials will be held next Tuesday, and some good men are being run by friends for the office of mayor and some council posts. Mayor C. C. Hodges who has been mayor for the past four years, will step down after Tuesday's election with the satisfaction of knowing that he made a valuable contribution to Memphis while serving as mayor. Also, all the men who have served as councilmen have played an important part in pushing a program for the betterment of Memphis.

Speaking of Mayor Hodges again, it has been my pleasure to know that he is the kind of man who wants to see things done and puts his whole mind and heart into the work. Starting back in the late 30's, he was a moving force in making City Park one of the best in the west. Also, he had a hand in making Fairview Cemetery a place that needs no apology.

I am repeating an item in my Comments of August 22, 1940 because it shows the kind of man Mayor Hodges is and has been all through the years: "I was in Clayton, (N.M.) Hodges' former place of abode, recently, and found that the people of Clayton think a lot of him and that he was one of that town's leading citizens before moving here, and that he was always in the forefront in doing things for the community's improvement."

Congressman Walter Rogers keeps hammering against agricultural and livestock controls. In his latest release he has this to say: "The city-born and bred officials of OPS appear dead set on fixing controls on raw cotton and livestock on the hoof, which will amount to production control rather than price control. What this country needs is a few good sound level-headed farmers and ranchers in some of those official positions."

Congressman Rogers was appointed by Speaker Sam Rayburn as pro tempore Speaker during a part of recent sessions of Congress, which was quite a feather in this new lawmaker's cap. Rogers may be sent soon to visit some of the embassies of the Communist dominated countries to find out what makes them tick.

At times other than Tuesday and Thursday afternoons his office, located at 221 Avenue B in Childress, will handle applications.

Services Scheduled Saturday Afternoon

Community-wide revival services will be held Saturday afternoon at 3 p. m. on the east side of the court house square.

The Rev. Don Davidson, Methodist revival minister, will deliver the sermon. Gerald Nelson, First Baptist song leader will lead the singing.

All churches in the revival program are cooperating with the service.

Saturday Last Day For School Census

Saturday will be the last day for reporting children who will be old enough to enter school next September.

The school census must be sent to Austin and any child who will be six years old before September 1, should be reported to Miss Ira Hammond, census taker, before Saturday.

Miss Hammond may be contacted at phone 685.

Trash Pickups To Start Monday

Citizens are asked to have trash ready to be picked up this week in connection with the city-wide clean-up campaign. Mayor C. C. Hodges announced that city trucks will commence trash hauling at noon Monday.

Trucks were engaged in hauling gravel for city streets this week and will not be finished until noon, Monday, Hodges stated.

Former Cowboy Now Bluebonnet Seed King

A former cowboy with one leg off above the knee has just about become King of the Bluebonnets. Alfred H. Lang, better known as "Texas Bob," of San Angelo, was in Memphis Tuesday and Wednesday selling Bluebonnet seed.

Texas Bob, who gets around on crutches, travels over the state throughout the year selling packaged Bluebonnet seed. He used to be a cowhand in Mason County but he lost a leg in an accident in 1939 and had to turn to some other occupation for a livelihood. He decided to give the state flower a boost by selling Bluebonnet seed.

You can always recognize him by the blue shirt with the map of Texas on his back. He sells seed to garden clubs throughout Texas and neighboring states and to individuals.

If you would like to have a field of blue in your own yard you may order seed from Texas Bob, 609 E. Harris, San Angelo.

Reynolds-Couch Nuptial Rites Read In Pretty Home Ceremony Thursday

Dignity and simplicity characterized the nuptial rites performed at high noon Thursday to unite Miss Wanda Jo Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Reynolds of this city, and Robert Couch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pierson Couch of Lubbock. Their marriage took place at the home of the bride's parents with Rev. Rolo Davidson, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiating.

The nuptial setting featured branch candelabra holding large tapered flanked by floorbaskets of white gladioli. Centering the mantle was an arrangement of Calla Lillies and gladioli. Music for the wedding was provided by Miss Gertrude Rasco, pianist, and Mrs. Robert Saxauer, vocalist. The latter sang "Through The Years," "Wonderful One" and "The Lord's Prayer" with accompaniment by Miss Rasco who also played "At Dawning," "Theme From Second Piano Concerto," "My Heart At Thy Sweet Voice," and the traditional wedding march. She gave a muted interpretation of "Salute D'Amour" during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Jake P. Roach the bride wore a semi-formal gown of imported chintilly lace and net fashioned with a sheer yoke of net finished at the neck with a tiny collar of lace. The fitted bodice was applied to the yoke in points and the full long sleeves were finished with ruffles at the hand. The full net ballerina skirt was worn over crinoline to emphasize its fullness. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and snapdragons from which white satin ribbons were showered to be knotted with snapdragon florets.

Miss Jean Hinson of Hobbs, N. M., was maid-of-honor. She was attired in dress of sky blue chintilly lace fashioned similar to that of the bride's. Her headdress was of net and flowers and she carried a colonial bouquet.

Alfred Couch of Lubbock served his brother as best man. Barbara Kay Roach of Andrews, niece of the bride, lighted the candles.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Reynolds home. The table was covered with a white organdy floor-length cloth inset with lace over pink. Centering the table was an arrangement of white lilies and pink gypsophila.

Mrs. Robert Saxauer presided at the silver service and Mrs. Jake Roach, sister of the bride, served the three-tiered wedding cake. Assisting in serving were Mrs. DeRich, Mrs. Herschel Pounds, and Mrs. Bennie Dennis.

We Need High Farm Prosperity

It is a natural thing for business men to want their business to remain good and the volume to turnover stay high. Here in our city, as elsewhere, business men are aware that one of the largest markets for all products is to be found among the farmers.

Most businessmen realize this and cultivate the farm market. For where the farmer trades, there also trades the city shopper to a great extent. In Hollywood, one of the busiest markets and grocery stores in all Los Angeles area is the Farmers Market. And in other cities across the country the same type of farmer-city shopping center has grown up.

These towns realize the important element that farmers must receive a good price for their products as well as the fact that the city shopper must get good quality products for their money. Thus the principal behind the whole structure is that farm prosperity must remain, if any prosperity is to continue.

Week after week we read that some politician in Washington says that the farmers are getting too much from the federal government. Now and then some nationally-known columnist uses this theme in decrying payments to farmers for soil conservation practices. The potato program is held up as an example of waste. This latter is a point well taken, and has proven to be a waste of the taxpayers money. But the conservation program is a different matter as well as other phases of the farm program.

These writers and politicians never refer to subsidies which have gone to manufacturers in one form or another for well over a hundred years. They never tell how certain phases of our business has prospered due to the protection of tariffs.

It is a fact that when the farmers prosper, every phase of business prospers. And history tells us that when the income from farming reaches a low level, a depression is felt immediately throughout this nation. Salaries paid to labor follow the trend, and purchasing power declines at a rapid rate.

It should be our duty to work and plan to keep farm prosperity high. By this planning, all phases of our economic life will remain on an even keel and the day will be long in coming when we'll see vast lines of unemployed marching again to "soup kitchens"

Press Paragraphs— QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

EARS STOPPED UP WITH PORK

Memories are short, and facts and figures are easily forgotten. The chances are that most Americans have only a hazy idea of just how much the cost of their government has risen in the past ten years. So some figures compiled by the National Small Business Association should come as a high voltage shock.

In 1940, it cost a little more than $74,000,000 to run the Department of Commerce—in 1950 the bill was $883,000,000.

In 1940, the Department of the Interior lived on a budget of about $1,385,000. Last year's bill was close to $563,500,000.

In 1940, the State Department worried along on less than $21,000,000. In 1950 it managed to get rid of more than $361,000,000.

In 1940, the taxpayers supported the Department of Labor to the tune of some $18,500,000. Last year the assessment was $257,000,000.

In 1940, it must be remembered the last President Roosevelt had been in office for two terms, and the government had been greatly expanded. Yet now the cost of running the major departments make the 1940 budgets look like peanuts!

The Evening Outlook, of Santa Monica, California, hit the nail on the head when, after listing these figures, it said: "If the American people have any political intelligence or any sense of their own self-interest, they will demand an end to the colossal extravagance of the Federal government that is threatening to bankrupt this country—The demand must grow in volume and insistence until it will finally be heard by those legislators and bureaucrats who hitherto have had their ears stopped up with pork."

EVERYBODY'S HEADACHE

A good many people seem to think that most retailers must be having a wonderful trouble-free time these days. About all they have to do, the argument runs, is to put bigger and bigger price tags on their merchandise and watch the fat profits roll in like the sea.

Those who really believe that would do well to read the proceedings of retail conventions, and the magazines and house organs which deal with retailers' problems and activities.

THEY ALWAYS NEED YOUR HELP

-AND WE ALL NEED THEIR HELP!

THE RED CROSS

The biggest thing retailing has to fear—and this goes for small stores and large, the chains and the independents—is high rising prices. It is a nightmare to every store owner and executive.

There are two main reasons for this. First, American retailing depends on big turnover, at a small profit on each sale. High prices force families to cut their buying to the limit. People are priced out of the market. So, the retailer right along with the consumer, is directly harmed.

Second, contrary to a widely held misconception, high prices do not mean high profits in most cases. The merchant gets more for his goods—but his cost of buying those goods and paying his overhead has in many cases risen to a greater degree. So it is not uncommon for the storekeeper to find that his net profit is actually less than it was when prices were much lower than now.

In any fight against inflation, the consumer can count on the aggressive help of the retailer. Self-interest alone makes that a certainty.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

CLARISSA, MINN. INDEPENDENT: "Minnesota Municipalities, the monthly publication of the League of Minnesota Municipalities carried an editorial in its January 1951 issue that we hope all state, county, village and township officials, to say nothing of Federal employees and the ordinary citizen can well take to heart. The editorial said that it is time for citizens to pull in their belts and quit asking their government on all levels for all kinds of unessential services."

MEAT'E, KAN., GLOBE-NEWS: "We take a dim view of these old welfare state items that have been presented repeatedly to Congress in recent years, and that have repeatedly rejected by Congress in late years being included in the budget for national defense."

MAYVIL'E, N. D., TRIBUNE: "We have grown into a self-centered nation of people, each separate section demanding the maximum of benefits from a munificent government, caring little whether others are treated likewise. As a result the national cost of living has grown to such proportions that our original dollar has been cut to less than half its former value."

WEST BEND, WISC., NEWS: "A responsible newspaper regards as one of its most solemn duties—bringing to the attention of the citizens the details of public services which they pay for and control—The great task is separating the wheat from the chaff; getting that part of the news of public affairs that is essential to full understanding of government and its operations."

Big Airlines Advertise for Pretty Girls

Because Dan Cupid has flown off with so many Braniff Airways hostesses this spring, the airline has announced an "emergency-account-of-matrimony" class beginning April 9 to train new hostesses for its 29-city domestic system.

The average Braniff hostess flies about fifteen months before she takes off for the altar. But at the present rate that they're trading seniority for a husband, this average may be considerably whittled down, according to Miss Dorothy Brindley, chief hostess for the airline.

Fifteen percent of the hostess personnel has resigned in the past three months, which is most unusual for January, February, and March, says Miss Brindley. And with the current crop of engagements rings now being worn by others still flying, the Chief Hostess predicted that total resignations for 1951 will rise to about 35% by June.

Prosecuting Attorneys To Plan Crime Action

Attorney General Price Daniel has called a meeting of the state's 315 prosecuting attorneys to consider means of waging a more vigorous fight against organized crime in Texas.

"In addition to stamping out the organized gambling which now exists, Texas should let the world know that it will not tolerate entry into this state of the gamblers and racketeers who are now being run out of other states by exposures of the Kefauver crime investigating committee," Daniel said.

"I know of no group which can sound the warning and back it up better than the county and district attorneys acting in cooperation with their local law enforcement officers," he continued. The meeting, to be held in Austin March 30-31, will be patterned after a national conference called last year by the Attorney General of the United States at the request of the state attorneys general.

Speakers will include Fred Meredith, chairman of the House Committee charged with investigating organized crime in Texas. Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Department of Public Safety, Bill Decker of Dallas, president of the Texas Sheriffs' Association, Carl F. Hanson, president of the Texas Police Association, and Bill Hawk, president of the Texas Constables Association.

"Since the race-horse bookie wire was ousted by court injunction Texas has fewer tie-ups with the national gambling syndicates than any of the larger states, but outside gambling interests have made definite attempts to enter the state in recent months and they will do so again if we do not take preventive action immediately," the attorney general said.

Daniel said, "Recent bomb killings aimed at Fort Worth and Dallas gamblers and charges of corruption of local officials by gambling interests in other areas indicate that the situation is already bad enough to be of statewide concern."

Water Control Methods Yield Additional Cotton

Water appears to be the limiting factor in the production of cotton on the F-ling Plains.

Cotton yields were increased 24 percent by contouring and 57 percent by using closed level terraces at the Spur Experiment Station, while the use of commercial fertilizer, barnyard manure and sorghum litter on small test plots failed to increase the yield.

Three-fields—with straight rows, contour rows, and contour rows, contour rows, and contour have been planted to cotton continuously since 1927. The soils on the fields are largely Abilene clay loam, and the slope averages five-tenths percent (0.5%).

An average annual yield of 122 pounds of lint per acre for straight row farming was increased to 151 pounds by contouring. Where closed level terraces were used with contour rows, the yield was increased to 192 pounds, an average of 70 pounds more lint per acre annually than from straight rows.

Average annual runoff was reduced by 2.75 inches, to 1.95 inches by using contour rows. There was no runoff from the area with closed level terraces.

REPORT FROM AUSTIN

By A. J. ROGERS
Rep., 121st. District

Both the State Senate and House of Representatives passed bills to appropriate money to run our state government for the next two years. As the two houses have different versions—differing not only in total amounts but in the amounts allotted to different branches and functions of our State government. These differences must now be worked out by a joint committee of ten members, five from each House of Legislature.

This committee will then report a compromise money bill back to both Houses for approval or rejection. Because if it would take several months to write an entire different bill on this subject, the Legislature will no doubt approve compromise is worked out by the joint committee.

Incidentally, the House of Representatives, traditionally known as the more liberal and freer branch of the Legislature, has made its Money Bill $10,000,000 lower than the Senate. Two years ago, the house bill showed an even greater difference—in favor of econ.

There was a strong movement in the city Representatives, led by Rep. Murphy of Houston, to comply with the Texas Agricultural Commission by deleting all money to run the Commission from the House Money Bill.

The State Veteran's Affairs Commission actually was treated in this manner. While this Commission is not an absolute necessity, it has been a great help in passing veteran's claims with the Federal Government.

That the approximate amount of State spending for the next two years has been determined by the Legislature has pretty much settled the idea of what size tax bill will be.

The Legislature's big remaining problem. It is now that the State Hospital Program started two years ago, the Aiken School Program and minor State services will increase in taxes of $110,000,000.

Direct interest to our area of Representatives can be considered the bill by Representative Melhaney of Wheeler to establish an Agricultural Experiment Station in the counties in our region. This would not be done before the major spending bill for State government was considered.

Presbyterians To Sponsor Cub Scout Pack

The Rev. Burr Morris announced this week that the First Presbyterian church has voted to sponsor a Cub Scout pack for all boys ages eight, nine and ten.

The Church Board of Deacons will serve as a pack committee. The organization of the pack is expected to start immediately and will complete as soon as enough boys are signed to membership.

Members of the Board who will help with the organization are Temple Deaver Sr., W. H. Goodnight Jr., Paul Montgomery, Buster Helm, Rex Snell and Calude Fe. el.

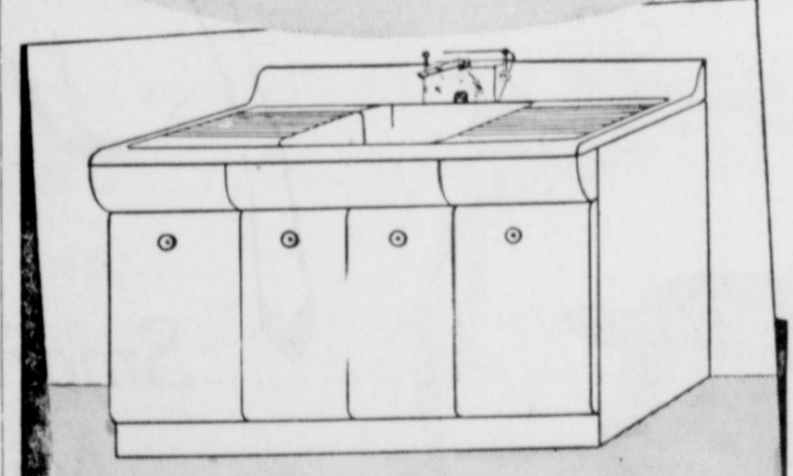

The stroke of a whale's tail, which can smash even a large boat is the fiercest blow that can be struck by any animal.

Minnesota extends the farthest north of any state in the U. S.

Much of this evidence was revealed and substantiated by authors of a bill which would outlaw not only the use but also the manufacture of slot machines, marble machines and other gambling devices in Texas. This piece of Legislature will very probably pass the House of Representatives next week.

Give Sunday's Lamb Roast A Second Chance To Star

Lamb Curry takes your leftover lamb roast out of the has been class and gives you a chance to prepare an old world Epicurean dish in your own kitchen. This recipe calls for meat stock, one of the staples of foreign cuisines. American housewives who are using stock find it an economical way to add nutrition and penetrating meat flavor to many dishes. You can conjure up hearty beef stock on the spot by simply adding Bovril, British beef extract or beef cubes to boiling water.

Lamb Curry
 2 cubes or 1 tablespoon Bovril*
 2 cups diced leftover lamb large sliced onion
 1/2 teaspoon curry powder
 1 chopped hard boiled egg
 2 cups cooked rice
 2 tablespoons flour
 2 tablespoons butter
 small tart apple
 chutney

To make the curry sauce, slightly brown onion slices in butter and add sliced tart apple. Cook until soft, then stir in flour and curry powder. Gradually stir in one cup of boiling water in which the Bovril has been dissolved. Continue stirring until sauce thickens. Heat the lamb in this and serve over rice. Top with the chopped hard boiled egg and serve chutney on the side. Generously serves 4.

*Generic term for Bovril is British Beef Extract.

Betty Burnett and Mackie Allen Ticked Calico-Overall Favorites

Overall Johnny King and Calico Queen were crowned at the Sophomore party on March 21. The king and queen were voted by a large majority during the week by secret ballot.

Betty Burnett, the attractive 5'7" blond haired, blue-eyed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blufford Burnett of Memphis was crowned "Calico Queen". Gereta Graham crowned Betty with floral printed bonnet.

Betty is a very well-liked 15 year old Sophomore as one can well see. She is President of the Home Ec. Club, was chosen for "Who's Who this year and now was voted "Calico Suzy".

She plays a cornet in the band this year, and has for the past 2 years played a baritone.

Betty hasn't decided which college she will attend, but plans to major in homemaking.

With a past like this for a Sophomore gal as cute as Betty, don't you think she will go to the top? Mackie Allen, the 16 year old, 5'10", 151 lb. son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Allen was crowned "Overall Johnny King" by Charles Hartman, master of ceremonies. Charles placed a big cowboy hat on Mackie's head as the crown.

Mackie plays guard on the Cyclone Football Squad and his biggest thrill was when Coach York, his favorite teacher, yelled "Mackie, get in there and fight—Let's go!"—then Mackie was playing his first football game.

Mackie is a member of the "M" Club and was chosen Freshman Favorite in 1949-50.

He plans to attend TCU and major in business administration.

After the coronation of "Calico Suzy" and "Overall Johnny", Betty and Mackie led the next dance.

Senior Cut Ups

It takes two to make marriage—a single girl and an anxious.

From Mr. Keyser, also, comes this amazing story. During the "A" Band period Thursday morning, Mr. Keyser told his dream concerning his Bands. It seems he was watching the "A" Band marching when the Jr. High and Fourth Grade Bands appeared, floating like angels, holding the music for the "A" Band!! Can you top this?????????

Meet the Seniors

The three Seniors that we present this week are: Scotty Grundy, Pat Goodnight, and Betty Goodall.

Scotty, the son of Mrs. Allen Grundy, is one of the most industrious students in M.H.S. This 17 year old Senior favors science and math over his other scholastic studies. Band president '49-'50; and Most Popular Boy, '51; Editor of the Yearbook, '51; Cue and Curtain Club president; these honors reveal Scotty's versatility. Having lettered in basketball three years and baseball two years, he chooses these two sports as his favorites. When asked when he received his biggest thrill, Scotty replied, "When the Cyclone team won state in basketball." Scotty hasn't completed his plans concerning what college he will attend but has decided that his major will be chemistry or physics.

Pat, daughter of Mr. Hal Goodnight, who is 17 years old, October 6, is known as the Senior who really loves fun. An active member of the Cue and Curtain, Pat states that her biggest thrill came when she was elected "Most Versatile Girl—'51". When not "studying" her favorite subjects, typing and speech, she may usually be found playing tennis, a sport in which she excels. North Texas State College will be very fortunate this fall to have Pat enroll as a freshman. Her major in college is undetermined at the present time.

In a recent interview, Betty, 17 year old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. O. R. Goodall stated that she really likes to write letters (especially while confined with the mumps!) During the school day Betty enjoys her English class with Mrs. Guthrie as the teacher. Betty, a member of the Cue and

ASSEMBLY HELD THURSDAY

The weekly assembly program was conducted Thursday morning by Rev. Bedford Smith of the First Christian Church. Rev. Smith brought out the idea of Easter and urged all of the students to attend the city wide revival services the following week.

Curtain Club, Home Ec. Club, Choral Club, Band for two of her high school years, received her biggest thrill when she was elected "alloween Queen" in 49-50. Next to football games, she likes flying best. When Betty graduates from Baylor University, there she will major in psychology, she will begin a career as an air-line hostess.

OPS Extends Merchant's Price Chart Deadline

Widespread request of merchants for an extension to April 30 of the time limit for filing "pricing charts" under Ceiling Price Regulation 7 have been granted by the office of Price Stabilization, W. Victor Womack, regional price executive for OPS at Dallas, announced this week.

Regulation 7 is the new marginal ruling governing sellers of wearing apparel, furniture and floor coverings, yard goods and other articles.

"Many retailers complained that because of the press of Easter business, they would be unable to prepare the charts by the March 29 deadline," Womack said. "Similar requests from all parts of the country led to Washington's granting the extension."

Sellers of the affected types of merchandise may begin to price under their charts as soon as a copy of the chart is filed with their nearest OPS office, Womack said. In Texas there are district offices at Lubbock, Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio, in addition to the regional office in Dallas. Affected merchants must price under the chart beginning April 30.

The amending to the filing also extends by 30 days the date after which a retailer cannot sell any item covered by Regulation 7 unless he has received acknowledgment from OPS of the filing of his chart. The original deadline of April has been extended to 1.

Farm Production Can Increase By Group Plan

The use of a combination of good farming practices is one of the answers to increasing the productive output of a farm.

In reality, says M. K. Thornton, extension agricultural chemist of Texas A. & M. College, increasing the per acre output amounts to the same thing as increasing the size of the farm.

The big difference, he adds, is that the expansion is made vertically instead of horizontally, and generally the net profit on a vertically expanded farm is much greater per acre than on a horizontally expanded farm.

He makes the following suggestions for vertically expanding farm production. Use a balanced cropping system that fits the farm. Avoid the excessive use of row crops. They are more expensive to produce for more labor and usually more farm machinery is needed.

The cropping and livestock programs for the farm unit should be balanced. The cropping system should include the planting on the farm of some deep rooted legumes.

The acreage devoted to such legumes should be sufficient to furnish high quality forage for the farm's livestock and needed mineral nutrients should be used to insure the successful production of the legume crops.

These suggestions can increase production on most farms from 25 to 40 per cent without too much difficulty. The greater per acre yields will result in more net income, the maintenance of soil fertility, soil and water conservation and all add up to better rural living and more prosperous rural communities.

The Green Thumb

About this time each year, you are fortunate enough to possess a plot of soil, window box, or clay pots, or tin cans are used with the perennial urge to "the good earth". And the noble urge it is too. The urge to have an active part in the resurrection of the earth's beauty after the winter sleep, is as natural as breathing. And many folks would otherwise not turn to the glorious seed catalogues, which in high glee with pictures of flower and vegetable seeds, the results are always like the pictures but who have the most pucker on their faces are praised as the least effort and said to their fellow-tillers and said to "the green thumb". Anyhoo, better to have tried and failed than never to have tried at all. I remember, think how much more one misses by not having a garden, be it great or small.

everything that lives has the power to become greater—if it is free to put forth the best that is in it. "Indeed, this is a truth long known in America where every man's promise can reach its finest flower, growing in the kindly soil of freedom."

True, we can't all be a burbank or a George Washington Carver who was known as "the plant doctor" because of his knack for growing things. We can't do the wonders with the sweet potato and peanut that he did but we can be gardeners of the "everyday variety". If we can't do better than to grow catus and gourds, the cactus blooms are most beautiful and you can at least have a gourd dipper for your trouble and a string of them to hang on the wall. There's a delux garden guide just off the press Woman's home Companion Garden Book (4.95). But for a measley dime you can take a package of seeds read the planting instructions on the back and have amazing results, if any. Happ "horticulturing"!

"THIS MAY BE QUICK, BUT I THINK IT'D BE CHEAPER IF YA DID YOUR OWN SPRING CLEANING, PAL!"

Delphian Club Hears Program On Fashions

"Our neighbors are getting nearer all the time" said Mrs. C. D. Morris, program chairman, at the Delphian Club program March 20 in the home of Mrs. J. W. Stokes. "Around the World Fashion Wise" was a travel program.

The leader, Mrs. J. L. B... started the trip in New York City. She told of the hotels and painted out that in New York City, the Plaza and the Pierre are the best places and the most luxurious hotels in New York.

"The Britians wear classic styles and men are more elaborate dresses than women", said Miss Zady Belle Walker when telling of her imaginary visit to England. Mrs. Gordon Gilliam gives an account of an interesting visit in "gay" Paris where the very latest and some of the more extreme styles originate. "It is no wonder," she said, "that we call her 'gay' Paris. A woman is made to feel most elegant even in the beauty shops where the hair pomade is finished off on the eye brows instead of on a towel as in America."

"Australia is noted for her fine woollens. The fashions in Australia are placed by the weave and finish of the fine woollens which are the most outstanding in the world." Mrs. Henry Hays showed by a map that Australia is larger than the U.S.A. and has only six states in comparison to our forty-eight. "Australia does not have drug stores as we do but there is a Chemist Shonne which handles drugs only. When looking for a dry goods store, one finds a Draper's Shoppe, and an Iron-makers Shop takes the place of our hardware store," she said.

A skit—"To Glove or Not to Glove" was directed by Mrs. Clarence Stroehle. Mrs. J. L. Barnes, Mrs. Jack Boone and Mrs. Ben Wilson were characters in a humorous exhibit of how and when to wear the right glove.

After a short business meeting the Club decided to enter the Nation Wide "Youth Conservation Contest" and Mrs. Carl D. Kulp was appointed Chairman of the youth conservation committee for the Delphian Club.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses to Mesdames A. Anisman, Jack Boone, W. C. Dickey, Gordon Gilliam, Henry Hays, C. C. Hodges, Sid Baker, Bill Kesterson, Carl Kulp, Weldon McCree, Lynn McKown, J. S. McMurry, C. D. Morris, Roy Shahan, Clarence Stroehle, B. N. Shanon Jr., R. H. Wherry, M. D. Gunstream, Del Rich and Misses Maude Milam and Zady Belle Walker.

The Club adjourned to meet Saturday, April 7th at 3:00 p. m.
