Cotton Men Asked To Keep Records

Hall County cotton producers should make it a point to keep complete records of their 1955 cotton production, according to R. A. Eddleman of Estelline, chairman of the county Agricultural and Stabilization Committee.

Such records are important in determining the cotton yield on individual farms in the county. This information might be used later in connection with various phases of agricultural programs for cotton. In view of this possibility, farmers are requested to keep their copies of each gin bale ticket or sales record of seed cotton until the close of the ginning season, because at that time producers may be asked for production figures on their farms. If growing cotton on more than one farm, farmers should be certain that gin tickets or seed cotton sales slips designate the farm on which the cotton was produced.

Thomas J. Byrnes Rites Held In Tell Church Tuesday

Funeral rites for Thomas J. Byrnes, retired Tell farmer, were conducted at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the Church of Christ at Tell. Travis Boyd, minister, was in charge of the services. Burial was in the Tell cemetery, under direction of Spicer Funeral Home.

Mr. Byrnes, who was 86 years old, died about 9 p.m. Sunday night in the Morgan Convalescent Home at Childress, after a lengthy illness. He was born Jan. 1, 1869, in Calhoun, Ark. Mr. Byrnes was united in marriage to Miss Mary Haney in 1889, in Lamar County, Tex. The family came to the Tell community in 1919, where Mr. Byrnes engaged in farming until his retirement. Mrs. Byrnes died June 13, 1950, and is buried in the cemetery at Tell. Mr. Byrnes was a member of the Tell Church of Christ. Among survivors are: two sons, U. M. Byrnes of Tell, and Thomas J. Byrnes, Jr., of Odessa; two brothers, J. L. Byrnes of Childress, and U. J. Byrnes of Tulsa; and three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Pallbearers were Virgil Gambol, Arthur Jones, Roy Wygal, Jack Garrison, J. C. Smith and W. D. McDonald.

Cyclone To Play New District

Plans of the State League to reshuffle districts throughout Texas. Memphis Cyclone will find a realigned district next year.

are to be maintained for at least the coming two years, in order that schools may make schedules on a "home-and-home" basis. Only changes in districts would be to permit newly created schools to enter League competition. Beginning next year, League members have voted to stop the practice of allowing schools with insufficient enrollments to be voted into higher classifications.

Group Asks Rayburn To Seek Presidency

A delegation of Hall County Democrats presented Speaker Sam Rayburn with a petition from the newly-organized "Rayburn for President" Club Saturday afternoon in Lubbock bearing several hundred signatures. The presentation was made by Cole Boswell, Turkey business man, at the Caprock Hotel in Lubbock, T. W. Luttrell, Lakeview, who is president of the Rayburn for President Club of Hall County, was not able to attend. Boswell is secretary of the organization. "Believing that you deserve to hold the highest office in this great nation, that you are qualified in every respect, that for nearly a half century you have held high the Democratic ideals and principles, we wish to thank you, Mr. Speaker," Boswell said in presenting Mr. Rayburn with the petition. "We know you are honored and respected by men high and low all over America. With the experience you have had in governmental matters, and with your knowledge and ability, we believe you are the man who should be chosen to head the Democratic party ticket in 1956," he added. Rayburn, deeply moved, told the delegation that he appreciated the sentiment back of the petition, and to express his thanks to all citizens of Hall County. He asked the group about several friends who now live in Hall County. Among those mentioned were Mr. Luttrell, who is a former classmate of Rayburn, and Cliff Wheeler. The Speaker remembered that Wheeler sustained an injury to a foot when a boy living in Fannin County while helping with a hay bale. The delegation from here was headed by J. Claude Wells, chairman of the Hall County Democratic Executive Committee, Boswell, O. E. Bevers and V. C. Durrett of Lakeview, and L. C. Martin and Herschel Combs of Memphis.

March of Dimes Shots End Oct. 1

for first and second round Hall County to obtain second Salk polio vaccine under a program sponsored by the National Foundation for the March of Dimes. The first inoculation is Oct. 1, and the second is Oct. 11. The county health officer, Monday, approximately 100 children in those areas which received the second shot compared with the number given the first shot. A total of 212 had received the second shot, as against 357 who received the first inoculation. The percentage is similar to the state. The second shot may be given to children, by parents or by the health officer's office. The first free shots will be given to children under 10, whose parents declare they cannot afford to pay for them. Shots also will be available for all pregnant women. Both types of inoculation will be under the auspices of the U. S. Public Health Service. No vaccine from the Health Service was on hand Monday, but any vaccine of the National Foundation still remaining Oct. 1, will be transferred over to the Service. Parents who contemplate having their children inoculated with the vaccine are advised by the county health officer to begin now, in order that the series of three shots can be completed prior to the polio season next summer. The Public Health Service recommends that the three shots be given over a period of seven months, with the last vaccination occurring just before polio cases normally begin to increase.

RAIN STOPS COTTON GATHERING THROUGHOUT AREA TEMPORARILY

State Proposes To Improve Road West Of Memphis

Word was received here the latter part of last week that the Texas Highway Department will improve a strip of road running west out of Memphis if certain requirements are met, according to Ed Hutcherson, commissioner of Precinct 1. The stretch commences at the junction of State Highway 256 and Sixteenth Street and extends north for one-half mile before turning west for approximately seven miles. The road passes by the McElreath place. Information from the Highway Department stated that before work of improving the strip could begin, steps would have to be taken by the Hall County commissioners court to provide a clear title to a minimum of 100 feet of right-of-way, to remove all obstructions and encroachments with certain exceptions, and to fence the right-of-way. The Highway Department proposed (Continued on Page 12)

Showers Brighten Prospects For Crop; May Approach County Yield For 1954

Rain which fell at intervals throughout the county the past week brought a welcome change in the weather but completely halted the limited cotton gathering that was underway. Crews of cotton pullers have been coming into the county for the last two or three weeks but have had to wait for most of the cotton to open. Normally, the cotton harvest would be in full swing by this time but the majority of farmers just barely "got in under the wire" with their cotton planting this year, due to prolonged rains in May and June, and as a result, cotton is maturing later probably than at any time in the history of this area. Only in the Turkey and Estelline areas is there much open cotton, according to reports. This stems from the fact that farmers generally were able to get cotton up earlier there than on other sections of the county. The upshot of the matter is that only 178 bales had been ginned in the county by Tuesday of this week. This information came from William M. Cross, of Clarendon, farm placement interviewer of the Texas Employment Commission. The figure compares with nearly 4,000 bales that had been ginned by Sept. 30 of last year.

Rapp Appointed FHA Emergency Loan Supervisor

Jerrell Rapp of Estelline has been appointed as emergency loan supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration in Hall County by Walter T. McKay of Dallas, state F. H. A. director. Announcement of Rapp's appointment was made here Friday by Claude Moore, county F. H. A. supervisor for Hall County. Rapp will be in charge of emergency loans and in addition, will assist with other kinds of loans in the county. He assumed his duties on Monday of last week. Moore explained that the Farmers Home Administration makes three types of emergency loans in Hall County at present. They are economic, production and Great Plains. Emergency loans are made to farmers and stockmen to help them combat the effects (Continued on Page 12)

Cross said that ginners with whom he had talked had rated cotton from fair to good, depending in which part of the county they lived. He quoted them as saying that a late frost would make a great difference in cotton production in the county. Prospects were looking better at mid-week, as warm sunshine superseded cloudy weather and thick "pea soup" fog which had blanketed this area several mornings the past week. The clearing weather permitted crews of pullers to return to fields Wednesday and they could be seen on their ways to work again this morning. (Thursday). There was some cloudiness this morning but according to forecasts from the Amarillo weather station, there appeared only a minimum chance of any precipitation. The outlook for Oct. 15 looks pretty good, judging by the U. S. Weather Bureau's 30-day forecast. The Weather Bureau for above normal temperatures and less than normal precipitation for this region through the middle of October. If this proves true, it (Continued on Page 12)

Memphis Man Shows Winning Paintings At Iowa Park Fair

A Memphis man won several of the highest honors in the Fine Arts Department at the Texas-Oklahoma Fair in Iowa Park this week. He is Clifford Farmer, manager of the chamber of commerce, whose seven oil paintings took five first places and one second place. Painting is a hobby which Farmer has carried on for several years. Two of the first-place winners were of Memphis scenes. One, in the architectural division, is a night view of the Presbyterian Church, and the other, in the pictorial division, is the old rail (Continued on Page 12)

Memphis Hosts Wellington In District Tilt Friday Night

Memphis will go into the football game with the Wellington Skyrocks here Friday night minus the services of several of their players. Coach D. C. Andrews said Tuesday. Four squadmen were unable to play in the Canadian game Friday night and a fifth man was injured in the Wildcat contest. The latest to be hurt is Bobby Townsend, defensive linebacker, who had a bone cracked in a wrist and was carrying it in a cast this week. Andrews said Tuesday that it was still not known whether he would be ready for the Skyrocket tilt. The four players hurt prior to the Canadian contest were: Cleve Evans, quarterback; Butch Adcock, fullback; Terry Monzingo, also a fullback; and Sherman Clemons, a halfback. The Cyclone coach declared that the remainder of the team would be in good shape, barring further injuries. He said he plans to put them through stiff workouts every afternoon this week, since Memphis will have to be in top condition to compete with the always potent Skyrocks. The Memphis-Wellington game is scheduled to get underway at Cyclone Stadium at 8 p.m. Friday. Andrews said the Skyrocks have a good quarterback, Duggie Jameson, and a good, hard-hitting line. Friday night's opponent, like the Cyclones, run plays off a split-T, and generally sticks to the ground, according to the coach. The probable starters for Memphis outweigh the probable starting Wellington squad slightly, in both the line and the backfield. The Cyclone advantage is two pounds per man in the backs. Memphis has won two games and lost one so far, while the Skyrocks have a 50-50 average. Cyclone wins have been at the expense of Tulsa, which was defeated 19-0, and Canadian, which was overcome, 12-0, and represented an upset for the underdog Memphis team. The Cyclone loss was to Crowell, 34-14. Wellington outscored Shamrock but was swamped by the powerful Phillips squad Friday night. The Skyrocket (Continued on Page 12)

Rain Boosts Cotton-Guessing Figures

Most Late Estimates in 30-50,000 Range

Entries in the 1955 Memphis Democrat cotton-guessing contest were coming in at a quickened pace as the deadline passed late Saturday afternoon. Another noticeable feature was that guesses were nearly all above 30,000 bales, whereas earlier there had been a considerable number in the 20,000's or even below. This more optimistic viewpoint, without doubt, stemmed from rains that had fallen within the past few days. A total of 119 persons submitted estimates the last three days of the contest, to bring the total number of entries to 222. Besides those from the Panhandle and other sections of Texas, predictions were received from California, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Colorado. Guesses ranged from 18,000 to 65,000 bales of cotton. Winners will be decided on the basis of ginning figures for the county, tabulated by the Census Bureau of the U. S. Department of Commerce. This information probably will be released the latter part of next March. The person guessing the closest to the official total will receive a three-year subscription to The Democrat, the one placing second will be awarded a two-year subscription, and the one who ranks third will be given a one-year subscription. Contestants who entered the final three days of last week, with the addresses of only those who live out of Memphis listed, are as follows: W. D. Young, Abilene, 39,988; Mrs. J. O. Dixon, 38,361; J. # Memphis Wins 12-0 Against Canadian

The Memphis Cyclones defeated the Canadian Wildcats 12-0 in their first conference game of the season at Canadian last Friday night.

During the first quarter the Cyclone attack was primarily through the air. However, they were unable to score.

During the second period, Quarterbacks Joe Young connected with End Jimmy Jenkins for 21 yards and the first touchdown. The attempt to carry over for the extra point failed.

Neither team was able to rack up a touchdown during the third quarter, with both sides taking to the air on nearly every play. At one time, the Wildcats went to the Memphis 5-yard line. There they fumbled and Dean Sustaire broke away, going 40 yards before being tackled. The Canadian team refused to yield and the Cyclones punted, with Jenkins' boot going out on the 9-yard line. The Wildcats were unable to get going. A pass by Quarterback Tommy Hobby bounced out of the hands of End Luther Ballard into the eager arms of Dean Sustaire.

Quarterback Young handed off to James Dickey, who went over for a touchdown.

During the contest, the Cyclones attempted 13 passes, completing 3 for a total of 96 yards. They suffered 1 interception. The Wildcats tried 17 passes, completed 3 for a total of 35 yards, having 2 interceptions against their record.

In statistics, the following were tabulated: first downs, Canadian 12, Memphis, 8; yards rushing, the Cyclones 196 and their opponents 146. The Memphis team penetrated 3 times to the Canadian's 1.

EQUAL JUSTICE UNDER LAW

On September 24, 1755 was born a man who contributed more than any other single individual to the preservation of many of the freedoms which we today enjoy as American citizens. He was John Marshall, the fourth (and often referred to as the greatest) Chief Justice of the United States. To him we are largely indebted for the fact that we have a "government of law and not of men." Because of his vital role in strengthening our constitutional form of government, September 1955 has been designated as "John Marshall 'Bicentennial Month,'" and nationwide ceremonies will commemorate his work throughout the Fall of this year.

The Supreme Court of the United States has come to play its role as head of one of the three great branches of our national government by methods that are different from those used by the other two branches. Since it has only "the judicial power," the Court can act and speak only as a decider of some of the "cases and controversies" that litigants choose to bring before the courts. And since its primary work is that of reviewing decisions of lower courts, it can usually decide only some of the points in the cases that reach it.

Yet within this framework of judicial method the Supreme Court has come to perform functions of the highest importance in our scheme of government. The Court is an umpire of our complex federal system, resolving questions of the geographic location of powers between nation and states. It is likewise an umpire within the national government, resolving questions of the organic location of powers between Congress, the Executive and the Judiciary.

It is also a defender of individual rights and privileges, defining standards of fairness as to what government may do and how it may act in areas that infringe on liberty and equality. And it is a watchman over the mechanics and methods by which many government policies are carried out, bringing order and facility into the administrative processes.

While these great functions of the Court have been evolved over the years and under many of its noted judges, it was John Marshall's role in developing them that made him "the Great Chief Justice."

One of Marshall's most brilliant decisions was written in 1803 in the case of "Marbury vs. Secretary of State Madison." Although not the first, this is a landmark case on the power of a court to hold an act of legislature unconstitutional. The issue was whether a new federal administration could refuse to deliver judicial commissions which had been authorized and prepared by the previous administration. Many political overtones were present, but Marshall went straight to the root of the matter by declaring that the law involved was "unconstitutional." Thus was established the principle that acts of Congress cannot be enforced when in conflict with the Constitution.

Yet Marshall did not feel that the Constitution should be read and interpreted narrowly. Instead, he said, it is "intended to endure for ages to come and . . . to be adapted to the various crises of human affairs." In another landmark case, "McCullough vs. Maryland," in 1819, he read the Constitution as impliedly conferring upon the national government the power to select any appropriate means of achieving the broad purposes for which the government itself was established.

In other cases he invoked provisions of the Constitution to strike down state legislation impairing the obligation of contracts, to back the power of the Supreme Court to review and reverse decisions of state courts on questions of federal law, and to assert the supremacy of acts of Congress in the field of interstate commerce.

Commonplace as many of these ideas are today, in Marshall's time they were innovations. Without his genius, different decisions might have been rendered and our courts might not have developed into the bulwarks against legislative or executive oppression that they are today.

Chisled above the entrance to the U. S. Supreme Court Building are the words: "Equal Justice under Law." John Marshall played an impressive role in making thi-geological investigations; only 12.7 per cent has been geologically mapped; and only 31.1 per cent has been topographically mapped by the U. S. Geological Survey.

Most every attempt to aid and promote the domestic mining industry is met with cries of governmental subsidies. Yet we find that the availability of minerals and materials from foreign sources has been brought about by our foreign aid programs, stockpile and defense production procurement contracts, lowered tariffs, and the assistance of government mining engineers, metallurgists, and geologists sent abroad to stimulate foreign production of a number of minerals and metals, including lead, zinc, antimony, and flourspar. The domestic production of tungsten, manganese, mica, chromite, beryl, and asbestos will be in the same category as soon as government purchase programs for these minerals and metals are terminated.

Some feel that the fight against the domestic mining industry finds its source in the fact that some big money in this country is invested in foreign mining activities.

It might be pointed out that the best way to make this country vulnerable would be to make it dependent upon foreign sources for any indispensable mineral or metal.

An Expanded Texas Marketing Program

The Texas Department of Agriculture is inaugurating a new marketing service designed to help farmers sell their commodities in these days of economic change.

Texas is no longer a "one or two crop" state. In recent years, the emphasis has been switched to a more diversified system of farming which brings with it a whole new set of problems.

Thousands of acres of Texas land normally planted to cotton and a few other main cash crops have been diverted to lesser commodities because of planting allotments and acreage restrictions. These "new" products must be sold. And in most cases, the farmer is unfamiliar with the demand for his goods—no nearby markets exist. In such cases a market outlet must be found, or even created.

The Marketing Division of the TDA is making a survey of these new crops and possible markets. Where possible, the department will act as a clearing house of supply and demand information for the farmer.

In addition, many farmers whose main cash crops have failed will need assistance in selling secondary crops which they would normally keep and utilize on the farm. At the other extreme, when bumper crops are produced, then storage space must be found until they can be moved into trade channels at a normal rate. A sudden dumping of bumper crops on the market could result in a serious price collapse.

Still another phase of the new project will be demonstration and research projects on proper handling, packaging and shipping of perishable Texas commodities. Many thousands of dollars are lost each year because normal precautions are not exercised in getting crops ready for the market. The TDA will endeavor to correct those practices which result in poor quality fruits and vegetables—and a corresponding decrease in value.

For further information on these projects, write John White, Commissioner, Texas Department of Agriculture, Austin, Texas.

CANYON—Homecoming for students of West Texas State College has been set for Oct. 22, when annual festivities will again draw thousands of West Texans back to the campus. A program of events has been drawn and preparations are already underway.

Among top features for the day is the silver anniversary reunion of the Class of 1930, which will receive special recognition and honor.

Schedule opens at 8 a.m. with registration in the Administration Building. ### Terry Monzingo Is Chosen As FHA Ideal

Members of the F. H. A. Club of the Memphis High School met at the cafeteria Monday evening to elect the FHA Ideal and to choose club parents for the year.

Terry Monzingo was elected as the club's Ideal. Club parents named included Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Cudd, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Davis, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Daugherty and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cawfield.

Committees also were appointed during the meeting and plans were made for the year's activities.

Committees named were as follows:

Social Committee: Cynthia Combest, chairman; Kay Leslie, Audrey Beth Burnett, Shirley Reed and Dorothy Moore.

Program Committee: Glenda Ellis, chairman; Francis Wright, Virginia Chappell and Patsy Kenyon.

Finance Committee: Helen Shackelford, chairman; Glenda Noah, Linda Leslie, Peggy Shockley, Wanda Widner and Mattie Lou Copeland.

Degrees of Achievements: Beverly Crawford, chairman; Teresa Jackson, Pat Davis, Carolyn Collins, Carol Callaway and Mary Jane Jones.

Approximately 65 members were present for the meeting.

B Team To Play Panhandle Tonight

Rain last Thursday night halted the game between the Memphis and Hollis B teams at halftime, according to Nolan Poteet, coach of the local squad. Neither team had been able to score up to that time. Poteet said he hoped the tilt could be scheduled at a later date although he was not sure that it could be.

The Memphis boys will go to Panhandle tonight (Thursday). The game will commence at 7:30 p. m.

All of the local squadmen, with two exceptions, were in good condition Wednesday, according to Poteet. The exceptions are: Charles Massey, a halfback, who has a chipped elbow, and Paul Gene Nelson, an end, who has a slight shoulder separation. Massey was a starting player until he was injured. The coach said he expected Nelson to be ready for the game with the Wellington B team here at 7:30 next Thursday evening, but that it probably would be a couple of weeks before Massey will return to action.

Twenty-five boys will be selected to make the trip to Panhandle tonight, but they had not been chosen Wednesday morning, Poteet explained.

Local Band Places At Texas-Oklahoma Fair In Iowa Park

Members of the Memphis High School Band competed with other bands from over the region Wednesday, at the Texas-Oklahoma Fair in Iowa Park, according to Miss Kathy Phillips, director of the group.

The band placed third in marching and in playing. Miss Phillips said this morning. Monta June Saye was fourth in twirling competition.

Saturday, Miss Phillips plans to take all of the twirlers in the high school band to West Texas State College at Canyon, for a twirling clinic. The girls probably will enter some solos and ensembles and will take part in half-time ceremonies at the football game between West Texas and Midwestern University of Wichita Falls, to be played in Buffalo Stadium.

Bob Roberts, a nationally rated twirler, will conduct the clinic.

Making the trip with Miss Phillips will be: Betty Claude Hickey, drum major; and Linda Fields, Sharon Harrison, Shirley Reed and Monta June Saye, majorettes.

FW&D Asks Permit For Truck Service

Application to Motor Transportation Division of the Railroad Commission of Texas has been filed by Burlington Truck Lines of Texas, Inc., for a certificate of convenience and necessity to operate as a common carrier and as specialized motor carrier within Texas.

A map accompanying the application disclosed that highway truck service is to be operated throughout the entire territory served by the Railway Company extending from the Ports of Houston, Galveston, and Texas City northwestward across Texas thru Dallas, Fort Worth, Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Dalhart, and to Texline, also embracing Abilene, Pampa, Lubbock, Plainview, and intermediate towns along the railway.

Engineer, Science Grads From T. U. Get More Money

AUSTIN — The University of Texas' 1955 engineering-science graduates received starting salaries about $20 per month higher than national averages quoted in trade and news stories.

Competition for the critically short supply of such graduates hit a new peak at the University during 1954-55. The number of companies interviewing graduates rose 15 per cent over 1953-54.

University graduates with bachelor's degrees in engineering, mathematics, chemistry or physics received an average starting salary of $408 per month, compared with $400 last year. Masters' degree holders' starting salaries this year averaged $463 compared with $445 last year, and those with doctorates, $611 compared with $577.

The new degree holders averaged from three to five offers, with some of the top men receiving 15 to 20 job chances.

Most of the graduates remained level-headed despite the terrific demand for their services. Associate Professor B. H. Amstead, faculty member in charge of engineering-science placements, said. They seem to realize that their careers are only beginning and their progress over a long period will depend on maintaining the right attitude.

"We've tried to make the value of that policy apparent in our classrooms and most interviewers' techniques emphasize it too," he added.

Firm Burglarized Tuesday Night

Cicero Smith Lumber Company at Estelline was entered sometime Tuesday night and several items and a small amount of money taken, sheriff W. P. Baten said Wednesday. No arrests had been made this morning (Thursday) in the case.

As far as could be determined by Cecil Williams, manager of the Estelline business, goods taken consisted of a tool chest, three hunting knives, 10 boxes of .22 caliber shells, three .22 rifles, two electric clocks and two electric stoves. Also missing from the cash register was slightly more than five dollars.

The burglar or burglars climbed a high steel wire fence, where it joins onto the rear of the company building, then broke out a window on the north side of the structure, to gain access.

Williams discovered the break-in about 5:45 a. m. Wednesday and notified the sheriff's department here, Baten said.

Liquor Cases Heard In County Court

Billy Shawhart of Memphis was assessed a $750 fine and court costs and 30 days in jail, in county court here Tuesday, according to county attorney William Teague. The defendant, who was charged with possession of whiskey for the purpose of sale, gave immediate notice of appeal. Evidence was heard before a jury with county judge Tracy Davis presiding.

The alleged offense occurred near Memphis the latter part of May. When arraigned, Shawhart was placed under $1,000 bond.

In another case, the defendant, Woodrow W. Shawhart of Memphis, forfeited his bond of $1,000, Teague said. He was charged with sale of whiskey in a dry area, the act allegedly occurring last February.

A driving while intoxicated case, involving a Memphis man, was postponed. Arrested here sometime around the middle of July, he is out on $500 bond.

Extra Old Papers Have Great Value To TU Depository

AUSTIN — That old newspaper in the attic—the one grandma saved because it contained a paragraph about grandpa's election as sergeant-at-arms of his lodge—could have a lasting value in a permanent depository at the University of Texas.

Dr. H. Bailey Carroll, history professor and Texas State Historical Association director, says these "fugitive items" could help history students and other scholars reconstruct the life that has gone on in a community. Your copy of the old newspaper might very well be the only one in existence.

"The University's Newspaper Collection is already the greatest in the state," Dr. Carroll pointed out. "It could be tremendously increased in value."

Newspapers are a major source of local history, and local communities will be richer for having the yellowed old copies in a depository, where they can be preserved properly and where their contents can be dispersed. Such facilities are provided at the University.

Dr. Carroll urged citizens who are keeping old newspapers merely as "antiquarian curiosities" to send them to the Texas State

You'll Never Be Blinded By False Claims When You "Do Business At Home"

Whether you're buying insurance, a pair of sox or a new car, the best place to get the most for your money is right here at home. You will be transacting business with men and women you know, who will be making no false claims about merchandise or service.

Trading at home is like contributing to a community fund drive, baking a cake for a church social or joining the volunteer fire department. It might be called a true example of community spirit.

Consider the workings of the economic system within our community. Even if our principal income is from agriculture, the majority of the people earn their living by doing business with one another. There's your paycheck if you work for a salary. You use it to pay the grocer, the doctor, the milkman and others.

Doesn't the situation become clear when you examine it in this light? Every business in this community, be it hardware store, clothing store, lumber firm or drug store is in business because our community needs the products and services each has to sell.

We say TRADING AT HOME is a sign of community spirit because it's all too easy to overlook the local professional man or the store on the corner and take to the highways or look to the mail order catalog when buying, despite the fact we can usually get the same product or service for less, and at the same time spend money here at home where it will do the most good.

Read the advertising columns of this newspaper. They, too, bring weekly "news" you can use. Do your shopping at home—with people you know. They're the folks who support everything worthwhile in Memphis.

Max Johnson of Brice, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Johnson, participated in the traditional New Student-Old Student Wedding in the Fine Arts Building on the campus of Texas Wesleyan College in Fort Worth, recently, during the opening school activities.

A T. W. C. freshman, he was chosen by the Student Council of Religious activities to be one of the groomsmen in this annual ceremony which dates back before the year 1919.

Traditionally, a representative freshman girl, whose identity is kept secret until the wedding, is "married" to the president of the student body, representing the old students, thus symbolizing the bond of friendship made between the first year students and upper-classesmen.

Farmers Suddenly Receiving More Notice

For quite a while now, it has seemed that the farmer was the forgotten man. It didn't seem to matter that prices of the things he had to sell were going down, while about everything he had to buy kept climbing. Oh, there was all sorts of talk, we'll admit, but like Mark Twain's remark about the weather, there wasn't much done about it. So there has been mighty little for the farmer to do but growl and maybe gripe, while he watched the incomes of many of his more fortunate fellow Americans climb and climb.

Politically, it seemed like the farmer just didn't have the attraction—in other words, the votes—that he once had. For where the farm population at one time constituted one of the largest segments—and perhaps the largest—in this country, it has in recent years shrunk amazingly, until there are estimated to be only about 14 million persons living on the land today. But while this has been happening, other groups, such as labor, have been gaining strength, and likewise, popularity with politicians.

But apparently, the farmer hasn't lost all of his political importance, because with vital presidential and congressional elections hardly more than a year away, both Republicans and Democrats have acquired a sudden, intense interest in the farmer, have begun blaming each other for his unfortunate plight and the farm problem appears likely to be the Number One topic in next year's campaigning.

There is no question that the Republicans—the "ins"—are disturbed over the farm situation and are worrying over the effect that unhappy farmers may have on elections in 1936. And well they might, because some farmers and farm groups have already begun to demand that Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson resign. The result is likely to be a quick attempt to put more dollars in farmers' pockets, hoping to salve their ruffled feelings, at least until voting is over. As a matter of fact, Benson, himself, has said that steps are to be taken to alleviate agricultural woes.

Troubles on the farm may be attributed largely to over-production. This most recent spurge commenced during World War II and continued through the Korean War, when farmers were encouraged to expand productivity beyond normal requirements to meet demands, created by the hostilities.

Millions of acres of grassland were plowed up to grow additional crops and furthermore, war demands slowed down the normal and traditional migration of people from farm to town. As a result, productivity capacity has remained abnormally high.

American farmers are currently growing crops on approximately 350 million acres of land. Considering present farm efficiency, adequate supplies could be produced on about 300 million acres, except during extreme drouth or other disasters.

In light of this, it is contended by some that the government should encourage farmers to reduce crop acreages to this level. In fact, programs were inaugurated last year and continued this year to reduce acreages of surplus crops, such as cotton, wheat, tobacco, rice and peanuts. But most of this land has been diverted to other crops, resulting in surpluses in these latter, with resulting declines in prices and incomes. Thus farm surpluses continue to grow.

There are some who believe that the government should pay farmers to take unneeded acres out of production and put them into soil building legumes and grasses.

We may or may not see something like this put into effect in the near future. But the Republicans want to stay in power and they are showing increasing indication that they are aware the agricultural vote could be the deciding factor as to whether they do. So it's a good bet that we will see something attempted to improve the farmer's position before next year's elections.

HOGGING THE SPOTLIGHT

Press Paragraphs— QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

How to Get Things Done

There are two ways to get things done. One is through the use of force, coercion and threats. The other is to offer incentives and high hopes. A good example of these diametrical opposites is found in oil production in this country as contrasted with Russia.

Searching for oil is a long-shot proposition. The great majority of wells drilled in new territory turn out dry and worthless. One Texas oil man has actually sunk 196 dry holes in a row. But he's working and still hoping. For, if the dream of a big strike is realized, he'll be able to reap a good profit in return for the time and money and labor he expended, and the risks he freely took.

In Russia, according to a Soviet geologist who escaped to this country, it's a criminal offense to fail to strike oil. Under Soviet law, a geologist who brings in a dry hole can be, and sometimes is, packed off to forced labor in Siberia.

How do these two systems of getting results work out, comparatively speaking? Here's the answer: American oil men produce close to 6,500,000 barrels of crude oil daily to Russia's 1,000,000 barrels. Putting it another way, we produce 46.3 per cent of the world's oil, while Russia, together with all her satellites produces only 11.5 per cent.

You can make a man work by putting a gun in his back—but you'll always get minimum results. Prison labor is less productive than free labor. That's why an economic system based on free enterprise—on getting results by voluntary action spurred by inducements—is always far more productive than a system based on the power of government to order men and women about.

Government Shall Not Support the People

In 1887, Congress passed a bill appropriating $10,000 to buy seed and distribute it to drought-hit farmers. President Grover Cleveland acknowledged that the motives behind this were benevolent. Yet he vetoed the measure, in a message which contained this statement: "Though the people support the government the government should not support the people." The country sorely needs adherence to that principle today.

—The Lamb County Leader

Swindle of the Century

The active public power promoter is often a highly articulate individual whose mental agility borders on the acrobatic. The success of the unremitting propaganda campaign carried on by these people is graphically illustrated by the astonishing growth of federally owned electric generating facilities, which accounted for seven-tenths of one per cent of the nation's capacity in 1933, and 12.4 per cent just 20 years later, in 1953.

If projects already authorized are completed, the federal government's share of the nation's electric generating capacity will be 17 per cent.

This whole empire is built on the shakiest of foundations. Federal power enjoys the use of treasury funds interest free and further cuts its operating costs through the avoidance of most of the taxes which private electric utilities have to pay, including the federal income tax. Taxes take nearly 3 cents of every private power company's income dollar through preference which municipalities and cooperatives get over private utilities in the allocation of federal power.

If the highly qualified Hoover Commission has accurately appraised the situation, less than 10 per cent of the people will benefit directly from the tax outlay of all the rest of the country's citizens when all presently authorized federal power projects are completed. The whole thing is a giant swindle in which 90 per cent of the American people are victims. The remarkable thing about it is that the promotional activity has been so successfully and continuously carried on that a great many Americans look upon federal power development with complete faith, not realizing that the private electric industry has consistently grown ahead of the needs of the country and is responsible for the development of electric energy as we know it today.

August. The bumper crop is expected to beat last year's yield by more than 20 per cent. The increase in production of grain sorghums can be attributed to a 15 per cent increase in acreage and generally more rainfall in most areas. Although a million fewer acres were planted in cotton, this year than in 1954, production is expected to be down only about 1 per cent. Remarkably high yields are in prospect for most of the cotton producing areas due to improved soil moisture supplemented by irrigation of about 25 per cent of the state's crop.

Safety Program Presented At Delphian Club

The Delphian Club met Tuesday, Sept. 20, with Mrs. Henry Hays.

Opening the meeting, Mrs. Sidney Baker, president, led in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. Mrs. Hays gave as the meditation "When Things Go Wrong."

Following the business session conducted by the president, Mrs. Baker, the program was introduced by Mrs. Hays. A conventional mirror was displayed as Mrs. Hays explained it was simple and followed established lines and rules. She showed how this also applies to "Established Rules for Traffic Safety," which was the topic for discussion.

Taking part in the discussion on Traffic Safety were Mrs. Clyde Smith and Mrs. B. J. Thomson. Mrs. Smith urged that we "Slow Down and Live." She told of the origin of our "Signs of Life," the many traffic signs along our highways and of the numbering of the highways to be of aid to the motorist.

Driver education courses in our schools was stressed by Mrs. Smith and she said, "Parents should not teach their children to drive."

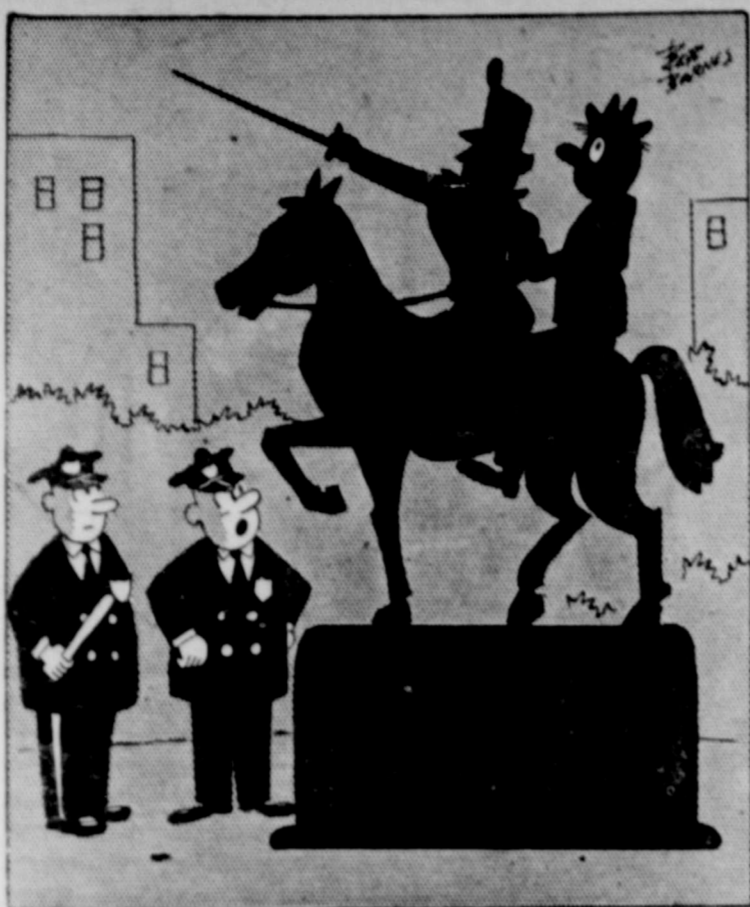

"You're in the Driver's Seat" was discussed by Mrs. Thomson. She said that safety depends on the follies and mistakes of drivers. A car from the factory lacks the most important part—the driver. She gave some important rules for safe driving, stressing special care during mist, fog, ice and snow.

"Don't rush time," said Mrs. Thomson, as she explained that speed is the main killer on the highway.

Concluding, she gave some Dont's for motorists.

Tasty refreshments were served by the hostess to the following

Questions & Answers For Veterans

Q — I am planning to buy a house with a GI loan. Is it absolutely ne- cessary to have the property ap- praised?

A — Yes. Appraisal is required by law, in order to protect you. The law requires that the pur- chase price be no more than the "reasonable value" as determined by proper appraisal made by an appraiser designated by the VA.

Q — I am going to college under the Korean GI Bill. Will I receive my GI training allowances during the summer vacation months, when I am not in school?

A — No. The GI training allow- ances will not be paid during the summer vacation months when you are not actually in training.

Q — About a year ago I was se- riously injured while traveling, un- der orders, to report for induc- tion into military service. Of course, I never was inducted. My disability is acting up, and I need hospital care. Would I be eligible to go to a VA hospital?

A. You may be eligible for VA hospital care, on the same basis as a veteran with a service-con- nected disability, providing your disability was not the result of your own misconduct.

Q. I am planning to get a GI business loan to be insured, rather than guaranteed, by the VA. What is the maximum rate of interest on insured non-realty loans?

A. The interest may not exceed a three per cent discount rate, or an equivalent simple interest rate of 5.7 a year.

Q. I have a Korean GI term inurance policy. At the end of the five-year term period, will I have to do to renew it another five years?

A. You needn't do anything except make certain your premiums are paid on time. At the end of the term period, it will be renewed automatically.
