6 County ACP Practices Chosen at Meeting Friday

Soil Conservation Practices for 1956 were chosen at a joint meeting of Agricultural Station and Conservation community committees on Friday afternoon. The meeting was held in the county courthouse. Practices selected will have to be approved before becoming effective. McKown, manager of the county office in Memphis, said the 1956 A. C. P. will commence Friday afternoon session. Practices selected were strip cropping, cropland to pasture, strip cropping, seeding of native pastures, control of mesquite, cedar and water wells for livestock, construction of earthen dams, construction of new terraces, and construction of diversion terraces to prevent erosion.

Homecoming Scheduled Nov. 10

Homecoming for Memphis school students will be Thursday, Nov. 10, R. G. Smith, president of the executive board, announced Wednesday. The homecoming has been held the following year, but this is the first time it has been declared for the school, Lemons said.

To Honor Personnel

Memphis Lions Club will give a regular annual banquet at Memphis faculty and staff members and their spouses will be honored at the banquet on Tuesday night, Nov. 10, at Haskell Hotel. Howard Howell, program man who will serve as emcee, will also honor the personnel. The dinner will be held in the Masonic Building at 7:30 p.m. P. Cornett, president of the college, will be the main speaker.

At Memphis High School their annual Halloween party will be held on Saturday night in the gymnasium. There will be 25 cents admission and 25 cents for refreshments. The queen will be chosen from whom a Halloween party will be chosen. Points will be awarded for the party which will include a funnel race, a three-legged race, and a balloon race. Winners will receive points for his or her party.

Rattlesnakes, Run For Your Lives

Who said women are the timid sex? Mrs. Fred Gossett, who lives on the west side of Indian Creek, certainly believes that statement. Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Gossett came by The Democrat office and called staff members out to see a king-sized diamond rattle snake that she had killed about a quarter of a mile from her home. Before she drove away, a small crowd had gathered to look at the reptile which lay in the car trunk. The snake, which had 10 rattles and had probably lost several more, was about five feet long and looked to be eight inches or so around. (Editor's note: These figures are estimates, since it just happened we didn't have time to use a tape measure.) This made the fourth rattler Mrs. Gossett has slain within a week. Tuesday of last week, she killed one with 11 rattles and later killed two more, one with four rattles and one with eight. She slew the first three with fence posts but used a hoe to dispose of the diamond back. Women the weaker sex? Huh!

Cyclone and Broncs Play at Clarendon

The Memphis Cyclone football squad goes to Clarendon Friday night to engage the Clarendon Bronchos in a conference contest. Game time is 7:30 o'clock. Clarendon has been something of a surprise team this season, as the Bronchos were not expected to have much. However, the Bronchos have had a pretty good season so far. And past performance means little, anyway, when the Cyclones and the Bronchos tangle. For Memphis and Clarendon have been traditional rivals, the result being that each school probably would rather defeat the other than win against any other foe. There's little reason to doubt that both teams will be scrapping for all they're worth in Friday evening's tilt, you can bet on that.

Hedley Festival Said To Have Been Best In History

The fourth annual Hedley Cotton Festival Friday and Saturday was said to have been better than any of its predecessors, according to sources in a position to know. The Memphis High School Band took first place for the fourth successive year, with Clarendon second. The parade Saturday afternoon (Continued on Page 12)

Interest in 4-H Club work in Hall County is running high with 468 members having been enrolled in the seven clubs in the county, according to W. B. Hooser, county agricultural agent. Bowman, president; James Adcock, vice-president; Robert Mack Moss, secretary; and Elane Seay, reporter. Stephen F. County Ginnings Total 6,857 Bales

Hall County gins had turned out a total of 6,857 bales of cotton, a survey made Tuesday disclosed. The survey was made by William M. Cross of Clarendon, farm placement interviewer for the Texas Employment Commission. At the same time, Donley County gins had processed 1,474 bales. A check of last year's ginning total for Hall County shows that about 20,000 bales had been ginned up to this point. However, the difference in totals is due, as everyone familiar with the situation knows, to the lateness of the 1955 crop. Prospects now indicate that this county may well produce about as much cotton as it did last year. Cross said that ginnings in the Turkey area estimated that about 50 per cent of the cotton was open, while in the remainder of the county, estimates ranged from 30 to 35 per cent. Cotton probably has opened later in the north central part of the county than elsewhere because of torrential rains (Continued on Page 12)

Churches To Show Reformation Film

"Martin Luther," a half-million dollar feature film which is based on the life of the great religious reformer, will be shown in the churches of Memphis and surrounding communities beginning tonight (Thursday). A copy of the motion picture has been purchased by the Memphis Ministerial Alliance. Times at which the films will be shown here are as follows: Methodist Church, 7 p.m. today; Presbyterian Church, 7 p.m. Sunday; Assembly of God, 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 2; Christian Church, 7 p.m., Nov. 6; and First Baptist Church, 7 p.m., Nov. 10. The motion picture also will be shown at a general assembly at the Memphis High School. A free-will offering will be received at each showing in order to pay for the film. The picture will be available for future showing to churches and organizations of the community. The film, which is in color, shows the beginning of the Protestant reformation and runs one and three quarter hours. Sunday is Reformation Day in many Protestant churches.

Attention Brazil: Coffee Grown Here

Mrs. Donna Martin probably is the only Memphis resident who grows coffee. She says she gathered two or three pounds this year and would have harvested more but for the fact that a number of coffee plants were cut down. The plants grow to a height of about five feet, she explains. Her venture in the coffee-growing business began something like five years ago, when she says she paid 10 cents for 10 seed that she ordered from a catalogue. Mrs. Martin brought some of the coffee pods to the Democrat office Tuesday morning. At the same time, she brought in a giant-sized radish which measured about 10 inches in circumference at its largest point and about the same dimension in length. Both products were grown on a two and a half acre truck farm in the east part of Memphis.

Scout Training Pays Off

Quick action on the part of scoutmaster Ted Myers and scout Jimmy Callaway may have prevented some members of troop 35 from being injured while they were attending the Red River District Camporee at Hedley Saturday. According to Myers, he and all of the Memphis scouts had bedded down in four pup tents and a large umbrella tent late Saturday night. Myers had gone to sleep but suddenly awoke about 1:15 o'clock Sunday morning to discover that a wall of the umbrella tent in which he and four of the scouts were sleeping was afire. Myers jumped up, yelled for the scouts to leave the tent, and rushed outside and began trying to put out the fire by beating on the walls with his hands. As soon as Jimmy Callaway spotted Myers fighting the blaze, he hurried from a pup tent, next to the large tent, and used a blanket to help Myers combat the fire. In a few seconds, the young scout had extinguished the blaze, Myers related Tuesday. Investigation disclosed some type of can lying against the tent and it was immediately removed from the tent area. Smoke began pouring from it again but

Funeral services for Charles F. Simmons, former Hedley resident, were held at 2 p.m. today (Thursday) in the Church of Christ at Hedley. Conducting the rites was J. C. Stepp, minister of the Lelia Lake Church of Christ. Interment was in Rowe Cemetery at Hedley, under direction of Spicer Funeral Home. Mr. Simmons, who was 44 years old, died early Sunday morning at Torrance, Calif., where he (Continued on Page Six)

Bureau Members Adopt Resolutions

Hall County Farm Bureau members adopted a total of 20 resolutions Tuesday night, during their annual resolutions meeting in the high school cafeteria. Discussion of the resolutions lasted for three hours. During the meeting, Bureau members elected three delegates and two alternates to the state convention. They are Harold Hodges, J. R. Mitchell, Jr., V. C. Durrett, Robert Moss and Brown Smith. Moss, who is a vice-president of the county organization, presided. Twelve of the resolutions passed by the members dealt with farm (Continued on Page 12)

Seventeen Scouts Advanced During Hedley Camporee

Seventeen Scouts of Troop 35 appeared before a board of review of the Adobe Walls Council and were advanced to different classifications in Scouting at the Red River District Camporee last weekend, according to Scoutmaster Ted Myers. The Camporee was held at the Hedley City Park. The court of honor occurred during the evening campfire get-together for Scouts of Hedley, Lakeview and Memphis. Loan On Farm-Stored Cottonseed $46 Ton

The guaranteed support price for 1955 cotton seed that tests 100 per cent is $46 a ton when stored on the farm, Lynn L. McKown, manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office here, said Monday. Loan value when sold at the gin is $42 per ton if seed tests 100 per cent. Loans on seed will be made through Feb. 15, 1956, and will mature on March 1, 1956. Producers must pay off loans after they have received notice from the A. S. C. office. Area cotton seed grades, as of Oct. 24 was 98.5 per cent, which merited a support price of $42.37 for seed sold to ginnings. However, payments to individual growers will be based on how their own seed tests, McKown explained. All cotton seed must be sound and clean and must contain not more than 11 per cent moisture, before it can be put into the government loan program. Any storage which will provide safe protection from weather and livestock damage will be acceptable to the county A. S. C. committee, McKown said. If producers choose to deliver cotton seed, rather than to pay off loans, the seed must be taken to the railroad at the growers' expense, and at a time and place that the Commodity Credit Corporation designates. Loans will be made through the local A. S. C. office, and will require a service charge of 35 cents per ton or $3.00 per loan, whichever is greater. All notes will bear 3 1/2 per cent interest per annum from the date of disbursement to the date of repayment. Farm-stored loans will be (Continued on Page 12)

Mulching Request Deadline, Nov. 15

Hall County farmers are urged to obtain approvals for government assistance in stubble mulching their grain and sorghum land as soon as possible, according to Lynn McKown, manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office here. McKown said producers should (Continued on Page 12)

Lakeview Scout Troop Reactivated

Lakeview Boy Scout Troop 75 received their charter Monday night of last week. Membership cards were presented to Rev. H. K. Parmenter, scout commissioner, V. C. Durrett, scoutmaster, and Loran Denton, Explorer advisor. Seven boys registered this year and each one received a membership card. The boys are: L. Z. Lane, patrol leader of the Crow Patrol; Tommy Lane and Jerry Lawrence; Don Neighbors, patrol leader of the Flying Eagle Patrol; and Jimmy Neighbors, Teddy Sparks and Larry Parnell. Tenderfoot badges were awarded by Reverend Parmenter to Tommy Lane, Jerry Lawrence and Jimmy Neighbors. They were explained the significance of scouting. The meeting was dismissed, with scoutmaster Durrett leading in the scoutmaster's benediction.

Cotton Burned At Plaska Gin

Three or four bales of cotton were destroyed by fire Sunday afternoon at the Paymaster Gin at Plaska, according to chief of police Guy Wright. Six or seven more bales were saved, Wright said. The damage was covered by insurance. The cotton was on the gin yard, about 60 or 70 yards from the gin plant. Clarence Morris, gin manager, had left the gin only a short time earlier and at that time every thing was all right. A truck from the Memphis Fire Department was summoned to extinguish the burning cotton, after Morris and some gin hands fought it unsuccessfully. Later, a water truck from Memphis had to rush additional water to the scene.

Quick Action Extinguishes Fire

Quick action on the part of scoutmaster Ted Myers and scout Jimmy Callaway may have prevented some members of troop 35 from being injured while they were attending the Red River District Camporee at Hedley Saturday. According to Myers, he and all of the Memphis scouts had bedded down in four pup tents and a large umbrella tent late Saturday night. Myers had gone to sleep but suddenly awoke about 1:15 o'clock Sunday morning to discover that a wall of the umbrella tent in which he and four of the scouts were sleeping was afire. Memphis Blasts White Deer, 26-6

The Memphis Cyclone rolled over the White Deer Bucks here Friday night in a conference game 26 to 6, giving the local team their third conference win in four starts.

Halfback Dean Sustaire took the opening kickoff, and ran it back to the 32-yard line. After making a first down, they were forced to punt. The Bucks took over on their 40, and fumbled the ball on their second attempt to carry through the line. Memphis recovered it on the White Deer 39, David Davis, right halfback, picked up 15 yards around end behind good blocking. After three attempts by Terry Monzingo, Sustaire and Quarterback Young, Davis, rammed through tackle for his team's first touchdown.

The Bucks failed to move after taking the kickoff. Then Sustaire intercepted a pass, and ran it back to the Buck's 30-yard line before being tackled. Davis again went through tackle for a touchdown, going 30 yards. The attempt for extra point failed.

In the closing minutes of the first quarter, Tailback Jerry Mills took a pitch-out and circled right end for 45 yards and his team's only touchdown. The Bucks failed to carry over for the extra point.

A few minutes later, Sustaire drove through the center of the line and raced 40 yards for another touchdown. The extra point was made by Butch Adcock, who carried through center. Adcock was made out of the lineup for several weeks due to an injured neck.

Neither team scored during the third quarter. Both teams were outstanding on defense, stopping the ball carriers and the pass attempts.

Sustaire again went over the goal line for a touchdown in the fourth quarter. This time he circled right end. Adcock again rammed through the line for the extra point.

Fans Friday night saw Coach Andrew's team use the wing-T formation several times on offense, although the move was an experiment to move the ball downfield.

Statistics compiled after the game showed the following results:

Memphis made 21 first downs, White Deer, 11. Each team earned 4 penetrations. The Bucks attempted 19 passes, completing 5 for a total of 63 yards. They suffered 2 interceptions. The Cyclones tried 7 passes and completed 3 for 27 yards.

Travis PTA Nets 202 Members In October Drive

A record number of 202 parents and teachers joined the Travis Parent-Teacher Association during the membership drive conducted in October. Mrs. Boyd Allison, membership chairman, reported at the regular meeting held Thursday afternoon in the Travis Cafeteria.

Six rooms in the school reported 100 per cent memberships. They included the following rooms: Mrs. Carrie Belle King, Mrs. Reba Stroehle, Mrs. Ward Gurdley, Mrs. Noel Callaway, Mrs. Walden McCreary and Maude Milam.

During the business session conducted by the president, Mrs. Ed HBL, Mrs. Frank Goffinett gave a report on the Halloween Carnival which will be held on Monday night and is sponsored jointly by the Travis and Austin P.-T.-A. An interesting report was given on the trip to the Fire Department made by the first grade and the Kindergarten rooms.

Mrs. Brode Hoover and Mrs. Sep. Watts brought the program for the afternoon. Mrs. Hoover talked on "Character and Spiritual Wisdom," and Mrs. Watts spoke on "We, the people, insure richer dividends through the Home: the Basis of a Democratic Nation."

ticularly the adolescent. But there is no short cut into the journey into adulthood. Our children must pass through painful experiences of growth and adjustment that try their souls. It might make our task easier if we realize that our children may at times feel that they are having a terrible struggle to live with their parents.

"Many forces are busy teaching our children today — the movies, TV, the school and the church, books and magazines, friends. At times we parents despair because we feel that we have too little chance. And yet, it is the home that leaves its mark upon the child. The home is the central power that determines the effect of these outside influences," Mrs. Hoover concluded.

The very structure of family life, the give and take, is the basis of democracy," Mrs. Watts said in introducing her topic for the day.

"People of our generation must be more self-reliant, have sounder judgement, more mature than people of any former generation. Families today have far less security and stability than families of 100 years ago.

"Good families just don't happen. They are built by all members of the family working together, respecting the rights of others, showing tolerance, sharing joys as well as heartaches, sharing alike in the use of family money, car, radio, TV, telephone and bath.

"If parents are to help children know what democracy is, we must set the example, be understanding, patient, loving parents, then the democratic way will not falter. Mrs. Watts concluded.

Approximately 40 members attended the meeting.

Local Women Enjoy Tour Of Southern States

Mrs. Seth Pallmeyer and Mrs. Bill Kesterson returned Tuesday from a three-week tour through nine southern states. The tour included Oklahoma, Arkansas, Tennessee, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

One of the highlights of the trip was a visit in Jasper, Tenn., with a former classmate of Mrs. Pallmeyer, Mrs. M. B. Bryant. The two friends had not seen each other in about 25 years. They were roommates in the summer of 1906 when they were students at the Summer Normal at Hereford, Mrs. Pallmeyer recalled. Mrs. Bryant said the late W. B. Quigley, then superintendent of the Amarillo School, was in charge of the summer normal.

While in Tennessee, they visited Look-Out Mountain, Missionary Ridge, Chicamauga Dam, the largest in the world, and the Hermitage.

They took a mountain drive over the Smokies from Chattanooga to Asheville, N. C.

They enjoyed a tour of the Biltmore Estate and saw the Atlantic Ocean for the first time when they went to Savannah Beach at Savannah, Ga. They also visited the Little White House in Georgia.

At Vicksburg, they took a guided tour through the National Cemetery.

All in all, Mrs. Pallmeyer said their trip was most pleasant, the weather was perfect and they did not as much as have a flat tire.

Good Public Relations Important

Farmers are frequent targets today for caustic criticism, directed at them by other groups, who appear to think agricultural people are chiefly to blame for higher living costs in recent years. They also are often made the goats in press and radio for the "outrageous" price support payments they have received.

It must be that it depends upon who is getting the government money, for a check of this country's history right up to the present time, shows that many interests have been the recipients of federal aid. But it's always farm people who seem to be singled out as the culprits for the higher prices and taxes the public has to pay.

But, actually, farmers are receiving a smaller portion of each dollar that consumers pay today, than they were not long ago. We believe recent government reports disclosed farmers were getting about 41 per cent of each dollar, where they were receiving around 50 per cent a few years earlier. This should prove beyond question that if prices remain high, or even continue to rise, producers of commodities are not responsible. What is responsible are such things as higher industrial labor and material costs, pre-packaging and freezing of foods and other conveniences that the public demands and expects today.

One would think that an unbiased comparison of farm income with that of other groups in this country would clearly show who has prospered the most in recent years. But maybe it isn't that simple. Maybe farmers have taken too much for granted. Maybe they need to get together, like other groups have, and tell the public their side of the economy story.

In other words, their public relations need to be revised and strengthened. For today, good public relations probably are more vital to the present and future welfare of farmers than ever before.

Kenneth Kendrick, Stratford farmer who is president of the National Association of Wheat Growers, recently told the Texas State Grange that public relations of the American farmer have fallen to the point where some city dwellers have come to believe farmers are a type of rural racketeers.

"Today," declared Kendrick, "The farmer receives very little favorable publicity from our newspapers and periodicals. It seems that about the only farm publicity that is considered newsworthy must be something that pictures the farmer as getting rich at the expense of the federal government."

Pointing out how this impression could be combatted, the Stratford man said, "The one big thing every farmer should take as his primary responsibility is to see that our city friends learn the truth about American agriculture."

Among agricultural facts Kendrick said the people need to know are that the farmer has made the United States the best fed and best clothed nation in the world, that it takes only 14 per cent of our people to produce more than enough food and fiber for the entire nation, that our strength as a nation has its roots in the soil, and that the average family spends only 25 per cent of its income for food, the lowest percentage on record.

There it is, laid on the line by a farm leader. And there are plenty of other facts, like these, too. But they will remain virtually useless unless producers across the nation determine to use them to prove to city people that farmers are not ravenous profiteers but human beings who want only their rightful share of the national income.

QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

"FRIENDLY" SOVIETS
 People in America zealously wish the Soviets would do different. We can't believe they would try to destroy us, despite the oft-repeated declaration they plan to do so. They are now trying the sweetness and light treatment on us, while carrying on in their diabolical way elsewhere in the world. "Their old policy has become bankrupt and ineffective," says our Congressman George Mahon. "And they are trying a new one. If we fall for it, we will be unbelievably naive. We must be on the alert to combat our natural tendency toward wishful thinking." The congressman just back from Europe also brings disquieting news from the friendlier countries which we are pouring millions into in military aid. "Nothing on the horizon indicates to me that these governments will provide necessary funds for spare parts and maintenance," he says. "We could be saving a lot of money that we are pouring down the rathole, as we put it into scarce steel (to make home prices higher) that will impotently rust in European warehouses."

COUNCIL TRAINING GOOD
 It's too bad that more of Canadian's older generation couldn't have been present at the high school auditorium Friday morning when the student representatives of the younger generation . . . presented their first report to the student body on last summer's trip to the Student Council Workshop at Alpine. Their program was both entertaining and informative . . . and it was also impressive. We came away with the conviction that if these youngsters are typical of the leadership which our American schools are producing, then this nation has nothing to worry about in the future.

These youngsters are not only full of enthusiasm for what they are learning and doing, but were obviously succeeding in communicating their own enthusiasm to their fellow students. The student council plan is relatively new in the Canadian schools, but it is already proving itself both popular and successful. It would be hard to hit on a more effective method of teaching the American system of representative government than this one which permits students to learn by doing.

SPORTSMANSHIP
 "Kill 'em! Kill 'em!"
 "Why those dirty . . ."
 Such outbursts would sound bad enough in a Skid Row roughhouse. They sound considerably worse at such public (and supposedly civilized) gatherings as football games. Yet, we hear them, again, and again, whenever we are in public. Why is this so? Usually the persons guilty of shooting off their mouths in public are hotheads and are apt to act hotheadedly in any tense situation, but this is hardly a license for them to incite others to impulsive and sometimes violent acts. We do not hold to the idea that spectators should sit in silence as if they were witnessing ballet; we like nothing better than to see excited fans scream their lungs out, jump up and down, and slap their neighbors on the backs. However, we believe in positive cheering, as against negative booing. There should be no reason why one fan should sit beside another, and the two support opposing teams, and not be able to both thoroughly enjoy the game.

youngsters forget about traffic danger," he said. "Safety rules practiced at other times go by the board."

This is especially dangerous when the youngsters are wearing masks and dark costumes, he said. He pointed out that the masks prevent the children from seeing automobiles, bikes, etc., and the dark costumes prevent drivers from seeing the youngsters.

McFadden had two suggestions for parents. One was that parents make sure their children are dressed in light costumes or costumes trimmed with white or reflectorized material, and that they do not wear masks on the street.

"But the best way of avoiding danger is to see that all trick and treating is done in the daytime," he said. "At night see that the youngsters are entertained indoors."

He also warned drivers to be on the alert for young goblins roaming the streets both in the daytime and at night. After dark, drivers should drive slowly and with the greatest care.

"Those ghosts that haunt our streets on Halloween are very much alive," McFadden said. "Let us see that they stay alive."

Public Hunting Drawings Outlined

AUSTIN — Varying procedure for hunters' application for public hunt drawings has been outlined by E. A. Walker, director of wildlife restoration, following recent Game and Fish approval of a plan to harvest game on wildlife management areas.

Nimrods may participate in only one shoot and each may hunt only one day.

Correspondence should be addressed to the Game and Fish Commission, Walton Building, Austin, Texas.

For the Kerr Area Hill Country harvest, applicants should state deer sex preference. Hunts will be November 16 through November 22 and November 25 through November 29. Applicants successful in the drawing will be notified concerning the day they may hunt.

For the Engeling Area, near Palestine in Anderson County, applicants merely apply for a permit and then draw on the grounds to determine which may try for an antlered or antlerless deer. Hunt dates are November 16 through 20 and November 29 through December 3.

The Kerr Area hunt calls for harvesting one hundred eighty-six deer and the Engeling Area is pegged for bagging one hundred fifty deer.

A drawing also will be held for the Black Gap area in Brewster County, where twenty-five mule deer will be taken along with 30 to 50 javelina. Hunters may not take both deer and javelina there. The shoot will be within the regular West of the Pecos season, November 20 through 25.

Applicants must be at least seventeen years of age and must have their regular $2.15 hunting license to participate. No application will be accepted after midnight, Oct. 31.

The director of wildlife restoration pointed out that this fall's record program of public hunts will necessarily have to be closely supervised to limit the harvest and also to safeguard participants.

He explained that the safety angle prompted the Commission's decision to limit the public hunts to persons seventeen or older. "We simply haven't the personnel to properly police the areas with inexperienced youngsters taking part," said the director.

The fall public shoots are on a much larger scale than the first hunt held on the Kerr Area last fall when fifty surplus bucks were designated for harvesting. Approximately five thousand persons applied for a permit in the first hunt. Judging from that great display of interest, said the director, it is assumed that several thousand will apply for the 1955 shoots.

"We appreciate the interest in these events," said the director. "This sentiment bodes good for our experimental demonstration program which is a key part in the overall wildlife restoration movement."

Mrs. C. W. Kinslow has as weekend visitors her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kinslow and two children of Eldorado, Ark., and her daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Williams of Bay City.

Philomethis Club Of Anadarko Brings Program On Indian Art To Local Club

Members of the Philomethis Club of Anadarko, Okla., presented an entertaining program on American Indian art and styling before members of the Atalantean Club on Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Ralph Williams, 803 South Sixth St. Mrs. G. E. Haslam was director of the program.

The narrator, Mrs. M. H. DeFord, was introduced by Mrs. Ralph Williams, and in turn gave a background history of the art of the early American Indian. In her discussion she stated, "The Indian artists of today are surprisingly fine artists and they have made a superior contribution to the modern scene in American painting. One reason for this is many centuries of the development of a decorative art which with any and all such arts in the world of a comparable cultural level.

"Some of these Southwestern Indians started on their way to success about 2000 years ago when they were cave men. In great dry sandstone caves these people expressed an artistic feeling by decorating their simple articles of everyday use.

"Weaving, unquestionably, took the lead in all art expression but design was definitely controlled by technique and material. Pottery followed as a new expression and bowls in shape of baskets were created from clay.

"In making articles for use in religious ceremonies the Indian developed a perfection — for these things were for the Gods. Thus we see that art is definitely a part of the everyday life of every Indian, lived and expressed by all their people — not a luxury that comes only to a small number of them.

"The wall paintings, or murals, perhaps have the most direct influence on modern water color paintings. They represent the most elaborate art of the period. In 1911 a bold and brave teacher at San Ildefonso dared to encourage her pupils to express themselves in water color and crayon. In 1918 another bold and brave Indian field matron in Oklahoma dared to put tools in the hands of the talented Kiwa children, whom she had observed drawing pictures in the mud with sticks. Thus the group which later became known as the famous Kiwa artists began their work. Monroe Tsa-Toki, who died of tuberculosis in 1938; Spencer Ash, who died in 1954; James Anchieah, Jack Hokeah and Steven Mopope became well known names in the art world. Seventy-five years ago these artists' grandfathers were burning government buildings, and today they are leaving an entirely different mark in the form of murals on the walls of school buildings, U. S. Post Offices, Library of Congress and other noted buildings both in the United States and other countries.

After the narration, during which time Mrs. DeFord showed innumerable pictures by the above named artist and others showing the variations in Indian Art, a style show was given. The dresses worn in the style show were made by the Southern Plains Arts and Crafts Guild. They are adaptations from old tribal costumes. Among those shown were versions of the Cherokee, Creek, Seminole, Apache, Kiwa, Ceremonial, Sac and Fox, Delaware, Caddo and Kelchi tribes.

Mrs. DeFord was dressed in Indian costume and commented on the tribal costumes as they were styled by Mrs. Cannon Dawkins, Mrs. Fred Adkins, Mrs. G. E. Haslam, Mrs. Marvin Slack, Mrs. Wm. McDuffey, Mrs. Charles Wilson and Mrs. Raymond Friedman.

At the conclusion of the style show slides were shown of Indian City, U. S. A., which is located at Anadarko, Okla., and included the pictures of authentic reproductions of numerous tribal villages and their surroundings. Also included were slides of the parade of the 1955 American Indian exposition.

FHA Officers Installed In Formal Service

Seven new officers were installed in the Memphis Chapter of Future Homemakers of America Tuesday, Oct. 18, at 6:30 p.m. in the High School Cafeteria.

The table behind which the new officers took their oaths of office held eight white candles which represented the eight purposes of F. H. A. and one tall red candle symbolized the spirit of Homemaking. In the initiation ceremony following the installation the 25 freshmen were given small lighted candles and a pin made of red and white satin ribbon.

Following the impressive ceremony, refreshments of punch and cookies were served to the group of sixteen old officers and nine parents and guests and 15 regular members.

The table was laid with a white linen cloth with a centerpiece of red roses, the official club flower, and red and white napkins were used with cookies decorated with tiny red roses, to further carry out the color scheme of red and white. The social committee in charge of the affair was composed of Carolyn Collins, Audrey Beth Burnett, Dorothy Moore, Oudis Massey and Shirley Reed.

served from the tea table, centered with a reproduction of an early day teepee scene of the American Indian. Coffee was served by Mrs. Cannon Dawkins and the cake was served by Mrs. Wm. McDuffey, who were wearing Apache and Seminole costumes, respectively. Favors of miniature teepees, handmade, were given to each of the members attending.

National FHA Week Will Be Observed Here

Thirty-nine members were present in the Visual Aid room of the high school, Monday afternoon, at 6 o'clock, to enjoy an interesting program, entitled "Previewing National F. H. A. Week of Oct. 31-Nov. 4, at Memphis."

The program was given by a committee headed by Glenda Ellis. Patsy Kennon illustrated the plans for the opening day of the week in a mock conversation with a friend in which she discussed wearing red and white, eating lunch together at the cafeteria, and selling the black and gold felt banners of Memphis High School at the P.-T. A. Halloween Carnival Monday night.

Tuesday will be the day for giving a red rose to the School Superintendent and High School Principal, to include them in F. H. A. week. Linda Gayle Sturdevant presented Tuesday's plans.

Wednesday will be noted by the Homemaking class "at hard labor" outside the south wing of the high school building. Plans have been made to remove the old shrubs and grass roots from the area inclosed by sidewalk, to enrich the soil for rose plants next spring and to set out some evergreens. To portray this day's activities, Frances Wright came to the meeting with dirty hands, carrying a shovel and a rack.

Thursday afternoon, as revealed by Glenda, the F. H. A. will make a town-wide campaign for silverware coupons, and sale of Christmas cards and stationery. The lucky girl who sells the most that day will be given a box of stationery as a reward. While soft dance music was being played, Glenda announced an after the game dance on Friday night when the Cyclones play Stinnett, here. The dance is to be held in High School Cafeteria and free refreshments will be served. At the ball game, tickets to the F. H. A. play "A-Feudin' over Yonder," Nov. 15, will be sold. The fortunate member who sells the most tickets will be given two reserve seat tickets as her prize.

Those attending the meeting wondered why Virginia Chappel should be dressed as she was at an F. H. A. meeting. But she explained that on Sunday, November 6, the entire F. H. A. club would attend church together at the Church of Christ. This has been the traditional ending of F. H. A. Week for the past 4 years, with the club attending: Presbyterian, First Christian, Baptist, and Methodist respectively.

It might be pointed out that the oil content of this shale is only 6 per cent. The United States has a pilot plant in Colorado engaged in the same type of operation, but the oil content of our shale is many times that of the Swedish shale. The entire operation has been the source of much helpful information in the development of the process and more is being contributed each day. Its development under the circumstances left little doubt as to the resourcefulness of the Swede and his self-sufficiency in a tight. They are a proud people, and rightly so.

Scientists will act as guides and take visitors on personally conducted tours through the laboratories. Scientific exhibits will be on display in all laboratories in the research center.

Among the scientific exhibits will be a closed loop T. Others include static and dynamic displays of Vibron transducer elements to measure pressure, temperature, dimension and acceleration of barometric pressure in the upper reaches of the atmosphere as well as bottom hole pressures in oil wells; a new unit for testing stability of jet fuels at high speeds, a low temperature viscosity bath to test oils, a complete microwave communication system to illustrate principles of microwave communications; a fatigue machine that measures the number of cycles of stress that metals will withstand before they disintegrate; and tensile micrometer set up which measures displacements as accurately as a millionth of a centimeter.

problems on the national level, six were for state action, and two pertained to Hall County.

A summary of the resolutions which were passed on the national level are as follows:

Recommend that the CCC absorb storage and handling charges on farm commodities owned by the corporation, and that world prices be met in order to move the surpluses into world trade channels.

Grain sorghums be continued as a non-basic commodity, and be supported at 90 per cent of parity; and that farmers be permitted to plant sorghums as catch-crop.

Recommend that ASC be permitted to recognize the "two rows planted, two rows out" theory for allotment crops in disaster counties only.

Went on record as being in favor of 90 per cent of parity for all basic commodities.

Called upon Farm Bureau to work toward lowering tariffs; also tariff funds collected on farm products moving into this country be used exclusively in moving U.S. surpluses abroad.

Opposed an increase in minimum wage laws; recommend persons employed by or in connection with occupations that may reflect increase in cost to farmers be exempt.

Recommend that more food surpluses be distributed to school lunch program.

Call upon National Farm Bureau to oppose any federal aid to schools which would endanger local control of schools.

To prohibit any Farm Bureau employee from making any reference to out-moded "law of supply and demand."

To discontinue the regulation requiring 50 per cent of all farm commodities going to foreign countries be shipped in U. S. ships.

Request that no change be made in the parity formula that would result in lower prices or buying power for price supported commodities.

Request Farm Bureau to put forth more effort in behalf of welfare of American farmer by taking more definite stand on vital issues affecting farm income.

Pertaining to state-level issues were the following resolutions:

To call upon the Legislature of Texas to appropriate necessary funds for an adequate basic water research program before attempting to pass legislation to finance a permanent water program.

To call upon legislature to consider the water users tax to finance permanent water program.

Call for appointment of special Farm Bureau committee to study price differential between what farmer receives and what the housewife pays in the retail market; and to recommend how producer will receive higher percentage of the retail price for his products.

Recommend that state Farm Bureau investigate the price spread presently existing between raw cotton seed and cotton seed meal or cake.

Work for change in state laws regulating uses of farm pickups.

Request state organization to make every effort to get laws regulating all commercial hauling changed so that haulers of farm products "to nearest practical processing plant and storage facility" be exempt from obtaining regular commercial hauling permit, or that special seasonal permits be issued.

The Farm Bureau members decided by resolution to assist the Hall County ASC committee in getting permission to add special conservation practice for blown-out sandy land farms. The other county-wide issue which received attention pertained to rural telephones. The group passed a resolution calling for a detailed investigation to be made toward correcting the inadequate rural telephone system.

president; Ted Barnhill, vice-president; Barbara Melton, secretary; and Conway Lacy, reporter. Bruce Gibson is adult leader and W. H. House is junior leader.

Each club meets once a month under the direction of the county agent. During the sessions, parliamentary procedure is observed and club officers carry out their individual duties. Hooser states that the officers have displayed outstanding leadership. He also says that adult and junior leaders are assisting in furthering the 4-H Club program and that superintendents and principals of all of the schools have cooperated wholeheartedly in helping make the program a success.

Four-H Club members are studying every phase of agriculture, both in theory and in practical demonstrations. In addition, Hooser is using visual aid in presenting 4-H Club work to members.

County 4-H boys and girls have selected 784 projects.

Among projects chosen are beef cattle, which includes registered Hereford breeding cattle, registered Aberdeen-Angus breeding cattle, fat steers, and commercial breeding cattle.

The dairy program includes registered Jersey heifers, and commercial dairy cattle, and the swine program includes registered breeding hogs in every breed, and commercial hogs of every breed.

Included in the poultry program are baby chicks, the feeding and care of laying flocks, yard equipment, and broiler production.

Among items on the field crop program are a certified seed improvement program, a legume program, a small grain program, a cotton program, and a diversified program.

On the entomology program are the control of diseases and parasites of livestock, crop, poultry, fertilization, and seed treatment.

The engineering program contains such jobs as running terrace lines, electrification, safety, home beautification, soil testing, water testing, irrigation, and tractor maintenance.

The pasture program includes deferred grazing, water distribution, control of mesquite, fertilization and fence building.

Blueprints have been provided for poultry houses, dairy barns, self-feeders, brooders, farm houses, cellars, trench silos, grain storage, mechanical loaders, and other phases of agriculture.

Four-H Club members are entering the following state and national contests: Tractor maintenance, garden, poultry, field crops, safety, rural electrification, home beautification, dairying, health improvement, citizenship, achievement and leadership.

Judging teams are being trained in livestock, poultry, entomology, field crops, tractor maintenance, safety and soil.

ers, although Joe Young, a back, was sick Tuesday. But he likely will be ready Friday night.

Even Cleve Evans, a quarterback, who has been unable to play since he was injured in the Tulia contest, may see some action, the coach said.

Andrews said that he would probably start the following players: Jimmy Jenkins and Campbell Morris, ends; Paul Wilson and Jerry McQueen, tackles; Jerry Hill and Dickey Craig, guards; John Deaver, center; Joe Young, quarterback; Dean Sustaire and David Davis, halfbacks; and Butch Adcock, fullback.

Adcock returned to the lineup in Friday night's contest with White Deer for the first time since he was hurt in the Crowell game several weeks ago. He played most of the game and appeared to be ready for regular duty, in fact, he looked very good, after having been out so long, Andrews remarked.

Davis started at right half last week for the first time and performed very well, according to Andrews.

Sustaire, who has had to carry a considerable portion of the ball totting chore, played his usual stellar game, the coach declared.

Andrews continued by saying that linemen are showing steady improvement and looking better in each succeeding game.

Anyway one looks at it, Friday night's game with Clarendon should be a corker.

C. F. Bradley Dies In Amarillo Hospital

Funeral rites for Charley F. Bradley, Memphis resident for 12 years, were conducted at 3 p. m. Tuesday in the Baptist Church at Lockett, near Vernon. Rev. Frank McNair, retired Baptist minister of Lockett, officiated.

Burial was in East View Memorial Cemetery at Vernon.

Mr. Bradley died Saturday in the Veterans Hospital at Amarillo. He was 57 years old.

A native of Coleman County, Tex., he was born Oct. 11, 1898.

He was a World War II veteran and a member of the American Legion.

procure the approvals no later than Nov. 15 and must have the stubble mulching completed by Dec. 1, if they are to participate in the program.

A total of $35,000 in unallocated funds are available under the 1955 wind erosion program, to assist farmers who wish to do any stubble mulching.

Many farmers have as yet failed to make application for such assistance and this must be done immediately, if they are to receive government benefits, the A. S. C. official emphasized.

Hedley Festival

was reported to have been the best in the history of the celebration.

A float, entered by Dorothy's Beauty Shop, won first-place honors, while the P. T. A. float was second. The American Legion Auxiliary float was given honorable mention. A great many floats were entered and their quality made it difficult to select the winners.

Scout troops from Memphis, Hedley and Clarendon marched in the parade.

During ceremonies Friday night, Petty Clay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Clay, who live northeast of Hedley, was crowned queen by Lions district governor Dub Nelson of Childress. Miss Clay succeeds Sandra Youre.

Twenty-five all-cotton creations were modeled by members of the Sodolitas Club.

Myrtle Reeves was in charge of the coronation and the musical program.

The festival was sponsored jointly by the Hedley Lions Club and the Hedley Boosters Club.

Movies of the celebration will be shown on KGNC-TV, Amarillo, Sunday at 12:30 p. m., on Cotton John's program, according to Clifford Johnson, one of the festival's strongest backers.

which fell in May and June, washing land and delaying replanting.

Frost, which covered the lowlands Monday morning apparently did more good than harm. Cross said growers told him. The frost is expected to cause cotton to shed leaves, and also to cause bolls to open more rapidly, according to the ginnings.

Cross declared that there seemed to be plenty of pullers in the county but that more likely would be needed as more and more cotton matures.

Farmers who may need hands are asked to see Cross, as he will be glad to assist them. His headquarters are maintained at Bruce Brothers Service Station, at the junction of Highways 287 and 256 in Memphis.

Three Arrested

he had noticed in Hedley Sunday afternoon.

The owner of the vehicle was picked up and later in the day confessed to participating in the thefts and implicated the other men, Neel said. The latter were arrested at Lakeview.

The three suspects were taken to Clarendon Monday night. Bonds for each were set at $2,000 and they still were in jail Wednesday at Clarendon, according to Neel.
