Memphis Three-Time Winner District F. F. A. Contests

Representatives from the Future Farmers of America chapter of the High School won three leadership contests in the District competition Friday. Eleven F. F. A. members were represented, according to Mrs. Potts, vocational agriculture teacher in the local school system. First-place winners in the various contests here Saturday will compete at the Area 1 F. F. A. gathering in Plainview, Saturday, Dec. 3. Those coming in first there will have the right to vie at the state meet in Huntsville, Dec. 10.

The Memphis F. F. A. chapter also captured two second and one fourth place. Top positions were awarded to Memphis in senior chapter conducting, junior chapter conducting, and radio broadcasting. The second places were in junior farm skills and an F. F. A. quiz, while the fourth place was in senior farm skills.

The Memphis senior chapter conducting team accumulated 933 1/2 points out of a possible 1,000. Members were Sandy Smith, Don McElreath, Sherman Clemons, Warren Whitten, Dudley Gillespie, Oscar Maddox, John Freeman and Eddie Gable. The junior chapter conducting group made 888 points. Composing the team were Phil Wooten, Neal Foxhall, George Hartzel, Bill Whitten, Tommy Brewer, Vance Grisham, Bobby Goode and John Evans. In chapter conducting, the proportion was (Continued on Page Seven)

FORMER MEMPHIS MAN KILLED IN CAR ACCIDENT NEAR DUMAS

Area Weather Dry During Past Week

Dry weather continued in this section the past week and harvesting of the 1955 cotton crop approached its climax. Many farmers have finished gathering cotton, except for some possible scrapings, but there are others who still have cotton in their fields. The past week started off cold and windy but had warmed up by weekend. This continued until Tuesday night, when a fast-moving front passed through, causing a moderate drop in temperatures. Thick dust accompanied the front for a short period. The sun was shining Wednesday morning and mild, fair weather was being forecast for Thanksgiving Day. According to John McMickin, weather observer here, mercury readings were in the following ranges: Last Thursday 18-46 degrees; Friday 20-72; Saturday 34-68; Sunday 34-78; Monday 35-75; and Tuesday 42-74. Low this morning was 32 degrees.

Funeral Services Scheduled Here 3 O'Clock Thursday

A former Memphis resident was killed and a Dumas woman was seriously injured about 10:30 o'clock Monday night when the car in which they were riding went out of control and overturned several times 8 miles south of Dumas on Highway 287. The woman's husband was not hurt. The dead man was Park Sinas Bufkin, 45 years old, who lived in the Memphis area for some 25 years before he and his family moved to Groom a couple of months ago. Mr. Bufkin was driving the northbound vehicle, according to investigating officers. A daughter, Mrs. Charles Mitchell, lives at Lakeview. Injured in the accident was Mrs. Hershel Sweeney. She and her husband were passengers in the vehicle. Mrs. Sweeney was admitted to Memorial Hospital at Dumas for treatment of her injuries. The crash victims remained at the scene for about 15 minutes before a bus driver spotted the wreckage. Mr. Bufkin had moved to Dumas from Groom about two weeks earlier and had been doing oil field work. While living in this area, he farmed for several years on land, owned by Mrs. W. C. Dickey. The property is located south of Memphis. Mr. Bufkin was married to Miss Opal McKee, Dec. 23, 1933, at Lakeview. The couple had continued to make their home in Hall County until going to Groom. Survivors, other than Mrs. Mitchell, include: his wife, Mrs. Park Bufkin of Dumas; five brothers, (Continued on page 6)

Basketball Practice Session Underway

Twelve players are coming out for the Memphis High School boys' basketball squad and 21 for the girls' team, Coach Nolan Poteet announced Tuesday. Only three of the boys are lettermen and only five of the girls have lettered, although all of the others have had previous experience. The three lettermen on the boys' squad are: Billy Cheek and Campbell Morris, forwards; and Sherman Clemons, guard. The remaining boys played on the B team last year, according to Poteet. They are Allen Daugherty, David Davis, Richard Hale, Dudley Gillespie, Robert Morris, Terry Monzingo, Rodney Lewis, Van Howard and Jim Harris. Girl lettermen returning this year are: Bobbie Jo Welch and Monta June Saye, guards; and Betty Claude Hickey, Sharon Harrison and Lois Ann Conner, forwards. Rounding out the team are: Sue Daugherty, Ruth Ann Jackson, Frances Wright, Edna May, Iola Robertson, Helen Bishop, Linda Rice, Betty Percell and Wanda Moore, guards; and Guyula Cawfield, Peggy Shockley, Helen Shackelford, Bobbie Lemons, Beverly Crawford and Shirley Reed, forwards. All the girls were out for basketball last year except Wanda Moore, who has transferred to the Memphis schools (Continued on page 6)

Gin Undamaged By Trash Fire

Apparently no property damage was caused by a fire which broke out in a trash pile at the Lesley gin Tuesday afternoon, according to members of the Memphis Fire Department. One fire truck was dispatched to the scene, following a telephone call to the local department. Some trash at the back of the gin caught fire from embers which were blown out of a nearby burr burner by the fairly strong winds that were whipping the area at the time. The trash fire was under control when the Memphis firemen arrived but almost a tank of water was sprayed on some smoldering embers as a precautionary measure, one member of the local department said.

Kay Leslie May Walk Soon

Kay Leslie, 14-year-old Memphis girl who was injured seriously Oct. 11 in a ferris wheel accident at the Dallas fair, is getting along fine, her mother, Mrs. Will Leslie, said Wednesday. Surgeons at Baylor Hospital in Dallas, where Kay has been since the mishap, expect to remove pins from a leg the first of the week, Mrs. Leslie said. After this is done, Kay is scheduled to begin walking some. Plans originally had called for the young girl to come home about Dec. 1, but the homecoming has been moved back to sometime around Dec. 15, Mrs. Leslie said. Mrs. Leslie came home the first of the week, after Leslie went to Dallas to be with their daughter. He is expected to return home Thursday morning, and another daughter, Linda, plans to visit Kay during the Thanksgiving holidays. The injured girl is in Room 426 at Baylor Hospital in Dallas. She would be glad to hear from anyone caring to send cards or letters.

Men Charged In Weapons and Driving Violations

Two men were arrested by the sheriff's department over the weekend for firearms violations and another was arrested for driving while intoxicated, Sheriff W. P. Baten said Monday. Both arrests for illegal possession of firearms were made Saturday night at a cafe, several miles east of Turkey. One of the arrested men was Mike Alvarez. He was picked up when he threw a .25 caliber automatic under an automobile, outside the cafe, following the appearance of officers. The other one taken into custody at the cafe was Johnny C. Patrick, who had a 32 caliber automatic, according to Baten. Baten said he and other officers went to the cafe Saturday night, after receiving complaints that whites, Negroes and Mexicans had been congregating there and causing a nuisance. Both Alvarez and Patrick pleaded guilty to unlawfully carrying a pistol when they appeared (Continued on Page 12)

Veterans Classes Closed In County

Hall County vocational schools for veterans have closed, according to an announcement Monday by Miss Mary Foreman, county school superintendent. A class at Turkey held its final session Monday, Oct. 31, and another class at Memphis met for the last time Monday, Nov. 7. Wren Vinyard of Turkey, was instructor there and Walter Walt-hall of Estelline, was instructor of the Memphis group. Miss Foreman said the veterans' vocational work started in Hall County, Jan. 2, 1947. Instruction was given in trades and industries, and vocational agriculture. During the period, classes were conducted at Estelline and Lakeview. The veterans' vocational program may be re-opened in Hall County at a future date if there is sufficient interest and qualified instructors are available. Miss Foreman said.

Man Arrested For Liquor Violation

Elbert Rogers was charged with possession of liquor for the purpose of sale in a dry area following his arrest Saturday morning in Morningside. Twenty half-pints of whiskey and seven fifths of wine were found in a house in Morningside, in connection with the arrest, according to Sheriff W. P. Baten. Rogers pleaded guilty to the charge in an appearance before County Judge Tracy Davis later in the day. He was assessed $200 and costs and was returned to jail when he failed to make the necessary payment. He was released Sunday night. Baten, Deputy Elmer Neel, and Chief of Police Guy Wright made the raid that led to Rogers' arrest.

Most Memphians To Observe Holiday

Most Memphis firms and offices are expected to be closed Thursday in observance of Thanksgiving Day, according to Haskell J. Howell, chairman of the retail merchants committee of the Chamber of Commerce. In addition, the post office and county, state and federal offices will observe the holiday. As is customary, the sheriff's, police and fire departments will be on duty, as will the highway patrol. The Democrat is being published a day early this week, in order that the staff may enjoy Thanksgiving with their families. It is the wish of the personnel of this paper that all of our friends and neighbors have one of the best Thanksgivings they have ever known. For those who do not receive this issue of The Democrat until after Thanksgiving, we make this wish retroactive and hope you had much for which to be thankful.

American And European Farm Methods Compared

Comparison of American and European agriculture highlighted the session by Norris F. Schroeder of Morgan, Colo., before a meeting of the Memphis and District Rotary Clubs here at the Lodge dining room, was one of a week-long series of sessions held in this region, in connection with the Fort & Denver Railway Commission on "Conservation and Freedom," Schroeder said. "Farmers or those who are interested in soil and water conservation and about 50 per cent of them are practicing it," he said. "We have no right to improve until our job is complete." The Fort & Denver agricultural leader went on to say, "In this great nation of ours, men have the right to work in any field, and set any goal. Each man's endeavor is limited only by the goal he sets." Commenting on matters he observed while visiting various European countries, Schroeder said: "I saw in England a compost pile, carefully tended to enrich the soil. I saw a roofed manure pile—roofed so that the sun and rain would not take out plant food from it." "In Denmark, the farmers take off one-half day each week, and spend that time tending up their farms. . . (When planting they) add manure to raise another bushel of potatoes." Pointing out a difference in marketing here and in Europe, Schroeder remarked, "The Denmark farmers must go to the cooperatives in order to sell their produce."

Touching on French agriculture, the Fort Morgan man stated, "In France, the farmers carefully save body waste and haul it to their land. We never saw a new farm structure in France. The French farmer . . . has been sold socialism, and his ambition has disappeared. He has no initiative." "Farming conditions, as we know them, have failed in Europe because farmers over there would not take responsibility for producing food." Turning his thoughts to agricultural progress in the United States, he said, "The American soil and water conservation program is one of the greatest things which has happened to this nation." Concluding his address, Schroeder (Continued on Page 12)

Democrat Ready For Santa Letters

First Santa Claus letter of the season was received Wednesday by The Democrat, reminding us that we had better remind the jolly old fellow's young friends that it is again time to sit down and list the things they want to find when they get up Christmas morning. When they have done this, mail or bring the letters to The Democrat and we will print them in our Christmas issue. We also will be sure that good old Santa Claus learns what is in them. The Christmas edition will be published and placed in the mails, Thursday, Dec. 22. But we will need to hear from boys and girls before then, as we will start work on the holiday issue about the middle of December. Address letters to "Santa Claus," in care of The Democrat.

Memphis Couple Honored For Rebekah Membership

Special honors were paid by members of the Memphis Rebekah Lodge last week to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oren. They were honored for their more than a half-century as members of the organization. Mr. Oren joined the lodge at Anson in 1903, and Mrs. Oren became a member there in 1910. They had been members of Memphis Rebekah Lodge No. 346 since 1910. Ceremonies last week were held in I. O. O. F. Hall. Vice Grand Aulis Ayers opened the ceremonies when she escorted the couple to the altar. The pathway was formed by 10 Rebekahs. At the altar, Noble Grand Verlin Webster presented Mr. and Mrs. Oren the 50-year life membership certificates and the veteran jewels, and Mrs. Alla Boswell gave them 12 red roses. Ora Ritchie, narrator, conveyed the gratitude of the order for the couple's faithful service, and expressed the wish that they would enjoy many more useful years. Besides their association with the Rebekah Lodge, Mr. and Mrs. Oren are active in church and social work. Mr. Oren has been a jeweler and optometrist during the family's residence in Memphis. A large number of members witnessed the recognition service. Afterwards, a Lodge meeting was held, with Noble Grand Verlin Webster in charge. Delegates also voted to hold

Memphians Attend Highway Meeting

Four Memphis citizens attended a Highway meeting in Wichita Falls last Thursday at which delegates drafted plans to cooperate with the Texas Highway Commission in accelerating improvement of the route within the state. Those present from here were: Clifford Farmer, president of the U. S. Highway 287 Association; Mills Roberts, president of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce and Hall County Board of Development; County Judge Tracy Davis; and M. O. Goodpasture, former county judge. During the meeting, L. B. Dear of Wichita Falls, district engineer of the Texas Highway Department, stated that plans call for building a four-lane highway along the entire route from Fort Worth to Vernon as quickly as possible and for widening the route to four lanes from Vernon to the Texas-Oklahoma line by 1965, according to Farmer. In a speech to the highway leaders, Farmer listed reasons why 287 needs to be improved. He was one of nine delegates who drafted the agreement, pledging cooperation with the state highway group. The pledge was scheduled to be transmitted immediately to highway commissioners in Austin. Delegates also voted to hold another meeting in Wichita Falls, Feb. 21, to name a delegation who will confer personally with Highway Commission members. First step toward improving Highway 287 was taken in September of last year when the Commission released an improvement program for the Texas portion of the route, Port Arthur is the southernmost point on the highway, which extends northwestward to Yellowstone National Park in Wyoming. The pledge of support last week was approved by the more than 70 delegates, comprised of county officials and chamber of commerce representatives from 14 counties on Highway 287 between Fort Worth and Dumas. The agreement to work with the Commission "in the best interests of both affected communities and the motoring public" was composed after conclusion of the general session. Members of the nine-man committee were appointed by Henry Grace, chairman of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce highway committee. Marshall Formby of Plainview, a member of the Highway Commission, sent a telegram to the delegates, expressing his regrets at being unable to be present at the meeting but conveying his support of the development program.

Public Advised Against Ignoring Family Doctors

AUSTIN — The present trend to "do it yourself" results in a lot of happy hobbyists but "do it yourself" in case of illness is foolish and dangerous, declares Dr. Henry A. Holle, Commissioner of Health. Too many of our citizens, when indisposed, jump at conclusions as to what is wrong with them and go to the drug store for a bottle of advertised medicine.

This ignoring the existence of physicians and relying on self-diagnosis is a bad gamble with ill health. For these persons, for all practical purposes, have isolated themselves as far as medical service is concerned.

In fact, they persist in this ignorant or careless complacency until they become acutely ill, when at last they call for professional medical service — which is frequently too late.

It is indeed too bad that so many persons deliberately raise a barrier between themselves and the family physician. Considering him only as a supplementary aid when the situation gets personally out of hand, there are literally thousands, who through delay have made it impossible for medical science to render its best service and were penalized by a protracted illness, a chronic disease, or the premature termination of life.

It follows that many people with great profit, could surrender this "do it yourself" idea and appreciate the physician for what he really is. When his abilities are more generally given an opportunity to be applied early, when his advice on living habits is sought, and when he is considered as the only person to be relied upon to conserve health and treat illness, then and then only will the present remarkable service that medical science stands ready to be afforded its maximum opportunity for good.

PAINTED REDSTART

Wildlife Group Outlines Habits Of Painted Redstart

The amateur who is interested in gaily colored warblers is apt to reach the conclusion that the females of this group are less brilliantly colored than the males, says the National Wildlife Federation. Those who know the ordinary redstart may place greater reliance in this because of the marked differences in the coloration of males and females. However, in the case of the Painted Redstart both sexes appear to be identical, and it is also worthy of note that the young birds are colored much like the adults from the time they have their first plumage.

The birds are colored in striking contrasts of brilliant red on the lower breast, jet black on the head, throat, back, center of the tail and over much of the wings. Patches of clear white appear on angles of the tail and on the belly. It is not likely that anyone knowing these characteristics would fail the identification of this bird.

The Painted Redstart occurs in only a limited area of the United States along the Mexican border within Arizona, New Mexico and Texas. Since they are primarily residents of Mexico and Central America, the birds seen within our country are living at the northern edge of the range. They are summer residents, occurring for the most part in pine and cedar country at high elevations. In the winter they migrate southward from the breeding ranges within the United States.

It is surprising that a bird as beautiful and conspicuously colored as this one would tend to make itself conspicuous by its actions. One assumes that vanity is frequently associated with beauty and this might account for the "show off" behavior of the Painted Redstart. Such an assumption of course would be dangerous and we do not make it seriously. But these birds do have a habit of flashing their colors as they go about their work. Some have suggested that their behavior, aside

State Agency Gives Data On Cotton Allotments

COLLEGE STATION — The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced that state acreage allotments for the 1956 crop of upland cotton. These are a breakdown of the national allotments of 17,391,304 acres announced in October.

The Texas allotment for 1956 is 7,410,779 acres. This is a 201,886 acre reduction from the 1955 allotment of 7,612,779 acres. On July 1, 1955, 6,984,000 acres of upland cotton were being cultivated in the state.

The law requires that no state shall receive an allotment for upland cotton which is less than the smaller 4,000 acres or the highest acreage planted to cotton in the state in any of the years 1953, 1954, and 1955. The remainder of the national acreage allotment is apportioned among other states on the basis of the acreages planted to cotton in the years 1950 to 1954, with certain adjustments in such acreages as required by law.

from this, is somewhat like that of the Brown Creeper, but no one in his right mind would accuse a Brown Creeper of affecting vanity.

The nest is sometimes built on the ground along steep sloping canyons where it is well hidden by overhanging grasses. At other times a nest will be found in a shrub as much as 10 feet above the ground. It is usually bulky and made of plant materials. As a rule there are 4 eggs. These are creamy white with chestnut or russet markings. Young birds may assume their full juvenile plumage early with juvenile molt sometimes beginning in June and lasting until October.

One of the most remarkable notes on the Painted Redstart stems from the discovery of one of the birds at Marblehead Neck, Mass., in mid-October, 1947. The identification was made by authorities whose integrity and knowledge of birds cannot be questioned. How the bird got so far from its usual range is a question that has "stumped the experts."

The national acreage allotment are to be apportioned among counties and the county allotments among farms according to provisions of the law and regulations issued by the Secretary. Individual farm acreage allotments will be mailed to operators prior to the referendum.

With winter coming on, it is time to consider management practices which will keep forage production and livestock numbers in balance.

Winter pastures should be grazed down rapidly and rotation grazing will give plants time to make their roots give top production.

Retired Tech Dean Given Honorary Title

Lubbock — The honorary title of "Professor Emeritus" has been conferred upon Mrs. Johnny Gilkerson Langford, a member of Texas Tech's first faculty.

Mrs. Langford, who retired in 1950, was the only instructor in women's physical education when the College opened its doors in 1925. During the following 25 years, she served Tech as head of the department of women's physical education and dean of women.

During her first years, physical education classes at Tech were held in a large room on the third floor of the Administration Building. Those classes were frequently interrupted because there was no hall past the room. Students either had to go through the "gym" or down a second floor hall to get from one part of the third floor to another.

Mrs. Langford's honorary title was approved last weekend by the Tech Board of Directors.

Since 1948 over a million deer a year have been killed in this country, and still the herds are increasing.

Artificial Lights Help Laying Hens Pay Off In Winter

COLLEGE STATION — The use of artificial lights to keep hens on the job for 13 hours each day during the short days of fall and winter is a management practice that pays dividends.

The extra hours of light are needed, says Ben Wormell, extension poultry husbandman, for stimulating hormone production. Light picked up through the hen's eye stimulates a gland to produce and secrete the hormone. It is this hormone production which determines the amount and length of light exposure needed for top egg production, explains Wormell.

Clean 60-watt light bulbs located six feet above the floor and a 20 per cent gain over last year for the same period.

14 feet apart should produce enough light. A clean 12-inch shallow dome reflector used with each bulb will give good light distribution. The lights should be used over the entire house so that all hens will be exposed during the time the lights are on.

Wormell says most poultrymen find it convenient to use automatic timing switches for turning the lights on early enough each morning so that the combined artificial and sunlight equals 13 hours before normal sunset. Gradual changes must be made in the setting of the time switch to take care of the decrease or increase in the number of daylight hours.

Abrupt changes in the daily length of artificial lighting may upset the hens enough to cause them to molt and lay fewer eggs.

The poultryman advises keeping the lights on all day when the weather is cloudy or rainy. Many egg producers have seen their hens drop in egg production about a week after a several days period of cloudy weather. And finally, Wormell cautions the poultryman not only to check the length of daylight but also the intensity of the light during the 13-hour period.

Texas Rough On Game Law Violators

AUSTIN — Texas justices of the peace sounded a grim warning on game law violators as the major hunting seasons got underway.

The admonition came pointedly through the latest arrest report from E. M. Sprott, director of law enforcement for the Game and Fish Commission. It revealed severe penalties for assorted violations, principally taking more than the limit and shooting out of season.

An example of the treatment given to more flagrant cases was the $300 fine plus cost meted out to a Dallas man for having three mourning doves over the ten bird limit. The justice of the peace set the price at $100 per excess bird plus the costs totaling approximately another $300.

Fifteen cases in all of persons exceeding the bag limit was reported in the arrest compilation.

The major cases for hunting out of season involved deer raids. The largest levy in one incident involved three men from Harris county in southeast Texas.

Wardens caught this trio with a fawn deer in the trunk of their car. The animal still was alive when the car was stopped although it had been shot twice when headlighted at night. The justice of the peace fined each of the three $200 plus costs. He fined one for shooting a fawn deer, another for hunting deer in closed season and the other for possessing a fawn deer.

Some common offenses involved hunting from automobiles, hunting with an unplugged gun, lacking hunting licenses and shooting before and after the legal daily period.

Basketball Practice

Poteet said these players would comprise the boys' and girls' A and B teams at present.

The boys did not report until this week but the girls had already been practicing. The girls scrimmaged Matorador Monday night of last week and engaged in a similar session with Lakeview Thursday night, Nov. 10, according to Poteet. Both boys and girls will scrimmage teams from Quail High School on Friday night here.

Tuesday night, both of the local teams will open the current basketball season when they play the Estelline boys and girls in the Memphis High School gymnasium. The first contest will get underway at 7:30 p.m.

In addition to the games with Estelline on Tuesday evening, the 1955-56 basketball schedule is as follows: Dec. 2, Lakeview, there; Dec. 6, Hollis, Okla., here; Dec. 7-10, Hedley tournament; Dec. 13, Estelline, there; Dec. 16, Samnorwood, here; Dec. 20, Lakeview, here; Dec. 28-31, Silverton tournament; Jan. 3, McLean, here; Jan. 5-7, Memphis tournament; Jan. 10, Clarendon, there; Jan. 13, Wellington, there; Jan. 17, Lefors, here; Jan. 20, McLean, here; Jan. 24, Samnorwood, there; Jan. 26, Clarendon, here; Jan. 31, Wellington, here; Feb. 3, Lefors, there; and Feb. 9-11, district tournament at Lefors. # Fresh Water Fishing Termned Pretty Good AUSTIN — Fishing reports around Texas indicate that dyed-in-the-wool fresh water anglers are having a pretty good fall, according to Marion Toole, chief aquatic biologist for the Game and Fish Commission.

Toole said catfish are in their expected fall slump but described angling success for black bass as getting better as well as crappie fishing. One factor in the general contentment of "around-the-calendar" fishermen is the seasonal decrease in pleasure boating and the consequent quieting down of agitated waters.

Reports from Gulf Ports state that salt water fishing provides some of the very best sport in the fall months and that many persons rallying for the coastal waterfowl hunts take along their fishing tackle to fill any quiet periods in the shooting.

Preliminary skin-diving observations now underway in Lake Travis of the Highland Lakes chain, he said, may have a bearing on how to better counsel the bass fishermen hereafter.

On one trial run, the "deep sea" crew concentrated on one four hundred yard stretch of rocky Travis shoreline, diving to a maximum depth of fourteen feet. It was noted that the smaller bass were close to the surface, medium bass operated about halfway down and the larger bass concentrated on the lower shelf rock.

"This could mean that fresh water fishermen now should fish deeper for the big ones," he said. Apparently either minnows or artificial bait should attract the bass.

The chief aquatic biologist said probably the greatest factor in the black bass rally is the seasonal status of shad, a favorite food. Shad are now growing out of size — in other words, they are getting too big for the blacks to handle," he explained. "Since they are the main forage fish for the blacks, the latter have to begin shopping around for food and therefore take more heed of what the fisherman has to offer.

Some fabulous crappie catches have been reported, particularly in the Central Texas area around Belton and Waco Reservoirs. One aquatic biologist running a chappie test of Lake Belton fisheries caught eighteen nice ones on twenty minnows. A fisherman hit the jackpot at Lake Waco, coming in with a stringer full, with several running two pounds.

Give Pedestrians Break, Safety Group Head Pleads

"Be a good sport. Give a pedestrian a break!"

This advice has been given to motorists by E. C. McFadden of Dallas, president of Texas Safety Association, Inc. His plea for a sportsmanlike attitude in traffic was made as a part of the pedestrian safety program the Texas of Public Safety and the National Safety Council are conducting during November.

"Remember, a pedestrian is no match for a car, so even when you have the right of way, give it up to avoid an accident," McFadden

Mrs. Kenneth Dale gave a most inspiring meditation on "A Time For Thankfulness." She suggested that Thanksgiving be a time for private as well as public gratitude; that we not only recall our benefits but that we should also express the gratitude we feel to others and deliver our accumulated thanks.

For the Producer-Consumer Circle program, Mrs. J. K. Porter and Mrs. Bill Hajek gave a most unusual and informative audio-visual presentation: "Meet the Boss" and "I'll Buy That." This was the story of marketing and its relation to the consumer with the idea in mind that we Americans "have our cake and eat it too."

Mrs. Porter offered the story of two cakes, which had more ingredients than grandmother's prize layer cake, in fact, her cakes had a dozen or so layers, each depicting the similarity of a cake the homemaker baked for a bake sale to the production and marketing of goods.

With her magic wand and pumpkin coach, Mrs. Hajek offered her audience a glimpse of 1975 and showed that the consumer has a magic wand, which actually is understanding and knowledge. With this magic wand and our business system which provides the customer, producer and investor with freedom of opportunity choice, we are building a better America today toward a brighter Promise of 1975.

Enjoying this program and the social hour following were these members: Mmes. A. Anisman, Sidney Baker, Jack Boone, Kenneth Dale, W. C. Dickey, Bill Hajek, Henry Hays, C. C. Hodges, Weldon McCreary, J. S. McMurry, J. K. Porter, Hershel Potts, Clyde Smith O. R. Goodall, J. W. Stokes and the hostess, Mrs. Wherry.

Read Your Bible

By HARRY GRAHAM

WE CAN ALL HEAR ALIKE!

Many people say that "we can't see alike in religion." Jesus Christ demands that we "speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfected together in the same mind and in the same judgment." (1 Cor. 1:10)

The outstanding difficulty in religion is that people have to "see" everything, and it must agree with their own particular sense of propriety before they will accept it. If they "just can't see it that way," they feel perfectly justified in refusing it, although the Lord Jesus plainly declared it.

Many good people declare that they cannot see any connection between baptism and the remission (forgiveness) of sins. God did not say for us to "see" it; and Paul states in Col. 2:12 that we are buried in baptism and raised in it, "with him through faith in the working of God, who raised him from the dead." We are not raised through sight and ability to understand all there is to it, but "through faith in the working (operation) of God."

Those who are guided by their own ways and thoughts are never going to arrive at glory, nor are they ever going to arrive at an understanding of the Word of God. The Psalmist wrote, "Hear, O my People, and I will speak." Psa. 50:7 Christ said, "Why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?" (Lu. 6:46). We must be governed by what Jesus says. How HE SEES it.

Those who will quit listening to themselves and to others who speak not the Bible, and those who do concern themselves with a "thus saith the Lord," will be able to grasp and obey the Christ. If you and others are not able to "see alike," try listening to the word of the Lord only, and you will be able to "hear alike."

"He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved," (Mk. 16:15-16) sounds just like EVERYONE WHO WILL BELIEVE IT.

Ever-Changing Wonderland

Life, as the majority of Americans know it today, is quite different from that which existed 100, or even 50, years ago, as we are sure most people are aware. Actually, more change has been wrought within the past century, with American initiative playing a major role, than the world had seen in all the previous centuries. And, beyond any shadow of doubt, changes will come with increasing acceleration as each decade passes.

For instance, within the next 10 years, or so, below are some of the things which the editors of Changing Times, feel are likely probabilities.

Additional income of $1,400 for the average family, in terms of current dollars, as the result of lower taxes and higher productivity.

By the 1960's, most young couples will be ready to buy homes before they make plans for raising families.

There probably will be fewer canned and frozen foods. In their places will be more irradiated foods, which will need no refrigeration and will remain good indefinitely.

Millions of workers will spend only four days a week in factories and offices, leaving them three days for other activities.

Turbocars will be on the market within 10 years. They will be propelled by jet-powered turbines and will have only a fifth the number of moving parts found in present automobiles. Among the missing parts will be the clutch and the transmission. (Editor's note: But probably not the casualties.)

Before the next decade comes to an end, guided missiles may be tried out for such purposes as carrying and delivering transcontinental mail.

The atom is expected to be doing everything from providing energy for power, to preserving food and purifying medicines.

The magazine's editors concluded their imaginary journey into the future by declaring that long-term weather forecasting will be more reliable. For instance, they say the public will be told on Monday what kind of weather the following Saturday will bring. And, they add daringly, the forecasts will be ones that can be counted on.

Well, now, we will buy the other predictions but we are inclined to view with skepticism the statement about the weather. Of course, it is likely that the learned editors have never visited the Panhandle. For, if they had, we are sure they would not have been quite so confident, would have left some kind of loophole through which they could jump, when the sun shone brightly after residents had been warned to get ready for a cold wave. They may know their atoms, how many ballots are going to be cast for whom, and whether the cold war is going to warm up, but their final prediction kind of shakes our faith in them. For their rash declaration on the coming infallibility of weather gazing leads us to believe there are some things they know less about than even the most unlettered Panhandle cowpoke.

Press Paragraphs —
QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

ADVERTISING INFORMS

Perryton has some merchants who have the idea, "I don't really need to advertise. Everyone in town knows we are here."

Even if this is true, it does not follow that very many in town, let alone everyone, knows what particular values, quality and services his or any other store is offering at any particular time — without being told through the medium of advertising.

And even this basic idea is wrong — in Perryton for example, the complexion of the community is constantly changing — new people are coming in and young people are growing up and establishing families.

Some astonishing figures on this latter point were given recently by Edgar S. Bayol, press counsel for the Coca Cola company, in a talk before the Virginia Press Association.

He said, "You can never rest on your laurels. The impression you make on this generation will not extend over the next. You must continue to make the impression — every day."

"In the United States, during the past 10 years, 14 million 600 thousand newspaper readers, subscribers and advertisers have died."

"Thirty-nine million future readers, subscribers and advertisers have been born."

"More than one-third of all present American families have been formed."

"And just ponder these facts about forgetting: Of the 165 million people in America today, 65 per cent do not remember World War I; 42 per cent don't even remember the great depression."

"Yes, my friends, the parade is passing mighty fast. Don't let it pass your door without a favorable impression."

—Ochiltree County Herald, Perryton

WORK IS STARTED ON FEDERAL BUILDING — Climaxing several years effort on the part of Memphis to secure a post office building here, actual construction work began Tuesday afternoon when ground was broken for excavation work. The federal structure will be located on the corner of Seventh and Main Streets. An appropriation for such a building was made by Congress more than a year ago. Texas stone and brick, as well as other materials will be used in the building, it was stated. The contractors have 300 calendar days to complete the work, but it is believed it will be finished within seven months, unless adverse weather interferes.

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers

Congressman, 18th District

... from Leningrad
To Moscow
... train from Leningrad
... "Red Arrow,"
... depart Leningrad at
... but due to the fact that
... group was going to
... the entire group, both

Canadian and American, were set up for departure at 11:15 p.m. We got to the station about 11 o'clock. It is a huge place with many pictures of Lenin and Stalin. I was amazed at the number of people on the sidewalks in front of the station as we drove up. We entered the station and I was again amazed at the lack of people inside the station. It turned out that the station had been cleared of all people except a few employees. I had noticed that some people tried to follow us in the door and were physically barred by several men in plain clothes. Why this action took place I do not know, but we passed very swiftly out to the station and on the platform out to the train. As you leave the station to go to the trains, there is a tremendous statue of Lenin looking in the direction of the incoming trains. As soon as we were on the train, I went to bed because I wanted to get up as early as possible the next morning to see the countryside. Daylight began to peek through at about 5:30 a.m., and I was at the window to see the Russian countryside and anything else that was visible. The area seemed very sparsely settled. The land appeared very much like many sections of this country, especially portions of the midwest. There were isolated farm houses that, of course, appeared unusual in that the architecture was somewhat different from our country. Looking at the land, however, the thought occurred to me how strange it is that the surface of the earth is so similar everywhere but the people are so very different. One thing that interested me very much was a foot path that ran parallel with the railroad track. The path was in constant use. No matter how barren the land seemed to be or how absent housing facilities, there always seemed to be someone walking along this path. As we got closer to Moscow, the number of houses increased and we came to small villages. These were very interesting because many people were up and waiting on the train. Their general dress, both men and women was, of course, interesting to an American eye. In one village we saw a town pump. Many people were gathered around it getting water. In the other small villages and across the countryside, we saw many people carrying water in containers that seemed to be about five to ten gallons. Many children were doing this. There were quite a number of horses and cows to be seen. The cows were all milk cows. Although much of the land appeared to be grass land, there was very little evidence of beef cattle or any herds of cattle at all, other than what appeared to be small dairy herds. Sheep and goats were run together with the cattle. This may be the reason that there were not larger herds of cattle. The sheep and goats probably ate up all the grass. There were many ducks and geese. The chickens and turkeys are so few that they are very noticeable.

Incidentally, we did not get any breakfast on the train. The porter served hot tea (chi, in Russian) with some cakes that looked like our Nabiscoes. The language barrier almost defeated our getting any tea. As we neared Moscow there was a marked increase in building, especially industrial building. The Russians use tremendous cranes in nearly all of their building. You can see eight or ten in operation around one project. It appears that they lift most of their building materials by use of the crane rather than the elevators. We saw several huge factories being built but did not know what they were to produce. As the train would stop we had the opportunity of seeing the railroad workers and family and daughter, Mrs. Ruel Ryle and family. Melinda Gerlach, who had been visiting here with her grandparents, accompanied them to her home. Mr. and Mrs. Ruyle have recently moved to Caddo where they have purchased a ranch.

the same identical work as the men. They were working alongside each other. At one point in a railroad yard, we passed a group of box cars that were standing on a siding. All of these cars were filled with women. About ten or twelve of them had gotten out of the cars and were on the ground walking around. Their appearance would indicate that they had been doing some very hard manual labor. Where they were going or what their mission was I do not know, but I do know that they were stacked in these box cars in large numbers. The doors to the box cars were open and there was a board across the door about midway between the top and bottom of the car. Whether they were going to a labor camp or to take part in the opening of new lands that Russia is opening in the north, or being returned to their homes from some place I do not know, but the sight was something that I have never seen in this country and never expect to see. As I recall, we were due in Moscow about ten o'clock and made it on time.

Next week I will tell you about some of the things that happened in Moscow.

Airline Accepts Former Lakeview Girl as Stewardess

A former Lakeview girl has been accepted as a stewardess by American Airlines.

She is Mary McCanne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul McCanne, who formerly lived at Lakeview and now live at Pecos.

Miss McCanne, 21 years old, was told to report to El Paso in January for training, following an interview with representatives of the airline. She was working as a dental assistant at the time of her acceptance.

After graduating from Lakeview High School, she entered Texas Tech, from where she received a degree in home economics this summer.

While attending Texas Tech she was a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority, and was a finalist in a contest to select the college's ten most beautiful girls.

Her father is with Western Cotton Oil Company at Pecos, while Mrs. McCanne is employed in the clerical office at Memorial Hospital there.

All the states except Connecticut, Illinois, Kansas and Rhode Island will have a deer season in 1955.

As an aid to stockmen, dairymen and poultry producers, the extension entomologists have prepared a leaflet, "Guide for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry." It is available from the office of your local county agent. Now is the time to get rid of the parasites.

Deer, particularly in the fall, eat primarily brush, leaves and nuts; seldom do they eat much grass other than in the spring and early summer.

New Studebakers To Go On Display In Raymond Ballew's Showroom Friday

Big new styling, top horsepower in the low-price field, a new series of high-performance 5-passenger sports-type cars, major engineering advances and a record list of safety innovations and improvements are outstanding features in the all-new line of Studebaker passenger cars for 1956.

The new Studebakers will be introduced here Friday in the showroom of Raymond Ballew. The 1956 line features sedans and station wagons in the full President V8, Commander V8 and Champion six series.

The new Studebaker models, bidding for recognition as "the biggest cars in the low-price market," represent the auto industry's only complete restyling in the volume low-price field for 1956.

Presented by Studebaker also as the highest power in standard volume-produced cars in the low-price field is the new 210-horsepower President Classic four-door sedan.

Markedly bigger in exterior appearance, the new Studebakers have greater room inside, and trunk room has been increased by 30 per cent.

Mechanical innovations include an advanced automatic transmission — the new Flightomatic.

Studebaker's new lines include 16 models — 12 in the sedan and station wagon series, and four in the volume-produced sports-type group.

Heading the nine models in the sedan series is the big President Classic four-door V8. The Classic model — more than 17 feet long and luxury-styled throughout — is powered by a new Sweepstakes 289-V8 engine. Also powered by the Sweepstakes 289-V8 engine are two other sedans in the President series and the Pinehurst President station wagon.

Commander sedans and the Parkview Commander station wagon feature the most powerful engine ever offered in the Commander series — the new Sweepstakes 259-V8 at 170 horsepower. Champion sedans and the Pelham Champion have a newly improved Sweepstakes 185-cubic inch heavy-duty economy six engine, with 101 horsepower.

Studebaker's new President passenger car series includes a four-door sedan and two-door sedan in addition to the Classic four-door model and the Pinehurst station wagon. The Commander and the Champion series include four-door sedans, two-door sedans, two-door sedans, and the Parkview and Pelham station wagons. The sedans are the lower priced of the two-door sedan models.

New crash-tested safety door latches, to prevent car doors from opening under impact, are standard on all models. Crash-tested nylon seat belts are available as optional equipment.

Among safety features are increased passing efficiency with the new power, higher torques and new transmissions; new safety-strength steel bodies; new safety beam headlights, tube-less tires, and padding on the rear of the front seat to protect passengers in the back seat who may be thrown forward in case of accident.

STUDEBAKER PRESIDENT—The President Classic 4-door sedan is one of the all-new line of Studebakers for 1956. It embodies new body lines, increased power, added safety features, and luxury styling throughout.

Lefors Raps Cyclone Wind Up Season

CHAMBERLAIN blocked. The Pirates lined up in punt formation, but passed, which was good for 25 yards. They passed and ran for two first downs, then Ronnie Rice kept hitting the line until he went over for the touchdown. The attempt for the extra point failed.

Memphis started their next drive from their 20-yard line. Adcock and Sustaire picked up a first down, as the quarter ended.

A pass was intercepted by Rice who was hit hard by John Deaver. Lefors tried four passes which failed to earn a first down, and the ball went over on the 40. After picking up a first down, the Memphis team fumbled and lost the ball.

A stubborn Cyclone line held for three downs, forcing Lefors to punt, which went to the Cyclone 20. Memphis again fumbled on their first attempt, and the Pirates again recovered. The Cyclone line again refused to give up yardage in four tries by the Pirates and took over on their 26. With time running out in the first half, Memphis took to the air, but completed only one out of three attempts, the last being intercepted as the half ended.

The third quarter opened with Adcock taking the Lefors kickoff on his 10 and returning to the 35 on the run-back. Memphis quickly picked up two first downs, only to fumble again with Lefors recovering.

Lefors started passing again, but were forced to punt which ended on the Memphis 40 yard line. The aggressive Cyclone rolled forward for three more first downs — then fumbled. The ball was covered by the Pirates.

Again the Memphis line held, forcing a punt, which was taken over at midfield. Adcock circled left end, saw he was blocked in and pitched out to David Davis, who went on downfield for a total advance of 40 yards on the play. Sustaire took a pitch out around end for 10 yards and a touchdown. They failed to make the extra point.

The Pirates ran the kickoff back to their 20, then Campbell Morris intercepted a pass on the first play. Adcock picked up 5, and Daryle Long gained yardage. On the next play, Adcock ripped through center, going all the way for a touchdown. David Davis went through the line for the extra point.

The Pirates gained two first downs after kickoff, then lost the ball with McQueen covering.

The Lefors line held for two plays, then a pass by David Davis to Morris connected, and Morris went all the way, but the play was called back for offsides. The Cyclone then executed the same play, which went for a touchdown.

The next touchdown came when Davis intercepted a pass on his 45. Adcock picked up 15, Davis 5, then Sustaire circled right end for 40 yards and a touchdown. The try for the extra point failed.

The Pirates scored with Johnny Quarles circling left end for 10 yards and the touchdown. The extra point attempt failed.

Sustaire ran the kickoff back to the 35, where the Pirates held for three downs, forcing a punt. Deaver recovered a fumble on the punt return. Monzingo gained 40 yards around left end placing the ball on the 10-yard line. Davis passed to Morris for the touchdown. Davis ran over for the extra point.

At one time during the game while Adcock was picking up 40 yards, three Pirate players were down. One was carried off, and later it was reported that he had suffered a broken leg. Another was knocked out due to a lack of wind, and the third suffered an arm injury. He was the quarterback who had been tossing some accurate passes.

December 1 Seen As Milestone In Traffic Safety

December 1 can mark a milestone in the continuing battle against traffic accidents and fatalities, one of the top traffic safety officials in this area, declares.

The traffic safety leader, Capt. J. W. Blackwell, pointed out that December 1 has been proclaimed nationally as S-D Day (Safe-Driving Day) by President Eisenhower. He added that Governor Shivers has issued a similar proclamation calling upon the citizens of Texas to cooperate in the campaign to make the nation's streets and highways safer.

Captain Blackwell is commanding officer of District 5 of the Texas Highway Patrol. The district is comprised of 26 Panhandle counties, with headquarters at Amarillo.

Members of the Hall County sheriff's department, the Highway Patrol and the Memphis police department join in urging motorists in this section to drive as carefully as possible, not only on December 1 but every day, so they may avoid bringing sorrow both to themselves and to others.

In his statement concerning Safe-Driving Day, Captain Blackwell reminded motorists that strict observance and obedience of traffic laws will assure a 24-hour period without traffic accidents on that day but, more importantly, it can set a pattern for year-round safety on the streets and highways.

"S-D Day can be a milestone in the constant fight against traffic accidents and their resultant deaths," he said, "by showing, through the cooperative effort of every motorist and every pedestrian, that the tragic loss of human lives and property is not an inevitable evil which must be tolerated."

A free-will offering will be taken, with proceeds going to the Ministerial Alliance.

The public is invited to be present.

He also identified several guests, who are interested in agriculture. These were: Guy Cawfield of Memphis, work unit conservationist for the Hall County Soil Conservation District; Ross Gentry of Memphis, a supervisor in the conservation district; Macy K. Orman of Fort Worth, F. W. & D. C. agricultural agent; and Guy C. Victory, executive assistant. John McMickin, Fort Worth & Denver station agent here, also was introduced as a guest.

Gene Lindsey, Lions Club president, was in charge of the meeting. Lynn L. McKown was program chairman.
