Heading this year's drive is Thomas Clayton, chairman of the committee. H. J. Howell was named vice-chairman.

This group met Monday afternoon, and worked out final details. On Tuesday Mayor Buster Helm issued a proclamation designating Wednesday, July 11, as Clean-Up Day.

Rain Wednesday night, mounting up to 2 inches in some areas, fell on the western part of the county in the area east of Red River.

Application for Survey Signed At Second Flood Control Meeting

PRESIDENT — Thomas Clayton, above, newly elected president of the Memphis Rotary Club, assumed duties at their regular noon meeting Tuesday.

The second step toward flood control in the western part of Hall County was taken last week when the Board of Supervisors of the Hall County Soil Conservation District applied for a survey on flood prevention work as authorized by the Small Watershed Bill.

The application, filled out in the office of the Soil Conservation Service at Memphis, required that a preliminary survey be made to determine if it would be feasible to install retention reservoirs on Oaks, John Mann, Polecat, and Bitter Creeks.

The district, the local people and the Department of Agriculture are not obligated until a study of the situation is completed. After the study is completed the approximate costs to both the people and the Department of Agriculture can be compiled.

Under the existing laws, the federal government would pay 75 percent of all cost. The local organization will also have to obtain agreements to carry out recommended soil conservation measures and proper farm plans from owners of not less than 50 percent of the land situated in the drainage area above each retention reservoir.

Television Tower To Be Erected Tues. and Wed.

Construction of the television tower west of Memphis is scheduled to get underway the latter part of this week, according to Bob Magness one of the owners and operators of the television distributing facilities being built here.

Concrete will be poured during the latter part of this week for the base of the tower and for the anchor lines. The tower, and a crew to erect it, are scheduled to arrive in Memphis next Tuesday. They will begin work immediately and should have the tower completed by Wednesday.

Whitewing Dove Situation Improves

AUSTIN — Favorable reports on the current whitewing dove status presage possible ultimate resumption of open seasons on the popular game bird, reports W. S. Jennings, director of wildlife restoration for the Game and Fish Commission.

Jennings said the Rio Grande Valley habitat area has substantial grain areas for the nesting whitewings to feed on now, in contrast to recent years, and that a survey just completed of favorite northeast Mexican feeding areas likewise was positive.

Whether a 1956 harvest on whitewings, now considered unlikely, can be permitted this fall will hinge on a population count now being made in the Valley nesting grounds, said the assistant director.

"The whitewings may not be ready yet for resumption of open seasons," he said, "but if the present trend continues a shoot may be possible within another year or so."

The season on whitewings has been closed for two years because loss of habitat curbed the birds and cut drastically into the foundition flocks. The downward trend was checked last year which showed an estimated twenty-eight per cent increase over 1954.

But the assistant director said food conditions now are favorable in the Valley and also in parts of northeast Mexico which have just been inspected. Conditions in nearby Mexico are reflected on the Valley prospects since whitewings from across the border occasionally bulwark the native Valley birds during the Texas harvest season.

When the USS New Orleans first put into the city for which she was named, the officers and crew were feted in grand style. She was presented with a magnificent silver service, a piano, and the ship's bell from the previous New Orleans. And into the metal of the hull was melted thousands of dimes donated by the people of New Orleans.

Army Announces Enlistment Openings

The Army also is offering special assignments to young men qualified to fill existing vacancies in its famed airborne divisions, Abbott said.

Older Persons Are Advised on Nutrition Needs

COLLEGE STATION—If you are a man over 50, chances are you need more foods rich in vitamin C than your wife. Extension foods and nutrition specialists say probably both of you need more protein and iron and less fat than most people get in their daily diets.

These are some of the conclusions indicated by a recent University of California study of nutrition.

Men in the study had less vitamin C in their blood than women, even though they ate more heartily of foods generally and thus had a higher vitamin C intake. Lack of vitamin C in the diet often is the cause of tender, bleeding gums and subsequent loss of teeth. Such troubles were found among a number of older people in this study whose blood tested lowest in vitamin C.

Valués of cholesterol, the fatty chemical found in excess in the middle and inner layers of artery walls in persons afflicted with the artery disease, arterosclerosis, were low in men who were 20 percent or more overweight. They were high in those who were 20 percent or more overweight. There is no clear-cut relationship of this kind for women. Apparently, women can endure more cholesterol in their blood without harm than men.

Findings in the study showed that the red color in the blood, or hemoglobin, varied directly with the amount of iron and protein food. The more you eat the more you have.

A practical application of these findings for senior citizens would be to eat plenty of fruits, cottage cheese, vegetables, skim milk, lean meats and lean fish. Some foods important for vitamin C are oranges, grapefruit, strawberries, tomatoes, salad, greens, broccoli, and raw cabbage.

New Defoliant's Record Outlined

COLLEGE STATION — The promising cotton defoliant, amino triazole, should become more extensively used among growers this year, say agricultural scientists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in a report to Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton specialist.

Studies of defoliant mixtures incorporating amino triazole are indicating that the amount of other defoliant mixture can be considerably reduced when incorporated with 0.75 pounds per acre of amino triazole.

This continues to be the recommended treatment for 1956. However, trials last summer showed that .3 gallons amino triazole per acre increase the percent of defoliation achieved over that from amino triazole alone. Scientists believe economical, effective dosage lies somewhere between .3 gallons and 3 and one-half to 4 gallons.

Amino triazole as a defoliant, removes the leaves for easier boll picking and less trashy harvests, and as a regrowth inhibitor, prevents new plant growth after defoliation and before harvest is completed. When used in combination with other defoliants, addition of amino triazole at the rate of .75 pound per acre allows reduction of the other defoliant by half the dosage normally required when used alone.

In cooperative studies between USDA's agricultural research service and the state experiment stations serving the Mid-South Cotton Belt, scientists found that amino triazole, used alone as a defoliant at a 1-pound-per-acre rate, caused only about 70 per cent defoliation. When the dosage was tripled, about 80 per cent defoliation resulted. Thus, a rather small defoliation response was obtained with a large increase in the amount of chemical used. Scientists, therefore, recommend no less than the three-pound-per-acre rate, to obtain adequate defoliation.

Tests of the ability of amino triazole to prevent cotton plant regrowth during the harvest season have shown wide variation in results during the past three years. Generally, the higher the rate of application, the better regrowth control achieved. Scientists conclude that growers should apply at least one pound per acre to take care of possible variation in control.

Estelline Baptist Church Concludes Vacation School

Approximately 50 persons participated in the Daily Vacation Bible School conducted by the Estelline Baptist Church last week. The school was concluded with graduation exercises and a special program at the regular church service Sunday morning.

Serving as superintendent of the school was Rev. Marvin Leech, pastor. Adult workers assisting with the school included Mmes. George McMinn, Boots Butler, Dock Rogers, Taleigh Adams, Paul Buchanan, Marvin Leech, E. P. Kennedy, R. L. Nelson, W. M. Roberts, Archie Bumpus and Paul Collins.

A committee from the W. M. U. served refreshments each mid-morning during the week.

duce up to 1 acre of peanuts without becoming ineligible for Acreage Reserve payments. Cotton farmers may also take part in this year's Acreage Reserve Program (1) if they have un-derplanted their cotton allotment either in anticipation of complying with the program, or because of adverse weather conditions; or (2) if they have complied with their cotton allotment but an acreage of the crop was not harvested because of destruction by natural causes.

In no case, Chairman Eddleman explained will the farmer be permitted to place more cotton acreage in the Acreage Reserve than his allotment provides. However, a farmer who has a cotton allotment of less than 10 acres may put his whole allotment in the Acreage Reserve. Where the allotment is less than 2 acres the farmer must "reserve" whole allotment in order to participate in the program.

compass. He may honestly think so, but on careful investigation we find that he subconsciously obeys one rule. The rule? It's as easy as falling off a log, according to Col. Townsend Whelen, camping editor of Sports Triel magazine: Always keep track of the directions and distances of your wanderings. You know where you are. At first this requires that attention be given to directions and distances, but after a time it becomes automatic.

Actually, this rule may be translated: Use common sense. This involves always taking the precaution to keep yourself oriented, which means that you are sure of your directions at all times. It also involves remembering how far you have gone in a certain direction. Keeping oriented is easy in clear weather—being able to see the sky, the sun, moon and stars will tell you the points of the compass. But a compass is essential on a cloudy day or night, when there are no recognizable landmarks. Put one of those guys who boast that they have a compass in their heads adrift in a small boat on a large lake in a fog, and see where he comes out!

Knowing how to gauge distance is very important if you are not to get lost. In most rough countries the distance you travel in any recorded direction is best kept track of by time. On level ground and a good trail you cover about three miles in an hour. As the going gets harder, your time-distance becomes less; in very steep, rough country it may be not more than half a mile in an hour.

Deer Population In Texas Exceeds Earlier Estimates

AUSTIN—Calculations from incomplete studies in selected Hill Country counties indicate that estimates of Texas' deer population will have to be slanted sharply upward.

Also the investigation shows deer mortality from drought, over population and parasites through last winter aggregated many thousand in four counties alone.

These tentative deductions were disclosed by W. S. Jennings, assistant director of wildlife restoration of the Game and Fish Commission on the basis of census data prepared under direction of Bob Ramsey, wildlife biologist assigned to the state's principal deer range in the Edward Plateau region.

Estimates heretofore made of the total state deer population have set the figure at just short of half a million, mainly white-tails. But the seven Hill Country counties, used for the herd counts reflect a combined population of almost four hundred thousand deer before the last hunting season.

Jennings said that regardless of the final totals "it is obvious that we are not harvesting as many deer as we should." He said extension of the experimental antlerless deer hunts is one sound management way the herds can be reduced to the carrying capacity of the land.

The investigations were centered in Kerr, Llano, Mason, Gillespie, Medina, Blanco and Sutton counties where the Commission has regulatory responsibility to regulate harvests on the basis of existing current conditions. But the first four named counties bore the concentrated studies since records from previous herd counts were available there.

Prince Albert introduced the Christmas tree into England.

It has been proved scientifically and times without number that neither civilized nor primitive men have any homing instinct or a compass in their heads, such as displayed by migratory birds and fish. An Indian cannot find his way through country he does not know. On a one-day trip he might be able to find his trail home, but he couldn't do it on a longer outing.

Occasionally we hear an old woodsman say he can find his way anywhere, that he never gets lost, and does not need a

Around and About

by Helen Combs

Approximately 2,000 spectators watched the fireworks display at Cyclone Stadium Wednesday night with one eye on the display and the other on the dark thunder clouds moving in from the southwest. Being a little kindly, the clouds moved in at a fairly slow pace giving members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce time to fire at least a part of the elaborate fireworks display arranged as a 4th of July attraction.

This is the second year members of the Jaycees have provided the fireworks display. Even with the threatening clouds, the event was well attended and people stayed to watch it at the risk of getting wet. The fireworks are enjoyed by both old and young alike, and we want to commend members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce for arranging this entertainment for the community.

Just learned: the Jaycees plan to finish the fireworks display to-night... that is, if weather permits. So, if you enjoy this kind of entertainment, be out at the Cyclone Stadium this evening.

We are happy to report that Mrs. J. W. Stokes is now doing nicely and will probably go home from the hospital the latter part of the week... Mrs. Ed McCreary, who fell last weekend and broke her hip, is also doing nicely and will return from Amarillo either Friday or Saturday... Mrs. T. M. Isham has also returned home from Houston where she has been receiving medical treatment.

Ann Ferrel was quite delighted with her new mode of travel when we talked to her Monday morning. She had won a new bicycle given away by a local grocery firm. First bicycle I ever owned, Ann said. Now if Claude would win one, too, we could sell our car and take to cycling.

Then there's the story about the rattlesnake. Seems C. F. Stout, who lives southeast of town, went out one day last week to gather the eggs. Just as he was thinking of reaching under a hen to get some eggs, the hen cackled and flew off the nest. There nestling among the eggs was a good sized rattlesnake. Makes us think of the time we almost put our hand on a tarantula while taking bananas off the stalk and talking to a friend over our shoulder at the same time.

After last week, we've learned we're more popular with the women folk in our neighborhood than we are their husbands. Anyway, we want to report that L. W. Stanford has about finished painting his house, and Wendell Harrison has his fence out of storage—and up! From our yard across the street, we watched Wendell celebrate Independence Day erecting the fence.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh T. Lilly and daughter arrived here Monday night from Port-Au-Prince, Haiti, where they have been making their home for the past three years, to visit with Mrs. Lilly's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hightower. They plan to visit here for about two weeks before going to Houston to make their home.

Hunters Warned On Fawn Shooting

AUSTIN—Two prosecutions, bringing $100 fines for illegally possessing wild deer, prompted E. M. Sprott, director of law enforcement for the Game and Fish Commission to caution Texans about mistaking fawn deer for abandoned waifs.

The court cases, listed in the monthly arrest report, showed that two Potect men were each fined $100 plus costs for having live deer in their possession. "We have no choice when people, despite countless warnings, pick up fawn deer," said Sprott. "These deer would be reclaimed by their mother if left alone. When deer are taken away, a crime against wildlife ensues since these animals cannot be permanently adjusted to domesticity. Therefore, we have instructed our warden force to discourage this unhappy practice by prosecution where advisable."

The arrest report listed 124 persons prosecuted for fishing without proper licenses and nine others filed on for hunting game out of season.

Start Safety Training Early

Traffic accidents—and their attendant fatalities and injuries—remain at a high level in spite of continuing pleas in the press and on the radio and television for greater care on the part of both motorists and pedestrians.

Conditions probably would be worse without this constant publicity but it clearly is not the complete answer to the serious problem and something more needs to be done. Many organizations and individuals are supporting the drive for traffic safety but apparently it should be put on a more personal basis. By that, we mean all parents should begin ingraining safety into their children as soon as they are old enough to understand.

This training should be carried on into the schools and traffic safety programs there should be made compulsory and should be expanded to include all institutions of this type throughout the United States. After all, most of our people today spend considerable time riding and walking on streets and highways so why shouldn't courses in proper traffic behavior be a vital part of our scholastic program.

Perhaps if we follow the advice of an old saying and "catch 'em young", future generations of American children will have much better chances of growing into adults who do not endanger themselves and others when they get behind the wheel or travel afoot.

Home of the Future

The American home has undergone quite a revolution within the past quarter of a century, as such conveniences as mechanical refrigeration, automatic heating and cooking, air conditioning, and the like, have become a part of daily living. However, the magazine Changing Times tells of more startling changes just coming into use.

One of these is a built-in vacuum system which employs the principal of the kitchen garbage disposal through a cleaning hose linked to the sewer system. The device picks dust and dirt and takes them right down the drain, and believe it or not, will shampoo rugs or draw up spilled liquids.

Then there are electronic ovens that cook with microwaves, taking only one-sixth as long as conventional cooking and leaving the oven cool.

In line with a growing interest in remote controls, a combination public address and intercommunication system has been perfected which permits a person to speak from room to room, answer the front door from three rooms, and pipe radio or phonograph music all through the house. The network also serves as an electronic baby sitter and contains a fire siren.

Sounds pretty good but that will be the day when some "brain" comes up with a robot which pays the monthly installments and the taxes.

Press Paragraphs — QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Federal Encroachment
 Federal laws regulating Interstate Commerce provide an excellent example of the camel-in-the-tent technique which is gradually enveloping all business in Federal controls.

The constitutional basis for the wage-hour act, and with other federal labor laws (including the recent decision on the union-shop for railroad employees) rests on the power of Congress to regulate interstate commerce.

Under earlier judicial doctrines (and undoubtedly, in the view of the framers of the Constitution) small business concerns operating solely as "Main Street" enterprises would not have been considered as within the commerce power of Congress.

But under several Court decisions in recent years, the power to regulate interstate commerce has come to apply to almost everything in sight.

For example, look at the interpretations applied to the wage-hour bill in the last session of Congress. It was interpreted as covering employers and employees "engaged in commerce" . . . "or in any activities affecting commerce" . . . or "competing with activities of other firms in interstate commerce."

That last clause covers every thing from Reed Errington's saddle shop (a lot of those hand-made saddles cross state lines, many of them on horseback) to the Santa Fe Railroad (after all, they're both connected with transportation, aren't they?) and picks up Arnold Johnson's grocery store (he probably buys some Oklahoma eggs) and Tom Abraham's Fair Department Store (he's in competition with the mail order-houses, isn't he?) on the way.

In short, the constitutional basis for the complete coverage of retailing is already determined. The way is wide open to cover all merchants eventually, once the initial law is enacted.

The camel is half-way into the tent already . . . and camels are notoriously rough bedfellows, according to an Arab friend of ours.

So . . . what can you do about it? Well, you can beat the camel over the head for a while, but that's a losing game. The camel is a notoriously hard-headed beast with a nasty bite when he's aroused . . . and besides, he's bigger than you are.

A better way is to go after the camel-driver in Congress who still hold the reins.

Write your Congressman and Senators. You don't need to get too technical . . . just express your opinions about the trend of government in your own words.

Some of them may seem as hard-headed as the camel . . . but don't get discouraged. Unlike the camel, they have a sensitive spot . . . in the ballot box. —Canadian Record.

Anybody Object?
 A state governor who believes in getting to the heart of things once said: "Nobody objects to high taxes except people who have to pay them."

We'll soon see whether he was right. Starting July 1 (if Congressional formalities are on schedule) the federal gas tax jumps to three cents per gallon. Purpose of the higher rate is to finance the national highway program there's been so much tub-thumping about.

The motoring public has been exposed to plenty of pictures and stories about the "dream" highways this program is supposed to build. They haven't heard so much about the gas tax increase that goes with it. When they buy gasoline, on or after July 1, and find the tax rate has gone up another cent, they'll be face to face with stern reality.

The "dream" superhighways will be completed far in the future. The higher gas tax will be with us here and now, and will stay with us for at least the next 16 years, according to the plan.

Furthermore, this federal gasoline tax is stacked on top of a high state gasoline tax. The two together make a very tall and ugly-looking totem pole.

The federal tax cost of this highway program will top $38 billion. The gasoline tax part of it alone will be over $29 billion—or about 77 percent of the total.

If Mr. Gasoline Consumer uses his vehicle just the average amount, he will shell out more than $360 in federal gas taxes alone over this program's financing period.

Some politicians think nobody objects to high taxes any more—not even the people who have to pay them. They believe years of heavy taxes have numbed people so they don't care. There's a theory going around that the average taxpayer ought to be plumb grateful for any crumb of his own earnings the tax spenders are kind enough to let him keep, after they've gorged themselves on his money for this project and that program.

It will be interesting to see how folks react on July 1. What will they say when they drive into their favorite gas station and come face to face with a new tax on gasoline?

When will they object to prying their tax on tax.—Ralls Banner

In addition, hail caused considerable damage in the vicinity Newlin and Salisbury.

Total acreage of crops lost was estimated at about 100 acres by County Agent W. Hooser and Lynn L. McKeown county ACA secretary.

CITY COUNCIL ACCEPTS PROPOSAL FOR LOWER TRIC RATES—All plans for municipal light and power for Memphis were abandoned by the city council at their meeting Tuesday night as they accepted a proposal of the Texas Utilities Company to Memphis electric users a rate and to install 93 additional street lights.

Actually it was a victory both sides. The city obtained lower rates, and, as soon as materials can be secured, a much more efficient street lighting system at only a slight increase in cost. Of benefit to the company will be the fact that it can operate without competition from a municipal light plant.

Most of us lead a double life.

One minute we're a BUYER. The next minute we're a SELLER . . . of goods, services, time, or talents.

Of course, there's some incompatibility in a Buyer-Seller combination. About like you'd expect in a dog-and-cat mixture.

Consequently, we sometimes get to playing our part as Mr. Buyer with such enthusiasm we forget that our other self, Mr. Seller, has to put dollars in our pocket before our Mr. Buyer self can spend them out of it.

And every time we, as Mr. Buyer, take one of those dollars out of circulation here by spending it out of town, we shrink Mr. Seller's market so it's a little harder for him to get us some more dollars.

It's too bad we don't get more teamwork out of our two personalities. When Mr. Buyer is cutting Mr. Seller's throat, we need to recall that they are both using the same throat.

Meat Inspection Unit Celebrates 50th Year

COLLEGE STATION—The act of inspecting for Federal inspection of meat produced in the packing industry of this country for interstate or in foreign commerce was passed by Congress on June 30, 1906. Today the 50th anniversary of the passage of the act is being celebrated. The purple stamp of Federal inspection or approval has become a symbol of standards for wholesomeness in meats that provide a pattern for the entire world. Under the theme "Meats With Ap-healthy animals. Inspection of meat begins with live animals at packing plants and continues through each stage of preparation for market. Federal supervision covers such details as plant cleanliness, adequacy of heat in canning and extends to the accuracy of labels on cans and packages. Merchandising practices and consumer demands have helped during recent years to bring large new segments of the meat-packing industry under Federal meat inspection. Not only fresh meats, but cured, smoked, canned and frozen meat inspected.

Federal meat inspection, in addition to safeguarding meat for U. S. tables, helps guide pioneer research in such matters as use of radiation to preserve meat and the effect of atomic blasts on meat and meat products. Proper Tractor Care Can Help Cut Fuel Bills

COLLEGE STATION—Savings of 10 percent of more in fuel bills can be made by most farm tractor operators if they give attention to proper fuel storage and fuel system adjustments, says W. L. Ulich, extension agricultural engineer.

Evaporation during the hot summer months takes a toll of fuel in storage. Partially filled tanks exposed to the sun may lose three to four percent of their contents within a month. Shaded tanks lose one percent or less. Over a period of three months unshaded tanks may lose up to 15 percent but those in the shade only 6 percent.

Painting storage tanks with aluminum or white paint will aid in cutting evaporation losses, says the engineer, because the light colors reflect the sunlight. Too, he adds, a small storage tank filled every two weeks will cut the storage period and the losses from evaporation which climb with long storage.

The farm tractor which is serviced regularly and kept in top operating condition is also the most economical to operate from the standpoint of fuel consumption, says Ulich. He recommends a daily check of the air cleaner, all hose and fuel line connections and carburetor. Most of this checking can be done at a glance but in case a difference is noted in the amount of fuel consumed, then, he says, it's time to make a more detailed inspection for locating the trouble.

It must be remembered, points out Ulich, that approximately 40 percent of the operating costs of a farm tractor goes for fuel. If this bill can be cut by 10 percent of more, the difference will help cut the cost of producing a crop and take a little slack out of the price-cost squeeze.

Keeping Hogs Cool Can Cut Losses

COLLEGE STATION — Shipping losses can be cut by giving fat hogs a cool, comfortable ride to market.

E. M. Regenbrecht, extension swine husbandman, suggests using sand for bedding and wetting it down before loading. If the haul is a long one, sprinkling the hogs and again wetting the sand on arrival at market to reduce shrinkage; use good loading chutes free from sharp objects such as nails and bolts that protrude; use patience and common sense when handling the animals; use slappers instead of whips or clubs and use an electric prod very sparingly; when loading or moving the animals; avoid crowding; separate boars, stags and large from small hogs in transit and load and unload slowly to avoid injury to the animals.

Read Your Bible

By HARRY GRAHAM

THE basic plea being made by churches of Christ is the restoration of New Testament Christianity in its purity and simplicity. Since we have the inspired Word of God to direct us in each age we can know the principles and examples that come from Christ, God's dear Son. Our worship rests on this basic plea.

We observe the Lord's Supper as a vital part of the worship each Lord's Day as we have the approved example in 1 Cor. 11:23-28. The early church practiced this. Each worshipper has an opportunity to partake of both the fruit of the Lord's Supper and the bread, which is to the blood and the body of Christ (1 Cor. 11:23-28).

Each Lord's day a collection is taken (1 Cor. 16:2) Each worshiper is encouraged to give cheerfully as he has been commanded (II Cor. 8:10-11). The Jews under the law were required to give a tenth. Christians are not under the law, but under Christ (Gal. 3:4). They are not commanded to give a certain percentage in the new covenant. They must give sacrificially, (Rom. 12:1-2). Cheerfully, and as they've been commanded (II Cor. 8:10-11; I Cor. 16:1-2).

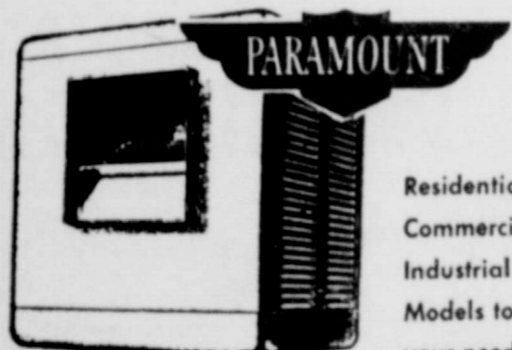

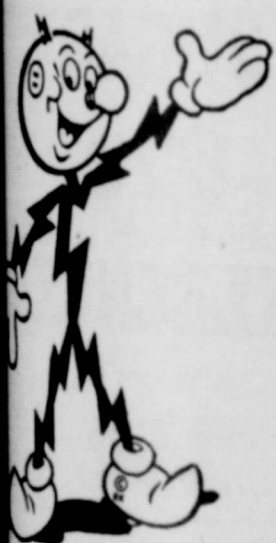

We preach and teach the gospel of Christ exclusively in the services of the churches of Christ. The gospel contains the power to salvation (Rom. 1:16-17). Politics, manual labor, farming, ranching, economics, etc. have no place in the pulpits amongst the churches of Christ. These subjects are to be preached in their places, but never was an immortal soul saved by the proclaiming of such from the pulpit.

The basic in the worship service is vocal. The New Testament teaches us that every Christian must sing and make melody in his heart (Eph. 5:19; Col. 3:16; I Cor. 14:15; Jas. 5:13). We use no instrument of music in worship because it is neither commanded by the scriptures nor is there an approval example of its use in the apostolic church.

Lakeview Tennis Tournament Set For July 13-15

A tennis tournament with both a high school and an open division will be held July 13, 14 and 15 at Lakeview, according to Loren Denton, Lakeview School superintendent.

In the high school division there will be a boy's singles, girl's singles, boy's doubles and girl's doubles. The open division will be the same as the high school division. A person must still be in high school in order to enter the high school division. Anyone can enter the open division.

First place prize will be a trophy and the second place winner will receive a medal. Entry fee is $1.00 for open division. High school entrants do not have to pay an entry fee. Persons interested in entering should contact Loren Denton or Barney Beavers at Lakeview, or David Duncan at Memphis, July 10 in the deadline for entering.

The matches will be played on the four, concrete courts at the Lakeview High School. Lights have been installed and the tournament play is scheduled to start at 5 p. m. on the evening of July 13 and 14. The finals on July 15 will be played in the afternoon.

Fifty persons had entered the tournament as of 6 p. m. Tuesday afternoon. Favorites for some of the divisions are as follows:

High school girl's singles—Rita Durrett, regional champion in 1956, Lakeview.

High school boy's singles—Dudley Gillispie, district finalist in 1955, Memphis.

High school girl's doubles—Rita Durrett and Martha Joy Reed, regional winners and competitors in state tournament, Lakeview.

Men's singles—Barney Beavers, 2-year letterman at Arlington State College, Lakeview; or David Duncan, Junior College state semi-finalist in 1956, Memphis.

Women's singles—Bettye Claude Hickey, regional finalist, Memphis; or Sherry Denton, state competitor, Lakeview.

Men's doubles—Barney Beavers and Loren Denton, Lakeview; or Rayford Hutcherson and David Duncan, Memphis.

Women's doubles—Sherry Denton and Sonya Verden, regional and state competitors, Lakeview; or Bettye Claude Hickey and Katherine Wright, regional finalists, Memphis.

The public is invited to attend all of these matches Denton concluded.

Day, and calling on business firms to close at noon.

At 1 p. m. next Wednesday, volunteer trash haulers will gather in front of the City Hall, where they will be assigned an area within the city. From there the crews will scatter out. The sheriff's department and the city police department will cooperate by patrolling the city as a means of keeping contact by radio with headquarters.

All citizens who have trash stacked in their alleys are requested to call the City Hall—after 3:30 p. m.—if the trash has been overlooked. Then a special crew will be dispatched to the residence.

All city organizations are cooperating in the drive this year, according to the steering committee. Included are members of the Memphis Volunteer Fire Department, Rotary Club, Lions Club, American Legion, Memphis Jaycees, and Chamber of Commerce. City officials and Ed Hutherson, commissioner of precinct one, are also cooperating by placing trucks and equipment at the disposal of the clean-up committee. Members of the B. & P. W. Club will be contracted to furnish iced drinks.

All able-bodied men are urged to put on their work clothes, and turn out for the drive. Those having trucks are asked to bring them.

Window posters for business firms are being furnished by the Rotary Club. Members of the Lions Club are distributing them. This part of the program is in charge of H. J. Howell and Ben Parks. The posters carry the following words: "This store will be closed at noon Wednesday, July 11th, for the Annual Clean-Up Day in Memphis."

Heading special committees for the drive are: Bob Ayers, refreshments; Don Carmen and Joe Williams, small tools; Dwight Kinard, dump and winch trucks; Hubert Dennis and Melvin Blum, other trucks; Thomas Clayton, mowers and tractors; J. C. Wells, publicity; and Cliff Farmer, work plan.

It was pointed out that in years past, the clean-up workers had to haul off much trash which could have been burned. For this reason, all citizens are urged to get their premises in shape as soon as possible, and to burn all materials which can be consumed by flames.

The veins carry blood to the heart.

servoir to be installed with federal assistance, Cape added.

The possibility of slowing-down flood waters in the above named creeks was first discussed in a meeting held in the county courtroom during the latter part of April. At the first meeting Miles Kelly, SCS area conservationists of Pampa, said that this act simply supplements both our present soil and water conservation programs, and our programs for development and flood protection of major river valleys. Structures and other flood prevention measures give only partial or temporary aid unless soil and water conservation practices are applied on individual farms and ranches of a watershed, he continued.

After the survey is completed local organization must be set up with legal authority from the state. This organization, composed of landowners within the boundary of the district will carry out, operate and maintain the needed works of improvement for watershed conservation and flood prevention. The local organization's application for assistance must be approved by the state.

The local organization and the Department of Agriculture will then agree on a watershed work plan. This plan will be reviewed by other Federal agencies and the government, and transmitted to congress. Federal funds are then appropriated to provide the help recommended in the plan.

After the survey is completed a meeting of the residents of the affected area will be called and all interested persons will be invited to attend.

Members of the Board of Supervisors of the Hall County Soil Conservation District are Ross Gentry, John E. Glover, L. M. Bartlett, George R. Colvin and Chairman J. L. Brooks.

commission". The word "power" should have been capitalized and underlined many thousands of times because it really refers to powers never before vested in any one individual or small group of individuals. Power that no good man would want and that no bad man should have. The duties and powers of the commission coupled together could easily be construed to cover and endorse almost any authority the commission decided to exercise. So many powers that it would be impossible to list them all in this letter. One excellent example is it gives the commission the power to hire all of the full-time federal snoopers that it can get Congress to provide the money to pay for. In addition to this, the Commission has the authority to use any and every individual that it can enlist to do its bidding, and to pay said individual's expenses. This provision obviously creates an excellent opportunity for political Hawkshaws who is seeking to violate your Constitutional civil rights, you run the risk of being hauled in for "contumacy", that is the crime of having any thought of disobeying the command of all-powerful six-man bureau or any individual, good, bad or indifferent, to whom the bureau wants to delegate power.

I hasten to advise all interested parties that if contempt political Hawkshaws is to constitute a crime in this country, it would be my advice that provision be made for more and bigger federal penitentiaries, because there will be plenty of customers including yours truly.

Almost all of the antennae for the tower have already arrived. They are a special type built to withstand the wind and ice at the 400 feet level, Magness said.

Stringing of the lines has continued at a good pace with over 5 miles having been completed by Tuesday night, Magness continued. He said this covered about one-fourth of the area.

Site of the tower is a rise on land owned by Henry Scott northwest of town. "We hope to have the system in operation on or before September 1," Magness said.

Mrs. C. F. Boehrer and children of St. Louis, Mo.; and Mrs. Jack Miller and children of Oklahoma City visited here last week with their mother, Mrs. L. G. Yarbrough. They left for their respective homes on Saturday.

Navy WAVES comprised 55 percent of the military personnel in the Navy Department in Washington, D. C. during World War II.
