Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers
Congressman, 18th District

Self-Sufficiency

We have all heard the question many times, "How self-sufficient is the United States?" My experience has been that no matter what individual you ask this question, you are likely to come up with a different answer. The truth is that our degree of self-sufficiency changes from day to day. That in which we are self-sufficient today may be that in which we are lacking tomorrow. This changing situation is due to the speed at which civilization is presently progressing. The realization of such fact should make us more alert and more vigilant, rather than to cause us to become reconciled to the theory that one country in this world could not possibly be self-sufficient.

The recent eruptions in the Near East should cause us to understand, without any difficulty, that the time may come in the near future when we must be self-sufficient whether we like it or not. Much has been said to the effect that internationalism is a must in the present day world. I will admit that it is very nice to be able to get along with all foreign governments in a fair and just manner, but we must be sufficiently realistic to understand that this is easier said than done under many circumstances. For instance, we have tried long and tediously to get along with Russia and promote a just, fair and reasonable approach by all nations to the problems that continually beset man. Our failure in this respect is clearly shown by the continuous activities of the Russians, and more especially, by their recent activities in Hungary. This failure is pointed up by the recent activities in the Near East by those nations that we consider our closest and staunchest allies.

Frankly, I think that we should face the issue of the necessity for self-sufficiency on the part of this country. There are many things that we use in our daily lives which come from foreign sources. There are likewise many things that we need in the defense of this country for which we are dependent upon foreign sources. Some of these we have undertaken to stockpile and have protected the figures concerning these stockpiles under a cloak of secrecy. Many of these items we can develop in our own country, yet we have failed to do so simply because they were available from foreign sources. I speak especially of strategic minerals and metals. Minerals and metals that can be developed in this we must pay for some article cannot be measured in dollars and cents. Should the time come, and it very well could be in the near future, when we could not reach the foreign sources of some of our strategic minerals and metals, we could find ourselves sorely put to meet the needs of an expanded defense program. Under such circumstances we would quickly conclude that we had been penny wise and pound foolish. The development of our local sources would require expenditures far beyond that which we had saved by permitting ourselves to depend on foreign countries.

Our country should, to the best of its ability, develop all of our natural resources. This we can do through our free enterprise system, and at the same time, provide added vigor to our economy. This country must find necessary materials and supplies or suitable substitutes thereof. We cannot run the risk, in the present world situation, of depending on any European, Asiatic, African or Australian source of strategic material.

Society News

Around and About

Don't you love the hustle and bustle of the fall? This is our favorite time of the year... perhaps it dates back to our childhood spent on the farm. Well do we remember those days and the enchantment the harvest brought—the lifting of voices in Negro spirituals by the cotton pickers, the occasional rides atop the newly picked bales of cotton, the delicious watermelons, and the busy activities in general.

Much improvement has been made in farm implements and ginning equipment since we were young. Speaking of improvement brings to mind a conversation we had recently with Mildred Williams. She was telling us it was her uncle, Joe Hart of Chickasha, Okla., who invented the machine which separates the cotton from the burr thus making it possible to pull cotton rather than the tedious job of picking it from the burr by hand.

Activities galore are in progress around and about... Saturday Ralph and Mildred Williams held open house at their new Phillips 66 Station... and Mildred reports that their opening was received by the people of this area with results that exceeded their expectations.

Life without an occasional chuckle would be dull indeed! Such a chuckle was forthcoming Saturday when one of the Poppy salesladies, a member of the Legion Auxiliary and a widow, said to a prospective customer who happened to be a widower, "How about a poppy today?" The gentleman replied, "Well, I think I need a mommy worse than I do a Poppy."

Socially, the last few days have been busy ones, too. On Thursday the Atalantean Club entertained with a guest tea and presented Mrs. L. E. Dudley of Abilene as review artist. Past president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Dudley has a vivacious and striking personality which was interjected into her review. Thanks to members of the Atalantean Club for bringing this charming lady to our city.

Then on Tuesday evening the Memphis Chamber of Commerce entertained with a pancake supper... and the home of Mrs. T. E. Lenoir was the setting for a bridal shower honoring Lois Ann Cofer, attractive bride-elect of Gayle Monzingo.

Mrs. George Bass was delighted this week when her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. W. Morton of Atascadero, Calif., arrived to spend the winter months with her... Many of you remember Mrs. Morton was here last winter. Although she has lived in California for many years, she says she is still partial to Texas.

We wish to welcome Kathryn Milam back into our midst... Kathryn has been in Albuquerque, N. M., for the past two months with her daughter, Mrs. Julius F. Neel, who is recuperating following surgery.

Have you seen Mrs. J. C. Ross's Spider chrysanthemums? Always a lover but not a grower of flowers, we were not only delighted but amazed at this specific variety of chrysanthemums as we had not seen them before. A bouquet of the flowers has been on display this week at Mrs. Greenhaw's Beauty Shop. The colors range from deep bronze to yellow with a green tint and then from a light orchid to shades of purple. The flower itself has a center like the common variety of chrysanthemums and is surrounded with long petals which curl up giving it somewhat a spider effect. They are indeed beautiful.

Miss Vernell Butler visited in Hamlin over the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Butler.

Mackie Allen, student at West Texas State College, spent the weekend here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Allen.

Lovely Pre-Nuptial Tea-Shower Tues. Honors Lois Ann Cofer, Bride-Elect

Complimenting Miss Lois Ann Cofer, attractive bride-elect of Gayle Monzingo, a group of hostesses entertained with a lovely pre-nuptial tea-shower in the home of Mrs. T. E. Lenoir on Tuesday evening.

Guests calling between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock were greeted by Mrs. Don Wright and presented to the receiving line composed of the honoree, Miss Cofer; her mother, Mrs. W. M. Cofer and the groom-to-be's mother, Mrs. Frank Monzingo.

Miss Carol Ann Monzingo, sister of the groom-to-be, presided at the guest book to secure signatures of the guests.

The entertaining rooms were attractively decorated for the occasion. The dining table was laid with a linen cut work cloth and

Sgt. W. E. Swope Is Guest Speaker At Delphian Club

T/Sgt. William E. Swope, chief of the mobile training unit at Amarillo, was guest speaker at the Delphian Club on Tuesday evening, Nov. 6. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. B. J. Thomson.

Speaking on "Highway to Civil Defense," Sgt. Swope stated that most people would say an air attack cannot happen to us. But with the world growing smaller and the United States only 8 flying hours from Russia — if it could happen on our own soil.

"Since the war of 1812 the United States has been faced with the prospect of war on our own soil. Civilians should be prepared in an event this should happen," Sgt. Swope warned.

"The best way for the American people to be prepared is through Civil Defense and aid the Ground Observer Corps. Through the Civil Defense authorities we learn to be prepared on a moment's notice and each member of the family learns what to do and the measures to take in the event of attack.

"The United States is on the watch with radar but it's not enough. Radar cannot detect aircraft below 5,000 feet and it is hindered also by weather. So the armed forces must depend upon the civilians of the United States, too. The Ground Observer Corps is the organization. Qualifications are eyes and a voice and 16 years of age and older. These people are just as important as the men who man the guns."

In conclusion Sgt. Swope said, "The American people are proud of their freedom and they know what the price of freedom means, so they must be prepared at home, too. By knowing what to do and when will certainly help."

Following the lecture, Sgt. Swope showed a film on what could happen if an unidentified airplane did get through the radar and how the Ground Observer Corps helped to detect it and how this plane was destroyed before it did any harm by the help of the Ground Observer Corps.

Mrs. Lynn McKown, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker. The meditation for the day was given by Mrs. Jack Boone. Mrs. J. L. Barnes, president, conducted the business session.

Pie and coffee was served during the social hour to the guest speaker, Sgt. Swope, and to the following members: Meses. Lynn McKown, C. C. Hodges, O. R. Goodall, Weldon McCreary, G. W. Kesterson, R. B. McMurry, A. Anisman, Ben Wilson, Jr., J. L. Barnes, Jack Boone, C. D. Morris, W. C. Dickey, Mildred Stephens, J. W. Steakes, Kenneth Dale, Clyde Smith and J. K. Porter.

Mrs. L. E. Dudley of Abilene Guest Artist at Atalantean Club Tea

Mrs. L. E. Dudley of Abilene, immediate past president of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, was guest review artist on Thursday afternoon of last week when members of the Atalantean Club entertained with a guest day tea.

The social was held at the First Christian Church with Mrs. Herb Curry, Mrs. Cecil McCollum, Miss Gertrude Rasco and Miss Imogene King as hostesses.

Mrs. N. A. Hightower, club president, welcomed the guests and presented Mrs. Lloyd Martin, program chairman, who in turn presented the afternoon's speaker, Mrs. Dudley, who is not only known for her work with the Federation, both state and national, but is a popular reviewer.

Selecting the book, "Guestward Ho!" by Barbara Hooten, Mrs. Dudley gave a most entertaining review. Possessing a vivacious personality, the reviewer gave the story in first person. Humorous and touching were the many incidents which occurred to Barbara when she and her husband Bill left their comfortable way of life in New York City to run a dude ranch in New Mexico.

Included in the review was the tales of the horse in the reservoir, Charles Anderson, Daves Contreras, Carolyn Hoover and Russell Lathram. The Junior girls sang two popular songs and the boys sang two.

Following the refreshment hour, during which piano selections were played by Noel Clifton, dominoes were enjoyed.

By Ted Kestrag

The time-honored method of preparing wild ducks for the table is to pluck, wax, roast and serve them under candlelight so the pinfeathers will not show. Concealed also under the dim lights are the feathers which each shot carries into the meat. But these are times when the appearance and flavor of wild ducks are definitely enhanced by the removal of the skins.

Wayne and Opal Judy of International Falls, Minn., set forth instructions for skinning ducks. Reason for removing the skin are five. First, in the case of early-season ducks which are invariably in the pinfeather stage, there are feathers under the skin which are impossible to remove by any waxing or plucking method yet devised. Secondly, ducks badly shot up have feathers under the skin which cannot be seen unless skinning is accomplished. Also, if ducks are to be frozen for a long period of time, the layer of fat directly underneath the skin will turn rancid, imparting a strong "wild" flavor to the entire duck. This layer always adheres to the skin, and when the skin is removed, so also is the fat.

Another reason for skinning is to remove the fishy or strong taste of certain species, and lastly, because skinning is faster, easier and cleaner than plucking.

The first step, of course, is the actual skinning. After you've severed the wings and legs at the joints, insert a knife under the skin of the breast and cut down the center. Peel the skin away, helping it separate from the flesh with a razor. When the skin is off, remove the entrails and wash inside and out well. Clean each shot hole individually.

Then comes the important soaking. Lace a pan of water with about two tablespoons of salt and one of soda for each gallon of water. Let the ducks soak for at least 10 hours. This will draw out the gamey taste. You can be generous with the ingredients since washing in cold water will remove any salt or soda taste. Now the ducks are ready to be cooked or frozen.

Winter is the proper time to overhaul your fishing tackle, says Jason Lucas, Sports Afield angling editor. By following his advice on off-season care of your gear, you will find everything in top shape when you need it in the spring.

You may have heard that rubber waders and boots should be stored by hanging them up so that plenty of air can get to them. Don't do it. It will reduce their life to perhaps a fifth of what it should be. The best method is to dry them thoroughly, wrap them up in a roll of brown paper, and store them in a cool place. To extend their useful life still further, seal them as well as possible from the air in a plastic bag or such.

Another thing to remember before putting your waders away is that oil and grease are very injurious to rubber—eating in and softening it. So, if there is the slightest trace of oil or grease on your waders wash them thoroughly with soap and rinse well.

A split bamboo rod, even a new one with perfect varnish, will soon disintegrate, irreparably, if kept in a damp spot. Storing in an extremely dry place will often cause ferrules to loosen. Glass rods can stand more abuse, but they also have their limits. And if left in a damp place the metal ferrules can corrode and be ruined, so it's best to store one in the same kind of spot you would store your bamboo rod. Never leave a rod jointed up all winter, for if you do you may find the ferrules stuck so that you will damage them trying to get them apart.

Nylon line doesn't seem to be subject to rot, but moisture will cause severe corrosion to a metal spool. So before putting your reel away for the winter, string the line out and dry it thoroughly before winding it back on.

Weekend guests in the home of Mrs. Bill Crowder were her two daughters and their families, Mr. and Mrs. John Angove and son Ray, and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Park, all of Bowie.

WATCH FOR GRASSHOPPERS

Farmers and ranchmen in the Panhandle, in the counties along the Caprock and those in a belt extending from Red River to deep into Central Texas are advised to be on the alert for a possible heavy outbreak of grasshoppers. Extension Service entomologists report that some 'hoppers are hatching in North Texas. If the number of grasshoppers emerging warrant control, the entomologists say, "get them while they are still in the egg bed areas."

More than a billion broilers were produced in the nation in 1955. Texas producers raised 79 million birds valued at $60,411,100.

The number of cattle on farms increased for the eighth consecutive year. The total of more than 100 million head on January 1, 1953, was 1 per cent above a year ago, but was the smallest since 1949.

The Moral Of Cotton Spinning

• Have you ever gone into a cotton mill, and watched cotton fibers being spun into yarn? It looks bewilderingly complicated. There are bulky carding drums, clacking combers, noisy roving machines, and the steady whine of whirling spindles driven by intricate combinations of cogs and belts and cams.

But all that the machinery does is to head all the cotton fibers in one direction, eliminate the weaklings, even them up so that the stress will be well distributed, and make them cling together. Once wrapped around each other and pointing toward the same goal, the fibers' strength is the combined strength of cotton's unsurpassed cohesive elements, those tiny convolutions in the waxy fibers which bind them to each.

The cotton farmer and the cotton industry—and all of us in the Cotton Belt whose fortunes are inevitably linked with it—may well draw a moral from the story of spinning. We will be strong so long as we stick together and pull toward the same goal. Our cohesive force is mutual interest—INTEREST IN OUR OWN WELFARE.

One of the best ways we can express our interest is by ALWAYS BUYING PRODUCTS OF COTTON!

Medina Lake, Near San Antonio To Be Renovated

A "one-two punch" designed to renovate Medina Lake, popular San Antonio area fishing spot, has been definitely set for the immediate future, said the chief aquatic biologist for the Game and Fish Commission recently. The first blow has been shaped to rid the big lake of rough fish which have virtually crowded out the game species, and the follow through will be timed to take care of the surfaced shad and carp.

The chemical treatment of the lake under the state's pioneering selective kill program, will be marked by a record concentration of aquatic biologists to handle the treatment. Likewise, the greatest amount of removal equipment will be brought to the scene to dispose of the unwanted fish to minimize obnoxious odors.

Seven years ago rough fish first began to crowd the game fish population and a complete fish kill—one of the first in the state—was undertaken. Good angling was restored for a long period. Then gizzard shad, carp and other rough fish began taking over.

The treatment will leave game fish in the lake to permit resumption of fishing within a few weeks after the treatment. Game fish are not very sensitive to the chemicals which affect the undesirable species.

LEAVES WORK FOR THE SOIL

Put leaves to work which are now falling and cluttering yards and gardens. M. K. Thornton, extension agricultural chemist, suggests placing them in compost piles. Compost can be used to boost next year's flower or vegetable gardens. Compost is valuable for adding organic matter to the soil, for improving the soil tilth and increasing its water holding capacity and also for mulching shrubs, flowers and vegetable plants.

THE BAFFLES By Mahoney

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

Your Honor, I Object ...

Second guessers and Monday morning quarterbacks always have brilliant hindsight.

So it is with the trial in a law suit: After the jury brings in the verdict people can tell you how your lawyer should have conducted the trial.

But as with football, it's somewhat harder to look forward into the swirl of maneuvers and predict in advance how a particular move will make out.

Our system of justice rests upon the "adversary" theory of a trial where both sides fight for real stakes in dead earnest.

Our U. S. Supreme Court, for example, will not give an "advisory" opinion to anybody—neither the President or Congress—as to whether a proposed law would be constitutional.

So even if he antagonized everybody in the court, the lawyer by the rules of our system of justice, still had the duty of "protecting the record" so that if need be he could also protect his client in the higher courts.

At every stage of a lawsuit, your lawyer must remember to make points against the possible day that a panel of thoughtful appellate justices will sit down calmly to review what was done in the excitement of a trial.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Eller over the weekend was their daughter, Mrs. Ethelyn Amadam and daughter, Diane, of Amarillo.

Mrs. J. Rhea Martin of Pampa visited here Saturday and Sunday with Imogene and Jim King and Mrs. Alla Boswell.

with real people fighting for real stakes.

Our courts have an aversion to deciding a point of fact or law where each side does not present its views on the merits with skill, vigor, and good faith.

So, during a trial the pressure is on. Each side tried to present the facts favorable to its cause and prevent the other side from presenting matters which are not properly admissible under the rules of evidence.

To make matters worse, unless your lawyer acts at once, say, when the other side offers a piece of testimony, he loses the right to get the court to strike it from the record at a later time.

Fully to protect you, your lawyer must plan your case so that if things go against you, he can take your case "on the record" to a higher court if he feels that the trial court has erred.

Well, this is why: If he had not, for example, moved to "quash the indictment," or objected to certain evidence, the higher court might not let him raise the point on appeal.

Those from Memphis attending this meeting were Zady Belle Walker, Tops Gilreath and Neville Wrenn.

Mrs. Carl Lee and daughter Debora Ann of Lockney visited here from Friday until Monday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Shankle.

Texas History Class At Work On Term Themes

In preparation for a term theme the members of Mrs. Dennis' senior Texas history class received material from the Extension Loan Library of the University of Texas recently.

The Memphis High School Library pays $10.00 yearly for the privilege of ordering any amount needed and as often as desired, for students, clubs, or individuals who wish to use the material.

The themes cover a wide range of topics concerning Texas past and present. Some are: "The Oil Industry in Texas" which is one of our foremost enterprises; "Texas Missions," some of which were founded at a very early date; "The Battle of San Jacinto" which won for Texans the rights of freedom loving people "The Battle of the Alamo," a story with which every Texan should be familiar.

These themes are considered an important part of a student's grade and must be turned in by mid-term when the Texas history course ends and the Government course begins.

Local Members To Delta Kappa Meet in Borger

Gamma Kappa Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma participated in the regional Delta Kappa Gamma meeting in Borger on Oct. 13, in the high school auditorium.

The theme of the meeting was "We Return Their Gifts to Heaven." Mrs. Doris Thompson, D. K. G. state president, brought a challenging address on the subject "Our Chapter Must Light the Torch."

Members of Gamma Kappa Chapter presented the skit "Keeping Faith with Our Delta Kappa Gamma Heritage."

New members initiated into the Gamma Kappa chapter at this meeting were Miss Inez Blankenship of Goodnight and Mrs. Nola Yarbrough of Childress.

Highlight of the meeting was when the Gamma Kappa Chapter was presented the silver candleholder for its members traveling the most number of miles to the meeting. This is the third candle holder this chapter has won.

Those from Memphis attending this meeting were Zady Belle Walker, Tops Gilreath and Neville Wrenn.

Mrs. Carl Lee and daughter Debora Ann of Lockney visited here from Friday until Monday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Shankle.

Tom Beeson of Olton visited here over the weekend in the home of his brother, Jim Beeson.

Editorial

Your Dollars May Buy Less In '57

The price squeeze is going to be tighter if predictions come true from several sources. For example, the National Editorial Association reported last week that the price of steel is going up again.

NEA stated: "Steel prices, although raised $8.50 a ton following the recent strike, need a further increase according to a representative of one of the largest steel companies."

A recent business digest had this to say: "The results of the national election . . . may require a revision of previous forecast from 'mild' inflation to BIG inflation."

One of the reasons for this is due to more and more government spending. But if somebody doesn't pull a halt to the increase in wages and commodities, this nation might be in the same position as some of the smaller countries where the wage earner cannot keep up with the cost of living; for example, Venezuela.

Where will that leave communities such as Hall County? How can the average family find the money to buy many of the new things made of steel, such as new tractors, new cars and trucks, appliances, etc.

Places like Memphis, located in strictly agricultural communities, have been undergoing this pressure for a few years. But it is interesting to read that department store sales down in Dallas have decreased 3% although bigger and bigger price tags have been placed on each item.

NEA reports that 68% of U. S. income dollars are spent in retail stores, 24% of which come under the classification of food stores. In the second highest category, 20% of the income dollars are spent in automobile store sales. General merchandise businessmen accept 11%.

Of course the above figures do not fit the income spending picture of this area, but they do cause us to pause and re-evaluate a few things. We recognize that the inflationary spiral must be halted in some manner, or the economic index of this area will continue its downward course upon any graph which may be compiled. The "belt-tightening" technique has been started over the Panhandle, and its effects is causing mild repercussions in a lot of places.

WHAT IS SCRIPTURAL BAPTISM?

There are those who contend that sprinkling, pouring and immersion are scriptural when it comes to baptism. Let us see. Anything that is scriptural will be readily found in the Bible, and that which cannot be found in the Bible is unscriptural. Listen to the language of the apostle Paul on the subject at hand, "Buried with Him in baptism, wherein also ye are risen with Him through the faith of the operation of God, who hath raised Him from the dead" (Col. 2:12). Paul says that one is buried with the Lord by baptism. Hence, baptism is a burial. Again the same writer writes: "Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into His death? Therefore we are buried with Him by baptism into death: that like Christ was raised by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life" (Rom. 6:3-4). Scriptural baptism, then, demands a burial. A conclusive example of such is found in Acts 8 where it is stated, "and they went down both into the water, both Philip and the eunuch; and he baptized him" (verse 38) and in the case of our Lord when he was baptized of John the baptizer in the river Jordan. "And Jesus, when he was baptized, went up straightway OUT OF THE WATER: and lo, the heavens were opened unto him, and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove, and lighting upon him." (Matt. 3:16) Sprinkling or pouring can not be scriptural baptism since the Bible speaks only of baptism as being a burial; then Paul settles it once and for all by stating that there is ONE BAPTISM. (Eph. 4:5)

The purpose of immersion as stated in the Bible is just as important as its form. The purpose is "for the remission of sins" (Acts 2:38) "To wash away sins" (Acts 22:16) Baptism puts us into the body of Christ (Gal. 3:26-27). It saves us (I Pet. 3:21).

GREAT MOMENTS IN HISTORY

Press Paragraphs— QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Guip!
 Well, there goes your ball game! But thank goodness I did not lose my vote in good old Armstrong County. She remained democratic. Too many old timers here who "remembered when!" But the nation has made its choice and that I accept. My head is bloody but unbroken.
 But in looking back I'd say the Democrats were completely stupid in overlooking the Republican's D-Bomb. That little firecracker was Secretary Dulles' meddling in the Middle-East until it exploded and the explosion swept Eisenhower into the landslide he got. So goes politics. — Claude News

Individualism?
 The GOP Assistant Secretary of Agriculture came down to Texas to tell the farmers to get back to good old individualism and stop looking for complete security. What he really means is, to go back to your hoe and plant what he tells you and don't plant too much while we let the factory farms flood the market. When you get stuck with starvation prices, then it's time for you to be an individual. Meanwhile with the election so near and all, we'll send you a little drouth aid, just to be friendly. After the election, then you can be an individual again, the better to be crushed, my dear. —The Texas Observer.

American Tragedy
 The career of Governor Allan Shivers, from the obscurity and semi-poverty of his youth to his service as governor and final loss of Democratic control, is reviewed by D. B. Hardeman, member of the Texas legislature, in the November issue of Harper's magazine.
 Hardeman, a former newspaper man, calls the Governor's career an "American Tragedy."
 He writes: "It is the story of a man endowed with great charm, a strong physique, and a brilliant mind—a man of relentless industry, political skill and courage."
 "Married to a great wealth, he made a fortune in his own right."
 At an early age he became Governor of a great state, served longer than any other man and gained such national prominence that many predicted that he would one day reach the White House.
 "But today in Austin, Texas, serving out the waning months of his term, Allan Shivers sits alone, bereft of public confidence, crushingly repudiated by his party and his people."
 Hardeman says Shivers has had an outstanding record as governor, but that his downfall started when he led Texas into the Republican column in the 1952 presidential election. A group loyal to the National Democratic Ticket began a fight to regain control of the state party machinery.
 The state land scandal and that involving the insurance companies helped shake Shivers' popularity with the people, Hardeman says. Then, in March of this year, Senator Lyndon Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn challenged Shivers' leadership of the party in the fight over the makeup of the Texas delegation to the Democratic Convention. The battle was decided at the May 5 precinct conventions. Johnson and Rayburn won by four to one. Hardeman concludes: "Today, as he sits out these last frustrating months in the Governor-ship, Allan Shivers must feel that he is leaving Texas public service better than he found them, that Texas in many ways has gone forward during his tenure. Perhaps he has hurried Texas toward becoming a two-party state, to her advantage. But he also must know that he deliberately set neighbor against neighbor, that Texas with its great wealth still is far from having a model state government, and that Texans have been shamed by a corruption in public affairs they had never known before." —Tulsa Herald

The Right Answer
 A stranger asked a young service station attendant how things were going in Quannah. When the attendant answered only so so, the stranger stated that he should have said booming, just booming. The lesson took because when the stranger drove in the station a few days later he was greeted with the fact that Quannah is booming, just booming. Incidentally, the stranger was the chamber of commerce manager from Stillwater, Okla. —Quannah Tribune-Chief

WATER COMPANY DIGS TEST WELLS — Seven new test wells were completed last week by the Community Public Service Company in an effort to discover sites where additional water may be obtained for the city of Memphis when conditions demand, W. V. Coursey, manager, said this week.

The wells were dug on the L. W. Stanford land, five miles northwest of Memphis, where two new wells were completed last summer. The tests were made to determine the extent of the pool, and data gathered will be logged and charted, Mr. Coursey said.

JOHN FOWLER NOW WITH CITY DRUG — John Fowler, former owner of a drug store at Petersburg, is now in charge of the prescription department at the City Drug Store. The announcement was made by W. C. Foote, Jr., who, with Mr. Fowler, are owners of the local store.

Fowler has been in the drug business for 20 years, and moved to Memphis recently after selling the firm he owned in Petersburg. He is immediate past president of the Lions Club of his former home town.

Mrs. Fowler is also working with the local drug store. They have two children who are attending college this year, one being enrolled in Texas Tech and the other is a student at the University of Texas.

Classes Series of National Films

Classes of Memphis High School will present a most interesting film series this week in connection with their studies. Miss Wrenn's class is studying force and energy and they had a film in connection with the name of "Force and Energy." The physics class had a film "Tiny Water Animals," a general science class saw "The Soil."

The Senior English Literature and the Junior American History class saw the film "The Story of Dr. Carver," by Mrs. Guthrie. They also saw "The Negro Scientist in the States," and "The Stratton Story," the story of Monty Stratton, a famous baseball player. Mrs. Glenn Bruce's class includes typing I and II, and shorthand. Three films entitled "Motions," "Adventures in Motion," and "Party Lines."

Members of the Memphis High School Speech Class, under the direction of Mrs. Elsie Guthrie, have been holding symposiums on typical community problems.

Two symposium groups are in the class. Leaders for the two groups have been John Binkley and Ray Evans. Much has been learned about holding group discussion and the class has gained more confidence in its speaking ability.

These practice symposiums have been held to prepare the class for a community presentation at a later date.

Recent Rains Help Winter Pastures

Recent rains in many areas of the state have been sufficient to germinate and start growth of dry planted winter pastures. Too, says E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist at Texas A&M college, plantings can still be made but late plantings mean less grazing. However, he adds, a little grazing is much better than none.

Management practices followed will determine to a large degree the amount of grazing which winter pastures will provide, points out Trew. Small grains and annual clovers should not be grazed until the plants have developed root systems sufficient to keep them from being pulled up by grazing animals. Upright type plants such as Alamo oats and Goliad barley should be 8 inches high before being grazed. The prostrate types such as Mustang oats should be from 4-6 inches high before they are grazed. First year plantings of brome, orchard, fescue or perennial rye unless irrigated or on very fertile soil, should not be grazed. The first season's growth of these perennials may be taken as hay in order to give the plants an opportunity to become established.

When winter pastures are ready for grazing, Trew says to graze the plants down fast and evenly then move the stock to another pasture . . . rotate the grazing for maximum forage production. Stock on winter pastures should continue to get dry hay. The dry feed will help control bloat.

Fertilizing is a very important part of management. After grazing down the plants, Trew recommends a top dressing of 30 to 40 pounds of nitrogen an acre if moisture conditions are good. This practice usually pays big div-identends in increased growth and Trew reports that some stockmen topdress their pastures twice.

Mrs. Clyde Milam returned home Saturday after spending the past two months in Albuquerque, N. M., with her daughter, Mrs.

As an aid in managing the winter pasture, the specialist suggests that a copy of L-258, Winter Temporary Pastures, be obtained from the local county agent.

Julius F. Neel and family, Mrs. Neel underwent surgery and Mrs. Milam has been there to be with her daughter while she was recuperating.

Wendell Harrison went to Amarillo Saturday where he joined other John Deere Implement dealers of this district for a trip to Kansas City, Mo., where they will visit the company's factory.

The group made the trip by train and plan to be gone a week.

Thompson Host To IH Friends At Fish Fry Friday

Officials, dealers and former officials of the International Harvester Company were special guests of E. P. Thompson Friday evening, Nov. 9, at a fish fry banquet in Memphis.

The banquet, originally scheduled for the Thompson cabin at Brookhollow Club Lake, was moved to the banquet room of the Memphis Hotel due to inclement weather.

The occasion was a "get-together" of area men of the company, who had pioneered the implement business in this section of Texas.

Speaker of the evening was Lou Fields of Amarillo. Fields reviewed the early days of this area, and gave highlights of his boyhood on a ranch, located north of Hedley. Also speaking briefly were Tommie M. Potts and J. Claude Wells of Memphis.

Two reels of moving picture films were shown the group. The films were made by Mr. Thompson on a recent trip to New York City.

Out-of-town guests included: Wyman Featherstone and Rod Hill, International dealers at Tulsa; Louie Thompson, Clarendon; Lyman Davenport, former IHC dealer at Lakeview; James Sullivan, former dealer at Wellington; Alva Slay of Amarillo, retired company blockman; Earl McPherson, dealer at Chillicothe; and E. L. Banks of Lubbock, former blockman and dealer. Lee Elliott, Memphis, was recognized as a retired company blockman.

Also present were several professional and business men of Memphis.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Coppedge and Kay left Memphis Wednesday. Mr. Coppedge will attend a Rural Electrification Association meeting in San Antonio while Mrs. Coppedge and Kay will visit in West Brook with Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Hawkins. Mrs. Coppedge's mother, The Coppedge family plans to return home on Saturday.

Tracy Davis Saturday morning and pled guilty to the charge. He paid a total of $228.95 including the fine and court costs.

The second case came Sunday when county officers arrested Floyd L. Jenkins of Hedley on a forgery charge. Jenkins is alleged to have passed two forged checks in Memphis around the first of September, one for $40.00 and the other for $25.00. He appeared before Justice of Peace J. S. Grimes who set his bond at $1500 and bound the case over for the grand jury to hear.

Sheriff Baten made a trip to Carlsbad Tuesday to pick up Lawrence D. Mask who is charged with removal of mortgaged property from the state. Mask was to appear before Justice of Peace J. S. Grimes later this week.

"We will have a match for everyone who is interested in shooting," Massey said. "Expert shots will have to compete with persons who shoot in the same bracket they do, and there will be a place in the match for everyone, no matter what type of shot you are."

A trap shoot will be held for shotguns, 50-yard target work for .22 cal. rim fire rifles, and 100-yard competition for all other rifles, he said.

The range is arranged so that all matches can be conducted at the same time and plenty of parking space is available, he added.

Complete plans for the event will be announced next week.

Research Shows Animals Inherit Ability to Gain or Maintain Weight

Federal-State research over the years has shown that the ability of some animals to put on or maintain body weight on less feed than is required by other animals of their breed is an inheritable quality. These findings, says L. A. Maddox, Jr., extension animal husbandman, point to possibilities for increasing profits in livestock production by breeding animals that use feed more efficiently than present day commercial types.

In beef cattle, for instance, research by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Beltsville, Md., and Miles City, Mont., has established the fact that rate of gain is a highly inheritable trait. In lines selected especially for ability to produce meat efficiently, steers put on 2 1/2 pounds a day on the same feed that gives a gain of only 2 pounds in standard commercial strains. And these animals reach market finish with standard weight and carcass quality. Some unusual animals in test lots gain as much as 3 pounds a day, and research workers are sure they can get these gains in the type and kind of beef cattle that the breeder and markets prefer.

Comparison of research results indicates that breeding for feed efficiency can be applied profitably to all types of livestock production. Since feed represents the highest single production cost, anything which can be done to cut feed costs means more money in the stockman's pocket, says Maddox.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Bridges visited in Rotan over the weekend with Mr. Bridges' mother. While there they enjoyed attending the Homecoming activities and visiting with former classmates.

Duke Frisbie Seeing Action With Tech Eleven

Duke Frisbie, son of Mrs. B. B. Frisbie, has been seeing plenty of action during the past few weeks as a member of the Texas Tech Red Raider squad.

Last Saturday he returned the opening kickoff 26 yards to the 35 yard line to help set up Tech's first touchdown which came two plays later. Later in the game he overtook TCU's Jim Swink from behind to prevent him from scoring.

In the game against Oklahoma A & M two weeks ago, Frisbie scored the longest touchdown run of the season by racing 72 yards. During that afternoon he carried for 119 yards on 13 tries.

Three weeks ago he picked up 13 yards on a pass reception to set up a touchdown against the University of Arizona and scored the point after touchdown.

While in Memphis High School, Frisbie was a member of the squad which won district and bi-district.

Thompson Attends Dallas Reunion

E. P. Thompson returned Tuesday night from Dallas where he had attended the Scottish Rite reunion, and purchased merchandise for Thompson Bros. Co. While in Dallas he visited with his daughter, Mrs. Herschel Montgomery.

He came back by way of Alford, where he visited with friends overnight, and went squirrel hunting.

Henry Hays went to Dallas Saturday night and Mrs. Hays accompanied him home on Sunday. Mrs. Hays has been in Dallas about three weeks with her granddaughter, Kay Christi Clark, who is critically ill. Mr. Hays said Monday Kay Christi was somewhat improved; however, she was still seriously ill. Mrs. R. E. Clark, the infant's paternal grandmother, left Tuesday for Dallas to be with the family.
