Officials Request Cooperation In Garbage Removal From City

Memphis citizens this week were asked to cooperate in the removal of garbage and other trash by city officials.

The appeal for cooperation is being requested after complaints had been made by several individuals, who have protested the placing of waste matter within the corporate limits of the city.

"The cooperation of every citizen is urged in the interest of the public health and welfare," officials stated. "It is the responsibility of each individual to dispose of garbage and trash which cannot be burned."

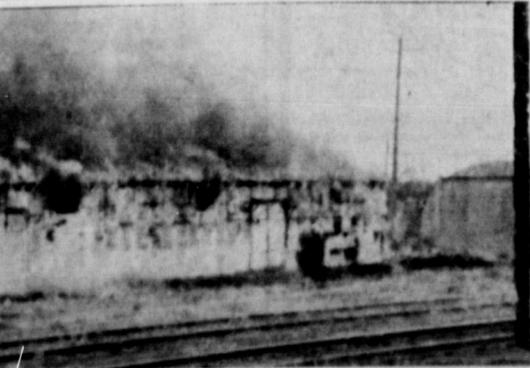

Every citizen should at all times keep his premises and adjacent alley areas free of trash, officials pointed out. Accumulations in alleys will prevent city motor graders from maintaining them at regular intervals.

Melon rinds, waste fruits and vegetables, and other matter should not be allowed to accumulate, it was pointed out. This creates offensive odors, and attracts insects and rodents.

City trash collectors are not required to pick up garbage, the public was reminded. Their primary duty is to pick up unburnable trash, such as bottles, cans and ashes. Collectors will haul these items away if they are placed in trash barrels or other suitable containers.

"Continued violations of state health laws will result in proper action by the city health officer," the announcement stated.

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers
Congressman, 18th District

Civil Rights
A civil rights (?) bill has passed both the House and Senate. Although each House passed a different version of the original bill, the fact remains this is the first time since reconstruction days following the war between the states that a bill bearing such title has passed both Houses. Whether or not the title, "Civil Rights," is a rank misnomer, has been the subject of heated debate in many quarters, both inside and outside the halls of Congress. The simple truth is that many of the most vicious proponents of this bill are more interested in passing the title of the bill than they are interested in the contents of the bill. As originally drawn, the bill was intended to create in the federal government, acting by and through the Attorney General, a plenipotentiary force capable of reconstructing the post Civil War reconstruction days—the power to enforce federal edicts by bayonet. As a political device, it was designed specifically as bait to woo minority blocs. How successful it will be politically can only be determined in the future. However, no one should be misled by the many maneuvers which are going on in Washington at the present time. I refer to the threats and counter-threats between the parties and officials thereof, including the President. Much has been said about a presidential veto. The President has not, to my knowledge, indicated he would veto the bill. He did say formerly that he did not intend to yield concerning his views against a jury trial amendment. It is the consensus of opinion here that the President did not mean he would veto the legislation if it contained a jury trial amendment, but that he would continue to oppose the right of trial by jury in contempt proceedings. It is entirely possible he would veto a bill including the right of trial by jury in such cases, but the feeling seems to be, as I said before, that the contents of the bill is not the primary objective. The primary objective is to obtain the passage of a law at federal level entitled, "Civil Rights Law." Such accomplishment would provide two important results. First, it will provide the opening that the advocates of centralized government has so long sought in our political philosophy; the entry of the federal government into a phase of our political philosophy that could result in the pre-emption by the federal government of all the individuals' political rights. Secondly, it would create a political platform from which politicians could take credit for helping to pass such a bill and assure their listeners they would work for amendments to the law which would do away with the right of trial by jury and other matters unacceptable to advocates of centralized government.

For these reasons, you can understand why the proponents are more interested in the immediate passage of the title of the bill than its contents.

Congress to adopt legislation authorizing the return of German and Japanese assets seized during World War II under the "Trading With the Enemy Act" of 1917. This is known as alien property. There is a tremendous amount of money involved in this issue. Present estimates are well above 300 million dollars. Mail is coming into the offices of those of us on the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee asking for early action in returning this property to its former owners. Some of this mail comes from individuals, some from societies, and many of us get buttonholed daily by registered and unregistered lobbyists.

Some of the arguments are most amusing. For instance, those who desire that these assets be returned argue long and loud about the sanctity of the private ownership of property as a basic U. S. policy. They forget about the basic American policy of fairness to the effect that each wrong there should be a remedy. They play down the fact that many of the assets of these countries should be used as reparations for the damage they did by starting the war. They argue that even so, the property involved is property that belonged to individuals and, therefore should be returned to them. They say that even though these individuals were enemies of the United States and contributed measurably toward trying to destroy the very way of life in which they now seek refuge, their only mistake was in permitting their property to fall into the hands of the conqueror and that they should now have it back.

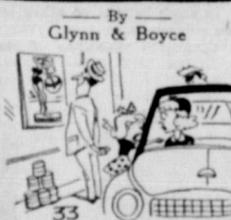

For some reason there seems to be considerable diversity of opinion on the subject between the Department of Justice, the Department of State, and the Department of the Treasury. The Committee undertook to obtain testimony from all three departments, but the only person who showed up to testify was an underling in the State Department whose greatest accomplishment on that particular day was in locating the House Office Building and the Committee room in which the hearings were being held. He was not an unwilling witness but was of little help to the Committee because of the vast amount of knowledge he did not have on the subject.

Watch for more developments on this particular subject.

Management
Important Says
Technicians

Water management is important where the quantity of water used for each irrigation is determined by the need of the soil; and where the water is applied at the rate and such that the crops are able to efficiently, Calvin Jackson said this week.

Thompson and Jackson, for the Soil Conservation Service, checked on the S. A. irrigation system. These men said the soil Ellis was watered approximately four inches every 15 days during the period of peak use by cotton. During this time, the soil uses moisture at the rate of about one-fourth inch every four inches every 15 days.

After how sound the plan is, how good the design, an irrigation system will not give results unless it is operated properly. To do this the operator must know the capabilities of his soil, and the water needs of his crops. With this knowledge he can apply the principles of conservation irrigation on his own farm, Jackson said.

Hall County Soil Conservation District, technicians of the Conservation Service are available to assist any operator in setting up an irrigation system to his particular farm.

Who takes over
when Mother takes off

We bet it's Father and we bet he leans heavily on the family's Electric Servants.

And why not? Electric servants draw mighty low wages. Lower, even, than they were 25 years ago. For instance, if yours is the typical American home, you're getting twice as much electricity for your dollar today as you did in 1932. Your electric bill may be higher, but that's because electricity is doing so much more for you now.

* Actually in homes served by WTU, the average cost of a kilowatt-hour of electric service is 20% LESS than it was 10 years ago!

Think about it for a minute. Don't you agree that electricity is the biggest bargain in your budget?

Omer Hill Loses Warehouse Mon. To Hay Fire

A warehouse on State Highway 256 east of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad tract, formerly owned by Milam Grain and Coal Co., now owned by Omer Hill, was completely destroyed by fire Monday afternoon.

The warehouse, a 40 foot by 80 foot frame building, contained alfalfa hay, one tractor and a trailer belonging to the owner, Omer Hill. These were all a total loss, Hill said.

Also in the warehouse was the pig pen panels which W. B. Hooser has been using for all the pig shows which have been held in that building. Hooser said that he had been collecting these pens for a long time.

Hill said that the building was partially covered by insurance, but that none of the equipment and hay had any insurance on it.

The Memphis Fire Department was summoned to the scene of the fire at 3 p. m., and fought the burning hay and wood for four hours before it was out completely. The cause of the fire was established as being a grass fire which was burning at the side of the building. The fire was being tended by a section hand on the railroad.

The only other fire in Memphis or surrounding area was a blaze in an automobile at the W. S. Francis home Saturday. Francis lives at 521 North Eighth St.

Jimmy Don Molloy Leaves Tomorrow On Colorado Trip

Jimmy Don Molloy of Lakeview will leave tomorrow on a free seven-day trip to Colorado which he won through his 4-H work, County Agent W. B. Hooser said Wednesday.

The trip will be by chartered bus, which leaves Amarillo Saturday morning and travels to Fort Collins, Colo. The group will return to Amarillo on the afternoon of Aug. 23.

The group of 4-H boys and girls will attend Colorado State University for the American Institute of Cooperatives from Sunday night, Aug. 18, through Wednesday, Aug. 21. During that time, one day will be spent visiting Rocky Mountain National Park, Estes Park, Colo., and should be enjoyable, Hooser said.

The tour has been officially named the Talent Tour trip to Colorado and is sponsored by the Producers Grain Corporation. It is in cooperation with the Extension Service and serves two purposes: to recognize the outstanding work being done by 4-H Club members and to interest this group of young agricultural leaders in cooperative activities, Hooser said.

Hooser was elected as a chaperone for this trip, but due to illness in his family, he has asked divine public necessity that the rules requiring the passage of said ordinance on three separate meetings of the Council be suspended and that said Ordinance become effective immediately upon its passage and publication, and it is so ordered.

Returned Bands Help Game and Fish Commission To Trace Dove Migration

Hunter knows that doves migrate after the first of the season. Fish Commission for a number of years have been tracing this migration. The assistance of sportsmen and other interested parties has been invaluable in the movement of the birds. Just been issued by the Wildlife Restoration Commission.

The same year at Mexico City. A number of doves banded by biologist W. H. Kiel, near Edinburg, in the valley, in 1955, were killed in Louisiana in 1956.

Other states also participate in the banding program. Bands have been returned showing that 44 birds banded in Louisiana were killed in Texas.

Fourteen birds were bagged that had flown to Texas from Missouri; 10 from Nebraska and 9 from S. Dakota, and 7 from Oklahoma. One dove banded in Massachusetts also was killed in Texas.

The director made a plea for persons killing banded doves to send the hands to the Commission for checking. "If we can have the full cooperation of the Sportsmen it will enable us to do a much better job in our studies," the Director said. "In this way we also will be able to work out a better program to provide hunting with assurance of a harvest for the sportsmen."

The public is reminded that the City Trash Collectors are not required to pick up garbage. Their primary duty is to pick up unburnable trash, such as bottles, cans, and ashes—BUT ONLY if placed in trash barrels or other suitable containers.

It remains the responsibility of the individual to dispose of garbage and trash which cannot be burned. Every citizen should at all times keep his premises and adjacent alley areas free from trash which will interfere with maintenance of the alleys by the motor grader. New Welfare Program Starts Soon

The load being carried by welfare agencies, both public and local, will be eased somewhat over the state beginning Sept. 1. The State of Texas is assuming responsibility on that date for financial aid to totally and permanently disabled persons. This came about last year when voters approved a constitutional amendment.

It is presumed that the new arrangement will ease somewhat the demand upon local funds in all counties. These funds can be used elsewhere in the public interest:

Complete information pertaining to qualifications have been sent to the personnel of the State Department of Public Welfare. The department's field workers are charged with determining eligibility of all applicants. Complete and permanent invalids or persons so completely deranged that they require continuous oversight to keep from harming themselves are eligible to start receiving the small monthly checks.

The constitution places a ceiling of one and one-half million dollars per year on state appropriations for the program. The federal government grants additional funds for the new welfare program.

Those persons who are helpless and have no relatives able to support them will be a determining factor in establishing eligibility. The law defines "responsible relatives" as spouses, children, parents, step-children, step-parents, brothers and sisters. The field workers of the department will determine the resources of relatives of all persons who apply for aid.

Neither the State Department of Public Welfare nor anyone else knows whether the amount appropriated will be enough to provide decent support for all those who qualify under terms of the amendment. It probably will be increased by subsequent legislation if the demand goes above the one and one-half million dollar figure. This has happened to the maximum appropriation for old age assistance.

Time alone will tell the full story of the new welfare program as it affects the citizens of this state. Whether more funds should be appropriated or not, the equity of the program, as balanced to other welfare categories, is undebatable.

Help Build Ghost Towns

"There are, according to the 'Progress Report of the Pikes Peak Region,' official publication of the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce, six sample directions for producing ghost towns.

"Proved by experience are these methods:

"1. Tell everyone you meet that you never buy anything at home; the merchants are a bunch of crooks, robbers and cheats.

"2. Belittle all efforts for community betterment—the people trying to do these things are secretly making a lot of money, want to 'run things' and their way of doing things is all wrong anyway.

"3. Never waste money by advertising or waste time trying to attract trade to the town—nobody reads the ads, there is never anything in the paper, it's always late, and why should anyone want to come to town—it's a dead place.

"4. Turn down all appeals for contributions; and do it in a nasty way so you won't be bothered again, because the money collected is eventually stolen by some 'higher-ups' anyway.

"5. Refuse to serve on all committees, have nothing to do with civic organizations—the chamber of commerce never does anything and it run by a bunch of dim-wits who want only to get their names before the public. All the city officials are in office to get a share of the graft.

"6. Knock the town, knock its industries, knock the schools and churches, keep repeating the town is going to the dogs, things are better other places, to invest in such a dead place would be the height of foolishness—and keep on knocking like a drunken woodpecker." —Gaines County News

Writ of Abandonment

It is now high time, we should say, for the distinguished jurists of the US Supreme Court to hang up their robes and go home for the summer—at least.

They have concluded a series of stunning late-season decisions that have disarmed the nation's defense against internal Communism with a favorite gesture of old-time vaudeville—a flag finish. But, unfortunately—and consistent with the Jencks case ruling that crippled the FBI, the Watkins case that clipped the wings of Congressional investigators and the Smith Act decision freeing five convicted Communists and ordering retrial for nine others—the finale of this inglorious session involved a flourish, not of the good old Stars and Strips, but of Japan's Rising Sun!

In an 8-0 decision, with Justice Douglas absent, the High Court reversed the ruling of US District Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy in an issue that may yet bring some reversals in US foreign policy. This was of course the case of Army Specialist William Girard, charged with manslaughter while on duty on a US firing range in Japan, and whom Judge McGarraghy had ruled must be tried by US Army court-martial—despite the desire of Secretary of State Dulles and Secretary of Defense Wilson and the order of President Eisenhower that he be turned over to Japanese civil courts.

It was the view of the Supreme Court that "no constitutional or statutory barrier" prevailed against the Executive authority since the Status of Forces agreement with Japan was made subsequent to the security treaty signed with Japan on September 8, 1951 and ratified by the Senate the following March. In approving the treaty, the Senate (apparently) was held to have endorsed whatever agreements were contemplated under it—even to an published by the Army only last January.

The term "official duty," says this weaseling document, "is meant to apply only to acts which are required to be done as a function of those duties which the individuals are performing."

The satisfaction of Japan was made known to us with incredible speed following the decision. Justice Yuza Kawachi who will try Girard in the Baebashi District Court in Tokyo beginning August 26th, said the ruling was just what he expected, "very good." Sundry American officials have repeated their smug assurances of the fair treatment Girard will receive at the hands of a jury-less Japanese Court.

Defense Secretary Wilson said he was "glad" the Girard affair had been settled. As if it had! —The Graham Leader

Senator Yarborough Reports

Move Starts in Senate To Lower Income Taxes; Session Ends Soon

Dear Fellow Texans: Last Friday we started the ball rolling on a question near to all our hearts—a tax cut. And this time I think we are going to get one for all the people. In a speech on the Senate floor I pointed out that we have had one tax cut under this administration. But 73 per cent of this cut went to the corporations and 18 per cent to the people in the higher tax brackets. That left 9 per cent of the tax cut for 80 per cent of the population, the people in the lower income tax brackets. That may be the Republican way of doing things, but that is not the kind of legislation you people sent me up here to work for. As I said on the floor of the Senate, the burden of taxation bears down the hardest on the little man, of modest earnings. His taxes are deducted from wages; he never gets his hands on the money. He has no tax write-offs, fast or slow. The nation needs a tax cut and one for the people this time. I proposed in the Senate that we cut taxes by raising the deduction for personal incomes from $600 to $800 per year for every person. I helped pass the law for lower FHA down payments and helped force the administration to put the law into effect. The above list contains only a few of the issues. Many others—such as the weather modification bill to provide relief from disastrous storms, truck laws and aid and protection for the shrimp boats—have received our work and attention. I think you will agree my first 100 days have been busy. We have accomplished much, but much remains to be done. This session of Congress is drawing to a close. Another two or three weeks remain. During that time much legislation will be considered. This is the time to redouble our efforts and our guard, because in the hustle of the final days, many things can happen that could affect the pocketbook and the way of life for every one of us. Keep your letters coming to me. I'm 1800 miles away from home and without your letters I wouldn't know your needs and wishes. I am fighting to force the administration to promise to curtail foreign oil imports which were hurting.

I am working to get postal pay increases and pay raises for all other present and retired federal employees and have had an integral part in bringing them out of the committees.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 5, 1957

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 3 proposing an amendment to the Constitution of Texas adding a section to be known as Section 49-c of Article III, providing for the issuance and sale of bonds of the State of Texas to create the Texas Water Development Fund to provide financial assistance to certain political subdivisions or bodies politic and corporate of the State of Texas in the conservation and development of the water resources of the State; providing for the payment of such bonds; creating an agency to administer said Funds and to perform other duties prescribed by law; limiting the period during which financial assistance may be granted; and providing for the calling of an election and the publication and issuance of the proclamation therefor.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article II of the Constitution of Texas be amended by adding a new section thereto to be known as Section 49-c, as follows:

"Section 49-c. There is hereby created as an agency of the State of Texas the Texas Water Development Board to exercise such powers as necessary under this provision together with such other duties and restrictions as may be prescribed by law. The qualifications, compensation, and number of members of said Board shall be determined by law. They shall be appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate in the manner and for such terms as may be prescribed by law.

"The Texas Water Development Board shall have the authority to provide for, issue and sell general obligation bonds of the State of Texas in an amount not to exceed ($100,000,000). The Legislature of Texas, upon two-thirds (2/3) vote of the elected Members of each House, may authorize the Board to issue additional bonds in an amount not exceeding One Hundred Million Dollars ($100,000,000). The bonds authorized herein or permitted to be authorized by the Legislature shall be called 'Texas Water Development Bonds,' shall be executed in such form, denominations and upon such terms as may be prescribed by law, provided, however, that the bonds shall not bear more than four per cent (4%) interest per annum; they may be issued in such installments as the Board finds feasible and practical in accomplishing the purpose set forth herein.

"All monies received from the sale of State bonds shall be deposited in a fund hereby created in the State Treasury to be known as the Texas Water Development Fund to be administered (without further appropriation) by the Texas Water Development Board in such manner as prescribed by law.

"Such fund shall be used only for the purpose of aiding or making funds available upon such terms and conditions as the Legislature may prescribe, to the various political subdivisions or bodies politic and corporate of the State of Texas including river authorities, conservation and reclamation districts and districts created or organized or authorized under Article XVI, Section 59 or Article III, Section 52, of this Constitution, interstate compact commissions to which the State of Texas is a party and municipal corporations, in the conservation and development of the water resources of this State, including the control, storing and preservation of its storm and flood waters and the waters of its rivers and streams, for all useful and lawful purposes by the acquisition, improvement, extension, or construction of dams, reservoirs and other water storage projects, including any system necessary for the transportation of water from storage to points of treatment and/or distribution, including facilities for transporting water therefrom to wholesale purchasers, or for any one or more of such purposes or methods.

"Any or all financial assistance as provided herein shall be repaid with interest upon such terms, conditions and manner of repayment as may be provided by law.

"While any of the bonds authorized by this provision or while any of the bonds that may be authorized by the Legislature under this provision, or any interest on any of such bonds, is outstanding and unpaid, there is hereby appropriated out of the first moneys coming into the Treasury in each fiscal year, not otherwise appropriated by this Constitution, an amount which is sufficient to pay the principal and interest on such bonds that mature or become due during such fiscal year, less the amount in the sinking fund at the close of the prior fiscal year.

"The Legislature may provide for the investment of moneys available in the Texas Water Development Fund, and the interest and sinking funds established for the payment of bonds issued by the Texas Water Development Board. Income from such investment shall be used for the purposes prescribed by the Legislature. The Legislature may also make appropriations from the General Revenue Fund for paying administrative expenses of the Board.

"From the moneys received by the Texas Water Development Board as repayment of principal for financial assistance or as interest thereon, there shall be deposited in the interest and sinking fund for the bonds authorized by this Section sufficient moneys to pay the interest and principal to become due during the ensuing year and sufficient to establish and maintain a reserve in said fund equal to the average annual principal and interest requirements on all outstanding bonds issued under this Section. If any year prior to December 31, 1982 moneys are received in excess of the foregoing requirements then such excess shall be deposited to the Texas Water Development Fund, and may be used for administrative expenses of the Board and for the same purposes and upon the same terms and conditions prescribed for the proceeds derived from the sale of such State bonds. No grant of financial assistance shall be made under the provisions of this Section after December 31, 1982, and all moneys thereafter received as repayment of principal for financial assistance or as interest thereon shall be deposited in the interest and sinking fund for the State bonds; except that such amount as may be required to meet the administrative expenses of the Board may be annually set aside; and provided, that after all State bonds have been fully paid with interest, or after there are no deposits in the interest and sinking fund sufficient moneys to pay all future maturities of principal and interest, additional moneys so received shall be deposited to the General Revenue Fund.

"All bonds issued hereunder shall after approval by the Attorney General, registration by the Comptroller of Public Accounts of the State of Texas, and delivery to the purchasers, be incontestable and shall constitute general obligations of the State of Texas under the Constitution of Texas.

"Should the Legislature enact enabling laws in anticipation of the adoption of this amendment, such acts shall not be void by reason of their anticipatory nature."

Sec. 2. The foregoing amendment to the Constitution shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of the State at an election to be held on the 5th day of November, 1957, same being the 1st Tuesday after the 1st Monday in said November, 1957, at which election each ballot shall have printed thereon, the following words:

"FOR the amendment to the Constitution of Texas adding a new section to be known as Section 49-c of Article III, authorizing the issuance and sale of Two Hundred Million Dollars ($200,000,000) in bonds by the State of Texas to create the Texas Water Development Fund to provide financial assistance to certain political subdivisions or bodies politic and corporate of the State of Texas in the conservation and development of the water resources of the State."

"AGAINST the amendment to the Constitution of Texas adding a new section to be known as Section 49-c of Article III, authorizing the issuance and sale of Two Hundred Million Dollars ($200,000,000) in bonds by the State of Texas to create the Texas Water Development Fund to provide fi-financial assistance to certain political subdivisions or bodies politic and corporate of the State of Texas in the conservation and development of the water resources of the State.

Sec. 3. The Governor of the State of Texas shall issue the necessary proclamation for said election and have the same published as required by the Constitution and laws of this State. The expense of publication and election for such amendment shall be paid out of the proper appropriation made by law.

HALL COUNTY RECEIVES $2,465.91 FROM STATE ROAD FUND SURPLUS

Hall County will receive $2,465.91 from the State of Texas as part of the surplus that was left after all payments had been made on a road bond indebtedness for this county, Judge Tracy Davis announced last week.

An order by the Commissioners Court last week requested the State Board of County and District Road Indebtedness, Austin, to return the $2,465.91 to Hall County. This sum will be used for construction and improvement of lateral roads in all precincts, Judge Davis said.

A number of years ago the state took over part of the debts that counties had incurred in building paved roads, Judge Davis explained. Part of the debt was for the county to pay, and the state's part of the debt is paid each year by money acquired through the state gasoline tax. If there is a surplus in this fund, the money is used to pay off the county's part of the debt, he continued. This year, after all debts were paid, there was still a surplus in the fund for this county.

Some years there is not enough money in the fund to meet the payments, Judge Davis continued. About three years ago, this county had to pay over $1,000. Last year Hall County received $1,563.15.

"A better location for the road has been found as a result of surveys," he added. "The road will be straightened out and the area served in a better manner. If you have trouble getting right-of-way—let me know. I'll then recommend that this money be placed somewhere else in my district."
