Water Confirmation Election Carries in All of Area Cities

Memphis Votes For, Against

Cities of the Salt Fork area voted overwhelmingly for confirmation of the Green Municipal and Industrial Water Authority in elections held last week, according to C. L. Hedley, secretary of the authority.

In Memphis, the voting was split with only 141 votes being cast. However, all of the Memphis voters were in favor of the confirmation.

The first step toward construction of a dam on the Salt Fork of Red River will make possible a study of the dam site, quantity of water and all other factors. It is found feasible to construct a dam at the location, the dam would be the voting of the bonds for the construction of the dam. The confirmation authority does not bind any district to vote bonds for construction.

One of the most important features of the confirmation election was that it was possible to hold the election for the area until time as the studies of the dam are completed. A considerable study has already been made of the proposed dam and a great deal more is needed to know if the dam is feasible. Studies, up to the year, were hampered by drought conditions.

Two of the seven towns elections was there any opposition to the authority. At Paducah the count was 182 for and 185 against; Clarendon had 185 for and 2 against; Hedley had 185 for and 2 against.

In most of the cities the dam, as the figures show, overwhelmingly in favor of the dam.

Annual County Picnic Will Be Held Sept. 15

The third annual Hall County Picnic will be held at the Memphis City Park, Sunday, Sept. 15, Ottie Jones, president of the picnic organization, said this week.

Jones stressed that the picnic is not to be confused with an Old Settlers affair. Every person now living in the county and all ex-Hall County residents are cordially invited to attend.

Cards have been mailed to all ex-Hall Countians whose addresses are known," Jones stated. "However, there are a lot of persons whose addresses we do not have. There are plenty of stamped, printed post cards available at The Democrat office for anyone who would like to send them to a former resident."

From 3,000 to 5,000 persons are expected to be present this year for the annual affair.

All local persons were urged to attend the affair and bring ample food in order that visitors from afar can be fed. Plenty of ice water will be furnished.

The organization is also making plans to prepare several long tables on which the food can be spread, but they stated that local persons could assist greatly by bringing card tables.

"There also will be a need for folding chairs, in addition to the ones that we can furnish," Jones added.

Agricultural Picture

It is not necessary to tell you that the agricultural picture is still very dark. Why the Department of Agriculture has not undertaken to relieve the situation, in view of the continuing rise in the cost of living, is a mystery to me. You give some idea of the situation when you learn that the farmer has taken on an economic scale since 1952, we have to examine the information furnished by the Department of Agriculture to find out that in 1952, 36 cwt of grain sorghum would buy a two-row tractor at $253. In 1953, it takes 172 cwt at $1.70 in the same cultivator, and in 1954, it takes almost twice the amount of grain sorghum today to buy a cultivator that it did in 1952, 66 cwt of cattle at $1.40 would buy a power-take-off tractor at $1,460. In 1957, 104 cwt at $16 for the sorghum, which now lists for $1.38, or 38 cwt more in 1957 than required in 1952. Let us hope and pray the powers that be will awaken to the situation and all is lost.

What for Alaska and Hawaii? People have asked, "What is the Alaska-Hawaii bill?" The answer is "The forces advocating the admission of Hawaii and Alaska as the 49th and 50th states in this country have not relaxed their efforts. They have been vigorously prosecuted during this session of the Congress and will, no doubt, continue to be so prosecuted in the future. These people are sincere in their desire to have the two territories granted the same status of full statehood. May that, although I have the profound respect for them, I continue to disagree with all they seek. I have pointed on numerous occasions in my newsletters and will not stop you further at this time in my argument on the subject. I did want to point out that I am interested in these matters and they are both very much bill concerning Alaskan statehood was passed by the Congress and sent to the House of Representatives; however, no action taken on the bill during this session because the proponents felt their chances of passage were much better in 1958, another year. The proponents of statehood felt their chances of success would be enhanced if they waited until 1958. They have not pressed their case of their bill the Congress but will no doubt ask that one of the first matters of business when Congress convenes in 1958.

territories feel that the action of the proponents in this particular case points up one of our best arguments. It shows very clearly that so many people consider this strictly on a political basis. We have discussed this at length many times and have pointed out that the history of this country will reflect that the admission of many states in the past has been a matter of political expediency, and the determining factor was something political, such as control of the House or the Senate, or the admission of states as slave states or free states.

We have not criticized the admission of these territories simply for the purpose of obstructing statehood. We have tried to approach the problem on a sound basis and have introduced legislation to effectuate the result sought by these territories, but on a different basis than that of politics alone. A number of us have recently introduced H. J. Res. 443 proposing an amendment to the Constitution with respect to the admission of new states as sovereign states of the United States. This proposed amendment would provide that whenever two-thirds of both Houses or two-thirds of the several states should propose that a new state be admitted to the Union; that in either case, the proposal by the convention, if ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states or by conventions in three-fourths thereof as the Congress might direct, would result in the said territory becoming a state.

Incidentally, the proposed amendment has a provision that would protect the right of Texas to divide itself into five states should it so desire. Certainly, none of us Texans believe this would ever happen, but we felt we should protect any rights which we had.

It has been our feeling that the question of whether or not new states are to be added to the Union should be a decision to be made by the states themselves rather than by the Congress.

What's Your Idea of Heaven?

The other morning I took the children by a bakery that is located in our part of town. The little boy went in to make the purchase. When he returned to the car he sat down with a satisfied look on his face and said, "Dad, it's just like heaven in there. It smells so good and it's air conditioned, too."

Provisions of New Egg Law Explained

The Egg Law, just recently passed by the Texas legislature, will have a widespread impact on Texas citizens. It will affect egg producers, dealers, retailers, brokers, wholesalers and processors as well as consumers.

But just what does this law do? How will it affect those people just listed? F. Z. Beanblossom, extension poultry marketing specialist, lists a few of the law's highlights.

(1) It provides for the establishment of standards of size and quality of eggs. The standards of quality as determined by candling and conditions of shell, the grades and standards of size as determined by weighing shall be the same as the standards and grades prescribed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for shell eggs.

(2) The law provides for proper grading and labeling. The eggs are inspected primarily at retail outlets and labeled according to grade, which includes size and quality. Unless the grading is under USDA supervision, it shall be unlawful to use the prefix "U. S." on grades and weight classes.

(3) Provides for licensing of egg retailers, dealers, wholesalers, processors and brokers. There is no licensing fee to any retailer as defined by law—that is, any person selling or offering for sale, eggs to consumers only in this state. All retailers must have a license even though there is no fee.

(4) Provides that the law will be self financing through the fees collected.

(5) Provides penalties for violations. Any person convicted of violating this act is subject to a fine. The license of a violator may be suspended for a period not to exceed 90 days.

(6) Gives exemption to producers selling eggs from their flocks unless a grade is claimed. But if they wish to claim a grade, then their eggs must meet the standards specified by the law.

(7) It establishes an Egg Marketing Advisory Board to be appointed by the governor. This board will be composed of the Commissioner of Agriculture, who will be chairman, and nine other members, all from Texas, who will serve six year terms.

Mesquite Wood Has Economical Value as Roughage

Mesquite wood ground into a meal is a source of bulk in rations for cattle when other roughages are scarce and relatively high in price.

Yearling steers fed a ration containing 7.2 pounds of ground mesquite wood gained 2.2 pounds per head daily in feeding tests at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Spur, said P. T. Marion, station superintendent. Similar steers fed cottonseed hulls instead of mesquite meal gained 2.29 pounds daily. The feeding period was 140 days.

In a more recent test lasting 119 days yearling steers fed a ration containing 12.23 pounds of ground mesquite wood per head daily gained an average of 2.54 pounds daily, compared with 2.71 pounds gained daily by steers fed a silage ration, he added.

The steers fed the mesquite meal made a higher net profit on the basis of $10 per ton for ground mesquite and $18 per ton for cottonseed hulls than those fed the cottonseed hull ration.

A chemical analysis shows that mesquite meal has a higher protein, fiber and calcium content than cottonseed hulls, but a slightly lower fat and carbohydrate content.

Carotene (Vitamin A) also is in the mesquite meal, but this essential element is not present or is very low in quantity in many dry roughages.

Mesquite to be used should be green stems and branches 1 to 3 inches in diameter, and should be allowed to cure for 5 to 7 days before grinding. Curing will make grinding easier and will lower the moisture content, eliminating molding after grinding.

The wood apparently may be harvested at any time of the year, but it usually has the highest nutritive value in the spring before leaf development begins.

Crop Reporting Board Forecasts Less Cotton

The Crop Reporting Board has forecast a 1957 cotton crop of 11,897,000 bales—11 per cent less than last year's crop of 13,310,000 bales and compares with the 1946-55 average of 13,669,000.

Handicapped by the unfavorable early season weather, crops made an exceptionally good response to favorable late June and July weather. However, lateness of the crop in northern areas of Central Belt, Oklahoma and Northwest Texas, which was only partially overcome, remains the limiting factor.

The expected yield per acre for the U. S. of 416 pounds per acre is only one pound less than the 1955 record high and compares with the 1956-55 average of 300 pounds. Record-high yields are expected in Georgia, Texas, Arizona and California with better than average yields in other states.

Bro. and Mrs. Tom Posey and family of Amarillo were here visiting friends.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

Law and Belief

Our laws have their roots deep within our beliefs. And the laws shift as our beliefs change. Thus working backwards, you can find a people's deepest beliefs by discovering their notions of justice—about adults, children, nature, animals, and other things.

Until this century, the laws held children fully responsible for crime. Like adults, they faced trial and punishment—often prison or death. Today we seek mainly to reform child offenders, rather than to punish them.

Some primitive people hold inanimate things like stones and rivers guilty of offenses.

For centuries the laws held animals morally responsible for their acts, and therefore try-able in courts.

"And if an ox gore a man or woman to death," Exodus XXI says, "the ox shall be surely stoned."

Says Plato in "The Laws": "If a beast of burden or any other animal shall kill anyone, except while the animal is competing in the public games, the deceased's kinfolks shall prosecute it for murder."

Courts in the Middle Ages duly summoned animals to appear. As late as 1750, a French court tried a she-donkey and condemned her to death, but it later pardoned her because of "good character."

The philosophers Descartes and LaMettrie taught that animals were automata, highly complex machines without feelings.

As a result the laws came for a time to allow much cruelty to animals.

But in recent years, the laws have changed back again to protect animals from abuse. We have evidently changed our minds about the nature of animals.

Our beliefs about crime—what

Broiler Production Near Saturation Point UT Says

Although Texas ranked second nationally in 1956 broiler production, it appears the industry may have reached the point of near-saturation in the state, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research says.

"Any further increase in production would mean additional declines in prices," Research Associate Izumi Tanguchi writes in Texas Business Review. "This is unlikely because broiler producers would not be able to stand lower prices without suffering losses."

Texas broiler production climbed from 26 million chickens in 1949 to about 100 million in 1956. Gross income to broiler producers in Texas in 1956 reached $62,969,000. However, during the last quarter of 1956, the price of finished broilers in Texas fell to a low of 16.5 cents per pound.

"This price appears to be near the minimum that poultry producers will take and, should such a low price continue for any length of time, broiler producers are in for hard times," Tanguchi reports.

The oldest broiler producing area in the state is centered around Gonzales. However, that area has lost its leadership to East Texas in recent years. A third important area is centered around Waco.

Tanguchi sees the present situation in the Texas broiler industry as "an example of the competitive system in action."

"When prices were high and profits good, many new producers entered the broiler business," he points out. "Now with low prices, it is probable that the marginal producers will be forced out of business. The effect will be to stabilize prices."

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Turner and son of Dumas were here Sunday and Monday.

The average American uses more than 26 pounds of cotton per year. The world's average is 3.4 pounds.

Car Inspection For New Year Started Sept. 1

Inspection time has come again for more than 4,000,000 automobile and truck owners in Texas. The inspection period has been lengthened this year under a provision of a state law setting Sept. 1, 1957, until April 15, 1958, as the time in which all vehicles must be checked for mechanical defects.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, in announcing the opening of the inspection period, recommended that every owner have his cars and trucks inspected at the beginning of the period. This, he said, will enable vehicle owners to obtain inspection stickers before the holidays and before the last minute "log jam" at inspection stations.

Garrison said that more than 4,200 licensed inspection stations in the state would have stickers on hand by the starting date and would be equipped to check vehicles without delay.

The Farmer Has Been Paying For The Stable Dollar

All of us here in Hall County know full well what has been happening to the ratio between farm prices and the prices farmers have had to pay during the last few years. Only recently did an official high in administration circles finally admit that the farmers have been on the losing end.

This admission came to light in an excerpt from testimony of William Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, before the House Banking and Currency Committee and was reported in the Aug. 16 issue of U. S. News and World Report.

The answers, concerning the farm picture, came out when Rep. J. Floyd Breeding (Dem., Kansas) asked Mr. Martin some questions in regard to agriculture. Rep. Breeding stated: "In my area of the United States, a few years ago, when wheat was $2.25 a bushel, machinery was selling for—well for instance, a combine was selling for $2,500 at that time. Today wheat is less than $2 a bushel and that combine is around $6,000 or $6,500. That is true of trucks, tractors, cars and everything else. The economy of agriculture in my area has stopped. You can take an average-size farm, with the number of acres that you are allowed to produce from, with the average production at the price today, and there is no way in which you can show a profit. Do you have any solution in your mind as to what you could do to remedy this situation?"

Mr. Martin: "Well, Mr. Breeding, I understand the problem perfectly, and I think that there is no one that benefits more by the struggle against inflation in the last few years than the farmer. The problem of the farmer has not been credit, it has been income, as I see it, and it has been the fact that the cost of his machinery and equipment has been skyrocketing, whereas he has been struggling with a supply-and-demand position in his own product, which has not permitted any offsetting of this increase in his machinery and equipment. Now certainly money and credit policy can't solve the supply-and-demand problem of the farmer. That is not within our purview. But we can certainly do what we can to contribute to the purchasing power of the dollar he takes in, by seeing that the big bulk of his expenses are kept in line.

"Now, the greatest shame to me and the thing that worried me most, starting in 1955, was we kept stability in the dollar from 1953 on to the early part of 1956 by a decline in farm prices, which was being offset in the picture by a rise in manufactured prices. In other words, the stability was not a balanced stability; it was farm products going down and manufactured products going up, and the net result being stability."

With these words, the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board finally admitted something which the farmers have known for several years. The rest of the country has been enjoying prosperity at the expense of the farmers. We are not opposed to prosperity; we only want prosperity on an overall level so that the fair share of it will go to the farmers of this area. Eastern labor and management have achieved record high salaries and profits only at the expense of the farm segment. We would not be opposed to lower cotton prices if lower tractor prices came fourth also; but it is very difficult for a 50 pound boy to enjoy playing seesaw with a 100 pound boy.

Voters in Wisconsin seemed to be having the same trouble for last week, in a special election to fill the seat left vacant in the Senate by the death of Joseph McCarthy, they elected Democrat William Proxmire. This is the first Democrat Senator elected from that state since 1932. In the balloting, Proxmire defeated former Gov. Walter Kohler, an Eisenhower Republican, by a whopping 116,000-vote majority. So it seems that the hard times of farmers and small business men is not limited to the Panhandle of Texas.

Schools—Children—and Accidents

This week schools all over the county began and children once more, with bowed heads, are returning to classrooms. Some of these children will probably not live to become grown. They will be killed in traffic "accidents."

Only you can help these children by driving more carefully. Slow speeds are a must when driving near a school yard as well as stopping behind every school bus, before passing.

Let's go slow and let them grow!

WHAT EVERY MOTHER KNOWS

Press Paragraphs— QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Texas Senators From a variety of sources, TEC (The Country Editor, H. M. Baggarly) has been receiving reports on Texas' two U. S. Senators.

Put together, these reports all add up to the same thing.

Persons watching them work are impressed with their unlimited energy. They tell TEC that a number of Senators tend to "take it easy." Some are elderly and curtail their strength due to doctor's orders. There are others who just don't believe in a hurry and tend to work by the clock.

But not so with Lyndon Johnson and Ralph Yarborough. They have been referred to by Washington writers as "power houses." Their energy seems to be inexhaustible despite Johnson's heart attack.

Washington has also been amazed by the phenomenal prestige gained by Yarborough during his brief tenure there. Ordinarily it has taken a junior senator many months and even years to get into the swing of things, to learn his way around.

Yet Yarborough during his first 100 days in Washington has gained more stature than some senators ever gain.

This is attributed to two things. First, Yarborough's reputation reached Washington long before his arrival there. Official Washington had followed with interest his campaigns for governor of Texas. It was verzed on the issues. And Democratic Washington applauded when he won the Senatorial election. They realized that he would be a positive and not just a neutral addition to the Democratic delegation. They knew they could count on his being a full-time Democrat and not a political hybrid. They knew his philosophy was Democratic, that he wasn't a Republican running for office on the Democratic ticket.

Since his arrival there, he has received invitations from Democratic organizations from coast to coast inviting him to speak. He has had to decline most all these invitations except those in the immediate Washington area.

Yarborough didn't go to Washington with the attitude that single-handed he was going to "clean up" the place.

Others have come to Washington with this attitude. Soon they found a fence built around themselves, they were ignored and left to wither on the vine.

And secondly, Lyndon Johnson has helped Yarborough, primarily by giving him some important committee assignments. Johnson accepted Yarborough as the will of the people.

Their association has been quite healthy. Yarborough has not been a rubber stamp for Johnson, neither has he used such unhappy memories as the 1956 Fort Worth party convention to be spiteful.

An examination of Yarborough's voting record shows that he has helped Johnson when he thought Johnson was in the right and has voted against Johnson when he felt he was in the wrong.

We believe the two Senators are sincerely trying to work together for the good of Texas. When they differ, we believe there is honesty on both sides. And we believe their attitudes to be for their mutual political good. Together, they give Texas sane, moderate representation for ALL the people of Texas.

There isn't a segment of our state's population that is without an attentive ear in the Senate. That is as it should be.

Elton L. Miller, publisher of The White Rocker in suburban Dallas, has just returned from Washington. He writes:

"When we landed in the nation's capital, Senator Yarborough was on the floor of the Senate. We passed pleasantries with members of his staff and obtained tickets to the gallery.

"First thing we knew, he was sitting in Vice-President Nixon's chair, presiding over body where Senator Lyndon Johnson was arguing with Senators Knowland and Morse over phases of the so-called Civil Rights bill.

"The following day, we had lunch with Senator and Mrs. Yarborough in the Senate dining room where the great and near-great of that august body were gathered for food . . .

"I might report to his Texas friends that Ralph and Opal are both well and working hard for the people of Texas. She spends much time at the capital, reading his personal mail and referring its contents to the Senator. The Senator is working 16 hours a day most of the time and often times has no weekends off.

"Any illusion I might have had that a Senator has a lot of time on his hands has vanished. There are, of course, some Senators who have been there a long, long time who take it easy. It is not so with the two Texans.

—Tulia Herald

The Right to Work . . . Is a Civil Right, Too

In the current edition of "The International Teamster," a slick monthly magazine published by the Teamsters Union and edited, apparently for his own glorification, by ill-reputed Teamster president Dave Beck, an editorial signed by Beck himself calls for Union pressure to defeat proposed federal "right to work" laws.

This is hardly surprising since Big Labor has steadfastly opposed all right-to-work laws which give individual workers freedom of choice in regard to joining or refusing to join labor unions.

But Beck, condemning the federal right-to-work law, in one breath; upholds proposed Federal civil rights legislation in the next . . . and is piously indignant because the two are currently tied together in bills now before Congress.

We fail to see the difference. We believe in the principle of the proposed civil rights legislation . . . that now man's civil rights should be abridged because of his race or color of his skin . . . but we also believe that no man's right to work should be abridged because he does not choose to join a labor union.

Compulsory union membership is as much an abridgement of individual freedom as compulsory segregation.

MR. AND MRS. BILLY A. COMBS

Miss Tanya Fletcher and Billy A. Combs United in Marriage at Methodist Church

In a double-ring ceremony solemnized at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Aug. 28, in the First Methodist Church, Miss Tanya Kay Fletcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester S. Grimes, 1103 Robertson, became the bride of Billy Allen Combs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel A. Combs, 613 South Seventh.

Rev. David W. Binkley, pastor, read the marriage service before a background of greenery and candelabra bearing white tapers; flanked by floor baskets of white gladioli and palm trees. Pews were marked with white satin bows.

Music was provided by Miss Betty Lemons, organist, and George Archer, vocalist. Pre-nuptial selections included "Nocturne" by Mendelssohn, "Melody" by Mendelssohn, "Romance" by Rubenstein, and "I Love Thee" by Grieg. Miss Ltmons also accompanied Mr. Archer as he sang "With This Ring I Thee Wed" and "Because" and played the traditional wedding marches for the processional and recessional.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz-length gown of white embroidered nylon organdy over taffeta, fashioned with a pointed bodice and bouffant skirt. The sabrina neckline and short sleeves were outlined with appliqued embroidered organdy motifs accented with iridescent sequins.

Her elbow length veil of nylon tulle fell from a headpiece of tulle ruffles and embroidered motifs encrusted with sequins and seed pearls. She wore matching gauntlets and carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis centered with a white orchid and accented with pink leaves and white satin streamers.

Miss Joan Foxhall, maid of honor, was attired in a waltz-length dress of pink organdy over taffeta designed with a fitted bodice, full gathered skirt and brief puffed sleeves. The deep square neckline was accented with wide tucks and a pink velvet bow with streamers falling to the hemline in the back.

Miss Jo Ann Odom was bridesmaid. She wore a gown identical to that of the maid of honor. They both wore headbands of horsehair braid trimmed with white flowers and starched veiling, and white wrist-length gloves. Their cascade bouquets were of white carnations.

Miss Glenda Brewer of Wellington and Miss Lynda Norman of Lubbock, cousins of the bridegroom, were candlelighters. They wore dresses identical to the bridesmaid with wristlets of white feathered carnations.

Little Miss Janet Norman of Lubbock, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Her white organdy frock as styled identical to the other attendants. She wore a headband of tulle ruffles and pink feathered carnations, and carried a nosegay of pink and white feathered carnations.

A. J. Welch of Fort Worth served his brother-in-law as best man, and groomsman was Harold Wayne Moore of Wellington, cousin of the bridegroom. Ushers were Phillip Patrick, Marvin Smith and Ronald Cawfield, all of Memphis.

Mrs. Grimes, mother of the bride, wore a silk peau de soie sheath of wedgewood blue with black accessories, and Mrs. Combs, the bridegroom's mother, wore a frock of champagne silk shantung. Both wore corsages of cymbum orchids.

For a short wedding trip to points in New Mexico, the bride chose for travel a grey silk and cotton sheath accented with black and white accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Around and About by Helen Combs

Tuesday the town was humming with activity... and no one need point out it was the opening day of school.

For first graders a new world outside the home began this week... as well as for the 20 kindergarten students enrolled in the class being taught by Mrs. H. R. Crawford.

Then, there's the college group who, too, are busy making preparation this week... some to go away from home for the first time and others for a continuation of study.

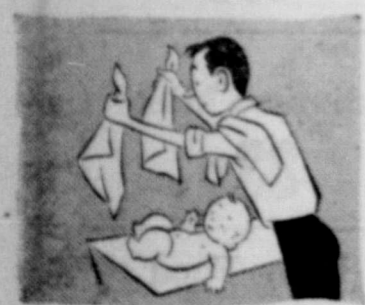

All in all, September and this week is the beginning of busy days ahead... and the need for added energy. To help acquire this needed energy September has been designated as "Better Breakfast Month."

After six years of research conducted by the College of Medicine at the State University of Iowa, the facts were established that a good breakfast is essential for maximum efficiency, both physical and mental.

Speaking of school reminds us of fall and thinking of fall reminds us of the new merchandise arriving daily at all the local stores.

About the time the merchandising campaign began, a plaque arrived at our desk, compliments of Universal Bookbindery, Inc., entitled "What is a Customer?"

What is a Customer? A customer is the most important person ever in this office... in person or by mail.

Why bother with three or more...

when just one gives coverage?

You can now get, in one insurance policy, protection against most of the risks you face in your home... and you may save money, too.

A customer is not a cold statistic... he is a flesh and blood human being with feelings and emotions like our own.

A customer is not someone to argue or match wits with. Nobody ever won an argument with a customer.

A customer is one who brings us his wants. It is our job to handle them profitably to him and to ourselves.

State Draft Quota For Oct. Is 338

The state quota for Texas draft boards in October calls for 338 men, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director said Wednesday.

The state's October call of 338 compares with a quota of 387 for September and 547 for August. The October call is the state's share of a national call for 7,000 men. The national call is 8,000 in September.

Colonel Schwartz said no men were scheduled to take pre-induction physical and mental examinations in September and October except possibly transfers from other states or "isolated special cases in Texas."

Local board quotas for the October induction and pre-induction examination are scheduled to be mailed by state Selective Service headquarters Thursday. September quotas were issued about a month ago.

The October quota will be filled with men who are at least 22 years old on Oct. 1, with the exception of volunteers or delinquents, who may be younger.

Social Security News

More than 100 thousand disabled workers have been notified that they received their first checks during August John R. Sanderson, Manager of the Social Security Office in Amarillo announced.

age of 63 years and 19 days.

Interment was in the Lakeview Cemetery with graveside services conducted by the Lakeview Masonic Lodge. Spicer Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Moreland was married to Eula Thorne on May 23, 1919, at Fort Worth. They moved to Hall County in 1929 and have lived here since that time.

He was a member of the Lakeview Baptist Church and the Lakeview Masonic Lodge, and was a veteran of World War I.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ernest Moreland of Lakeview; two sons, Floyd Moreland of Plainview and J. P. Moreland of Amarillo; three daughters, Mrs. Floy Anthony of Memphis, Mrs. Carroll Brown of Amarillo and Mrs. J. H. Murdock, Jr., of Albuquerque, N. M.; 10 grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Lonnie Lodge of Lakeview. One son, Tommy Moreland, preceded him in death on Dec. 18, 1944.

Active pall bearers were members of the Masonic Lodge of Lakeview.

Honorary pall bearers were Otho Gardenhire, Lloyd Robertson, Jim Gowdy, W. T. Wright, Troy Payne, Lee Anthony, H. H. Hartwell, J. P. Whitefield, Ott Devers, Pat Lewis and Glynn Verden.

County Grain Crop May Mean Million Dollars

Hall County farmers stand a good chance of receiving about a million dollars from their grain sorghum crop this fall, according to reports from area farmers.

Approximately 80,000 acres of county land is planted to grain sorghum this year, Lynn McKown, manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, stated.

The average yield is about 800 pounds per acre for this type of land which is planted to milize this year, McKown predicted.

At the support rate of $1.73 per hundred, less the cost of storage, the farmer will net about $32 per ton for his grain.

If the county has only 75,000 acres of grain, then this would mean $960,000 which the farmer will receive for their crop, he pointed out.

McKown also explained that there are loans available from the ASC office for the construction of on-the-farm storage for grains. He stated that these loans will cover 80 per cent of the cost of construction and must be repaid in four equal payments over a four-year period.

Questions & Answers For Veterans

Q. Under the Survivors' Benefits Act, does annual income have anything to do with the amount of money paid to dependent parents of veterans who died of service-connected causes?

A. Yes. If the annual income of one parent living alone is $1,750 or more, payments may not be made. The income ceiling for two parents living together is $2,400. Within the ceilings, monthly payments are based on the amount of annual income.

Q. I want to take flight training under the Korean GI Bill. What will be the rate of my monthly GI allowance?

A. VA will pay you a rate equal to 75 per cent of your school's established charge for non-veterans taking the same flight course.

Q. I am planning to take a four-year night course in law under the Korean GI Bill. Will VA consider this as full-time training in paying me my monthly GI allowance?

A. No. An accredited four-year night law course may not be considered as more than three quarters time training, for purposes of computing your GI allowance.

Q. Is it possible for a veteran to name the beneficiaries of his GI insurance policy in his last will and testament rather than by providing VA with a list of beneficiaries?

A. Yes. Beneficiaries may be designated by a duly probated last will and testament. But you can not change beneficiaries in this manner. A change must be placed on record with VA.

Q. If a veteran wants to appeal a VA decision involving some benefit, is there any time limit for filing his appeal?

A. Yes. A veteran must file his appeal within one year from the Soil Conservation News

The farms and ranches of the Hall County Soil Conservation District are the places that must produce the food and cover for wildlife in this area.

There are no two kinds of wildlife such as quail, doves, and rabbits that have the same requirements for living. All wildlife, however, must have a source of food, water and cover. To be most beneficial, food must be plentiful and close to cover that will furnish protection from weather and enemies. The most critical seasons for wildlife food is in the winter and early spring months.

Harvesting of milo in the District is about to begin. Farmers and ranchers are again urged to leave that last row or two of milo near windbreaks, fence rows, ditch banks, and odd areas. This small amount of grain left unharvested will help provide a food supply when all other sources of food are gone. It is well to remember that approximately 60 per cent of the wildlife die of starvation during the critical food seasons of winter and early spring, while hunters kill only about 10 per cent.

Additional information on the importance of food for wildlife may be obtained by contacting the local Soil Conservation office.
