Flu Weakens Squad During Practice

The Memphis Cyclone will journey to Quannah Friday night where they will meet the Indians in a conference tilt at 8 p. m.

Coach John Jones stated that several members of the squad had missed workouts this week due to flu but he expected all of the boys to be able to play Friday night.

"However, we will be in a weakened condition due to the flu and many of the boys missing the workouts," he stated.

Cotton Guesses Number 262 As Deadline for Entering Passes Sat.

Entries came in with a rush last Friday and Saturday in the Memphis Democrat Cotton Guessing Contest as readers hastened to beat the deadline.

A total of 131 persons entered the contest during the last three days to bring the total entries to 262. This is slightly less than the 314 who entered last year but more than the 222 who listed estimates in 1955.

One of these persons will receive a three-year subscription to the Democrat for his or her guess which is closest to the actual number of bales of Hall County cotton ginned during the season. The second place winner will be awarded a two-year subscription, and the third place guesser will receive a one-year subscription.

The winners of the contest will be decided on the basis of ginning figures for the county, tabulated by the Census Bureau of the U. S. Department of Commerce. This information will probably be released the latter part of next March.

Contestants who entered estimates during the closing days of the event are as follows:

COUNTY CONVENTION SELECTS ASC COMMITTEEMEN FOR YEAR

Local Firemen Win In Events At Waco Sunday

Memphis firemen placed first, second and fourth in a polo event and won second in the pumper race Sunday at Waco, Lloyd Ward, fire chief, announced this week.

Memphis lost to Rosenberg in the pumper race by 2.2 seconds. Rosenberg won the state championship in the event at the State Firemen's Convention held last June. The time it took the local group to get their equipment set up was 22 seconds while Rosenberg made the set up in 19.8 seconds.

R. A. Massey and O. A. Sturdevant were the members of the winning polo team while Kenneth Dale and Lloyd Ward made up the second place team. Pat Johnson and Johnny Hancock were on the team which placed fourth.

The events were held during Firemen's Sunday at the Heart of Texas Fair held in Waco. Olen Culberson, chairman of the State Firemen's Association, was on hand for the occasion.

Local firemen competed in the pumper race at Pampa recently during the regular meeting of the Panhandle Firemen's Association but lost in the race and were able to place only third in the polo event.

At the regular business meeting Monday night, Will Leslie was admitted to the group. Firemen also tested all of the hose on the Mack fire truck and found it in good condition.

538 County Pupils Given Polio Shots

The first series of polio shots have been completed with 538 students receiving the vaccine, Miss Mary Foreman, county superintendent, stated today.

Students from three schools in the county, Memphis, Estelline and Lakeview, received the shots. Students from the Turkey school received their shots late in the spring just before the closing of the school term.

Miss Foreman explained that less than 50 per cent of the students were vaccinated during this drive, but that they had no way of knowing how many had previously had polio shots.

The second round of shots will start on Oct. 14 and then in about seven months the third and final shot will be given. By starting early in the school term, the students will have received all three shots during the school term, Miss Foreman stated.

Cold Facts

A fascinating and concerted program, and one of world-wide scope, commenced on July 1 of this year. I speak of the International Geophysical Year which is a cooperative endeavor to expand man's knowledge of the earth by taking simultaneous observation of natural phenomena in all parts of the world. During the period from July 1, 1957, to December 31, 1958, scientists from 56 nations will study such topics as cosmic rays, geomagnetism, meteorology, ionospheric physics, gravity, seismology, glaciology, aurora and air flow, and others. The data from these observations will be pooled and the results made available to all participants.

Of all the useful and necessary information to be assimilated in the period, some of the most interesting will come from one of the least known parts of the earth—the Antarctic or the South Polar Region. This country's interests lie in several considerations of this region, among them being the establishment of future great circle air routes such as those now in operation over the Arctic Region, and the possible mineral deposits in the Antarctic. In this connection, a subcommittee of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, of which I am a member, recently heard some pertinent testimony by Admiral George J. Dufek, who has succeeded the late, famed explorer, Admiral Richard E. Byrd, as U. S. Antarctic Project Officer. He currently heads up a program called "Operation Deepfreeze" which began in 1955 with the establishment of two bases in the Antarctic at McMurdo Sound and Kainan Bay. The second phase of Operation Deepfreeze, the 1956 season, had as its objective the construction of two stations in the interior, one of which is at the geographic South Pole. The United States has established a total of seven stations on the Antarctic Continent to carry out observations during the International Geophysical Year.

Space will not permit a complete discussion of the interesting data presented by Admiral Dufek, but I thought you might be interested in some cold facts about the Antarctic as outlined by him. Do you know:

1. Antarctica is the fifth largest continent, embracing 5,100,000 square miles of territory and equaling in size the United States and Mexico together. Having an average altitude of 6,000 feet, it is the world's highest continent.

2. The coldest temperature ever recorded was -100.4 degrees F. at the U. S. South Pole Station last May 12. Formerly it was -93.6 degrees F. at Verkhoyansk (Siberia), in 1920.

3. Fifteen minerals of potential commercial value have already been found in the Antarctic. Although no uranium-bearing ore has yet been discovered, it is felt that because Antarctica is a shield area, such deposits do exist.

4. Due to the earth's centrifugal force, objects weigh more at the Poles than they do at the Equator. This means that 5,000 tons of cargo loaded on a ship in the vicinity of the Equator would actually weigh about 50,000 pounds more at the Poles.

5. There are no polar bears or land animals in the Antarctic. Killer whales and leonard seals are the big villains in waters surrounding Antarctica. As a result, penguins and other seal species find haven on the sea-ice.

6. The Antarctic contains 86 per cent of the world's glacial ice supply. It has been estimated that its melting would raise the surface of the oceans over one hundred feet and completely inundate the seaports of the world as we know them today.

7. Great square-shaped icebergs are sloughed from the ice shelves surrounding Antarctica. One of these tabular bergs, sighted by the icebreaker USS Glacier between the Antarctic Continent and New Zealand on Nov. 12, 1956, was 208 miles long and 60 miles wide, approximately the size of Connecticut.

8. An atmospheric condition known as "white out" is a frequent Antarctic occurrence and endangers both plane and trail operations. Aviators say it is like flying in a bowl of milk. Loss of horizon and shadows, which give perspective, is caused by reflected light.

9. In spite of its being a land of ice and snow, the Antarctic Continent is the home of a large, active volcano, 13,000 feet high Mount Erebus, which is located in the McMurdo Sound area.

10. The Antarctic Continent is theoretically located at the North Pole, since its south magnetic pole is attracted by the south pole of a magnet. It is a law of physics that like poles repel and unlike poles attract.

11. The intense cold and sterility of Antarctic air preserves food and materials almost indefinitely. For instance, corned beef, canned beans, and sugar cached by the Swedish explorer, Nordenskjöld, provided a most satisfactory meal for the British Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey Party 45 years later. The print on a magazine, too, was as readable as ever.

12. The Antarctic Seas, scientists contend, produce more food per acre than anywhere else in the world, on land or sea. Most of this is in the form of diatoms, microscopic plants on which small shrimps ("red Krill"—euphausia superba) feed. Some day in the future this source of food may be of great value to the human race.

Sen. Yarbrough New Chairman of Subcommittee

Senator Olin D. Johnson (D., S. C.) Chairman of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee, today announced the appointment of Senator Ralph Yarbrough (D., Texas) as Chairman of the Civil Service Subcommittee.

"Senator Yarbrough served the Committee with great distinction in the last session of the 85th Congress, during which he quickly earned the respect and admiration of all postal and classified employees. As Chairman of the Civil Service Subcommittee, he will have the able assistance of the extremely competent Junior Senator from Idaho, Mr. Church and the newly elected junior Senator from Wisconsin, Mr. Proxmire. The Republican members of the Subcommittee are Senators Martin of Pennsylvania and Morton of Kentucky.

"The Civil Service Subcommittee, during the 2nd session of the 85th Congress, will consider important legislation, such as, health insurance, improvements in the life insurance program, and a program to assure the promotion of employees on the basis of merit.

"In addition to his service as Chairman of the important Civil Service Subcommittee, Senator Yarbrough will continue as a member of the Federal Employees Compensation and Post Office Subcommittees.

"The Federal Employees Compensation Subcommittee will act as soon as Congress convenes to correct the injustice visited on Federal Employees by the President when he vetoed the modest and past-due pay increase bills overwhelmingly passed by Congress during the closing days of the session just ended."

Lots of people have great aims in life, but never pull the trigger.

'I Am Not Seeking Nomination,' Says Senator Johnson

The following statement was sent to all newspapers in Texas last week by U. S. Senator Lyndon B. Johnson:

"It is always difficult for me to take seriously speculation about possible candidates in an election campaign which is three years away. The difficulties are compounded when the speculation involves my attitude toward a position which I do not seek.

"There are some things about which I am certain.

"In 1960, the Democratic Party will hold its convention. There will be a wealth of candidates among which we can select our standard bearers. I do not know who the candidate will be, but I have every conviction a man could conceivably have that it will not be me.

"A presidential nomination is not something that is just handed out. It is determined by the Convention which selects among the candidates.

"I have made it absolutely clear both in public and in private that I do not seek the nomination. There are absolutely no reservations in my mind on that question. And I am not leaving the door open for any last minute changes in attitude.

"The people of Texas and the Democratic Party have accorded

Mrs. A. J. House, TFWC President, Speaks To Club Women Here Tuesday

Speaking on "Abundant Living Through Service," Mrs. A. J. House, president of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, told Memphis clubwomen that "a happy woman is one who serves, and that through the federated clubs, one has an opportunity to be of service."

MRS. A. J. HOUSE

Making her official visit to Memphis, Mrs. House spoke to Federated clubwomen of the city at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the First Christian Church.

Representatives from the five federated clubs of the city, and local district and state board members were present at the luncheon.

Places were laid for the following: Mmes. J. L. Barnes, Herb Curry, Jeanette Irons, Arthur Gidden, Theo. Swift, Robert Spie-

Mrs. M. L. Campbell Is Honoree On 78th Birthday

Mrs. Fred Nivens entertained recently to honor Mrs. M. L. Campbell who was celebrating her 78th birthday.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Perry Campbell and Linda, and Buck Campbell, all of Lakeview; Lonnie Campbell and son of Petersburg, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bob Nivens and family, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Nivens and family, Mrs. E. O. Wright and Eric, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nivens and Pat, and Mrs. Artie Morrison.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Stargel, Minister and Mrs. G. C. Sharp and Mr. and Mrs. Burl Smith attended the funeral services in Spearman Monday for Mrs. Ruth Knight Womble.

state, she requests that no corsages be presented to her but rather that the money be placed in a fund to buy something more lasting than flowers—a scholarship. Last year $800 was collected through the corsage fund which is called the "Living Corsage."

Mrs. House pointed out that there are 716 million young people in the world and 56 per cent of these live in the Orient where education is not available to many.

Also in keeping with the thought of promoting peace and goodwill through friendship, Mrs. House explained that $28,000 worth of bred heifers have been sent to Korea through the Texas Federation. This will provide milk for the many Korean orphans who have not tasted milk before.

A new department, Religions of the World, has been established this year, Mrs. House said.

"Did you know that Christianity is the only religion which declares Christ is the Son of God, savior of the world?" Mrs. House asked.

"Each of us will be remembered by the kind of life we've lived, whether we've been kind, unselfish, generous, gentle, sympathetic. Or will we be remembered as being unkind, self-seeking, egotistical, and selfish. We can only be remembered for the service we have rendered or otherwise we go empty handed. Life is fleeting but eternal."

"As club women and mothers we have a great deal of influence. As home builders are we building our foundations on understanding, love and consideration? Or are we building on the shifting sands of pleasure?"

Mrs. House pointed out, "as mothers, it was our duty to train our children; to teach them to love, respect and obey. Delinquent children come from the parents. It is the early training that builds stalwart characters."

With the correct training in early youth and the proper pattern set by the parent, the child can be a crown to "your head and a joy to your heart," she stated.

"For 60 years, since its foundation, the federation has done wonderful things," Mrs. House concluded. "We are still doing things. We urge you this year to increase your membership or form new clubs. To start your meetings with a devotional and a pledge of Allegiance to the Flag."

"We are continuing to work on legislation for driver education and have recently established Friendship Day. This has been

Farm Bureau Begins Work on 1957 Resolutions

Letters to Farm Bureau community committee members asking for suggestions on this year's resolutions were mailed this week by Brown Smith, chairman of the county resolution committee.

Smith urged community committeemen to confer with both member and non-member farmers on the resolutions which they submit.

The letter outlined the following issues which will probably be on the county level this year: REA laws, deadline for cotton measurement and compliance, rural al telephone question and map laws. State issues will concern REA water laws, method of electing appointing Commissioner of Agriculture, spending of Texas Permanent School fund, farm market road funds, gas refund, compulsory liability insurance and adequacy of state agricultural research agencies, according to the chairman. National issues which will probably be presented include farm program, method of electing U. S. President, research and marketing of cotton, loan value of light spot cotton, more lenient regulations for farm storage of grain, and new farm program for grain sorghum. Smith stated that the resolutions should be presented at membership meeting Oct. 21.

Around and About

by Helen Combs

Whether you've thought of it or not, the weather you are now enjoying (or fussing about) is called Indian Summer. We can be quite certain about this because Mildred Stephens handed us a written definition. . . Seems this query into the season came about after a TV weather forecaster said Indian Summer came after the first frost.

We are in complete agreement with the local group who hold forth that Indian Summer is now! For reference—our definition: Indian Summer is a period of warm or mild weather late in autumn or in early winter, usually characterized by a clear or cloudless sky and by a hazy or smoky appearance of the atmosphere, especially near the horizon. The name is of American origin, the reason for it being uncertain. In Germany it is known as Old Woman's Summer and St. Luke's Summer, and in England as All Hallow Summer and St. Martin's Summer.

Social highlights of the week: The B&PW Club tea Sunday afternoon and the visit of Mrs. A. J. House, state president of Texas Federation of Women's Club. Mrs. House was honored at a luncheon Tuesday in the home of Mrs. L. C. Martin, and that afternoon spoke to federated club women at an open meeting.

Possessing a warm and charming personality, the state president brought a most inspiring message to the club women. Those who failed to hear her speak indeed missed a treat.

Newspaper people, like those in other professions, like occasionally to read about their endeavors. So, it has become a custom during National Newspaper Week to discuss our business in our news columns.

This week we are observing again National Newspaper Week. Not long ago we ran across an article in the American Press magazine entitled "What Is a Newspaperman?" written by Alison Davis Oldham, wife of a newspaperman.

As a tribute to our husband, our two newspaper sons and our partner, J. Claude Wells, we would like to reprint the article in part: "What is a newspaperman? He is a cross between a bundle of nerves and an heroic public servant. He is the People's Friend whom everybody is mad at; the gatherer of news who hasn't time to read his own mail; the power of the printed word encased in a fallible human frame. "The habitat of the newspaperman is wherever you may find him (and just try about dinner time!) but he is never far from the typewriter or telephone. His habits tend to be primarily nocturnal, from temperament fully as much as from necessity. And if by chance he ever does get a quiet evening at home, then wither out fail the siren blows or the telephone rings, and you don't see him again for another five hours. He is constantly preoccupied when you try to talk to him about trivia of his personal life, for his mind is a whirlpool of 36-point heads, that error in Jones and Sweeney's classified, and where to dig up the dope on that story some local VIP was "not authorized to divulge."

"A newspaperman is the one remaining professional jack of all trades in our specialized society; for he is an expert typist, an amateur English teacher, a part-time salesman, an ad writer, office boy, charwoman and creative artist. He has a working acquaintance with typesetting, political science, ornithology, the social register, addressographs, the who's who and taboos of all the organizations and lodges in town, the tax structure, photographic developing, juvenile delinquency, furniture refinishing and the philosophy of responsible journalism. He is an accomplished labor arbitrator and diplomat in the back shop. And —oh yes—he writes, too, of course.

"Underneath his traditionally hard exterior, the newspaperman is human, and as sensitive as any craftsman about his work. If you want to make him insanely angry, give him a lead on an important story and then say, "But don't print that; we don't think people should know about it." If you want to make him muttering miserably point out four errors in the front page after he has read proofs all night until he's cross-eyed. If you want to win his undying gratitude, praise sincerely the editorial he sweated out long after hours, knowing full well only five people would read it.

"His is a passionate desire for complete accuracy, in a hopelessly error-ridden profession; a constant quest for news angles, fresh ideas; a surprisingly childlike pleasure in artistically alliterative headlines and dry wit in features and editorials, usually too subtle to be appreciated by any but his wife, who has been coached!

"A newspaperman is essentially a lonely man, apparently doomed to perpetual misrepresentation. As far as his role, the people know he is their servant, but seldom realize that he serves them and democracy best when he is most independent of their particular pressures. He is an unpopular individual who tells people what they ought to know, even though some don't want them to know. His is the historic role of enlightening public opinion; but men with historic roles seldom have good appetites.

"It is really only his spontaneous and completely indestructible sense of humor that keeps the newspaperman sane; and yet he is hopelessly addicted to his hectic life. The newspaperman is Truth with a chronic headache; he is Freedom of Information and Opinion with high blood pressure; he is the Champion of Right Causes with darkroom chemical stains on his good clothes; he is Civic Integrity working for half the pay he could get elsewhere and honest coming home very late, very tired. There are times when even his wife can scarcely live with him. But thank God that our country still has the likes of him."

Texas' rainfall was below normal during 7 of the 8 years from 1947 to 1954.

Coupe originally referred to a carriage with seats for two persons inside and a seat for the driver outside.

Our Nation and Our Press

This is National Newspaper Week, and if we tend to boast a little just now perhaps we may be indulged. For the newspaper, which regularly devotes itself to bringing news and interpretation of news to your homes, has a message of its own. We believe that message worthy of some attention.

The American newspaper occupies a unique place in the world. Its freedom to print is guaranteed by the Constitution. It has been considered from the beginning of the Republic and from even before that—an essential instrument in the lives of the American people. The basic purpose has been and always will be the same: To tell the happenings of the day. Here the function is of particular importance in regards to the happenings of government, which is but an instrument of the people's will.

One of our early presidents, Thomas Jefferson, stated in the late 1780's: "And were it left to me to decide whether we would have a government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter."

The press had a rough beginning in this country 267 years ago when an English refugee, Benjamin Harris, began a pamphlet in Boston called Publick Occurrences. His paper was promptly "disallowed" by the royal governor, who was offended by some of the items in the newsy little sheet. This stopped newspaper progress for 14 years, until 1704, when John Campbell, postmaster at Boston, began a modest weekly called the News-Letter. He submitted to government censorship and was able to stay out of trouble for about 70 years. Other papers were started in the various colonies but they often had trouble with the authorities. The most spectacular case involving freedom to print was that of John Peter Zenger and his New York Weekly Journal. New York's royal governor, Cosby, was a tyrant whose greed led him into various kinds of wrongdoing, and Zenger's paper was the fearless spokesman of attack on him and his administration. The editor went to jail for nine months, but in August 1735 he was acquitted in a famous trial the report of which did much to kindle the spirit of liberty in the colonies.

Zenger thus set the pattern for the thousands of newspaper editors who were to follow. The nation's papers grew as the country did and have always worked on the theory that "If the people know the truth, then they will make the right choice." With the democratic system of government, where the officials rule only with the consent of the people, there must be a free transmission of happenings and ideas in order for the people to make the right choice.

This is the vital role played by newspapers in the United States. For only a few dollars each year, citizens are kept abreast of what is going on on both the local and national level. However, all is not easy for newspapers. They have been fought on many fronts, especially in Washington, in their news gathering fields. First one bureau and then another has clamped the secret lid on their doings, thus depriving the people of knowledge of their actions. This has been, and will be, the greatest battle that the newspapers of this nation will ever face—the constant covering up and hiding of information from the public.

Many of the men in public office have forgotten that they are servants of the people and are taking the attitude that what they do is not the business of the public. Some of them go so far as to answer "no comment" when questioned about major issues of the day. They are working for you, you and you—John Q. Public. This is the fight which will be the hardest during the next few years, and many feel that the future of our nation may depend on the outcome of the contest. If the bureaucrats win, we are far down the road to socialism. If they lose, then our nation will continue to prosper.

Reactions Concerning the Budget Cut

From different sources in this month are coming cries of how the small cut in the budget has hurt different industries. It is interesting to find out that some of the industries have been receiving help from the government all the while they have been complaining about the assistance the farmers have been getting.

A good example of this situation is the shipbuilding industry. In the September issue of the Marine Engineering Log, an editorial begins as follows: "For a nation that accounted for 20.7 per cent of the world's export trade last year, we certainly have acted very small with regard to our Merchant Marine." The article goes on to defend the position of the shipbuilders who have been receiving subsidies to assist with the building of ships. The amount they receive per year runs on an average of about $125 million. They describe it as construction differential costs. In other words, the U. S. Government has been paying for part of the cost of building the ships which are used by the various American shipping lines. The recent cut in the budget did away with these funds for the 1958 fiscal year.

If the entire truth of the matter were known, there are probably a great number of other industries who have been receiving subsidies of various kinds. They are of course careful to keep these things well hidden so that the general public thinks that the only ones receiving government checks are the farmers. To bring the problem down to a family basis, the $125 million subsidy to shipbuilders cost each person in the U. S. about 74 cents each. If you are a married man with three children, it cost you $3.70 last year. We are in no position to know if this cost has been justifiable throughout the past few years. However we do think that government leaders should examine the program of assistance to the various segments of the economy, especially in the light of reports last year which indicated that many of the large cooperations had profits which were three or four hundred per cent above those of the year before.

PARTIAL ECLIPSE

Press Paragraphs—

QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

What An Upset

U. S. farmers who have been feeling and muttering and saying out loud that Benson must go, have this month got a lot of company, or collaborators, or fellow grippers who are joining violently in the chorus "Benson must go." The warning thought is that most republicans in the United States are with us now, especially three times governor of Wisconsin, Walter Kohler. Nobody but nobody charges the landslide victory for the senate seat left vacant by the death of Joe McCarthy to anything but a farmers revolt against the Benson-hover farm program. Only Ezra alone protests that he didn't have a thing in the world to do with the election and that there is "no farm revolt." I don't think we hate Mr. Benson, but we're afraid the rich, honored, thrice-governor of Wisconsin has been doing some first-rate hating of the man he feels is responsible for his stunning defeat Aug. 27. But Mr. Kohler asked for it; he campaigned for Eisenhower, Benson and all their works. What an upset.

Taxes

Escape from high federal taxes to some extent, has been effected by entirely legitimate gimmicks employed by people who enjoy large enough incomes to afford good tax accounting experts. But many small business men and workers have been unable to get income into shape so they could do anything but just take it. Accordingly the heavy burden of the tremendous tax load is gradually drifting on to the backs of the lower income citizens. It is an axiom of things as they are that to him who hath shall be given and to him who hath not even that which he hath shall be taken away. So that really a battle for lower income for lower income taxes is a battle for the small taxpayer.

Senator Ralph Yarborough grabbed two planks from under our feet in a statement the other day. He came out flatly for reduced taxes and a $32 million federal grant in aid to Texas farmers whose land has been buffeted by drought and flood.

Advertising

Large advertisers must "test" their advertising to KNOW what they are doing. Orville W. Johler, IGA vice president who handles advertising, has been studying the various kinds of advertising tried by the IGA group of grocery stores. "We not only use newspapers to sell merchandise in our 6,000 stores, but we also use them to study the reaction of buyers," said Mr. Johler in Chicago recently. "In our business the press, advertising wise, has become almost indispensable. "Anytime you want to get a true reaction from the masses of people, use newspapers. . . in our 30-year history of selling and merchandising food, we have never found their (newspapers) equal."

Stockfarmers Nightmare

The opening of the hunting season with doves in the fall, followed by open duck and quail season is the annual nightmare of the stockfarmer. Gates left down, feverish bird hunters kickgame birds were put here for men to enjoy and use for his benefit.

Detroit Holds the Key

The economists say that Detroit holds the key to the nation's economic health this year—with the public reaction to the 1958 models determining how the nation's business will develop during the next year.

If people respond enthusiastically to the new models and start buying them in spectacular volume, the nation's economy will be off on a new upswing. Heavy buying of new cars will affect millions of jobholders and businessmen through the entire economy, pepping up industries ranging from steel to glass to textile and rubber.

If sales are modest, we'll be living in an economy the experts describe as leveling off.

If we do level off it will be a new experience to a whole generation.

Since the way, powerful forces have been pushing our economy to new peaks. Prices have done nothing but go up. Business has

New Size United States Savings Bond Goes on Sale Over Nation October 1st

In keeping with the electronic brain and other advancements of the modern era, the new Series E Savings Bonds are going to have more "punch," according to reports from Washington. In fact, it's full of punches—13 of them.

The new punch card bond is smaller than its predecessor and will save $500,000 in printing costs each year.

For those who might be curious about the 13 punches, the Treasury offers this explanation. The first punch denotes the size of the bond. For example, a $100 bond would have a punch down in the fourth position. The next 10 columns, or punches, represent the serial number, and the twelfth indicates it is a Series E bond. The thirteenth column is reserved for special accounting operations by the Treasury when the bond is cashed.

Other than the smaller size, the punches, and the flexible cardboard stock on which it is printed, the new bond looks very much like the old one. It contains about the same wording and illustrations.

One exception is the wording, "eight years and eleven months from the issue date x x x." This change in maturity from "nine years and eight months" reflects the increase in the interest rate from 3 to 3 1/4 per cent, effective on bonds bought since February 1, 1957. The new table of redemption values also appears on the back. The other exception: most of the punch card bonds carry the signature of the new Secretary of the Treasury, Robert B. Anderson, who succeeded George M. Humphrey on July 29.

Oh, God, we stand before thee on this, our meeting day. We thank Thee for having known our friend who passed away. Her passing left us, oh, so sad, but always we will be a better person for having known such a wonderful friend as she. She stood back for no one but knew just what to do. She always smiled and kept right on until the day was through. Since she's gone and left us one less on the list, We must carry on, dear God, tho' our eyes are filled with mist. So take us by the hand and lead us faithfully on; Forgive our sins that we, or God, may join her around the throne.

CHANGE TO SHAMROCK TO W-30 MOTOR OIL NOW AND PROTECT THE LIFE OF YOUR CAR'S ENGINE AND BATTERY

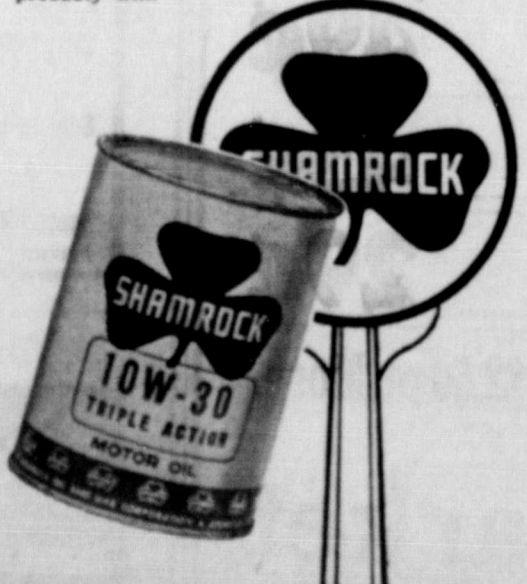

The development of Shamrock 10W-30 Motor Oil is based on the fact that the typical passenger car engine operates most of its useful life in the temperature zone between the cold start and normal operating temperatures.

All oils thicken as temperature decreases. The difference between Shamrock 10W-30 and conventional oil is that it thickens less at low temperature. The effect on your car's performance is important.

When you change to Shamrock 10W-30, the improvements you'll notice immediately are: (1) that even on the coldest mornings the engine will turn over quickly and easily, and (2) a marked increase in gasoline mileage.

These advantages are the most obvious, but not necessarily the most important. Frictional wear in the engine takes place at a very high rate during the first few strokes when starting an engine with little or no lubricant on the cylinder walls. 10W-30 reduces this wear, flowing quickly... replenishing the oil film. At high temperatures a thicker lubricant does a better job of keeping metal surfaces apart. Accordingly, 10W-30 being thick at high temperatures gives your engine full protection at this end of the temperature range, too. With Shamrock 10W-30 in the crankcase you will: (1) extend the life of your car's engine, (2) extend the life of your battery, (3) increase gasoline mileage and (4) reduce the octane requirement. We don't claim miracles for it, but you probably will.

QUALITY YOU CAN MEASURE BY YOUR CAR'S PERFORMANCE

On the first play, Davis carried the ball over for 6 points. Dudley Gillespie, guard, kicked the extra point, making the score 13-0.

On the kickoff, the Panhandle player fumbled the ball and the Cyclone recovered on the Panther 30-yard line. Davis passed to End James Davis on the first play for 24 yards to the Panhandle 6-yard line. Adcock ran for 2 through left tackle, and then John made 2 around left end. Wheeler drove to the Panhandle 1-yard line on the fourth down attempt, where the ball went over.

Panhandle ran the ball out to their 11 in two plays. Their attempt to pass was intercepted by Adcock, who raced 15 yards down the west side for a touchdown. The first extra point attempt was nullified by a penalty against Memphis for being offside. Gillespie then kicked the ball through the uprights for the extra point, making the score 20-0. After the kickoff, Panhandle had time for only one play before the first half of play ended.

Third Quarter

Memphis kicked the ball to Bell who returned for 18 yards to the Panhandle 37-yard line. On the first play Glen Williams ran through right tackle and broke into the clear for 47 yards before being caught from behind by Johnson on the Memphis 16-yard line. However, their scoring attempt was halted. They picked up 6 yards on three tries and then on the fourth down the Cyclone dropped the ball carried for a loss of 4 yards. This game Memphis the ball on their 15-yard line.

On the first play, Johnson circled left end for 15 yards for a first down. Memphis then fumbled but recovered and ended up with a 2-yard gain. They again fumbled on the next play and lost possession to Panhandle.

After taking over on the Memphis 46-yard line, Panhandle drove to the 33 in three plays. Their drive was slowed for they were allowed only 6 yards after 4 attempts.

After taking possession, Memphis began a drive which ended in another touchdown. On the first play, Wheeler romped for 8 yards through right tackle. Fourth Quarter

Wheeler opened the quarter with a 2-yard pickup through right tackle. On a fourth down attempt, Davis circled right end and went the 12 yards needed for the score. Gillespie kicked the extra point, making the score 27-0.

Panhandle received the kick and ran it back to their 39. On the first play the Panthers tried a pass which was intercepted by Davis giving the Cyclone possession on the Panhandle 34-yard line. Wheeler carried through tackle for 2 yards. Bobby Murdock, halfback, then raced around left end for 12 yards and a first down. Tucker went over left tackle for 2 yards and then Murdock picked up 5 around left end. However, Memphis received a 15-yard penalty on this play for holding, moving the ball back to the Panhandle 32-yard line. Joe Young, quarterback, ran for 12 yards around right end on the next play, only to have the gain nullified by another penalty of 5 yards. The Cyclone tried a pass on the next play and it was intercepted by Panhandle on their 29-yard line.

The Panthers tried a pass and two running plays but were held to only 3 yards gain. They punted to the Memphis 28-yard line. Murdock carried for 4 over guard on the first play, then David Binkley, halfback, picked up 1 yard through left guard. Young, on the third down, raced for 8 yards and a first down. Murdock added 5 more, then Tucker made 1. A third down pass attempt went wide and the Cyclone punted to the Panhandle 38-yard line.

The Panthers picked up a first down behind the running of Bell, Addington and Richards and then threw a long pass, which was intercepted by Cyclone Jerry Smith on the Memphis 21-yard line. A pass attempt by the Cyclone went long on the first attempt, and the ball was fumbled on the second, with Panhandle recovering on the Memphis 29-yard line.

Panhandle held the ball for only three plays, however, before Memphis intercepted another pass on their 3-yard line. A pass to Davis was completed for 31 yards as the game ended.

Nine Killed On Panhandle Roads During August

Nine persons were killed on the highways of the Texas Panhandle during the month of August, according to a report released this week by Capt. J. W. Blackwell of the Texas Highway Patrol office in Amarillo.

This is a decrease of five from the number killed in July, and nine less than the number who lost their lives last year during the same month. However, there have been a total of 67 persons killed on Panhandle roads during the first eight months of this year while only 61 had lost their lives at this time last year, according to the report.

During August patrolmen investigated 138 accidents on state and federal highways, 13 on farm-to-market roads, 24 on county roads and 10 in towns of less than 2,500 population. Accidents in towns larger than 2,500 persons are handled by city police.

Speeding was again the principal violation as a causative factor in the August accidents. Driving while drinking was second; failure to grant right of way, third; following too closely, fourth; and illegal passing, fifth. Violations which caused accidents during July fell in the same order.

Postmaster Vallance Announces Annual Letter Writing Week

International Letter Writing Week will be celebrated in Memphis during the week of Oct. 6 to 12, Postmaster Jim Vallance announced this week.

Commenting on the establishment of International Letter Writing Week, Vallance pointed out that each year since 1938 the Post Office Department has joined in observance of National Letter Writing Week—an annual event celebrated to emphasize the meaning and value of letter writing as a symbol of American freedom.

"As a result of its success," Postmaster Vallance stated, "National Letter Writing Week will be conducted on an international basis this year for the first time. International Letter Writing Week is based on the idea that written communication between people in all the countries of the world will contribute toward the building of a lasting peace.

"I urge all citizens of Memphis to join in this celebration of the international week and at the same time write that overdue letter to friends and relatives in America," Vallance concluded.

School Segregation

With schools opening for the fall semester, the matter of segregation is back in the headlines in Texas and elsewhere, and some school boards may now be pondering upon a law passed by the 55th Texas Legislature.

By now everyone knows that the Supreme Court of the United States has decreed that segregation of public school pupils by race is unconstitutional. Since the Court's decision, however, the legislature passed House Bill 65. The constitutionality of this law has not as yet been tested.

In effect the bill provides for local option elections to determine whether dual school systems shall be continued or abolished. It prohibits any board of trustees or any school authority from abolishing its dual school system (desegregating or integrating) prior to an election on the question. A prerequisite to such an election is a petition filed by at least 20 percent of the qualified electors residing in the school district.

The election is to be conducted in a manner similar to elections for school trustees. It can be called on the same date as a school trustee election if the petition was filed within 90 days of the trustee election. Otherwise the election must be called within 60 days after the petition has been filed. Subsequent elections upon the same questions cannot be called within two years of any prior election.

Under this law those schools which integrated during the 1956-57 term are permitted to continue integration unless this system of operation is abolished by an election held in the manner mentioned above. Another provision under a section of the law dealing with integrated schools is that a student shall not be denied transfer from one school to another because of race or color.

The bill provides that if a district should desegregate so by an election of the electors residing therein, the district becomes ineligible for any Foundation or State School Support funds. In other words, the same penalty is placed on a school district, already a school district, already desegregated, which fails to segregate schools after an election for such action.
