He is expected to arrive at the Court House about 1 p. m. for the annual Memphis Chamber of Commerce and Hall County Board of Development Christmas Party for all children of the Memphis area.

COTTON REFERENDUM TO BE HELD OVER COUNTY TUESDAY, DEC. 10

The referendum, which will determine if cotton marketing quotas will be in effect for 1958, will be held over the county at six polling places Tuesday, Dec. 10, Lynn McKown, manager of the Local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, announced this week.

All farmers and their wives who engaged in production of cotton in 1957 will be eligible to vote in the referendum. Polls will be open from 8 a. m. until 7 p. m.

If two-thirds of those voting favor the referendum, supports under present legislation will be between 75 per cent and 90 per cent of parity. If quotas are not approved, cotton will be supported at 50 per cent of parity for only those producers who comply with their allotment, McKown said.

Allotments have been mailed to individual farmers in order they may know what their acreage will be next year, he said.

Voting will take place at the following places with the men listed serving as referendum chairmen:

Lesley—J. O. Adams Grocery, J. P. Montgomery, Jr.
Lakeview—Paymaster Gin, Clyde Collins.

Plaska—J & G Grocery, Cecil Whitten.
Memphis—ASC office, Roy L. Gresham.

Estelline—Paymaster Gin, Clinton Richburg.
Turkey—City Hall, William M. Corgill.

This year the cotton allotment for the county is 97,839 acres, a decrease of 715 acres from last year's total of 98,554 acres. McKown said that this small decrease would not make much difference in the individual allotments which were mailed to farmers Monday.

Remodeled Estelline Gym Opening Held Saturday Night; Exes Honored

The remodeled gymnasium for Estelline High School was formally opened last Saturday evening with a large crowd in attendance.

The Estelline High School basketball teams played the teams from Lelia Lake in two fast games. Scores in the girls game was Estelline 66 and Lelia Lake 53; those in the boys game were Estelline 47 and Lelia Lake 50.

Prior to the exhibition game between the boys from Clarendon Junior College and Sayre Oklahoma Junior College, JoEd Cappel, superintendent, made a short talk. He stated that the cost of the remodeling was approximately $18,000. A comfortable, adequate gymnasium with new dressing rooms, coach's office, public rest rooms, and a new concession stand has been built.

The original gymnasium was first used during the school term of 1928 and 1929. Members of the Estelline basketball team of that year present were introduced.

They were Clinton Richburg, J. D. Cox, Crump Ferrel, and Finis

Curtis, Lester Phillips and Joe Eddins were not present, and Burl Bell is deceased. The sons and daughters of these men who played with the 1957 Estelline team were Don Ferrel, Gary Cox, and Julia Richburg. Richburg, Cox and Ferrel are also members of the Estelline board of education, and other members present who were introduced were J. W. Crisman, and O. B. Hoover. Carolyn Hoover, who played with the Estelline girls, was asked to join her father.

The coach for the exhibition team from Clarendon was a former Estelline basketball star and one of the best coaches in the district, Buddy Travis, formerly of Silvertown. Jimmy Don Adams, also a former Estelline star, played with the Clarendon Bulldogs. The college game ended with Clarendon on top of a 74-68 score.

Coach R. V. Wood introduced the college players and coaches.

Following the games, steak dinners were served to the college guests.

Man Dies In Fire at Weatherly Fri. Night

Raymond Johnson, 44-year-old Negro, burned to death last Friday night in a small house in the Weatherly community, Sheriff W. P. Baten Jr. said this week.

Johnson, a farm laborer, was living in the house used for teachers in years past when there was a school at Weatherly. About 10:45 p. m. Friday evening C. E. Burk, who lives about 200 yards away from the burned building, noticed the building was on fire after his daughter saw the flames.

By that time the fire had progressed to a point where it was impossible to enter the structure.

Three Negro men had been occupying the building but two were away due to the illness of a Negro child nearby, Sheriff Baten said. The burned man had spent Nov. 17 through Nov. 23 in the county jail here after pleading guilty to a charge of being drunk. During the time Johnson was in jail he suffered from epilepsy, the sheriff said.

The men who had been living with Johnson stated that he suffered from seizures and one day had overturned the stove in the house. They stated that when they left to go to the friends home, Johnson was sitting on a bed smoking, the sheriff added.

Justice of Peace J. S. Grimes ruled that death came from accidental burning.

1,000 Bales Cotton Harvested To Date

Harvesting continued at the fastest pace possible with the gins reporting a total so far of 21,015 bales according to a telephone survey made this morning by The Democrat.

Reports that many of the gins are over a hundred bales this morning after working the clock. Many fields are still at work in the county. Practically every cotton gin machine is also running.

Reports from the gins indicate that the majority of the cotton is being machine harvested. The automatic gins are being used extensively and the freeze and wet have lowered the grade of the cotton to a point where hand picking would leave no profit. Machine harvesting is very little, area farmers in three cases have been reported where the cotton grade was so low that it could not be marketed on the government loan.

Harvesting has almost completed in the county with only a few bales being shipped. This represents about $189,000 for the county farmers, not counting the amount of grain that went into storage here and amounts in the process of being stored.

Both the Boswells were killed Saturday night near Groom on Farm Road 294 about 8 p. m. when their car overturned. ## Burglary Attempt At Wood Bros. Friday Night Foiled by Strong Safe meat cleaver from behind the meat counter and knocked the knob and handle off of the safe. Failing to gain entry in this manner, the person used a hacksaw, which was found in the office of the store, and attempted to saw the hinges off the safe. The pins which hold the door were removed but locking studs inside the door kept it closed, Carl Wood, owner of the store, said.

After these attempts failed, the burglar left, probably by way of the air conditioner vent since all of the doors were locked, Sheriff Baten stated. Wood stated that the drawers from all of the cash registers were locked inside the safe so the burglar didn't bother the cash registers. He also stated that the person may have taken some cigarettes but other than this it was difficult to tell about the other merchandise.

Jeff Ward, manager of the store, found the break-in Saturday morning when he came down to open the safe and get the money out for the day's business. The burglar apparently used a ladder to get upon the roof. The ladder was standing back of the building and had been used the day before to string lights above a display of Christmas trees, Wood said.

Sunday, Lonnie Clark, strong-box expert from Quanah, came up and opened the damaged safe. Wood stated that it took him seven hours to open the damaged safe. Clark is a brother of the late Dr. R. E. Clark.

Sheriff Baten said that the job was probably done by an amateur.

Pathfinders' Meet For Thanksgiving Program Tuesday

"The Pilgrims came across the sea, And never thought of you and me; Yet it's strange the way We think of them on Thanksgiving day."

The above lines were read by Mrs. Gene Chamberlain to introduce the Pathfinders' Thanksgiving program November 26 in the home of Mrs. A. O. Gidden.

Mrs. W. P. Baten gave the story of the Hymn of the Month: "Now Thank We All Our Lord." The song was written by Martin Rinkert, who was a Saxonian. His family always used this song as thanksgiving at their table, the speaker added.

The Indian, His Arts, Crafts and Music was discussed by Mrs. J. J. McDaniel. Passing over the better known arts and crafts she stated that the music of the Indian has always been a very important part of his life: through it he communicates with the unseen world, worships, plays, hunts and fights. The romantic quality and wide variety of his music is therefore unequalled. There is special music for all his ceremonies such as prayer songs for rain or bountiful crops; thanksgiving songs in case of victory; songs of love; and songs of war.

"Grandma and the Sea Gull" by Louise Rich, was read by Mrs. E. L. King. The theme was a feud carried on through the years between two young brides, each of whom forgot how it started. The moral: "People may seem to be perfectly impossible, mean, small, and sly. But if you take ten paces to the left and look again with the light falling at another angle, very likely you will see they are generous, warm, and kind. It all depends on the point from which you are seeing them." Mrs. Kilgore also read "A God To Be Thankful For" by Roy L. Smith.

"Let us be grateful for our God. Among all our inheritance, there is nothing worthier of thanksgiving. Our God gives the peace that passes all understanding," she said.

Mrs. A. O. Gidden, president, presided over a short business meeting. Tables of foursomes were set with a delicious Thanksgiving dinner for the following members: Mmes. Anna Dickson, O. M. Gunstream, J. J. McDaniel, Dick Spoon, Gene Chamberlain, Bar-

Ralph Yarborough's Report

By RALPH YARBOROUGH
U. S. Senator

First, our national safety is in danger when we have to rely on shipping by boat large amounts of oil, because in time of emergency Russia's more than 500 submarines would be able to seriously cut down our supply.

Second, oil workers through salaries, property owners through royalties, the State of Texas through tax revenues, all stand to profit by finding a ready market for oil. All are losing money every day because of the lack of a market for Texas oil. Leasing of land for oil and gas has slowed down, and many leases on Texas farms will not be renewed, unless we market Texas oil.

I have asked the Office of Defense Mobilization and officials of the voluntary oil import program to work together for early construction of a major oil pipeline from Texas to California.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. HOLLE, M.D., Commissioner

Opening a bottle with your teeth may make you the life of the party but it won't give you the sturdiest teeth in town.

People often damage their teeth using them for such unlikely purposes. In fact, dental authorities can count at least 36 everyday habits that a great many Americans practice in one degree or another that are injurious to mouth tissue.

For example, the habit of biting pensively on ear loops of glasses can be an important factor in tooth migration—moving out of position, dentists point out.

Chewing on pencil or pen during moments of concentration is almost an occupational hazard for bookkeepers and stenographers. Dentists report considerable erosion of teeth among people in those professions.

Upholsterers, carpenters, and shoe makers who hold nails between their teeth develop typical dental ailments. Seamstresses who bite thread and dress makers who hold pins and needles between teeth invariably suffer from bad tooth conditions dentists have found.

Biting on matches and tooth picks, abnormal tongue pressures against teeth, lip and cheek biting, and continued clenching of teeth to control emotions all may have their adverse effects.

Also listed as detrimental to teeth and gums is the practice among women of using their teeth to open bobby pins. Another is the habit of cupping chin in hands while reading or watching television. It causes side pressure that may harm teeth or jaws.

Among children the habit most detrimental to teeth is thumb sucking. However, most authorities agree it will not cause improper teeth alignment providing it is stopped by age four or five.

Related to thumb sucking is the use of pacifiers. Dentists strongly recommend against both pacifiers and nursing bottles after age six, since they are likely to cause protrusion of front teeth and a narrowing of the dental arch.

Soil Conservation News

By CHARLIE CAPE
Work Unit Conservationist

Many farmers of the Hall County Soil Conservation District are harvesting their cotton with mechanical strippers this year. Strippers leave the soil in a condition that can cause serious erosion by wind. Cotton stubble left alone on the soil does not furnish enough crop residue to control blowing dust.

Moisture conditions are good for cover crops this year. Rye can still be seeded with grain drills in the cotton stubble to help control soil blowing. This cover crop will also benefit following crops by adding organic matter to the soil.

The season for severe dust blowing is just around the corner. Farm operators in the District are urged to drop by the local Soil Conservation Service Office and discuss these badly needed cover crops with the SCS technicians.

Law Of The Jungle

Again the season approaches when persons will jump into their 300 horsepower automobiles and race 100 to 300 miles in order to do their Christmas shopping with some merchant who doesn't even know their name. No wonder small towns all over the nation are having trouble trying to keep their population. The people who live in the towns are committing economic suicide, according to some authorities.

Take the case of John Q. Citizen who works for a salary of around $4,500 a year. During the course of the year he may spend $500 in another town, on items which could have been purchased at home. This is a seemingly small amount, but over a period of 10 years he has spent $5,000 dollars. Multiply this by 1000 families and you have $5 million dollars. If the merchant who sold the $5 million worth of goods made 6 per cent then someone, somewhere else made $300,000 from local citizens.

So, we haven't proved anything except that some merchant somewhere else has made some money, but the next step is where the chain begins to get tight. The businessman in the far away town has actually taken $300,000 away from local merchants. If local merchants had made this money they would have no doubt put part of it back into their businesses, possibly building new establishments and thus paying more taxes for support of local schools, county and city offices. If they don't put the money back into their firm, they will probably use it for new homes, cars, washing machines, TV sets, better groceries, clothes and all the other thousands of things we use every day. Every time something is purchased here, it means that the demand for local labor and services goes up. This means more and better paying jobs for all of the working people in the town. It also means that local stores will be able to carry a more complete line of merchandise and be better able to serve area farmers and others.

Many factors have caused the race to the neighboring city. Some of them can be controlled and others cannot. Nothing can be done about the good roads and fast cars which make the trips so easy, but, on the other hand, local merchants must appeal to the people at least as much as do merchants in far away towns. Only last weekend there was an entire section in a nearby city paper which made it so easy and simple for readers to purchase from the store. The entire section was a catalogue for the firm . . . trying to bring in business from all the surrounding towns. This is the kind of competition which local merchants are facing. The days of the cracker barrel—checker-board—potbellied stove type operation is over. Only the merchant with a fully defined plan of attack will survive in this period of intense competition from large cities. It's time we all gave this situation serious thought and realized that business will no longer walk in the front door. Business must be lured in and then pounced upon. That is the way our big city neighbors are doing and they are slowly reducing every neighboring town by a few dozen persons every year. Will Memphis decline in the future? Only time will tell and only the citizens and merchants can decide. What was it the old cattle rustler once said? "We must all hang together or we will hang separately."

And so we will. A town can live only as long as its residents want it to live and grow. When they no longer care to support the town then it will die.

Power For The Wheels Of Progress

Two events took place this week which may eventually change the entire method of living on this planet. First was the firing up of a commercial size atomic power generating station; and, second, the laying of the keel of the Navy's first nuclear-powered surface ship.

Over 15 years ago the first controlled atomic chain reaction was set off at the University of Chicago. Since that time there has been much discussion of how the energy would be used for the betterment of man. Several small power reactors are now in operation in the United States but none of these are rated at more than 6,000 kilowatts. The recently completed large atomic furnace at Shippingport, Pa., will have a minimum operating capacity of 60,000 kilowatts, once exhaustive safety tests and other factors have been studied and the furnace is allowed to reach a normal operating point.

There will be much more opposition from various sources to the use of atomic energy. Some of it will be from persons who are afraid of radiation but the strongest will come from others who see the end of a way of life are are opposed to this new use on economic grounds. Take the new generating station for instance. Estimates are that the new generating station will produce electricity at a cost of about 55 mills. Electricity can be produced in that area by the use of soft coal for about 5 mills. However, as research continues there no doubt will be ways to cut the cost of the atomic furnaces, and then the real fight between nuclear fuel and conventional methods will take place. The battle will probably be similar to that which occurred when cars began to replace horses. There will be predictions of thousands of people out of work and economic depression of change occurs; but the end result will again mean more work for more people at higher wages. It's true that there is no livery stable in town but there are almost a dozen garages; and so it will probably be with atomic energy.

As man strives to produce weapons of war, peaceful uses for the same invention will keep cropping up. The first nuclear-powered surface ship, a cruiser armed with the most modern surface-to-surface and surface-to-air missiles, will be soon followed by an atomic powered merchant ship. The only downfall might be that the cloak of secrecy imposed by some Washington official could hide a development almost forever.

Texas Briefs — Unusual Happings Around the State

Unfruitful Act.
VICTORIA—A San Antonio fruit peddler was being held in county jail for investigation after his "partner" tried to steal money from the cash register at the Tango Club.
Spotted as he tried to grab the money from the register, the would-be hoodlum was attacked by the club's employees. He threw the money to the floor and made his get-a-way in a pick-up truck leaving his friend behind.
Spectators agreed it was a first-class way to dissolve a partnership.

"ATTENTION, PLEASE!"

Press Paragraphs— QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Strength of Mind
This actually happened: A railway employe in Russia several years ago accidentally locked himself in a refrigerator car. Unable to attract outside attention, he apparently resigned himself to his fate, remaining calm enough to record his story on the wall of the car.

"I'm becoming colder," he wrote. "Still colder, now. Nothing to do but to wait . . . I am slowly freezing to death . . . half asleep now, I can hardly write . . ." And finally, "These may be my last words."
When the car was finally opened, they found him dead. His scribbling told what had happened. And it was not death by freezing; the temperature of the car was only 56 degrees. The freezing apparatus was and had been out of order. Nor had he suffocated; there was plenty of air.
HE DIED a victim of his own illusion! Such is the control of mind over body and the strength of suggestion.

We Need Egg Heads
Egg Head stock has been low the past decade and even longer. Scorn has been directed at intellectuals in all fields, particularly in the area of government. A Ph. D. degree, in the eyes of many, indicates a crackpot theorist.
At premium prices have been "hard headed" business men with "common horse sense."
And if a person is a scientist, that usually carries the implication that he has pinkish tendencies if he isn't a full-fledged communist, thanks to such men as Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin.

As a result, many top flight scientists have said "to heck with the whole mess" and have refused government positions. They refused to become the victims of smear campaigns by petty politicians.
Meanwhile, Russia encouraged her scientists and egg heads. They have enjoyed honored positions in Russia and earn the highest salaries to be had in that country. Today we see the result — Russian superiority in the weapons race.
And we continue to thumb our noses at intelligence while we entrust our country's destiny to the Charles Wilsons and other "hard headed" business men. These often are the type men who think their money can buy anything—even a satellite.

We hope to see brilliant men regain the stature and standing in this country which they deserve and we all need.

Archer Fullingim of the Kountze News said it this way, "Led by the Republican party, we have sneered at the maligned eggheads, intellectuals, scientists, until nobody wants to be one and we have run out of their jobs the top men whom FDR persuaded to build the A-bomb. The worst thing we have done was to listen to Ike-Likers, who made fun of brains, who said top scientists were spies and traitors. Our attitude toward eggheads, alone, was enough to make up lose the satellite race to Russia because and don't forget it, the eggheads and intellectuals won it for Russia. Eggheads are the only people who can build a rocket or missile or a satellite, and what we have done to them in this country, prodded and needled by Republicans, shouldn't happen to a flea-bitten dog."

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers
Congressman, 18th District

The President's Illness

The shock and concern that engulfed the Capital City at news of President's illness could be seen before the cause was known. It was very evident some-thing was wrong, and many people when they got the news were quick to remark that they felt they had gone wrong but they did not know exactly what it was. As a generally suspicious people about the nation's capital the whole story was not believed when it was reported the President had suffered a chill. It was hard to fool the American people, and subsequent developments proved they had not been deceived by the original soft peddler as to the condition of the President.

At the time this report is being written the President seems to be in good condition; however, details in the circulatory system can deteriorate or worsen momentarily. At the time this letter reaches you, anything might have happened. We all hope and pray it is better and our President excellent health by that time.

Science

Outstanding scientists of our country have had several big jobs before the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee headed by our Senator, Lyndon Johnson. They have undertaken to explain the situation of this country on a scientific basis. Other individuals, businessmen and otherwise, appeared before the Subcommittee and offered their bit. Excuses have been offered in explanation of why the Russians are placing a satellite in orbit. Blame is placed on the lack of sufficient funds, which is not an American excuse. Others say that we did not develop the know-how because we did not realize it was so far advanced. Others claim it was the result of a miscalculation as to when efforts should be expanded in the missile program.

Other reasons were advanced, these seem to be the most important. As to the first one, it is said there was never a try in the history of the world provided as much money for these purposes as has the Congress of the United States for the defense of this country. If funds were wrongfully used, that is another question, but say funds were not ample sufficient is just not true.

As to the second reason, there is merit. It appears this country has been spending too much in recent years telling about things the Russians have not explained and too little time spent out what they have accomplished. In other words, we have been trying to rest on our laurels and refusing to recognize the fact that other people capabilities the same as us. As to the third reason, there is a question that a lag in the program was permitted during the development of an overhead small enough in size to be transported by a missile. As the matter now develops, programs should have been on at the same time. It is good the sputnik has awakened some of the failures so they may be corrected without undue delay.

There is one question in this controversy which seems to have been completely overlooked. That is, "What was our intelligence doing while the Russians were developing their missiles and their sputnik?" I have yet to see an explanation in answer to this question.

To me, it is most important, because only a few years ago we had the atom bomb and it was our secret. Yet, the Russians, through their intelligence and espionage system, were able to steal that secret from us. What happened to the Agency headed by Allan Dulles, the brother of our Secretary of State? I speak of the Central Intelligence Agency which is so super-secret. This Agency spends a tremendous amount of money each year on programs and projects so secret the people who furnish the money are not even allowed to know the general purpose for which it is spent. No doubt this is another Agency which will be looked into come 1958.

The truth about our scientific failure, if it could be so called, goes a lot deeper than many of the reasons which were given to the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee or any other committee investigating the matter on Capitol Hill. The simple truth is, there has been a failure by our entire country to fully realize and appreciate the need in the fields of science. In many of the schools there is no science course. This may be due to lack of funds for equipment, but usually it is due to the lack of funds with which to pay properly equipped school teachers. In some instances the money is available but there are no teachers. This is not a mistake or a failure that has occurred within the last few years. It has been going on for a long time. It cannot be solved by some fly-by-night cure-all legislation permitting the government to finance some child who has been chosen as having a mind with a scientific turn. The solution of this problem lies at the grass roots of this nation. Proper facilities and teachers must be made available to every school in this nation. Facilities can be readily acquired—the teachers cannot—unless we are willing to recognize them for their true worth and to pay them
