New Year—1959; what will it bring? Let's hope all our readers will enjoy good health, a reasonable supply of happiness and prosperity. That's our wish.

This is the time of year for making plans and adopting new resolutions, or repolishing last year's resolves so they will pass as new.

Hall County and Memphis need to rekindle desires for more pay-rolls, more improvements of public nature, and in general think of their fellow citizens and living conditions.

May we suggest No. 1 item on the year's agenda, in our humble opinion, is an all-out effort to obtain a community building.

Christmas holidays in this section of country turned out to be most joyful. The weather was ideal for home folks and visitors to get about to visit others, and for those who came home to visit loved ones. We may have dreamed of a White Christmas, but such was delayed to near New Year.

The only trip Mrs. Wells and yours truly made was to Wellington last Friday night in company with Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Odom. The occasion calling for such trip was to do our part in honoring a former citizen of Wellington, Dr. E. W. Jones, now of Lubbock. The honoring party was held at the com- (Continued on Page 12)

H. E. "Tony" Craig, former Memphis district manager who is now plant sales coordinator for General Telephone Company of the Southwest at the company's general office in San Angelo, has been named to the newly created position of northern division commercial superintendent in Memphis.

Craig, who has been in the telephone business since 1936, served as Memphis district manager from 1953 until September, 1957, when he was transferred to general office in San Angelo where he assumed his present position. He began his telephone career as a lineman in Lubbock and has held various positions in the company's exchanges of Baytown, Lubbock and Lamesa.

Other changes in the Northern division include the assignment of Johnny Rhinehart, now San Angelo district commercial representative, to the position of manager of the newly created Perryton district serving 13 exchanges with some 6,300 telephones.

Headlines Show Happenings Cover Wide Range During 1958

With the passing of 1958 many citizens of the area can look back upon one of the best crop years since 1949. The weather started off good for planting and then continued the same throughout the year, with the exception of high winds during one period in the summer which blew out several thousand acres of cotton. But on a whole, the weather was just right for county crops, with record yields being taken in cotton, grain sorghum, wheat and all other crops.

After suffering seven years of drought and one year of rain at the wrong time, farmers have finally gathered a bumper crop. This, of course, is reflected in the business activity around town.

Many of the happenings of the year made the headlines of The Democrat during the past 12 months. Below are printed some of the most important.

Snow Leaves Area With .40 Moisture

White Christmas was an almost this year as a smashing cold front and a low pressure at about the New Mexico border touched off the second snow of the winter here.

John J. McMickin, official weather observer, said that the total snowfall amounted to about four inches. From this amount a total of .40 of an inch of moisture was measured.

The moisture will be a great help to area wheat and other such crops.

On the accident scene, Police Chief Guy Wright said that there was not a single wreck reported in Memphis during the period of slick streets.

He said that citizens are to be commended for their careful driving.

Highway patrolmen reported that there was one wreck at Indian Creek as a result of slick roads and another at Turkey.

All roads around Memphis were open for the entire period of the snow but they were covered with ice some of the time.

The low temperature this morning was 25 degrees. Other temperatures for the period were as follows: Wednesday 28-23, Tuesday 27-20, Monday 69-27, Saturday 64-33.

Financial Forecast for 1959 Calls For Competition; No Boom or Bust

Below is the Babson Business and Financial Forecast for 1959, prepared by Roger W. Babson, internationally-known business commentator and investment advisor.

Last year his predictions were 86 per cent correct.

Business and Financial Forecast for 1959

1. Not too good and not too bad. Both the boom and the recent recession will be awaiting developments following the recent November elections.

2. 1959 will be a "do nothing" year for Congress. Both parties will hold their cards close to their chests until 1960, when the Republicans will want good business.

Most Democrats will vote for most of the inflationary legislation; but only a few of these Congressmen will vote for such legislation over the President's veto. The Democrats will be in a dilemma. In their hearts they will not want good business in 1960; but they must be very careful not to do anything which could be held against them in 1960.

Every act of Rockefeller's and of other leading Presidential candidates of both parties will be carefully scrutinized to analyze their vote-getting possibilities for 1960. We will comment on these possibilities in our Forecast for 1960 a year from now.

3. So long as Russia is fearful of China's loyalty, she will not intentionally start a shooting war. I hope that Chiang Kai-shek will come to his senses so that China will become an ally of the United States. Marshall surely bet on the "wrong horse" when he made his report to Truman.

4. Our national budget will show a heavy deficit in 1959. This and other factors should cause a continued gradual, although not dangerous, inflation.

5. Serious competition will continue at all levels in 1959. Manufacturers, merchants, and others who reduce advertising and other selling appropriations will surely suffer.

6. Despite competition, the profits squeeze will be eased for many concerns by strenuous cost-cutting programs and improving business.

7. More foreign goods will enter the United States during 1959. This especially applies to German, Italian, Japanese, and Russian goods.

8. New Cargo ships, built in Japan, England, Germany, Norway, Sweden, and Italy, will be launched in 1959. This should re-

Report From Washington

By WALTER ROGERS
Representative, 18th
Congressional District

Congress in 1959
The First Session of the 86th Congress bids fair to be one of the most interesting and active sessions of Congress in the history of this nation. The chances are that it will start off with a decided "bang." At this reading, it would be my prediction that the first pop out of the box will come a number one controversial issue that could well shake political roots clear across the nation. The controversial issue will be whether or not to receive and swear in a new Member duly certified by the State of Arkansas as having been elected. The newspapers here have reported that objection will be made to the seating of this Member and that the matter will be put to a vote by the House of Representatives. The result of that vote will determine whether or not this Member must stand aside until the House has thoroughly investigated the election at which he was elected. No doubt efforts will be made between now and the opening of the Congress to compromise the situation and avoid the head-on conflict that would result from such Parliamentary procedure. Whether or not these efforts are successful will depend on the willingness of the self-designated liberal group to yield on the point. The fact is that they have the votes to prevent the seating of the Member in question, but may not want to display or test their strength on this particular issue. There will undoubtedly be some deep wounds resulting from the issue regardless of what happens; wounds that may last for many years.

first order of business after the Members are sworn in will be the attempt on the part of the self-styled liberal group to throttle the power of the Rules Committee. The Rules Committee is a screening committee through which most all legislation must pass before being presented to the entire House of Representatives. It serves a most important purpose in providing an orderly flow of proper legislation before the Congress. It serves as a traffic cop to prevent the flooding of the House with bills from the numerous committees. It constitutes a safety valve on the type of legislation to come before the Congress, and provides an opportunity for legislative bills that have been approved by the several committees to be carefully weighed with reference to the time for the presentation of such bills, whether or not the same are necessary, and whether or not the bills may be advisable when viewed in the light of the fiscal condition or fiscal policy of the government.

The reason that the self-styled liberal group wants to throttle the power of the Rules Committee is because there are a number of bills that come before the Congress each year that these Members would like to bring before the entire House for extended debate or for immediate passage if the mood of the House at that particular time so demands. Should this power of the Rules Committee be destroyed, it is obvious that the much needed cooling-off period so necessary in the careful scrutiny of bills that are to become the law of this land would be likewise destroyed. This would cause chaos and confusion and could very well operate to the detriment of the entire country. The Congress tried this method a few years back, and found out that it would not work, and that it should be discarded. The first vote that I cast when I came to Congress was a vote to restore to the Rules Committee the power to exercise jurisdiction over the legislation to come before the Congress. It is my sincere hope that whatever attempt is made to do away with the power of the Rules Committee will fail, and it is my studied opinion that such will be the fate of the attempt by this group should it be tried in this session of Congress.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"My dear, nobody would DARE laugh at H!"

When these two matters have been disposed of, the Congress will then begin to consider a mass of legislative proposals that may well provide the backdrop to the most hectic session in many years.

YOUR Social Security

Some important changes have been made in the old-age and survivors insurance program as a result of the Social Security Amendments of 1958.

All of the changes, directly or indirectly, affect the American public as a whole.

Working person — employed and self-employed — need to know about them; their families need to know about them.

Most important, because it affects practically all working people and their families is the increase in benefit amounts. This applies to those now getting benefit payments and to those who become beneficiaries in the future.

Most monthly benefit checks will be about 7 per cent higher, with a minimum increase of at least $3.00 in the amount payable to a worker who retired at age 65 or later.

(Women workers who began to receive benefits at any time between age 62 and 65 will receive slightly smaller increases). The maximum monthly payment a family may receive is increased from $200 to $254 a month.

Families now receiving maximum monthly benefits under the law will receive increases from $7.50 to $54 depending upon the deceased worker's average monthly wages.

People now on the beneficiary rolls do not have to get in touch with the social security office to obtain increases. The larger amounts are effective with January and will show up on benefit checks for that month which will go in the mails early in February.

As you know, benefit amounts are figured from a working person's average earnings. Right now, only earnings up to a total of $4,200 in a year can be credited to a worker's social security account. Beginning with 1959, however, earnings up to $4,800 will be credited and taxable for social security purposes.

Social security taxes will be increased beginning with 1959. An employed person will have 2 and one half per cent taken out of his pay instead of the present two and one quarter per cent; his employer will contribute two and one half per cent also. The self-employment social security tax will be increased three eighths of one per cent and will become three and three fourths per cent of net earnings up to $4,800 in the year. Self-employed people will pay at this increased rate for the year 1959 with the tax return they make early in 1960.

Important changes have been made in the disability insurance provision in the law. If a worker, age 50-64, is getting monthly disability benefits because he is too disabled for further substantial gainful work, payments can be made to his dependents just like the payments made to old-age insurance beneficiaries. Moreover, a person entitled to social security disability benefits no longer has the amount of his benefit payment withheld because he is receiving disability payments from another Federal or State source.

The amended law also makes it easier for people whose disabilities develop gradually to qualify for either cash disability benefits or the disability "freeze". This is brought about through a change in the work requirements. It is no longer necessary that the worker have at least one and one half years of social security credit out of the 3-years before he became disabled. The standards for determining disability remain the same. A person must still be unable to perform substantial, gainful work. The new requirement is that the worker be fully insured and have 20 quarters of coverage out of the 40 calendar quarters before he became disabled.

"Good news, honey—I got the job."

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health.

Looking for a resolution to keep during 1959? Here's one that could save you or your family a lot of strife.

"I resolve to have myself and my entire family vaccinated against polio as soon as possible and to tell all my friends and relatives to do the same."

We understand about vaccinating ourselves and our families, but what about having everybody else vaccinated?

The fact of the matter is as much of the population as possible should also receive the series of three anti-polio shots.

Although it isn't a guarantee, Salk vaccine puts the odds overwhelmingly in your favor that you won't get paralytic polio.

The need is especially important for small children—those under five years of age. Attack rates were highest in one-year-olds, with more than 50 per cent of all paralytic cases occurring in children under five.

Thousands of little toddlers received tricycles last week for Christmas, but how many may never learn to ride before they are stricken with polio.

There is nothing so useless as a tricycle to a polio-stricken toddler. Poliomyelitis records in Texas indicated a slight rise in the number of cases in 1958 over 1957—half of these pre-school children.

The vaccine continues to show a high rate of effectiveness. Only 12.7 per cent of the total of paralytic cases in 1958 had received three shots of the vaccine throughout the United States. This is an

Small White Bass Running Forecast Big Ones To Come

Field biologists over the state report small white bass are beginning runs to the heads of lakes, according to the assistant director of inland fisheries of the Game and Fish Commission. The larger white bass will follow, and streams and their tributaries and below power dams should be the scene of good catches in the not too distant future.

In the past few years, since the end of the drought, white bass fishing has been excellent, indicating that ample water will assure good runs, the director said.

Large schools of whites are likely to be found near the tail race, or swift water, below dams on many Texas lakes. Known "hot spots" are the lakes on the Rio Grande, Colorado, Brazos and Red rivers. The assistant director added that whites are to be found in lakes around Wichita Falls and in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Since their introduction in 1932, white bass have gained in popularity with Texas fishermen. With the advent of spinning tackle white bass fishing has taken on added impetus, the assistant director said. This lighter gear allows long casts into mid-stream with unweighted minnows, and with small spoons and spinner lures.

effectiveness rate of about 87 per cent.

But the Salk vaccine's ultimate success rests with the entire community receiving the prescribed series of three shots.

And don't think your chances are better because you happen to live in a particular neighborhood or social order. Polio acknowledges no such restrictions.

Parents of young children who have not been vaccinated, particularly those under five, should start children on the course of three vaccinations immediately.

While you're in the doctor's office, have him vaccinate you too. Then on your way home tell your friends and neighbors.

That's a new year's resolution really worth keeping.

SPORTS AFIELD
By Ted Kesting

The essence of anything to be called sport is that each contestant should have a reasonable chance to win. This applies to fishing, too, says Jason Lucas, Angling Editor of Sports Afield magazine. If one's line (which in fly-rod fishing may be said to include the leader) is so strong that no fish can break it, what's being done is merely killing fish.

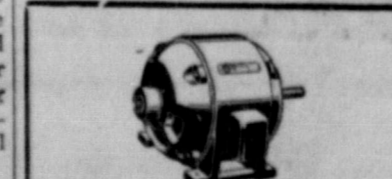

At first glance, it might seem that our expert would recommend the test line he thinks just right for each species of fish. But it's not that simple. We must consider how large the fish of a given species may run, where they'll be caught, and even the time of year when the fishing is being done.

Perhaps most important of all, the skill of the fisherman must be considered.

When using casting tackle for bass in water that is comparatively free of weeds, snags or sharp boulders around which a fish could run, Jason prefers the softest braided line he can find, of about five or six pounds test.

For an inexperienced fisherman in a similar situation, a line of about 12 pounds test would be the best. This would give him about the same chance of landing his fish that an experienced angler would have with the lighter line.

What if you use spinning tackle, not casting tackle? In that case, regardless of skill or experience, a six-pound line is your best bet. Since it isn't safe to try to set the drag of the reel too close to the rated strength of the line, you will be unable to exert over, say, a four-pound pull on a fish. But the inexperienced angler can't, if he gets excited, exert a heavier pull to break his line, as he could with a casting reel—the slipping clutch takes care of that. Nor does the monofilament generally used with spinning tackle weaken nearly as rapidly as braided casting line, so

How about fishing for bass among dense weeds or snags, or where there are sharp underwater boulders which could cut your line? Here Jason goes to a 12-pound line. Savings Bond Sales Achieve 87.1 Per Cent

During the month of November the citizens of Hall County purchased $5,482 in Series E and H Savings Bonds.

This announcement was made recently by O. L. Helm, chairman of Hall County's Savings Bonds Committee.

"Sales for the first eleven months of 1958 were $157,642,990 which represents 90% of the goal of $175,000,000.

"For this Christmas, more than ever, people need to give the gift of peace — U.S. Savings Bonds. It's a present with a future; and for the New Year, to keep our country strong and free and at peace with the world; to build for all the tomorrows, a land of which we will be continually proud; to provide security for the generations to come in the manner such as we have known, and above all — to keep the precious liberties and freedoms that are a part of our heritage," Helm concluded.

sult in most American-built and American-registered ships operating at a loss. More subsidies will be demanded.

9. Failures may not increase during 1959. Labor rates and wages which have been tied to the Federal Tables will be disputed by both labor and management.

11. On the basis of the above statements, I forecast, on the average, no wide change in 1959 for commodity prices. The recent recession is not over. Russia is still fighting us with an economic war.

12. There will be more strikes and labor troubles in 1959 than in 1958. Due to fear of unfavorable labor legislation and poor business conditions, labor leaders were on their good behavior in 1958.

13. It is now difficult to forecast the unemployment situation for 1959. Owing to the increase in automation, working forces will continue to be cut. Looking ahead to the elections of 1960, manufacturers, who are mostly Republicans, will want no more serious unemployment to occur.

14. Many plans for expansion of plants were postponed during 1958 for fear of a real depression. Some of these plans will be executed in 1959, although on a more moderate scale.

There will be a need for continued economic readjustment in 1959; but the playing of politics by both parties may temporarily postpone it.

15. 1959 will not see any marked change in money rates. However, borrowers who have not established good credit will continue to find it difficult to get new funds in 1959.

16. This means that it should be more difficult, on average, to sell long-term bonds in 1959 than in 1958. Buy only non-callable serial bonds or bonds of reasonable short maturities.

17. The supply of non-taxable state, municipal, and revenue bonds will increase during 1959. This will be due both to less readily available credit and to rising needs of municipalities.

18. The "fly in the ointment" will be the uncertainty of the Federal policy regarding the new $30,000,000,000 roadbuilding program. Will it compete with or protect toll roads recently built? I believe this program will not harm outstanding Turnpike Bonds.

19. Many investors will switch from stocks into bonds in 1959, thus obtaining both higher income and better security.

20. As inflation becomes more serious, only short-term bond issues—other than convertible bonds—should be held to maturity. Bonds should no longer be considered good "permanent" investments unless they are non-taxable or convertible on a reasonable basis.

21. The best investment policy during 1959 will continue to be a well-diversified portfolio of stocks, short-term bonds, and cash. Every conservative investor will keep one-third of his portfolio liquid, to have funds available in case of a sudden very severe drop in the stock market. This will come some day.

22. As the 1958 Congress has not accomplished more in correcting abuses in the Teamsters Union, the 1959 Congress will do little to improve the labor situation. Therefore, invest in companies which will not be subject to strikes. Banks and utilities probably are the most nearly immune.

23. The Taft-Hartley Act will not be amended, nor will labor's exemption from the anti-monopoly laws get more and more power until—with Russia's help—they bring on a real depression.

24. Due to unemployment and the difficulty of borrowing funds for installing automation (automatic factories), the machinery industry will continue quiet during 1959.

25. I now see no probability that either wages or retail prices will be "fixed" during 1959 unless Russia threatens World War III.

26. Most wage workers will be more efficient during 1959, which should enable some managements to increase their productivity and profits.

27. Executives will attend more strictly to business during 1959, reducing time spent on luncheon clubs, golf, etc.

28. Good building land on the proper side of growing cities will continue to increase in price notwithstanding a decline in suburban building. Small farmers holding such land should not now sell.

29. Small farms without any suburban possibilities may well consider selling to adjoining farmers if offered a fair price in 1959.

30. Large commercial farms with latest machinery should prosper during 1959; but small farmers may not do so well.

31. Pending a serious war, there will be no radical change in the Government's farm policy during 1959.

32. With less fear of serious war, the real estate situation in the larger cities may improve; but municipal taxes will increase.

33. Some suburban houses now owned by well-paid executives will come on the market in 1959, due to loss of positions or moves to other sections of the country.

34. Real estate mortgage money will be tighter in 1959 than in 1958. Furthermore, due to inflation, it will be worth less when due.

35. The demand for motels is largely satisfied; but there will be an increasing demand for very modern apartment houses—especially of the cooperative type. Old houses of all kinds will depreciate during 1959.

36. Woodland will continue to be in demand during 1959. This especially applies now to pine, which is used for pulp. Hold woodland in 1959.

37. More Russian imports of pulpwood may be expected in 1959; but this should largely be offset by the increased domestic demand for cartons and packages for shipping and displaying merchandise.

38. Both timber and oil reserves of Canada will gradually increase in value. I am bullish on many Canadian and African investments.

39. The greatest factor in determining the price of city land and businesses in general is the automobile and availability of parking space. This is responsible for both the boom in suburban real estate and the decline of city property. Buying city real estate without nearby parking facilities is a great mistake.

40. I was wrong in my forecast a year ago as to the Dow-Jones Averages. Although many stocks sell lower today than a year ago, the Dow-Jones Averages—especially the Industrials—sell higher. However, I will again run the risk and forecast that they will sell lower sometime in 1959 than they do today.

41. My forecast of the bond market for 1958 was correct. I am inclined to reverse that forecast in the case of long-term non-convertible bonds, that is, they should sell for less sometime in 1959 than they are selling for today.

42. I continue to forecast that high-grade, cumulative, non-callable first preferred stocks will sell for less sometime in 1959 than they do today.

43. I repeat what I said last year regarding "cheap" stocks: "The large fortunes made in the stock market have come from buying non-dividend-paying common stocks at $5.00 a share or under. These will be the first to reach a buying level." If you are to buy these low-priced common stocks, you should seek companies without too much prior debt or cumulative preferred stock outstanding. They are the best common stocks for "capital gains."

44. Convertible bonds should hold up fairly well during 1959.

45. The best investment policy for 1959 is for one now to have a good bank account so funds will be available to buy bargains when a sufficient break comes in stocks, bonds, real estate, and commodities.

46. There will be many failures in hastily organized electronics, nuclear, and similar companies during 1959.

47. With two or three exceptions, railroad stocks should be avoided during 1959 and until a definite long-range program of government aid is assured.

48. For steady income and fair marketability, well established, utility stocks should be the best for conservative investors not looking for profit. This especially applies to cumulative first preferred non-callable utility stocks.

49. The three handicaps to American business are fear of inflation, the fear of union labor leaders, and the fear of President Eisenhower's physical collapse.

50. The three hopes for America are our churches, our schools, and a desire to "pay as you go!" For these to function properly we must depend upon the parents of our nation.

Miss Agnes Oliver of Wichita Falls visited here with her mother, Mrs. J. W. Oliver who is in a hospital suffering with a broken knee cap. She is reported to be recuperating nicely and hopes to be at home soon.

C. of C. Director Election To Be Held By Mail

Ballots for electing new directors of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce and Hall County Board of Development will be mailed out Saturday, Clifford Farmer, manager of the organization, said this week.

The retiring directors are M. C. Allen, Herschel Combs, J. W. Coppedge and Homer Tucker.

The organization has 12 directors with four being elected each year for a three-year term. Retiring directors are not eligible for re-election and their names will not appear on the ballot, Farmer said.

However, the past president, Tucker, is an ex-officio member of the board for one year.

The carry-over directors who have one more year to serve are Jim Beeson, Allen Dunbar, J. M. Ferrel Jr., and Lloyd Martin.

Directors with two more years to serve are Dr. D. H. Aronofsky, O. E. Bevers, Dick Fowler and A. L. Gailey.

Ballots should be returned to the C. of C. office not later than Saturday, Jan. 10.

The Road Ahead

The new year came in with a roar last night and the old one crept off into the darkness of history books and other such writings. As a whole, nineteen hundred and fifty-eight was pretty good to the people of this area. Many pockets have more money to jingle than they have had in a long time.

Now we must face the new year and make our plans. It seems to us that there are several things on the local scene which need the attention of honest-thinking citizens. The first one is a complete overhaul of the tax situation. By this we mean a complete re-evaluation of all the property in the city, school districts, county and other towns in the county. Some opposed to such a plan have pointed out that it would cost a lot of money to hire a crew of experts to re-evaluate all of the property within the county. However, we believe that there are enough wrong evaluations on the rolls to more than pay for this service.

Anytime one discusses money there are a few who are opposed to it purely because they don't know exactly how it will affect them, and people are by nature afraid of the unknown. There are those who are afraid that a tax re-evaluation will raise their taxes. If their taxes are raised as a result of a re-evaluation, then it means they haven't been paying their fair share of taxes during past years. We don't believe that there is anyone who would object to paying his fair share of the cost of running the city, county and school operations.

The city and schools are all just about to the point of going into the red and there has been talk of another "across the board" increase. This approach will bring in additional revenue, but it will also widen the gap between those who are paying a fair amount of tax and those who are not. We don't like to pay taxes any more than the next fellow but they have to be paid if we are to have police and fire protection, street lights, road work, and the thousands of other things which we demand.

Another project needed here is a community building. This has been talked about in the past and will be discussed a lot more in the future. There is no end to the number of organizations which need such a building. And not only will it be used by local organizations but there are also a lot of other groups which could meet in such a building and bring in quite a number of "out-of-towners."

We have made great strides here during the past few years with the boys summer program, Scout organizations—both boys and girls, as well as other projects. But we must continue to work throughout the coming year if our community and area is to grow. It is impossible to stand still—we will either go forward or backward, and the choice is ours.

Press Paragraphs— QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

On Congressional Committees
Much is written about congressional committees, the power they wield, the power their chairmen wield, and whether the seniority tradition which governs position on committees is meritorious or not. The average reader may not have a clear idea of these committees, their functions, and rules governing their membership.

To begin with, in the re-organization of Congress, more than ten years ago, the number of committees was reduced to fifteen regular standing committees in the Senate and nineteen in the House. (A few committees have been organized since then.)

Membership is based on the composition of the two Houses, as among the two major parties. For example, if the Democrats hold three-fourths of the seats in the Senate, every Senate committee will consist of approximately three-fourths Democrats and one-fourth Republicans.

Because the Democrats gained forty-seven seats in the House and thirteen in the Senate in the recent congressional elections, their margins on all congressional committees will increase appreciably in January. And, if a committee is composed largely of leftwing Democrats, as an example, it will report out legislation reflecting these views.

It is true that committee chairmen have considerable restraining power and because they reach their chairmanships on the basis of seniority, objections are often voiced. However, the chairman cannot report legislation out of his committee which is not favored by the majority, and if the committee is determined to report out legislation the chairman can rarely block the will of the majority.

What will hurt Republicans most in the new Congress is a combination of weaker committee membership and weaker House representation. In other words, whereas the Republican party could usually, in the past Congress, count on the support of several conservatives from the South on most committees, perhaps to block objectionable or unconstitutional legislation, they and whatever allies they might pick up in the South, may now be out-voted or overwhelmed in committees.

In addition, after legislation which conservatives oppose reaches the floor of either House the larger and more liberal (or leftwing) majorities in both Houses will not be easily countered by the conservatives. Therefore, it will be easier for the leftwingers, or liberals, to get legislation out of committee, and easier for them to pass it once it is out of committee, and the next Congress—a twofold advantage.

The most confused interpretation of committees is the impression among some that, because the chairman remain in office because of seniority from year to year, the "mood" of the committee does not change. It changes as a result of committee composition, and all committees will change considerably in January.

No Time For Brakes
Business mail of all classes—first, second, third and fourth—is the force that, more than any other, keeps the American economy in motion.

Instructions, orders, invoices, payments, information on products and services and a myriad different products themselves; magazines, books and newspapers—all flow through the mails in mountainous quantity, and all contribute to our welfare, maintain and expand our celebrated living standards and are essential to meeting pay rolls, paying rent, buying equipment, producing profits on investments.

As it has since Colonial days, the post office remains the great American community center. Far more than the local communications headquarters, it symbolizes the exchange of goods as well as ideas. It is the bearer of gifts that brings families and friends together on anniversaries and birthdays and at Christmas time—no matter what the geographical separation. It extends the merchant's sphere of operations, and gives both the cross-roads storekeeper and the most remote consumer the opportunity of shopping in the markets of the nation—and the world at large.

Clearly, anything that disturbs business mail shakes the national economy, threatens employment and the expansion of gross national product—on which progress and prosperity depend.

And, truly, any force that imperils the historically unprecedented prestige of the great American Post Office endangers the spirit of America.

Mrs. L. G. Rasco, Guest Artist, Presents Music for Culture Club Christmas Party

A Christmas party in the home of Mrs. Frank Ellis marked the meeting of the Woman's Culture Club held Wednesday, Dec. 17.

The entertainment rooms were decorated in the seasonal motif, with a beautifully decorated tree as the focal point of the living room. Miniature manager scenes were noted throughout.

Mrs. Richard Cole presented the traditional Christmas story, after which Mrs. L. G. Rasco furnished piano selections of "The Story" and "Joy Is Born Today".

Carols were sung by the group and Mrs. Ellis, acting as Santa distributed gifts. Not forgetting the less fortunate families, members voted to furnish milk for needy children during the month of January.

Miss Marietta Byars, Jerry Smith Wed in Evening Ceremony Held at Lesley

Sacramental vows were exchanged by Miss Marietta Byars, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Byars of Lakeview, and Jerry Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Paul Smith of Memphis on Dec. 20, at 5 p.m. in the Lesley Baptist Church.

The double-ring ceremony was officiated by Jabez McGowan, pastor of the church, beneath an archway of flowers, flanked on each side by white baskets of gladiolas and tapers and candelabras. A basket of greenery stood behind the archway, adorned with large white bows.

Miss Monta June Saye of Memphis played traditional piano selections and accompanied Carl Meyer, brother-in-law of the bride, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Attending the bride was Miss Cherry Denton of Turkey, who wore an aqua velveteen sheath dress with matching picture hat. Her aqua mitts completed the costume, which was accented with a corsage of white carnations.

Sandy Smith of Memphis acted as his brother's attendant. Ushers were Kent Byars of Lakeview, cousin of the bride, and Truman Smith, cousin of the groom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white gown of lace and net over taffeta. The bouffant waltz-length skirt fell from the fitted bodice, with two tiers of lace forming an apron effect over the taffeta underskirt.

The bodice, featuring brief sleeves, was highlighted with a boat neckline dipping to a point at the back. Tiny covered buttons were sewn from this point to the waist. Dainty lace butterflies graced the skirt. The bride wore a train of seed pearls, to which an elbow-length veil of net was attached. Net mitts edged with lace accented the ensemble.

Her bouquet was of pastel pink sweetheart roses atop a white pearl Bible. She wore a single strand of pearls and matching earclips, borrowed from her cousin, Mrs. Robert Allen Hodges.

Mrs. Byars, mother of the bride, wore a two-piece dress of powder blue with white accessories, and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Smith, the groom's mother, chose a powder blue suit trimmed with a white fur collar. Her corsage was of white carnations.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the home of Mrs. Mona Robertson in Memphis. The serving table was laid with white lace over aqua, centered with an arrangement of aqua and white mums, and flanked by aqua candelabras. Mrs. R. S. Wansley presided at the guest register. Mrs. Kent Byars served the lovely wedding cake, and Mrs. Carl Meyer, sister of the bride, presided at the punch service. Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. Herman Davenport and Mrs. Robert Smith were also included in the house party.

For a short wedding trip, Mrs. Smith wore an ice blue suit with a corsage from her bridal bouquet. She is employed with the Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Office in Memphis, and her husband is engaged in farming. They will be at home on their farm west of Memphis.

Out-of-town guests for the ceremony and reception included Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Parr, Mrs. Grady Parr and Donna Kay, all of Childress; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Naylor of Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. Irl Smith

During the social hour Christmas carols were sung by the group and gifts were exchanged from a gaily lighted tree.

As a news-making year, 1958 lacked the lid-blowing scandals and sensational headlines that erupted from the Capitol in '56 and '57.

But it was a momentous year in many ways. Elections. Recession. State treasury bankrupt. Much talk of new taxes.

Many research reports were made — by the State Tax Study Commission, The Texas Research League, the Hale-Aikin Committee. Required reports came from the Board of Water Engineers, Higher Education Commission and Legislative Council.

All in all, 1958 was a year of surveys, a time of critical self-examination. All the research reports made lengthy stories, little headlines. Few are complete stories. Most will be continued into the turbulent Legislative year of 1959.

A month by month review of 1958, including top news events, both good and bad, depending on your viewpoint, follows:

January

Gov. Price Daniel refused to be gloomy about state finances. He said he wasn't convinced the State Treasury would be in the red by 1959, as some said, nor of the need for new taxes.

New State Water Planning Board set up shop with the aim of doubling Texas' water storage capacity. . . . Land Commissioner Earl Rudder resigned to become A&M Vice President. Bill Allcorn of Brownwood succeeded Rudder. . . . Rival groups of optometrists squared off in a court battle to decide legality of price advertising.

Early-day satellites swirled overhead and a lot of people were worrying whether our schools were as good as Russia's. . . . Hale-Aikin Committee asked for grass-roots suggestions for school improvement.

February

Gov. Daniel proposed that precinct convention be abolished and that delegates to the county convention be named by direct primary vote. It was a surprise counter-move to the "code of ethics" campaign being conducted by the DOT as part of its drive to wrest party control from the governor.

State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert predicted a $12,000,000 state revenue deficit and need for $100,000,000 in new taxes by 1959. . . . Economists announced bluntly that there was a recession.

March

Texas oil allowable dwindled to nine producing days. Oil Imports Study Commission blamed excess stocks on over-production during Suez crisis, competition since from foreign oil.

Unemployment payments hit a figure double that of a year ago. . . . And many Texas farmers reported it was "too wet to plow."

April

Oil allowable tumbled to an all-time low, eight producing days. . . . But TEC, for the first time in 1958, announced a significant drop in joblessness.

Former Sen. Bill Blakely, Dallas financier, announced he'd run for senate post held by Ralph Yarborough. It was starting gun for summer politicking.

May

Eight-day oil production pattern continued. . . . Governor Daniel kicked off a campaign to save 254 lives in '58 by reducing the 1957 highway death toll 10 per cent.

Bureau of Business Research reported the recession "is still very much with us."

June

Election campaigns got into high gear. But as much, if not more, attention focused on the "after-hours" election, the precinct conventions. Prize in the struggle would be control of the state convention in September and selection of party officials for the next two years. Leading the rival factions Governor Daniel and National Committeewoman Mrs. R. D. Randolph.

July

Primaries returned almost all incumbents to major offices, including Ralph Yarborough to the U. S. Senate and Price Daniel to another term as governor.

Oil was up to nine producing days. . . . Economic analysts pointed to lessening unemployment, hefty bank deposits, said it might be "a good year after all."

August

Legislative Budget Board wrestled with money requests from state agencies far in excess of expected revenue for 1960-61. . . . Second primary settled who would sit in 56th Legislature, but not who would preside over the House. Both Joe Burkett of Kerrville and Waggoner Carr of Lubbock claim-enough pledges to be elected speaker.

Leaders of all types of Democrats called for "harmony" at September convention. Oil allowable rose to 11 days.

September

Hale-Aikin Committee made its first report on proposals to update, enrich public schools. . . . Fiscal leaders in Legislature upped their gloomy predictions on new revenue needs to $140,000,000.

Texas Democrats turned their eyes toward 1960 after convention controlled by the Governor despite DOT outrage over the exclusion of its members from the Executive Committee.

October

Texas General Revenue Fund ran dry and began going in the hole. . . . Hale-Aikin Committee reconsidered and reversed its previous stand against federal aid for school lunch programs and vocational training.

Commission on Higher Education proposed a more unified study program for state colleges and universities, concentrating graduate work at UT and A&M. . . . Texans debated merits of nine proposed amendments to the state Constitution.

November

State fiscal officials upped their estimates of needed new revenue to nearly $200,000,000. . . . Industry leaders called the oil industry "sick". Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson called for mandatory import controls.

Many public officials were disappointed over amendment voting. Salary raises for legislators and pension plans for county officials got thumbs down.

December

Waning weeks of '58 saw a flood of legislative proposals flow into Austin. . . . Hale-Aikin Committee, joined by Texas State Teachers Association, asked more pay for teachers, more courses, longer school year. Others wanted safety legislation, fiscal help for cities, flexible auto insurance rates, small loan company regulation, etc.

State Tax Study Commission made no recommendation beyond its reporting of the fiscal facts of life in Texas. Governor Daniel estimate the state would need $65,000,000 a year more for future spending plus $55,000,000 to wipe out the deficit. He said he thought it could be done without general sales or income taxes.

And the safety crusade moved toward an unknown outcome as

Four Charged With Taking Money From Store

Four residents of Morningside were arrested this week and charged with taking money from the cash register of the Hall Grocery Store at Eli, Sheriff W. P. Baten Jr. said.

Three of the group pled guilty to the charge and the fourth is being held in jail here in lieu of $1,000 bond.

The incident took place about 3 p. m. Saturday afternoon when the four entered the store and two or three of them went to the meat case in back of the building. Zach Cox was waiting on the ones at the front of the store allegedly opened the cash register and took some money, officers said.

Cox saw the person at the register, shouted and all of the group ran from the store. After they had fled in a car, county officers were called.

The three who pled guilty were Henry O. Newsome, Lourenza McDonald and Arlie Lee Robertson. They all appeared before Justice of Peace J. S. Grimes Monday.

Newsome was fined $50 and costs, amounting to $69.50 and the other two were fined $25 and costs, totaling $44.50.

Vernell Morris, who pled innocent to the charge is being held in jail.

community center and many called to pay their respects to the Jones family. For more than 40 years Dr. Jones was one of Wellington's most valued citizens, a civic and church worker at all times, and greatest of all was his contribution to the sick and suffering of the area. Not only did he spend time and medical skill in serving others, he also spent his own money in erecting an up-to-date hospital there and then donating it to the Sisters who run it under the name of St. Joseph's Hospital.

The many friends who attended the party expressed the belief that Dr. E. W. Jones had truly been a man of service there for more than 40 years, unselfish in his desire to use his medical skill for the benefit of others. We, who attended from Memphis, were proud to be among the well wishers.

Outside of the Wellington visit, we don't want to see any more turkey for a good while.

Rio de Janeiro's city government includes a department of agriculture. The reason is that Rio is far from occupying all its special territorial unit, the Federal District. Sixty per cent of the District's 450 square miles is forest and 10 per cent is farm land.

Field Workers Of Game Dept. Get Uniforms

Field personnel of the Game and Fish Commission will, for the first time, don uniforms, according to C. L. Friou, the fiscal director of the commission. Delivery to 154 employees began about December 15.

Game and fisheries biologists, hatchery personnel, and field assistants will be issued a hat and olive green wool shirts, jacket and trousers. This will be similar to those worn by game wardens.

Purpose of the uniform is to identify persons having direct contact with the public.

Shoulder patches will further identify each person's particular rank and work assignment.
