Country Club Lays Plans For Two Tournaments To Be Held June 13, 14

A Scotch tournament and a junior tournament for members of the Memphis Country Club will be held June 13 and 14, according to an announcement this week by J. W. Coppedge, chairman of the tournament committee.

Both of the events will be preceded by a Dutch Luncheon Friday night, June 12. Arrangements for the events are under the direction of the tournament committee composed of Coppedge, Otis Cobb, Ben Parks, Mutt Wansley and Louis Saied.

The Scotch tournament is an event where all of the players are divided into teams of two. Players who shoot a high score are paired off with those who shoot a low score so that the total score of all teams is about equal, the chairman explained.

Both members of the team hit balls on the drive and then select the best ball, and alternate hitting it until the hole is completed.

The winners of the tournament are determined by medal scores. Prizes of merchandise will be presented to first, second, third and fourth place teams.

Junior Tournament

The junior tournament will be for all boys 13 years old or younger. They will play a straight medal tournament.

There will be no entry fee for the youths and the fee for the other golfers is $3.50 for the tournament and the luncheon. For those men who want to attend the luncheon but do not want to play in the tournament, the fee will be $1.50.

Anyone desiring to play in the tournament must qualify by June 12 and turn in a score at the pro shop. Entry fees may be paid to any member of the tournament committee or to Choyce Denson, pro-manager at the club.

Pairings for the tournament will be made at the luncheon on Friday, June 12, and the tournament will be played Saturday, and Sunday, June 13 and 14.

$289,000 Loan Approved For Hall County Electric

Tigers Continue Lead In Little League Play

The Hall County Electric Cooperative Wednesday received word from Washington that a loan of $289,000 had been approved by the Rural Electrification Administration, Sam Ross, president of the board of directors, announced.

The announcement came in telegrams from David Hamie, REA administrator, Senators Lyndon Johnson, Ralph Yarborough and Congressman Walter Rogers.

J. W. Coppedge, manager for the local office, said that part of the money will be used over the next five years for system improvements to the present lines. This will include some conversion of lines to three phase and installation of heavier equipment to take care of greater power usage.

Part of the loan will also be used for construction to serve new customers, engineering services and new equipment.

REA loans are not a gift but a loan from the federal government and must be repaid over the next 35 years with interest, it was explained.

The money is reserved for the coop here and is not actually borrowed until it is needed to finance the improvements, etc., Coppedge explained.

The last loan approved for the Hall County Electric Cooperative was in October of 1951 for $114,000. It was explained that if the present trend continues, the electricity usage will probably be doubled by 1975.

The manager also explained that the repayment of the loan could be made under the present structure of the firm unless some unusual circumstances should arise.

He also pointed out that this year, for the first time since 1951, the loss of rural customers has slowed. At present the Coop has 1090 miles of lines serving 1300 rural consumers. They operate largely in Hall, Motley, and Briscoe Counties, and have some lines in Donley, Cottle, Collingsworth, and Childress Counties.

Members of the board, other than Ross, are Don Leary, vice president; H. C. Fowler, secretary-treasurer; D. C. Messick, Joe Bloodworth, W. W. George and C. V. Murff.

New Fireproofing Adds Greater Safety To All Memphis Schools

School officials this week tested a new flameproofing system which has gone a long way toward making the Memphis Schools safer.

The flameproofing consists of a material which is sprayed on untreated wood and penetrates into the wood, leaving a residue which will prevent the wood from burning.

The process was applied to the exterior portions of the High School, Travis Elementary, Austin Elementary, Band Hall, Shop and Bus Garage.

Thomas Clayton, former fire inspector, tested the job Monday with school officials by trying to set fire to some of the treated wood with a blowtorch. The wood charred and blackened, but did not burst into flames.

The flameproofing process is permanent protection.

In discussing the fireproofing, Clayton said that the job could save lives and thousands of dollars in damage.

In addition to providing a fire safety factor for children, the work also reduces the school's insurance costs by about 15% on walls, floors, closets, staircases, curtains, and all untreated woodwork in the three schools which have been flameproofed.

Clayton said that the job would be completed by the end of the week Monday when the Board of Education will be met.

Total Of 218 Dogs Receive Vaccination

A total of 218 animals were vaccinated here last Saturday in the second annual free rabies vaccination for dogs sponsored by the Memphis Rotary and Lions Clubs.

The event went off in smooth order as the animals were brought to Dr. Charles Deyhle, veterinarian from Clarendon, who was in charge of the vaccination.

Dwight Kinard was in charge of the Rotary Club committee while James Van Pelt headed the Lions Club group.

Owners were given tags to be attached to the dogs collars and the numbers of the tags were recorded for use of the city police in determining dog ownership.

The only mishap involved in the event was when a large dog bit off the end of O. R. Saye's little finger. Saye had on heavy welding gloves at the time.

More About the Constitution

The mail has been bringing in numerous letters with relation to the recent decision of the Supreme Court concerning a case decided in Baltimore, Maryland. The case is Frank vs Maryland, in which the Supreme Court decided that the owner of property could be fined under a Baltimore ordinance for refusal to admit a health inspector, even though the inspector had no search warrant. It is indeed encouraging to see the people becoming deeply concerned about their constitutional rights. My only wish is that this concern had been evidenced at a much earlier time. I have long protested the encroachments and invasions of the rights of the individual American. You call them states rights, personal rights, constitutional rights, or individual rights, but under any name they mean the same thing. The term, "states rights", has been maligned throughout the country simply by associating it with civil rights, racial prejudice, and any other term that might cast reflection on it. The fact is that if you have certain rights under the laws of the State in which you live and the Federal government moves in, usurps the field, and destroys these rights, you have actually lost some individual rights. I say that I am happy to see the people becoming concerned about this problem, because I was afraid that many people in this country had been lulled into a false sense of security and would accept the destruction of these rights simply as a matter of course. In many parts of the country that could well be the case.

My fear was generated wholly by the general reaction to some past decisions of the Supreme Court which were as serious, in my opinion, as the recent decision in the Frank vs Maryland case.

Space will not permit me to discuss all of these, but there are two I want to make brief reference to. One of these was the case of Berman Executors vs Parker, decided in October, 1954, in which the Supreme Court held that an agency of the Federal government could take private property under the right of eminent domain and redevelop it for private, not public, purposes. In other words, the government condemned a department store that was located in an area which the agency determined needed to be redeveloped, even though the department store, the building and the land were in good order, were not slum housing, and the property was not to be put to public use. The key reasoning supporting this decision was the sentence: "if owner after owner were permitted to resist these redevelopment programs on the ground that his particular property was not being used against the public interest, integrated plan for redevelopment would suffer greatly." They also said: "The rights of the property owners were satisfied when they received that just compensation which the 5th Amendment exacts as the price of the taking."

This decision did not stir up much concern at the time it was rendered in 1954, although I referred to it on numerous occasions as being a destruction of the basic rights of ownership of property. Under this decision a redevelopment agency could determine that the section of a town in which you live should be redeveloped, and could come in and take your property by condemnation and permit the redevelopment of the entire area for private profit even though you did not want to part with your home or other property.

Another decision of consequence is a recent decision in the case of Abate vs the United States. In that case it was held that a defendant could be tried twice for the same identical offense—once by the State and once by the Federal government — although the Constitution states in clear and unequivocal terms "nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb".

I also wrote a newsletter several years ago and made numerous speeches with relation to the separation of powers as constituted in our government. I pointed out the basic history of the powers of the Supreme Court. I again point out that under the separation of powers theory of government, the general powers of the Supreme Court cannot be curtailed by the Congress. I know there are many arguments pro and con on this subject, but the fact remains that the Supreme Court has the power to determine the constitutionality of any act passed by the Congress. Hence, the proper and effective procedure to be pursued, if the people of this country desire a curtailment of the powers of the Supreme Court, is by amendment to the Constitution of the United States. This can be done under the Constitution, as specifically provided in the Constitution, as follows:

"The Congress, whenever two thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose Amendments to this Constitution, or, on the Application of the Legislatures of two thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for propos-

Courtney D. Scott Transferred To New AEC Section

Courtney D. Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Scott, has recently been transferred from the Atomic Energy Commission Idaho operations office, Division of Engineering and Construction, to the Division of Military Reactors.

Scott formerly held the position of Assistant Chief of the office engineering branch and in his new role will be contract administrator in a relatively new division in the Idaho operations office. This division is responsible for a series of prototype reactors for the Department of Defense at the Commissions National Reactor testing station.

A graduate of the University of New Mexico, Scott holds a B. S. Degree in Civil Engineering. He had worked for AEC for the past 10 years at Los Alamos, N.M., Paducah, Ky., and Idaho Falls, Idaho.

He is married to the former Cleo Mae White of Albuquerque, N.M. The couple have three children, Danny, age 11; Nancy, 4; and Stan, 2. The family resides at 1265 Browder Drive in Idaho Falls.

Parnell Community Club Meets in Club Room Monday

The Parnell Community Club met May 20, in the club room with Leona Burk presiding in the absence of Lucille Cope.

Roll Call was answered with a favorite vegetable. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by Lena Hill. The Lord's Prayer was read by Lottie Buchanan.

The group was dismissed by Cordye Hood. Those present were: Lena Freeze, Sal Couch, Lena Hill, Leona Burk, La Wayne Boney, Lottie Buchanan, Joe Hawkins, Sandra Winn, Cordye Hood, and Mrs. Zach Hood, two visitors, Pauline Hurst and Kay Teese.

ing Amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all Intents and Purposes, as Part of this Constitution, when ratified by the Legislatures of three fourths of the several States, or by Conventions in three fourths thereof, as the one or the other Mode of Ratification may be proposed by the Congress."

It is my present feeling that if a curtailing amendment to the Constitution is desired by the electorate, it will need to come from the several States. I do not think that two thirds of the Congress at the present time would approve such an amendment. I repeat that I have long deplored the manner in which the basic constitutional rights of the people of this country have been circumvented, invaded, and destroyed, and I shall continue my efforts to stem this tide and to correct it.

This research would be not only into how to cure a disease once a person has it, but in how to keep people from getting it and how to help the doctors recognize an infection as soon as possible. Research to help the physically and mentally handicapped lead normal lives again is included.

Not only is mankind faced with diseases which so far have defied a cure, such as cancer, multiple sclerosis, leprosy, heart disease and others, but new ailments are being discovered. The atomic age has confronted scientists and doctors with new maladies stemming from radioactivity about which little is known. The scientists themselves cannot agree about the amount of radioactivity the human body can stand. This bill could well help the men of science to find more answers in this vital field.

There has been some talk of who is leading in the missile race, but this nation must stay ahead in the health field. This nation produced 7,000 medical doctors last year. Russia turned out 16,000. 2,000 of these Soviet doctors are There'll be 'big doin's' and plenty to eat At The Giles Picnic on old Buck Creek. So, scrub the young'uns. Get 'em all in shape. Pack your basket and don't be late. It's May 30 but come the day before And Camp, if you like, two days or more. Folks'll be there from miles around To dance and visit on the picnic ground. With free barbecue, peaches and beans; Dudes and Janes sporting bonnets and jeans. We'll have heaps o' fun When we get together, regardless the weather, So Y'ALL COME!

The above is your invitation to attend the Giles Picnic Saturday as issued by Virginia Browder... or, as the writer says, if you like—just come on early; there's plenty of camping ground.

"Free barbecued beef, peaches and beans" certainly sounds tempting... but since the grandchildren are coming to our house—we'll have to take a rain check this year!

Something new in the way of summer training for band students is being initiated for the first time this year. It is called the Greenbelt Summer Band School and will be held in Childress from June 1 through 12. Serving as teachers will be several well-known band instructors including Robert C. Taylor of Wichita Falls and Bill Woods of Seagraves, former drum major of the Hardin-Simmons University band. Tuition is $10 for all courses of instruction. Larry Sparks, local band instructor, said more than 30 students from here will attend the school. A special course in pre-band twirling is being featured and anyone interested in enrolling for the course is requested to call Mr. Sparks. Buses will take the students to the school in Childress, leaving at 7 a.m. and returning by noon.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Madden who this week quietly celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary. It has been our pleasure to live next door to this fine couple for more than ten years.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Roper, our neighbors across the street, are enjoying a visit this week from Mr. Roper's nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Roper and daughter from Tupelo, Miss. This is their first time to visit our state and we understand they like our wide-open spaces! Tuesday they enjoyed the scenic drive up the cap, through Tullahoma and on to Palo Duro Canyon. A drive we haven't made as yet ourselves, but understand is beautiful.

Off for a marvelous month's tour of Europe this week is our friend, Lorraine Tarver. We know she is going to have a wonderful trip and we're hoping she will share her experiences with us by a few letters now and then. Accompanying Lorraine are Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Noel and daughter Tommye of Denton. Tommye also promised to send us a line along the way.

Everywhere one goes nowadays... it's baseball talk that predominates. We're missing out on fun we surmise, a thing we don't like to do! Looks as if we are going to have to adopt us a player and go out and "root" for a team! Of course the Little League is for the young folks we understand, but we can tell the grown-ups are getting a big bang out of it, too!

Helen Dunbar, who spent the weekend in Canyon with her parents, ran into the hail storm at Claude when coming home Monday afternoon. In fact it took her four hours to make the trip. She was lucky and didn't receive damage to her car, but several travelers she saw had their window lights and glasses broken out as well as dented fenders, etc.

It's always gratifying to hear good news from former Memphis residents, and we like to pass the information on to their friends here. We are sure Mr. and Mrs. Harry Delaney of Lubbock are proud of their accomplished daughter, Carole Jean, and Justy so. Carole Jean is graduating from the University of Texas next week with the highest grade-point average in the college of fine arts. We know her friends here will be happy to learn of the fine record attained by this young lady.

Then, we understand John Clark, son of Mrs. R. E. Clark, has recently received a nice promotion with a Dallas insurance company with which he has been associated for the past several months. John is married to the former Patsy Sue Hays, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hays.

Another promotion for a former Hall County boy comes to Courtney D. Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Scott. Courtney is a civil engineer and has been with the Atomic Energy Commission for the past 10 years. In his new post he will be contract administrator of the Division of Military Reactors. The Scott family lives at 1265 Browder Drive in Idaho Falls, Idaho, and invited all Hall Counties who might be touring Yellowstone Park or the Grand Teton National Park to visit them as they pass through Idaho Falls.

Thought for the Day: "Sometimes he hardest thing for a person to do is keep his mind open and his mouth shut."

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Greeson and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mauck and daughters and Mrs. H. M. Lang spent Sunday in Amarillo visiting with Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Greeson and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy DeWees of Amarillo visited her mother, Mrs. Hester Bownds Friday and Saturday. Her son, Vernon returned home with her after a visit in Memphis for the past week.

Methodist Guild Installs New Officers Monday

The Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church met for the annual salad supper pledge service and installation of new officers for the year 1959-60, in the home of Mrs. W. V. Coursey, on Monday evening.

Mrs. John Fowler presided and asked Rev. David Binkley to give the invocation. Following the meal Mrs. R. V. Messer led the opening prayer followed by the group singing a hymn.

Mrs. Arthur Gidden led the service for pledging to the ongoing of God's work. Guild askings and mission work.

Mrs. Mikred Stephens told that organization is described in the early formation of the church and also shown when Jesus selected the 12 disciples, as well as the work of the Woman's Division.

Mrs. Gordon Gilliam prepared the lovely worship setting, using a lighted globe representing the light of the world, an empty cross as a symbol of God's greatest gift and an offering plate to carry on the work. Mrs. Gidden gave a prayer followed by Rev. Binkley presenting the installation service.

Rev. Binkley chose the text of St. John and the words "I Am" found only in John. His illustration being, "I am a Methodist, I am a member of the Guild, I am an officer of the Guild" and concluding this inspirational message "This is my commandment—To love one another and to serve God."

Officers installed were: Mrs. Barney Burnett, president; Mrs. W. W. Linville, vice president;

Mrs. Gordon Gilliam, president; Mrs. W. W. Linville, secretary of promotion; Mrs. Arthur Gidden, treasurer; Mrs. G. DeBerry, coordinator; Mrs. D. Morris and Mrs. W. V. Coursey, secretary of missionary education and service; Mrs. R. V. Messer, secretary of spiritual life and Louie Merrill, secretary of life of women.

Thoroughbred Horses Smarter Fan Says

Below Virginia... certain time, the gate was opened and the fillies turned out to water, to which they went running. All those that did not stop short on command were destroyed. This is an example of their rigid training.

Coming closer to home, when General Lee or Stonewall Jackson rode into battle, do you suppose they mounted a Morgan, a Tennessee Walking horse, an American Saddle Horse, (the Quarter Horse hadn't yet hatched). No, they climbed upon and were carried into combat with the finest Thoroughbred cavalry mount obtainable.

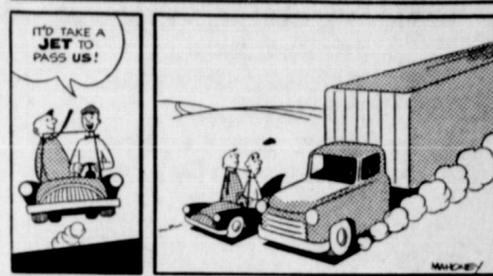

If the Thoroughbred were too thin-skinned or unable to carry weight... if he had not passed every test for endurance and performance, would the armies all over the world use them? Units of the American Cavalry were active during World War II. Riding Thoroughbreds, they were.

What was that bit about a horse being less intelligent than a pig? Need I say more than I have already said? The only reason there is so much chatter about the Quarter Horse is that most folks have never ridden a really good Thoroughbred pony.

By what authority do I speak so boldly? Through personal experience and first hand observation. I have raised and ridden both breeds. But don't take only my word for these facts.

Soil Conservation News

The People's Own Program Whether you live in the country or along "Main Street" in some busy town, you're probably close to the flood orbit of a watershed. And it may be later than you think.

Poorly protected watersheds can be dangerous actors, set to cut loose with the first big storm. In some areas of Texas, spring flash floods cause damage to lives and property almost every year. Only last week over 6 inches of rain was reported at Paducah.

The United States has a long string of costly floods. In many states they come with round the clock frequency. Then there are the ones that sneak up and come at you without warning.

Today, many communities look to the Watershed Protection and Prevention Act, known as P.L. 566, as the answer to the nation's flood and water problems.

The act provides for a community type approach to soil and water resource problems. Small watershed undertakings are the people's own projects. When a flood problem or other water use problem exists, local people set up their own watershed projects. Under the Act these organizations can receive technical and financial assistance from the U. S. Department of Agriculture in planning and carrying out works of improvement for flood prevention.

In passing the small watershed act, congress made clear that the act be used to supplement both the nation's soil and water conservation programs and programs for the development and protection of major river valleys.

The act can be used by local people to tackle flood prevention and water management problems. The Small Watershed Program, a typically American community-action approach, is one of the major new developments in water management and flood prevention.

The Merritt brothers, however, had grown up amid the prospecting fever and they took a chance on the range the Indians called "Mesabi"—"hidden giant."

In 1890, they uncovered ore testing at 65 per cent iron. They had tapped one of the greatest concentrations of ore yet discovered in the world.

The "seven iron men" plunged into the development of the Mesabi, but the Panic of 1893 caught them with too many commitments and too little money. They were wiped out.

Steel Industry Has Relatively Short History

From tin cans and safety pins to automobiles and bridges, steel plays a major role in the lives of everyone, as indicated by the attention focused on the industry's current labor contract negotiations.

But it took a Chippewa Indian chief and "seven iron men" to point out the mineral wealth that borders Lake Superior—and lay the foundation for the world's largest steel industry, according to the industry's public relations experts.

Michigan was a wilderness in 1845, when a merchant named Philo Everett heard rumors of possible ore deposits and went looking for copper and silver.

According to research experts with The World Book Encyclopedia, Everett reportedly ran into Full Moon, niece of Chief Marji-Gesick, who told him about a mountain of ore. The chief entertained Everett with Indian dances, passed him the ceremonial pipe, and then led him up a hill to a fallen pine tree. Under its roots lay chunks of iron ore...

ready to be scooped up and fed to the furnaces in the east.

In 1810, the U. S. had made 1,000 tons of steel. In 1873, the figure topped one million tons. But the richest deposit was still to be found.

Iron experts had ignored one range in Minnesota, convinced that nothing worthwhile lay beneath its glacial drift. One company had even built its railroad across the eastern end of the range.

The Merritt brothers, however, had grown up amid the prospecting fever and they took a chance on the range the Indians called "Mesabi"—"hidden giant."

Korean Veterans Should Check on School Completion

Some Korean veterans, in night school or in part-time training under the Korean GI Bill may have to start accelerating their courses if they want to finish up by the termination date of their GI training benefits.

The Veterans Administration pointed out that a veteran's GI termination date is eight years from the date of his discharge, but in no event can he take GI training beyond January 31, 1965.

Veterans may not be paid GI educational allowances after their termination dates have passed, VA said.

VA pointed out that a veteran discharged in 1952 faces a termination date next year, in 1960. For a veteran discharged in 1953, his termination date would come sometime in 1961.

VA suggested that veterans check their own individual termination dates. If the date is hard upon them, they added, they may want to accelerate their courses by taking additional subjects or going to summer school.

Unusual Support

Farmers last week received some support from a staunch Republican in the continuing battle over the role the Federal Government should play in the agricultural field. This support came when Sen. George D. Aiken, Republican from Vermont, launched a surprise assault on Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson's newly announced proposal for financing rural electric telephone programs through a new bank system rather than by federal loans.

Up until now the Senator had been a virtually down-the-line backer of the Eisenhower administration. In his speech he charged that the administration was undermining farmers and favoring big corporate interests. Aiken denounced administration policies which he said had fostered high interest rates detrimental to farmers and to the nation as a whole.

"The American farmer was not born to be a servant of monopolistic interests and so long as I can help to prevent it, he never will be," Aiken told the Senate.

The Vermonter also blamed high interest rates during this administration for boosting the national debt charges to more than eight billion dollars a year. He also pointed out that this is "two billion more than costs of all the farm programs."

Aiken is a senior Republican on the Senate Agriculture Committee and has gone on the firing line frequently in the past to defend Benson from Democratic criticism. It is heartening for us to see that some of the people in the far northeast have had about enough of the administration's favoritism toward big business. Many people who knew the philosophy of those controlling the party had predicted such changes years ago, but it has taken many years for the facts to come out into the open light. We hope that before too long there will be enough representatives with a similar view to really give the small farmer a chance. The tide seems to be turning, but how long the movement will take is anybody's guess.

Memorial Day

This Saturday people all over the nation will be racing away from their jobs to observe Memorial Day with a weekend of fun. It might be well for us to pause for a few minutes and realize that this weekend actually started as a day to pay tribute to those who gave their lives in service of our country. The first observance was in a city in the South during the civil war when ladies placed flowers on the graves of soldiers from both sides who had been killed in the fighting. From this humble beginning the observance gained popularity until it became a national holiday in a few years.

There seems to be a trend toward using the occasion as only an excuse to vacation. However, we in the smaller communities are not affected with this malady as bad as those in the cities. Let us not forget, it is well for us to be so reminded of the heroic ones who gave their lives that ours might be lived in freedom. By our wise use of the freedoms earned, we pay great tribute every day.

During these years after the guns of "hot" wars have ceased, we pay tribute not only to the dead, but also to those who still play the vital roles in our defense. There are men all over the world still risking their life every day in order that we may continue to enjoy the freedoms of this nation. So, let us pause for at least a few moments Memorial Day to pay tribute to those who have died, and to say a prayer for those who are devoting their lives to safeguarding our nation.

Press Paragraphs— QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Russia

The western world is having more trouble taking hold of their Communist problem — the Russian threat-of-tyranny — than a hound dog has trying to collar a coon in deep water. While the Communists sweet talk the South Americans they are brutally crushing the Tibetans in Outer Mongolia and damning the capitalists at Geneva. The rest of the world is demanding negotiations for peace, when there is no way of negotiating. It is a dirty problem. Our troubles are greatly aggravated by the give away policy which has been followed by our administrators for many years. In South America we have given so much less than we have given in Europe that they feel called on to rough up our vice president when he comes calling. Note also that the Geneva Conference opens with a quarrel over whether it shall be held at a square or a round table. All so futile, but circumstances make us go along. Or do they? No one can reasonably hope for anything to come out of the negotiations.

Coffin Nails

You have to hand it to the tobacco industry — just four short years ago the industry was reeling from the attack by prominent medical men, charging that cigarettes were responsible for much of the lung cancer and heart failure in this land of ours.

The industry met these attacks head-on — with the introduction of filter tips on their "coffin nails."

They have also sold filter tips with such intensity that last year saw the highest consumption of cigarettes in American history — with most of the increase attributed to filter tips.

Any smoker knows the simple facts of smoking — but he will go to almost any length to keep on smoking.

It is elementary that since tobacco tars give cigarettes their taste and nicotine gives them their kick, they are obviously weakened in taste and kick to the degree that their smoke is filtered.

Therefore, the smoker who turns to filters merely increases his consumption to maintain the daily pre-filter quota of tar and nicotine and eludes himself into thinking this isn't unhealthy at all.

There are some benefits from this increased cigarette smoking. First of all the tobacco companies are making money and paying taxes. The tobacco farmer is getting a good price for his products. The federal and state governments are benefitting from the tax revenues. Doctors and hospitals are taking care of over-smoked patients and if you want to be realistic about it, the funeral parlors are attending to the final rites of those smoked out individuals.

Still the smoke goes on. Relatively few of the millions hooked by the cigarette habit will ever kick it short of dire poverty or cancer or thrombosis. Many smokers wouldn't rebel even then.

Man Wanted

Wanted: A man for hard work and rapid promotion; a man who can find things to be done without the help of a manager and three assistants.

A man who gets to work on time in the morning and does not imperil the lives of others in an attempt to be first out of the office at night.

A man who listens carefully when he is spoken to and asks only enough questions to insure the accurate carrying out of instructions.

A man who moves quickly and makes as little noise as possible about it.

A man who looks you straight in the eye and tells the truth every time.

A man who does not pity himself for having to work.

A man who is neat in appearance.

A man who does not sulk for an hour's overtime in emergencies.

A man who is cheerful, courteous to everyone, and determined to make good.

This man is wanted everywhere. Age or lack of experience does not count. There isn't any limit, except his own ambition, to the number or size of the jobs he can get. He is wanted in every business.

Union, General Telephone Sign New Agreement

Labor contract negotiations between the Telephone Workers of America, AFL-CIO, and General Telephone Company of the South were concluded last week with a new agreement being reached between the parties, according to a release issued by the company and the union. The new agreement is effective May 20 and will run for a primary term of one year. Approximately 2,700 employees are affected.

The negotiations concluded covered changes, modifications and amendments to an existing labor contract dated April 25, 1958 the term of which was also for one year. The new labor agreement fundamentally is the original contract amended to include improvements developed through the most negotiations sessions.

Today's settlement was the culmination of eight weeks of negotiations which commenced March 1959. During the negotiations bargaining issues developed, of which were company proposals and 33 were union proposals. The proposals covered working practices, working conditions and employment benefits.

Items of settlement included restructuring of wage scales and a general wage adjustment, four weeks of vacation for employees of 30 or more years service and improvement of pension payments under the company pension plan. Additional areas were reclassification of some areas for wage purposes, updating of certain job classifications including all-night premiums for traffic operators and clarification of seniority rules. Other items covered changes or clarification of working practices.

General Telephone Company of the Southwest is one of the many telephone companies within the General Telephone System. General Telephone of the Southwest serves 283,000 telephones in the five states of Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas and Louisiana. Total employees within the company approximate 3,400 throughout the state area.

He points out that there are a few instances where injured young can be saved by a temporary treatment, but that generally babies of the woods are far better off left in their own environment.

He suggests if you know of a distress case you notify your game warden as soon as possible. He can make proper arrangements and see that the animals are cared for.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. HOLLE, B. S., Commissioner of Health.

Falling is one of the commonest but most unnecessary hazards faced by older persons according to the Texas State Department of Health.

Hundreds of thousands of old people are injured every year from falls, and more people die after 65 from falls and their complications than from auto accident injuries.

One of the major factors in falls is that as the persons age, their balance-recovery machinery fails. If a person starts to "teeter" certain muscles in his body instantly go into action to keep him on his feet. But in the older years, these muscles get lazy and don't function as rapidly.

Some of the most common causes of falls and their preventions are:

Stairways. When an older person goes up or down stairs, he should not take one step with each foot, but should put both feet on a step before proceeding to the next one.

Insufficient light. Older persons don't see as well as they once did. Stairways especially should be lighted. A night light in the bathroom is recommended. In addition, a person should keep a flashlight by his bed to use if he gets up in the night.

Bedrooms. The most dangerous room in the house is not the kitchen, but the bedroom. This is where most elderly persons fall, often because they get up too quickly and become dizzy. When a person gets up, he should sit on the edge of the bed for a few minutes.

Taking a step backwards. If a person feels uncertain about his footing, he should never shen backwards unless he can see where he is going.

Not lifting feet high enough. As a person ages, his muscles and ligaments are less lively and he does not lift his feet as high, with the result that he trips over all sorts of things — rug corners, toys, thresholds and doormats. Other dangers are bathrooms and climbing on chairs.

(A weekly feature of the Division of Public Health, Education, Texas State Department of Health.)

Economist Says Egg Prices Will Continue Low

Egg producers are much concerned about the current low prices being paid for their product and future improvement.

Extension Economist John G. McHaney says that at least eight basic factors are involved in the present situation, both from the price standpoint and future improvement. He lists them as total production, number of layers in the nation, rate of lay, hatchery production, weather conditions, number of flock replacements bought, storage stocks and long range changes that develop in the production and marketing of eggs.

Egg production for the 1959 January-March period in the nation was six per cent over the same 1958 period. In Texas, the increase was 14 per cent. Egg prices in Texas for the first quarter of 1959 averaged about 11 per cent below a year ago. April price dropped 24 per cent below that for the same month in 1958. The rate of lay in the nation is up 9 per cent and the number of eggs is up three per cent.

McHaney said that production of egg-type chicks in the nation for the first quarter of 1959 was only slightly higher than for the same period in 1958 but as hatches were in prospect for the half of 1958 is largely responsible for the present egg supply.

The long-time outlook for egg prices, McHaney, will most likely be influenced by the growth and widespread use of risk sharing plans by poultry producers. Many commercial guarantees the poultry producer profits amounting to 4 to 6 per dozen. The degree to which these vertical integrated spreads — and they are spreading — will influence what happens in the next few years the production and marketing practices presently used by egg industry.

McHaney sees little change in the near future for any improvement in egg prices. If hatches and placements continue to be high, egg prices for the remainder of 1959 are likely to be below for the same months in 1958.

Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Dyer of Worth are in Memphis this week transacting business and visiting friends.

Origin of the $ sign is a theory, but the most widely accepted theory is that it came from the Spanish word "peso" for piasters or the Mexican symbol for pesos.

For an outdoor motor to operate most efficiently, the trans and the drive should be vertical to the while running.
