Rainfall To Date Two Inches Above Average

Rainfall totaling 14.31 inches has been recorded here in Memphis since the first of this year, according to a check of records maintained by John J. McMickin, official weather observer.

Monday morning McMickin measured .26 of an inch and then Friday morning another .51 of an inch.

The greatest amount, 11.39 inches, has fallen during the months of May, June and July.

The average rainfall for the seven months of the year is 1.74 inches according to the Texas Almanac. So, the 14.21 inches recorded here so far this year puts the area 2 inches above the average.

The average rainfall for May, June and July is 8.34 inches, leaving a surplus this year of 3.05 inches.

January of this year Memphis received .15 of an inch which is a little below the .38-year average of .63 of an inch. The total received in February was .67 of an inch, a little above the average of .59 of an inch.

The average rainfall for March is 1.01 inches and this year we received only .10 of an inch. Old man weather caught up a little in April however, when he dropped 2 inches on the area while the average is 1.74 inches.

May was really the average-breaker though when 5.46 inches fell as compared with an average of 3.47. June rainfall dropped back a little under average with 2.09 inches while the average is 2.79 inches.

July though has really been a surprise month as far as local residents are concerned with 3.84 inches of rain recorded so far as compared with the average of 2.08 inches.

However, moisture this year is still considerable below the amount recorded last year when 20.98 inches was measured during the first six months.

Below is the rainfall for the first six months of 1958 and 1959.

The district representative stated that the station will be open 24 hours a day.

The local Continental Oil Co. representative is Coy Davis.

A farm worker in the field nearby saw Lowe fall and rushed to another field, about four miles north, to call Lowe's son, Don. Lowe was dead when the two men returned to the scene.

Lowe is survived by his wife and son, of Maple, and a daughter, Mrs. Linda Altman of Muleshoe.

Lowe, who had lived in the Muleshoe area since 1941, is the nephew of Mrs. R. E. Lowe of Memphis.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Rome, Italy
July 15, 1959

Greetings from the Eternal City:
Here I am once more, after five years in the beautiful city of Rome, known as the Eternal City. I arrived a week ago and Margaret Ann arrived night before last. We will remain here until around the first of August.

I am writing from a Villa in the Via Galaminia, where I am on location making an Italian movie. I began work yesterday in the film "Il Generale della Rovre", directed by Italy's leading director, Roberto Rossellini (I think he is better known in the states because of his marriage to Ingrid Bergman, than he is for his fine pictures). The film stars Bettlorio di Sica and is about the Italian resistance during the war. I play a German Military official. I wasn't planning on doing a movie in Rome, so when I was offered this part, I was very pleasantly surprised. This morning Rossellini told me he would have a very good part for me in a picture he is doing in October. I will come back to Rome to do it. I have also been offered a part in another movie here, "La Dolce Vita", directed by Fellini, another of Rome's top directors. I was taken out of the studio on Saturday to meet him and was asked to play a role in the picture. It is one of the biggest productions in Rome this year and will try for international awards. However, they are 29 days behind schedule so I don't know if I can remain in Rome long enough to do it or not.

It is extremely hot in Rome this summer and when I'm on the set, I wear a heavy German uniform, that, together with the heat of the weather and the added heat of the bright filming lights is almost unbearable.

The assistant director just yelled "Posta per javori" which means I must take my place on the set for one of my scenes. It is Margaret Ann who is doing the sightseeing in Rome as I have done it before, so I will let her add to this letter about the wonders of Rome and her experiences.

Well, it seems they are going to keep me sitting under these hot lights while they get everything ready so I will take my mind off of it by writing of my pleasant trip to Spoleto. I was invited by Franco Zeffirelli to Spoleto about 125 miles from Rome, where each year there is the "Festival of Two Worlds." The festival is a festival of opera and theatre and ballet and is all under the supervision of Gian Carlo Monote. Franco had a production there so he invited me to go up with him and two other friends for the weekend. It is beautiful around Spoleto, and I enjoyed the scenery as well as the wonderful productions there. However, nobody, but nobody speaks English there except the Americans, and it took me from 11:00 to 12:00, exactly an hour, to make the servants at the hotel understand that I wanted breakfast. By the time I got it I had lost my appetite. I finally, I thought, made them understand that I didn't matter which. When my breakfast arrived they brought, as one might expect, a pot of coffee and a pot of tea. What does one do then, but smile and expect it. I'll turn the letter over to Margaret Ann now and let her tell you of Rome and Switzerland.

A warm "hello" to our relatives and friends . . . and it is awfully warm here. I believe Roy covered my trip as far as Zurich so I'll begin there.

Switzerland was a beautiful combination of green lakes, green sloping hills, tall trees, snow topped alps and chalets high on a mountainside. I marveled that man could climb, much less build there.

Roy and I took a five hour boat tour of the Zurichzell and sat and gazed at the almost "unreal" charm of the village-dotted hills that slope up from the water.

We spent the next day window shopping in the rain. The Swiss stores are renowned for their excellent taste in decorating.

Tuesday was another sunshiny day so I took an all-day bus tour down through Luzerne and back up through Sustan Pass. I could never adequately describe the view—gorgeous waterfalls, rivers, tall pines, streams, gorges, snow-capped peaks, and grass and flowers in the valleys. A human feels very minute and insignificant and yet very close to the creator amidst all this.

Mrom Zurich I flew to Geneva, home of United Nations. Crossing the lake to my hotel was thrilling because a giant waterspout dominates the scene, rising as high as the U. N. building in New York City. It is man-made but nonetheless exciting.

It was rather comforting to be in a city where I could rely on the French language if English failed. Switzerland has four national languages, German, French, Italian and one other, the name of which was unfamiliar so I won't attempt a spelling. These are spoken according to the location. Zurich is near the German border so the German is spoken there. Geneva is bordered by French mountains and is only an hour or so from Italy so French and Italian are chiefly spoken there. Most signs and many printed directions are in several languages.

I took a city tour of Geneva and took a swim in the lake to cool off. The sun was hot and the water was perfection.

The next day I took the boat tour of Lac Lemman and visited the Chateau du Chillon where Byron was imprisoned. The scene for his "Prisoner du Chillon." I thought very fondly of Mrs. Guthrie then.

From Geneva I took the train, heading for Rome. I spent four hours in Milan to see the cathedral and Leonardo da Vinci's paintings of the Last Supper and the Crucifixion. The frescoes are very faded, but the cathedral is incredibly detailed and meticulous.

I spent two days viewing the art treasures of Florence, including sculptures by Michelangelo and took a short train ride over to Pisa to see the leaning tower — they weren't kidding.

While in Florence I met the son of Robert Choquette, poet laureate of Canada — an interesting person to talk with.

Roy met me in Rome and I am more or less catching up here. I did spend six hours walking the first day and saw such "story book" places as the old Roman Forum, the coliseum, Palatine Hill, Teatra Caracalla, the Catacombs. I stand and marvel at the fact that I am actually here seeing all this "past" with my own eyes — and I think of all of you so often, wishing you could accompany me!

So long for now,

great danger that lies in this trend. Since the scarcity of water in the western states places the people in those states in a position of complete dependence upon the ability to obtain water, the control of water is an all-powerful weapon. People own these states could be completely overwhelmed and dominated by the federal government. If such powers fall into the hands of unscrupulous public officials, and they easily could, it would take many, many years to recover from the damage which could be done.

Although there were no federal public lands in Texas originally, the federal government has acquired much property in recent years, and can acquire such additional amount as it desires simply by condemnation procedures. Hence, every state of the Union is a potential victim of possible complete servitude to the federal government.

This information is gathered together for the purpose of showing the trends toward centralization of the government in all facets of the economy. Unless these trends can be checked, it will be only a short time before state governments will be governments in name only and wholly without power. The peoples living in the less densely populated areas of this country will be subject to the rule and the control of the thickly populated metropolitan sections of this country. This will not meet with the approval of the people in the 18th Congressional District of Texas or any other group of independent thinking free Americans.

Adjournment

Everyone seems to be making a guess about adjournment of the Congress. Frankly, I feel that much would have been accomplished had we adjourned by July 15. This was not possible because of the controversy surrounding the "labor reform bill." It appears that this bill has now been agreed upon by the House Committee and will be before the Congress within the next several days. This will be a hotly contested matter and may hold Congress up for as long as two additional weeks. Added to this is the time that will be required if a civil rights bill is debated. This could hold Congress in session until September 15; however, most of the guessers think that we will be out by Labor Day, and I certainly hope so.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Thompson and children of Denison moved to Memphis last week. Mr. Thompson is employed by Waples-Platter Co.

SENATOR ☆☆☆ Yarborough's Report

This nation has just started to learn about the hazards of radioactivity that accompany its vast new resources of nuclear power.

It is because of these hazards and the fact that even our scientists do not know too much yet about the dangers of radioactivity, that I have been against the proposed dumping of radioactive wastes in the shallow waters in-shore in the Gulf of Mexico.

The problem should be carefully studied. A great deal more information is needed before we fill our waters with material which scientists tell us may prove harmful to our children and their children for 100 or 200 years. Recent news articles have told how some of our nation's streams have been dangerously polluted by radioactive waste. I don't feel we should make this mistake again, and pollute more water.

The fact that the dumping of these radioactive wastes in the Gulf was proposed without all the necessary information being gathered first shows the need for someone to look out for the public's interests.

Some of the agencies which work with radioactive materials are now held responsible for protecting the public only from an overdose of radiation resulting from their agencies activities. There is not now any one agency which is responsible for the overall protection of the public.

To correct this dangerous situation I am supporting a proposal by Senator Lister Hill and Congressman Kenneth Roberts, both of Alabama, to make the United States Public Health Service responsible for safe-guarding our people against the hazards of all types of radiation.

The measure calls for setting up standards of radiation protection. It would instruct the Surgeon General of the U.S. Public Health Service to confer with federal, state and local authorities and submit to Congress, not later than February 28, 1960, a program for the control of radiation hazards from all man-made sources.

In addition, research and training programs would be established to explore this vast and vital subject. A National Advisory Council on Radiation Hazard Control would be set up to work on this problem continuously. The 15-member council would include the Surgeon General, the Secretary of Defense, the Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, the Director of the National Science Foundation and others.

We are dealing with a power which, if not kept within bounds, could destroy or horribly change human life. We must be certain the public is protected.

Dr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Fisher and daughter of Sadalia, Mo., visited Thursday and Friday in the home of Miss Mary Foreman. Mrs. Fisher will be remembered by friends here as the former Sally Foreman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Foreman and niece of Mary.

Mary Foreman left Monday for Hillsboro to join her cousin and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Cybert for a trip to Niagra Falls and other points of interest in that part of the country.

Sgt. and Mrs. Tony Smith and son, Tony Alan, of Killeen visited over the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Padgett and family and Mrs. Frank Smith.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to take this means to express my appreciation to Dr. Goodall and the Goodall Hospital Staff for their concern during my recent confinement, and to everyone who sent flowers, cards, gifts, prayers and encouragement. God Bless You.

New Water Safety Act Goes Into Effect Over State on August 11

The Water Safety Act, which goes into effect Aug. 11, 1959 will affect literally hundreds of thousands of Texans...

Part I The Texas Highway Department will administer the Act. Enforcement will be made by all duly authorized peace officers.

CLASSIFICATIONS Motorboats subject to the provisions of the Act have been divided into four classes:

- Class A. Less than 16 feet in length. Class 1. 16 feet or over and less than 26 feet in length. Class 2. 26 feet or over and less than 40 feet in length. Class 3. 40 feet and over.

LIGHTING Any kind of self-propelled boat, when underway between sunset and sunrise, must use at least one bright light and exhibit it so as to avoid a collision.

Motorboats of Class 1 must use two lights: A white light aft to show around the horizon and a combined lantern in the front (lower than the aft light) that will show a green light to the starboard (right) and a red light to the port (left).

Classes 2 and 3 must carry a bright white light in the front of the boat, as near the stem as practicable, that will show an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 20 points of the compass and fixed to throw the light 10 points on each side of the vessel.

Motorboats of Classes A and 1, when propelled by sail alone, must carry the combined lantern, but not the white light aft. Motorboats of Classes 2 and 3, when propelled by sail alone, must carry colored side lights, but not the white lights. Motorboats of all classes must carry a lantern or flashlight showing a white light that can be used in sufficient time to avert collision. LIFE PRESERVERS Every motorboat or vessel must have aboard one Coast Guard approved life preserver, buoyant vest, ring buoy or buoyant cushion, in good condition, for each person on board.

No person shall operate, or give permission to operate, a motorboat that is not equipped to meet the demands of this requirement.

SMALL MOTORS All motorboats of 10 horsepower or less are required to have one approved life preserver for each person aboard and a white light to exhibit between the hours of sunset and sunrise.

BOAT LIVERIES Boat livery owners will be required to keep a record of the name and address of persons hiring boats covered in this Act. The record will also include time and date of departure and expected time of return; such records to be kept for a 6 month period.

SKIS AND AQUAPLANES Water skiing, aquaplaning and similar sports will not be permitted from the period of one hour after sunset to one hour prior to sunrise, except in tournaments, and such events covered by special exemptions.

At all times, motorboats towing a person on water skis, etc., shall operate in a careful and prudent manner at a reasonable distance from persons and property so as not to endanger life or property.

PART II Purely and simply: the intent of Texas' new Water Safety Act is the promotion of boating safety.

What might be called a second phase deals with accidents, enforcement and penalties of the new act, to be administered by the Texas Highway Department when it goes into effect August 11.

Under the Water Safety Act it will be unlawful for any person to operate any class of motorboat, ski or similar contrivance, in a reckless or negligent manner that endangers the life, limb or property of any person. This is just about as specific as a law can get and still cover all situations.

ACCIDENTS In essence, the Act requires the operator of any boat involved in an accident causing death, injury or property damage, to stop, render assistance, give his name, address and identification in writing to any person injured, or to the owner of damaged property.

In case where an accident results in death, injury or property damage in excess of $100.00, the operator of any motorboat must file a full description of the accident with the Texas Highway Department; such report is not admissible in court as evidence.

INTOXICATION Any person who operates any vessel, or manipulates any water skis, equiplane or similar device, while intoxicated will be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Upon conviction, the person may be fined not less than $50.00 or more than $500 and/or be imprisoned for not more than 6 months.

PENALTIES A person who violates any section of the Water Safety Act is guilty of a misdemeanor. Upon conviction, such person may (where another penalty is not provided) be punished by a fine of not less than $10.00 or more than $50.00.

LOCAL REGULATIONS Just as the Water Safety Act must be in conformity with the Federal Boating Act of 1958, so, too, local regulations must conform to this Act.

However, there is nothing to prevent local adoption of laws relating to operation (including zoning), equipment and other safety measures, if the provisions are consistent with the Water Safety Act. Also municipalities may adopt ordinances limiting the horsepower of motorboats operating on the lakes within its jurisdiction.

ENFORCEMENT All of Texas' duly authorized peace officers are given authority to enforce the provisions of the Act. Furthermore, a violator may be taken into custody if he refuses to sign a promise (ticket) to appear in court within 30 days. Courts of the country in which the violation occurred have jurisdiction.

PART III On August 11, of this year, the Texas Highway Department will begin administering all provisions of the Act. However, boat owners have a March 31, 1960 deadline to make application for a Certificate of Numbers (registration). The deadline for dealers and manufacturers is April 1, 1960, after which time each boat manufactured and sold must be complete with numbers.

The Act requires that the number pointed on or attached to the hull be of block characteristics of good proportion, not less than 3 inches in height, and read from left to right. The number must be displayed on each side of the bow and kept in a legible condition.

HOME ON LEAVE - Pfc. Jimmy B. West is on a 30-day furlough, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack West, West, who arrived July 8 and leaves July 30, is mail clerk for the 4th How. Battalion at Fort Lewis, Wash.

Each Texas number will carry the prefix: TX.

CLASSIFICATION AND FEES Each of the following classes of boats will be registered for a three year period for the fees shown:

- Class A: Less than 16 feet in length, $1.00. Class 1: 16 feet and over and less than 26 feet in length, $5.00. Class 2: 26 feet or over and less than 40 feet in length, $10.00. Class 3: 40 feet and over in length, $12.50.

All motorboats of 10 horsepower or under are exempt from the numbering provisions of the Act. Although it should be pointed out to boat owners in this category that the Certificate of Number system offers a good, inexpensive means of positive identification for proof of ownership purposes.

APPLICATIONS Applications must be made on a form approved by the Texas Highway Department and be accompanied with the proper fee. Upon receipt of the application, the Department will maintain a record and issue him a Certificate of Number stating the number awarded the motorboat and name and address of the owner.

If the owner transfers any or all of his interest in a motorboat registered in his name, or if the boat is abandoned or destroyed, he must notify the Department, within a reasonable time and surrender his Certificate of Number.

A person who buys a motorboat that has been previously registered under this Act, must make application to the Department for a transfer of Certificate of Number. The application must be accompanied by proof of evidence or ownership, name, address and $1.00 transfer fee. Owners must also notify the Department of any change in address.

DEALERS-MANUFACTURERS All new boats manufactured for sale in Texas after April 1, 1960,

NO WILL? Who Inherits Property?

What will happen if you should die without executing a legal and proper will? Who will inherit your property? Your husband, wife, mother, father, children, your wife's relatives? The best way you can say who will have it is to provide a will which will protect your rightful beneficiaries and dispose of your property in accordance with your wishes.

When a deceased has no will, or dies "intestate" as the law calls it, the property of that person is distributed according to a detailed formula fixed by law. In some cases this may be the way you yourself would divide it—but in many cases it is not.

The provisions of the law concerning the distribution of the property of a person who dies without a will are rather complicated, and all of the possibilities cannot be covered by a general statement.

There are different rules for real estate and for personal property, for community property and for separate property, for homestead property, and for all of the many possible combinations of surviving relatives. Each situation must carry a manufacturer's serial number stamped on or laminated into the structure of a boat before the owner can obtain a Certificate of Number.

The Act makes special provisions for dealers and manufacturers in the use of boats for demonstration purposes and for selling boats with a temporary facsimile Certificate of Number. The 3-year fee for a dealer or manufacturer is $25.00.

EXCESS FUNDS Sportsmen will be pleased to learn that excess funds accrued from boat registration fees, above administrative costs, must be used for purchasing access ways to public waters, boat ramps and for their maintenance.

Of course, grandchildren do share in the estate unless the parents who could inherit in the past have died. And when descendants of a previously deceased child inherit, they receive only the portion that the child would have received, regardless of the number of such descendants. An odd note, perhaps, is that the surviving spouse already owns one half of the community estate prior to your death, and the law adds nothing to this share when there are no children surviving. When there are only children and their descendants surviving, they divide the entire community estate between them.

It Is Legal to Catch Tagged Fish
Says Commission

Contrary to what some fishermen believe, it is legal to catch tagged fish. In fact, according to Howard Lee, director of coastal fisheries, Texas Game and Fish Commission, fish are tagged for the purpose of being caught.

Several birlogists at the Coastal Fisheries staff meeting recently held in Rockport reported that many fishermen catching tagged fish are not sending the tags to the Rockport office.

Biologists claim that most fishermen refuse to return tags because they believe catching tagged fish is illegal. This, of course, is not so. "Unless the fish are caught the tags are of no value and our expense and efforts are wasted," said Lee.

"Sport and commercial fishermen harvest the fish along the Texas coast," continued Lee. "We rely almost entirely on these people for the return of tags." In every case, an individual sending in a tag is rewarded with the history of his particular fish. The U.

S. Fish and Wildlife Service pays 50c for each marked shrimp that is returned to its offices in Galveston.

Most fish tags are made of plastic. They are usually clipped on the edge of the gills or fastened into the fleshy part of the backs.
The marked shrimp will have green and blue heads. If one of these is among your catch, simply turn it over to your game warden or send it to the Marine Laboratory in Rockport.

First to look over our new sister state, Alaska, from Memphis is our friend Lottie Kinard. She arrived home this week after spending two weeks touring the state. She was a member of the KGNK Tour Group which included approximately 35 residents from this area. We understand pictures of the tour were on TV over the weekend, but we were out of town and missed seeing them.

Enjoyed a visit last week with Mrs. T. E. Noel and Tommye, who gave us some interesting highlights of their recent tour of Europe.
Tommye came by to bring a charcoal drawing she had made of our granddaughter, Susan, in preparation of doing a pastel. We think Tommye's portrait work is excellent.

We took our daughter Pat and granddaughters Susan and Carolyn to their home in Fort Worth Friday. They came up on the train Sunday to see the newest member of the family, three-week-old Kent, son of Carnis and Adrian.

When we arrived in Fort Worth Friday, we learned that A. J. had tickets to "The Vagabond King" in Dallas that evening. We thoroughly enjoyed the play which featured Burgess Meredith in the leading role. Meredith did a fine job in portraying the character of Louis XI, and was able assisted by Richard Torrig, Lee Venora and Jean Sanders. We were particularly impressed with the stage settings and lighting.

In the audience, and taking a bow, was the French actor, Maurice Chevalier, who played a feature role in "Gigi," the biggest picture of 1958. He opened Monday at the State Fair Music Hall in Dallas in "An Evening with Maurice Chevalier." We understand only New York City in this country has previously had the famous show, which presents a medley of the songs he has made famous, from his classic "Louise" to his most recent hit from "Gigi,"
"Thank Heaven for Little Girls."

Gift Giver Pleads Guilty to Contempt

Most of the nation's citizens remember the name of Bernard Goldfine who, several months ago, kept a House investigating committee unhappy due to his refusal to answer questions. The committee was seeking some answers from the textile manufacturer concerning his business operations, and in particular his giving of gifts to influential government officials, including the former top presidential assistant, Sherman Adams. Following his appearance before the committee, Goldfine was charged with 18 counts of contempt of Congress for refusal to answer questions. Up until last week he had been fighting the charges and then changed his plea from innocent to nolo contendere (no contest) and threw himself on the mercy of the court. He can receive a maximum penalty on each count of $1,000 or one year in prison. Judge James W. Morris said that Goldfine's new plea amounted to a complete vindication of the committee and its right to seek the financial information Goldfine refused to give.

Congressional investigating committees are one of the best protections which the people of the nation have to keep powerful money interests from controlling the government. Sometimes this is the only place where the truth can be brought out into the open. The power of the committees to investigate must be preserved if they are to continue to formulate laws to the best interest of the citizens of this nation. An elected official who is responsible to the people of his district is a little more difficult to buy off than an appointed administrative official. And last, but far from least, this is just another area where the American system of checks-and-balance makes for good government.

A New Approach

Senator Prescott Bush of Connecticut, who is a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, has an unusual plan for preserving the peace, and he tells about it in the lead article of the July Reader's Digest. It is to "show the Russians how strong we are!"

The Senator does not minimize Russian military force, either existing or potential. But he is not a viewer-with-alarm either. In his opinion, which gains weight because of his Committee position, we can show "nothing more nor less than the greatest military might ever assembled in the history of the world."

But the Soviets may not appreciate this—so "in a very real sense, the Soviet Union's ignorance of our military strength may be the source of her gravest peril—and ours." Here are some grim historical precedents for that concern. Miscalculations of Allied power by Wilhelm II led to World War I. Hitler made the same mistake and launched World War II. And the destruction, human and material, that followed these errors of judgement and ignorance of conditions are incalculable.

Senator Bush points out that Russian farm experts, scientists and artists have visited this country and have seen something of what we accomplish in their areas of interest. Now, he would like to "have their military leaders over for the most beneficial look of all."

He has blueprinted quite an itinerary for these Russian military people. It would start with a Pentagon briefing, to give them a look at the world-wide distribution of our fighting power. Next would be a demonstration of our 4-47 bombers which, with air refueling, can fly anywhere in the world non-stop, and "anyone of which can, in a single mission, deliver explosive power equivalent to that of all the bombs dropped by all sides in World War II." Many of these Strategic Air Command planes, incidentally, are now on a 15-minute alert—which means they could take to the air, fully armed, in that time. Following the B-47's, the new B-52's would be displayed—8-engined jets capable of a speed approaching that of sound.

Senator Bush appreciates that, in time, Russian ballistic missiles may have our SAC bases zeroed in. And he has an answer for "this temptation." It lies in atomic-powered submarines, fast and virtually silent, and Polaris—an atomic ballistic missile fired from under water, and designed to reach almost any target in the Communist area. Here he states: "No power on earth can prevent our nuclear subs from ringing Russia with a silent and deadly deterrent force."

So much for weapons of unlimited, nuclear war. Senator Bush's plan also calls for showing the Russian military leaders the futility of starting limited wars. For instance, he would include a visit to one of our 14 aircraft carriers, such as the Independence, with her hoards of escort vessels and her fighting complement of jet attack bombers with 1500-mile range. He would also put on a demonstration of amphibious force operations, such as those for which the Marines are especially trained and equipped. Along with this, the Soviets would be shown such amazing new weapons as the Sidewinder—a missile which, attracted by heat, is drawn in magnet-fashion toward the fiery tail of an enemy jet, where it explodes.

Senator Bush touches too on "the multibillion-dollar question—how do we stand with the Soviets in the ballistic-missile race?" He goes into considerable detail in this, saying that we have refused to enter into a panicky production race which would produce quickly outmoded weapons and have, instead, concentrated on perfecting the most advanced types of inter-continental ballistic missiles as quickly as possible. He is convinced this is the right track and that we are succeeding in our efforts. As examples of achievement he names three ICBM's, in addition to Polario, "which are exceeding our most optimistic expectations"—Atlas, Titan and Minuteman.

The Senator's summing up: "We dare not be complacent. But we need not, on the other hand, be frightened. At present, ours is the more powerful military force, the stronger alliance, the more advantageous strategic position, the more productive economy. And there is no reason why we should not continue to lead the Soviet Union in the years ahead."

THE FIRST NIGHT IN A STATE CAMPSITE

Press Paragraphs— QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Fishing

Speaking of fishing, some of our favorite stories are fishy. Following are some we have remembered:

A man, known as able to stretch a point as well as a fish, told his friend "I caught a five-foot cat-fish out of Buffalo Lake last Saturday."

"That's nothing," the friend replied, "Saturday night something caught on my hook and I pulled up a kerosene lantern. And you know what?"

"No, what?"

"The thing was still burning!"

"Aw, I don't believe that," the first liar said.

"All right," said the second liar, "Tell you what I'll do . . . you lop about four feet of that there cat-fish and I'll turn out the lantern."

This one may take a minute to sink in:

A man who discovered the joys of fishing rather late in life became more insistent than ordinary anglers upon recounting his triumphs to skeptical acquaintances. Enraged by their thinly veiled hints that he was a liar, he bought a pair of scales, installed them on the back porch, and made his friends watch while he actually weighed one fish he caught. One evening, a neighbor burst in excitedly and asked to borrow the scales. He was back in ten minutes with the scales, his face flushed with delight. "Congratulate me," he shouted, "I'm the father of a forty-eight pound baby boy."

The new minister looked at a member of his flock on the sidewalk and accused, "I hear you played golf Sunday morning." "I did not," came the plaintive reply, "and I've got the fish to prove it."

A man all dressed up and covered with brand-new fishing equipment was having no luck. The proverbial barefoot kid in overalls walked up to his willow twig pole and asked how much luck he was having. "Not a bit," the fanfully decked out fisherman replied. "Well don't feel bad," the kid said sympathetically, "There was a man here before dressed even funnier than you which fished all week and didn't catch any more than you did in just thirty minutes."

Farm Problem

After my last explosion in this column against Life magazine and Readers Digest I felt at though I might have been a little too harsh. Then there appears in the Amarillo Daily News a series of four articles by a John G. Rogers, Herald-Tribune News Service, which continues the attack on the farmers from a different angle and by using one of our regional newspapers as the gullible media.

Undoubtedly this series is written by an easterner for eastern readers but how come this propaganda is spread across the Midwest by our own newspapers. The underlying thought in this series is that it is bad to have a surplus of farm products, that the taxpayers are having to pay through the nose for a very expensive farm program, that farmers and grain storage people are getting rich off of this.

You don't read that the farm program actually made money for the government until about 1950 and when reference has been made as to the billions of dollars that have gone into the farm surplus program since 1950, you will never read about what the farm products are worth if they were disposed of on the world market. You never read of the true net loss that would be suffered if the government gradually got out of the farm business.

The first article of this series carries the usual picture of a farmer, as seen by the easterner, "Well, it ain't the farmer's fault," you hear again and again in the slow Kansas drawl in the nation's No. 1 wheat state. I've talked to many a farmer and I have yet to find one who took the childish attitude as reported by Mr. Rogers. The farmer is always pictured as a hayseed when the real hayseed is the man from the city who doesn't know which end of the hammer to pick up with his hand.

In another place the reporter says: "They (farmers) climb down from their $9,000 combines— etc." I called two local combine dealers and the price is about $7,000 instead of $9,000 and besides it is rare that they sell a combine to a farmer. He can't afford to buy one. Combines are sold to custom combiners who follow the harvest from South Texas into Canada.

The campaign against farmers has reached such a peak that news reports out of Washington these days plainly state that it is common talk that if a farm bill is not passed at this season of the Congress that the farm program is dead in the future.

The farm surplus is not a criminal thing but an abundant blessing bestowed on the greatest and most benevolent nation in history. It is regrettable that the farmer and rancher are not getting praise and a fair profit for a job well done. A large ever normal grainery—an adequate storage of wheat is just as essential to the nation's welfare and defense as the storage of tanks, guns, missiles, and ammunition. Our government stockpiles strategic metals then why not food products?

We need a farm leader in Congress to lead the way toward a non-partisan, non-political solution of the basic farm ills. No adequate and intelligent approach will

ONE OF THE 7 BIG BESTS CHEVROLET GIVES YOU OVER ANY CAR IN ITS FIELD

BEST FUEL ECONOMY
Take it, not from us, but from official results of this year's Mobilgas Economy Run: Chevy's pennypinching 6 delivers the most miles per gallon in its field. For a pair of these Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide walked away with the first two places in their class, getting the best mpg figure—a whopping 22.38—of any full-size car. And here are more expert, impartial opinions and on-the-record facts backing us up on Chevy's other six bests:

BEST TRADE-IN
Check the figures in any N.A.D.A.* Guide Book. Chevrolet used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."

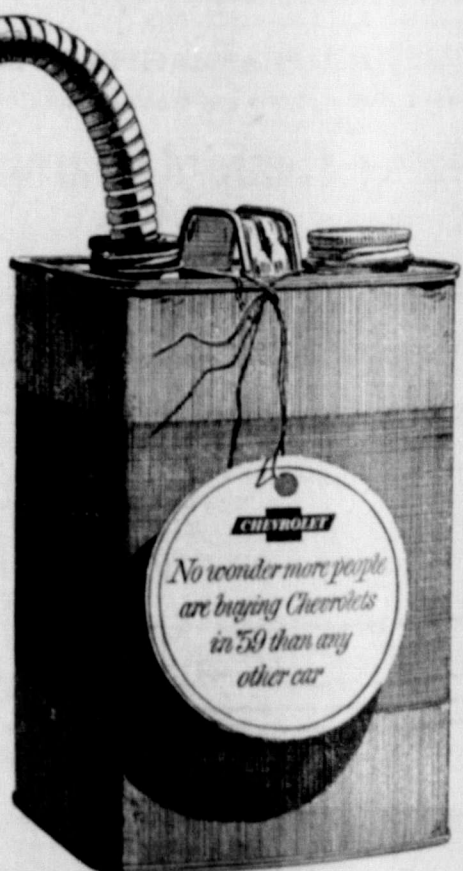

BEST STYLE
It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "Chevrolet establishes a new high in daring styling."

BEST BRAKES
In direct competitive tests of repeated stops from highway speeds, conducted by NASCAR, Chevrolet out-stopped both of the other leading low-priced cars—and why not? Chevy brakes are far larger, built with bonded linings, to help lengthen brake life by as much as 66%.

BEST ROOM
Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.† make this clear. For example, Chevy front seat hip room is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.

BEST ENGINE
Every motor magazine has given Chevrolet's standard and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED puts it: "Indeed this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price."

BEST RIDE
MOTOR TREND magazine calls Chevy "the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." You'll be able to tell this yourself, instantly. And your Chevrolet dealer can tell you about a long list of other advantages besides these 7 big ones!

Soil Conservation News

Farmers and ranchers living in the Hall County Soil Conservation District have an opportunity to use a large number of special types of farm equipment needed for conservation jobs. The District Supervisors have attempted to get the type of equipment that is needed and can be drawn by the usual types of farm tractors. These pieces of equipment will likely be used too little during the year for the individual farmer to own for his own use.

The District Supervisors have bought this equipment with the funds made available by the State and the plan of operation calls for such rental charges to be made that will keep the equipment repaired and replacement will possibly be available when it is worn out.

In order to make the equipment as available as possible it is left in two places in Hall County with custodians. Each custodian is authorized by the district board to make this equipment available to farmers and ranchers and to collect the rent due for such use.

The Turkey High School Vocational Agriculture Class under Jay Eudy has the following equipment: Hancock grass drill, rock picker, Whirlwind terracer, Disc plow, and a Hancock inter-row seeder. Wayne Hutcherson, who lives southeast of Memphis has the following equipment: Everman land leveler, Hancock grass drill, Duplex dirt mover scraper, John Deere rotary mower, Hancock inter-row seeder, Plannett grass drill, and disc plow (reversible 2 disc).

The renting rate for grass drills and other planting equipment is 35c per acre. The rotary mower is 35c per acre. The rental rate for dirt moving equipment is $5.00 per day.

Farmers and ranchers having need of the district owned equipment are urged to see the custodians and make use of it.

Get Children Ready for School Says Health Dept.

"School days, school days. Good ol' golden rule days!" Here they come again, and if you're a wise parent, you'll get ready ahead of time.

There is lots to do—buy clothes, fit shoes — and if your child is entering the first grade, chances are you need a birth certificate copy.

School districts in Texas require that entering students be six years old before September 1. Otherwise they must wait until the following year.

The best means of proving your child's age and birth date is to have a certified copy of his birth certificate.

In many areas of Texas, copies are available from local registrars of vital statistics in health departments or county court houses.

You may also obtain a birth certificate copy from the Division of Vital Statistics of the Texas State Department of Health in Austin.

To do so, you must send one dollar requesting a copy. Be sure to include the child's name, date and place of birth and the parent's name.

It is important that parents take care of this chore as early as possible.

During August and September the Division of Vital Statistics is swamped with literally thousands of requests each week for birth certificate copies.

If you want to be sure your child has his birth certificate when school starts, request it now.

Rough estimates place the number of upcoming first graders at about 250,000. This makes for a lot of birth certificate copies.

In addition to birth certificates, it would be wise to check with your local school district regarding any vaccinations that may be required.

It would be a good idea — if you have not already done so — to get your child started on his series of three Salk polio shots before school starts.

Also, a fourth shot or "booster" is generally recommended for added protection a minimum of one year after the initial series.

Another smart idea that will pay off, is adjusting your child's schedule to approximate that of school time including bedtime, meals and especially waking time.

Mrs. Helen Dunn of Boise, Idaho, and Mrs. Melvin Sowers and daughters, Cynthia and Debbie, of Winfield, Louisiana, visited relatives in this area last week.

Raymond Ballew this week announced that he missed winning a trip to Acapulco, Mexico, "by a nose," as the winners were listed by the General Electric Company, sponsor of the contest.

He showed the tabulation of the 98 dealers in this district. Four winners were listed—with Ballew rated in the fifth spot. He had exceeded his quota by 370.8%.

"I sold nearly a carload of appliances during the contest period," he added. "Was looking forward to taking my wife to Mexico over a week's visit next month. Guess winning fifth place is something I can be proud of, anyway."

Chimney Swift From Alabama Reaches Texas

How far will a chimney swift travel?

Wildlife biologists of the Game and Fish Commission have a record of one travelling all the way from Rome, Ga. to Bonham, Tex., according to the director of Wildlife Restoration.

This bird was banded in Rome, Ga., September 27, 1953, by G. L. Hight, Jr. The same bird was taken at Bonham, in Fannin County early this summer. The band number was recorded and the bird was then released. Whether it remains in Texas or moves on may never be known.

"This is an interesting bit of information, as this small bird has been free some six years," the director said. "If everyone would record bands on live birds or return the bands of killed birds, it would be a lot of assistance in an overall study of wildlife everywhere."

Each year thousands of birds are banded in every state. In Texas the Commission limits its banding to game birds. Ornithological groups, however, do some banding on other birds for their records.
