Youth Admits Foster's Break-In Sunday Night

A youth was released into the custody of his parents by County Judge Tracy Davis, Wednesday morning, following the youth's admitting that he broke into Foster's Food store.

Foster's Food Store was broken into Sunday night after closing time and a .38 caliber Colt revolver and $21 worth of change was taken.

The store was entered through the back door after two rocks were thrown through the window glass of the door.

Following investigations by Chief of Police Guy Wright, a youth was questioned about the break-in Monday morning. However, he denied any connection with the break-in.

But, due to the fact that the youth was in the store shortly before closing time Sunday, Chief Wright and Sheriff Bill Baten questioned the youth about the break-in again on Monday afternoon, in the presence of the youth's father, and he admitted breaking into the store.

He led the law officers to the spot where he had buried the money and gun and these were recovered.

J. F. Longley Discusses Inflation, Big Government At Rotary Meeting

J. F. Longley, vice president of West Texas Utilities Co., spoke on the subjects of inflation and big centralized government, at the noon luncheon meeting of the local Rotary Club Tuesday.

He described these as being a more serious threat to this nation's freedom than the Russian military machine.

J. F. LONGLEY

Longley pointed out that the dollar had depreciated 50 per cent since 1940 with 23 cents of its value having vanished since 1947. He stated that this deterioration was still going on at a rate of something like two or three per cent a year.

He attributed a lot of the inflation to large national labor unions demanding and obtaining increases in wages without any relation to increased productivity. He mentioned recent negotiations between the steel company and the steel workers union as an example of this.

Emphasizing the point on the seriousness of inflation, Longley pointed out that the franc had decreased in value over the last 40 years to the extent that it was now worth about one-eighty-fourth of its value in 1918. He explained that when this happens to the dollar, a $100 monthly social security check would buy about two pounds of hamburger meat.

Another factor in inflation is large government budgets particularly the Federal budget. He stated that the interest on the Federal debt is now about eight and a half to nine billion dollars per year. This alone is more than the total Federal budget as late as 1938.

He thought there was no chance of improving this situation by changing from democratic to

Core Drilling At Greenbelt Dam Site Planned

There was much activity Monday and Tuesday of last week on the Salt Fork of Red River north of Hedley near the site of the Greenbelt Dam, C. L. Johnson, secretary of the Greenbelt Assn., of Hedley, announced this week.

Geologist and a field man of the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation, Department of the Interior, were on hand to map off the coring of the river bed, Johnson said.

They were accompanied by John C. Thompson, assistant Regional Director, and J. C. Douglas, Area Engineer.

Initial drilling of five holes near the site is scheduled to start the later part of April, Johnson said. Something like ten more holes may be drilled if the occasion demands, he explained.

Cropping of red bed near the river bank show in several places and the geologist hope that a solid foundation can be located not too far from the surface, Johnson explained.

There will probably be four more core drilling tests made in the riverbed to determine sites for future dams. They will run from near Clarendon to near Welling-ton, Johnson said.

According to the official weather gauge, .58 of an inch of moisture fell in Memphis by noon Thursday, J. J. McMickin said. Also, .06 of an inch of moisture fell Tuesday, March 15.

The temperature did not fall below freezing any time since last Friday. Last night's low was 37 and Wednesday's high was 43.

Other temperatures include: Tuesday 69-43, Monday 69-43, Sunday 75-35, Saturday 72-33, Friday 57-34, last Thursday, 72-30.

License Plate Sales Deadline Is Thursday

Next Thursday is the last day for Texas residents to purchase their 1960 car license plates from County Tax Assessor-Collector's Offices, it was announced this week.

Law Enforcement officers have orders to stop all vehicles which do not have the new license plates on after the deadline, which is midnight, March 31.

According to a report from the Hall County Tax Assessor-Collector's office Wednesday, only 2,035 tags have been sold so far. This is approximately two-thirds of the number sold by March 31, 1959.

In 1959, by March 31, there had been 3,227 tags purchased by county citizens.

The tags this year have white letters with a black background. This is the reverse color scheme of last year's tags.

Numbers and letters of passenger car plates run from AR 200 to AR 2899.

In order to purchase tags, motor operators must have their Texas Title and their 1959 Registration Receipts, Mrs. Melissa Anderson, county tax assessor-collector, said.

All plates should be placed on the vehicles as soon as they are purchased, she concluded.

MHS Golfers To Have Match With Quanah Saturday

Clinton Voyles, MHS principal and golf team coach, announced Wednesday that the local team will have a match Saturday morning with the Quanah Golf Team on the local Country Club Course.

The visiting team is expected to arrive around 9 a.m. Saturday, according to the latest correspondence.

Quanah is expected to bring eight or nine golfers, the letter from Quanah's coach said.

Voyles said that Memphis had a number of Jr. High golfers who have been trying to find matches from neighboring towns.

There are five high school players out for the golf team, Voyles said. They are: Charles Massey, Dick Morgan, Jimmy Winters, Don Deaver, and Dwight Gailey.

Foreign Student Needs Home; Make Application

Students who are ready to take applications in order to find a home for a foreign student who will attend Memphis High School next year, Mrs. David Aronofsky, chairman of the American Field Service, said today.

An announcement was made at a meeting of the local chapter Monday. Meeting with the students was Mrs. E. D. McKay of the Area Field representative, Mrs. Charles Sutton, also Aronofsky.

Applications should be listed with Mrs. Mildred Stephens, home room chairman.

It is not necessary to have children of high school age in order to be the exchange student, Mrs. Aronofsky explained. Requirement is that the home must have a father and mother over 37 years of age and who must be parents. There is stipulation as to the age of children. They may be small, school age or married and no longer living at home, Mrs. Aronofsky said.

After applications are listed with Mrs. Stephens, they will be sent to the New York office of the American Field Service who will select the home.

"We still have not raised the required money needed to bring the

Twenty Hall County Farmers Chose 1960 Choice "B" Cotton Allotment Plan

Twenty Hall County farm operators chose the Choice (B) cotton allotment for 30 farms for 1960, Lynn McKown, manager of the Hall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, announced this week.

Allotments for these farms are thereby increased by 1,146 acres, from a total of 2,865 acres to 4,011 acres, McKown said.

In 1959, 14 farm operators chose Choice (B) cotton allotment for 17 farms increasing the allotment by 704 acres, from a total of 1,760 to 2,464 acres, he explained.

The "regular" Choice (A) allotment for Hall County, before any increase resulting from Choice (B) elections, totals 89,575 acres. Considering the Choice (B) increase, the Hall County allotment

Turkey Deputy Nabs Burglaries Suspect

Deputy Sheriff Clyde Rogers of Turkey apprehended a burglary suspect early Monday morning on the road between Turkey and Parnell. He had received a tip that a car, fitting a description he had given Turkey residents Saturday, was parked on the road.

Apprehended was Vernon M. Jett. Also in the car were Jett's wife, their three children and one niece.

After Jett was taken into custody, he was carried by officers to Plainview for questioning about a number of break-ins over several counties.

Sheriff W. P. Baten Jr. said that county officers were alerted two weeks ago to look out for a 1950 black Lincoln, a suspect in two break-in burglaries in Benjamin, Texas. The car Jett was driving matched the description.

Friday night in Turkey, a cafe was broken into but nothing was taken, Sheriff Baten said. Saturday, Sheriff Baten and Deputy Rogers found out from Turkey residents that a black 1950 Lincoln had been in Turkey Friday.

Totals Well Above June 1959 Figures

At the close of business for the first quarter of 1960, county banks reported that total bank deposits have fallen off almost one million dollars since Dec. 31, 1959.

Total deposits as of March 15, 1960, amounted to $8,602,498.12. This is $903,329.21 less than the Dec. 31, 1959, deposit total of $9,505,827.33.

Also down from the end of the first quarter of 1960 is the total resources figure for the first quarter. The total resources figure is now $9,681,345.27, whereas, at the first of the year it was $10,544,326.38. This is a decrease of $862,981.11.

The demand deposits in the county banks are also down $795,055.35 for the year's first figure. The March 15 figure is $6,781,346.65 while the Dec. 31, 1959 figure is $7,576,402.00.

On the brighter side, this month's totals are considerably above the totals for June 10, 1959, nine months ago.

Total deposits between the two reports are up $1,128,707.84. Total resources are up $1,180,396.41 and the total demand deposits figure is up approximately $750,000.

The above figures indicate a slow rising increase in deposits in the county's banks over the last two and a half years.

A look at the history as shown above, the reports indicate that since 1957, there has been a one-half million dollar increase in total deposits each year. Figures this year indicate that this trend will probably continue.

Report From Washington

By WALTER ROGERS
Representative, 18th
Congressional District

Texas Growth

It was heartening to learn one probability which will emerge from the 1960 Census figures. According to estimates released last week by the Texas Municipal League, many small towns in the Panhandle and in the State will hold their own or register a steady growth. It is good news that the typical Texas city is a small town—population wise—rather than a metropolis. The report indicates that, although over 50% of the State's population resides in the metropolitan centers, Texas small towns have shown a generally consistently healthy growth during the 1950's, and that over 80% of the incorporated municipalities have under 10,000 population.

Certainly no one, least of all me, would be averse to the fact of the growth of any unit in our great State, but it has also been my contention the backbone of our democracy, our economy, and our society is the community life and progress evidenced by our small towns and rural areas.

One aspect which will almost certainly be revealed when the complete Census figures are tabulated is not a particularly happy one. I speak of the declining family farm population, which I have opposed at every opportunity, believing it will result in sociological and economic problems which we have not even yet foreseen. It would certainly be my hope that the observation of the League will be correct, to-wit:

"Growth begets growth. As metropolitan Texas grows during the 1960's, small town Texas will benefit with the re-awakening of local agriculture and resources supply activity, development of small manufacturing operations, and other supporting operations necessary to sustain the metropolitan populace."

Among those municipalities in the Panhandle with an estimated 1959 population under 10,000, showing a substantial growth in the 1950's are Hereford, Perryton, Dalhart, Canyon, Tulia, Wellington, Dimmitt, Clarendon, Stinnett, Canadian, Friona, Panhandle, McLean, Stratford, Bovina, and Spearman.

The Lost Battalion

It was my great honor and privilege last week to participate in dedication ceremonies of the new Blucher S. Sharp Army Reserve Training Center at Amarillo. The Center was named for Col. Sharp, the brave and heroic commander of the equally brave and heroic men of the famous Lost Battalion in World War II. The story of the Lost Battalion is one that should be known to every American. Those of you who have not read it, please do. It will bring to your minds that in our day and time the immortal words of Thomas Paine in 1776 are as appropriate now as they were then. Here are those words:

"These are the times that try men's souls. The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of his country; but he that stands it now, deserves the love and thanks of man and woman. Tyranny, like hell, is not easily conquered; yet we have this consolation with us, that the harder the conflict, the more glorious the triumph. What we obtain too cheap, we esteem too lightly; 'tis dearness only that gives everything its value. Heaven knows how to put a proper price upon its goods; and it would be strange, indeed, if so celestial an article as Freedom should not be highly rated."

We, in the Panhandle, indeed Americans, everywhere, are proud and humbly grateful for the magnificent example and sacrifice of the Lost Battalion, the Second Battery, 131st Field Artillery of the Texas National Guard.

Will Wilson points out that "the Rio Grande bancos created more complicated legal questions to add to the stockpile of Texas boundary disputes."

Little known facts about Texas boundaries.

Rivers usually flow along in a series of loops rather than in a straight line.

The Rio Grande is no exception. In times of flood the river will cut straight ahead, rejoining the channel further down stream, leaving an exposed loop which becomes a dry bed.

Inside this loop is a plot of dry ground which has, by action of the river, changed its position from one side of the river to the other. These tracts of land are called "Bancos."

"These 'bancos' created even more complicated legal questions to add to the stockpile of Texas boundary disputes," Attorney General Will Wilson comments.

In 1836 the Republic of Texas fixed the boundaries along the principal stream of the Rio Grande. The Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo in 1848 fixed the boundary as the middle of the Rio Grande following the deepest channel.

The changing of the river channel began to pose real problems and in another treaty in 1844 it was agreed that any bancos cut off since 1852 by the river should remain part of the original nation.

"This meant that parts of the United States were south of the river and parts of Mexico were north of the river."

This naturally did not work so another treaty eliminated all present and future bancos and fixed the line between the two nations along the deepest channel of the streams. The 58 bancos remaining on the north side of the Rio Grande went to the United States.

The International Boundary Commission is directed to set monuments in the abandoned beds of the river where the boundaries of the bancos could be clearly defined.

Private Mexican landowners continued to own land even when it moved north of the river. In Mexico the government owns all the minerals while in Texas the landowners control the minerals. By a 1922 statute, the Federal Government ceded jurisdiction over the bancos and provided that they be a part of the State of Texas.

The heart of controversy is this: Because the act did not specifically state what happens to the ownership of the minerals under the bancos it appears, in the light of the Tideland experience, that another three way battle looms between the Federal government, the State of Texas and the Mexican landowners over the minerals under the bancos.

The General Land Office reports that none of the bancos have been leased by the state for minerals in view of the uncertainty of the title.

The Texas portion of the river bed has been leased, but not the bancos.

Oil drilling along the Rio Grande will eventually force a decision regarding mineral rights.

State Capital NEWS

By Vern Sanford

Democrats have marked March 14 on their calendars. Austin has circled it in red. March 14 is the day some 5,000 Democrats will converge on the State Capital City for their state convention.

It is expected to be many big days rolled into one. It will be the first time in re-memory that the huge color-casting has come to Austin. The new city auditorium and convention center makes it possible.

On the day that comes only once every four years when Texas delegates to a national nominating convention.

Most excitement centers on the fact that Texas Democrats will be naming what is usually a one-lifetime role — that of naming a major contender for presidential nomination.

It is under way in every part of the state to insure that the delegates to Austin will give rousing support to Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, favorite son nominee and winner of the Texas Delegation Award.

Johnson's chances of becoming president were re-emphasized by Gov. Price Daniel and by the State Democratic Executive Committee when the leaders met to plan the June convention.

Committee members selected Dallas for the second state Democratic convention on September 20. Their meeting also was made an occasion for honoring Mrs. Hilda Wainwright of Seguin for a quarter-century of loyal service to the Texas Democratic Party.

COURT REJECTS VOTE HAS- TLE — Texas Supreme Court refused to consider a direct appeal from the City of Austin that it order a complete recount of votes in a hotly contested urban renewal election.

Issue has had Austinites in a fever for months. It was originally announced after the election in November that urban renewal had been carried by a 52-vote margin. Eight property owners contested the election results on grounds that ballots were cast by persons not qualified to vote.

After 9 of 18 contested boxes had been opened, District Judge James K. Evetts of Belton declared the election void. He said there were so many disqualified voters and improperly marked ballots that it was impossible to determine the election outcome.

Austin's city attorney petitioned the Supreme Court for a writ of mandamus to compel Judge Evetts to open and examine all the ballot boxes. He contended the qualified voters had a right to have their votes counted.

Having lost out on a direct plea to the Supreme Court, City Attorney Doren Eskew said he would go through the usual appeal route, going first to the Third Court of Civil Appeals.

COLLEGE HOME DELAYED — Governor Daniel's office and the Legislative Budget Board are to make a "full review" before plans proceed to build an $87,000 home for the president of Sam Houston State Teachers College.

A number of legislators hit the ceiling last session over similarly costly homes built for presidents of Southwest Texas State College and Stephen F. Austin State College. Restrictions were written into the current appropriations bill aimed at preventing further expenditures of such a scale.

Rep. James M. Cotten, member of the House committee on saving taxes, wrote the governor to protest what he called a "tremendous waste." Governor Daniel said he had been assured by the chairman of the Board of Regents for State Teachers' Colleges that no action would be taken until everyone interested had had his say. He pointed out, however, that the home was to be built from constitutionally allocated funds to which the legislative appropriation restrictions "have been held not to apply."

MORE JUDGES SUGGESTED — Larger metropolitan areas such as Houston, Dallas and San Antonio may soon need larger Courts of Civil Appeals. This observation was made by Associate Justice J. R. Norvell of the Texas Supreme Court and others in a study made for the Texas Civil Judicial Council.

Judge Norvell suggested that 5 judges, rather than 3, may be needed soon for the courts in the city areas. Supreme Court, the study also noted, may also soon need some further restrictions on cases it will handle to prevent too heavy dockets. Civil Appeals Courts were created to keep everything from going to the Supreme Court, but the high court is flooded with appeals from these courts.

Judge Norvell suggested limiting the Supreme Court to constitutional issues and cases where there is a conflict in judicial decisions.

OIL ALLOWABLE CUT — Railroad Commission cut the state's oil production for April after testimony that both crude oil and gasoline were in oversupply. April allowable will be 2,814,252 barrels a day, a cut of 123,029 barrels a day from March. Number of producing days was cut from 10 to 9.

Oilmen told the Commission that other states, such as Louisiana and Mississippi had not cut back production to offset the oversupply as Texas has. This state, said one Texas executive bitterly, is taking the "backlash" of the situation.

TIGHTER DRIVING LAW — Legislation that would crack down on the driver who does not even have a drivers license has been proposed for the next session. Representative Ben Lewis of Dallas said that under present law a person who drives without having a license can only be hauled before a city court and fined about $10.

By contrast, he said, a license holder who gets three tickets and has his license suspended can, if he drives during the suspension, be put in jail and fined as much as $500.

Lewis said he would propose a series of stiffer penalties for the people who cannot pass driver tests but drive anyway.

Wesleyan Singers of Fort Worth To Present Concert Next Tuesday

The Wesleyan Singers of Texas Wesleyan College will appear here at 11:15 a. m. Tuesday, March 29, at the Memphis High School Auditorium.

The 44-voice choir of Texas Wesleyan College in Fort Worth, is directed by Howard Skinner, professor of voice and choral activities. This group is a touring a capella choir whose members gain their membership by auditions open to the student body. The Singers make an annual spring tour, last season singing in West Texas. Appearances have been made on radio, television, before church and civic audiences, and in high schools where audience response has been enthusiastic.

The director of the Wesleyan Singers, Howard Skinner, holds degrees from Sterling College, Sterling, Kans., and MacPhail College of Music, Minneapolis, Minn. At present he is working toward the doctorate at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

The repertoire of the Wesleyan Singers spans over 400 years, from the 16th century to the present day. Included in the concert Tuesday are such composers as Lassus, Tchesnokoff, Schubert, Poulenc, Randall Thompson and Bach, from whose great choral work, "Jesu, Priceless Treasure," two choruses will be performed. Most of the concert will be sung a cappella, although the choir does perform accompanied works as well, notably compositions by Schubert and Gilbert & Sullivan.

Almost one-half of the members of the Singers are music majors in the Fine Arts Department of the college. Nearly every other department on the campus is represented in the group also.

T. D. Weatherby and Morgan Baker spent the weekend at Weatherby's cabin on Lake Kemp.

The cost of discovering America was about $14,000 . . . the price of fitting out the three ships of Columbus.

Columbus found a new world, but his original dream wasn't realized until about 60 years after his death. According to the World Book Encyclopedia, he wanted to establish a great trading city on an island near Japan, where the products of East and West could be exchanged. That dream was realized when the Spanish occupied the Philippine Islands.

From one-fourth to one-third of the nation — 40 to 50 million Americans — are believed to be infected with the germ that causes tuberculosis.

Advance Census Forms Distributed

Advance Report Forms for the 1960 Census of Population and Housing will be distributed by the Post Office this week to all households in this area, District Supervisor Clyde Cook announced today.

The Advance Report Form is a new census-taking device which is designed to speed up the field canvass and provide more accurate statistics. Distribution of this form before the start of the house-to-house canvass gives the family a chance to assemble information about each member in advance of the census taker's visit.

The district supervisor pointed out that information about individuals and their homes furnished to the Census Bureau is kept confidential under Federal law. Only statistical totals and averages are published. No individual person can be identified in published reports and census information cannot be used for regulation, investigation, or taxation.

Census Takers To Attend Training Session In March

Census takers who will visit every dwelling unit in the area during the 1960 Census of Population and Housing which starts April 1 will participate in four training sessions next week, District Supervisor Clyde Cook announced Monday.

The training sessions, to be conducted by the crew leaders, will be held on March 27, 28, 29 and 30. Each census taker will receive a total of approximately nine hours of instruction. Emphasis will be placed on the importance of a systematic, thorough canvass of every dwelling unit during the census to insure a complete count.

Map reading is an important census-taking technique since, without maps, defining the limits of each district to which a census taker is assigned, the job would be a welter of confusion. About 250,000 maps have been prepared for the 1960 Census. This provides an individual map for each of the 250,000 districts into which the country has been divided. Every census taker will be furnished a map of his district. As they make their rounds, census takers will be required to canvass every street and road and visit every housing unit within the boundaries of their assignment shown on these maps.

"There are less than 20 working days left until the April 15 deadline for the new Motor Vehicle Inspection sticker," Captain Alan Johnson said today.

Captain Johnson, service commander for the Motor Vehicle Inspection service of the Texas Department of Public Safety, pointed out that only 34 per cent of the 3,770 registered motor vehicles in this county had been inspected as of March 1, 1960.

This indicates that many motorists continue to postpone having

I Give You Texas By BOYCE HOUSE

A highway marker near Brownsville designates Resaca de la Palma, scene of an early battle in the U. S.-Mexico war.

Sitting in the El Jardin lobby in Brownsville, TV viewers see and hear a commercial on orange juice—Florida orange juice!

In Harlingen, one of those tiny foreign cars was parked with a sign painted on it, "Go around—not over."

Just out of Harlingen at a roadside stand was this sign, "Strawberries—4 for $1... Texas really must grow big strawberries! (Someone said that it meant four boxes for a dollar.)"

Paging Major Hoopie! San Benito has an Owls Club.

A Harlingen man in a cafe complained that half the time he lit the filter end of the cigarette. He said, "They ought to put the filter in the middle."

Real bargain in New Braunfels, "Hamburgers, 20 cents; 5 for 99 cents."

In an Austin store window featuring "Luggage for your trip to Europe," one piece of luggage was priced at $231. If I bought that for my trip to Eufora, the trip would be off.

When I arrived in Eastland in the summer of 1921 to become editor of the Daily Oil Belt News, the court house was a red brick structure, trimmed in stone. The building was three stories. It is interesting to know that the edifice cost $49,000.

Also as showing how times change, shortly before the discovery of oil (1917) in the county, Eastland's business establishments included blacksmith shops, two livery stables and a wagon-yard.

Casey Jones is the most famous of all the thousands of men who have ever worked on railroads. Why? Because somebody wrote a song about him.

Sam Bass is the best known of Texas' outlaws for the same reason.

William F. Cody killed one Indian in combat. (Some historians dispute that he did even this.) He took contract to kill enough buffaloes to provide the Union Pacific Railroad construction crews with meat. He was also a pony express rider. With these achievements as the foundation, he is regarded under the name of "Buffalo Bill," as the embodiment of the West. Why? He had a fine press agent.

CC Provides Pool of Civic Energies

Building cities has always been an elemental urge of man, an instinct that has persisted throughout history. Man's foremost function in building cities is his effort to increase the population, wealth and standard of living of his city or area.

The development and success of the modern chamber of commerce is based on the fact that it fills an important place in our society. In a real sense, the Chamber is the epitome of America's free enterprise system.

A chamber of commerce can provide an agency through which men may voluntarily pool their energies to accomplish collectively those things for the general welfare that no individual could do alone.

It also affords a means for the development and expression of business opinion on the local, state and national levels.

Chambers of commerce are basically local institutions. Their genius lies in organizing and directing the energies of those men in every community who believe their area has a place in the sun and are determined to find it.

The program of the chamber must necessarily be widely varied to serve the diversity of interests among its membership. But the prime purpose of the chamber is, and will continue to be, the original objective of building the commerce and industry of an area.

These aims and objectives are achieved through two principal fields of activity. (1) Activities to increase the wealth and prosperity of the area by facilitating the growth of existing business and fostering new ones. (2) Employing the wealth thus created in establishing and improving the civic, educational and cultural facilities of the community in order to attract more business and industry.

The ultimate success of any chamber of commerce in achieving these ends hinges on the unity of thought and purpose of the area's citizens. The chamber can work untiringly for the growth and progress of an area, but only people can make progress.

Thus, a chamber's success and effectiveness depends entirely upon the support and participation of the individual citizens of the area.

Debts and Dollars

A new viewpoint of our total Federal Government indebtedness has recently come to our attention. Maurice H. Stans, director of the Budget Bureau, pictures the government's financial situation like this:

- $290 billion — national debt
$350 billion — future obligations for past services
$98 billion — commitments for future spending
$738 billion — total

We had heard a lot about the $290 billion national debt, and we knew there were some future commitments made, but we had no realization they were of the magnitude that Stans has indicated.

President Eisenhower's forecast of a $4.4 billion surplus for the 1960 and 1961 fiscal years has brought forth a lot of comment on where this money should be applied — if it develops.

Unfortunately many of our members of Congress can view this possibility only the way hungry children eye the cookie jar. Already spending bills are before Congress which, if enacted, would quickly eat up this surplus manifold.

Economy advocates generally have one of two proposals: Apply the surplus to our staggering national debt, or use it to effect long overdue tax relief. Either or both of these alternatives have our support.

It really becomes a question of whether spenders or savers have their way. If the spenders have their way, the surplus will be dissipated, a deficit will probably take its place, the already weakened dollar will become weaker and there will be new rounds of inflation.

In this regard the President made a remark of the utmost significance:

"Personally, I do not feel that any amount can be properly called a surplus as long as the nation is in debt. I prefer to think of such an item as reduction on our children's inherited mortgage. And, once we have established such payments as normal practice, we can profitably make improvements in our tax structure and thereby truly reduce the heavy burdens of taxation."

In view of the staggering financial millstone hanging about our collective necks how can we take any other course but to support a program that says let's get about the business of reversing the spending trend and begin to whittle on the past accumulations?

What Other Editors Say cannot use power saws. A ship line needs only 10 on a conveyor, but must use 21, four of whom do nothing but take turns pushing buttons. Painters in many cities are forbidden to use spray guns. Some drivers for long-established truck lines in the west, working under 35-year-old agreements, finish their runs in five hours and get eight hours pay. In that wonderful land of make believe, the theater, featherbedding has long run rampant. A one-man show may require the services of four stage hands. Complete orchestras are frequently on the job during musical entertainment, but never play a note. Only recently we had the displeasure of observing fork trucks at Port Brownsville unloading Valley citrus into a warehouse from a truck parked on the dock between the ship and the warehouse, and

Teach Them to Work

From several speakers of late we've heard the recommendation, "Teach your kids to work." We'd like to add "at home teach . . ." to this plea.

Many American youngsters are busier now than their parents were in their youth. They participate in so many activities they are being criticized for not spending enough time on their education.

In our busy type of society more activities are required to keep the wheels rolling. Wheels that were set in motion by adult demands in an adult way of life . . . not by the children.

Actually there's nothing wrong with active minds and the fact that youngsters are kept busy.

What has been lost in this accelerated schedule is a sense of values.

Our schedules are based on too much entertainment. Youngsters grow up with the idea that they need to be entertained in their leisure hours . . . yet there's no place or time allotted to work. The word is old-fashioned.

Some still have chores to do and they are better off because of it. For they are learning to place a value on work, while hundreds of others are being uneducated in this field of endeavor. They will not learn until the responsibilities of adulthood, marriage and such, hit them squarely in the face and they learn for the first time that it takes work to produce dollars to maintain such high standards of living as they now enjoy.

Hurrah for the dinner table lecturers in urging American parents to re-discover the value of work and turn their children back to it. When they do marriages may last longer. It is a field of education being neglected in the home, not the school. —The Pittsburgh Gazette

Silly, Yet Sad

Farmers, caught between the bitter squeeze of cost and price, take little pleasure in the knowledge that railroad workers earn their basic day's pay with an average of less than four hours of work.

The problem throughout industry is one of being paid for work not done. The big problem in the steel strike is not wages but featherbedding.

There are such things as quotas so low that workmen could fill them with about a half a day and yet receive a full day's pay; and an item of two men in a crane cab—now air conditioned, originally allowed because the heat was excessive and one man could relieve the other.

The Pittsburgh Plate Glass strike did not involve wages; there was the matter of eight hours pay for three hours work.

In the printing trade, make-work rules provide that all local advertising arriving at a newspaper in mat form (ready for casting and printing) be set in type, then typeset and then thrown away, never used.

In many cities plumbers refuse to use pre-threaded pipe; in some cases they even cut off the threaded end of the pipe and then re-thread it.

Council Buys Lake at Kiowa

Shelhamer, president of the Walls Council, Boy Scouts of America, has announced that negotiations have been successfully completed with the Texas and Fish Commission for purchase of the lake located at Kiowa.

The lake was originally built as a fish-rearing pond. For many years, the Boy Scouts organization has used the lake for swimming, boating and fishing during their summer sessions at Camp Kiowa.

The lake is located about one and one-half miles north of Kiowa. It has been open to the public since 1924.

The purchase of the lake was made through the work of a committee headed by M. K. Brown and Don Cain, M. K. Granger McIlhenny, and J. Edgar Forkner.

By action of the Executive Board of the Council, the lake has been officially named Lake M. K. Brown. Formal dedication ceremonies will be held at Kiowa on June 11.

The following action was taken at a recent meeting of the Executive Board of the Council—that Lake M. K. Brown and the Kiowa Camp property belonging to the Walls Council be closed to the public until such time as a caretaker is employed, at which time further board consideration will be given.

The Council is now in the process of posting signs at the lake, closing it to the public. The Council has felt it is necessary to close the camp to the public due to the fact that considerable damage has been done to the camp buildings and grounds in recent years by public groups. Also, the Council needs exclusive use of the lake during the summer camping season.

The lake and camp will continue to be used by Scout troops and Explorer units the year round of all the fifteen counties of the Council. However, a camping permit will be required prior to the use of the camp. The permits will be secured by application in advance to the Council office in Pampa. This will enable the Council to know in advance of groups using the camp for overnight encampments and other activities.

Texas Bedding Act Covers 4,000 Establishments For Inspection

Approximately 4,000 establishments in Texas are engaged in making, renovating, selling, and germinally treating items of bedding. All these establishments are subject to inspection under the provisions of the Texas Bedding Act.

Charged with the responsibility of enforcing regulations and making inspections in Texas bedding factories and retail outlets, is the Bedding Division of the State Health Department.

During the last quarter, ending February 29, 1960, a total of 2,625 inspections were made. The inspection program is self-supporting from fees collected for permits and bedding stamps.

Highly trained inspectors search for violations of the Bedding Act. These include sanitation in bedding factories, cleanliness of filling materials in bedding products, the application shall have been on file in the County Clerk's office for a period of not less than three days. This amounts to a three day waiting period.

Subparagraph (c) states "Provided however, that the county judge in his discretion may waive the requirements listed in (a) and (b) above."

The above bill was passed on July 7, 1959 by a viva-voce vote.

A recent pilot project for diabetes screening was initiated by the Tuberculosis and Chronic Diseases Division of the State Health Department in the out-patient clinic at Brackenridge Hospital in Austin.

The project was made possible by arrangements with the Austin-Travis County Health Department, and hospital officials.

The screening technique tested involved taking a small amount of blood from a finger and employing a machine (Hewson Clintron) to discover whether the blood sugar level is above or below a preselected screening level.

The test takes only five minutes and is relatively quick compared to other diabetic tests. The test only indicates a possible diabetic condition, but makes possible mass screening for diabetic similar to screening for tuberculosis with the tuberculin skin test.

We grind Gladiola Flour just for Texas and our next-door neighbors. This presents a bit of a problem. The ladies around here are the choosiest flour buyers in America (as well as the best home bakers).

All we can do is make our flour so good that these ladies have no other choice. That's how it's been for a long time. Year after year, snow-white Gladiola Flour outsells every other brand.

Folks in Slippery Rock, Pa., have to settle for less—but you don't. Gladiola quality is your best bargain in flour. Costs your family only about 1/2¢ a day more than the cheapest little old brand on the shelf.

Assurance Given Hedley-McLean Road To Be Built

A delegation from Donley and Gray Counties brought assurances from the Texas Highway Commission that a highway would be constructed from McLean to Hedley. The report was made here Tuesday by R. W. Scales of Hedley, and followed their appearance before the Commission in Austin Monday morning. Scales was spokesman for the delegation, and was assisted by State Representative Will Ehrle.

After presenting their plea for the proposed road, according to Scales, the group was assured by the Commission that a need did exist, and that it would probably take four or five years to be completed.

Commission Chairman Herb Petry was quoted as saying that it would be built "span by span—year to year" as funds could be earmarked for the project.

The proposed road would extend State Highway 273 south from McLean to a junction with State Highway 203 at a point approximately 6 miles northeast of Hedley.

The farm-to-market road would include about 25 miles in Donley County and three miles in Gray County. A rough estimate of the cost was set at $900,000. This would include cost of constructing a bridge across Salt Fork of Red River at a point north of Hedley, which has been estimated at $250,000.

In the delegation were: Mr. and Mrs. Sitter and Ruel Smith of McLean; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Scales, W. H. Cook III, Frank Murray, C. L. Johnson, L. D. Messer, and L. B. Moore of Hedley, and Rep. Will Ehrle of Childress.

for 1960 is 90,721 acres, McKown said.

Under the Conservation Reserve Program there are 70 whole farms under contract freeing 4,283 acres of cotton allotment. This will leave 86,438 acres to be seeded to cotton in this county, McKown said.

This acreage is divided among 913 farms making an average cotton allotment of 95 acres per farm. Since many farmers operate more than one farm, the average cotton allotment of individual producers will probably exceed 150 acres for 1960, McKown concluded.

Tuberculosis strikes people of all ages, but half of the new cases reported are among people under 45 years of age.

Boosters Launch 1960 Program Thurs. Morning

The Memphis Cyclone Booster Club launched an enthusiastic program for the year 1960 at its first annual meeting held Thursday morning at the Cyclone Drive Inn with newly-elected president Wendell Harrison presiding.

"An all-out membership drive will be launched soon," Harrison said, "and we hope to have the largest membership the organization has ever had." Annual dues were set at $5.00.

Coach John Howie commented briefly and praised the attitude of the boys comprising the 1960 squad. "We won't be long on number or size," he said, "but I am convinced we will have more fight and determination than in recent years."

Other plans discussed at the meeting included the erection of a schedule sign at the stadium, showing all 1960 games; remodeling of the press box; sale of season tickets for home games; repair of the stadium scoreboard, and improvement of the stadium turf.

Hall County Farm Bureau To Meet Monday Evening

A county-wide meeting has been called by the Hall County Farm Bureau for Monday evening, Mar. 23. The meeting will be held in the Travis Cafeteria, and will start at 8 o'clock, Harold Hodges, president, has announced.

Hodges said that his organization had obtained the services of "Cotton John" Smith, Amarillo, for the evening. Cotton John will show his film, "A Tenderfoot in Europe," as a feature of the program.

Also scheduled to appear on the program will be State Representative Will Ehrle, and Moody Womble, District No. 1 director of the Texas Farm Bureau.

"Everybody is invited to attend this meeting," Hodges said. "A report will be made on the progress of the Caprock Translator System. Refreshments will be served after the conclusion of the program."

"Everybody come—and bring a neighbor with you," the president urged.

republican administrations or vice versa. The only remedy will be a change in public attitude and opinion, he said.

"Until people decide to stop asking the government to do everything for them, the large government budgets will continue," Longley said.

Longley paid tribute to some of the government officials and referred to them as dedicated, conservative individuals. He said, however, that these men were only doing what the people wanted them to do, and so far, only pressures being given are to spend more money.

He cited the example of the fear the representatives had against straightening out the graft and corruption in labor unions until the people let them know to do something about it. Then, anti-labor legislation was passed.

Longley thought the public would get what they wanted as long as they demanded it and that the government officials would not stop providing such things until they could tell the people what they stopped.

He discussed briefly the presently debated topic of Federal aid to the school system. He said it seemed funny to him that "we have to send money to Washington and then have it dribbled out to the schools."

Local Club To Have Roping Session Sun.

The Memphis Roping Club will hold their first roping session of the year Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2 p. m. at the roping arena east of Memphis on the Wellington highway.
