This period of tests and adjustment is expected to continue for 10 days, he added.

"We would like for the residents in the area communities to notify us as to their reception," Webster said. "If those who are receiving the signal would notify Mrs. J. C. Hoover at the Farm Bureau office in Memphis, we would be able to know if all the area is receiving the signal."

Many problem areas have been checked by Adier technicians to find some small technical installation problems need proper adjustment, Webster explained.

"From earliest reports," Webster said, "it appears that this system is going to work out very well for the entire area it was designed to serve."

At a date to be announced later, a membership meeting will be held to approve the by-laws of the Caprock Translator System and to elect permanent officers. The meeting will be held in the very near future, Webster said.

Area residents who have expressed a desire to sign contracts to receive this reception may do so at the Farm Bureau office in (Continued on Page Twelve)

Swedish Student To Be Here This Summer

Rotary President John Fowler announced this week that final plans have been completed for the local Rotary Club to sponsor a student on the Ambassador Scholarship Program, to be in Memphis for three months this summer.

The student Miss Sonja Anna Christina Gisslar, 23, of Sweden, will spend approximately 11 weeks in Memphis this summer living with the families of the local Rotary club.

President Fowler said that the club put up the money last year for the program, and for the past year the club has been corresponding with The Experiment in International Living Putney, Vermont, seeking a student to spend the summer here.

Sim Goodall has been the club's coordinator while working with a committee composed of Thomas Clayton, Dwight Kinard and Bob Fowler.

President Fowler said that he mailed a letter early this week to The Experiment stating that Miss Gisslar (who goes by the name of Christina) would be acceptable.

The exact date of Miss Gisslar's arrival has not been set; however, it will be in June.

From the background information furnished the local club are taken the following facts about Miss Gisslar.

She is of Swedish nationality and is 23 years old, and not married. She is a student and her major field of study is medicine. She received a bachelor of medicine degree in 1959 from the University of Stockholm, and has served as an assistant at the Institution of Histology since September, 1959.

She states as her vocational aim, "I intend to become a physician." Under the special interest column she said, "I am very interested in skiing, especially slalom; I take some hours trip on horse-back every week—I like music very much and I used to play the piano when I had more spare-time. I am a passionate card-player and I have my own car, a VW Karmann Ghia 1959, but I am also very much interested in more peaceful hobbies—cooking, interior decoration and especially antiques. Except these hobbies I am deeply interested in people and languages, in different ways of living, formerly as well as today—from both economical and social points of view."

She has traveled or lived in London, England, 1951; France, '52, '53, '55; France, Switzerland, Germany, '56; Italy and France, '58; Switzerland, Norway, and Denmark in 1959.

In answering the question what do you expect to achieve from the experience?—she said, "I expect new points of view and richer knowledge and understanding of American society and culture. Furthermore, I think that for myself a more intimate knowledge of America should be in all ways advantageous for my studies and my future profession."

Her personal history includes: born Feb. 10, 1937, in Stockholm. She is a Lutheran. Her father is dead, her mother, Mrs. Anna-Lisa Svensson-Gisslar has two other children, one son, 20, and another daughter, 17.

In justifying her position on her membership to associations she said, "Maybe it will seem strange to you that I am not at all actively engaged in any form of political life nor charity association nor any club, except at the University, but I probably had enough of that at home. My father was an industrial entrepreneur and was very busy in political, economical and social work." (Continued on Page Twelve)

Two Men Die In 2-Car Wreck Tues. At Hedley

Two men were killed Tuesday afternoon about 5:15 when their cars collided head-on near the top of a hill, located one mile west of Hedley on Highway 287. It was raining lightly at the time of the accident.

Paul Marshall, a motor vehicle inspector for the Texas Department of Public Safety, and Ell McCarley, a prominent Pampa jeweler, were both killed in the two-car smashup.

Patrolmen said that the accident was still under investigation late Wednesday.

Marshall had been stationed at Hedley for about six months, where he was transferred from Pecos. He is survived by a wife and one small child. He was 29 years old.

Funeral services were still pending for Marshall Wednesday, but burial was expected to be at Cee Vee, Texas, his home town.

McCarley's remains were taken to Pampa late Tuesday night after he had been brought to the local funeral home.

The patrol car and the 1960 Buick which McCarley was driving were both a total loss.

Hall County Electric Co-Op Celebrates 25th Anniversary

The Hall County Electric Cooperative, Inc., is joining with other electric cooperatives over the nation this month, celebrating the 25th anniversary of the rural electrification program.

"On May 11, 1935, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed Executive Order 7037, establishing the R. E. A., which has meant, in the short period of 25 years, the formation of over 1000 rural electric cooperatives and power districts. As a result of this program over 96 per cent of the farms now have electric service compared to 11 per cent in May, 1935," J. W. Coppedge, manager, said this week.

"In our local area, in parts of seven counties, over 99 per cent of the farms have this service," he said.

The Hall County Cooperative has 10 employees with an annual payroll of $41,000. These employees include: J. W. Coppedge, manager; J. P. Parker, line superintendent; W. R. Parker, W. M. Kilpatrick, C. W. Gilchrist, A. J. Pitman, linemen; Dean Sustaie, apprentice lineman; Gladys Johnsey, office manager and bookkeeper; Muf Merrell, billing clerk; Athalee Beckham, cashier; Essie Starr, janitor.

The Cooperative is locally owned and controlled, the organization being directly responsible to its 1500 members through its present board of directors.

The board meets monthly and the entire membership convenes once a year, with the next annual meeting being held Aug. 4, 1960, Coppedge explained.

Coppedge, the local manager, was employed by the cooperative in 1952. He gave the following history of the organization:

The Hall County Electric Cooperative, Inc., was incorporated in 1938 by the following pioneers in rural electrification in this area: R. D. Hall, T. E. Le-noir, Edgar Foster, Mrs. N. A. Hightower, Mrs. Chas. A. Williams, W. H. Youngblood, H. D. Tyler, H. A. Hodges, H. C. Fowler, C. M. Hawkins, Jake Lamb and B. L. Gresham.

and Wpres-with-farmsema E T H The first loan from R. E. A. was for $95,000 in 1939 for construction of 117 miles of line to serve approximately 300 meters from the Eli metering point west of Memphis. Since that date the Cooperative has negotiated 13 new loans bringing the aggregate total to $1,549,000 borrowed, sufficient to serve approximately 2,500 meters on 1000 miles of line in the cooperative area. At the end of 1959, the Cooperative had repaid $338,000 in principal and $150,000 in interest to R. E. A. and at this date is operating in the black on a current basis.

The power distributed through the Cooperative lines is purchased from West Texas Utilities Company, Coppedge said.

"The aim of the organization in 1938, as noted in the by-laws," Coppedge added, "was to make electric energy available to its members at the lowest cost consistent with sound economy and good management. It isn't anticipated that this aim will be changed as we enter the next 25 years of the Rural Electrification Program."

The news these days is filled with words of primary elections, which are commanding the attention of people in various States all over the country. These elections have assumed an even greater importance in this presidential year, and are certain to offer a demonstration of the vigorous way in which our democracy can work.

Our own great State held its primary this past week, and I want to say how grateful and proud I am for the confidence and friendship expressed in me by the people of the Panhandle. In addition to an earnest word of thanks for this expression, I want to say that I will do all within my power to justify the confidence in my upholding the best possible government.

Our government functions at its best with the cooperation and liaison between the representatives and the represented. I would like to reassert that I solicit and ever welcome the expression and views of every single person in every one of the 28 counties in the 18th Congressional District of Texas in order to more efficiently discharge my duties and responsibilities as your Congressman. I trust I may continue to receive them by mail, telephone, verbally, or in any manner. The process of selecting a democratic government is always a tremendous exciting experience. No matter what the views one may hold, the right to express those views in a free election, as was done in the Texas primary, seems to renew the hope of people all over the world in democracy. Such is the hope we are all expressing as millions of ballots are cast between now and the November general elections. At the same time, we might also be expressing the friendly wish that on some day in the not-too-distant future the same opportunity can be extended to men and women everywhere so that all may experience the far-flung possibilities of free government.

Elections have become increasingly important in the most recent history of our country, when responsible, active, and intelligent leadership has become so vital to our future. The United States, whether we like it or not, has become the free world's pivot. The features of our domestic life have grown so complex that it is virtually impossible to have a thorough, working knowledge of our world today.

So in government as in just about everything else, we find ourselves coming to depend upon the good efforts of many people. There are, of course, good and bad aspects of this process our nation is undergoing. I think we may at least be proud of the fact that people everywhere have a greatly increased opportunity to play an ever larger role in forging the type of country and world that is believed best.

But as the opportunities for our people increase, so do the dangers. The threats to our national security are pressing from both within and without. The responsibility of meeting these threats is indeed a grave and sobering one, but I shall continue to work toward that end and preserve the form of government which we all cherish so highly. I am deeply honored to have so many friends and supporters among the fine people of the 18th District, and I want you all to know that I shall continue to work for the best of my ability within the Congress of the United States.

You Too?

The designation of the plane brought down by the Russians, the U-2, could have been the expression by Khrushchev, when he pointed an accusing finger at this country. It would certainly be appropriate, because the Russians have been doing the same thing for a long time and have been caught at it in this country and Canada. Although their activities have not yet involved aerial reconnaissance, so far as we know, I feel sure that some must have gone on. We would certainly be naive to think otherwise.

The big scream from Russia is based upon what they claim is a violation of international law. That is, the unapproved violation of their territorial boundaries. Since a boundary line is fixed on land and water, extends downward to the center of the earth and upward to the heavens, it would probably be in order to call attention to the fact that Russia, by her own admission, violated the territorial sovereignty of this country when she placed Sputnik in orbit. She openly claimed that this object passed immediately over the United States. So far as I know, there has not been any separation of outer space insofar as territorial boundaries are concerned. Perhaps Russia is operating on the theory that the difference between violation or non-violation of territorial boundaries in the air space above a country depends upon whether or not you are able to shoot down the object in such air space. This has not, to my knowledge, been adopted as a rule of international law, and I doubt that it will be, but Russia has never been known to be hesitant in making rules that fit her own conduct favorably.

Mr and Mrs. Roy McClure and daughter Nancy visited in Wellington Sunday with Mr. McClure's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. McClure and other relatives.

LaVada Gregg and Darrel and brother, Leon Brown moved to California Thursday. Leon Gregg is stationed at Fort Ord, Calif., for his basic training, then he will be stationed in Hawaii.

Mrs. Mac Tarver Is Guest Speaker At Ophelia Club

The Ophelia Club met in regular session Tuesday, May 10, in the home of Mrs. Jerrel Rapp.

Mrs. Gerald Fowler, president, conducted the business session.

Delicious refreshments were served to three guests, Mrs. Mac Tarver, Mrs. Ed Hutchinson, of Memphis and Mrs. W. B. Davidson, of Estelline and the following members: Mmes. Gerald Fowler, Jim Hutchins, Leon Helm, Joe Bob Nivens, Ted Jones, Joe Kent Eddins, Billy Rothwell, Ralph Dahl, William Collier, Claudia Welch Jack Kinard, Mrs. Weatherby of Childress and the hostess, Mrs. Rapp.

Misses Judy Thompson, Donna Estlack, Frances Wallace and Sharron Henson of Clarendon and Mr. and Mrs. Frank McNeil of Amarillo were here on Tuesday evening, May 10, to attend a stated business meeting of the Order of the Rainbow Girls. The meeting was held in the Assembly room of the Masonic Temple.

Round and About

By HELEN COMBS
Summer weather arrived in earnest this week along with the last of school. Beginning Monday students will awake with refreshing thought, "Oh—no vacation time is today . . . vacation time is today . . . vacation time is today . . ."

There will be plenty of activities to keep the youth busy—the parents, too! For the boys there will be the Little League and the usual Scout activities. And for the girls an Girl Scout program beginning with a day camp to be held at the Virginia Browder Ranch June 27 through July 1. In June will be swimming at the local pools.

Usual, Vacation Bible School at local churches will introduce the summer vacation.

There is the annual Park on Thursday evening, May 19. This annual event is sponsored by the Memphis Lions Club.

and is something many persons look forward to from year to year. Plan to buy your tickets, if you haven't already, and come down to the park on Thursday evening and meet your neighbors and friends. Enjoy a big, delicious barbecued hamburger. Proceeds from the event are used for some worthwhile community project.

Thinking of summer and outdoor activities, the thought occurred to us one morning this week that our elderly, retired gentlemen about town needed some chairs. Many of them like to come downtown and visit with their friends, and we think it would be nice if they had some chairs or benches on which to sit and enjoy visiting . . . perhaps on the court house lawn.

Too often we spend our time and energy providing entertainment for the youth . . . and this is as it should be. But the older folks could use a little attention, too.

If we were as good a gardner as our neighbor, Mrs. Maude Hill, BAYLOR MAY DAY QUEEN — Miss Ouida Massey was named May Day Queen at the May Day Coronation held Wednesday night, May 4, at Baylor University. A graduate of Memphis High School, Miss Massey was sponsored by the freshman class. Twenty-seven co-eds, including eight visiting duchesses from other Southwest Conference colleges, made up the royal court.

across the street, perhaps our garden plot wouldn't be blank this year. Mrs. Hill picked her first quart of green beans this week. The beans were planted March 15.

It's Birthday Month at our house . . . first came that of our son-in-law, A. J.; then a week later, Susan, four-year-old granddaughter, celebrated her birthday, and then this week there was our daughter, Pat; and on Tuesday our granddaughter, Debbie, was three. Actually, the granddaughters never say "Birthday" . . . to them it's "Happy Birthday." Debbie was simply delighted with her birthday cake . . . and we can see the reason why as it was lovely. Tanya decorated the cake using marshmallows to make the cutest rabbit faces with long ears. For Tanya the day held a special significance as her mother made a cake exactly like it for her third anniversary.

Lt. Jackie Boone is here on leave before reporting for duty with the Third Marine Division on Okinawa. He expects to leave Memphis May 25 and will fly from San Francisco to Okinawa around June 1. While on duty there he will visit many points in the far East including Hong Kong, Japan, the Philippines and Guam.

Congratulations to Dick Craig who has been awarded a fellowship to do research in the Physiology Dept. at the University of Texas Dental School this summer. We know his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Craig, are proud of the son . . . and justly so. He was one of two students who made an A in dental anatomy at the Dental school this past year.

If last week was Rose week . . . then this week could be called Poppy week in Memphis. If you haven't seen the beautiful yard of poppies at the home of Mrs. L. M. Thornton, 1022 Main, then by all means drive down the alley back of her house and see this beautiful sight. Mary Foreman, also, has a beautiful bed of solid white poppies.

Speaking of flowers, we've never seen such beauties as the peonies several Memphis women brought back Tuesday from the garden of Mrs. Byron Gist in Amarillo. She has around 265 varieties all in full bloom with a multitude of colors. The Memphians said they had never seen a more beautiful sight. They were guests of Mrs. Gist for lunch at the Colonial and later visited the home of Mrs. Helen Nabers, who has perhaps the most exquisite antique furnishings in the Panhandle. Making the trip were Mrs. John Deaver, Mrs. Louie Goffinett, Mrs. D. L. C. Kinard, Mrs. C. W. Kinslow, Mrs. R. S.

Greene, Mrs. Art Miller and Mrs. Frank Foxhall.

Last week we told you Mrs. Rasco was visiting in California with her sister, Mrs. Mary Shaffer. . . But we were a few days behind! Mrs. Rasco arrived home last week bringing her sister with her for an indefinite visit.

Newlin Club Meets in Home Of Mrs. Jackson

The Newlin Mother's Club met in the home of Mrs. Ida Jackson in Memphis, Thursday, May 12. The president opened the meeting and a prayer was given by Mrs. Annie Hamilton.

Following the business session, the afternoon was spent piecing a club quilt.

Winnie Davis Chapter, UDC, Enjoys Brunch in Herlie Moreman Home Tues.

The Winnie Davis Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy met Tuesday, May 10, in the home of Mrs. Herlie Moreman for a 10 o'clock brunch.

The menu consisted of an old fashioned breakfast of orange juice, country sausage, bacon, scrambled eggs, thimble size biscuits, home-made pear preserves and plum jelly. The meal was served buffet style from an attractive dining table.

The president, Mrs. T. J. Hampton, presided during the business session at which time the following officers were elected:

Mrs. Emma Baskerville, president; Mrs. R. E. Clark, vice president; Mrs. Bray Cook, recording secretary; Mrs. Glynn Thompson, corresponding secretary and treasurer; Mrs. J. A. Odom, historian; Mrs. Herlie Moreman, parliamentarian; Mrs. J. H. Norman, registrar and Mrs. L. G. DeBerry, press reporter.

Introducing the program, Mrs. Glynn Thompson told about the "Thundering Pony Express." The Pony Express, which began operation between Saint Joseph, Mo., and Sacramento, Calif., on April 3, 1860, was organized by three American freighting and stage pioneers, William H. Russell, Alexander Majors and William Waddell, Mrs. Thompson said.

"About 450 of the finest horses money could buy were purchased throughout the West. Mail was carried over the Pony Express route in approximately 10 days; postage was initially $5 a half-ounce, later $1 a half-ounce."

"Pony Express riders got the mail through despite indescribable wilderness, hostile Indians, cold, hunger and weariness. Each rider rode daily 75 to 100 miles, changing horses every 10 or 15 miles at relay stations. Correspondence to federal agencies and members of Congress accounted for much of the mail from the West Coast. Abraham Lincoln's inaugural speech in March, 1861, was carried across the nation by Pony Express in a little over a week—a record.

"The Pony Express lasted barely eighteen months and drove its owners into bankruptcy. On Oct. 24, 1861, two construction crews, one working east, the other west, spliced telegraph wires in Salt Lake City and the United States, divided North and South, was connected East and West for the first time. The pony Express and the dauntless riders of the plains and desert slipped quietly into their places as an American legend that helped pave the way for the wireless telegraph and later the railroads," Mrs. Thompson concluded.

Mrs. Bray Cook read a paper on "Famous Calvary Leaders and Their Horses."

Mrs. J. H. Norman concluded the program with a poem, "Memorial Day in the South."

Members present were: Mmes. H. Norman, J. A. Odom, Emma Baskerville, O. R. Goodall, Glynn Thompson, L. G. DeBerry, T. J. Hampton, and one guest, Mrs. O. F. Taylor and hostess, Mrs. Moreman.

'Midsummer Night' Is Theme For Junior Senior Banquet Held Here April 29

A mid glamorous decorations carrying out the theme "Midsummer Night," Juniors and seniors of Memphis High School enjoyed the annual Junior-Senior Banquet on April 29. The social was held in the Travis School Cafeteria.

For the occasion the ceiling was covered with blue crepe paper and sprinkled with 19-point stars made of straws sprayed with silver and covered in glitter. Decorating the windows were 1600 kleenex carnations placed in regular geometric patterns.

The theme "Midsummer Night" was written across the stage curtain among numerous, flat cardboard stars covered in tinsel. The curtain served as a background for a lawn scene which included white lawn furniture on green grass and two trees, one blue and one white. Noted in a far corner of the room was a large orchid tree.

In the center of the room was a cascading waterfall fountain. In back of the fountain was a pink tree. The whole scene was slightly elevated on green grass. Around the fountain were placed kleenex carnations and limbs of cherry blossoms. A color wheel, hidden behind the crepe paper on the ceiling, changed the color of the fountain alternately throughout the evening.

Banquet tables were arranged in a U around the fountain. Bud vases with roses decorated the tables and plate favors were small

Goal Of Democratic Delegates

Delegates to the national Democratic convention July 11 in Los Angeles will be facing the usual difficult task of selecting the best man in the party to head their ticket. Primary aim of the party is to regain the White House. Not to be overlooked will be the efforts to keep control of the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives.

In reaching these goals, the Democrats must select a presidential ticket and produce a platform which will be acceptable to a majority of American voters. No informed person believes that the voters will accept candidates or a platform that represents the extremes within the party. The goal of those persons who are moving behind the scenes is to present the best party has to offer to the electorate next November. The welfare of the country must be the controlling factor.

Texas will be allowed 61 votes at the National convention out of a total of 1521. Delegates from the state will yield tremendous influence. This state's voice will be heard when the important decisions are to be made.

At this time it looks like Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson will head the Texas delegation. Senator Johnson is a strong contender for the presidential nomination. His strongest supporter, Speaker Sam Rayburn, will be using his great influence on the delegates. Between the Majority Leader and the speaker, Texas should have a loud voice in Los Angeles.

The third potent force which Texas can array at the national convention will be the Congressmen from this state and U. S. Senator Ralph Yarborough. These men will be listened to when they talk to their friends, who will be delegates and who are presently serving in the House and Senate. The facts of life are such that certain delegates from other states will think carefully before they vote against the wishes of their Majority Leader and the Speaker. And the arguments which Texas' Congressmen and the junior Senator can use will carry much weight.

Before this force can be applied, these men must be duly elected delegates from the state to the national convention. It is hoped that delegates from all counties who will convene in Austin June 14 will recognize this fact. It should be the primary aim of party leaders to begin now to bring this about. No Democrat from this 18th Congressional District will be able to yield the power of Congressman Walter Rogers when maneuvering starts at the national convention. He should be the number one choice of delegates from the Panhandle.

This is no time for factionalism to develop. All should unite behind Senator Johnson, and adopt a program at Anstin which has the best chance of winning.

The goal of the party is the White House and the control of the Congress. It is logical that nothing should be introduced which would make this goal harder to attain. Delegates at Austin next month can do much if they will name as many Congressmen as they can to represent their state at the national convention.

The Sin Of Tolerance

Tolerance has been defined as "recognizing and respecting other's beliefs or practices without necessarily agreeing or sympathizing." Generally speaking tolerance is a sort of benign, kindly attitude toward the foibles and frailties of other people. It is a trait of character or viewpoint most broad minded people seek to cultivate.

Americans have always been considered a tolerant people. Religious liberty, for instance, is guaranteed by our Constitution. We have scores of different sects and creeds, churches and religious groups, all getting along in more or less peace and amity. We have sharp and at times violent differences of opinion; yet we respect the other fellow's right to differ with us, no matter how irrational his argument may sound.

We argue pointedly about politics, we differ with each other about countless aspects of our daily life, yet insofar as these differences go between Americans, the sharp edges of discord have always been blunted against a solid background: the feeling of universal loyalty to one nation, one flag and one God.

Of late years there has been a change. The country is uneasy. You hear the oft-repeated statement "I don't like the looks of things." People are beginning to look beneath all the tinsel and fanfare of clever propaganda and catch glimpses of shoddy base on which some of the so-called liberals rest their bed for power. We have followed too many false leaders, men who are strangers to the old words of "honor and faith and sure intent."

The tolerance that was once a virtue has now become a sin. We have become too tolerant.

We have become tolerant about treason; we have become tolerant about chicanery in high places; we have become tolerant about immorality; we have become tolerant about crime delinquency and illegitimacy; we have become tolerant about government waste, about the loss of our freedom; we have become tolerant about godlessness, about unbelief. We have been sapped of conviction, drained of our beliefs and bereft of our faith.

Whatever the disillusionment, no man should cease to hunt for what he wants or to hope for great things. Great things exist. It is the men who destroy them.

What Other Editors Say

Softening?

We have heard comment recently about the "softness" of American youth. If such a condition exists, what is the cause?

Could it be the result of the state (government) assuming greater control over the individual—his schooling, his work, his income, his savings, his death and his estate—in other words, cradle to the grave supervision.

We now read that the New York City Board of Education sanctions a short course for junior and senior high schools next year, the purpose of which is to teach how to have a happy home. The course will include "group dating, double dating, single dating, steady dating" and the development of "qualities that make one popular."

The assumption that normal young people need such instruction is virtually an insult to their intelligence, but is a good example of state direction of the individual.

If such public instruction does not produce "softness" and lack of self-reliance in young people, it will be because of their native intelligence.—Graham Leader.

A Philosophy of Life

In today's tense and fast-moving world, millions of us are perplexed, confused, or unhappy. Too many of us are so caught-up in the race for the dollar, or survival, that we fail to do much clear thinking, or develop a philosophy of life.

True happiness is only possible when one has developed a philosophy of his own. All of us have our deficiencies and our handicaps and the sooner we all realize that we are limited, in ways, the better off we will be.

Moreover, all of us will not be millionaires, and all of us will want some things during life which we cannot attain. The solution is to be satisfied with what honest effort and real dedication can do, and to realize that this life on earth is not everything. Nor are material values as important as many of us assume.

The secret of happiness is a philosophy of mind. If one can develop a philosophy wherein he seeks to help others, is thankful for all that he has, and for all of nature's gifts, and so on, he can be happy with relatively little. That is not to say that one need want only relatively little, but it is to say that happiness is a state of mind, and a philosophy, and not the state of a bank account or of material possessions.—The Shamrock Texan.

JEALOUSY

Of all the emotions which afflict us one of the most sinister is simple jealousy. Not one among us is completely free of this reaction, although all of us realize that it is the root of much evil, and certainly an unbecoming and unproductive emotion.

Generally speaking we tend to be jealous of others who receive we know some do not deserve the acclaim, or financial success, they are given.

Nevertheless, the happiest citizens among us are those who have developed a philosophy and psychology which enables them to applaud the success of others and to avoid the habit of constant comparison and envy. It is always good to remember that life is a rather long pull, that there is plenty of time to exhibit one's talents, and that if one is deserving, talented, or blessed with unusual ability, inevitably the word will get around.

Therefore, patience, sympathy and understanding will do much toward preventing jealousy. Also, the success of another has never yet made it impossible for you, or someone else to achieve like success.

SENATOR  Yarborough's Report

Few governmental plans in our nation's history have had greater beneficial impact on the daily lives of Texans than the rural electrification program which was started 25 years ago this month.

Brilliantly conceived by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, this superb plan to ally drudgery and bring light to the homes of farm families produced a miracle for all of us to see and appreciate.

Because of Texas' size and proportionately large rural population, the REA program has meant more to Texans in terms of better living—comfort and prosperity—than it has to residents of any other state although there isn't a single state where people have not been tremendously benefitted.

President Roosevelt signed the executive order creating the REA on May 11, 1935, and the Honorable Sam Rayburn, who has served America and Texas so long and well, led in passage of the REA Act in 1936. Texas' first REA Co-op, the Bartlett Electric Co-op, received its loan approval in September of 1935. At that time, only 11,466 Texas farm families—just 2.3 per cent of our farm families—had electricity.

By contrast, on this 25th anniversary year of the REA program, 277,800 Texas farm families have electricity and nearly 70 per cent of this power has been furnished by the REA route. Texas REA Co-ops, of which there are now 97, have invested over $274 million, have built 148,047 miles of line, and are now serving 352,318 customers. All in all, Texas REA Co-ops serve more people over a greater area of distribution than any other such system in any other state.

These REA Co-ops, locally owned and operated independent business organizations, are carrying out a program that stands as one of the great landmarks of human achievement in our nation's history. Few things, even in this fabulous era of technological advancement, have meant so much to so many people during the last quarter of a century as has President Roosevelt's plan to bring light and power to rural America.

Hall County Soil Conservation District News

Range Sites—Range Conditions

Cropland fields have a different capability or potential. Some are best adapted for the growing of wheat, other grow good cotton while still others may be best for grazing crops. Some fields are capable of producing high yields of several crops. Rangelands have these characteristics also. Some rangeland is capable of producing tall grass that make a world of forage, while some other rangeland is capable of only short grass production. This is particularly true in a semi-arid climate. Why is this?

The capability or potential of rangeland depends upon the kind of land and is generally distinguished by the type of soil, topography, or other features that influence plant growth. These different kinds of land are divided into units known as range sites. Range sites differ in that they produce a different kind and amount of original vegetation. In short, each range site has a different capability or potential.

The rangeland in the Hall County Soil Conservation District has been catalogued into eight (8) separate range sites. These sites are: (1) Bottomland—relatively flat lowland next to rivers and creeks, such as is found on Ox-Bow road at Red River bridge. (2) Sandyland—Deep coarse textured soils, such as is found south of Turkey on the Matador highway. (3) Deep Hardland—deep fine textured soils, found on places such as the Vest ranch east of Newlin. (4) Mixedland—deep medium textured soils, found on places like the Scrivner ranch at Tampico. (5) Shallow Hardlands—a fine texture soil, not over 20 inches deep, such as is found on the Lester Babione ranch 12 miles east of Memphis. (6) Gyp Hills—steep rolling hills, with good bit of gyp showing, such as is found of the Bradley ranch east of Newlin. (7) Gyp Breaks—rough breaky country, with stratas of gyp showing, such as is found on Highway 70 north of Turkey. (8) Mixedland Breaks—deep medium textured soils cut up by many deep sharp canyons, such as is found six or seven miles west of Parnell on Highway 86.

Range conditions is another term that is used in classifying rangeland. By having a general knowledge of what grasses a range site will grow, the condition class can be determined by comparing existing vegetation with grasses that originally grew in the site. Range conditions is usually classified as excellent, good, fair or poor depending upon the comparison of what is present with what should be present.

Range management practices that are carried out by the rancher such as proper use, deferred grazing, brush control, range seeding and others are for the specific purpose of converting or improving the range site to its original capability. After all, a high producing range site with high production of livestock and beef.

ANOTHER USE FOR COTTON

A new red colored cotton string has been developed by researchers which, when soaked in a solution of parathion (contact poison) is effective against house flies. The impregnated cord is useful where flies gather. Used only inside of buildings, the cord kills flies when they get poison on their feet. Apparently the flies can't build up resistance to parathion.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Slough and Mr. and Mrs. Felix Jarrell visited in Childress Sunday afternoons.

"Who owns the Electric Company?"

A lot of our own customers can't answer that one. But there's certainly no secret about it.

The electric company is owned by people. Thousands of people, like you, who invest their money and help the company to grow.

Your electric company is not owned or run by the city. Not by the state either. Not by any kind of government. It is an independent business.

That's an important reason why you get the best possible electric service at such a low price.

CHEVROLET

OVER BACK-COUNTRY ROADS AT 45 WITH A SKY-HIGH LOAD OF TIMBER

Chevy middleweight shows the big rigs how it's done!

That's a 6303 medium-duty Chevrolet powered by a 283-cu.-in. V8. But there's sure nothing medium-duty about the load. Mr. J. E. Blankinship, Arkansas logging contractor, says both of his torsion-spring 6303's "move along at 40 to 50 miles per hour with 55,000 pounds gross weight and maintain a 5-trip-a-day schedule with no trouble at all." Figure the money you save when you've got a medium-duty truck that can cover 30,000 back-country miles a year with a high-tonnage load!

We've never seen anything like the amount of praise truck owners are heaping on Chevy's new torsion spring suspension. Owners like the fact the truck handles a whole lot easier, can move faster off the road without beating the driver to death and shaking loose all the sheet metal. They like the idea of extra thousands of miles before trade-in! . . . Drive a '60 Chevy just once. It's a whole new experience.

(Chevy middleweight averages 200 miles of back roads a day dogging timber out of the woods and delivering it to the mill at Crossett, Arkansas.)

The tower was completed approximately two weeks ago, however, it was last Friday before the equipment from Syracuse, N. Y., was installed, and the system placed on the air.

The television broadcast system is located on the Virginia Browder Ranch, seven miles northwest of Memphis. It is designed to pick up all telecasts of Amarillo Stations KGNC, KVIL, and KFDA, and televise these programs on UHF channels 71, 77 and 80 respectively, Webster said.

"We would like to explain that the system was not organized as a profit-making organization. Its sole purpose in being is to supply this area with television reception as cheaply as possible," he added.

During 1959, R. E. A. borrowers made payments to the government totaling $145,000,000. This figure includes principal and interest due plus an additional $15,000,000 in payments made in advance of due dates. The balance of advance payments which electric borrowers have with R. E.
