Friday Proclaimed As Annual Clean-Up Day

Local Businesses Will Be Closed During Afternoon

Friday, Aug. 5, has been designated as the Annual Clean-Up Day in Memphis, with business firms closing their doors at 12 noon and all able-bodied men joining in a huge trash hauling project during the afternoon.

Heading the drive this year is a committee composed of J. Claude Wells, chairman; James Van Pelt, Pete Shankle and J. L. Poff. The Lions Club committee has been working the past three weeks planning for the big clean-up.

The group has worked out final details for the drive, and Mayor H. J. Howell has declared Friday as official Clean-Up Day.

At 1 p. m. Friday afternoon, all able-bodied men are urged to gather at the City Hall where the drive will begin. The sheriff's office and city police will cooperate by patrolling the city as a means of keeping contact by radio with headquarters.

Any citizen who has a tree stump, concrete block or other heavy object which will have to be loaded, is urged to contact Mayor Howell, liaison officer, at the City Hall.

All persons owning clean-up tools, pickups, trucks, or any other equipment which would help in the drive are asked to make them available for the crews. The city crews and equipment will be on hand to aid, Mayor Howell said.

The city has been divided into four divisions, with co-captains being appointed for each division. These men are charged with the responsibility to form working crews and cleaning of their assigned areas.

Division No. 1 includes all the area east of the railroad track, with Thomas Clayton and Tony Craig as co-captains.

Division No. 2 includes all the area between Highway 287 and 9th Street to the junction of the two streets. O. R. (Doc) Saye and Jim Beeson are co-captains for No. 2.

Division No. 3 includes all the area west of 9th Street and south of Noel Street. Wendell Harrison and R. C. Lemons are the co-captains.

Division No. 4 co-captains are Kenneth Dale and E. M. Murphy, and the area includes all the land north of Brice, and west of 9th Street and Highway 287.

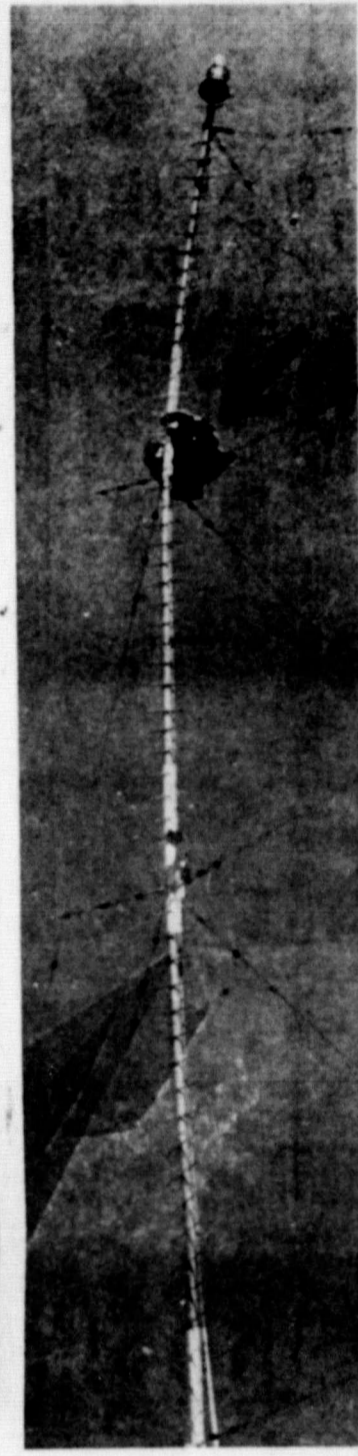

Everything is ready for the big clean-up, Wells said, and much cleaning has already been done by property owners in the city.

Cub Scouts Enjoy Outing At Park

Approximately 40 Cub Scouts and their dads attended the special Cub outing in the City Park recently, Joe Williams announced this week.

The Cubs enjoyed archery, baseball and swimming. Their fathers prepared hot dogs for the evening meal, and bacon and eggs, cereal and milk for breakfast.

"We would like to thank the City Council, Hubert Dennis at the swimming pool and everyone who had anything to do with the special outing. It was one of the best ones we have had, and I believe everyone enjoyed themselves," Williams added.

City Council Votes 1960 Advalorem Tax

The Memphis City Council Tuesday night passed an ordinance levying the ad valorem tax for 1960. This is an ordinance which is passed each year by the council.

The ordinance set the collection of $1.50 or one and one-half percent on the $100 evaluation on all property within said city subject to taxation under the laws of the State of Texas.

The $1.50 figure is broken into the following: $.0250 for meeting the interest and accumulating a sinking fund for the airport bonds, 1946 issue; .1125 for meeting the interest and accumulating a sinking fund for Street Improvement Bonds, Series 1953; .09 for said $1.50 for meeting interest and accumulating a sinking fund for Park Improvement Bonds, Series 1953; .11 for meeting the interest and accumulating a sinking fund for Street Improvement Warrants, 1959 issue; .4025 for the construction of roads and bridges within the City of Memphis; and .76 for general and current expenses of the City.

Water Discussion
Members of the City Council spent several hours Tuesday night discussing a proposal from President Rayburn L. Smith of the Donley County Water Conservation and Improvement District No. 1. The proposal, in the form of a letter from Mr. Smith to Mayor H. J. Howell, was made following a meeting in Dallas, held Wednesday, July 19, in the office of McCall, Parkhurst, Crowe, McCall and Horton, between members of the Donley County WCID No. 1, the City Council, represented by Mayor Howell, Alderman M. E. McNally, Jr., and City Attorney Sam Hamilton, investment firms, attorneys, trustee banks and an auditing firm.

The letter stated: "The Donley County WCID No. 1 will abandon the 13 shallow wells, which will then enable said District to obtain State Approval of water allowing Hall County to obtain Hill-Burton grant. Upon receipt of such grant, Hall County can then proceed with the program."
However, "to alleviate" the present deficiencies in the various funds and to create a separate fund to drill one additional deep well and replace water transmission lines, Donley County WCID

Vacation time continues... visitors arrive... townfolk leave.

Our vacation is over for the summer. We spent a week in Houston helping our daughter and family get settled in a new location in the southwest part of that city...

We were too busy unpacking to get in touch with any of the numerous Memphians who are now making their homes in Houston...

As our vacation drew to a close we did dash over to Galveston one morning to cool our feet in the waters of the Gulf.

Last week was a happy occasion for Mrs. J. W. Stokes who had as visitors her three sisters, Mrs. J. T. Fitzgerald of Houston, Mrs. J. H. Brooks of Corsicana and Mrs. Frank B. Taylor and husband of Blooming Grove.

One of the most pleasant surprises the Henry Foster family has had this summer was when they answered the door bell to find Mr. and Mrs. Pat O'Conner and three children from Kentucky.

Coach Don Lambert did make it to Dallas on time for the coaching school...

his new daughter, we understand Don went back to Dallas to complete his work at the coaching school.

No doubt the most successful deep sea fisherman of Memphis is none other than Frank Browder Foxhall. While attending school on the Texas coast, he became quite a fisherman...

While attending the Lions International convention in Chicago recently, Mrs. Jack Hightower of Vernon won an interview on the network radio show, "The Breakfast Club," with a bit of verse.

Fellow citizens, we understand the Memphis chapter of the American Field Service is short some $240 of the needed $650 to pay passage and other expenses for the foreign student who will arrive in Memphis this month...

Mr., Mrs. Lebow Attend Reunion In Indianapolis, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Lebow returned Tuesday from Indianapolis, Ind., where they attended the first USS Indianapolis Survivors reunion over the weekend.

Lebow, who served aboard the ship during World War II, was one of the survivors of a crew of 1,196. The heavy cruiser, which had helped transport part of the first atomic bomb ever used in war, went down in the Pacific about 550 miles east of the Philippine Islands.

Among outstanding speakers at the reunion were Rear Adm. Chas. B. McVay III, captain of the USS Indianapolis (retired), and Rear Adm. Redfield Mason, assistant chief of Naval operations (fleet readiness and preparedness).

This was Lebow's first reunion with members of the crew; however, he has kept in touch with many of them through correspondence, Mrs. Lebow said.

At a banquet, the last day of the meeting, all crew members were presented bronze medals decorated with a picture of the USS Indianapolis and inscribed, "Log Book, USS Indianapolis, July 30, 1945, Philippine Sea." Underneath the picture of the ship were these words, "First Survivor's Reunion in Indianapolis, July 30-31, 1960."

Seaman Wright Participates In Warfare Exercises

Ralph P. Wright, seaman, U.S.N., son of Mrs. Maggie Wright of Memphis, serving aboard the ammunition ship, USS Caricutin, has been taking part in a joint Canadian-American anti-submarine warfare exercise from July 21 through Aug. 3, off the West Coast of the U. S. and Canada.

Two American anti-submarine warfare groups headed by two aircraft carriers joined with six Royal Canadian destroyer escorts and supporting supply ships to provide the seagoing forces.

Air units from Whidbey Island, Wash., Alameda and North Island, Calif., also joined in the operation.

The exercise is designed to train both nations' anti-submarine forces and to perform techniques used in this type of warfare.

Study Proves Tractor Care Saves Money

A performance study on 50 typical farm tractors made recently furnishes information which can save money for any operator. According to the study, made by the Kansas State University's School of Agriculture and Applied Science, regular care and servicing are the keys to economy and more power.

Failure to maintain an engine properly can cost the owner more fuel to produce less power. The average tractor in the Kansas State test was producing only 75 per cent of its maximum power and it took one-third more fuel than normal to do it.

Air Cleaner: Of the tractors tested, one out of ten had air cleaners that were choked with dirt and chaff. Servicing their cleaners resulted in an average power gain of 7.6 per cent and an 11.4 per cent decrease in fuel consumption.

Carburetors: Adjustments were needed in almost 75 per cent of the cases. On 23 engines found running "rich", proper adjustment decreased fuel consumption by 9.5 per cent. In some cases, however, excessive leaning of the carburetor may actually increase fuel consumption at full load.)

Ignition Timing: Over half of the tractors were found to need timing adjustment. This produced an average gain in maximum power of 5.3 per cent with fuel consumption decreasing by the same percentage.

Spark Plugs: New plugs were installed in 90 per cent of the tractors for an average power gain of 5.3 per cent and a 6.1 per cent decrease in fuel consumption. In seven of the test tractors, plugs were found to be in such bad condition they caused misfiring under load. In these engines new plugs increased power 21.5 per cent and decreased fuel consumption 14.2 per cent. Governors on 80 per cent of the tractors were off. Adjustments or repairs increased horsepower 9 per cent and cut fuel consumption by 5 per cent.

American Flag Was Adopted By Congress In 1777

The "Stars and Stripes" was adopted as the national flag of the U. S. on June 14, 1777, by a resolution of the Second Continental Congress.

But why red, white and blue? World Book Encyclopedia says the Founding Fathers may have been influenced by the flag of the British East India Company, a group of merchants organized for exploration and trade. Their flag bore seven red and six white stripes.

In 1782 the U. S. Department of State explained the colors this way: red stands for hardness and courage, white is a symbol of purity and innocence, and blue is the color of vigilance, perseverance and justice.

According to legend, however, George Washington gave us a more dramatic explanation when he reportedly said:

"We take the stars and blue union from Heaven, the red from our mother country, separating it by white stripes, thus showing we have separated from her, and the white stripes shall go down to posterity representing liberty."

The original "Old Glory" was a world traveler, a refugee from the Confederacy, and a souvenir of the Smithsonian Institution.

A young sea captain named William Driver introduced the nickname in 1831, when he was given command of the brig "Charles Doggett." A group of citizens of Salem, Mass., presented him with a U. S. flag and he hailed it as "Old Glory."

Driver traveled twice around the world with the flag, according to World Book Encyclopedia. When he retired in 1837, he took the flag with him to Nashville, Tenn., where the name "Old Glory" spread.

During the Civil War the flag was sewed inside a bed quilt to hide it from Confederate troops. When Union soldiers took Nashville in 1862, Driver brought out the flag and it was raised over the state Capitol.

In 1922, "Old Glory" retired to the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D. C.

Hall County Soil Conservation District News

The ranches in this District are made up of many different types of soil. Parts of the ranches are suited only for natives vegetation and grazing, other parts of the ranches are suited for cultivated crops. It is very seldom that two ranches can be managed alike. Due to the difference in soils, vegetation and topography and the ranchers personal likes and dislikes, each ranch is handled differently.

But there is one thing that nearly all ranchers have in common. It is the planning for the future of the ranch. In this planning, ranchers look forward to maintaining their herds, their improvements, and their security in later years.

While you, a rancher, are planning along the above lines, you should also be planning your operations to make better and proper use of the soil, water and vegetation on your ranch. You should decide on the best ways to manage these resources according to their needs for protection and improvement, and how best to use your land within its capabilities.

You may have some fertile bottomland soil, while other parts of the ranch are less fertile, steep, or rocky. The soils may vary from clay to sand. You are likely to have several range sites on your ranch, each capable of producing different kinds and amounts of native forage.

The soil Conservation Service technicians assisting the Hall County Soil Conservation District are available to help with this planning, especially along the lines of maintaining and improving your ranch. This District, one of nearly 3,000 in the Nation, was organized to help landowners develop and carry out conservation plans on their farms and ranches.

EDITORIAL

Double Strength

One big issue that seems to find heavy stress in the 1960 presidential campaign is whether the United States is doing enough to maintain and increase its national power relative to that of its Communist competitors.

As that term is being used today, it means more than military strength, basic industry capacity, solid links with foreign friends.

It means steady economic growth, development of scientific resources, expansion of education. All these things are required in the high-paced race with the Soviet Union.

The Democrats are in the attack in this field, charging that the Eisenhower regime has allowed this country's power and prestige to decline seriously. The Republican position is, of course, that we are more than holding our own.

The on looking citizen deserves a full and responsible airing if all matters pertinent to this argument. Our very survival is bound up in this issue.

One thing we must all hope, however, is that the argument is not somehow distorted to the point where it appears to revolve around the question of spending money.

It would be a sad affair for the nation if those who talk of boosting general U. S. power should be dismissed as "spenders," while those who say we are doing all right should be scorned as "budget balancers."

We have a right — and good reason — to assume the patriotism of all parties to the "national power" argument.

We have a right also to expect that the issue will be treated in its fullest dimensions, with due regard to every facet of the problem.

Certainly cost is one such facet, and admittedly a large one, but it should be put in the perspective of all the other factors involved.

No sane politician can really want to spend his country into bankruptcy, to ripen it for Communist picking. Nor can any reasonable man wish to argue on the other hand that we cannot afford to survive.

The debate should concern itself fundamentally with whether we are in fact doing all we should do to keep ourselves and the free world supreme. If it should be determined that we are not, then the question becomes how to do what we must without sacrificing financial soundness.

To say that we cannot manage to survive in sound economic and fiscal health is to suggest a weakness in our free system which would be the very opposite of all we claim for it.

We have to believe that we can be both powerful and sound.

Major Cause of Wheat Surplus

When the congress and the president put it into the law of the land that a maximum of 15 acres of wheat could be grown on any farm unit while policing all the wheat acreage in the country above that figure, they left the gate down. The surplus wheat of which the city people complain, the tremendous backlog of the golden grain that is bulging at seaboard, can be traced to this 15 acres. For enough 15 acres put together make 15 million acres. In Floyd County alone there are more than a hundred such 15-acre crops. Fellows who are not in the wheat business but have the surplus ground from cotton or other allotments, find it more profitable to put in 15 acres of wheat than 15 acres of maize or soybeans, so they do.

Across the Mississippi, east and northeast, the 15-acre plantings are more numerous. Custom harvesting make it just about as easy for one man to get a crop has as another. A person has to have no harvesting machinery whatsoever. All he needs is a telephone. So we have a surplus of wheat occasioned by an innocent looking provision in the law that opened the flood gates. And the man who is in the wheat growing business gets the blame for the troubles which plague his segment of the farming industry.

Meanwhile the quota referendum was overwhelmingly adopted last week for continued wheat marketing controls. The wheat grower has his arms around the neck of the marketing law. Some such thing is about his only salvation. The vote nationwide was upward of 92 per cent favorable.

What Other Editors Say

Problem Still Faces Us
The two strong civil rights planks in both Democrat and Republican platforms leave the South all dressed up and nowhere to go.

Although we have no sympathies for extreme segregationists we certainly want no part of a program that would in effect force the mixing of the races against the will of one or both parties. But the time has come for Americans, north and south, east and west, to approach the problem honestly and fairly. We will have to shuck a lot of preconceived notions, but if we want peace in our time, we have no other choice.

The South will have to take steps of its own. Separate but equal schools have always been a farce. Our negro schools have been poorly equipped and staffed with teachers who in most cases were far below the average white teacher in training and formal education.

In the past most of our negro citizens who did get college degrees went north where job opportunities were greater. The negro business or professional man has little place in Texas. This has been true because somehow we couldn't conceive of a negro capable of doing anything but picking cotton and sweeping floors.

But the North and East, whose own hypocrisy has shown many times, will have to shuck their own prejudices against the South. Deep-seated social customs are not easily changed. Forcing integration of schools in a community where negroes outnumber whites will not work without social anarchy.

One of the few silver linings on the horizon today is the mass exodus of negroes from the South. Northern cities are beginning to understand something of the problem that both white and colored face in the South. Carrying out a strong so-called civil rights program with the force of martial law behind it will be a mistake that our leaders have made and can make again.

Rather than close our eyes to the inevitable, the South must submit an alternate proposal now. It's later than most of us think. Quanah Tribune-Chief.

Mrs. Pansy Dawson Srygley was awarded a Doctor of Education Degree by the faculty of the Burton College and Seminary of Manitou Springs, Colo., on Friday evening, July 22.

Highlights of the evening's program included a solo, "The Lord's Prayer," by Mrs. Ruth Eva Newland, and the commencement address, "The Christian Ministry in Contemporary Society," given by Chaplain G. Howard Linton, director of Religion, Baptist Memorial Hospital, San Antonio.

The graduating class numbered 37 members. Mrs. Srygley chose for her dissertation "Spelling in High School," which subject she selected because she is particularly interested in her own responsibility in this field.

Scout Completes Reporting On National Jamboree In Colorado

(Editor's Note: Following is the final report of Scout Dana Gibson on the National Jamboree. Dana has served as correspondent for this newspaper.)

Sunday after breakfast, we cleaned up and got ready to go to church. There were Buddhists, Quakers, Jews, Lutherans, Protestants, United Protestants, Unitarians, Mormons, Roman Catholics and Greek Orthodox. There was the biggest Protestant service ever held with 46,000 men and boys present.

After church we went back to camp and had dinner. After lunch we were free until 4:30. Some of the boys' parents were there, and they visited other sections and trading posts with them. At 4:30 all the boys were back and ready for supper. The menu included chicken with 54,600 thighs and an equal number of legs being served to the entire camp.

Monday after breakfast, we had most of the morning to work on the Jamboree Award. At 11:30 all Scouts were back in camp for lunch. Sandwiches were the regular lunch meal. They consisted of peanut butter and jelly with corned beef and tuna fish, with five quarts of milk and fruit.

All patrols except the Beavers of Troop 57 went to the rodeo. The Beaver Patrol was scheduled to be televised at the skill-orama area, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Then we went back to camp for retreat of the flags, a routine daily activity. Supper, then the regional campfires were the evening activities Monday night. We returned to camp for the 10 p. m. taps.

Tuesday after regular breakfast we were free to go to work on the adventure award. John Lemons and I went angling. The instructor was a professional, holding five national and 12 international awards for casting. He instructed us in all different types of casting, and after this we were allowed to cast. After lunch Gary Gentry and I went to the Skill-orama area to run the obstacle course. Each troop was given the opportunity to demonstrate skill at the Skill-orama.

This completed my adventure award. Most Scouts stayed near the camp the remainder of the afternoon. That evening we had sectional campfires which were held near sectional headquarters. Each council had a stunt. The Adobe Walls Council had a tumbling act.

Wednesday we were free to work on the adventure awards, to visit, and trade items until 4:30. After supper we were supposed to have troop campfires, but it was too windy and it made the fire hazardous to great; so the Japanese boys visited our camp.

Thursday morning we were honored with a visit from the President of the United States, Dwight Eisenhower. After lunch we were free to work on the adventure award. The first patrol to have all their members receive the award had supper cooked by the leaders of their troop. John Lemons and Lowell McKown completed their adventure award that afternoon.

Thursday evening's meal was a special one, sirloin steaks. At 6:30 all Scouts were lined up in front of Sectional Headquarters to march to the big arena for the closing show and Jubilee birthday party. At the close of the wonderful show, the arena was darkened and 56,000 Scouts lit a candle and rededicated themselves to the Scout Oath. This was an unforgettable, inspiring sight to see.

This evening of evenings came to a close as we joined together in singing "Auld Lang Syne." Friday after the breaking of camp, we loaded the buses for the journey home, arriving in Pampa at 8:30 Friday evening.

I feel I can speak for all the boys in saying that the past 10 days will go down in my pleasant memories for always and when

$240 Needed To Complete Foreign Student Fund

The Memphis chapter of the American Field Service made a plea this week for additional funds to help pay for the traveling expenses of the foreign student, who will arrive in Memphis the latter part of the month.

Bill Leslie, treasurer, explained the local chapter does not maintain any funds but is acting as a clearing unit for the community sponsored project. To date, clubs and individuals have contributed $410.00 of the $650.00 needed, he added.

"We are still $240.00 short of the amount required and this money must be sent immediately to the national headquarters in Washington," Leslie said.

Several individuals and clubs have already donated to the program, but leaders are hoping others will help out.

"With the entire community assisting in the program, the cost will be small for everyone. However, if others do not assist, some individuals and organizations will have to bear more than their share of the cost," according to the treasurer.

The foreign student, Heinz-Erich Ludemann of Germany, will make his home with the Ace Galle family during the nine months he will spend here. He will be a senior in Memphis High School. Ludemann was selected to come to Memphis by the national chapter after the local chapter made application for a foreign student.

Mrs. David Aronofsky, president of the local chapter, has explained that several business firms have volunteered to contribute to Ludemann's support while he is in Memphis by cleaning his clothes, etc. He will live in the Galle home as a member of the family.
