Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin continued to make this their home until 1907 when they moved to Memphis. While living at Tenaha, Mr. Baldwin helped to organize the bank and served as its first president. He also operated a mercantile business there.

Gamma Kappa Chapter To Present Display At International Convention

Over 2,000 educators are expected to meet in Bal Harbour, Fla., Aug. 10-13, at the Americana Hotel for the International Convention of Delta Kappa Gamma, international honor society for women teachers.

Gamma Kappa Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, which is composed of teachers from Hall, Donley, Childress and Collingsworth counties, will have on display at the convention a History of "Gamma Kappa Chapter" and a copy of "This Is Our Life" which contains the history of each member of Gamma Kappa Chapter.

The highlight of the convention will be the awarding of 56 scholarships for advanced study valued at $2,500 each. Dr. Carolyn Guss of Indiana University, chairman of the Special Scholarship Committee, will make the presentation at the Birthday Luncheon on Thursday, Aug. 11. Contributions from the nearly 75,000 members in the Society have made this possible. One scholarship will be awarded in each of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and five Canadian provinces in which the Society was organized when the project was undertaken in 1958.

This is the second large scholarship project of the Society, which annually awards three scholarships of $2,500 each. In 1954 awards of $1,300 each were presented to 52 members in the states, territories, and provinces that were then organized. Many states and chapters each year awarded scholarships for advanced study and grants-in-aid for future teachers. A number of scholarships given by various states and by the international Society have brought women educators from other countries to the United States to study and sent members overseas for similar experiences.

In the local Gamma Kappa Chapter, Mrs. Velma Weaver of Clarendon has received two Edna Graham Scholarships to attend West Texas State College at Canyon and one scholarship to attend Texas Tech at Lubbock. Mrs. Alice Lacy of Hedley has received an Edna Graham Scholarship to attend West Texas State.

The Educator's Award—a gift of $1,000 for the most significant contribution to education written by a woman between April 1, 1958, and April 1, 1959—will also be presented at the luncheon.

Featured speakers for the convention will be Mrs. Margaret Konantz, O. B. E. (Order of the British Empire) of Winnipeg, Manitoba, the national vice president of the United Nations Association, and Dr. Ane Gary Pannell, president of Sweet Briar College, Virginia.

Mrs. Konantz will speak at the evening session on Thursday, Aug. 11. Her subject will be "Clasp the Hands and Know the Thoughts of Those in Other Lands." She is also national vice president of UNICEF and campaign chairman for World Refugee Year.

As main speaker for the convention, Dr. Pannell will address the assembled Delta Kappa Gammans at the Presidents and Founders Banquet on Saturday evening, Aug. 13, on the subject of "Great Teachers." Dr. Pannell serves on numerous educational councils, boards, and commissions and has represented American education in conferences with teachers and educational leaders abroad.

Local board quotas for the August call already have been completed and sent to the state's 137 local draft boards.

Report From Washington

Congressman Rogers Discusses Civil Rights Platform Planks

Editor's Note: The following article, entitled "Political Planks—The Civil Rights Issue," was written for a weekly newsletter by Walter Rogers, congressman from this district. It proves his point that the political parties are trying to obtain minority group bloc voting with the issue.)

In the past few weeks the American people have heard and read a great deal more about the platform of the major political parties of this nation than probably at any other time in our history. The reasons being: (1) the splendid nationwide television coverage of both the Democratic and the Republican Conventions; (2) the increasing interest of the African people in political affairs; and (3) the highly controversial issue of "civil rights," which served to focus the attention of the entire nation on the political platforms. The civil rights issue in recent years has been an issue at Democratic conventions, but has been more or less run-of-the-mill at Republican conventions. However, this year the issue at both conventions, and unquestionably has been a hotly debated issue in the coming election campaigns. The tremendous amount of the issue in recent years has led me to wonder why both parties had waited so long in the history of this country to worry about individual rights. I had always been taught that this country was founded for the protection of the rights of the individual and that those rights were guaranteed and protected by the provisions of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. I suspected that all the recent oratory and loudly proclaimed efforts concerning the protection of the "civil rights" of citizens of this country must have found its source in a desire for the part of certain political groups to try to obtain some bloc voting, by so-called minority groups.

Hence, I made it a point to do a little research on previous platforms of the two major parties. The findings were most interesting. Prior to 1932, there was very little reference directly or indirectly on the subject, so we will begin with the 1932 platforms. That was the year that the Democrats nominated Franklin Delano Roosevelt president and John N. Garner for vice president. The Democratic platform that year contained one sentence that could probably be construed as having to do with the civil rights issue. It was the last sentence in the platform and read as follows: "Equal rights to all; special privileges to none."

The Republicans that year nominated Herbert Hoover for president and Charles Curtis for vice president, and their platform contained the following section on the subject: "Negro

For seventy years the Republican Party has been the friend of the American Negro. Vindication of the right of the Negro citizen to enjoy the full benefits of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness is traditional in the Republican Party and our party stands pledged to maintain equal opportunity and rights for our Negro citizens. We do not propose to depart from that tradition nor to alter the spirit or letter of that pledge."

In 1936 the Democrats again nominated Roosevelt and Garner, and the platform that year contained the following paragraph: "Civil Liberties

We shall continue to guard the freedom of speech, press, radio, religion, and assembly which our Constitution guarantees; with equal rights to all and special privileges to none."

The Republicans in 1936 nominated Alf Landon of Kansas and Frank Knox of Illinois. Their civil rights plank that year contained two short paragraphs under the heading "Bill of Rights", and was in the most general terms, plus two other paragraphs specifically referring to colored citizens.

In 1940 the Democrats again nominated Franklin Roosevelt and chose Henry A. Wallace to run for vice president. The platform contained a separate section under the heading "Negroes." It consisted of two short paragraphs reciting what the Democratic Party had done for the Negroes and pledged to uphold due process and the equal protection of the laws for every citizen regardless of race, creed, or color.

The 1940 nominees of the Republican Party were Wendell Wilkie of Indiana and Charles McNary of Oregon. The Republican platform also contained a separate section entitled "Negro," in which the party pledged a "square deal" in the economic and political life of the nation, and abhorred mob violence. This was all contained in one paragraph.

In 1944 the Democrats again nominated Franklin Roosevelt and named Harry Truman to run with him. The only reference in that year's platform to civil rights was a short paragraph in Section 7 asserting the belief that all citizens share the rights guaranteed by our Constitution and admonishing the Congress to exert its full constitutional powers. This was all contained in two short sentences.

The Republicans that year nominated Thomas E. Dewey for president and John W. Bricker of Ohio for vice president. Their platform included a separate section with relation to civil rights. This section consisted of three short sentences, the last of which was as follows: "We pledge the establishment by Federal Legislation of a permanent Fair Employment Practices Commission."

In 1948 the Democrats nominated Harry Truman for president and Alben Barkley for vice president. The platform that year contained a short reference to civil rights documented in four points, which I quote: "(1) the right of full and equal political participation; (2) the right to equal opportunity of employment; (3) the right of security of person; (4) the right of equal treatment in the service and defense of our nation."

The Republicans in 1948 nominated Thomas E. Dewey and Earl Warren. They summed up their civil rights views in approximately one-half page consisting of four short paragraphs. One of these was a simple statement favoring the abolition of the poll tax as a requisite of voting.

MUSCLE BEACH? . . . All set to keep in shape at Nassau is Fay Ray, who stands beside a "do-it-yourself" barbell made of coconuts and a bamboo pole.

In 1952 the Democrats nominated Adlai Stevenson for President and John Sparkman for Vice President. The platform that year contained a sub-section on civil rights which consisted of six short paragraphs.

The Republicans in 1952 nominated Dwight D. Eisenhower and Richard Nixon. Their platform contained a section on civil rights which consisted of six short paragraphs.

In 1956 the Democrats nominated Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver, and although the platform consisted of some 44 pages, the civil rights issue was confined to six medium-size paragraphs.

The Republicans in 1956 again nominated Dwight Eisenhower and Richard Nixon and expressed their sentiments on civil rights in nine short paragraphs.

Between 1932 and 1956 the issue had grown in the Democratic platform from one short sentence to six paragraphs. It had grown from one paragraph in the 1932 Republican platform to nine paragraphs in 1956. But this was only the beginning.

In the 1960 platforms the Democrats used 24 paragraphs or four times the number in 1956 on this issue. The Republicans increased their interest in the matter from 9 paragraphs in 1956 to 30 paragraphs in 1960.

A reading of all of these paragraphs in all platforms would indicate that my suspicions were correct in the first place. The entire tenor of the words, the phrases and the paragraphs as they grew, are an appeal to minority groups, each party trying to outdo the other.

The entire matter could have been summed up in every platform by simply stating that the parties subscribed to the Constitution and the Bill of Rights, and would see to it that the Attorney General enforces the law. If this philosophy was followed, the rights of all would be protected as was intended by the framers of the Constitution.

"If such District is created, it may be authorized to levy a tax not to exceed seventy-five cents (75c) on the One Hundred Dollar ($100) valuation of taxable property within the District; provided, however, no tax may be levied until approved by a majority vote of the participating resident qualified property taxing voters who have duly rendered their property for taxation. The maximum rate of tax may be changed at subsequent elections so long as obligations are not impaired, and not to exceed the maximum limit of seventy-five cents (75c) per One Hundred Dollar ($100) valuation, and no change in the maximum rate may be made by subsequent changes in the boundaries of the Commissioners Precinct No. 4 of Comanche County."

No. 4 of Comanche County. "If such tax is authorized, no political subdivision or municipality within or having boundaries as to which the District may levy a tax for medical or hospital care for needy individuals, nor shall they maintain or erect hospital facilities, but the District shall by resolution assume all such responsibility and shall assume all of the liabilities and obligations (including bonds and warrants) of such subdivisions and municipalities for both. The maximum tax rate submitted shall be sufficient to discharge such obligations, liabilities, and responsibilities, to maintain and operate the hospital system, and the Legislature may authorize the District to issue bonds for the purpose of the purchase, construction, acquisition, repair or renovation of improvements and facilities for equipping the same, and such bonds shall be payable from said seventy-five cent (75c) tax. The Legislature shall provide for transfer of title to properties to the District.

"(b) The Legislature may by law permit the county of Comanche to render financial aid to that District by paying a part of the expenses of operating and maintaining the same and paying a part of the debts of the District (whether assumed or created by the District) and may authorize the levy of a tax not to exceed ten cents (10c) per One Hundred Dollar ($100) valuation (in addition to other taxes permitted by the Constitution) upon all property within the County but without the County Commissioners Precinct No. 4 of Comanche County at the time such levy is made for such purposes. If such tax is authorized, the District shall by resolution assume the responsibilities, obligations, and liabilities of the County in the manner and to the extent hereinafter provided for political subdivisions having boundaries co-extensive with the District, and the County shall not be liable for hospital purposes nor for providing hospital care for needy individuals of the County.

"(c) Should the Legislature enact enabling laws in anticipation of the adoption of this Amendment, such Acts shall not be invalid because of their anticipatory character."

Mr. Claude Wells

Dear Sir:

In your "Claude's Comments" you state that it has changed picture since Johnson has been nominated on the Democratic ticket for Vice President. I admit that it makes the picture much better. However I do not think we can afford to elect a Catholic for President in order to get a Democrat for Vice President.

I do not recognize the Roman Catholic Church as a Christian denomination because its first obligation is to the Pope at Rome. Consequently Roman Catholicism is a Political Organization of the most dangerous kind. I am not afraid of any man who puts God first and his country next. But I do not want any man (who puts the Pope at Rome first and his country second.

Dear Mr. Wells:

Some months ago you asked me to write a letter for your column, which I always read and enjoy. At the time I didn't think of anything of special interest to write about, but an enclosing article which I think every leader of political integrity should read. You said "We witnessed the death of the Democratic party, but actually I think it was the funeral, as the party died back there somewhere when it sold out to the labor bosses.

I believe we found the answer in Mr. Nixon's speech, the most important part of which was not to impress voters. He seems to be dedicated to his purpose, with the courage to live up to his convictions. I think the team of Nixon and Lodge is a strong one.

(Following are excerpts of the article enclosed):

"My exhortation is to pray. Pray for the world as well as for America. Pray for world leaders as well as our own. Pray for the United Nations. Pray for a world court. Pray for the church. Pray for our enemies. Pray 'Let there be peace on earth, and let it begin with me.' Pray for a trek back to religion in America, and a great spiritual awakening throughout the world. 'Pray without ceasing,' for thus will this nation lead the world to recognize the truth expressed by the angel of the Lord when he admonished, 'Not by night, nor by power, but by my Spirit, saith Jehovah of hosts.' So shall this nation be the first to demonstrate the activation of the world-remaking, happiness-creating power of God invested in man, and by so doing be the first to place power in the hands of love and give liberty and justice and security to all. Future generations will rise to bless America . . . The conclusion of the matter is, then, that we should pray. We should ask God as our forefathers did, with faith in His goodness. A review of the birth of our nation reveals that our forefathers did pray. Our Constitution grew out of prayer. The significant facts concerning the Constitutional Convention held in Philadelphia in 1787 not only disclose the important part prayer had in the framing of the Constitution, but they also divulge something of the character of the delegates from our thirteen original states."

Al Burks Opens New Modern Food Store In Tulia

Griffith, Inc., held the grand opening of one of the finest super markets in Texas in Tulia last week under the name of Food Town, according to the Tulia Herald.

A. L. Burks, former Memphis resident, has been managing the store for the past several years, and now holds stock in the corporation.

The name "Food Town" is more descriptive than simply a super market in that the store is really a city within itself. With a total floor space of 22,500 square feet, Food Town is believed to be the first market to include an after-hours store of the 7 to 11 type within the super market operation. The small store, which really is not small, is called the Quick Check. The purpose of the Quick Check after hours store is to furnish Mrs. Housewife with those forgotten items which are needed for unexpected guests or a picnicking party.

While living here Burks was manager of the H. O. Wooten Grocer Co., wholesale firm, and Mrs. Burks taught in the Memphis School.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Cape and daughter, Kim, enjoyed fishing at Lake Altus over the weekend.

CHEERLEADER — Miss Priscilla Wright, who was a popular member of the spring graduating class, has been named as one of the cheerleaders for the Greenbelt Football Game to be held in Childress Saturday evening. Miss Wright is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Wright.

SENATOR ☆☆☆ Yarborough's Report

Keeping the morale of our fighting men high is a vital part of building America's military power to the point Russia will never dare attack.

Regardless of its firepower, nuclear or otherwise, a fighting force is no stronger than the morale of its men. Guns are of little value without dedicated, courageous, trained men to aim and fire them.

Responsible, intelligent and fair programs of assistance for our veterans, for their widows and children, are not some radical, new-fangled plan as some would have you believe.

The history of our country clearly and honestly records that the purpose of veterans assistance programs is, and always has been, to let each physically able God-fearing, freedom-loving American face the "iron and fire" of war knowing that a grateful people will care for his family if he is killed, and bind his wounds if he is hurt.

This assurance that his family would be afforded a decent chance for happiness in the free society that he was fighting to preserve has been a strong factor in giving America the proudest battle tradition the world has ever known.

This system had its beginning over 300 years ago when the settlers of the Plymouth Colony in 1635, said:

"... and soldier injured in defense of the colony shall be maintained competently by the colony for the remainder of his life."

In his second inaugural address, President Lincoln said:

"... let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the brunt of the battle, and for his widow and his orphan..."

During most periods of our history, it is recorded that we Americans have fulfilled the obligations to those who have carried a special burden in the fight to keep America free from the tyranny of would-be oppressors.

For the most part, fair and decent programs were passed in behalf of the veterans of World War II and the Korean conflict, and for their families. These assistance programs included educational benefits, loans for homes and some businesses, job training, hospitalization and others.

Unfortunately, because of time and circumstance, no such program was envisioned to help the veterans of World War I, and today we find many old soldiers of that conflict in need of help. Many of them now have reached the twilight of life, and earning a living is not so easy as it once was. Many of them are missing the educational assistance they should have received after World War I which would have helped them to financially prepare for later life. A recognition of the obligation of the government to veterans of World War I, created by their loss of educational opportunity and other sacrifice, is needed today, and needed very badly in some instances.

In addition, and of immediate concern is a program of assistance to our veterans of the Cold War, such as that provided in my Cold War Veterans GI Bill. We must not make the same mistake with four and a quarter million veterans of the Cold War that we made with the veterans of the First World War.

Blueprint of Why We Lose Face

Here are a few related items from the news in recent days:

Congress empowered President Eisenhower to curtail Cuba's sugar allotments.

Raul Castro, brother of the bearded premier of Cuba, was received in state on visits to Czechoslovakia and Soviet Russia.

The premier, Fidel, unleashed new attacks on the United States using the Soviet line about "imperialism."

The United States foreign aid program extends economic aid to Poland in the form of farm surplus grants.

The Polish Communist government announced it is building an industrial plant for Castro's Red-dominated Cuba.

Is it any wonder that the United States appears so absurdly inept in the embroiled world today? Is it any wonder the Soviet, with apparent ease, keeps us constantly on the defensive? What can we expect but to lose face on all sides when we are governed by a bumbling, massive bureaucracy which never knows when its right hand is cutting off its left?

General Election Three Months Away

Elsewhere in this issue will be found three of the four Constitutional Amendments, which will face Texas voters at the general election in November. It is natural that amendments to the state's Constitution do not cause much concern among its citizens, and this year's reaction is no exception.

What is causing interest in the forthcoming General Election are the nominees of the two great political parties for President and Vice President. The recent conventions, the day-by-day report of the candidates, is causing much discussion.

In addition to candidates for President and Vice President Texas voters will make their decisions on all other elective offices in the state.

Voters are being afforded ample opportunity to study the candidates on the national scene, and the platforms of the parties. The pre-election ballooning and campaigning will increase its tempo as soon as the national congress adjourns.

The amendments should be studied, because each involves matters of finance even though the specific subject matter is unrelated. A brief digest of the four proposed amendments is as follows:

No. One on the Ballot (HJR 39) — Authorizes the Legislature to create hospital districts co-extensive with Lamar County, Hidalgo County and County Commissioners Precinct No. 4 of Comanche County, and sets forth certain powers, duties and limitations.

No. Two on the Ballot (SJR 6) — Increases the maximum permissible interest rate on bonds hereafter issued by the Veterans' Land Board to three and one-half per cent.

No. Three on the Ballot (HJR 3) — This is known as the "Annual Salary Bill" for legislators. It provides for an annual salary of not to exceed $4,800 for each legislator, and a per diem allowance of not to exceed $12 a day for the first 120 days of each regular session and for 30 days of each special session as maximum compensation for members of the Legislature. Also it limits the regular session to 140 days.

No. Four on the Ballot (HJR 6) — Authorizes the Legislature to classify loans and lenders, license and regulate lenders, define interest, fix maximum rates of interest, and provide for a maximum rate of interest of ten per cent per annum in the absence of legislation setting maximum rates of interest; provides that the rate of interest shall not exceed six per cent per annum in contracts where no interest rate is agreed upon; provides for the right of appeal and trial de novo in the event of cancellation of or refusal to grant any permit.

These should be studied carefully, and discussed at length when the opportunity presents itself.

What Other Editors Say

Where Are The Tops?
We've just read about a Houston youth being slain in a teenage "rumble" earlier this week, with similarly distasteful occurrences being reported from all over the United States.

With this dreadful happening still on our mind we also read about a Texas town with an annual top-spinning contest, in which men, women and children compete.

We hadn't thought of it for year, but pairing the two news stories put us to wondering: Where are the tops? Or, for that matter, where are the marbles? Or mumbledy-peg? Or the dozen other things that made a long, lazy summer a heavy for boys?

And suddenly, we knew. The boys are busy being entertained by adults in "supervised recreation." And we're inclined to be a bit curious why the term "juvenile delinquency" had never been thought of when the kids were so neglected that they went to the devil playing run-sheep-run and shinny and one-o'-cat.

Some of the more venturesome among them hunted wild plums and came home with a large painful and a sense of accomplishment. Widow ladies never needed to worry about their lawn-mowing or weed-chopping. There were a dozen boys in the neighborhood ready to do the job for a quarter. And it had better be done right or some other kid would get the job next time.

But we suppose it was not good. There were no child-labor laws which said a kid couldn't work without getting permission from school authorities. The government had not yet decreed that everybody should be paid a dollar an hour (with a $1.25 minimum now before Congress). There was no social security. No forty-hour week. No time-and-a-half. No income taxes.

In short, there had been no social progress. But, somehow, all the kids grew up to be self-reliant citizens. And they built a great nation. And they now read that the Russians are working harder than make hiring temporary help a lot of trouble.

The day of the casual summer job, such a help to eager youngsters in other days, seems to be passing—one more casualty of creeping public and private bureaucratization.

—Miles City (Mont.) Daily Star

Need More Respect
The playing of the "Star-Spangled Banner" means nothing to many of the children of today. Recently at a public gathering the band played the "Star-Spangled Banner" as their last number and the number of children that ignored the music was appalling.

Our suggestion to battle this indifference is for parents to set an example and teach their children by sitting at strict attention when the "Star-Spangled Banner" is played on TV or radio.

Remember children learn these disciplines mostly in the home and respect our National Anthem must be learned early in life.

In the 37 months of the Korean War, more than one million civilian men, women and children were killed in South Korea.

Hall County Soil Conservation District News

Now is the time to mow weeds in the Hall County Soil Conservation District on land that was planted to native grasses and on rangeland says Charley B. Cape of the Soil Conservation Service.

It takes 90 to 118 gallons of water to produce one pound of ragweed or sunflower, in comparison to 60 to 80 gallons of water to produce one pound of grass. Now is the time for you to decide which type of vegetation that you are going to produce in your farm or ranch. Three of the best ways to control weeds are chemical spraying, mowing, and do not overgraze pasture.

Due to the state laws on chemicals the best way now to control weeds is by controlled grazing or mowing. Cut the pasture in two by fencing and give one part a rest while you are grazing the other part and use some cultivated land for pasture as much as possible. Mowing should be done early as a rule May or June and then again in August or September. Give one of those rotary type mowers a try. Your Soil Conservation District has a rotary mower that you may use. So contact your Soil Conservation Service field man or your district supervisor and they will be glad to assist you with your weed problems.

C. L. Wynn's Car Stolen Here Tuesday

A 1955 Ford car, belonging to C. L. Wynn, was stolen Tuesday by two California boys, Sheriff W. P. Baten Jr., said Wednesday.

The car was recovered in Hamilton, apparently not damaged. The boys stole a pickup truck there, and drove it to Ballinger where they stole a 1957 Chevrolet. Officers from the sheriff's office in Ballinger picked up the boys.

The boys arrived in Memphis Tuesday in an International flat-bed truck belonging to the Ryder Truck Rental in Amarillo, which they had stolen, according to the sheriff.

Sheriff Baten stated that the two have admitted to the sheriff at Ballinger that they had entered the Waples-Platter warehouse in Memphis, and had taken some chewing gum and cotton gloves.
