Blackie Johnson Gets Carnegie Hero Award

Charlie Chester (Blackie) Johnson, 23, of Memphis, received notification Monday Oct. 31, 1960, that he has been given the Bronze Medal for Heroism from the Carnegie Hero Fund.

The notification came in the form of a letter from David B. Oliver, manager of the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission. Besides the Bronze Medal, Johnson also received a cash award.

Johnson was presented the award by the commission for his act of bravery in rescuing two negro employees of Western Cotton Oil Co. in Memphis from suffocation in a cottonseed hull cavein at the plant on Saturday, Aug. 8, 1959.

The accident occurred when Johnson's crew, composed of Bobby D. Scott, William D. Morris, both teen-age colored boys, and Johnson were loading cotton seedhulls onto a conveyor belt inside a huge storage room.

Both Scott and Morris were shovelling the hulls into the conveyor belt, which ran in a steel tunnel beneath the 25-foot hull pile, when the wall of hulls collapsed on them. They were buried beneath 12 to 14 feet of hulls. Johnson, who saw the wall of hulls collapsing, shouted to the men to get out of the way, however, his warning was too late. Johnson was also buried in about three feet of hulls.

After freeing himself, he sought help. Not finding any, he entered the free end of the conveyor belt tunnel, went under the pile of hulls, and rescued the men by bringing them into the tunnel.

One of the men was unconscious when he was rescued, but no permanent damages were received by either of the two men, and they returned to work that afternoon.

After the accident, Johnson was contacted by Memphis Chamber of Commerce Manager Clifford Farmer, who asked him if he had any objections to having the incident reported to the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission.

Receiving no objection from Johnson, Farmer, and Rev. Richard Avery, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Memphis, notified the association.

An investigator from the association was in Memphis in June, (Continued on Page Eight)

City Council Passes Water Dist. Franchise

The Memphis City Council Tuesday night passed an ordinance amending the Nov. 6, 1951 franchise of the Donley County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1.

The amendment includes the extension of the franchise to Nov. 6, 1995, a 35-year extension. The old franchise was for 25 years, expiring in 1976. Also, the new franchise has one other major change over the old franchise. This concerns the amount of water the DCWCID No. 1 must supply.

According to a letter from R. W. Hester, secretary of the board of directors of DCWCID No. 1, dated Oct. 27, 1960, and addressed to Sam Hamilton, city attorney, the board of directors of the district will seek state approval of the water supply for Memphis.

The last paragraph of the letter, which was handed to a Democrat reporter following the meeting, follows: "As we mentioned in Monday's meeting, the board of directors will begin work with the State Health Department to clear up obstacles to the procurement of Hill-Burton Hospital funds."

The franchise, and the agreement for state approved water, was the outcome of a meeting of board of directors and Mayor H. J. Howell, City Attorney Hamilton, Aldermen M. E. McNally, Jr., and E. E. Roberts on Monday, Oct. 24.

Section No. 7 of the new franchise states concerning water supply: "The water district is bound at all times to be equipped to furnish a supply of water, insofar as it is possible and feasible to produce such supply from the lands now owned and/or leased or to be practicably and reasonably acquired by the district."

Section No. 8 of the old franchise stated: "The water district shall at all times be equipped to furnish a supply of water 250,000 gallons per day in excess of maximum consumption in the city, insofar as it is possible, and feasible to produce such supply from the lands now owned and leased or to be practicably and reasonably acquired by the district, its successors and assigns. This Section 8 shall not obligate the district to drill more wells on land owned by it than are considered proper by the district nor shall the district be obligated to buy additional land at unreasonable prices or at unreasonable distances from Memphis."

The City Council also passed another ordinance defining the boundaries of Ward 3 and Ward 4. The boundary change was from 10th Street to 12th Street between the two wards. This will affect only those persons residing north of Main Street on 10th, 11th and 12th Streets.

The council approved the paying of the bills and the receiving of the monthly reports.

Both Major Parties Predict Victory

Interest was increasing daily in Hall County as the date of the general election drew nearer, according to political observers. A prediction was made late Wednesday by both Democratic and Republican party leaders that an unusually large turnout of voters would go to the polls next Tuesday, Nov. 8, and cast ballots.

At noon Wednesday, a total of 48 absentee ballots had been registered with Mrs. Ruby Goodnight, county clerk. The figure is expected to be much higher before the deadline Friday because of the large number of written requests which the county clerk had received. Last date for returning the absentee ballots is Friday, Nov. 4, Mrs. Goodnight said.

According to the files of The Memphis Democrat, 1952 figures showed that Stevenson led Eisenhower in the county by a vote of 1,744 to 1,253. Four years later, in 1956, Stevenson received a total of 1492 votes, and Eisenhower 678 votes in this count.

Polls will open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. Citizens will vote at each of the regular polling places in the county.

Wright Predicts Victory
Oscar Wright, chairman of the Republican Executive Committee of Hall County, late Wednesday night told The Democrat that he expected his party's nominees for president and vice president to win next Tuesday's election.

"The Republican party will carry Hall County," Mr. Wright said. "Our party will also carry the state of Texas by some 300,000 votes, and will definitely carry the nation by a majority of about 52 per cent."

In explaining his analysis of the outcome, Chairman Wright said that he considers the states of New York, California and Pennsylvania a toss-up; that the Republican nominees will carry Ohio by four per cent. He added that these are the states to watch.

Democrats Confident
Spokesman for the Democrats of the county was Herschel Combs, county chairman. He mentioned the fact that the county was historically approximately 75 per cent Democratic, but recognized the religious issue as a possible important issue this year. The record of the county's vote in 1928 was mentioned.

"That was the only year that Hall County went Republican," he said.

"Ten days ago, according to a poll by Lou Harris Associates, New York polling organization, Kennedy and Johnson were leading in Texas 46 per cent to 35 per cent for Nixon and Lodge. As of Monday this week, the figures stood at 49 per cent Democratic and 41 per cent Republican, with 10 per cent undecided.

"If the trend keeps up over the nation, it might be a near-landslide for the Democratic nominees."

General Election Ballot

Next Tuesday voters will be confronted with a ballot containing six columns. The first five columns appear in the following order: Democratic Party, Republican Party, Constitution Party, Prohibition Party and Independent. The last column carries the simple wording, "Write-In."

The names of John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson are at the top of the list under the Democratic Party.

Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge head the Republican Party list.

Charles L. Sullivan and Merritt B. Curtis head the Constitution Party list, while Rutherford L. Decker and E. Harold Nunn head the Prohibition Party.

As in the past, the Democratic Party has a full slate of nominees for all elective offices. Heading the list are the two men running for president and vice-president; then Price Daniel for Governor, and the complete slate of state office nominees, district, county and precinct party names.

This slate includes Ben Ramsey, Will Wilson, Lyndon B. Johnson, Robert W. Calvert, Clyde E. Smith, Joe Greenhill, W. T. Mc-

Estelline - Turks Play Friday Nite At Turkey Field

The Estelline Bear Cubs will travel to Turkey Friday night to play their last game of the season. Game time is 7:30 p. m.

The Turks will have their Homecoming festivities Friday.

In the three team, 9-B District race, Estelline was defeated several weeks ago by Matador. The Turks will be seeking a win over Estelline Friday.

If Estelline defeats Turkey, and Turkey defeats Matador next week, the district would be in a three-way tie. However, if the Turks win Friday night's game, the district champion will be decided in the Turkey-Matador contest.

Seniors playing their last game for Estelline Friday will be Co-Captains Jerry Stephens and Paul Corona, Mike Davidson, Bud Teas, Burl Bumpas, James Pepper and Noel Long will not see action Friday due to injuries. Long received a broken arm in workout early in the season.

Hall Officials For Democrats

All Hall County public officials, and those seeking election or re-election have given endorsement to the Democratic ticket for the Nov. 8 general election. This was announced Wednesday when the last of signatures were attached to a statement regarding the forthcoming election.

The statement said: "We, the following holders of public office in Hall County, and those seeking election or re-election to public office in said county, would like to lend our endorsement to the Democratic ticket for the November election, and express our confidence in the Democratic Party and its respective candidates for the office of President and Vice President of the United States, Senator John F. Kennedy and Senator Lyndon B. Johnson."

Signing the statement were the following: Tracy Davis, county judge; John Deaver, county attorney; Ruby Goodnight, county clerk; Melissa Anderson, tax assessor-collector; Hester Bownds, county treasurer; W. P. Baten, sheriff; Mildred Stephens, district (Continued on Page Eight)

Memphis, Lefors Tangle For District Crown Here Friday

The Memphis Cyclone, with no injuries being listed, will face the district leader, the Lefors Pirates, Friday night at Cyclone Stadium. Game time is 7:30 p. m.

The Pirates have a two-win, no-loss district record as they go into the game with Memphis, having defeated Clarendon and Canadian. They play McLean at McLean next week.

Last weekend, while local fans were cheering the Cyclone to a 14-0 victory over Clarendon, the Pirates were battling it out with Canadian. These two teams were fairly evenly matched, however, Lefors held a slight edge because the game was played at Pirate Stadium.

Lefors scored on a double reverse pass play, which caught Canadian off guard, and their second score came after the final gun sounded, on the game's last play.

The game Friday night is a must for the Cyclone, if they are to have a chance at the district crown. If Lefors beats Memphis, they are district champions. If Memphis beats Lefors and Canadian, they will be the champs. However, if the Cyclone beats Lefors and loses to Canadian, the district would be in a three-way tie, and most likely a coin would be flipped to decide which team would play the bi-district game.

The Cyclone has won three and tied one on their home field this season. This will also be the Cyclone's Homecoming which also adds to the spirit of the local team.

The Lefors Pirates have a light, fast, hard-hitting squad. Their line averages 154 and their backfield averages 147. The Cyclone offensive backfield averages 161, and the line averages 168.

Comparing defensive weights of the two teams: at times Friday night at Clarendon, Memphis' defensive front wall averaged 183 pounds per man; Lefors forward wall averages 168 pounds per man.

Memphis definitely has the advantage in weight, but Coach Don Lambert stated that Canadian's squad is heavier than the Cyclone, and Lefors line was able to handle them on their quick opening plays.

Lefors will also be seeking a revenge over the Cyclone for the local teams' 6-0 win last year.

The only other district teams scheduled to see action are Clarendon and McLean, playing Friday night at McLean. Canadian has an open date.

OUTSTANDING PLAYERS—Pictured above are FB Eddie Jones, No. 30 and G Don Gailey, No. 82, who have been selected outstanding back and lineman of the week for their play Friday night at Clarendon. Jones averaged 4 yards per carry in the game, intercepted a Broncho pass, running it back to the Broncho 1 yard line, and then on the next play, carried over to score. Gailey was outstanding in his line play on defense, coming out of the line to stop several end runs and pulling down backs from behind. Honorable mention back for the Cyclone was HB Lacy Montgomery who intercepted two of Clarendon's passes deep in Cyclone territory and carried for good yardage on offense. Honorable mention linemen are Ronnie Ables, center and Gary Gillespie.

IT'S THE LAW

How To Be A "Good" Witness
By far the most vital people in our system of justice are witnesses. Everyone else in a trial exists to hear what they have to say. Chances are you worry about stepping up, taking an oath, and telling your story in court. Actually, almost everyone can be an effective witness if he merely follows a few simple rules.

1. Don't memorize your story word for word. That is the surest way to make your testimony sound "phony." Rather, think over what you saw and heard so you have a clear mental picture of what you observed.
2. Listen to the questions you are asked with care and answer thoughtfully.
3. Give a simple, direct answer in your own words. Don't be rushed.
4. If you err — and people often do — correct yourself at once. If you can't remember some detail,
5. Tell the truth. Don't try to identify yourself with either side.
6. Stop when the judge or attorney breaks in, and don't try to sneak an answer in before he could end in a "mistrial."
7. If they ask you: "Certain about the case — the lawyer's example; and yes, you are making the lawful witness fee to make up in part for the time lost by your job."

FARM PROGRAMS COMPARED

FARM INCOME:
Nixon believes that the benefits of modern farm technology should be matched with a full and fair share of income for the producer and the farm community. He pledges a new program and will support prices to this end.

Kennedy proposes to make the old pre-war farm program permanent and add rigid production controls in terms of bushels and pounds to the detriment of both producers and consumers.

OPERATING COSTS:
Nixon pledges sound measures to halt rising costs; Kennedy promises higher taxes, higher labor costs and increased prices on machinery and supplies.

SURPLUSES:
Nixon pledges new program to reduce price-depressing government surpluses; Kennedy's program would keep them.

IMPORTS:
Nixon pledges that foreign imports will not be dumped on our domestic market; Kennedy's program promises more imports.

GOVERNMENT CONTROLS:
Nixon advocates less government controls. Kennedy advocates more rigid controls than has any previous candidate, described by Henry A. Wallace, former Secretary of Agriculture, as stricter "than they have in most Communist countries."

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health.

In Texas there are 623 licensed nursing homes with a combined capacity of 15,943 beds according to the latest quarterly figures.

Changed with the responsibility of licensing and keeping a health-check on these homes is the Division of Nursing and Convalescent Homes of the Texas State Department of Health.

To carry out this responsibility the Division has duties that are many and varied in addition to being statewide.

The philosophy guiding the inspection of nursing homes is one of cooperation between home and agency. Seldom is legal action necessary.

For instance during the last quarter — June, July and August — the Division issued 20 original licenses covering new operations; issued four provisional licenses; and renewed 163 licenses. During the same period 35 licenses were cancelled. Only in two instances was it necessary to file complaints against persons found to be operating in violation of the law.

The primary reason for license cancellation was that buildings currently in use were sub-standard and the licensee voluntarily went out of business.

Some have already re-located in remodeled buildings, and in two cases new homes have been completed and are now licensed and occupied.

The major work load of inspection is borne by local health departments, city and county health officers and fire marshals who render a vital cooperative service in the inspection and licensing program.

However, 170 licensed homes are located in 87 counties without the services of a recognized full-time local health department. This means the Division field staff must assume primary responsibility for keeping these 170 licensed homes under routine supervision.

In addition the Division receives daily requests for the inspection of potential facilities and for the investigation of illegally operated homes.

The Division is also responsible for processing and issuing emergency ambulance permits.

MINUTE MEDITATION

In Tune With God

When a musical instrument gets badly out of tune, all of its sounds are discords.

When people are out of tune with God, there is no harmony in their lives, no peace and no joy.

Our world seems to be out of tune with God and this accounts for all the discord.

We are making noise instead of music.

Much of the misery, wretchedness and woe of today is caused by our people being out of tune with God.

The Bible can bring peace and harmony to our souls.

"If we be ignorant, the Scriptures will instruct us; if out of the way, they will reform us; if in heaviness, they will comfort us; if dull, quicken us; if cold, they will inflame us."

Let us get in tune with God through his word today.

—Cecil E. Hadaway, Minister of the Church of Christ

"Immediately after the Kennedy visit to Texas, Senator Yarborough will go to Lubbock for an areawide rally and television show Thursday night."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mr. and Mrs. Silew Eduale J.
Dear Silew:

We received your much appreciated letter when I got home yesterday, and will try and answer it before it gets cold. I promise you that it won't be easy to write because my secretary keeps slipping out of lap as I am trying to write. Did you ever have that to happen to you? That is one disadvantage of being fat.

Well, Claude, we received the pictures and the book, and also that thousand dollar bill, but it looks like I will have to come back to Texas to cash it. The pictures were wonderful, and I really have a nice scrap book of our trip to Texas.

Did you ever taste something that tasted awful good and how you wanted some more of it? Well, that is the way we feel about our trip. It just seems as we will have to have some more of it. So Dora and I have already started to dream. I received a nice letter from Ewel Noel, and I enjoyed his letter in The Democrat, also the letters of Gus Stephenson and Harry Delaney.

Well I have an idea. What few we had in our old Gold Medal Band found out that we still could pay some. So I think if we really started to work on it we could get about twenty of our boys there. What I would really like is to have a three-day reunion with our old boys, and we could get together and practice some and also have more time to visit.

I just wanted to ask you what you think of the idea? Next year

we could have a picnic that would knock your eye out. It couldn't be any better than the last one but it sure could be bigger. Personally I don't know if I will be rested or not from the last one.

I missed your Claude's Comments last week while you were gadding all over the country. So try staying home some and don't let that happen again. You know that we can get another boy.

Another thing, you won't have to worry about meat next year. While I was in Texas two of my little banty hens hatched about 15 chickens, so if they keep that up I will have enough chickens to feed everybody, so all you need is to furnish the bread and beans. We love the book you sent on Texas, the grandest state in the Union. Thanks for it.

Lots of love to your folks in Hall County, Jett and Dora Fore (Keep the Banties at work. We'll take you up on the chicken feed and the three-day jamboree. J. C. W.)

Mr. Byron Baldwin:

Many, many thanks for sending me the Band pictures. All the band "reunions" look mighty good; I only wish that I could have been there also. Hope the next one can be scheduled for sometime other than during football season, maybe in August. I realize that you and Claude had quite a job. Hope that I can be of more help on the next one, and can be present.

Everyone looks wonderful. Jet certainly has become dignified looking. I am not sure whether that is the same hat that Gus always wore or not, but it is at the exact same angle.

Of course the pictures can't take the place of a good old visit, but it sure stirs up a lot of the best memories.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mr. and Mrs. Slew Eduale J.
Dear Slew:

We received your much appreciated letter when I got home yesterday, and will try and answer it before it gets cold. I promise you that it won't be easy to write because my secretary keeps slipping out of lap as I am trying to write. Did you ever have that to happen to you? That is one disadvantage of being fat.

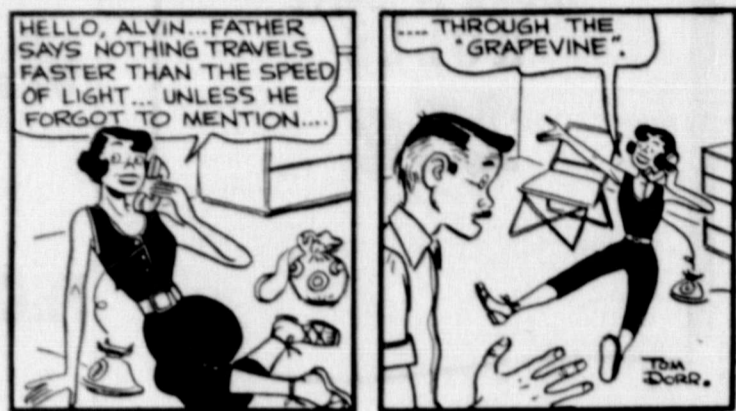

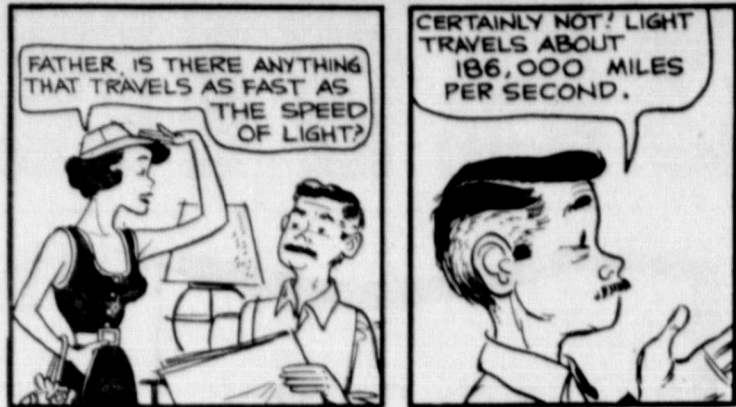

Well, Claude, we received the pictures and the book, and also that thousand dollar bill, but it looks like I will have to come back to Texas to cash it. The pictures were wonderful, and I really have me a nice scrap book of our trip to Texas.

Did you ever taste something that tasted awful good and how you wanted some more of it? Well, that is the way we feel about our trip. It just seems as we will have to have some more of it. So Dora and I have already started to dream. I received a nice letter from Evel Noel, and I enjoyed his letter in The Democrat, also the letters of Gus Stephenson and Harry Delaney.

Well I have an idea. What few we had in our old Gold Medal Band found out that we still could pay some. So I think if we really started to work on it we could get about twenty of our boys there. What I would really like is to have a three-day reunion with our old boys, and we could get together and practice some and also have more time to visit.

I just wanted to ask you what you think of the idea? Next year

we could have a picnic that would knock your eye out. It couldn't be any better than the last one but it sure could be bigger. Personally I don't know if I will be rested or not from the last one. I missed your Claude's Comments last week while you were gadding all over the country. So try staying home some and don't let that happen again. You know that we can get another boy. Another thing, you won't have to worry about meat next year. While I was in Texas two of my little banty hens hatched about 15 chickens, so if they keep that up I will have enough chickens to feed everybody, so all you need is to furnish the bread and beans. We love the book you sent on

Texas, the grandest state in the Union. Thanks for it. Lots of love to your folks in Hall County, Jett and Dora Fore (Keep the Banties at work. We'll take you up on the chicken feed and the three-day jamboree. J. C. W.)

Mr. Byron Baldwin: Many, many thanks for sending me the Band pictures. All the band "reunions" look mighty good; I only wish that I could have been there also. Hope the next one can be scheduled for sometime other than during football season, maybe in August. I realize that you and Claude had quite a job. Hope that I can be of more help on the next one, and can be present. Everyone looks wonderful. Jet certainly has become dignified looking. I am not sure whether that is the same hat that Gus always wore or not, but it is at the exact same angle. Of course the pictures can't take the place of a good old visit, but it sure stirs up a lot of the best memories.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Monday from the Callison-McKenney Funeral Chapel. Burial was in Bentonville.

Mr. Alden was known to numerous people here as he had visited in the Wright home several times during the years they have lived here.

Survivors other than his daughter here, include another daughter, Mrs. James T. Martin of Dublin, Ga.; one son, J. Philo Alden and two sisters, Mrs. Luther Wright of Rogers and Mrs. Dan Blair of Gerry, Ind.; five grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Mr. and Mrs. Wright went to Bentonville for the service.

Keynote speaker will be Congressman Walter Rogers, U. S. Representative of the 18th District, who lives at Pampa. Other state and party officials will be introduced during the rally.

Coffee will be served to those persons who arrive early, according to the announcement.

"We urge all Democrats of Hall County to join others in this area at the rally," Kennedy said. "Congressman Rogers will bring us up-to-date on the presidential race, and discuss some of the basic issues."

Mike McCully is county Democratic chairman of Donley County, and is assisting in handling details of the rally.

The names appearing in the Republican column, other than those for president and vice president, are William W. Steger for governor, Gordon Treadaway for attorney general, John G. Tower for U. S. Senator, G. W. Ewing, Jr., for railroad commissioner, Mrs. Hargrove Smith for comptroller of public accounts, Axtell Bales for commissioner of general land office, Allen Lacy for state treasurer, and Clarence Danklefs for commissioner of agriculture.

Names appearing in the Constitution Party, other than for president and vice president, are Philip Lee Ebbank for lieutenant governor, Muckleroy McDonnell for attorney general, Bard A. Logan for U. S. Senator, Ruben R. Lozano for judge of court of Criminal appeals, I. C. Jarman for railroad commissioner, Joseph M. Rummel for comptroller of public accounts, W. C. "Doc" Miller for commissioner of general land office, Bert Ellis for state treasurer and R. L. Peters for state commissioner of agriculture.

Appearing at the bottom of the ballot will be four constitutional amendments. Voters will approve or disapprove of these by scratching out either the "for" or the "against" statement. A complete summary of the amendments can be found on the editorial page of this week's Democrat.

At the top of the large ballot will be found these words, "Vote for the candidate of your choice in each race by scratching or marking out all other names in that race. You may vote for all the candidates of a party by running a line through every other party column."

1960, investigating the accident. Blackie, as he is known by his friends, is a 1956 graduate of Hedley High School. He, his wife, Shirley, and their one year old son, Tommy, live at 118 No. 14th St., Memphis.

He has been an employee of Western Cotton Oil Co. for four years. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson of Giles.

The 6-foot 4-inch medal winner, played high school basketball for Hedley and says his chief hobby is bull and bareback riding in Panhandle rodeos. He has been able to place in the money in several of these contests.

Johnson swam for the shore which they had just left, and the colored boy, thinking the other shore was closer, tried to swim for it.

Blackie was rescued by the lake's negro caretaker, just as he was about to drown. By the time the caretaker got Blackie to the boat, there was no sign of the colored boy he had been boating with. A search party found the body the next morning.

Blackie states that he feels very happy about the medal and the cash award; but he also remembers another incident which is still fresh in his mind.

On May 25, 1960, Blackie, and a colored boy were boating in Finger Lake, a small lake 18 miles west of Memphis, when their boat sank in the middle of the lake.

follows: "I do wish the election was over and done with—this homestretch tension is very bad for me. I can imagine what it is doing to the candidates... They have said all that needs saying—now are repeating and repeating and repeating. With a bit more edge to their voices and a speck more of slinging muddy mots in their speeches—they are beginning to irritate me as much as a TV commercial. Regardless of what folk tell you—I'll wager 90 per cent of the voting public knows just how and/or she will vote... And, when you cast your ballot, Mahala, you had best do it with a prayerful heart and mind—because as a nation as well as individuals, we are going to need the Lord's Divine help to extract us—if we go on the selection of our leaders... Four years will seem like an eternity (and can well result in such) if we don't hold fast to our birthright."

And further concerning TV and radio commercials: Alex Saied, a Childress and Memphis merchant, had an experience with an Amarillo TV advertising solicitor. According to the Childress Index, the solicitor came in while Saied was busy on a ladder, and was told to come back later, and if he "wanted to talk about advertising he was wasting his time—my advertising was budgeted and spent locally." Solicitor continued to stay and finally was asked to leave, to which he replied he would have to be thrown out. He was escorted out. Saied said, "I think Childress merchants learned a few months ago that TV advertising did not pay... The merchants of Childress expect the citizens of this area to support their business. They, in turn, should support local businesses. We do not expect any business from Amarillo and advertising in Amarillo will not pay off for Childress."

Which leads us to believe that Memphis merchants, advertising in some Childress, Amarillo, or other out of county area will not get paying results.

Representative, 18th Congressional District Report From Washington

By WALTER ROGERS

The American Constitution, for all its blessings, presents two persistent and troublesome problems which almost seem to be inherent within the system it establishes. The first of these problems concerns the coordination of certain overlapping activities within the central government itself. The second involves that much-debated matter of protecting a State's proper position within the Federal structure operated in Washing- ton. The most crucial domestic questions ever faced by the people of the United States have revolved about these two central issues.

One of the less sensational aspects of this pair of problems involved the development and use of the nation's power sources. Three executive departments of the Federal government—War, Interior, and Agriculture—were concerned with the effective use of water power. Also, a dispute concerning jurisdiction over rivers and power lines had simmered for some time between the States and the central government. Then, soon after the country lurched into World War I, a serious coal shortage arose which hydroelectric resources could not meet because of the inefficient administration of water power grants.

In the early summer of 1920, Congress established the Water Power Commission, an agency composed of the Secretaries from the three executive departments involved. Supporters of this curious scheme believed that it would solve the regulatory problems without creating another agency. Alas, the business of government, even then, was not so easily disposed of. Aside from the serious question of delegating legislative powers to the executive branch, the three Departments were overwhelmed with the task and quickly lost enthusiasm upon discovering there would be no increase of appropriations to cover their new responsibilities. The Secretaries, it is said, found about five hours a year to devote to Commission meetings and soon gained a reputation for failure to protect the government from power interests. Almost 10 years to the day after formation of the Water Power Commission, Herbert Hoover signed the act of June 23, 1930, which created the Federal Power Commission. This act retained the regulatory duties of the old commission, but revolutionized its membership. Members would now be appointed by the President with consent of the Senate, and would supposedly provide the nation with a bipartisan and full time agency. The era of experimentation with cabinet rank members was over.

The Commission soon was exerting full regulatory power over electric and natural gas companies which operated in interstate commerce. These two broad areas of interest are still the Commission's major concerns. As was, and still is, the case with most independent agencies, the FPC supporters believed that: (1) the nation's power resources in large measure belonged to the people and must not be abused for private gain; (2) efficiency would have been impaired by an unlimited number of companies operating in a single community; and (3) only a central body could effectively determine what constituted the best private use of a public resource. Time and again this line of reasoning has led directly to a Federal interest in various activities which is crossing State boundaries more and more. This is not good.

In the realm of electric power, the FPC is charged with protecting the consumer from any unfair charges and seeks to insure that each utility under its jurisdiction will be capable of meeting the needs of those customers involved. What is perhaps more important in the long run is that the Commission conducts broad surveys of the nation's electric potential in an effort to steer private and public companies toward the most farsighted development programs. The FPC's licensing powers enable it to establish standards for power projects and installations. The same activities, more or less, are conducted with respect to natural gas.

Could the power problems of the nation have been solved in some other way than the establishment of another agency? Apparently, sincere efforts were made in this direction during the 1920's, but today the question is largely moot. Since the Federal government has in fact entered this field, it is fairly safe to assume that it will not withdraw. The important question facing us today is simply whether the FPC is doing its job. This can only be determined by the people, through their elected representatives in Congress, and any action which would impair the hand of the legislative branch is the major threat to be guarded against today. Federal interest should be confined to interstate operations, closely defined. It should not be allowed to violate State jurisdictions.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

In the last couple of generations the black bass has become the American game fish, so much the favorite of our more serious anglers that his nearest finny competitors are no better than also-swams, says Jason Lucas, Angling Editor of Sports AfIELD Magazine.

Practically every one of these serious anglers holds that it's more fun to catch one bass on a surface lure than at least two on an underwater. Some say they'd rather catch one on a topwater than ten on deep runners.

In the first place, just why is a topwater more sport to use than an underwater? It's partly because you see the strike—and, no matter how intently you've been watching for it, it always seems to come as a surprise to send a tingle along your spine. And it's partly because, as about everybody knows, a bass hooked on the surface generally fights near the surface, with some wild leaps to stir your blood, while one hooked in deep water generally fights there, which isn't so exciting.

We always hear a lot of the terrific splash a bass makes in striking a topwater. He certainly can do that — but he usually does it only about a third of the time. Another third, he'll come under it and suck it down as gently as a trout can take down a cly fly; if you're not watching closely you don't see it disappear.

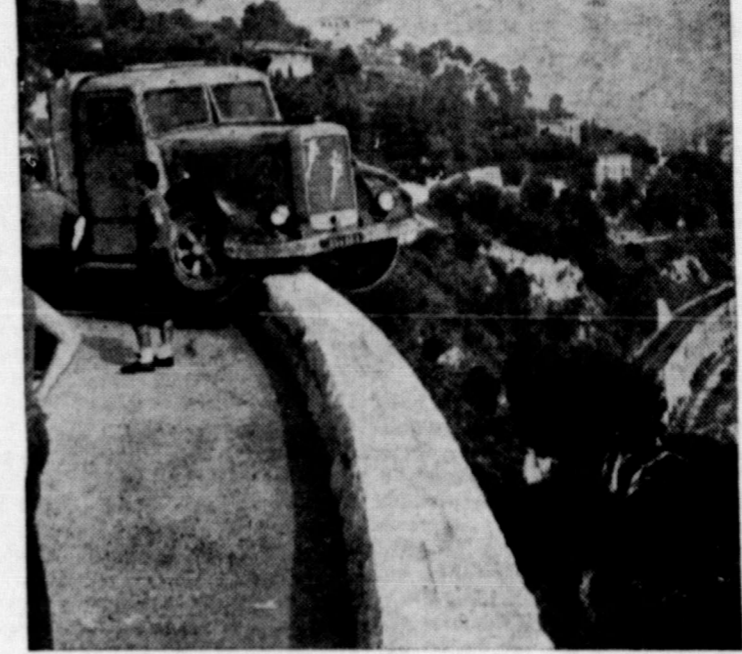

The rest of the time he'll use a very odd strike all his own: he'll slip, comparatively quietly, from the water and high into the air some distance from the lure. Then his body curved, he'll come straight down on top of the thing with his mouth wide open. To us, this would seem like doing it the hard way, that it would be much easier for him to take it from below, but he probably has some good reason for it.

Where is surface fishing for bass most consistently successful? In a cool, shallow river with a fairly strong current — which means that they're about sure to be smallmouths. Here, topwaters will practically always get some and will very often get most. Too, no other bass caught anywhere will, for their size, put up so game a fight. Sometimes one will make as many as three or four long, flying leaps, tumbling over and over, barely touching the water between.

He'll probably fight longer, faster and harder than a bass of his size hooked elsewhere. But there's a little catch to this: He's using the current to do much of his fighting for him.

It's pretty safe to say that the flyrod will about invariably catch most bass on surface lures—it's the one type of fishing for which it's particularly suitable. This is partly because small flyrod poppers will get a lot of rather small bass that larger lures wouldn't—but they're big enough to be good sport, played with a fly rod; and at the same time you'll probably get as many larger ones as you would with anything else. However, if you prefer, you can do fine and have plenty of sport, with casting or spinning tackle.

Highway Department Releases 32-Page Travel Brochure of Texas' Attractions

The release of a full-color, 32-page travel brochure on the State of Texas was announced today by the Texas Highway Department.

D. C. Greer, State Highway Engineer, said the new brochure is specifically designed for free distribution to attract out-of-state tourists. First of its kind ever published in Texas, it is intended to serve as a showcase of Texas' scenic, historic, recreational, and cultural attractions.

Greer described the colorful brochure, which covers the entire state geographically, as "another milestone in the travel promotion program conducted by the Highway Department."

He said the next step in this program is the submission of a media advertising budget to the Texas Legislature, which meets in January. The Highway Department has asked, with the concurrence of the Texas Development Board, for an appropriation of $300,000 a year for the next two years to advertise the tourist attractions of Texas.

"The media advertising program," Greer said, "is a necessity to halt the appalling downward trend of the Texas tourist industry. The amount we will ask for media advertising ($300,000 per year) is the minimum required to shore up the rapid decline in tourist revenue which Texas now faces."

Greer reviewed the progress made in establishing a tourist promotion program in Texas. He noted that in the past Texas had been unable to compete for tourists by advertising because it was prohibited by the State Constitution. A constitutional amendment was approved by popular vote in 1958 allowing the advertisement of the state's tourist resources.

The Texas Legislature in 1959 set up the legal machinery authorizing state media advertising and delegating the responsibility for this program to the Texas Highway Department. Senate Bill 152 stated that funds for media advertising must come from the General fund, but no money was made available in 1959 for this purpose. (Highway Department funds were used to pay publishing costs of the new travel brochure and for other collateral phases of the travel promotion program including publication of the Texas Official Highway Travel Map and operation of

Hall County Soil Conservation District News

With the fall harvesting of crops well underway, many of the cooperators of the Hall County Soil Conservation District are thinking about building new terraces or rebuilding old terraces.

Assistance is available for terracing through the Agricultural Conservation Program and Great Plains Conservation Program. Also, at the present time, assistance is available for repairing flood damage to old terrace systems. The ASC County Committee states that the terraces repaired under this program should meet the same specifications as those constructed under the regular Agricultural Conservation Program.

As everyone knows, one broken terrace can ruin a whole system. When a terrace breaks, the next terrace below will have to handle more water than it was designed for and thus the system fails, causing ditches wherever the breaks are involved.

A good terrace system has many advantages, some of which are: Increased yields, control of water erosion, conservation of moisture, and permanent guide lines for contour farming.

In order for a terrace system to be efficient it must first be planned properly. All outside water has to be taken care of before installing a terrace system. Then terraces should be built to specifications. In this area the level closed-end ridge type terrace is the standard terrace. Terraces must be laid out with the proper interval so they can handle all the water that falls. With a little maintenance a farmer can keep the terraces up in good shape.

Many terraces have been built on soils unsuitable to be terraced because of sandy conditions and steepness of slope. Where land is too steep or sandy it should be put back to grass.

Some of the things to keep in mind to properly maintain a terrace system are: All farming operations should be performed parallel to the terraces, all low places in the terrace ridge which may have occurred as a result of excessive setting or from pulling equipment across the terrace should be regularly built up, also terraces should be plowed up each year to maintain their effective height and cross section.

Your local Soil Conservation Service is available to assist you in laying out proper terrace systems and in maintaining existing systems.

Mrs. H. K. Whaley and Mrs. Bert Fleming of Weatherford were Memphis visitors the first of the week.

Farm Facts

While millions of people in other parts of the world are barely subsisting, the average person in the United States has more and better food than ever before. Even with money in their pockets, Russians have to queue up in long lines to buy food. Contrast this with a supermarket in the United States.

In his lifetime, the average U. S. consumer will eat the equivalent of 33 hogs, 10 lambs, 8 steers, and 4 veal calves.

In Russia, which boasts of its technological progress, it takes four hours' pay to buy a pound of butter or two hours' pay for a single orange.

An hour's pay in the United States in 1958 would buy almost three pounds of butter—three times as much as it would buy in 1929.

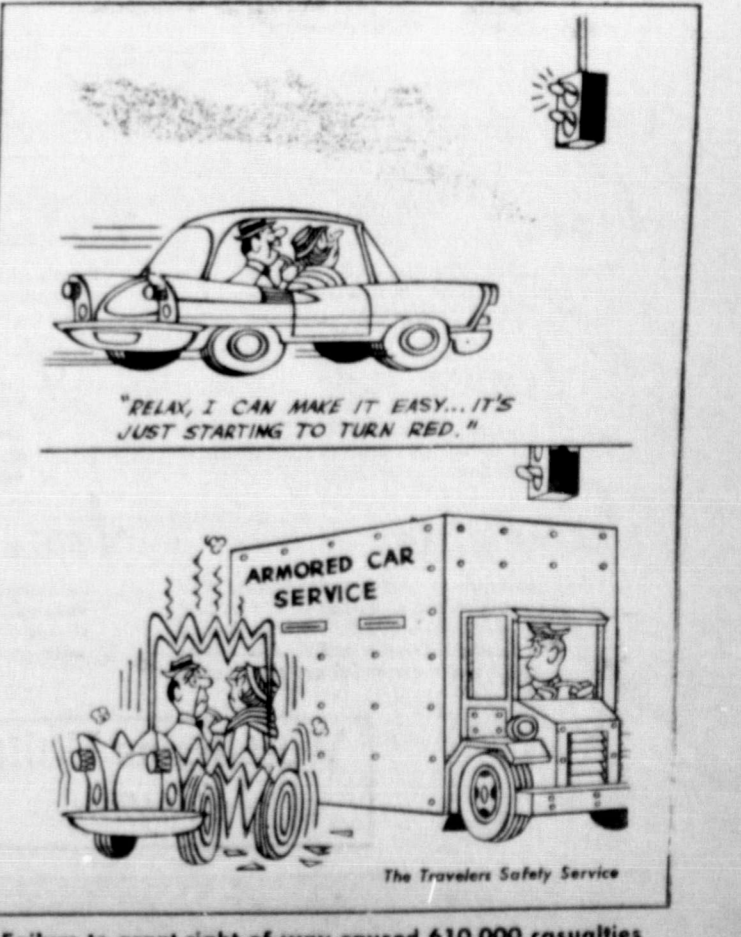

The amazing efficiency of American farms, and in the marketing, processing, and distribution of their products, is responsible for the abundance, variety, and high quality of foods we enjoy.

Senator George D. Aiken of Vermont reminds us that American agriculture is the greatest stabilizing influence of the world's economy. Take away our assurance of plenty of food, he notes, and "international chaos would result."

The average consumer will eat the equivalent of 33 hogs, 10 lambs, 8 steers and 4 veal calves during his meat-eating days.

Cyclone Upsets Clarendon Homecoming, 14-0, Fri.

The Memphis Cyclone on the strength of a stubborn defensive team, downed a fighting Clarendon Broncho team 14-0 Friday night at Clarendon's homecoming.

The Cyclone defensive team executed two goal line stands, intercepted three Broncho passes, and held the Bronchos to only 30 yards on the ground.

The Cyclone received the opening kickoff, running the ball out to their own 35. Then, the Cyclone marched all the way down the field to score. All of the Memphis backs, including QB Bunky Adcock, HB's Lacy Montgomery and Larry Craig and FB Eddie Jones, carried on the drive. QB Adcock scored on a quarterback keeper play standing up and guard Dee Miller's place kick was short. The score was 6-0 until the third quarter.

In the closing seconds of the third period, Clarendon took over the ball on the Cyclone 30, and on their first down, a Clarendon back was dropped for a 16 yard loss. Then, trying to pick up the yardage for the first down, No. 30 Jim Robinson, who was playing QB attempted to pass to his end in the flat, and defensive corner back, Eddie Jones, intercepted the pass and ran approximately 50 yards down the left sideline. Officials ruled that Jones was downed one yard short of the goal line. On the first play FB Jones plunged over to score the Cyclone's second TD. A pass from QB Adcock to End Wayne Leslie racked up two more points and the Cyclone led 14 to 0.

A chronological look at the game follows:

The Cyclone received the opening kickoff and marched 65 yards in 13 plays to score in the opening period of the game.

Clarendon took over the ball on their own 40 yard line after the kickoff by Goodnight. Three carries netted them a minus 9 yards, so they punted to the Cyclone 30.

Memphis moved for one first down but couldn't pick up another, so Adcock punted to the Clarendon 37. The Bronchos moved for three first downs to the Cyclone 26 using a running and passing attack. Then, Gary Campbell scampered behind fine blocking around right end, and was tackled by Lacy Montgomery on the Cyclone 2 yard line for another first.

A line plunge netted Clarendon one yard, and then they tried a pass, but the ball was knocked out of the QB's hands by Dee Miller and Dwight Galley recovered for the Cyclone on the 4 yard line.

Adcock punted out of the hole, when three line plunge plays failed to net enough yardage for a first down, to the Cyclone 38. Clarendon was unable to pick up enough yardage for a first down even with the aid of a 15 yard penalty against the Cyclone, and Memphis took over on their 29.

The Cyclone was held and Adcock punted to the Clarendon 35. Clarendon received a 15 yard penalty which moved the ball back to their 20.

With only seconds left in the half, Clarendon called a screen pass which was complete. The play netted 35 yards before Eddie Jones pulled the ball carrier down from behind on the Cyclone 45. On the netted series, pass interference was ruled against the Cyclone on the 35 yard line. Then another completed pass to End Bill Hermesmeier picked up 20 more yards.

With only a few seconds left in the half Clarendon tried another pass, but defensive corner back Lacy Montgomery intercepted the pass. The half ended before Memphis could get off a play.

After the half the ball exchanged hands three times before Jones intercepted the pass near the mid field line, setting up the Cyclone second score.

Memphis kicked off to the Bronchos who took over on their own 27. Four plays later Memphis got possession of the ball on the Clarendon 34. Memphis moved for one first down to the Clarendon 17, but were unable to pick up any more yardage, and the Bronchos took over on the 19. Clarendon was again held and forced to punt, and Memphis took over on the 44.

The Cyclone moved for 9 yards in two plays, but then fumbles in the backfield lost many yards for them, so Clarendon took over on the Memphis 36.

Clarendon completed one pass for seven yards, and pass interference was ruled against the Cyclone on the second pass play, setting Clarendon up on the Cyclone 9 yard line.

But again, the Bronchos scoring hopes were cut short when Montgomery picked off one of their passes on the 5 yard line.

Memphis took over the ball, were held and Adcock got off the longest punt of the night, 65 yards. Clarendon did not put back any deep men, electing to try and block on the Cyclone punt.

Clarendon took over the ball on their own 35, threw three incomplete passes, and punted to the Cyclone end of the field. The clock ran out with Memphis in possession of the ball, running line plunge plays.

Memphis backs gained 160 yards on the ground. Montgomery carried 15 times making 56 yards, Craig carried 13 times for 50 yards, Jones carried 10 times for 40 yards, Adcock carried 4 times for 7 yards, and Robert Gardner carried 2 times for 4 yards.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Memphis Democrat:

Down through the years the Democratic party has been regarded as the defender of states' rights. Now however, the two parties have shifted positions. The Democratic party is dominated by political factions primarily located in major Northern cities, who favor increased control by the federal government. On the other hand the Republicans now give strong support to states' rights.

Those who say they will vote the Democratic ticket regardless of the worthiness of the candidate, or whether the platform is best for everybody, are not being loyal citizens as they think they are simply hurting themselves and everyone else, for they are encouraging unworthy men and unscrupulous party machinery.

This year many of us who are loyal Democrats will be forced to vote for the Republican candidates and the platform they favor. Our party candidates have completely capitulated to socialistic trends with Mr. Kennedy and his socialist backers, Walter Reuther and Arthur Schlesinger. Lyndon Johnson won't be able to help any as Vice-President, we had better keep him where he is as Senate Majority Leader.

Editor:

For almost eight years farm people all over the nation have been struggling not only to meet current expenses, but to maintain ownership of their farms. Every farmer in Texas and particularly every member of Texas Farmers Union knows why the financial condition of farmers has been as bad as it is, but to repeat it once more, these distressing times have been caused by the ruinous and heartless farm policies of the Republican Administration dominated and controlled by Benson, Nixon, and Eisenhower.

We have waited eight years to rectify this situation and to start once again on the difficult road toward prosperity for our families. If we lose this time, many of us may never have another chance to vote as farmers, because our farms will be gone and we will be broke.

We will have an opportunity on November 8th, to correct this situation and it is our earnest hope that every farmer in Texas will vote for John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson and that they will work as hard as they can to influence others to vote the same way.

In my considered judgment,

November 8th is probably the most important day for us as farm people that we have had in the past eight years or will have in the next four to eight years.

It is vital, it is urgent, our economic future is in the balance! Don't fail to go to the polls on November 8th and vote for John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Sincerely yours,
Alex Dickie, Jr., Pres.
Texas Farmers Union

To The Editor:

In the last thirty-five or forty years we have come thru two of the worst Republican administrations in the history of all years. We should wake up and get right in 1960. Democrats, get out of the middle of the road and join the Democrats. Go all the way for a victory in 1961.

Start a new Democratic government again. If Senator Jack Kennedy is elected president of the United States, he could become one of the best Presidents of all times. He is by far the smartest man in the race today.

The Republican party is a do-nothing party. They tell you one thing and mean another. For example, our president today said in his election year, he would be for 100% of parity for the farm-

By BOYCE HOUSE
I was a youngster, I aspired to greatness with winning. It was a matter of great importance to me when, one season, sports writers selected as the outstanding manager, Eberfield. His team was in the lead.

The sports writers were not the greatest general in his field. Henry Hays was the greatest general in his field. He never heard of—the Duke of Burgundy, of whom it was said he never besieged a city, not capture, and never win a battle he did not win. A leader may win because of superior numbers or heavy odds or because of luck or because he is opposed by poor generalship.

Leon is generally considered the greatest military genius of all times — yet he lost battles and died a prisoner on a rocky island.

Robert E. Lee is considered by many to have been the greatest of the English-speaking military leaders of the world. (Theodore Roosevelt, for example, thought so) — yet Lee lost the battle of Gettysburg, and the Confederacy, for which he fought, fell.

Some philosopher expressed it, "The only way to win is to win — but in a poor hand well."

I didn't see "Giant" until I read it as a second-run theater in Oklahoma City. The musical is "The Eyes of Texas" — I expected it to be greeted with hosannas — but it only reminded me of the numerous plays over the University of Oklahoma football team. (Before 1959)

Another Oklahoma City theater saw a frontier movie of settlers and Indians — and when the settlers were riding to the rescue of the Indians, I was afraid to cheer.

Webster once found himself the only passenger on a stagecoach. The driver was a villainous-looking individual who kept looking back at Webster.

The passenger decided that the driver was actually a robber and at last said, "Why don't you go ahead and rob me?"

The driver exclaimed, "Rob me? I thought you were a robber."

There was an editorial writer who sometimes didn't feel up to writing an editorial. This usually happened on a Monday, so he would get an editorial from another writer and write:

What does our esteemed contemporary mean by the following? And then would reproduce the editorial.

Whenever he did this one time he was fired and lost his job.

Thomas Wolfe says, in one of his novels, that you can't go back.

SATURDAY, NOV. 5 — Will be Homecoming for West Texas State exes and the afternoon football game in Buffalo Bowl (above) will be the big attraction. Coach Joe Kerbel's battling Buffaloes will meet Trinity University in the handsome 20,000 seat stadium and a crowd of 15,000 has been predicted. Kickoff time is 2 P.M. Other Homecoming features include a morning parade, an outdoor barbecue at noon, an inter-squad basketball game at 6:30 P.M., and a dance in the field-house at 8 P.M.

Literally, of course you can return to the scenes you knew in bygone years but the places have been changed. The buildings are older and more faded — or they are gone.

A recent return to Memphis, Tennessee, where I grew up, brought this forcefully to mind. The old, dim, second-hand book store I used to visit has been replaced by a big sugar-coated "bargain" clothing store. The bakery shop where you could get three big sugar-coated cookies for a nickel or a large, flat coffee cake, encrusted with brown sugar and spiced with cinnamon, for a dime, has vanished.

So has the old hotel which was the scene of an exciting occurrence when I was a schoolboy. A man barricaded himself in an upper floor and stood off the police in a battle which lasted for an hour or longer. When the chief called for volunteers, almost every officer present stepped forward. A policeman had been wounded and the chief asked who would volunteer to go with the wounded man to the hospital! (Even tragedy has its humorous side)

Court Square, in the heart of the city, is still there and so are the pigeons and squirrels, although there is a new, bright, white little building instead of the picturesque open air stand that used to be run by Tony, who made a fortune selling apples and peanuts. The grass is now bordered by hedges and there are signs "Keep off the grass" and so the park no longer, on sunny days, has visitors sitting on the ground and — on summer nights — it is no longer an inn for men without the price of a room.

Across the street from Court Square a new building stands on the site that used to be occupied by a dingy structure with an elevator that was a cage that crept up and down. One of the offices was tenanted by a man who had been a dashing officer in the Confederate Navy but who, in the twilight of his life, sat in a barn-like room, surrounded by old law books and by memories.

The structures and the people of past days are shadows within the brain of the few who still remember. The world is busy with making a living and pursuing pleasure, or so it seems — yet, no doubt, some now young man will pause and say, "On that spot over yonder, away back in 1960 I saw

KEEP THE VOICE OF TEXAS STRONG

Texas' dominant position in the Democratic Party has been a major factor in the amazing growth and prosperity of our State during the past 50 years.

Count our blessings that have come because TEXANS were in the RIGHT party at the RIGHT time.

Count the jobs... educational opportunities... military installations... defense projects... water and soil projects... rural electricity and telephone systems. Count our ultimate potentials for development.

Now the Democratic Party has selected a TEXAN for one of the two top offices our Nation has to offer. As Vice President, Lyndon B. Johnson will be in a position to render the greatest service any Texan has ever been able to give his State, his Party, his Nation.

Our Nation needs the dynamic leadership of John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson. And Texas needs to be counted in the Democratic column November 8 to keep its voice STRONG in the party that has honored its sons and nurtured its growth. Texas has no such stake in any other party or any other candidate.

Texas' future — and America's — lies in your response November 8.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

When we talk to a fisherman, we get another good idea. Some aids, picked up at the store, may find them in- and perhaps helpful.

The metallic parts of your fishing tackle should be polished especially at all times. A dab of silver polish on the soft flannel cloth will do to brighten your lures.

A few moth balls in your tackle box will help prevent rust. Other metallic parts of your tackle should be polished with a rod that is dark — either black or green. This will help prevent rust from reflecting off of the metal parts.

Practical to say, the same principle should be applied to the reel. A brightly polished reel reflects a tremendous amount of light and reveals to the fisherman even recom- mendations that the rod be painted a color, including the ferrules and guides.

Motor to the exact spot you want to fish. Kill the motor about 20 feet short and tangled in brush or rocks, and then pulling himself free.

Work an area thoroughly before moving your boat to another location.

Many fishermen recommend that casts be made short at first, then a little longer, then distant. Suggested procedure is to cast along the bank and around the boat from left to right, so that all the area is covered before moving to a new location.

Reason given for making short casts first is that if you hook a fish, you will not disturb those beyond the catch. Then you have an opportunity to cast farther out and retrieve more fish.

One tip from a top-water angler — when the fish misses your lure (and you, of course, miss your fish) let the lure rest right where it is for a few moments. Then jerk it slightly so as to give it a "live" effect.

Try that two or three times, then reel in, light a cigarette and wait for four or five minutes before casting again. Then lay the lure right back in the exact spot where you had it before. There is a good chance that the bass is, by that time, back in his lair and ready to try again.

Another suggestion: If you land a lunker and seem to get no follow-up strikes, move around to the other side of the spot and try it from there. Very likely you'll find another big one lurking nearby.

Many fishermen feel that a into his.

Then rest a second or two, take another deep breath, open the victim's mouth wide and again force all the air you can into his lungs.

Keep his nose closed all the time you are breathing into his lungs.

Repeat the resuscitation procedure until you see the first signs of life returning.

If air gets into the victim's stomach, press gently on his stomach to force the air out.

Here's hoping that this film will be shown before every sportsmen's organization in Texas, in the youth camps, before every civic group, women's club, the boy scouts, girl scouts, schools, groups everywhere, including of course the Red Cross, Junior Red Cross, and the military.

Many a life, lost from drowning, suffocation and the like, could have been saved had knowledge of this revival process been widely known.

There is one important fact about this method of revival—the only equipment needed to do the job is always with you. It's you.

The film, entitled "That They May Live," is available for any and all gatherings, free of charge, from the film library of the State Department of Health, 100 West 49th Street, Austin, Texas. The telephone number is GL 3-6631.

If you want to make an LD call, ask for the division of health education.

Whether you're an outdoorsman, or an indoorsman for that matter, you need to view this film. You need to learn this method—for your own good and your family's good, if for no other reason.

While deaths by accidents outdoors—on our lakes and streams and our hunting grounds—are many, fatal accidents in the home occur even more frequently. So, whoever you are, wherever you are, there is a good possibility that you or those dear to you may find this lifesaving method useful. We urge you to re-read, again, the simple procedure outlined above, learn the steps by heart so that you can perform them quickly. Then, if at all possible, see the film!

We repeat, at your first opportunity, see the film "That They May Live."

bright, sunny day is the best day to fish.

Not so with one angler. He contends that he had much rather fish when the sky is cloudy, and the sun's rays do not fall directly upon the water. That's when he likes to work around stumps, logs, brush piles, or fallen trees—especially if they are in from two to six feet of water.

Ordinarily, he says, stumps, logs, brush piles, and windfalls will outproduce any other kind of bass cover five to one.

Another angler says that you should fish on the shady side of any lake or stream — which means working one side in the early morning and the other side in the late evening.

Midday is regarded by many as the poorest time to fish.

One angler who heads for the lake at least once a week reports that he never has any success fishing unless there is a ripple on the water.

Also he has discovered that the clarity of the water must be such that he can see his hand at least eighteen inches under the surface. Otherwise, it is his contention that the bass cannot see his favorite lure — a top water spinner—even though the popping sound does attract their attention.

Newest and by far the best method of life saving—in case of drownings, heart attacks, shock or suffocation—is mouth to mouth resuscitation.

We've just seen a short film on the subject—which everyone in the state should view. It tells how, in a graphic way, to apply this greatly improved method of artificial respiration.

We can't explain it as clearly as the film portrays, but we'd like to relay this message to you until the time comes when you, too, can view the picture.

First step is to free the victim's mouth of any obstructions—food, if the victim is choking, water if drowning—then lay the person on his back, sit beside him, tilt the head far back, lift the chin high, grasp the nose to close it tightly, then take a deep breath (bring enough air into your own lungs to serve two persons), open the victim's mouth wide and force all the air you can from your lungs

The Constitutional Amendments

With all attention being centered in the national election, many voters will go to the polls Tuesday, Nov. 8, before they realize they have other important decisions to make that day.

Four constitutional amendments to the Texas Constitution will be voted on at the general election. Voting to approve or reject alterations in the state's basic law is one of the most important responsibilities a voter has. It is the average citizen's one and only opportunity to participate directly in the lawmaking process.

Briefly, here are the four proposals:

Amendment One: Would authorize creation of special hospital districts in Lamar County, Hidalgo County, and part of Comanche County. Approval of this amendment would not actually create these hospital districts, but would give local voters authority to do so in a local election. Most voters probably will approve this amendment.

Amendment Two: Would permit a rate of interest not to exceed 3½ per cent on bonds issued hereafter for the benefit of the Veterans Land Fund. Present constitutional ceiling is 3 per cent.

This is causing a differing of opinion. Those persons who desire veterans to obtain money at the lower rate will vote against the amendment. Those who believe interest rates should be higher will approve. It has been stated that the Veterans Land Board is having trouble selling these bonds at 3 per cent interest.

Amendment Three: Would change the pay scale of members of the Legislature to give them annual salaries of $4,800 plus $12 a day for each day in session. It would limit regular sessions to 140 days (present limit is 120 days). At present legislators receive no annual salary. They get $25 a day for each day, up to 120 days of the regular session, plus $25 a day for each day of a 30-day called session. The amendment is a compromise between present arrangements and the constitutional change proposed in 1958, which was turned down by the voters. Predictions are that Texans will approve this amendment.

Amendment Four: Would give the legislature authority to classify loans and lenders, to license and regulate lenders, to define what part of the charge made on loans should be considered interest and to fix the maximum of interest which should be charged. It is generally known as the "anti-loan shark" amendment, and is being supported by many leading citizens over the state. At present the constitution provides that the maximum rate of interest shall be 10 per cent. This is widely, almost universally, violated by small loan firms, usually through additional charges besides the interest — "handling charges, service charges," etc.

If this amendment is passed, it will be up to the legislature to decide what is a fair charge. This would prove to be one of the hardest tasks which any legislature has ever faced. The pressure will be on by both sides of this argument. It could, if the right legislation is passed, eliminate the abuses by loan companies, some of whom have charges that totaled as much as 300 per cent of the amount loaned.

If the past elections are a barometer, all four amendments will be approved at the Nov. 8 general election.

High Gasoline Taxes

Attention was called last week in the press of this state by the use of large advertisements to a fact which all persons are living with. It is the high tax on gasoline.

In graph detail, the Gasoline Tax Education Committee, with headquarters in New York City, told how the gasoline tax had been increasing. It was emphasized that this particular tax had been increased 51 per cent in the last ten years. The message also stated:

"Everywhere in Texas, car owners pay 90 cents tax on every 10 gallons of gasoline they buy!

"Gasoline taxes across the nation amount to a 50 per cent sales tax — and that's five times as high as the tax rate on luxuries like diamonds and mink coats.

"Each year the average motor vehicle owner in this state pays $78 for gasoline taxes alone."

The position of the oil industry in this matter is that taxes on gasoline have now reached unreasonably high levels: that the public needs more and better roads; and that all money collected should be spent on highways.

The last mentioned item — that gasoline taxes go to build roads — is fair and just, and is one which motorists will pay without complaining. But the fact that the federal government takes 40 cents out of every tax dollar it collects and spends is for non-highway use is something which will be recognized as unfair by most people.

What is causing much concern among highway engineers and others who use these tax dollars is the trend to compact cars, those manufactured in the U. S. and in foreign countries. The swing is to save money on gasoline, which in turn, will mean less tax dollars to take care of the highway needs of this nation.

It's time that law makers, both at Austin and Washington, recognize the fact that the public will not stand for additional taxes on the fuel they use in their motor vehicles.

Lodge Adds New Flavor To Republican Recipe

Henry Cabot Lodge in the past 10 days has added a new brand of pepper to the Republican campaign in his speeches and press statements as GOP vice presidential candidate.

Lodge presents the Nixon movement in the South and Southwest with problems that thus far have not been solved publicly.

The outspoken New Englander at various times and repeatedly has endorsed federal financial assistance to parochial schools. He has promised that Nixon, if elected, will appoint a Negro to the cabinet, not because of the Negro's ability but because the presence of a black man in the cabinet would be good medicine in Asia and Africa. And Lodge is remembered in the United States Senate as the author of an unsuccessful attempt to remove the depletion allowance from the oil industry.

So here we have the Southern dilemma: A vote for Nixon-Lodge is, by the testimony of Lodge, a vote for federal aid to parochial schools; a vote for Nixon-Lodge is a vote for racial mixing, on racist grounds alone, in the national cabinet; a vote for Nixon-Lodge is a vote to put in the presiding chair of the U. S. Senate a man whose position against the oil industry is a matter of record.

What the political pulpsters of Dixie will say, or what the depletion-conscious oil men will say, or what the white supremacists who support Nixon-Lodge will say to this menu of political prospects should be interesting to note.

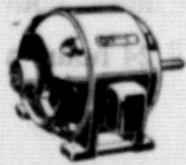

We can spare a sprig of sympathy for Mr. Nixon, whose bland recipe for campaign soothing syrup has been so rudely spiced by his own campaign partner. It probably was jolting enough when the official spokesman for the Ku Klux Klan endorsed Nixon-Lodge. It may be painful that Nixon-Lodge religionists continue fanning the anti-Roman Catholic crusade against John F. Kennedy, the Democratic nominee. However painful, these events might be fruitful of votes in Dixie. But then here comes running mate Lodge to hold up the other side of the signboard, unannounced in advance. It must be painful indeed.

This is the reason why the merchant who just opens his door and waits for customers to enter — without doing some form of advertising, is likely to do a minimum of business. At the same time, the merchant who sees to it that the public knows what he has to offer is going to be much better for the town.

The one '61 car built to back up a long-term warranty

Ford led the way with the one car beautifully built to take care of itself . . . and you

On September 29, Ford Dealers set an industry trend — were first to extend their 1961 car warranty from the conventional 4,000 miles or 3 months to 12,000 miles or one full year, whichever comes first.

Why? Because Ford built the one car to support such confidence. Ford for 1961 is the one car beautifully built to take care of itself!

The '61 Ford was designed and built to the more exacting standards necessary to offer an extended warranty. Ask to see this warranty at your dealer's.

It is significant that Ford has so many take-care-of-itself features not found in other cars, regardless of price. These new Ford features are a triumph of exhaustive research, fine engineering, and quality construction that give you the most reliable Ford ever built. Drive a '61 Ford today.

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF

Lubricates itself—You'll normally go 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications. Then a quick, inexpensive Ford Dealer lube job (which costs about $4.00*) will get you set for another 30,000 miles.

Cleans its own oil—You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter.

Adjusts its own brakes—New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves automatically for the life of the lining.

Guards its own muffler—Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized—normally will last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.

Protects its own body—All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing the body panels beneath the doors.

Takes care of its own finish—New Diamond Lustre Finish never needs wax.

Stalf Pontiac & Impl. Co. To Show New Tempest In Showroom This Week

Pontiac Motor Division's exclusive new Tempest series, a four-door sedan and four-door station wagon, has been hailed as the most important engineering innovation in the industry with its entirely unique design. It is now on display at Stalf Pontiac and Implement Co., Memphis.

The four-barrel carburetor will be offered in addition to the regular fuel, one-barrel carburetor engine. Compression ratios are 10.25 to 1 for premium fuel and 8.6 to 1 for regular fuel engines. During its development the Tempest engine tallied approximately one and one-quarter million miles on grueling highway and dynamometer tests.

Design of the Tempest engine affords the best possible use of engine compartment space and provides easy serviceability. The exhaust pipe and manifold are on the right side of the engine, while the intake manifold, carburetor, fuel pump, generator and starting motor are on the left side.

Also available is a 215 cubic inch, aluminum, water cooled V-8 for both synchromesh and automatic transmissions and using regular grade gasoline. A positive pressure lubrication system, a modification on Pontiac's V-8, assures efficient operation and maximum life of the L-4. A twelve-volt electrical system meets the challenge of modern requirements for ignition performance, generator output and cranking speed.

Standard transmission for the Tempest is a manual shift, three-speed conventional synchromesh, while an automatic transmission is offered as an option. Both are mounted on the differential carrier, providing ideal front to rear weight relationship, excellent riding and handling characteristics and a reduction of floor tunnel height to almost negligible proportions.

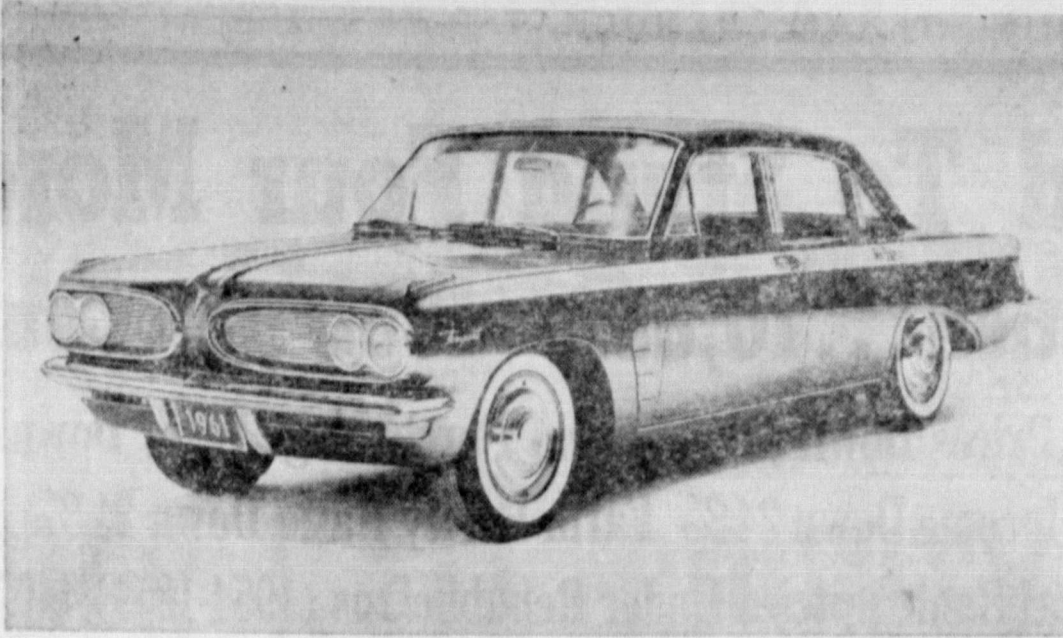

The synchromesh transmission is light weight and compact and shares a common lubrication system with the rear axle. The automatic transmission has its own separate lubrication.

The Tempest makes automobile history with its front engine-rear transmission arrangement and has the first torque converter transmission employing a "split torque" principle.

It is a light weight air cooled, three element torque converter, two speed planetary transmission with an automatic upshift depending upon car speed and throttle position. This transmission is integrated to form a transaxle combination. As a result, the torque converter is rear of the main transmission unit, separated by the differential carrier.

Equally unique in concept and design is the five-eighths diameter propeller shaft connecting the front mounted engine to the rear mounted transmission. It is manufactured of special quality, triple alloy forged steel. Heat treated and shot peened for high fatigue life, the flexible shaft was precisely developed and extensively tested. Its curvature virtually eliminates the floor hump.

Housing the propeller shaft is a torque tube of hat sectioned heavy gauge steel that rigidly joins the engine and transmission. This curved housing serves to supand allowing independent action of each wheel, all contributing greatly to an excellent ride.

BUILT on a 112-inch wheelbase the Tempest sedan features a 4-cylinder, front-mounted engine, a rear transmission and unit body construction, with an overall length of 189.3 inches. port bearings for the prop shaft, divorces engine torque reaction from engine mounts, permitting use of softer engine mounts.

The soundly built Tempest body is of integral construction and big car comfort relationship exists. That is, relationship of seat to eye point is equal to that of large cars. Leg room, head room, seat width, the flat floor and spacious rear luggage compartment, point up the fact that Tempest is a genuine family sized car.

Both the six-passenger sedan and station wagon have a 112-inch wheelbase, are 189.3 inches overall and 72.2 inches wide. Carrying out Pontiac's famous wide-track design is a 57 inch tread. The sedan is 53.5 inches high and the wagon is 54.3 inches.

The two-seat, four-door station wagon features a quick opening, self locking, one-piece tail gate that provides easy access. The tail door is counterbalanced by torsion bars. There is a hidden locker beneath the floor for convenient storage and a chromed roof top carrier is available in an accessory.

The Tempest has 15 inch wheels which give it excellent road clearance, ride and fuel economy and add to its appearance. Standard tire size for the sedan is 6.00 by 15 and 6.50 by 15 for the station wagon. Wheel discs as well as trim rings are optional.

More and more farmers and ranchers in Texas are reporting successful experiences with chemicals for controlling mesquite and other pasture brush. Diesel oil or mixtures of diesel oil and 2,4,5-T have generally proven effective, reports G. O. Hoffman, extension range specialist.

IF YOU'VE HAD ENOUGH VOTE DEMOCRATIC

Tuesday, Nov. 8th

Can the people of Hall County exist without the family-type farm? The answer is an obvious "No!" The capitalistic system in America has no greater expression than in the independent family farm such as we have here. Free enterprise began here. There are today (even in spite of the decline during the past eight years) more units of enterprise in agriculture — more individual capitalists — than all other industry and business combined. Agriculture represents virtually one-half of the value of the nation's productive assets. A prosperous agriculture is important to the total economy and to all the people. The farm problem is everybody's problem.

KENNEDY'S STAND ON AGRICULTURE

1. Pledge to appoint a Secretary of Agriculture who is in sympathy to the needs and interests of farmers.
2. To raise farm prices and farm income to full parity levels ... so as to assure the farmer returns for his labor, investment, and management comparable to returns in other industries ...
3. To expand and liberalize farm credit facilities.
4. To enable farmers to balance their production with the nation's real needs, using quotas, land retirement, marketing orders, and other means best suited to each commodity.
5. To help young farm families establish efficient, up-to-date farming operations that will enable them to earn decent incomes.

NIXON'S STAND ON AGRICULTURE

Lest we forget other Republican promises:

1952--like: "100% farm parity."

1928--Hoover: "Chicken in every pot" and 2 cars in every garage."

1960--Nixon: More of the same ... "make more and take less;" "root hog or die" philosophy by Calvin Coolidge, Herbert Hoover, D. Eisenhower and Ezra Taft Benson that is responsible for our present agricultural disaster.

LET'S KEEP THE BATS OUT OF THE BUSINESS MEN'S BUILDINGS!

What about all this so-called Republican "prosperity" which has caused more and more vacant buildings to be seen in each town in Hall County?

IT'S TIME TO FACE FACTS ... NOT SUCCUMB TO MINOR ISSUES DESIGNED TO GET YOUR MIND AWAY FROM REALITIES

Since charity begins at home, it is time for Hall County to analyze which party is best for our economy. It is time to give a serious look to real facts, and not so much to the imaginary.

We don't have to argue about our national prestige, when our second in command gets spit upon by our own hemisphere neighbors, and "not welcome" signs are hung out for our first in command in other parts of the world.

Are you going to be misled again by the Benedict Arnold of the Democratic party of Texas (Shivers) talking about everything except the land and insurance scandals of his own administration?

The fact — and naked truth — is that farmers' income has gone down, down, down since 1952. And we get Republican sympathy and acknowledgement that the farmer is in a squeeze (it is more like a bear hug). But sympathy on the part of the executioner is cold comfort for the victim.

Why anyone in Hall County can consider repeating a 1928 situation is a mystery!

One of our greatest economists, Bernard Baruch, says that the neglect of agriculture in the 1920's was a major contributing cause of the 1929 catastrophe.

FOR THE LAST SEVEN AND A HALF YEARS AGRICULTURE HAS BEEN NEGLECTED. WHY SHOULD WE WAIT UNTIL OUR WHOLE ECONOMY FALLS APART, WHEN ALL WE HAVE TO DO IS VOTE FOR AN ADMINISTRATION WHICH WILL DO SOMETHING FOR AGRICULTURE — BEFORE IT DRAGS OUR WHOLE ECONOMY DOWN.

We need more than the Republican acknowledgement that "agriculture is in trouble". Let's vote for national leadership in the party that will do something about it!
