

Soil Conservation District News Hall County

Next to air, water is our most important resource for survival. You can live longer without food than you can without water.

This land of ours is a great gathering place and storage place for water. Like food, water is a product of the land—water in the clouds is made only after it reaches the earth as rain or snow.

Nearly every community has a water problem, water shortage, poor water, or flood, or some combination of these problems. Many of these water problems trace back to the land where the rain or snow falls.

Planners and engineers who control our farmlands and waterways control to an important degree the movement of the water that falls on their property. Texas is the 1950's was strongly affected by a water shortage. This water shortage disrupted almost every farming and also stopped Texas as the No. 1 cattle state. Rainfall began again three years ago. But water needs have increased since then in some places. During the next 20 years, water shortage will be the start of another drought period.

We are using more water every year. In 1950 we had twice as much water as we do today. By 1970 the figure is expected to double again. The grasslands, croplands, and wildlife depend on how we use the water. So now is the time to start applying good conservation practices to our land, such as a good conservation cropping system, terraces, farm ponds, proper use of irrigation water, proper use of our range lands and many more good soil and water practices. In the old saying, good—now keep Texas water on Texas soils and at the same time make good use of it.

For any information on any water problem that you have in the Hall County Soil Conservation District you may contact the Soil Conservation Service Technicians in Memphis.

Mr. and Mrs. Bassett Brice of Amarillo spent the weekend visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Waters.

Only 27.7% of Vehicles Have Been Inspected

Of the 12,041 registered motor vehicles in Hall County only 27.7 per cent had been inspected to date, according to Captain Mike Johnson, motor vehicle inspector, supervisor of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

He urged drivers to have their vehicles inspected early to avoid the late minute rush.

The time of the year is used for adverse weather conditions which may be predominant during the next few and one-half months. As a result the number of inspection tags will be cut down since stations cannot inspect vehicles under these adverse conditions," he added.

It was pointed out that Texas law requires all registered motor vehicles in Texas to display a valid inspection sticker. All motorists not displaying this sticker will be subject to a fine of $1.00 to $20.00 plus court cost.

Captain Johnson further advised that all licensed drivers having a gross weight exceeding 4,000 pounds are required to be inspected.

"By having your vehicle inspected today, you will be driving a safer vehicle," he pointed out.

MINUTE MEDITATION

O Righteous Father, we thank thee for thy gracious gift of life and love. We thank thee for thy bountiful hand which provides all of our needs. Thou hast served us from sin and ruin and hast given us life and peace. Our spirits are enriched and our faith is made strong in the Lord our God. Let us never imagine that all good things are the results of our own wisdom. For the earth and the fulness thereof is the Lord's. May we be thankful for thine overflowing cup. Let us never become too proud to pray and to call upon the name of our God, in the name of Jesus Christ. Cecil E. Hadaway, Minister - Church of Christ

Public Schools Week — March 6 Thru 10

The Memphis Public Schools, along with the other schools in the county and in the state will celebrate the Texas Annual Public Schools Week, March 6 through 10. The slogan is "Texas Public Schools — Democracy in Action."

The objective of the program is to acquaint all people with programs and accomplishments of our public education system. Texas Public Schools are in their 107th year of operation.

Our forefathers in their wisdom, recognized the importance of education in the function and operation of a democracy, established the public schools to make education available to all. The people of Texas declared, by expressed terms of the State Constitution, "a general diffusion of knowledge being essential to the preservation of the liberties and right of the people, it shall be the duty of the Legislature of the State to establish and make suitable provision for the support and maintenance of an efficient system of public free schools."

The 1854 School Law provided for the first Public School System in Texas. As the years passed our laws were strengthened to make sure that all children of a school age shared in this opportunity for public education. Today the importance of education is not a debatable subject. Our job is to see that children of this generation get the best possible education we can give them. By visiting the schools and familiarizing ourselves with the problems of teachers and students, we become more competent to safeguard and advance the institution that is so American—the public school.

Public Schools' Week in Texas has been set aside for the past 11 years as a special time to place increased emphasis on our educational system. Gov. Daniel continued this program this year by designating March 6-10 as Public Schools Week.

The need for the public school never changes, but times and conditions may change or require to be changed methods and practices of public education. This is inherent with anything that grows, for growth is the result of change.

It is a healthy thing in our democratic way of life to have intelligent understanding of the important functions of our basic institutions. This is especially true of the schools. The initiative and resourcefulness and the wisdom and leadership that our schools are inculcating in the youth of today are the answer of the problems of citizenship in the years ahead.

Yes, "bring me men to match my mountains." This is the need of our times and must come from the public schools—schools that are strong in virtues required for building strong men and women.

We can be assured of this and do our part in understanding and helping the public schools to fulfill their great obligation to our times by being a participant in the annual Public Schools Week, March 6 through March 10. Several interesting programs are being planned here by the local schools, accept their hospitality and you will enjoy the experience of going back to school, if but for a day of visiting, or for a program.

Principle Of The U. S. Government

The founding fathers of these United States organized a government which would be ruled by those who resided within the territorial boundaries of the nation. These men were all of different opinions, and all compromised on the balance of power, three-agency government.

The government which was set up, and still stands today, was composed of a judicial branch, legislative branch, and executive branch. The founders stated that the government would have over-lying checks, so none could dominate, and that no one dictator could rise to the top. The history of this nation proves that the founding fathers completed this task.

A very unpopular political conception at that time was the rule by a majority. However, despite this objection, the founding fathers accepted this concept, and the members of the House of Representatives and the Senate, as well as the Chief Executive and the Sub Chief Executive were named to these governmental positions by a majority rule elimination procedure.

Today, however, the majority is often bombarded by so many minority ideas and ideals, that they are forced to be tolerant. The United States has a long history of being tolerant. However, until the Constitution of this nation is changed, the majority opinion will rule on all things.

Throughout our history, our great leaders have expressed unpopular ideas and conceptions. Even those who were this country's greatest heroes, and whose birthday anniversaries we celebrate each year, took positions which are today thought to be political suicide, and reactionary. They spoke out for the majority in this country, for the majority's way of life, for the philosophy of the frontier American, the colonial American and the people who made this country great.

An issue should not be decided on whether it costs money or not, but rather, is the majority benefited? Is it for the public good? If it wasn't for the majority opinion, the United States would never have purchased the Louisiana Purchase, or any other land mass which is now a portion of the United States.

Without vigorous government action during the great depression of the 1930's, would this country have survived, still a democracy? Or would a dictator have risen to power as they did in Germany and Italy during the same period?

If the action taken by the majority leaders is not popular, the majority will lose its support.

The best check against radical legislation, whether it be right or left wing, is a well informed population which will inform their congressmen about their conclusions.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

In spite of all the new forms of advertising various firms and individuals spent more than $96,000,000 advertising in the New York Times in 1960. This is more than has ever been spent in any newspaper, for advertising in one year, we are informed.

Newspaper advertising has many advantages over every other form. First, as between air-wave media and newspapers, the latter is a permanent record, something that can be saved and which can be effective over a full day - twenty-four hours or longer.

Secondly, as between newspaper and other published materials, the newspaper has proven to be the best-regulated advertising medium among the published organs - and its pages are respected by more people than other forms of printed advertising - as a group.

Thirdly, newspaper advertising is the most effective of all the forms of advertising. It is quick to put into permanent form, it is available at any time of the day, it goes only to those who can buy the newspaper, and cannot build resentment as something rammed down the throat.

That is why, year after year, people spend more and more on newspaper advertising. It is the best, most dependable, the most permanent form of advertising available. And everyone knows many a good advertiser has made his fortune by knowing how and when and what to advertise - in the newspaper.

STRICTLY FROM THE BIRDS

The daintiest sparrow can perch on a power line carrying several hundred thousand volts and never sing a feather. Man may not be able to fly like a bird but he has learned to "perch" on hot wires. When birds light on a high voltage line they are not injured because they are not in contact with the ground - they merely become charged to the same voltage which the line carries. The electric current which kills only flows between two points when there is a difference in voltage.

Linemen can now work bare-handed on high-voltage lines while standing in a fiberglass bucket

...and Congress... windfall. They would be using the people's air waves to beam to the people for their entertainment the activities of the elected officials of the people, who were on the payroll of the taxpayers and not the payroll of the television producers. In other words, they would be using the people's air waves without cost; they would have an overflowing field of ham actors who did not even need to be under contract. They would be spared all of the arials and tribulations that they have in renewing the contract of some emotionally disturbed actress who was endowed with more beauty than sense. And any time one of the ham actors, whom they were not paying in the first place, got rambunctious they could get the folks at home to cancel his contract by simply having their cameramen catch him asleep on the job or engaged in some equally reprehensible activity. Of course, it is not my intention to indicate or insinuate that such tactics would be resorted to. I am merely pointing the possibilities if some irresponsible executive should himself become emotionally disturbed some time.

It has been said many times that all human beings, and I presume animals could be included, are possessed of a desire to act. Sometimes this is suppressed, but too often not. In Washington it has often been called the camera itch. A person suffering from this disease, and there are quite a number, is termed a lens hound. It has been rumored that the photogenic ability of an individual may determine the success or failure of a job application, especially with the lobbying groups. Great note is made of the alleged fact that human beings generally photograph much better from the left side than from the right.

HALF-PAST TEEN

This, of course, would create another problem, because many people think that too much of the "left" is showing already. These are only a few of the minor difficulties that should be considered in a proposal of this kind. One of the major difficulties would be in making the programs sufficiently interesting to the viewers. I can hardly conceive of men, women, or children being glued to a television screen on which some eminent scientist was spending two or three hours explaining the whys and wherefores of atomic energy, or some financial wizard was explaining why the interest rate in 1942 had been up and down many times during the ten years immediately following. Other interesting (?) programs would undoubtedly include hearings on why the costs allocated to fish and wildlife on a reclamation project should not be reimbursable. I am afraid that the general activities would not be attractive to view audiences. Hence, it might become necessary to try to attune the activities of Congress to the viewers by making them more entertaining. However, I have some difficulty in visualizing a few of the more corrupt Members wearing tight Levi's. Perhaps that could be worked out by casting them as

Accomplishments Of 1960 ACP Are Enumerated

A total of $82,037, which includes $1,376 in small payment increases, was paid to 226 farmers for participating in the 1960 Agricultural Conservation Program, it was announced this week by Lynn McKown, ASC office manager.

The $82,037 was broken down into the following: establishment of vegetative cover, 543 acres on 11 farms, $2,071; improvement of established cover, 70 acres on one farm, $23; control of mesquite, 16,182 acres on 48 farms, $27,465; water wells, three dams, 17,620 c. y. on three farms, $1,762; terracing, 2,284,000 feet on 67 farms, $34,176; diversion terraces, 7,952 c. y. on two farms, $557; reorganizing irrigation systems, 20 acres on one farm, $678; seeding Austrian winter peas, 100 acres on two farms, $95; seeding rye for winter cover, 1,380 acres on 28 farms, $2,760; deep plowing, 2,386 acres on 26 farms, $5,004; bind weed control, nine acres on four farms, $465; apply-private eyes or referees in the wrestling matches.

One observer has insinuated that the proposal to put Congress on television is a secret effort on the part of pay television proponents. They figure that about two weeks of watching most of the dull hearings and some of the speeches which take place in Congress would make pay television most inviting to many of the viewers.

The fact of the matter is that Congress can, at any time, adopt a resolution authorizing the televising of such activities as may be desired or requested by the people of this country. When the time comes that the people of this nation want to spend time watching Congress in session they will make it known in a loud and resonant voice, and I am sure that the Congress will respond.

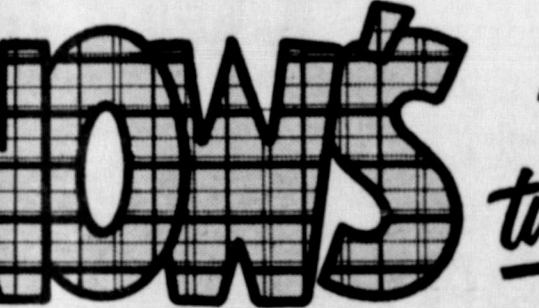

ing cotton burs, 889 acres on 48 farms, $4,413. Technical service was also paid to the SCS in the amount of $3,746. Cotton acreage must be released by April 14, McKown said. All producers wishing to release cotton acreage to the county committee must do so not later than April 14. "This date was erroneously stated in our last newsletter," McKown stated. All producers wishing to have their cotton premeasured for 1961 are reminded by McKown that their application must be on file in the county office on March 15, 1961.
