Yankees Lead; Final Play Fri.

The winning team in the Memphis Little League baseball program is yet to be decided, with all important games scheduled for Friday night.

Team	Win	Loss
Yankees	6	2
Giants	5	3
Tigers	4	4
Indians	1	7

The last three evenings the teams have played, have resulted in the Yankees coming from a second place tie to lead the second half of the schedule. The Yankees have clinched a tie in the second half of play already, and if they can defeat the third place Tigers in the first game Friday night, the team will win the championship. If the Tigers defeat the Yankees, and the Giants defeat the Indians, the second half of play will be tied between the Giants and the Yankees.

In the first game last Thursday night, the Giants were forced to forfeit the contest to the Tigers because they didn't have enough players. In the second game, the Yankees downed the Indians 8-4. In last Friday night's play, the Indians had to forfeit to the Giants, and in one of the best games of the season, the Yankees were able to down the Tigers, 3-1. The game was a pitching duel between Jay Holland of the Tigers and Tony Pounds of the Yankees. Pounds gave up one hit and Holland gave up three hits. The two pitchers were able to retire the first 19 batters to face them.

In Tuesday night's play, the Indians defeated the Tigers 19-8.

Loyalty Oath

The head-on collision of two political ideologies — namely, Democracy versus Communism — has brought into focus on the democratic side of this contest the question of loyalty. The primary reason for this is the fact that Communism operates on devious, sinister, hidden and false approaches. One of its most effective weapons is infiltration; effective because of the freedoms guaranteed the individual under the democratic system. In short, it is relatively simple to install a Communist in almost any category of any segment of the economy in a democratic form of government, because of freedoms guaranteed the individual. On the other hand, because of the lack of freedoms enjoyed by the individual under the Communist system, it is practically impossible to install a loyal American in any phase of that system. Since it is essential to our own welfare that we have faith and confidence in each other, I have concluded that the loyalty oath might be used as a very effective weapon against Communism.

At the present time only limited groups in limited phases of the economy are required to declare their loyalty under oath. For instance, the employees of the Civil Defense Administration are required to subscribe to the following oath:

"I, _____, do solemnly swear (or affirm), that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion; and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties upon which I am about to enter.

"And I do further swear (or affirm) that I do not advocate, nor am I a member or an affiliate of any organization, group, or combination of persons that advocates the overthrow of the Government of the United States by force or violence; and that during such time as I am a member of the name of civil defense organization, I will not advocate nor become a member or an affiliate of any organization, group, or combination of persons that advocates the overthrow of the Government of the United States by force or violence."

This is required under Section 2255 of Title 50 of the United States Code. It is further provided that "Any person who shall be found guilty of having falsely taken such oath shall be punished as provided in section 1621 of Title 18." This means that such person would be tried under the perjury statute and be subject to a fine of not more than $2,000 or imprisonment for not more than five years, or both.

This is required as a security regulation, as are oaths in other departments of the government. It occurs to me that under our free enterprise system, security should not be confined to government departments alone. Much of our economy base rests upon contracts between the Federal government and free enterprise activities. In fact, the defense establishment alone, before the addition of the recent requests by President Kennedy, totaled more than $43 billion of taxpayers' money. These expenditures are justified as being for the preservation of our nation and our way of life. Now it seems rather odd to me that only persons working for the Federal government as officers or employees are required to be bound by a loyalty oath. The officers and employees of private corporations contracting with the Federal government for the development of many phases of our defense program as well as other activities should, in my opinion, also be bound by such an oath. In fact, if the employees of a private corporation doing business with the government are required to be members of a union or collective bargaining organization, all members of that organization should be bound by the loyalty oath. I see no reason why anyone would hesitate to reaffirm his allegiance to this country and to do so under oath, the falsification of which would subject the oath taker to serious penalties. If there are those among us who would not be willing to do so, I think it is time that we know who they are and their reasons.

Hence, I am presently engaged in the task of preparing legislation that will require a loyalty oath of every person employed by or associated with any group, organization, corporation or indi-

Hall County Soil Conservation District News

The best protection for the soil against wind and water erosion, is a growing crop. Farmers should be planning, now, for a cover crop to be on their land during the winter and early spring months, when we normally have the blowing season.

There are several crops that are adapted to this area that can be used for a winter cover crop. They are small grains, such as rye, oats or barley, winter peas, or vetch with small grains.

Cover crops should be seeded early enough so as to make sufficient growth to protect the soil, prior to extremely cold weather. There are several ways to establish these cover crops. They can be drilled, broadcast, or planted with inter-row seeders. With a cyclone type seeder or inter-row seeder, cover crops can be seeded in existing crops. On land that is not in a crop, drilling is probably the best method.

For maximum benefits from a cover crop, it should not be grazed or harvested. The cover crop should be left growing as long as possible or until about April 1.

When another crop is to follow the cover crop, the cover crop should be shredded and or disked about two weeks prior to seedbed preparation. Residues left on the surface dry out quickly and are easier to get through while preparing the seedbed. Breaking a cover crop into the soil tends to give trouble while preparing a seedbed, due to slow deterioration of plant residues.

Fertilization of a cover crop produces a faster growth and a heavier poundage of residues.

The Supervisors of the Hall County Soil Conservation District recognize the need for a large acreage of cover crops, especially for protection of soil against wind erosion. Also, a cover crop managed properly improves the soil by adding organic material and increasing the intake of water.

Soil Conservation Service technicians assisting the District are available to assist the district are available to help with planning for adapted cover crops and the management of their residues.

Sanitone Engineer Inspects Tucker's Cleaners Here

Paul Baker, of Albuquerque, N. M., a Sanitone engineer of the Emery Industries, Inc., Sanitone Division, was in Memphis this week inspecting the equipment and process of the new Tucker's Cleaners.

"It is one of the nicest and cleanest plants I have seen," he said. "There are larger plants but none are nicer or more conveniently arranged."

Residents of the Memphis area will get a chance to see the new Sanitone cleaning plant in its new building all day Saturday of next week, Aug. 12, Homer Tucker, owner, announced.

The Tucker's Cleaners is scheduling its Grand Opening for all day next Saturday. Details of the special promotion will be announced next week, he said.

Tucker also announced this week that the plant will be under the management of Tomie M. Tucker.

Baker was in Memphis this week checking out the plant to see if it meets qualifications so that a Sanitone license can be issued. He explained that all of the 3,000 Sanitone plants are inspected regularly to maintain equal and high performance in each. Baker services 86 plants in his area.

Baker explained that the plant must maintain equipment, process, and procedures of the highest quality before receiving the Sanitone Seal.

A New Look at Farm Surpluses

The Berlin crisis has caused the Department of Agriculture to take a new look at the farm surpluses of this nation and they have come up with the realization that the only satisfactory surplus in case of war is wheat.

If you remember the Defense Department made a study of the so called cotton surplus last year and promptly advised the Department of Agriculture that the carry over of the 1959 was not sufficient for a national emergency. That is the reason cotton farmers received a 15 per cent increase in cotton acreage for their 1961 crop.

Now it is apparent that the surpluses of corn and grain sorghums would melt away in no time at all in case of war. This is particularly true if the United States is again called upon to be the bread basket for its allies as was the case in world War II. With the exception of wheat, the reserves of corn and feed grain would not last six months and oats and barley would last an even shorter time.

We should be proud of the ability of the American farmer to produce so much and there should be a means of rewarding him adequately for his industry and efficiency. By ironic coincidence the main agricultural problems in Russia and China are that they can't produce enough to feed their own people with their collectivized farms.

Zinjanthropus

Man, says the National Geographic Society, is a lot older than he had thought.

For some time now, anthropologists have been saying the best evidence they could find indicated our earliest two-legged forebear existed only about 600,000 years ago.

But a British anthropologist discovered some bone remains in Tanganyika which two American geologists, by using a modern scientific method of calculation, now estimate belonged to an ancestor who walked erect some 1,150,000 years past.

They call this fellow Zinjanthropus, meaning East African man. He joins such other distinguished antecedents as Sivapithecus, Pithecanthropus and the Neanderthal man.

The scientists describe him as low-browed and long-faced. He may have been the first creature to make primitive tools, such as hand-throwing rocks and rock chips for skinning game. This described as a "very important" contribution to the sum of man's knowledge, which it obviously is.

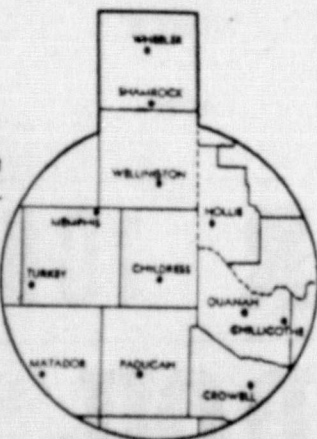

The only thing is: The picture of Zinjanthropus as drawn by a National Geographic Society artist seems to strongly resemble one of our modern-day beatniks.

What Other Editors Say

Retire or Not To Retire

If you have reached or are about to reach, the age of 62, you may be wondering whether to take retirement pay under the new law, which allows a 62-year-old to get on to the rolls three years earlier but at a reduced monthly income. When you reach 65 you will draw less than those who wait until they are 65 to get on the rolls. However, you will be "ahead of the game" in total payments from the Social Security fund until you attain the age of 77. The state of one's health and the prospect for gainful occupation probably would be the deciding factors.

The Big Talkers

In every community we have a variety of talkers. There are those who are adept at conversational gossip, there are those who can spin interesting yarns and hold their listeners in rapt attention, and there are those who have big-booming voices and who command respect, even though they seldom say anything.

It is interesting to watch the reaction to the various groups of talkers. It is quite a gift to be able to spin a tale with both charm and personality, so that the listener is fascinated by the manner and the thoughts being exhibited. This is known as a "gift of gab," and is invaluable for salesmen, public relation men, and is an asset to almost anyone dealing with the public.

The man or woman who has a graduate degree in the art of gossip, innuendo, tease, and general devilment, is an interesting conversationalist, even though he or she usually tends to be sarcastic or cynical and is usually guilty of berating practically everyone around him. And, gossip in its purest form, is inherently a disease and can do as much harm in our community as anything we know.

But perhaps the most interesting of all the talkers is the big talker with a booming voice. If he is a large man, or woman, he commands respect because of his physical size. Add to this fact that he has a loud, booming voice, and you have the ingredients necessary for gaining attention, domineering, and perhaps leadership.

The point of all this talk about talking is that it is what is said that is important, and not how it is said, or the volume in which it is said.

Mad Dogs Bring on War

War is inevitable because it is the only solution when there are mad dogs loose in the world. The only alternative is peaceful surrender to communism. Communism cannot coexist with any other ideology. And certainly there is nothing that indicates a weakening of the communist world.

War is inevitable because the Bible indicates that there will not only be wars and rumors of war until the very end but that they will increase in both frequency and intensity.

Mankind has never been deterred from going to war simply because new weapons were more deadly.

Victory is not in the bag for us during the next war for a number of reasons.

For the first time in our history we will be up against an enemy that is our equal if not superior in the ability to wage war and one capable of bringing the battle to our own front doors.

Our nation is less prepared psychologically, morally, patriotically than ever before. You just can't spend 30 years telling the youth that "our's is the most corrupt government on the face of the earth," that the last war was "Roosevelt's war," that Truman was responsible for "the mess in Korea," that Kennedy and Eisenhower are communists, and expect the youth to go out with the will to die for their country.

Never before has America been as bankrupt morally—and an immoral people is incapable of surviving. Take liquor and tobacco sponsored programs off television and every TV network would be bankrupt. Try to think of anything Americans worship more than sex.

Two simple but necessary products used every day are waxed paper and gummed paper wrapping tape. The inventor of these was Thomas A. Edison, who is better known for his scientific inventions, such as the electric light, the phonograph and the storage battery.

Church of Christ?

Millions have asked this question in view of its remarkable growth . . .

The answer is found in the New Testament.

Jesus Christ promised to build His church.

"Upon this rock I will build my church . . ."

Matthew 16:18

Thirty days after His resurrection, Christ built His church when three thousand became Christians and were added to it. Acts 2:38, 47. The church of Christ was built upon the foundation of Jesus as the Son of God. "Other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ." I Corinthians 3:11.

JESUS CHRIST IS THE ONLY HEAD OF THE CHURCH and He, alone, has preeminence in it. "And He (Christ) is the head of the body, the church . . . that in all things He might have the preeminence." Colossians 1:18. Jesus said, "All authority is given unto me in heaven and on earth." Matthew 28:18.

THE CHURCH OF CHRIST IS NOT A DENOMINATION. It is the kingdom of God. It is NON-DENOMINATIONAL and CHRIST-CENTERED by its very nature. It is neither Catholic nor Protestant. It is not controlled by an ecclesiastical hierarchy, since every member is a priest under Christ, the High Priest. I Peter 2:9.

WHEREVER CHRIST IS PREACHED and men believe in Him, repent, and are baptized (immersed) into Him, Christians are made. Galatians 3:27. Then God adds them to the church which is the undenominational body of Christ.

THE CHURCH OF CHRIST is pleading for primitive Christianity, the restoration of the apostolic church, and the unity of all Christians. Jesus said, "The seed is the Word of God." Luke 8:11. When this seed is sown today, it will bear the same fruit that it produced in the first century of Christianity.

CHRIST IS ITS CREED, THE BIBLE ITS ONLY RULE

Nelson Returns Friday From Six-Week Tour of European Countries

Nelson returned home Friday from a six-week tour of European countries. She left the States on June 14 aboard the Queen Elizabeth.

Nelson traveled with a tour group, visiting the countries they visited France, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, Holland and England.

"We were pleased at Bologna, Italy, to find miniature American flags on our dining table on the 4th of July.

"I thought all of Europe was very beautiful and especially Holland with its beautiful flowers and well tended fields and vineyards," she concluded.

Bety Long and Velma Jo Hutcherson returned Monday from a week's visit with Kay Hill of Lubbock and formerly of Memphis.

Nelson stated.

"One day, while driving along we heard the Grand Ole Opera program on our radio . . . it was being broadcast from Nashville, and was coming in very clear. Other than that, we received no programs or news from the States until we reached England.

"We were pleased at Bologna, Italy, to find miniature American flags on our dining table on the 4th of July.

"I thought all of Europe was very beautiful and especially Holland with its beautiful flowers and well tended fields and vineyards," she concluded.

Bety Long and Velma Jo Hutcherson returned Monday from a week's visit with Kay Hill of Lubbock and formerly of Memphis.

MINUTE MEDITATION

My weary soul will rest at ease in the love of God Who will never let me go.

I will drink at the fountain of the everlasting Spirit to whom I owe my soul, my life, my all.

May His light direct my way, that I walk not in darkness, neither stumble into sin.

Let His joy come to me when I am in pain, for He can make the day brighter either in sunshine or rain.

Let me lift up my head unto the Eternal One who will not hide himself from me.

One day the glory of life will be over and done and this body shall return to the clay, but my spirit shall go onward and upward until it finds sweet repose at the throne of God.

Come, let us make peace that our souls may rejoice in God our Savior, while we bring forth fruit unto an endless life.

Sandra Wood To Participate In Tech Program

Sandra Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Wood of Estelline, and valedictorian of her 1961 graduating class, received word recently that she has been invited to participate in an Honors Program in Liberal Arts which is being instituted this fall at Texas Tech.

Students may enter only by faculty invitation, based on the individual's high school record, or entrance examination, American College Test, personal interview or SAT, another type of college entrance test. Sandra was chosen from her American College rating.

The Honors Program is composed entirely of distinguished students. There will be 100 invited to participate; Sandra was the seventy-fourth student to accept. Students must be in the School of Arts and Sciences to be able to participate.

Miss Wood was in Lubbock Friday for an interview with Dr. John C. Guilds, professor of English and liberal arts advisor, who is director of the Honors Program.

Her study schedule has been made out for the fall semester. All of her classes, except Latin, will be made up entirely of superior students selected for this program. Since Estelline Schools do not offer languages, Sandra will take Latin with another group as she would not be able to compete with students having had languages before. All of her other classes are chosen for her.

The students may concentrate in special fields, either to graduate or for professional study, the last two years of school.

Sandra had previously won second place in the state meet in journalism. At regional meet in Lubbock, she was high point individual in journalism for the entire region.

Around and About

By HELEN COMBS
August, last-chance vacation month, has arrived; Too numerous to mention in our column are the many who are enjoying trips and vacations. We love for our friends to travel because they always come back with interesting incidents and stories to report.

We love our work, even though it's hard at times, because it gives us personal contact with so many of you. We are sad when we have to write of a death in your family; we sympathize with you in your grief when we take a card of thanks; we rejoice with you when you welcome a new member into your family, and nothing uplifts our spirits more than the beaming faces of the brides who come in with their pictures and announcements.

Grace Aronofsky is to be commended for her work with the local chapter of the American Field Service. She is cutting short her visit with her parents in Denver this week in order to be home Thursday to meet Miss Solvejg Merete Bager, student from Denmark, who will arrive by plane for a year's study in the local high school. She will make her home with the W. H. Reed, Jr. family. This is the second student brought to Memphis through the sponsorship of the American Field Service which Grace heads as president. The purpose of the organization is to promote better relations around the world.

Back to our vacationers: While attending the Sheriff's Convention at McAllen last week, the Baten family, along with other convention delegates, enjoyed a tour of Reynosa, Mexico. Like all border towns, vendors were stationed along the streets selling their wares. Being especially fond of coins, Sheriff Baten bargained for a coin bracelet for his daughter, beginning with $3.00 and finally paying $1.00 for the item. Walking a few steps down the street, they came to another vendor who stretched forth the same bracelet to the sheriff and said "75 cents, please" . . . then he turned to their charming daughter, Joy, and said, "to you, I sell the bracelet for 50 cents." This was the story as told to us by Mary.

You don't have to go to the seashore for the charming summer suntan, three teen agers proved to us Monday . . . cycling will do the job, and it's lots of fun, too! When we talked to Lucheryle Tucker, Mary Lemons and Zee Yarbrough Monday, they informed us they were riding their bicycles; and after doing a little calculating decided they had spent four hours cycling that day!

Agnes Nelson arrived home Friday after enjoying a six-week tour of the European countries. She said all the people of Europe are wonderfully cordial to American tourists and the 4th of July they were especially pleased to find small American flags on their dining table. They were in Bologna, Italy, at that time.

Have you seen or heard of the banana pumpkin? Mrs. F. G. Watkins brought two pumpkins to the office Monday—one is 42 inches in length and weighs 28 pounds while the other is 36 inches long and weighs 32 pounds. She says they make delicious pumpkin pies. If pumpkins this size can be grown here, perhaps we should commercialize on the product and start some pumpkin farms!

Speaking of food: Lt. Jackie Ben Boone had to wait 24 hours for his favorite piece of cheese cake, which Ida Anisman had stayed home from work to bake Friday morning so it would be all ready when Lt. Boone arrived home from several month's tour of duty in the Far East. The cake was all ready . . . but Lt. Boone didn't make it home on schedule. He couldn't get a plane out of Albuquerque and was delayed 24 hours in reaching home. This Fern and Jack learned after making the trip to Amarillo to meet Jackie on Friday.

SOS . . . will the person who found a gold pin set with a diamond please return it to our friend, Mrs. Conley Ward. The pin is one of Mrs. Ward's prized possessions, having been given to her by her husband before their marriage. She lost it sometime during the day Sunday, possibly at the Presbyterian or Methodist churches where she attended services in the morning and evening.

Visiting recently in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. McKinney, was Miss Velma McKinney of 3745 West Bay Circle, Dallas. Miss McKinney is leaving for Europe soon where she will study art in Italy. Miss McKinney was awarded the trip when she entered some of her work in an Art Exhibit in Dallas several months ago.

After several coffee sessions, she finally came around to my side of the argument.

Now that the words, "bar, borrow and borrow" all are out of the way, how about your ideas on the spelling and use of the term "brake" when used to mean "cedar brake"?

Friend Don: Your fellow sufferer, George Dolan of Star-Telegram's "This is West Texas", started the "bar" (not saloon bar) controversy by quoting a friend who at one time was a Memphian and the Democrat Staff Poet. In order that people here would like to know about their old friend, I called attention to the item. This brought a response from Lowery Johnson's brother Cliff, Mayor and Banker of Hedley. Since the two brothers couldn't agree on the word, Dolan this week says the verdict is. The term "bar" ditch is okay and the case is closed.

Now you open another headache by asking about the word "brake" when used with the word "cedar." That's easy. An old unabridged (not culvert) Webster's dictionary in the office that must have been published before Webby became brushy-whiskered; says that a brake is a thicket, a dense growth of shrubs, a brushwood. That should dispose for all time of the subject. But if you think you can prolong the discussion by calling my friend Webby an old geezer who now is as passe and out of date like his old dictionary, have at it. I have hunted 'possums in cane brakes without knowing how brakes in that case should be spelled. Another case is that frequently I travel a road west of here where there are thick growths of scrubby cedar, and when I get there I use the brakes (I know that is spelled right) of the car to slow up so I can get a longer view of that brushwood, for scrub cedar amazes me with its wonderful vitality that enables it to survive in drouth, hot sun, cold weather, and the blizzards and high winds that would uproot other kinds of trees. Nothing but

United States Naval Academy

One of the country's leading educational institutions, The United States Naval Academy is located on the banks of the Severn River in Annapolis, Maryland, just 30 miles east of Washington, D. C.

The Naval Academy campus comprises 365 acres, on which are 219 major buildings and extensive drill and playing fields. Of all the buildings, one stands out as the center of midshipman activity. This is Bancroft Hall, the largest college dormitory in the world, which houses the entire Brigade of Midshipmen. Besides living quarters for the midshipmen, this hall houses tailor and barber shops, post office, medical and dental quarters, soda fountain, bookstore, recreation rooms, a tremendous galley, and a vast mess hall. Bancroft Hall is named after George Bancroft, who was Secretary of the Navy when the Academy was founded in 1845. His diligent effort had much to do with the establishment of the Naval Academy. Other buildings on campus are named after various naval heroes. The grave of John Paul Jones is in a crypt beneath the dome of the chapel. The Brigade of Midshipmen numbers about 3,600. These men are subjected to rigorous academic and physical testing before admission to the academy. After admission they are faced with a curriculum which requires the highest degree of effort and intelligence. The academic, physical, and military training at the Academy are, to say the least, exacting.

Upon completion of their fourth year, midshipmen are awarded Bachelor of Science degrees and a commission as ensign in the United States Navy or a commission as second lieutenant in the Marine Corps.
