Decorated Church 37 Years Mrs. Louie Goffinett Turns Hobby Into Community Service

"Giving bouquets to the living" truly typifies the example set by Mrs. Louie Goffinett, known to her many friends here as Ruth.
For the past 37 years, thousands of persons have enjoyed Mrs. Goffinett's arrangements of home-grown flowers on Sunday morning at the First Methodist Church, during the seasonal part of the year. And, if there is a garden flower in town it can certainly be found at the Goffinett home.

In addition to this Mrs. Goffinett has carried hundreds of bouquets and floral arrangements to friends who were ill or were entertaining friends at a party. By sharing her flowers with others, she has turned her hobby of gardening into a service to the community.

As a young miss of 15 years,
Mrs. Goffinett, the former Ruth

Thompson, came to Hall County with her parents from Grayson County.

Just after the close of the war
in 1919, she was married to Louie Goffinett who had made his appearance in Hall County at an even earlier age of eight months.
Mr. Goffinett's family moved here in 1893 from Indiana.

For 37 years now, Mr. and Mrs.
Goffinett have lived at their present home, located at 614 South Seventh Street.

They have one daughter, Mrs.
Harley Gordon of Dallas, and three grandchildren, two granddaughters and a grandson. Mrs.
Gordon is a graduate of the local high school and attended West Texas State College where she majored in home economics. During World War II, while her husband was stationed in Florida, she served as a supervisor in the bookkeeping department of a Florida bank.

For many years, Mr. Goffinett served as ranch supervisor for the D-Bar Ranch, owned by the late W. P. Dial, and now operated by his daughter, Mrs. W. C. Dickey.
Mr. Goffinett's love of cattle and the outdoors is a great as his wife's hobby of growing flowers.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Goffinett are members of the Methodist Church. They are also members of the Priscilla Club, a forty-two dinner club. Mrs. Goffinett is a member of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, and the Friday Bridge Club.

Although spring is just beginning, a variety of flowers were in bloom in the Goffinett yard on Tuesday. There were pansies, Johnny jump-ups, King Alfred daffodils, tulips, grape hyacinth, hyacinth, violets, creeping moss and forsythia.

ten times, saying, "This is the greatest faith builder in the Bible, also the book of Ephesians five times, and the eighth chapter of Romans ten times. When we are tired, discouraged, weak and sick we turn to the Bible, also when

"Once you've typed on an electric portable, you'll never type on a manual typewriter again!"

Electricity lets you underline a full row of words just by holding down the key, rat-tat-tat, just like that. The same is true for dashes, spaces, dots and the letter "X" for crossing out.

Electricity lets you type as fast as you want even if you're a speed champ. And there's no jumbled letters, no jumpy lines, no uneven spacing.

Electricity does the work for you. There's no pounding the keys. And you can adjust the touch from featherlight to the same as a manual's.

Electricity gives you an expert's even touch on the keys. All letters are typed with the same even blackness... your typing looks perfect.

You adjust a dial and can make up to ten carbon copies. More important, the tenth is just about as clear and readable as the first.

HEREFORD BULL TELLS ABOUT INDUSTRIES

Following are excerpts from the Hereford Bull in which he tells of things learned at San Angelo concerning industries:

Angelo has around 52 industries, mostly small, but many of them are big. He runs the Alico Ranch Washable Wool Plant which employs 400 people with sales scattered from New York to California in super markets, drug stores and variety stores.

The San Angelo development group emphasized the fact that every community has people like the three who "grew their own industries" in that community. Many times a little shove, or a few words of encouragement, they said, will get a "home grown" industry off the ground and on its way.

Getting a portion of the new industry which is expected to come into Texas in the next decade requires extensive research, much hard work, outstanding salesmanship and area wide cooperation. The first step would probably be the establishment of an Industrial Foundation for this purpose, including some type of finance program by the board.

Furthermore, all industry does not succeed. Distribution, sales organizations and advertising, appear to be much greater problems than the actual manufacture of merchandise. Just because you can turn out a good product does not necessarily mean that you will set the woods on fire, although a quality product is absolutely essential and is the first step on the long road to fame and fortune. Because the products are novel, home grown industries frequently have to manufacture their own equipment. Angelo got a plastics plant and an equipment plant, because the washable shoe people found it impossible to get the exact type of materials they needed — and finally started making their own; in turn, they sell these items to other manufacturers over the Southwest.

Keep in mind too that numerous people are against bringing industry into the community, and this seems to be pretty well universal. At least, all of the people with whom I talked said they found the same thing existing in their towns and communities. Mostly, though, people generally seem to want industry — and this will be more especially true if the man's prediction that "8 out of every 10 Texans will work in a factory of some sort in 1975."

True, none of these things start large, but this alone has many advantages in that owners and employees are generally good citizens and definitely a part of the community. Nor do we have extensive union controls and many other headaches which generally come with larger operations.

Politics and Politicians

A few days ago a candidate for a state office prefaced his television campaign speech with the statement, "I am not a Professional Politician." The inference being that there is a particular virtue in denouncing, however obliquely, professional politicians!

During every political campaign you hear this remark from aspirants to public office, and you wonder if they are apologizing or explaining. It is an anachronism that the Nation which has developed and nurtured the greatest democracy on the face of the earth, and has done so through its political leaders duly elected by the people, should have so little respect for "politics" that a man running for office apologizes for being a politician and is ashamed of being called a "Professional."

The title is in such disrepute, let the respectable and honest politicians rescue the good name of politics from the quagmire of contempt and suspicion into which the term has apparently fallen.

If a few politicians have given the false impression of politics by being dishonest, smeared with chicanery and deceit, then let the politician of high character and noble motives restore the honorable name of politics and politicians to their respectful place in American esteem!

The candidate who slurs the monicker Professional Politician is really saying, "I am trying my best to become a professional — but please don't call me one."

If he is ashamed of the profession he is trying so desperately to enter then his effectiveness in office is foredoomed, for he has already announced to his future associates and comrades-in-office: "Since I am above politics and not a professional, I am better than you and cannot lower myself to engage in any activity, however noble, that would brand me as a professional. Therefore I shall make no attempt to learn the intricacies." Such an attitude would leave him as impotent in his office as the legislature page boy — and less noticed.

The truth is, the moment he announces his candidacy for public office he has entered the arena of the professional politician, and if he cannot hold up his head with dignity and show pride in his selec-

Local Residents Attend Service For T. J. Barbee

Mrs. Aubrey Robertson, Mrs. Hap Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Barbee, Jr., were in Hale Center Thursday of last week to attend funeral services for Thomas J. Barbee, 75, a brother of the late J. H. Barbee of Memphis.

Mr. Barbee, a night watchman for Hale Center firms, had lived in that area for the past 41 years. He farmed until seven years ago.

Mr. Barbee was born Feb. 16, 1887, in Simpson County, Ky. He was a member of the Hale Center Church of Christ.

Other than his nieces and nephews here, he is survived by his wife; two daughters and two sons.

tion of politics as a profession, then for the sake of society and for sake of all high minded, hard working politicians he has insulted, he should stay out of the race, and to the public which he has so apologetically and timidly approached for favore, he should apologize.

If professional politics is not a high and noble calling, then he will not add one whit to its stature nor to his own with this timid apologetic air. His back-handed insult to professionals is to insult some of the greatest names in American history, from George Washington to the present; and to cast the shadow of suspicion on every contemporary office holder from the President to the county level.

If politics is such an ignoble profession that a candidate utters the name shamefacedly and apologetically, that candidate is not the one to improve the public image, nor restore dignity to politics.

Let his remain outside the arena until he has changed his attitude and approach to public office. He is not ready for politics, and the public is not ready for him.

District News

Farmers should consider planting a soil improving crop this spring as the supervisors of the Hall County Soil Conservation District. If you would like to add organic material and nitrogen to the soil there are several different plants that will do this for you.

Hall County Soil Conservation

It is estimated that a good growth of cowpeas such as black-eyes, brown crowder, chinese red, new era, or braham will return approximately 90 pounds of pure nitrogen into the soil, which is a lot of nitrogen fertilizer.

Another good soil building crop that does well in this area is guar. Guar fits well into a conservation cropping system and is adapted to a wide range of soils. All of these soil building crops should be planted about the same time as cotton. Soil improving crops increase the water intake of the soil and the water holding capacity of the soil. Guar also is a crop that is drought resistant and thrives well in hot weather.

Cowpeas and guar can be planted with ordinary farming equipment. Before planting these crops the seed should be inoculated with nitrogen fixing bacteria. This bacteria helps in the forming of nitrogen nodules on the roots of the plant.

If you are interested about information of soil building crops, contact your local Soil Conservation Service Technicians at the Court House in Memphis.

PREVENT ACCIDENTS

More than 700,000 accidents occur each year in home workshops across the country, and many of them can be prevented. To maintain a safe workshop, remember to: padlock power tools when not in use; keep floors free of dirt and oil; follow manufacturer's instructions when using tools; wear gloves when handling rough, abrasive equipment of any kind; wear safety glasses; leave them off around mobile tools; lock the door when the room is not in use, and always keep toddlers out of the workshop.

Texas Highway Department Pioneers Use Of Standard Symbols On Maps

The pioneering Texas Highway Department — originator of a proposal to standardize symbols on state maps for easier understanding by motorists — features some of the new symbols on its 1962 official highway Travel Map. A four-color beauty with "See Texas" as its theme, the new map is now available free to the public.

In 1956, Texas recommended that a standard set of symbols be adopted for use on all state maps — to make the maps easier to read for motorists crossing from one state into another. This proposal was eventually adopted by the American Association of State Highway Officials and within the next few years all official state highway maps will be using these accepted standard symbols. When this standardization is effected, none of the road symbols should be "foreign" to a motorist traveling anywhere in the United States. — provided the map he consults utilizes AASHO symbols.

Such information symbols will make the nation's travel maps easier to read and understand — whether in New York or New Mexico, South Dakota or South Carolina. A quick look at the standard symbols, and the motorist immediately knows what type of highways are available in a given area, as well as many types of other special travel information required by the modern motorist.

Texas Highway Department officials said they plan to adopt all the AASHO highway symbols when the basic travel map is re-issued. They said the basic map probably will be completely redrawn within the next two years.

Chances are the Lone Star State will be the first of the Forty and Ten whose highway department turns out a travel map incorporating all the AASHO symbols.

Use of the AASHO color symbols indicating the network of Interstate, U. S. and State highways, and Farm to Market roads in Texas as keynotes the major changes in the latest edition of the popular travel map.

On the new map, U. S. highways and Farm to Market roads — both formerly indicated in black — are now shown in a red band and a blue band respectively. Shields for U. S. highways remain red; but Farm to Market road shields, which were black, now are "boxes" in blue, too.

Officials of the Texas Highway Department said that markings for the State highways will remain a black band. Also, Interstate Highways will retain their two narrow black bands with a red center. This is the standard symbol for showing the Interstate

Good Minnow Holders

When wade fishing you can make good use of your wife's old nylon stockings. They make great minnow holders.

Fasten the sock to your waders and stick a hole near the top of the stockings so you can reach in after the bait.

First, however, be sure to singe lightly around the opening so the fibers won't run.

Arouse 'Em With Noise

In hot weather when the big bass are too lazy to rise to your lures, try buzzing over the good spots in your boat for 10 or 15 minutes to "wake 'em up and start 'em moving about. This often works.

Clay Keeps Minnows Alive

Clay flowerpots are easily broken. Don't throw away the pieces. Save the fragments for future fishing trips. These clay chips tossed into your minnow bucket now and then will help keep your bait alive. The slow release of trapped air in the clay does the job.

Prevent Boat From Corrosion

When you take your boat out of the water, for storage, turn it bottom side up and clean it thoroughly.

Let the boat dry, then sponge a wet coat of liquid floor wax over it to prevent darkening and corrosion.

SENATOR ☆☆☆ Yarborough's Report

One of the most gratifying experiences of this session of Congress has been the way so many of the best known newspapers have spoken out strongly this year in favor of a National Seashore Recreational Area on Padre Island, off the South Texas Gulf Coast.

I first introduced the bill to create a national park on Padre Island in 1958 and have been fighting for it ever since. This year the bill, S 4, has advanced out of the Senate Committee and is now before the full United States Senate for action.

I'll like you to see what some newspapers are saying about the Padre Island bill. First, let's take this recent comment from The Houston Chronicle, "Congress should pass Senator Yarborough's bill, the President should sign it and the park service should get busy. When it has finished there will be a magnificent park close to Houston—a treasure that can slip away if we fiddle."

Now let's move upstate to Abilene, in Central West Texas, where the Abilene Reporter-News had this to say in an editorial on March 8: "A national seashore on Padre Island would become a major tourist attraction with more than local appeal."

And the Abilene paper adds: "Only national development can achieve this, and there is no reason to back off from it on any political philosophy of federal intrusion into state affairs." The Abilene Reporter-News then pointed to the success of the National Parks Systems in other places and said that the appropriations for Texas State Parks have always been meager.

The Corpus Christi Caller-times summed up the state vs. national development argument in these words, in an editorial on March 9: "... the alternative to the national park is NO park on Padre Island."

The Texas Observer, published in Austin, said in an editorial on March 9: "The time for a showdown on Padre Island has arrived." The Observer has been one of the staunchest, earliest advocates of a Padre Island park, as have been The Houston Press and The Corpus Christi Times.

The Big Spring Herald, in an editorial on March 8 in an editorial paid special attention to the lagging tourist trade. The Big Spring Herald said, "Padre Island, if preserved for future generations, could be one of the great attractions that would draw tourist traffic. Those coming to Texas to it would have to travel almost the full length of the state and thus every town and would benefit."

The New York Times, in an editorial on March 11 said of Padre Island Bill: "Here is one of the finest of our undeveloped shoreline areas that can be saved for the public. Senator Yarborough is sponsor of a good Padre Island bill that has now cleared by committee and is now before the Senate. The plan advocated by the Texas Seashore and in line with the Service recommendations, serves prompt approval."

Fellow Texans, we are in our fight for a Padre Island Park. Let's keep working and fighting. I urge all of you members of the Padre Island National Seashore Area to be good. You can see from these editorials and from radio and television coverage and support your good work by hearing from me in an editorial on the Padre Island Park last March 29. Congressional approval is a long way nearer."

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Johnson, Flomot announce the birth of a son, Darrel Johnson, born March 17 and weighing 7 pounds and 12 ounces.

New Class To Begin For Lady Bowlers Wed.

A class for beginner bowlers will start on Wednesday morning, April 4, at 9:30 a. m., Pop Standish, instructor, announced this week.

The class is for ladies only and instruction will be free to all those who attend as well as bowling.

Standish stressed that the lesson will take up the first fundamentals of bowling, and a person does not need to have bowled previously to attend the class.

An expert trick caster is William S. "Bill" Carter of Dalas. Every fisherman aspires to become an expert caster. But not for the same reason Bill did. Most of us want to master the art in order to place a tempting lure in the exact spot where we think the fish are located.

But not Bill Carter. Actually, although he is an expert caster, Bill Carter doesn't rate himself even as an average fisherman. In fact, he goes fishing very little.

No siree, Bill Carter wanted to become an expert with the casting rod for an entirely different reason. Bill's one and only goal was not to take fish but to catch the eyes of the guys who buy fishing equipment. You see, Bill is a tackle salesman.

So Bill learned how to cast, and to cast expertly. Now he gets the undivided attention of everyone when he takes rod and reel in hand.

Bill learned to cast from every conceivable position. He learned to cast with the reel in his shirt pocket, detached from the rod. He learned to cast with the lure in his hand, on the ground, even between his teeth.

Whether it is a between the legs cast, or his bow and arrow cast, or any of his wide repertoire, all are accurate casts.

Naturally Bill uses a rubber casting plug, without hooks, for his trick casts, for safety reasons. But his bull's-eye accuracy is amazing.

At 20 paces Bill can wind the lure around a person's extended arm—at the elbow, at the wrist, or about the finger, with the ease that comes only from a marksman.

He can flip a cigarette out of a "target's" mouth at 20 paces, without the subject realizing he's been robbed.

So proficient has he become and so frequently is he called upon for demonstrations, that Bill now has devised a black light stunt whereby some of his casting tricks are done with the use of fluorescent and gartron material.

Where did he learn the techniques? When we asked Bill Carter about that he surprised us again. He said, "Indoors, whiling away my time whiting for prospective customers to come to my hotel room to see my display of fishing equipment."

Bill, who is approaching the half-century mark, is now and has been for 20 years, a tackle representative. Not content to sit idly by in a big sample room, waiting for buyers to come view his merchandise, Bill assembled a rod, reel and practice plug and began to practice casting between the rows of his display tables. Then he tried casting between doorways, and down hallways.

Then for variety, he tried different methods of casting. First thing he knew he was demonstrating his products in the aisles of the stores he called on. That's when he began to get the undivided attention of his customers and the store's customers.

It is not unusual for Bill to give as many as 50 trick casting demonstrations a year before service clubs, meetings of outdoorsmen, boy scouts, 4-H and FFA clubs. In fact, his first public demonstration was entertaining veterans in a hospital.

Bill makes no charge for his trick casting demonstrations; "It's good for my business," says Bill "and besides I love to do it."

He makes all sports shows in his sales area, which includes 6 states. In fact, it was at the Dallas News' Sports Show, several years ago, when Bill Carter gave yours truly his first casting demonstration.

Let's first get the idea that Bill never goes fishing, he reminds us that he is a member of the Texas Game Fishing Club and journeys to Canada with the club on its annual pilgrimage, and to Acapulco every year for the Sail Fishing Tournament.

Next to fishing, Bill's love is golf. But even then his mind is on trick casting, for one of his favorite stunts is a trick cast made with a golf club. But he does them with other items, too — such as a landing net, paddle, or a tennis racket.

Although Bill was born in Monticello, Ark., he has lived in Dallas since he was 13 years old. His parents (native Texans) moved back to Texas from Arkansas when Bill was only four. They first lived in Austin where his father, Lee Carter, once played short-stop for the Austin team in the Texas League. It was in Austin where Bill's initial interest in sports developed. His dad, by then, was employed by Caswell & Smith Jewelry Store, now known as C & S Sporting Goods.

Bill's schooling ended upon his graduation from Sunset High School in Dallas, where he lettered in football, baseball and golf.

His first job, naturally, was in a sporting goods store in Dallas. It was a part-time, holiday job, running the elevator for Cullen & Boren, where his father worked for many years.

In 1937 Bill's dad formed Carter & Sons, a tackle representatives business, with his two boys, Bill and Frank as partners. Frank, 11 years younger than Bill, now lives in Atlanta, Ga., where he has his own firm.

Bill's dad passed away three years ago, Carter and Sons now belongs to Bill and three associates.

Bill's advice to those who want to learn to cast with accuracy is to practice, practice, practice. Then go out and try it on the fish.

Sports Corner

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Let's face facts. Fishing is getting tougher and tougher each season. A few years ago it didn't matter if you missed quite a few strikes for you could generally count on getting a lot more, and hooking them. Now, in most places, miss many and you come in skunked, states Jason Lucas, Angling Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. So your ideal should be to miss no strikes.

Of course this, like most ideals, is impossible to achieve; but by aiming high you can come close. The percentage you can hook varies with species, but let's discuss bass, the favorite American game fish and certainly the species that gives many anglers most missed-strike trouble.

What percentage of strikes should you expect to hook on surface lures? That's a tough one to answer, but here's Lucas' score just to give you a goal to shoot for. With a big casting-rod-size plug, there are times when he'll miss only one strike in 20. With poppers, when the bass are hitting on the surface he'll miss considerably less. This is because a bass will take this smaller object completely into its mouth.

Too, when you retrieve a large surface lure rather slowly and steadily, a bass will sometimes splash immediately behind it but without touching it, and if you're not watching closely you'll call it a missed strike, when really, of course, he couldn't have been hooked. By not jerking the thing away when one does this you may get him to follow and splash behind as often as five or six times before he gets close enough to see you and whirl back.

So here's a good trick to remember. Whenever you're missing too many, on either surface lures or underwater, switch to a much smaller lure and you stand an excellent chance to hook all others that hit.

The first test of federal power, the Whiskey Rebellion, came while Washington was president. In 1794, Washington sent troops to crush the uprising by Pennsylvania farmers who refused to pay a federal tax on whiskey.

Wellington, Hedley, Win Volleyball Event

The annual senior volleyball tournament was completed last weekend here with the Dairy Mart team from Wellington winning the boys bracket, and Clifford's Queens from Hedley taking the girls crown.

The Lakeview Men won second place in that bracket, while the Harrison Hall team from Hedley won consolation.

In the women's bracket, the Lelia Lake team took second, while the Lakeview women won the consolation.

Trophies were presented to the first, second and consolation winners.

Memphis Roping Club Reorganized In Meeting Held Here Last Week

By VIRGINIA BROWDER

Twenty-one interested persons met in the room above the Memphis Farmers Co-Op Gin office Monday night for the purpose of reorganizing the Memphis Roping Club.

During the assembly, officers were elected and detailed plans formulated for work sessions on the pens and chutes, and eventual calf roping, bull-riding, and active participation of the members in riding events.

Wayne Stucky was elected president; James Davison, vice president; Lana Worthington, secretary-treasurer; and Virginia Browder, press reporter.

The board of directors, with Lonnie Shawhart as chairman, included James Johnson, Jim Hansard, Orville Spencer, and C. L. Wynns. Arena directors are to be Johnny Palmer and Dick Morgan.

The newly formed club has the approval and blessings of the original roping club members. Considerable repair and preparation on the grounds and pens will be necessary. To begin this work, plans were made for a meeting of the willing laborers with hammer, saws, and nails this Saturday afternoon.

Membership cards will be printed and all interested ropers and riders from neighboring towns and communities will be invited and encouraged to join and help the Memphis members make this organization something to be proud of.

Thursday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoons will be the regular roping and riding meets. The members will discourage all drinking and rowdiness in and

HOW MUCH CHEATING SHOULD YOU TEACH YOUR CHILDREN?

What's the difference between a little white lie . . . and a big vicious one?

If it's all right to fib out of a parking ticket, what's wrong about a fib in school?

And does our national record on income tax day entitle us to look in horror at the epidemic of college cheating?

Most of us learned once what's right. We learned the firm principles held by our families and our Faith. Now it's a question of how well we're teaching our children.

Here is a place where your Church can help strengthen the character you are molding. It's a question of building Faith . . . and you have the answer.

LESLEY NEWS

By Mrs. Tom Scoggins

Howdy, folks: We are right in the thick of a revival as I write this article. Our revival began last Friday night, and as you read today's you will barely have enough time to come to our last service which begins at 7 p. m. tonight. Bro. Harvey Hoffman is doing a wonderful job in preaching God's message to us. This morning there were about 80 people present, and tonight's attendance about 60. The morning's services have been greatly inspiring as Bro. Hoffman has taught from the New Testament in regards to Christian living. Saturday at 6:45 p. m., we hope that all the Lesley young people will meet in front of the church house and go with us to Lelia Lake for a Youth Rally. We have won the banner the last three times. Let's make it four in a row. Hope all of you folks will show up in church this coming Lord's Day. God bless you all.

MINUTE MEDITATION

When at sea in a storm, the disciples of Christ became fearful and cried out saying, "Master, master, we perish. Then he arose, and rebuked the wind and the raging of the water: and they ceased, and the sea was a calm. And he said unto them, Where is your faith? (Luke 8:24, 25)

Faith does not necessarily demand a miracle, but it has often accomplished the impossible, for when faith is most difficult, it is then most essential. If you can believe, all things are within your grasp.

The most precious things in all the world are at hand, even at your finger tips, and they are without money and without price. They are:

1. A good conscience, the penitent believer receives this at baptism. It is given to him along with the knowledge that he is saved from past sins. See 1st Peter 3:21.
2. Understanding, "The entrance of thy words giveth light; it giveth understanding to the simple" (Psalms 119:130).
3. Purity, "Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth" (1st Peter 1:22).
4. A sound mind, "For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power and of love, and of a sound mind" (2nd Timothy 1:7).

Yes, faith leads to all of these things and more, but you must be as active and trustful as the little girl who took an umbrella to a prayer meeting called together to pray for rain.

Faith is man's way of reaching up to God to attain a higher life, and grace is God's means of lifting man to higher ground.

Report From Washington

By WALTER ROGERS
Representative, 18th
Congressional District

Health — Salk Vaccine

of the great achievements of health has been realized in the last ten years. Between 1945 and 1954, there was an estimated 162 cases of paralytic polio per million persons in the United States. This period is used because of the immediate five years prior to the development of Salk vaccine. The Salk vaccine and its availability to all people in all walks of life throughout this country has brought about a reduction in the number of paralytic polio cases. In the year 1952 only 864 cases of paralytic polio were reported. This is a rate of less than one case per million population. The paralytic polio level between 1945 and 1954 would have been at least 100,000 more paralytic cases in the past seven years. The Salk vaccine and the amount of research into its discovery, both government and private investment in polio has been reported to the level of typhoid fever, diphtheria, and other diseases. It has resulted in the saving of at least 7,000 polio deaths. The estimated saving of $300 million in polio medical care and income losses in the seven-year period that Salk vaccine was available. It has also reduced the prevention of thousands of twisted limbs and bodies. It is something that could not be weighed in dollars. It might also be pointed out that there has been a 77 per cent reduction in all polio, whether paralytic or not, including untold cases — a tremendous reduction over one of Man's most serious diseases. Highly significant is the fact that in the age group of 0 to 59, totalling 158 million people, only 38 per cent of the group received no Salk vaccine at all. This attests to the efficiency of the Salk vaccine in eliminating the polio virus from the community.

The National Foundation, in a recent release, stressed the fact that to maintain the present condition with respect to polio, newborn children should be vaccinated. Other citizens who have not yet been vaccinated, of course, have the choice as a personal matter to decide whether or not they will be vaccinated or run the risk of being stricken by the disease. The fact for which we should all be gratefully thankful for is that the Salk vaccine was a success and is presently available. The tremendous progress that was made in developing this vaccine and the present availability of it makes it possible for the National Foundation, as well as other agencies, both in government and private industry, to move forward in the war against other crippling diseases such as birth defects, arthritis, central nervous system disorders, etc.

Our people have had many enemies in many forms, but none so deadly as polio, heart disease, cancer, etc. Hence, our every possible attention should be directed toward the conquest of these problems and others which will be encountered.

Communications Satellites

The Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee is presently hearing several proposals as to how this country should proceed with placing in orbit and utilizing satellites for communications purposes. This means of communication will be one of the greatest steps in the history of communications between Man. It will open many new areas and avenues which will permit Man to communicate anywhere on earth, in almost the flash of an eye. The big controversy is the administration of such a program. Some advocate complete government ownership. They argue that the movement into outer space has been accomplished by tax money furnished by the American taxpayer. Another school of thought is to create a public corporation financed and supported by stock sales to the general public. It is argued that this gets away from government ownership and permits every citizen to have an opportunity to participate in this program. Another approach is actually another version of the public-owned corporation, but provides that several Cabinet officers and sub-Cabinet officers sit on the board of directors. Another approach is the formation of a corporation, all of the stock of which is to be owned by the companies presently engaged in the communications business. Testimony has been taken for some time in an effort to determine the best possible way to move forward on this program with the greatest possible speed. Certainly, every effort must be made to get these communications satellites into orbit before the Soviet Union.

CANDY by Tom Dorr

April, predicts the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. That's a fairly safe prediction. It's based on available stocks in storage, seasonal trends and expected demand, as determined by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with producers and the food trade.

The April list of plentiful foods is headed by ready-to-cook turkey. Marketings of live turkeys this time of year are light. Turkey prices have been the lowest since 1941 so consumption has been unusually heavy. But, despite these facts, supplies are plentiful. So "Turkey for Easter" likely will be economical as well as traditionally appropriate.

April also holds promise of an abundance of milk and eggs as spring production increases. Egg prices already have dropped considerably since the winter high. And with milk plentiful, there'll be huge supplies of the whole family of dairy foods.

Texas homemakers also will want to take advantage of plentiful potatoes, canned freestone peaches, honey and vegetable fats and oils, this April.

Potatoes have been abundant and low priced all winter. The 1961 pack of canned peaches — both cling and freestones — was record large. Honey production totaled 274 million pounds, also a record. And first-of-the-year stocks of salad and cooking oils reached an all-time high of 198 million pounds.

"Ben-Hur" Comes to Local Theaters For Five Showings, April 1 Through 4

"Ben-Hur," one of the most amazing stories in American fiction, will be shown at the local theaters this weekend, Bill Boren, owner, announced this week.

The film, which is four hours long, will show only one time at both the matinee and evening shows. The picture will be shown at the Palace Theater, beginning at 2 p. m. Sunday afternoon and at 8 p. m. Sunday evening; and again Monday night at 8 p. m. And, at the Tower Drive-In, the film will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

"Ben-Hur," written by Lew Wallace, is reputed to have sold more copies than any other book except the Bible. It took Wallace seven years to do the research and the writing of the book, which was published by Harpers in 1880. Although he had not visited the Holy Land before he wrote "Ben-Hur," so thorough has his study been of his sources that when, years later he followed the footsteps of his heroes from Bethany to Jerusalem, he found that his authorities had guided him well. "I find no reason for making a single change in the text of the book," he wrote.

From 1880 to the present time the novel has never been out of print. In 1913, the greatest single order for any book in American publishing history up to that time took place when Sears, Roebuck & Company ordered one million copies.

In 1925, M-G-M made one of the outstanding films of silent days. Thus 46 years after the novel appeared, a new generation became acquainted with Ben-Hur, Messala, Quintus Arrius and the rest of the renowned group of characters.

For this latest "Ben-Hur" the new M-G-M Camera 65 was used to film the production. For the chariot race alone, six highly intricate cameras, each equipped with the costly new lenses, were trained on the latest set ever built and photographed this exciting event in a way that would not have been possible with any of the previously developed methods of photography, the local theater owner said.

"The theme of 'Ben-Hur' is a spiritual and religious one. The emphasis is on brotherhood, freedom of thought, and the spiritual verities—an inspirational message that the troubled world at the present is especially hungry for. The picture presents the epic struggle between faith and paganism. Pagan Rome with its tremendous might tries to overpower right in the form of the old religion—Judaism—and in the form of the new religion arising from it—Christianity. The aggressive majority tries to deny human rights to a brave inspired minority.

"This is a movie you will want to see," Boren said.

Ben-Hur (Charlton Heston), right, and Messala (Stephen Boyd) drink a toast to each other when they meet in Jerusalem for the first time in fifteen years. This is one of the early scenes in Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer's Academy Award-winning "Ben-Hur." The William Wyler presentation was filmed in Italy and other foreign locales in color and M-G-M Camera 65.

Lakeview Lions Club to Sponsor Candidate Speaking

The Lakeview Lions Club is sponsoring a candidate speaking and pie supper on Friday evening, April 6, at 7:30 p. m. in the Grade School auditorium at Lakeview, according to an announcement made this week by the president, Carroll Fowler.

The meeting is open to the public and all the ladies are asked to bring pies which will be auctioned off after the candidate speaking.

The club will furnish free coffee to be served with the pies.

Memphis School Students To See 'Ben-Hur' Monday

A special showing of the film, "Ben-Hur," for students of Memphis Schools is scheduled for Monday, April 2, at the Palace Theater. The show will start promptly at 2:45 p. m. Bill Boren, owner, stated.

The special matinee will be attended by students from the 6th through the 12th grades. Classes for these students will be dismissed in order that members may attend the show.

Students in the same grades at Lakeview were invited to attend. To date it is not known whether they will be able to attend the 2:45 matinee or not. If unable to be present, they will attend the night show, Boren said.

School Elections Will Be April 7

Saturday, April 7, will be the date of the annual school elections all over the county.

Here in Memphis, the candidates for the two positions open are H. R. Stevenson, R. B. Phillips, L. J. Kennon and Joyce Webster.

Lakeview Exes To Hold Meeting On April 21

The Lakeview High School Ex-Students and Ex-Teachers Association will hold a Homecoming April 21, according to an announcement this week by Katrina Nabers, publicity chairman of the organization.

The event will be held in the Lakeview Grade School Auditorium beginning at 11 a. m. A noon luncheon is planned as well as an evening meal.

Complete plans for the event will be announced at a later date.

Mrs. John Clark and children of Dallas are visiting here this week with their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hays and Mrs. R. E. Clark. Mr. Clark brought his wife and children to Memphis and was a visitor here over the weekend.

somewhere and bask in God's sunshine, and watch the birds as they flit from tree to tree, how many dandelions bloomed since yesterday, or listen to the sweet music of the mocking bird as he perches on the highest place and when he gets to the highest note flies straight up for a few feet, then back down to his perch for a few extra trills. Then comes the next day with its chilly wind and perhaps some dust propelled by the dying kicks of winter. And so it goes with the other two seasons vying with all their might—one to keep living and the other to start living and growing. This battle still goes on, but winter is gasping and spring is growing a bit stronger as it tries day by day to harden its muscles and to grow the green things that for several months make this country beautiful, livable and delightful. Who would want to live elsewhere?
P. S.: Winter drank a whole pepper-upper last night, so is kicking up his heels today.
