Pony League, Wellington To Play Here Tonight

The Pony League will meet a colored team from Wellington at Estes Park Thursday evening (tonight), Joe Williams, manager of the team, announced this week.

Up to now, all scheduled games have been rained-out, Williams said. However, the boys have been getting in some practice and look good, he added.

The team from Wellington has the reputation of being fast and furious, the manager said.

The Memphis team is scheduled to meet the Hedley team at Hedley Monday night.

The public is invited to come out and see the games.

Yankees Ahead In Little League

The Yankees took an early lead as the play began in the Little League program here and now have a record of four straight wins, Jerry Burnett, coordinator of the program, said this week.

In games played Tuesday night the Yankees downed the Indians by a score of 21 to 2. In the second game that night, the Tigers won over the Giants 13 to 12. The Giants were ahead, 12 to 11, as the last half of the ninth inning came up, and then Joe David McWhorter hit a double for the Tigers, driving in two runs and giving his team the win.

Last Friday the Tigers beat the Indians 13 to 4. The same night the Yankees won over the Giants 13 to 1.

Friday night the Giants will meet the Yankees at 6:30 p. m. at the park, located near the football field. The second game, between the Tigers and the Indians, will get underway immediately after the first, about 8 p. m.

There will be make-up games played Saturday night when the Indians will meet the Giants at 6:30 p. m. and the Yankees meet the Tigers about 8 p. m. The games were originally scheduled for Tuesday, June 5, but were rained out.

Entries should be mailed to Loran Denton, Box 397, Turkey.

A total of 1.23 inches of moisture fell during the past week as showers cruised over the county almost every evening.

Memphis caught measurable amounts Friday night when .98 of an inch accumulated and then Sunday night when another .25 of an inch fell.

The showers have been varied all over the area.

Sand storms earlier this year destroyed some county cotton and then later rain and hail destroyed other crops.

Estimates are that between 30 and 40 per cent of the total cotton crop will have to be replanted as soon as fields are dry enough.

With the drying trend the last two or three days the harvesting of wheat has begun again and, if good weather continues, should be completed in a few days.

The low temperature this morning was 65 degrees, according to John J. McMickin, official weather observer. Other temperatures extremes were, Wednesday 85-65, Tuesday 88-63, Monday 88-61, Sunday 90-61, Saturday 80-61, Friday 80-60.

Girl Scouts To Hold Day Camp Next Week

The Memphis Girl Scouts will spend five days at their regular Summer Day Camp beginning Monday, June 18, Mrs. Elmont Branigan, publicity chairman, announced this week.

The group will leave the Carnegie Library by 8 o'clock each morning and return at 4 o'clock each afternoon with the exception of Thursday. On this day, the group will leave after lunch, and spend the afternoon preparing camp for visitation.

The Girl Scouts and their leaders extended a cordial invitation to their parents and friends, and anyone interested in the program to attend the camp Thursday evening, Mrs. Branigan said.

The program will begin about 6 p. m.; however, everyone is invited to come early in order to visit the numerous camps and exhibits.

"The Wonderful World of Nature" is the theme for this summer's camp activities. Plans are being made to study nature and make sand casts using leaves, etc. A number of girls will make feeding stations and bird houses.

To date, approximately 44 Girl Scouts have registered for the camp, including eight girls from Clarendon. Mrs. Brode Hoover, camp director, announced seven adults have volunteered to help with the program.

The Day Camp will be held at the Giles Picnic area. Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Houston have graciously consented for the girls to use their land. The bountiful shade, sandy soil and running stream make this spot a perfect place to carry on the activities of a camping program, Mrs. Hoover said.

Each leader is to bring a rake, hoe, shovel, old broom, hammer, gloves, coping saw, large water can (preferably with push button spout), memo pad and pencil.

Each Girl Scout is to bring a sack lunch, clothes pin with name, drinking cup, towel for wading, straw hat for hikes.

group of daily newspaper has come up with a code similar to weekly newspapers code as practiced in Memphis. The code is a good work for all newspapers and a nutshell has been made for 59 years. Here are the things suggested: 1. Maintain vigorous standards of news and fair play; exert every effort to print the truth in all situations; guard against carelessness or distortion; emphasize or omission; nature and considered judgment in the public interest at all times; edit and display news on the basis of its significance to the community; and vigorously support the public interest in crusades to improve the good works and eliminate the bad in the community; protect all rights and privileges guaranteed by law. 2. Sum it up, this guide for newspaper should be given: "A good newspaper should be guided in the selection of all material by a search for truth, the hallmark of journalism, by a concern for the human betterment, and respect for the accepted standards of its own community."

The Hill-Burton Program

For over two years, the Hill-Burton program of federal aid has been much in the news, as citizens of Hall County discussed future health needs and care for this area. In the midst of misunderstanding, statements and mis-statements, which has been with us during past months, a slight clarification is needed.

As is recognized, the Hill-Burton program, as far as it pertains to this state, is administered by the Division of Hospital Services at the State Department of Health, Austin. The program is guided by plans recommended by the State Advisory Council. The nine-member State Board of Health guides the program.

The Hill-Burton hospital and medical facilities survey and construction program was established by the Hill-Burton Act of 1947. The program is a unified local-state-federal effort to provide financial assistance to areas with the greatest need for supplementary hospital and medical facilities.

Funds grants may be made under the program up to 50 per cent of total construction costs. Among those facilities that may be constructed which may become eligible under the program are: general, mental, tuberculosis and chronic disease hospitals, public health centers, diagnostic and treatment facilities, rehabilitation units, and nursing homes. Main point to be considered is that of construction cost, and local funds must be provided to pay the balance (50 per cent or more).

To be eligible for Hill-Burton assistance, a facility must fulfill a community need and must be sponsored by a private nonprofit organization, or by a city, county, state or other political subdivision. Projects may consist of completely new buildings or the remodeling or enlarging of existing facilities.

Hall County's application for federal aid under the Hill-Burton program was made under the above qualifications. Approval was announced last week by Congressman Walter Rogers.

Texas began its participation with the construction of the Dimmit Memorial Hospital in Carrizo Springs, a 28-bed general hospital, which opened Sept. 3, 1949. Since then, construction has been completed on 162 nonprofit hospitals with the assistance of Hill-Burton fund grants. In addition to these finished projects, nine rehabilitation units, 12 public health centers, and nine diagnostic and treatment centers have been put into operation.

The program has also provided financial assistance toward the purchase of special equipment for five laboratories and hospital improvement projects. The opening of the cerebral palsy treatment center in Houston about eight months ago brought to nearly 200 the number projects completed in Texas under the Hill-Burton hospital and medical facilities survey and construction program.

In Summary at the end of 1961, over 12,000 general hospital beds, 350 nursing home beds, and 550 beds for mental patients have been made available to ailing Texans. These were made available by virtue of a financial partnership in which this state has participated since the Act was passed in 1947.

The above information was compiled by the Information Service of the Texas State Department of Health.

The Battle To Obtain Industry

Leaders in Memphis and Hall County, since the end of World War II have intensified efforts to obtain industries. Much time, effort and money has been expended toward this goal.

This move is being repeated in every city and town in Texas, and is being brought about by the desire of certain established factories in the north and east to move elsewhere.

Reasons for this trend was discussed last year by Roger W. Babson, one of the nation's financial experts. Among the points made by the writer are these:

High labor costs due to unionism; high state taxes; over-population; too great a distance from raw materials; workers who don't want to work and who do not respect their employers; state and local officials who are unfriendly to industry; and lack of a desire to help newcomers.

These points are recognized by many forward-looking individuals, who are trying to establish a local climate which will be acceptable to the eastern and northern factory owner. Industries established in Texas during the last 18 years are proof of this.

A point of importance is that owners and their wives are looking for localities where the executives, workers and their wives will be glad to live.

The battle to obtain industries is just beginning in Texas. Some cities have established industrial foundations, which take their capital from community leaders who are interested in seeing their own grow. Others are recognizing a more potent financial weapon which is being established in some northern and southern cities to obtain money, which, in turn, is used to obtain new industries. This is the issuance of municipal revenue bonds for new industries. Very little has been heard in Texas of this kind of capital for new industries, but it may be in the news within the next few years. The reason for this is that the northern and eastern industrial centers are turning to this method of obtain the necessary money to obtain new factories.

We do not endorse this program at this time, but submit it as one of the facets of the struggle to obtain new payrolls. It is well to remember that industries move to those places where they can get the things which they need most. And uppermost on the list is the need for capital. After all, money must be expended in huge amounts before a finished product can be sold.

Whatever the future may hold, citizens of this community will furnish the leadership to analyze the problems, and will work for their solution.

Efficiency Limit

Scarcities — of jobs, of the necessities, of opportunity to develop to the fullest — still are at the base of many present day problems. Rich as this country is, it has not abolished poverty and distress.

Yet it is a fact that, increasingly, abundance rather than scarcity is found at the heart of many of our current dilemmas.

As industry, science and medicine plunge on, producing a torrent of new discoveries, scarcity problems by the score are solved — only to be superseded by new difficulties inherent in abundance. We are embarrassed by the rich yields of our farms. Even when our steadily expanding industrial plant operates well below capacity we can flood the market with a wide variety of consumer products from television sets to room air conditioners.

We are putting so many automobiles into circulation that cities are hard pressed to provide parking space and highway authorities must spend billions yearly to try to keep the cars moving freely.

Our booming population is another "embarrassment of riches." Census figures make it plain that this soaring spiral results not so much from a rise in birth rates as a drop in death rates. A root here are our remarkable gains in combating disease and providing better nutrition.

No one has even calculated what might happen to the population curve if long sought cures for cancer and major heart ailments were suddenly to be accomplished.

Should we try to slow down the racing scientific revolution, which seems to be bringing us at least as many new problems as it eliminates old ones?

Surely no scientists would suggest it, and probably few if any leaders in any walk of life would propose a brake on scientific advancement. The always thoughtful Dr. Glenn Seaborg, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, speaks on this point:

"To limit science would be to limit the whole spirit of freedom. How shall we select what questions we can ask safely? How can we predetermine what we shall allow ourselves to learn and what to leave in darkness?"

Any such course would be more than a perilous muzzling of human curiosity. It could put a heavy damper on human hope.

Who is to say that men, having struggled for centuries with the problems of scarcity, are not ready to trade them for the dilemmas of abundance — even though these latter be deadly serious in their way?

Some scientists say we will be forever trading one set of problems for another. Yet few people are likely to regard that as a good argument for settling down permanently with their old problems.

The pace of change is itself a difficulty. But with change also goes hope — hope that in the exchange of problems the net burden on mankind may be lightened, even if only a little.

Ted's Victory

Edward M. Kennedy, 30-year-old brother of President Kennedy and better known as Ted, gave the Kennedy family another political victory when he won endorsement of the Massachusetts Democratic convention as the party candidate for senator. His convention opponent, Edward J. McCormack, nephew of House Speaker John McCormack, will challenge Kennedy for the nomination in the September primary. The convention action gave Kennedy the advantage of approval of the party organization.

The Massachusetts contest is for the seat now held by Senator Benjamin Smith, who was appointed to fill the Senate vacancy left by John F. Kennedy when he resigned to take the presidency. Senator Smith is not a candidate. The Kennedy-McCormack contest is one of names. Both names are prominent in Massachusetts politics. But young Kennedy is with the majority right now. One of his brothers is President and the other is attorney general. If Ted makes it to Washington there will be three Kennedy brothers in high office there. It is not uncommon for attorney generals to be appointed to the Supreme Court. If Attorney General Robert Kennedy gets there it could mean one of the Kennedy brothers in each of the three branches of the government.

The White House has taken no official part in the Massachusetts race. But its interest is natural

Report From Washington

By WALTER ROGERS
Representative, 18th
Congressional District

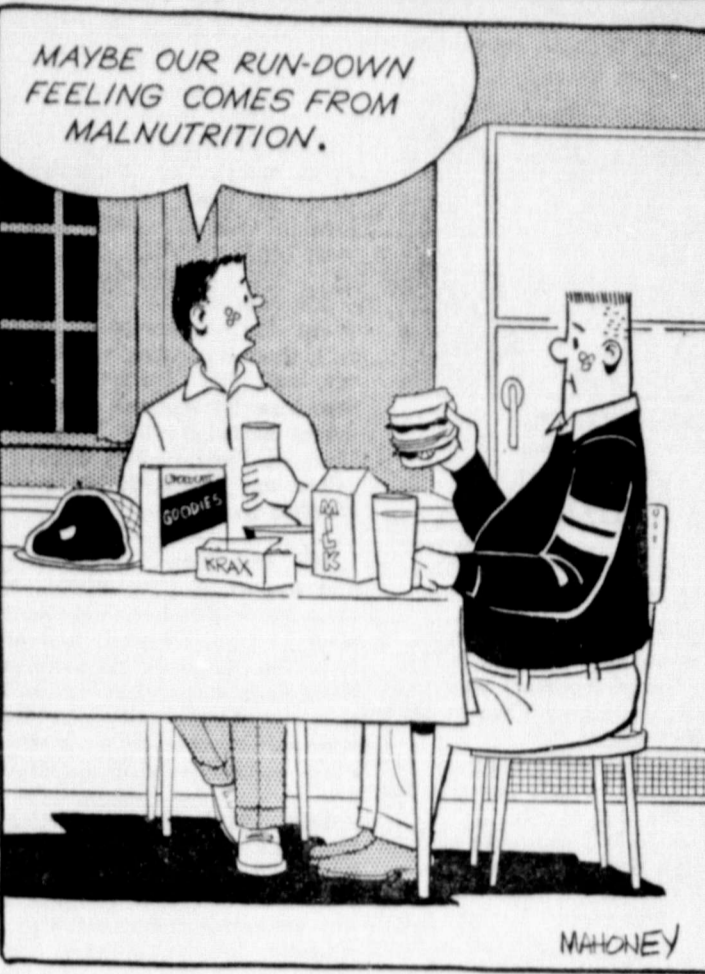

Our Country
Recent months there has been a noticeable increase in bitter and acerbic criticism directed against the government of the United States of America. This is not a new phenomenon. It has occurred many times in our history and will, no doubt, occur many more times. It is the basic strength of our government. It proves that constructive criticism is offered properly utilized, great benefits can be the result. It proves that full and complete expression within the confines of the laws guaranteed under the Constitution can be enjoyed by people without the danger of revolution. It proves that the best safeguards against authoritarianism or dictatorship are those who were the authors of the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, and the Bill of Rights had Divine assistance in creating the greatest government ever conceived in the history of man. History records no other example in the field of political science.

has been amended 23 times. Actually, only 13 times, because the first 10 amendments to the Constitution are what we commonly know as the Bill of Rights. This great document has been attacked almost daily since its inception. It has successfully weathered all the storms and will weather many more. It has been stretched and strained by every conceivable argument, but stands today as the bedrock of the government of free men. It is the perfect answer to Communism or any other ideology of those who would subject mankind to slavery.

There are, no doubt, many imperfections in our form of government, as well as in other segments in the life of man. Constructive criticism should always be directed at the correction of those imperfections, and especially should this be done with regard to the governmental processes by which man must live. However, it must be appreciated that man is not perfect, and probably will never be perfect.

In weighing our way of life, what it is, what it does, and what we would like it to be, we must not lose sight of our blessings.

HALF-PAST TEEN

The United States of America stands today as the foremost Nation in the history of the world in providing the many freedoms which man enjoys, as well as the material things that contribute so measurably to provide a pleasant life span. Those who would condemn our free enterprise economic system, and our government need only to look to the obvious to see a full, complete, and clear picture of the blessings that we in this country enjoy. The comparison with other countries in what we know as the free world reflects benefits which we accept in every day life, that are not even remotely hoped for in other nations. When compared with the Communist or Communist Satellite Nations, the picture is like night and day. All of the automobiles in the 16 Soviet Republics wouldn't make a good-sized traffic jam in New York City. All of the television sets wouldn't provide the needs of one good apartment complex in Chicago. All of the automatic washing machines wouldn't meet the needs of one of our medium-sized cities. (This would be interpreted in Russia as meaning that American cities and our people are dirty.) In that regard, it

L. B. Johnson Will Dedicate Plant At Mission

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson will dedicate the 75-million-per-week sterile fly plant at Mission, headquarters of the Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program, on Saturday, June 16.

Dedication ceremonies begin at 10 a. m. at the plant, Moore Air Force Base, 14 miles north of Mission. Also included in the day's program will be tours of the plant before production and security regulations are started the following day.

The plant, built with funds contributed by individual livestock producers and sportsmen through the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation, is being dedicated to the improvement of the Southwest livestock industry.

"We are very pleased that Vice President Johnson will take part in the dedication ceremonies," C. G. Scruggs, president of the SWAHRF, said. "This is a program for the entire Southwest. Stockmen and sportsmen in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, and New Mexico will receive tremendous benefits from the eradication of the most costly livestock pest confronting them. Vice President Johnson can speak for stockmen and others interested in the program from this wide area."

"This day will be a milestone in the history of the Southwest livestock industry," Scruggs added. "Completion of the plant is the climax of one of the most intensive voluntary efforts ever made by stockmen anywhere. Their funds built the plant and it is being dedicated to the improvement of their industry."

Officials of the Texas Animal Health Commission and the Animal Disease Eradication Division, U. S. Department of Agriculture, cooperating agencies in the program, will also take part in the dedication. Governors from the five states and the Secretary of Agriculture of Mexico have been invited.

The plant is actually a "fly factory." It covers 75,000 square feet, will employ 500 people working in three shifts every 24 hours for seven days a week, and is designed to produce from 50 to 75 million sterile screwworm flies each week of the year. Every operation is timed to coincide with the normal life cycle of the screwworm.

Livestock producers and sportsmen from the entire Southwest are invited and urged to take part in this ceremony and inspect the plant built with their own funds.

One of Alexander Hamilton's first acts as U. S. Treasurer was to borrow $20,000 from the Bank of New York in order to start the business of the United States.

Commissioners Hear Discussion of Coyote Problem

The only item other than routine business to come before the Commissioners Court Monday was a discussion of the need to reduce the coyote population.

Several ranchers from the southern part of the county and two federal wildlife specialists met with the court.

The group explained that the problem of coyote killing stock was growing, and asked the court to look into the possibility of entering into a cooperative program with the federal government to employ a trapper.

It was explained that under the program the county would pay 60 per cent ($250) per month, and then the balance of the trapper's salary would be paid by the federal government.

The Commissioners discussed the problem and then decided to take the matter up with the citizens in their precincts before arriving at a decision. Anyone desiring to express an opinion on the subject should contact their commissioner, it was announced.

In other business, the Court approved the bills and reports and transferred some funds to a sinking fund account.

Betty Jean Foxhall Becomes Bride of Lt. G. C. Clement

Miss Betty Jean Foxhall and Lieutenant Gregory Charles Clement of Fort Campbell, Kentucky, exchanged marriage vows in the Church of the Holy Trinity in Dallas Tuesday at 11 o'clock in the morning in a double ring ceremony. The Rev. William J. Stack performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lesley Foxhall of Memphis. Lieutenant Clement is the son of Mrs. Gregory Charles Clement of Galveston and the late Mr. Clement.

Altar flowers were white gladioli. Baskets of palms and white gladioli and candelabra holding white tapers stood on either side of the altar.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white silk satin with an oval neckline and three-quarter length sleeves, complemented by short white kid gloves. Small flowers, leaf and scroll designs of seed pearls and bugle beads enhanced the bodice and bouffant princesses panelled skirt which extended to a chapel length train.

The waist length veil was of imported white silk illusion and hung from a coil of white satin accented with a scroll design of seed pearls and crystal beads. The bride carried a bouquet of white gardenias and stephanotis.

Miss Anne Maples of Graham, Texas, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the Misses Sara Jo and Lynn Foxhall, sisters of the bride.

The attendants wore dresses of pale yellow organza with sabrina necklines and gathered circular skirts. They carried lavender Dutch iris bouquets. Their yellow organza pillbox coifs were circled with short yellow tulle veils.

The bride's mother wore a champagne colored sheer dress designed with a tucked and lace embossed bodice. Her hat was frosted green and her accessories champagne. The groom's mother wore a blue organza dress designed with graduated tucks. Her accessories were white. Their corsages were cymbidium orchids.

Best man was Daniel R. Clement of Fort Campbell, Kentucky, brother of the groom. Groomswere Lesley Neal Foxhall of Memphis, brother of the bride, and John P. Clement of Galveston, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Clement, who attended schools in Memphis, is a graduate of Southern Methodist University. She is a Kappa Alpha Theta. Gamma Kappa Chapter Members Attend State Convention In Austin

Six members of the Gamma Kappa Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society were in Austin from June 8-10 to attend the 33rd annual convention. Headquarters for the convention was the Driskill Hotel.

Going from the local chapter were Mrs. Anna May Foster, president, Miss Alma Bruce, Miss Margaret McElreath, Mrs. Reba Strohle, Miss Zady Belle Walker and Mrs. Brunetta Morris.

One of the highlights of the convention was the Founder's Dinner on Saturday evening.

When 12 women met in Austin 33 years ago to form a "society" of women teachers, even the most ambitious of them never dreamed the organization by 1962 would grow to 81,000 members reaching the world, it was reported.

That's what Delta Kappa Gamma Society has done, and that's what was celebrated Friday night in Austin when some 1,000 of these members met at the Stephen F. Austin Hotel to pay tribute to the presidents, delegates reported.

Mrs. Anna May Foster was among the 160 presidents of local chapters who marched in an impressive "procession of presidents," carrying lighted red candles in an hour-long pageantry.

Miss Zora Ellis, Talladega, Ala., international president of Delta Kappa Gamma, spoke, warning the members not to be satisfied with past accomplishments—which have included this phenomenal growth in membership, the founding of a large number of scholarships, and the ending of many discriminations against women teachers.

Another outstanding speaker on the program was Mrs. Funah Temple Holden of DeLand, Fla.,

Exchange Student Writes Letter To Local Citizens

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE CITIZENS OF MEMPHIS

As my stay in Memphis is coming to a close, I now realize how attached I have become to this country, so strange to me when I arrived a little less than a year ago; and to you, the citizens of my second home town, who by your positive attitude or your financial contributions to the American Field Service have made my stay here possible.

The main purpose of the American Field Service program is not to give students from abroad a year's vacation in the U.S.A., although this has certainly been a very enjoyable one to me. The main purpose is to develop and maintain a better understanding among the people of the world; and we hope that this program then will be a step toward peace.

I have tried to give you a true picture of my country and to explain our heritage and our actions based upon it to you through little speeches to local groups and organizations. As I have been a representative of Denmark to you, so will I be a representative of the U.S.A. when I return to Denmark. I promise you that I shall do my best to give as true and positive a picture of your country as I have tried to give you of my own. This will be easy to do, for I have come to love this country very much, and feel that it is my second home. My stay here has shown me a very favorable picture of the United States. This picture which I carry in my heart shows a little community, where true Christianity, munificence and friendliness prevail.

I am in unpayable debt to the

W. H. Reed family and the O. L. Helm family, who so graciously opened their homes and allowed me to become a member of their families. I am also very grateful to the American Field Service Chapter of Memphis, and to all the people, who by your financial contributions, gifts, smiles and encouragement, have helped to make this year a successful and unforgettable one. To leave Memphis will to me be like a death without resurrection, for I will not have another Memphis; while you will be having another Exchange Student. It is my sincere hope that you will make this program continue through the years, for I believe in it as a way to peace; the hope of mankind.

Sincerely,
Solvejg Bager

Why does GAS give you the only "family-duty" REFRIGERATOR?

Gas refrigerators are built to work better, last longer — and for less! You know they can take it — and here's why:

LONGEST WARRANTY ON THE MARKET — Family-planned 10-year warranty on the sealed GAS system is twice as long as any other — backed by reliable Lone Star Gas Service.

MONEY-SAVING OPERATION — Refrigeration costs less because it's GAS! Fewer moving parts to wear in the Gas system mean lower repair costs and less worry than with compressor types.

ICE DISPENSER MODELS, NEVER ANY FROST in frost-free models. Ice is always fingertip-handly in the server basket. No frost forms in continuous-cold GAS refrigerator-freezers. Big zero-degree freezer is a separate compartment. GAS refrigerator prices are the lowest ever.
