Industry Looks To Rural Areas
The Wall Street Journal relates in some detail of industry away from big metropolitan areas and small communities and this ought to perk up spirits of the Perryton.

Perryton needs is a dose of basic employment—the jobs that bring in outside money and in turn creates and circulates money in the community. The Wall Street Journal says that corporations once built mainly in big manufacturing centers to be close to customers and a big labor pool. In recent years, many have turned to out-of-the-way towns and from the number is expanding.

companies which set up plants in rural areas find that are actually lowered. The savings are primarily in land and labor and reduced taxes.

New York City now has only 19 plants employing as many workers. Before the war there were 42. The arrival of new industry to smaller towns has saved rural towns from economic stagnation by absorbing displaced by farm mechanization. Petition Has 78 Signers

The news story published in last week's issue of The Democrat which stated that the petition presented to the Memphis City Council was signed by 37 citizens was in error. The petition requested the Council to call for a bond election for the purpose of constructing a public building.

Actually, two petitions were circulated and presented, and the total number of signers was 78, instead of 37. The reporter saw only one of the two petitions presented to the Council, and that one contained 37 signatures.

Action on the petitions, along with detailed information on the issue will be presented at the Dec. 4 meeting of the City Council.

Season Ginning Total Reaches 17,577 Bales

Ginning in Hall County continued this week at a steady pace, with most of the bales gathered by mechanical means, reports from the 14 county gins indicated Thursday.

County gins processed 17,577 bales of cotton as of this morning. Gin managers reported that Wednesday and early Thursday, were the heaviest ginning days of the year so far, and most of them believed that—if dry weather holds—farmers will begin gathering the crop in earnest.

K. E. Voelkel, officer in charge of the Cotton Classing Office in Memphis, reported this week that cotton quality improved and market activity increased slightly. He also said that the Memphis office received two new classes, giving the office a total of eight. The office is at full strength now. The new classes are Charley Routh of Trenton, Tex., and Albert E. Browning of Winnsboro, La. Routh was a classer at the Memphis office in 1959.

One new clerk has been added. She is Mrs. Nathan Hughes of Estelline.

Voelkel said that white grades increased with 21 per cent compared with 14 per cent the previous week. About 67 per cent of the samples classed light spotted, and 12 per cent fell in the spotted and other grades category. The predominating grade continues to be middling light spotted with 26 per cent.

A slight increase was noted in the average staple length. A smaller percentage stapled 29-32 inch and shorter, and, an increase

Homecoming Activities Set For This Weekend

Commissioners Discuss Road Improvement Mon.

The primary topics of discussion before the Hall County Commissioners Court Monday at their regular monthly meeting were highways and roads.

Meeting with the Commissioners Court was Mayor H. J. Howell and Palmer Massey, district engineer, Texas Highway Department.

Mr. Massey stated that he had been contacting the Commissioners Courts in Hall, Donley, Childress and Hardeman counties on the possibility of making U. S. Highway 287 a four-lane, divided highway across these counties.

He said that traffic on the highway is expected to increase during the next few years, and that if it does, an emergency program would have to be instituted.

However, he said, if the counties would start laying the ground work now for the improvement of Highway 287, and as rights-of-way could be obtained and money from the Texas Highway Commission set aside (of which there is none available at this time, he said), the highway could be improved over a longer period of time, and problems could be ironed out at a much more satisfactory solution for both parties.

The Commissioners approved a motion for the County Judge to accompany the judges from the other three counties to Austin. In Austin, the men will meet with the Texas Highway Commission, and make an effort to obtain permission for preliminary surveys to be made on the four-county project.

Mayor Howell and a delegation of the Memphis City Council met with the Court and discussed city streets on and near the county's property on the northwest side of Memphis in the vicinity of the hospital site. The Court approved the extension of Greenwood Street and Delaney Street west of 18th Street to run across the county property, to connect with, and provide access roads to the industrial site property. The industrial site property contains 30 acres, and is located west of the county's property. Other proposed roads were discussed, but no action was taken.

The Commissioners approved the paying of the bills and accepted the reports before adjourning.

Jaycees To Collect Toys For Christmas

The Memphis Jaycees are sponsoring a "toy" drive continuing from now until Christmas to collect toys which have been discarded or are in need of mending, according to Calvin Todd, chairman.

Members of the Jaycees will mend the toys and distribute them to needy children for Christmas.

Anyone having toys is asked to call 259-2400 and a member of the Jaycees will pick them up, or toys may be left at the City Barber Shop, Todd said.

Highlighting the Memphis Homecoming this weekend will be the Cyclone-Clarendon Bronchos football game at 7:30 p. m. Friday night at Cyclone Stadium, and the pre-game crowning of the MHS Homecoming Queen, Miss Paula Gentry, at 7:15 p. m.

Queen Gentry and her court, Miss Nancy Mothershed and Miss Carol Smith, will be escorted by the Cyclone Tri-captains, Dwight Gailey, Rex Grisham and Jacky Bridges.

The Memphis Cyclone Band will assist the tri-captains in the crowning ceremonies.

Kay Wines, head cheerleader of Memphis High School, announced this week that plans are underway to have a giant pep rally on the south side of the County Courthouse Square, beginning at approximately 3 p. m. Speeches will be made, the Memphis Band will be on hand along with the MHS student body. The assembly will be led in cheers for the benefit of the Cyclone squad.

The four cheerleaders are Kay Wines, Jimmie Ward, Gayle Widener and Lynn Philpot. Their mascot is Sherry Davis, who is five years old.

All Memphis ex-students are invited to attend the pep rally Friday afternoon and to attend the noon luncheon in the Travis Cafeteria, Hubert Jones, president, announced.

The luncheon meeting is the annual get-together preceding the Homecoming game and at which time ex-students are guests of the school, Mr. Jones said.

During the business session the nominating committee will bring a recommended slate of officers, for the coming year, and new officers will be elected. All ex-students are urged and encouraged to meet their classmates at the luncheon.

Dance Planned
A Homecoming dance for all MHS students and exes is being planned for Saturday night, beginning at 8 p. m. at the Memphis Country Club, it was announced this morning.

"The Dimensions," a band composed of Dick Morgan, Brady Durrett, Larry Craig and Jimmy Fields, will provide the music for the dance. There will be no charge for the dance, and it is sponsored by parents of several high school students.

Missionary Baptist Church To Hold Dedication Service

The Missionary Baptist Church will hold its dedication service Sunday, Nov. 18, at 2:30 p. m., according to an announcement this week.

Pastor Billy Hill of Calvary Baptist Church of Clarendon will bring the message.

The public is extended a cordial invitation to attend.

Memphis To Play Clarendon In Homecoming Game Friday

The Memphis Cyclone will go on the field Friday night with a two-win, two-loss district record, and to add another win to their total at the expense of the second-place Clarendon Bronchos.

The game will be played at Cyclone Stadium, and will start at 7:30 p. m.

The Bronchos have lost only one district game. They will be coming to Memphis to spoil the Cyclone's homecoming.

The Clarendon team uses a strong-side offense and favors the right side. In the past, they have run most plays in the off-tackle and outside the end positions. The Bronchos key backs will be the quarterback, McAnear, Fullback Elmore and Halfback Graham. The right side is favored because of their fine tackle, No. 11, Gray, who weighs 210, and their guard, No. 72, Hearn.

In over-all team weight, the Cyclone, even though their 220-tackle, James Carrol, who was injured in the Lefors game, will have a slight weight advantage in both the line and the backfield.

Carrol will be replaced in the lineup by sophomore Jerry Beasley.

The Bronchos have the advantage in the speed department.

There will be six Cyclone seniors in the game who will see action for the last time Friday night. The Cyclone's tri-captains, Dwight Gailey, Rex Grisham and Jacky Bridges, along with Wayne Sweatt, Keith Graham and Dale Sexton will be the backbone of Memphis's defensive unit. Grisham will call the defensive signals for the squad.

The Bronchos like to run traps up the middle, off tackle power plays, and their sweeps around end include quick pitches, power plunges, roll-outs, boot-legs and sprint-outs.

Coach Don Lambert said Wednesday that Toby Crooks would start in the Cyclone backfield at left halfback, Dwight Gailey will be in the fullback position, and Bill Pounds will play right halfback. Jimmy Sturdevant will be the quarterback.

Linemen will include End Jim Odom, Tackle Jerry Beasley, Guard Jerry Lowe, Center Donnie Bridges, Guard Rex Grisham, Tackle Dale Sexton and End Jacky Bridges.

Coach Lambert said that the Clarendon Bronchos are the same team they were last year, personnel-wise, but have shown much improvement. He said the Broncho backfield runs hard and their tail back, Elmore, who weighs 175 pounds, is one of the better ball carriers Memphis will face this year.

The last game of the season for both clubs should prove to be one of the better ones since both are evenly matched.

Representatives Of The People

Now that the ballots have been counted, and the people have decided who will represent them in the nation's capital next session, the role of lobbyists will again become important.

Again next January, big groups of lobbyists will be plying their trade to influence the votes of Representatives and Senators. They are the hired hands of just about every special interest group in this country.

As one Congressman put it: There are paid spokesmen for just about everybody . . . everybody, that is, but the people. The one group lacking any organized representation is that composed of consumers, and, in one way or another, that includes the biggest percentage of Americans.

To whom do the average citizens depend upon to look after their interests? The answer is simple. They are those same men and women in the House and Senate, and the members of the administration. It has always been this way, and history shows that the public generally gets pretty fair representation.

Paramount concern of the people is "price." This means how much the housewife pays for the thousands of items needed to maintain the health and well-being of the family. Also, price is the determining factor of the farmer and businessman, as well as those persons who hire others to work for them in the form of wages. Also, the tag may be hung upon the money which is handed to tax collectors, all the way from the local school district on to the Treasury Department.

If the majority of the people voted wisely Nov. 6, they will have sent to Washington representatives who will consider their problems in a fair manner. When the next session of Congress begins, the paid lobbyists will be active as in the past. They will be working to get votes for their "special interest" group. If enough votes can be obtained, then their association, organization or group will have received preferred treatment at the hands of the lawmakers.

This is not to condemn the lobbyists in the nation's capital. They are a part of the scheme of things in our way of legislating the needs and wants of our citizens. Most of them fulfill a need in that they have assembled a vast amount of information and material which is made available to our lawmakers. This is considered carefully, but at the same time the wishes of that vast group—the consumers—will not be forgotten.

Some Quick Conclusions

Drawing conclusions from elections is almost as risky as betting on the outcome of 'em.

But it seems reasonably safe to draw a couple of conclusions, at least tentatively, from Tuesday's general election in Texas. One is that the Republican Party in Texas is a force to be reckoned with in future elections and we are, in effect, now a two-party state.

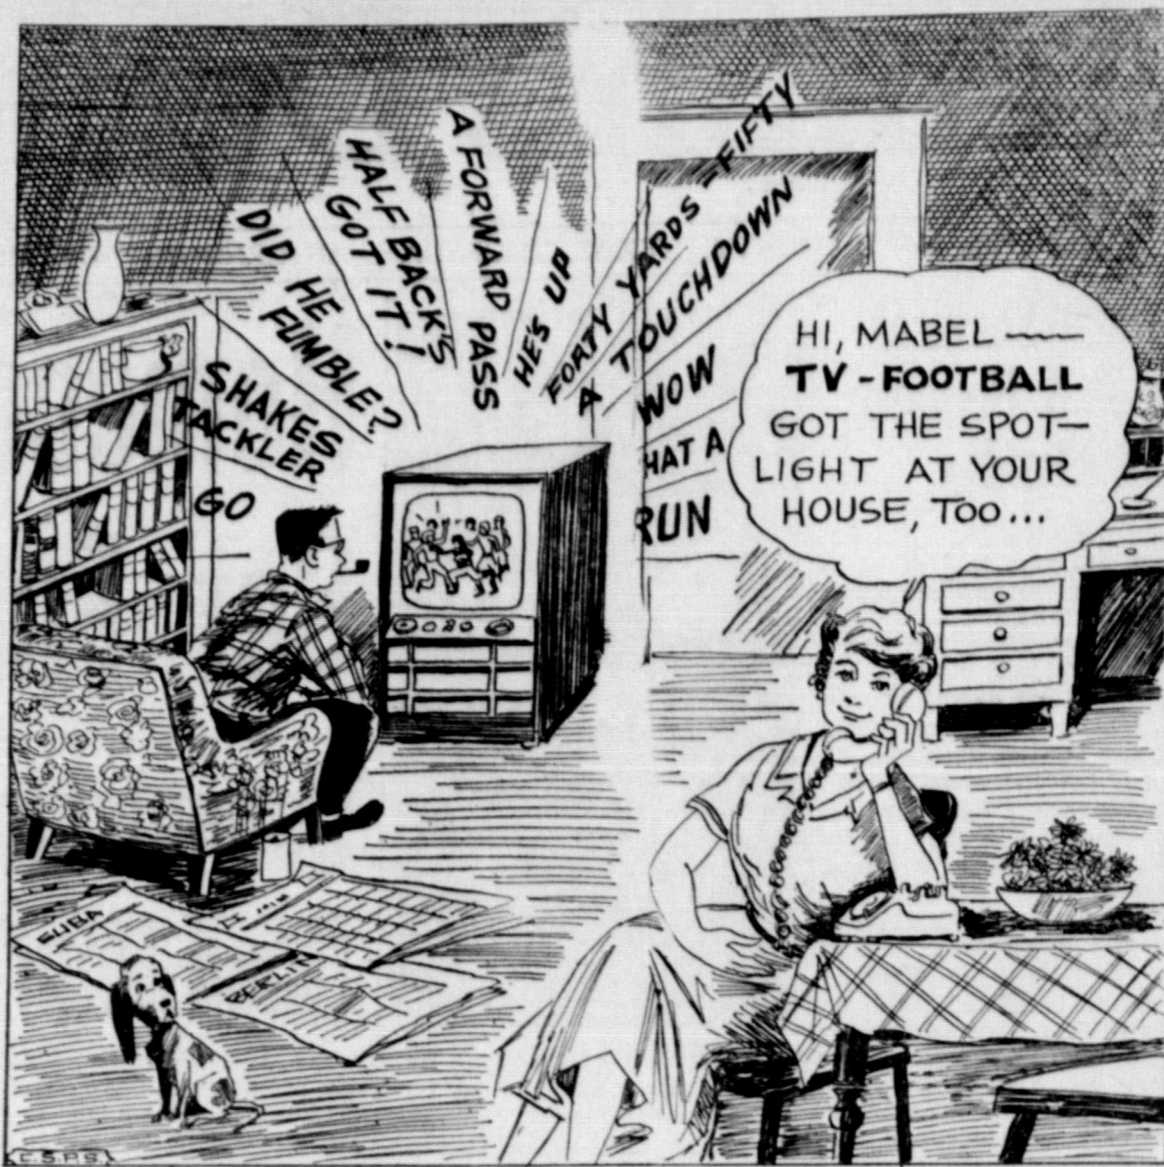

The other is that Texas is still heavily Democratic, and the GOP will have its work cut for it if it expects to gain more than a toehold in state offices.

It is also apparent that a big majority of Texas voters have little or no use for extremists of either left or right. The former were disposed of in the primaries, and the latter have pretty well been erased in the general election. The candidates who made the best showing in both parties were moderates.

And Republicans who, in some areas, couldn't see the forest for the Birchers, would do well to clear out some of that underbrush before the next elections.

What Other Editors Say

We've Gone to the Ballot Box, But It's Not All Over

Tuesday marked the day we made our trip to the ballot box. Officials for the next four years were chosen, but basically, the election isn't over.

Heavy responsibilities lie on those who were elected, whether on the precinct level or to represent this area on the national scene.

Responsibilities lie on us, the voters, too, and putting our black marks through certain names on the ballot doesn't end our part in the election.

It is still our responsibility to remain interested in political affairs and politics. The high pitch to which we work ourselves just before election can't be held, but a steady, thoughtful and intelligently inquiring interest can be. Any official who is truly a public servant wants this interest rather than the lethargy that often lasts from election to election.

It is one of the first lessons in our primer of politics that we should learn.

"I just don't know enough about such and such to know how to vote." We all heard that a hundred times this year. And most of us were being truthful. Our own ignorance on this year's election is past and there is nothing we can do about it. But we have two more years before we vote in another general election and that is plenty of time to inform ourselves.

To do less is to invite poor government.

Peace Corps Appraisal
Most newspapers in the U. S. feel that the Peace Corps has accomplished good for our country. Most of the eastern, midwestern and western papers share this view. Some of the most respected papers include the New York Times, the San Francisco Examiner, the Detroit Free Press. Some papers have left the enthusiasm for the Peace Corps in premature. The leader of this view is the Chicago Tribune. Most of the foreign newspapers, which comment on the Peace Corps, and have had an opportunity to see it in action, have been highly complimentary of its work.

Remembering an Answer

Another little item that keeps popping up in the back of our head as we listen to the worldwide reports of the mounting crisis.

We will keep remembering the words of President Kennedy at that White House luncheon we attended 11 months ago along with 18 other Texas publishers.

The President had sat white faced and unmoving as Ted Dealey, publisher of the Dallas Morning News, read an insulting tirade against the Kennedy administration in general and in particular the action taken thus far against Cuba.

His voice hot with anger, the President replied: "If you think I'm going to sit here in this chair with the lives of 180 million people riding on my shoulders and not explore and exhaust every avenue that might avoid pushing the button you have another think

Plastic Bags Leading Killers In Home

The film again is headed for the top position as the leading and unsuspecting killer since abandoned refrigerators, the Texas Safety Association warned today.

The Association issued the warning after receiving two additional reports recently of accidents from suffocation by plastic film.

Two Texas babies, living a few miles apart, recently died within hours of each other in identical accidents. Both died when they got plastic over their faces while in bed, O. Musick, General Manager of TSA, reported.

Two deaths occurring on the weekend of September 10, were five accidental plastic suffocations reported to the Texas Department of Health's Division of Statistics during the first six months of the year bring the total for 1962 to seven.

"This trend continues," the director noted, "the accidental suffocation fatalities in 1958 surpassed the record number reported in the state in 1957."

Unexplained suffocation fatalities attributed to plastic film began about four years ago when the film was rapidly gaining popularity for many uses.

The first fatality reported in 1958 was considered an accident, but by the end of the first three months of 1959, 11 accidental deaths had been reported in the nation.

Local health councils and manufacturers of plastic film bags, joined by other organizations, immediately began a safety campaign to reduce the danger of death from plastic film.

The campaign, spearheaded by TSA in Texas, resulted in a 30 per cent reduction in fatalities the first year. However, there were still seven fatalities in 1960 and eight in 1961.

"These deaths are tragic as they can be prevented easily. Also, it is sad to note that babies under six months old are the victims of plastic film," he said.

Of the 30 Texas fatalities reported from January 1, 1959 through August of this year, 27 were in this age group. The other three deaths were: a seven-month-old baby, a two-year-old child and a 13-year-old boy.

Musick said carelessness on the part of adults is the contributing factor involved in the fatalities.

"However, recent studies reveal there are many parents who just are not aware of the dangers of the plastic film," he added.

Articles are being brought into the home every day which are enclosed in some kind of plastic bag or covering. There coverings often are saved for other uses.

"Mothers find plastic film a handy and useful material for mattress covers, pillow covers or pads to slip under babies," Musick noted.

The thin flimsy-type of plastic, not made for these purposes, is the kind which causes tragedy. The film clings like tape and when covering anyone's nose and mouth immediately cuts off air.

"A baby or small child can't tear the material, nor can he pull it from his face," Musick said.

The plastic bag in particular is almost impossible for a child to remove. Even adults have been

Laff Of The Week

"Yes—I just ate a salami sandwich...so what?"

trapped in plastic bags and suffocated.

The 13-year-old boy in Texas also was trying out a bag to test results.

One aspect which makes the killer doubly hazardous is its deceiving appearance. Unlike fires, poisons and many other killers, the plastic film gives no forewarning of its dangerous nature.

Fatality reports show that unsuspecting parents have even given children plastic to play with. One father gave a six-month-old child a plastic bag to keep him

Oldsmobile Lines are Now On Display At Potts Chevrolet Company

The 1963 Oldsmobiles are on display at Potts Chevrolet Company showroom, it was announced this week.

Oldsmobile has designed its 1963 models for broader appeal through fresh, youthful styling, improved identification, and improvements for customer convenience. These advances include important engineering advances such as adjustable tilt-type wheel and—another first—exclusive positive ventilation system. The F-85 models for 1963 are styled specifically to give the look of an Oldsmobile immediately identifiable to the owners of the Oldsmobile fleet," he said, "is the new 98 Luxury Sedan—the epitome of elegance in a motor car. It is of six-window design with a custom interior trim including built-in door arm rests containing controls for the electric windows (standard equipment). Assist grips on the back of the front seat aid entry and exit. Both front and rear seats contain center arm rests.

"Another new model is the 98 Custom Sports Coupe, a sophisticated sports car combining the distinction of 98 exterior appearance with the excitement of bucket seats, power console and the outstanding maneuverability of the famous Starfire engine," he added.

"Our customers will also find numerous mechanical improvements in the new F-85's for economy of maintenance, increased passenger comfort and safety, side and distinctive accent moldings outside. As an example, the edges of wheel openings and rocker panel in the 1963 Super 88 are outlined in stainless steel.

"Oldsmobile's Starfire, for 1963," Wolfram said, "is a full-size sports car with its own Starfire engine, Hydra-Matic, power brakes, power steering, bucket seats, power console and tachometer as standard equipment. In addition, the fresh new styling of the Starfire Coupe features a concave rear window complementing its highly individualized roofline."

Wolfram described the 98 models for 1963 as the most luxurious cars Oldsmobile has ever offered.

"The flagship of the Oldsmobile fleet," he said, "is the new 98 Luxury Sedan—the epitome of elegance in a motor car. It is of six-window design with a custom interior trim including built-in door arm rests containing controls for the electric windows (standard equipment). Assist grips on the back of the front seat aid entry and exit. Both front and rear seats contain center arm rests.

TOP—This is the 1963 Starfire, Oldsmobile's full-size sports car. With its crisp, youthful styling theme, fresh new roofline and concave rear window, the Starfire is further identified by the tailored aluminum band along the sides. It has its own grille. Bucket seats, center console, Hydra-Matic transmission, power brakes and power steering are standard equipment. Produced in both coupe and convertible models, the Starfire is powered by Oldsmobile's ultra-high compression 315 horsepower Starfire engine equipped with dual exhausts.

BOTTOM—A complete styling change including a fresh new roofline gives the 1963 Oldsmobile Super 88 Holiday Sedan a sheer new look. Interiors in this series are more impressive with greater emphasis on luxury in fabrics and appointments. Door armrests are set in brushed aluminum panels and the Holiday Sedan is equipped with a center rear seat armrest. All Super 88 models feature greater series identification in exterior appearance. For example, wheel openings are tastefully outlined by stainless steel moldings. Powering all Super 88 models is Oldsmobile's 330 horsepower Skyrocket engine.

better handling and for smoother and quieter operation," he added.

"The Hydra-Matic transmission, for example," Wolfram said, "is much smoother, comparable to the transmission on the full-sized Oldsmobile 88's and 98's. New techniques in automatic shift controls, both in the throttle control and in the transmission itself are incorporated in the 1963 F-85's specially designed Hydra-Matic."

In discussing individual models in the F-85 series, Wolfram said that the Jetfire, Oldsmobile's exclusive turbo-charged hardtop coupe, has been designed inside and out, for even greater sports car styling appeal.

"The Turbo-Rocket engine, bucket seats and center console with transmission controls," Wolfram said, "are standard equipment on the Jetfire, a car featuring power when it is needed and economy when it is wanted."

"The driver doesn't have to guess," he explained. "The Turbo-charger gauge, mounted on the center console, tells him when he is driving for maximum fuel economy or maximum performance."

In addition to the Jetfire, other sports-type models in the F-85 line include the Cutlass Coupe and the Cutlass Convertible.

The interiors of all F-85 models are fashioned for smarter, richer appearance. In the deluxe four-door sedan, a custom interior with special seat and door trim design is standard. Narrow piping in the cloth on the seats and doors is an exclusive feature in this model.

You don't need big water to catch big fish.

In fact, some of the most consistent fishing to be found in Texas is in the stock ponds located on the farms and ranches throughout the state.

You may not catch any record-breaking fish in these ponds, but you'll make a lot fewer water hauls than you do out in the big, wide open lakes.

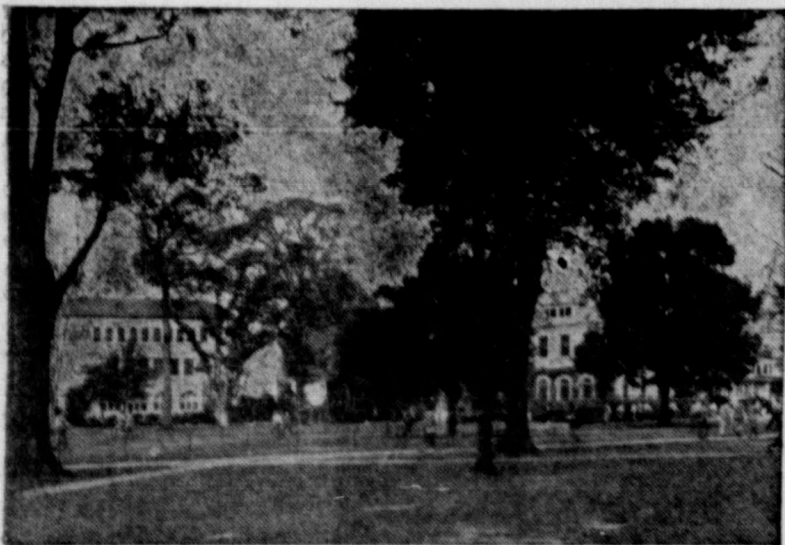

Getting to fish the farm tanks as they are popularly called means making friends with the landowners.

With a courteous approach,

Tulane University

Tulane University, New Orleans, La., is a privately administered, non-denominational university offering a wide range of undergraduate, graduate and non-professional curricula for men and women.

Tulane dates its history from September of 1834 when a group of young physicians organized the Medical College of Louisiana in New Orleans. In 1847 the college became a department of the University of Louisiana which was chartered in that year with state support.

encourages its students to voluntary participation in religious activity through their preferred faiths. Student organizations representing ten faiths are active on the campus.

Tulane comprises ten schools: The College of Arts and Sciences; Newcomb College, The School of Architecture, The School of Business Administration, The School of Law, The School of Medicine, The School of Social Work, The Graduate School, and University College. All are co-educational, except Newcomb College, which is for women only, and The College of Arts and Sciences, which is for men, except for junior and senior years when women majoring in journalism of geology are admitted.

Outstanding Tulane alumni include Howard K. Smith, news commentator, Hamilton Basso, novelist, Hale Boggs, congressman, Jefferson Caffery, diplomat, Joseph Allen Ellender, U.S. Senator, Harnett T. Kane, author, and Marion Spencer Fay, college president.

that's easy. But don't wear out your welcome by scattering trash around the pond, building fires, destroying property or worse yet inviting the gang to "come along."

Tank fishing is rather specialized. Actually it calls for several types of fishing, a wide assortment of lures and just in case, some live bait.

In farm tank fishing many anglers use baitcasting reels, spinning reels, and fly-fishing tackle—all three types of gear—since this kind of fishing calls for a lot of experimenting.

Fly-fishing the tanks is most effective in the early morning and late evening hours. That seems to be the best time when the fish rise best to flies and popping bugs.

Spin-fishing is preferred at night because you don't have to worry about backlashes. For one reason or another one seems to get the messiest of backlashes at night.

Baitcasting tackle, or fairly heavy spin-casting gear, is preferred for midday, farm-tank fishing. The fish generally are down deep in the heat of the day, and you need a stout rod to work your lure through the snags and moss at the bottom of the pond.

A wide assortment of lures is a must. It seems that within the confines of a small pond, fish will become accustomed to lures and shun them if the same one is used too often. This is particularly true on ponds of less than five acres in size.

For example, you might score well on black bass with a red and white diving plug. Then suddenly action will stop. By switching to a gold spoon, you may pick up three or four more fish before the action stops again. Next producer might be a black floating plug with a pork rind attached.

You can't tell what they will hit, or how long they will hit it. But when they're not hitting, you might as well change lures.

When you find a small pond that is fished in unusually hard, often you have to resort to live bait, if you're to net any fish.

In fishing a farm tank, work all the way around it. Don't remain in one spot. Avoid wading out in the small tanks. You'll only spook the fish that way. However, it's okay to wade-fish in the big 10 to 20 acre tanks. They're just small lakes.

Stand far enough back from the edge of the water so no shadow is cast over the water. Make as little noise as possible and move slowly from one spot to another.

The small size of the farm tanks in one of the keys to good fishing. Take a five-acre pond, for example. You can work the entire pond — and at all depth levels — in the space of a morning. So you're bound to find fish some place.

CANDY by Tom Dorr

It's the Law in TEXAS

The House to House Salesman

Joe Greenriver had been traveling to various cities selling magazine subscriptions. At each new town he would go from house to house selling subscriptions to the occupants.

He had been selling in Pleasantville for a couple of days when he was arrested and fined for violating a city ordinance which prohibited such door to door soliciting.

Usually the real problem with farm-tank fishing is the lack of enough fishing pressure. If you catch a lot of small and stunted fish, you can bet that the pond is overpopulated. Only remedy is to increase the fishing pressure.

In addition to some choice fishing, farm tanks also offer sporty hunting, in season. These tanks are ideal spots to hunt doves when the birds fly in to get water.

During the waterfowl season you can score well on ducks—provided you don't over-hunt the tank. A tank of less than five acres shouldn't be hunted more than two or three times a week, and never two days in succession.

On the big 10 to 20 acre ponds you can hunt every day, if the blinds are spotted on opposite ends of the lake. But — we repeat — don't hunt the same blind twice in succession.

ville for a couple of days when he was arrested and fined for violating a city ordinance which prohibited such door to door soliciting.

Can a city pass an ordinance prohibiting uninvited peddlers or solicitors from going onto private property to sell goods or solicit orders?

Yes, said the U. S. Supreme Court. Persons seeking private gain cannot be permitted, under the guise of free speech or right to work, to infringe upon the rights of others. Such a case calls for an adjustment of constitutional rights in the light of the particular living conditions of the time and place.

Joe lost the case. (Based upon a U. S. Supreme Court Decision)

Mayor Howell To Attend Civil Defense Meeting

Mayor H. J. Howell of Memphis will be among the civil defense officials from throughout the state who will meet in Austin Nov. 19-20, for the Third Annual Conference of Texas Civil Defense Directors.

From early reports, an attendance of approximately 500 directors are expected for the two-day conference, State Coordinator of Defense and Disaster Relief James H. Garner has announced.

Recent developments in both national and state civil defense planning make up much of the agenda. Highlighting the first session is an address by newly-appointed federal regional director Bill Parker, of the Office of Civil Defense, Department of Defense, on national civil defense programs, particularly the survey and provisioning of shelters now underway in Texas.

Each afternoon of the conference, staff members of the Division of Defense and Disaster Relief assisted by other state and federal personnel will be available in discussion groups to provide information to local directors interested in emergency operating centers and shelter design; organizational problems and channels of assistance; surplus property and prepositioned hospitals; financial assistance programs; program papers; emergency communications; shelter utilization; shelter management and other training and education programs.

Bale Grouping Is Aid To Better Ginning

The simple process of grouping ungnined bales of cotton according to their moisture and trash content is suggested by B. G. Reeves, extension cotton ginning and mechanization specialist, as an aid to better ginning and improved quality. This is especially true during periods of damp weather, explains Reeves.

Here's an example. A bale of fairly dry cotton goes to the gin which can be processed into a low middling grade with a 31/32 inch staple without too much difficulty. But, what happens when this fairly dry cotton is ginned behind a bale with a much higher moisture content? Reeves says a low middling plus grade could result but with a drop in staple length to 15/16 of an inch. There could also be a loss of 19 pounds in weight as a result of the over-drying. Currently, he says, the price of LM 31-/32 inch and LM plus 15/16 inch are the same, 29.11 cents per pound. However, the 19 pound loss in weight means a loss of $5.33 in the bale's value. A higher grade but an actual loss in bale value.

The same kind of loss results from the ginning of a damp bale of cotton following a dry one. It makes good sense, points out Reeves, to gin several bales of damp cotton after the heat and machinery have been properly set to handle it most efficiently. When the ginning of such a grouping has been completed, adjustments can then be made easily and quickly to handle dry cotton.

By following this simple process, Reeves says, everyone concerned is better served—farmer, ginner and spinner.

ing and education programs. At the Tuesday session, directors will hear Peavy, Commissioner, Department of Public Health, Perry Brown, Chairman, Employment Commission, N. Ludlum, Commissioner, Aeronautics Commission, the activities of the departments in relation to state defense and disaster relief.

Other topics covered in the conference program include self-help training, in disaster planning, publicity programs, and the control center.

Governor Price Danes dresses the delegates at on Tuesday, Nov. 20.

A dinner meeting of evening, Nov. 19, featured Mrs. Norman P. Neuman, their observations on the Department of State activities at the American in Moscow in 1958.

This is the third year conference has been sponsored by the Division of Defense and Disaster Relief of the Office.

Atalantean Club Enjoys Program On Federation At First Nov. Meeting

The Atalantean Club was entertained in the home of Mrs. Robert Sexauer for the first November meeting. During the business meeting, the annual Girl Scout Drive was discussed. The club voted to assist with the drive and Mes. Coppedge, Williams, Foxhall, Aronofsky, Boren and Hanvey were the six named to assist on Nov. 12. The president also gave special recognition to the able service of Mrs. L. C. Martin and Mrs. Bill Boren for their supervision of two Girl Scout troops.

The club voted to cooperate in the Hall County Red Cross Drive. The program for the afternoon, "A Time To Be Counted," Federation, was introduced by Mrs. Allen followed by the invocation by Mrs. Coppedge. Mrs. Roy Jewell brought a most impressive description of the Federation emblem. An easel was placed on the balcony overlooking the living room of Mrs. Sexauer's home; and as she gave the various descriptions of the parts making up the emblem, they were placed on the framed flannel board on the easel. Around the outside of the flannel board, reading clockwise, were these four statements: "G. F. W. C." "Atalantean Club," "Motto: 'Unity in Diversity,'" and "Federation Program 1962-1963."

Describing the emblem, Mrs. Jewell stated that the red stripe under the shield denoted "courage," the white stripe "purity" and the shield, being blue, denoted "constancy." The black band circling the emblem was a symbol of "enlightenment" and the outside white circle a symbol of "eternity." She closed her remarks with the prayer of St. Francis of Assisi, which is often called the perfect prayer.

Mrs. L. C. Martin gave a short biography of Mary Stewart, the author of "A Collect for Club Women," and also divided the Collect into eight parts giving a very beautiful and clever description of each part. She closed her remarks with an excerpt from the poet, Edwin Markham—"There is a destiny that makes us brothers, none goes his way alone. All that we put into the lives of others comes back into our own."

Delicious refreshments were served to Mes. Earl Allen, David Aronofsky, Bill Boren, J. W. Coppedge, W. C. Dickey, Eddie Foxhall, Robert Hanvey, Jr., N.

Locals and Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Blakesley of Vernon spent Sunday here with Mr. and Mrs. James Freeman. The women are sisters. Lanny Crow, who broke his leg three weeks ago and has been in an Amarillo hospital since that time, returned home Monday. He is doing nicely, but will have to be in a cast for another 12 to 14 weeks. The family moved this week to 608 North 10th Street, and Lanny's friends can call on him at the new location.

Fashion Goes Feminine. The new fashion mood is purely feminine. Ruffles, pleats, capelets and paneled skirts be they on dresses, suits or coats are used in a very artistic manner. New suit designs have effortless little jackets which take many forms. One of the most important is the cropped-above-the-hipline shape. Narrow set-in sleeves and small, notched collars which stand away from the neck are other important features. Cape shapes are combined with newly softened skirt lines, contributing a new soft fashion note.

Look for fleece-colored corduroy as an important fashion in coats. These feature three-quarter sleeves and a narrow, notched collar. Brightened navy is a good choice for a new suit. Check on the fluid lines with a sheath skirt and a tank top overblouse. Colors can be almost anything, from a gold and black stripe for an ensemble to a pale, melon color for jacket and dress.

Memphis Loses Dist. Game To Lefors 57-14

The Memphis Cyclone suffered its second district conference defeat at the hands of the lightning quick Lefors Pirates Friday night at Lefors. The Pirates won the game 57-14.

Although the Cyclone offense scored two TD's, more than any other team has scored against Lefors all season except White Deer, the Cyclone defense was just too slow to cope with the fast and quick hitting Pirates running from their split line, tight T formation.

The Pirates will represent District 2-A even if McLean upsets their perfect record in District play next Friday night.

The game opened with Memphis kicking off to Lefors. They moved the ball to near mid-field, then lost it on a fumble. The Cyclone was held and punted deep into Lefors territory.

This started the Pirates first scoring drive. The scoring drive was climaxed by a TD carry by FB Rodney Airington. Don McCool place kicked the extra point, the score was 7-0.

Memphis received the kickoff and the ball was placed on the 20 yardline since the kick carried past the end zone.

The Cyclone threw two incomplete passes and Dwight Gailey made three yards on a carry. Then Bill Pounds punted 20 yards to the Memphis 43.

On the next play, Lefors' LHB

Don McCool's place kick was blocked by a Cyclone lineman.

Lefors kicked off and Mike Crow returned the ball 13 yards to the Memphis 28. A 15-yard penalty against Lefors gave Memphis a 1st and 10 on the 43. Three carries by Memphis backs netted 5 yards and Pounds got off a 9-yard kick.

Lefors took over the ball and again marched down the field to score. The scoring play was a 7-yard carry by FB Airington. McCool place kicked the extra point for a 20-0 score.

The Cyclone took over after the kickoff on their own 27. On the first play, a 15 yard pass from Jimmy Sturdevant to End Jacky Bridges moved the ball to the 43. Memphis drew a penalty and was held two downs. Then on the third Pounds quick-kicked 45 yards and Lefors took over the ball on their 18.

The Pirates started driving up field but they fumbled on their own 43 yard line and Richard Ellis recovered for Memphis.

This started the Cyclone's first scoring drive. Gailey made 4 yards on one carry and Sturdevant lost two yards on the next. Then Gailey passed to Bridges over the heads of the Pirates defenders and Bridges raced to the five yard line before being downed. On the next play, Gailey carried over for the score. Two points were made on a pass from Gailey to Bridges. The score was 20-8.

Memphis kicked off and Airington returned the ball 30 yards to the Cyclone 43 before being tackled.

On the next play, a fumble in the Pirate backfield was recovered by Memphis. The Cyclone offense was stopped and Pounds punted 34 yards and Airington returned the punt 8 yards before being tackled on the Pirate 34.

A penalty against Memphis moved the ball to the Lefors 48. This started the Pirates next scoring drive, climaxed by an 8-yard carry by Airington. A pass for two points was broken up by Wayne Sweet.

With the score 26-8, Memphis received the kick off, went for one first down, and then lost the ball on an intercepted pass. The Pirates were held and the first half ended.

The Cyclone received the kick off and Mike Crow returned the ball to the 28 yard line. Two plays netted Memphis no yardage, so on the third down, Pounds quick-kicked the ball 44 yards where it was fielded by Airington who returned it to the Memphis 47 before being tackled.

This started the Pirates next scoring drive. Carries by Smith and Airington in 9 plays moved the ball to the Memphis 1. Then Smith carried over for the score. McCool placekicked the extra point to make the score 33-8.

Memphis received the opening kickoff which went into the end zone. Running from their 20, on the first play they received a 15 yard penalty which put them in a hole. On the fourth down, Pounds punted but a red flag nullified the punt, so Pounds punted the second time and got off a 45 yard kick, which Smith returned 18 yards to the Memphis 33. Four plays later, Airington carried over for the TD. McCool carried for two points to make the score 41-8.

Crow returned the kickoff to the Memphis 28. The Cyclone completed two passes in three downs but due to negative yardage on the second down were short of a first. Pounds then punted to the Pirates 40.

On the Pirates first play, Memphis received a 15 yard penalty which moved the ball to the Memphis 40. Then, three carries by Airington and Neal Cates moved the ball to the Memphis 28.

However, at this point, the Cyclone defense got tough and held the Pirates for four downs, so Memphis took over on their own 20.

However, on the third down, a Cyclone pass was intercepted by Airington who raced 25 yards before being tackled on the Cyclone 10. The Pirates ran three plays and scored, with Smith adding the scoring punch. McCool passed to Terry Brewlow for two points and the score was 49-8.

Don Craig of Memphis returned the kickoff to the Memphis 30. A 15 yard penalty against Lefors moved the ball to the Memphis 45.

This started the Cyclone's second scoring drive. The drive opened with a pass from Gailey to End Jim Odum for 5 yards. Then Gailey carried for 7 yards to the Pirates 43.

The Pirates were penalized 5

County Sports

By BILL COMBS

The Memphis Cyclone defense was baffled Friday night by the lightning quick, fast hitting Lefors Pirates, in one of the highest scoring games of the district play. The local lads scored two touchdowns against Lefors to be the only team in district play so far to do this. The Pirates shut out Clarendon and Canadian. Wellington scored only one TD, a long punt return.

Memphis fans are predicting a hart-fought game Friday night against the second place Clarendon Bronchos, who will be coming to spoil the Cyclone's homecoming. Being the last game of the season for both ball clubs, the desire to win will play a big part in the outcome. I feel that the team that goes on the field to play the best game possible, will be the winner.

The Cyclone will have one starter on the injured list. James Carroll received a knee injury early in the third quarter at Lefors, thus ending his high school football career. Carroll is a junior but this was his last year of eligibility. The big tackle has played tough defensive football for the Cyclone for two years. He has been a starting offensive tackle this season.

Others who will go on the gridiron Friday night for the last time wearing the black and white uniform will be Tri-Captains Rex Grisham, Dwight Gailey and Jacky Bridges, along with Dale Sexton, Wayne Sweatt and Keith Graham. Sweatt is an offensive center and defensive linebacker. Graham plays defense.

Memphis fans will want to keep their eyes on End Jacky Bridges, probably one of the best high school ends in this part of the country. The Gailey-Bridges combination has been one of the most effective scoring combinations for the Cyclone this season. A sophomore back who will probably see a lot of action Friday night is Toby Crooks. He has been showing a lot of improvement.

Even though the Bronchos will probably be picked as favorites over the Cyclone, I feel that, if passed records are any indication, the Cyclone has a better than even chance for a victory. The Cyclone for the past two years has won its last games. Memphis would like to end its season with a victory, thus getting a piece of the second place honors with Clarendon.

How about the rest of the district? All eyes will be on McLean as their team plays Lefors. This is really a grudge game between the two teams. McLean will be as much of an underdog as Memphis was. Whether the Tigers can stop the Pirates or not will determine the outcome.

I am predicting that Canadian will give Wellington another defeat, since Clarendon defeated them last week. Indications from Wellington are that the squad has been thinking more about basketball than they have football since their defeat at the hands of Lefors.

FHA Announces Loans Available For Family Farms

L. J. Cappleman, State Director of Farmers Home Administration, today announced that loans may now be made to farmers and ranchers who personally manage and operate no larger than family farms for providing recreational facilities which will enable these family farmers to supplement their farm income.

Loan funds for recreational enterprises may be used to develop land and water, construct buildings, and to purchase land, equipment and other related recreational items including the payment of operating expenses. Recreational enterprises which may be financed on family farms include camping grounds, swimming facilities, riding stables, vacation cottages and lodges, lakes and ponds for boating and fishing, docks, nature trails, picnic grounds and hunting preserves.

Each loan is scheduled for repayment within a period consistent with the borrower's ability to repay, taking into account his income from farming, recreation enterprises and any other income he may have. The maximum repayment period of the loan depends on what the funds are used for and the security provided for the loan. Repayments on loans secured by real estate may not exceed 40 years. Repayments on loans for non-real estate purposes may not exceed 7 years. The interest rate is 5 per cent per year on the unpaid principal.

Technical management assistance will be provided with each loan. The amount of the loan depends upon the applicant's needs and repayment ability. A borrower's total principal indebtedness for intermediate-term FHA loans and equipment and operating expenses may not exceed $35,000. A long-term loan secured by real estate may not exceed the normal value of the farm and other security, minus any debts against this property and may not exceed the amount certified by the county committee. In no case may such a loan plus other debts against the security property exceed $60,000.

A farmer may apply at the County Farmers Home Administration Office located at 505 Main St., Memphis. There he will be given an application and the supervisor will be glad to answer any questions he may have.

Most every family would be improved if the parents would get back on spanking terms with their children.

Water Rights II

Conflicts between Federal and State sovereignty over water in the Western States have become more serious. A few weeks ago I commenced a discussion in the newsletter of the national background of these water rights and the legislative and judicial actions which have led up to and created the present situation.

In the 19th century several Federal statutes in connection with the disposition of portions of the public lands made it appear that the States had permanent control over water within their borders. Particularly, the Act of 1866 for upholding water rights and that all water rights in the public lands were to be vested water rights. The Desert Land Act provided that water rights were to depend on prior appropriation and use by the public lands were to be subject to existing rights. Additionally, in legislation admitting certain States to the Union, Congress accepted the State constitutions, which included provisions recognizing and confirming existing water rights — in some instances specifically declaring State ownership or control of waters arising or flowing within the States concerned. The Federal Reclamation Act includes express provisions implying a recognition of State sovereignty over the use of water for irrigation in the Western States.

Again, in the Federal Power Act of 1920, Congress stated that the Act was not to be construed as affecting or intending to affect or in any way interfere with the laws of the respective States relating to the control, appropriation, use, or distribution of water used in irrigation or for municipal or other uses. Thus the use of water in the West developed and there seemed to be a good basis for believing that water rights acquired under State laws were secure.

However, none of the legislative acts just mentioned in any way changed Federal responsibilities in the field of commerce, and made no reference to their effect on Federal responsibilities in the fields of national defense, general welfare, or on the treaty-making clauses of the Constitution. In fact, Congress has on several occasions reaffirmed by statute the Federal sovereignty with respect to navigation.

Cases such as U. S. vs. Rio Grande Dam and Irrigation Co. in 1890 and Winters vs. U. S. in 1908 made it clear that the sovereignty of the United States over waters needed under the commerce and treaty-making clauses had not been broadly relinquished by any statutory enactments. In 1940 the New River case broadened the definition of navigable waters in the Federal Power Act by stating that the tributaries of navigable streams also come under the Commerce power. The congressional declaration of policy on flood control further expanded

Federal activity in the field of water resources.

The potential conflicts having become apparent, Congress declared in the 1944 Flood Control Act its policy to recognize the interests and rights of the States in determining the development of the watersheds within their borders and provided that the use of works authorized for navigation shall be only such use as does not conflict with any beneficial consumptive use of water in the Western States. These provisions have been reiterated since, but the constitutional issue has not been finally settled in connection with these projects because it is a fact that one Congress cannot bind future Congresses; thus, the waiver of navigation rights could be repealed at some future date.

Two other decisions have increased concern among western water users. First Iowa Electric Cooperative vs. Federal Power Commission made it clear that State laws governing the use or control of water of navigable streams were not applicable when they trespassed in a field also covered by Federal law. The Pelton case in 1955 affirmed the supremacy of Federal jurisdiction over unappropriated, non-navigable waters arising from or flowing over reserved lands. Soon, pleadings in various pending suits in the West asserted paramount rights to water under the so-called "reservation doctrine" and led many westerners to fear that the U. S. proposed to take away, without compensation, existing water rights acquired under State law. Questions remain as to which water rights have been acquired under State law in such manner that there is no future question as to the existence of a valid property right.

Even before the Pelton case, at-

Texas Department of Public Safety Lists License Requirements for Citizens

What must a Texas teen-ager do to learn to drive? 2. The applicant must present an authorization from the Department of Public Safety showing an emergency necessity for driving.

3. The applicant may apply for a commercial operator's license restricted to motorcycle or motor-bike only, not to exceed 5 brake horsepower.

None Under Fourteen A person under 14 years of age in Texas may not be licensed and must not drive.

Lee stressed that boys and girls driving motorscooters must have a license and obey traffic laws and signals just as a driver of an automobile.

"This same rule applies to motor-scooter drivers, that no one under 14 years of age be allowed to drive them," Lee said.

Motorscooters must also be inspected and licensed annually just as an automobile," he added.

Some parents think it is permissible to let their children drive on dirt roads or county roads while they are learning.

"This is not legal because these roads are the same as any other public highway that is open for use of the public and are controlled by Texas statutes," Lee said.

Everyone should know that ignorance is no excuse for disobeying the law, because a person can ask any officer what the correct procedure is on a beginner learning to drive or can obtain a digest of traffic rules or a driver's handbook from any DPS office.

When a person without a license drives the automobile of a friend, if stopped by an officer, the friend can be fined on in court for allowing an unauthorized minor to drive.

The Driver's License Office in Memphis is located in the Court House in the Commissioners Court Room, and is open the second and fourth Wednesdays each month.

Written examinations begin at 9 a. m. and at 1 p. m., and are followed by the driving test, Captain Lee concluded.

In other court action before Judge Davis Wednesday, a truck driver, Eugene Smith, pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of a dangerous drug, not in the same container in which it was sold by a druggist.

He was fined $50 and court costs. Smith was also fined in Justice of Peace Court for not having a Texas Operator License.

William Bradford, the governor of the Plymouth Colony, has been called "the father of American history." His book, "Of Plimoth Plantation," tells the story of the Pilgrims from the time of their persecution in England and is the chief source of knowledge of the colonists.

Thanksgiving and is a time of worship and fellowship in the setting of the harvest and Thanksgiving spirit, Rev. Thompson stated.

It also has a historical background. Recognition for it was "late in 1899" when Rev. Isaac L. Mills gathered together the first Methodist meeting in the new town of Memphis to lay plans for the organization of the church which was formally done "early in 1890". These meetings were held in the home of J. C. Montgomery, one of the founders of the town.

The church extends a cordial invitation to all to join in this homecoming day.
