Feed Grain Signup Deadline Is Friday

Although the time is getting short, there is still an opportunity for feed grain producers of Hall County to take part in the 1963 feed grain program. Friday, March 22, is the final date of the signup period, Lynn McKown, office manager, Hall County ASCS, said.

All producers should consider these principal features of the 1963 Feed Grain Program before the March 22nd closing date. The program is voluntary; there will be no penalties for non-compliance. It is income insurance to the extent of the payment of the acreage diverted up to 40 per cent of the feed grain base for the farm. An advance payment equal to approximately one-half of the total payment can be received at time of sign-up.

C. Of C. Announces 1963 Civic Projects

Additional paving in Memphis was selected as one of this year's projects of the Civic Affairs Committee in a meeting last week.

Dr. H. R. Stevenson, chairman, said that if enough property owners want paving and will pool their efforts, most of the presently unpaved streets in the city can be hard-surfaced. Bids were presented from a paving contractor which included curb and gutter with blacktop, and a separate bid for blacktop only.

Interested property owners should contact the Chamber of Commerce office or committee members, Stevenson said. It will be necessary that full blocks be signed up without skips.

It was recalled that during the last paving project in Memphis six years ago, the goal was to get 35 blocks, and ended with over 200 blocks of paving.

Other projects discussed included need for more rental housing, stop signs at dangerous crossings, and repair of street markers.

Attending the meeting were Chairman Stevenson, A. E. Sanders, T. O. Pounds, H. E. Craig, Don Carmen, Buster Helm and Chamber Manager Clifford Far-designated in skip row cotton when the cotton is planted four rows cotton and four rows out. There will be an incentive payment made for planting grain sorghum, including bundled he-gari, up to 80 per cent of the farm base acreage and the total feed grain produced will be supported at $1.71 per C.W.T. on complying farms.

Texas House Appropriates $5,000 For Upper Red River Flood District

The House of Representatives last week passed the Appropriations Bill for financing the state for the next two years. Among the items was that of a $5,000 appropriation for each year beginning Sept. 1, 1963, to Aug. 31, 1965, for the Upper Red River Flood Control and Irrigation District.

The appropriation for the District was sponsored by Rep. W. S. (Bill) Healy of Paducah, who also is serving as chairman of the Appropriations Committee of the House.

Rep. Healy, upon being contacted in Austin Monday, said: "I have always taken an active part in water legislation, knowing the interest in water that the residents of Hall County have. It is with extreme pleasure that I was able to put this appropriation in the bill and I trust that it will not be removed."

An appropriation for the Upper Red River District has been absent from the appropriation bill for the past 10 years. The District is composed of Hall, Childress and Briscoe counties. The directors have been working for many years toward the goal of building a dam across Red River.

Specific wording of the Appropriations Bill pertaining to the River Authority is as follows: "There is hereby appropriated out of the General Revenue Fund to the Upper Red River Flood Control and Irrigation District for the purpose of placing a water gauging station at the Prairie Dog Town Fork Bridge in Hall County, and for the purpose of placing a siltation gauge at said site and for the necessary expenses of travel, research and other expenses necessary in collecting information necessary for a study of the water potentialities of the Prairie Dog Town Fork of the Red River, the sum of $5,000."

MHS Track Team To Go To Meet At Panhandle

The Memphis High School track team will leave Friday morning for Panhandle to participate in the Panhandle Relays, Coach Don Lambert said.

The Panhandle Relays will include 30 schools competing for the medals, the coach said, and competition will be tough.

Last weekend, the Memphis trackmen made 16 points at the Lefors meet. Jack Stargel placed second in the 100-yard dash and the Memphis spring relay team placed fourth, the coach said.

The Memphis track team ran the Morningside track team Tuesday and were scheduled to host the Lakeview team Wednesday.

The MHS squad will go to the Amarillo Relays March 29 and 30, and will go to the District Track Meet Tuesday, April 9.

The Memphis golf team last Thursday went to Shamrock and gave that team a sound defeat on their home course.

The local team won the match by a total score of 25 strokes. Jay Dunbar was the low scorer for Memphis with a 38. Jimmy Harrison and Larry Parks each shot 41's while Dwight Gailey shot a 43.

Coach Lambert said he is trying to get a match with Childress, however, Wednesday he did not have a definite commitment from them.

The Hall County Tax Assessor-Collector's office in the Hall County Courthouse in Memphis was burglarized between 12 and 12:20 p. m. today and $1936.23 in bills, change and checks were taken.

The burglar entered the office by knocking a hole in the wire reinforced glass window on the west side of the office, just above the window lock. The burglar unlocked the window and entered the unoccupied office, which had been closed for the lunch hour.

Sheriff Elmer Neel said he has a witness who was parked outside the office from 12:20 until the office opened at 1 p. m., and that no one was in the vicinity of the windows during that 40 minutes.

The Sheriff also stated that Texas Ranger W. P. Baten Jr. said that the Pampa City Tax Assessor-Collector's office was burglarized last week and the description of the man was "a short man wearing horn rimmed glasses."

The local sheriff asked that anyone seeing a person on the west steps of the courthouse between 12 and 12:20 today to please notify him as soon as possible.

Mrs. Melissa Anderson, Tax Assessor-Collector, said that most of the $1,500 taken was in checks.

"We made a deposit this morning or we would have had a lot of currency on hand," she said.

Law Enforcement officers have been notified, and the search for the burglar is continuing.

Jaycees Say Response Is Good

The Memphis Junior Chamber of Commerce announced Wednesday that response has been good for the nomination of "Citizen of the Year," but reminded residents that the deadline is April 1 for mailing in ballots.

"There has been no trend established as yet in the voting," President Al Chappell said.

He said the following men have received several votes: M. C. Allen, Rev. Richard Avery, H. E. (Continued on Page Twelve)

Howell, City Attorney Sam J. Hamilton, Chamber of Commerce President Jack Norman, C. of C. Manager Clifford Farmer, Jaycees President Al Chappell.

The prayer of dismissal will be given by Rev. Fern Miller, pastor of the First Baptist church.

Construction of the 7,000 square foot brick veneer building is expected to begin Monday and it is hoped the structure will be completed in 90 days.

The home will be completely air conditioned and central heated. It will be known as Cousins Home.

Mrs. Stephens stated that she is seeking employees, including licensed vocational nurses, nurses' aids and cooks to work in the home after it is built. She said approximately 12 persons will be employed at the home.

The Aged Homes, Inc., has built and completed six similar state-approved homes in the last six months at Eastland, Jacksboro, Graham, Nocona, Crockett, DeLeon and Stephenville, and is presently building a home in Childress.

Mrs. Stephens said that Byron Baldwin will be the master of ceremonies at the ground breaking ceremonies Sunday, and Rev. J. B. Thompson of the First Methodist Church will give the invocation.

Willie C. Sears Is Sentenced To Three Years

Willie Clyde Sears, colored, pleaded guilty to a forgery charge Monday before District Judge Luther Gribble in the 100th Judicial District Court and was sentenced to three years in the state penitentiary.

He was indicted by the Grand jury for writing forged checks on Ray Phillips and Mack Richards on Dec. 21, 1962.

Congressman Walter Rogers Speaks To Water Group At Wellington Wednesday

Officials and leaders from several cities and towns in this area were told Wednesday afternoon that quick action is needed if water resources are developed. Making the statement was Congressman Walter Rogers, who met with the group in Wellington.

Attending the session were mayors, water district officials and civic leaders from Hedley, Memphis, Childress, Wellington, Quanah and Dodson. The meeting was held in the REA Building, and was presided over by Dan Henard, president of the Collingsworth County Water Control and Improvement District.

"We need a master water plan for the Eastern Panhandle," Congressman Rogers told the group. "We must take a long look right now at our water resources. We must do what is necessary to put up a united front to get these resources developed, and we must act quick—or we are in trouble."

He went on to say that Oklahoma wants the water rights of streams in the Eastern Panhandle, and has been working on this for a long time. "We can see the results of their efforts," he added.

Cong. Rogers said that a move is being made in Washington to change some of the laws pertaining to water courses and state lines. After discussing this briefly, he said, "I hope we can work out a master plan to impound these waters. Primary need is for use by our municipal corporations."

He again urged his listeners to get moving on the overall projects. "I seek your advice on how to help you work out the best plan on this. The people living here are entitled to know all the facts so all can be working for our overall benefit," he concluded.

Brief statements were made by mayors of the area as well as directors of the Greenbelt Water Authority and the Collingsworth County group. Following the discussion, it was decided to call another meeting at some later date at which time the matter will be more fully discussed.

Attending the meeting from Memphis were Mayor H. J. Howell and Herschel Combs.

Texas Motoricides Increase

The official Texas Traffic "death book for 1962 was closed Friday with 2,421 entries in the motorcide column, which shows an increase of 107 deaths or five per cent over 1961." Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety said that in spite of the fact that travel increased four per cent in 1962, the 107 additional motoricides raised the death rate per hundred million miles from 4.8 in 1961 which was the lowest in history to 4.9 in 1962.

The upward trend in traffic fatalities began in the summer of 1962 and is continuing into 1963 at an even greater rate. During the first 11 weeks of this year, there were 43 or 13 per cent more deaths than during the same period of 1962. So far in 1963, 364 deaths have been reported.

"This trend is especially alarming because nearly as many traffic deaths have occurred in Texas so far this year as compared with the same period of 1956, when an all-time high of 2,611 motoricides were recorded," Garrison said.

"Unless this trend is halted, Texas could well be headed for a new traffic death record—the most deadly year ever on our streets and highways. We can ill afford this tragic and needless loss of life. Traffic accidents are caused by a disregard of traffic laws and ordinances and it is essential that the public support our enforcement officers and the courts in controlling the violators.

In the meantime, every driver should take cognizance of the current dangerous trend and avoid all hazardous situations—especially the violator whose actions might cause an accident," Garrison said.

Since 1956, much hard work has gone into safety programs conducted by news media in this state and the civic organizations in cooperation with the law enforcement officers of the state and cities. Due to these efforts, Texas experienced a tremendous decrease in motoricides from the 1956 high to a new all time low in 1961. However, now the tide is turning. Motorists must do everything in their power to stop this reverse trend, or all the hard work will go for naught.

Texas is facing one of the heaviest tourist seasons ever, this summer. If Texas motorists obey the speed limits and observe the traffic laws, it is amazing how drivers from other states will follow the example, because normally an out-of-state car will follow a car with Texas license plates, and will drive the same speed.

This dangerous trend can only be stopped by the driving public. So far, 1963 looks like a bad year to be on Texas Highways.

Farmers Income Is Stable

A report from Thomas K. Hunter, Area Farm Management Specialist, stated that the relationship of prices paid by farmers to prices received by them, has been practically steady for seven years and that very little change is expected in the next year to two.

However, Hunter qualified this statement by saying that some farmers may question this statement, quoting specific examples which indicate that prices paid have risen, while prices received have declined. He said that such examples appear to be exceptions to the general trend. He used as his supporting argument the official price indexes compiled by the USDA. These figures show that the averages of both prices received by farmers and prices paid by them have gone up 9 per cent in the past seven years.

It is generally known that similar periods of price stability have been recorded only twice before. One was from 1910 to 1915, and the other from 1923 to 1929. These periods, like the past seven years, were relatively free from great economic disturbances, such as a war or major depression.

The last seven years have been different from these periods, however, since there has been an inflationary creep of more than one per cent a year, while in the two earlier periods, prices showed no upward trend.

Economists some times call the relationship between prices received, and paid, by farmers "the terms of trade." These improved temporarily in 1958, but otherwise have not changed much since 1955. But Hunter said that even under these conditions, farm people have improved their incomes considerably. Increased production has improved farm income. Eighteen leading field crops have increased 30 per cent in the past seven years on an average per acre yield basis. Total agricultural output has increased 10 per cent during this time. A reduction of 38 per cent in total labor requirements, in man-hours of farm work, was seen from 1955 to 1962. The number of employees on farms has been reduced 20 per cent. This reduction in the number of people being supported by farm income has allowed for larger shares for many of those who remained in farming.

Hunter stated that farm people have turned more to off-farm employment to add to family incomes, as labor needs have decreased. From 1955 to 1962 the average income per farm person received from non-farm sources increased by more than one half.

Hunter predicts that little change will take place during the next two years. How long the trend of fewer and fewer farmers will continue is not known nor has anyone ventured an educated guess. It is noted however, that government payments, exclusive of price supports, have increased to farmers since 1955, from an amount equal to one per cent of cash receipts from farm marketing in 1955, to five per cent in 1962.

It is advantageous for a nation when their agriculture economy is stable. Periods of price stability could not be found during the depression years of the 30's, or the war and post war years of the 40's. Unless some great economic disturbance effects this stability, it is expected to last for two or more years.

Signals Adopted By Forty-Six States

Have you ever been in distress beside the roadway with a flat tire, out of gas or any of the other numerous things that seem to plague us as motorists on our highways?

"Forty-six states including Texas, have adopted uniform distress signals to be used by motorists in trouble. The problem now is to educate the public to their meaning and use," Major Harry Hutchison, Commander of Region No. 5 of the Department of Public Safety said today.

The American Association of State Highway Officials is responsible for crystallizing and standardizing the following rules:

In an emergency on freeways, whenever possible, drivers should stop their cars on the right hand shoulder well away from the thru traffic lane.

At night the tail lights and the interior lights of the stopped vehicle should be turned in. If the vehicle is equipped with a turn signaling indicator, having an "emergency" switch, it should be turned on so that both the right and left turn signals will flash simultaneously. Where a disabled vehicle is stopped in such a position that part or all of a traffic lane is occupied, portable warning devices should be placed to the rear of the stopped vehicle to notify oncoming drivers of the traffic hazard.

Whenever help is needed, a white cloth or handkerchief should be displayed from the stopped vehicle so that it readily can be seen from other vehicles on the highway. For example, the white cloth may be hung from the window next to the driver's seat so that it is conspicuous to passing motorists. In addition, when practical, the hood of the car should be raised.

While waiting for help, motorists should remain within their cars or nearby in a safe position off the traveled roadway. They should not stand or walk in or near traffic lanes, or leave their cars unattended.

After observing a distress signal, passing motorists should notify the nearest police, highway, or automotive service official at the first convenient location of the motorist in need of assistance.

"If all motorists will remember and use these rules," Major Hutchison said, "much of the safety hazard now existing will be eliminated. Too many people are being killed or injured in Texas because they don't know what to do when they get into trouble out on the highway," he concluded.

A Prayer

Lord, Thou knowest better than I know myself that I am growing older, and will someday be old.

Keep me from getting talkative and particularly from the fatal habit of thinking that I must say something on every subject and on every occasion.

Release me from craving to try to straighten out everybody's affairs.

Keep my mind free from the recital of endless details—give me wings to get to the point.

I ask for grace enough to listen to the tales of others' pains. Help me to endure them with patience.

But seal my lips on my own aches and pains—they are increasing, and my love of rehearsing them is becoming sweeter as the years go by.

Teach me the glorious lesson

Lakeview Soldier Is Top Driver At Camp Wolters

Army Specialist Fifth Class Jimmie D. Davis, son of C. S. Davis Sr., Route 2, Lakeview, for the third won the Camp Wolters "Driver of the Month" award.

Davis, a heavy vehicle driver in the post motor pool, was given March 7 by Colonel O. W. Schantz, post deputy commander, a Certificate of Achievement and the post's "best driver" pennant to attach to his vehicle.

Specialist Davis, who has been at Camp Wolters since June, 1961, first won the award in September, 1961 and again in May, 1962.

The best vehicle drivers from all units on post compete monthly for this award. A selection board names that individual who rates highest in driving ability, driving safety, vehicle knowledge and soldierly appearance, to name a few of the categories.

Specialist Davis, a 1959 graduate of Memphis High School, entered the Army in June, 1960. He took basic training at Fort Ord, Calif. Before coming to Camp Wolters he was stationed at Camp Pelham, Korea.

Before entering the Army he was employed as a pump repairman by Byron Jackson Div., Borg Warner Corp. in Plainview.

Estelline Athletic Banquet Is Held Friday, March 15, In Home Ec Cottage

The Estelline Athletic Banquet was held Friday, March 15, in the Homecoming Cottage. The theme for this year was a Greek setting.

Blue streamers and white stars decorated the entire ceiling. In the center of the room was a net rosette. The windows were covered with white adorned with blue or gold streamers. Murals were noted along the wall. The tables were covered with white with "horns of plenty" holding various fruits as centerpieces. The head table held a wicker basket of fruit. On each side were black chariots drawn by horses which, in turn, served as placemarkers, along with ceramic pheasants. Programs were white scrolls trimmed in gold and blue.

Mrs. Kinard Continues Resume of Vacation

Editor's Note: The following is the second in a series of articles written by Mrs. D. L. C. Kinard concerning her recent trip to South America.)

Back to Lima where we had a comprehensive tour of the city, the city's residential buildings and many government buildings, cathedrals and a typical residence. Lima is a beautiful city but most of the buildings are old in style and architecture. We spent one day visiting in the country at the Maranga Dairy and in the installations at the U. S. Milk Bottling Plant. We had lunch at "Granja Azul" at the famous chicken farm. The Peruvian Sol is 27 to the U. S.

We left Lima via Panagra for Santiago, Chile, a city of 1,800,000 people and at an altitude of 1800 feet. We stayed at Hotel Carrera, a beautiful hotel with good food and smart European style service. Our monetary unit is the escudo, equal to the U. S. dollar but it varies. Santiago displays with pride its magnificent grand mansions, its fine stores and its theaters. We visited a very progressive modern resort on the Pacific in Chile. It is built amidst mountains and kept fresh by sea breezes and is the summer residence of the presidents of Chile. Thousands of tourists from all over the world. Valparaiso is the port of Chile and all the ships dock here; it is built high above the water and is a very picturesque city. Vina del Mar is a "Vineyard of the Sea" and reminds one of Nice, France, Monte Carlo.

The people west of the Andes are very leisurely. They close stores at 12 noon and open at 8 p. m.—sometimes four in the afternoon. Everyone goes to the beaches where they swim and lie around in the sun; then the stores stay open until seven or eight o'clock. Dinner in the evening is from 9 p. m. on. East of the Andes people are more like Europeans and Americans in their ways.

We found such an abundance of luscious fruits and vegetables in the great closed-in market we visited in Santiago and the grounds and landscaping at the American Embassy were extraordinarily beautiful. There is religious freedom in Chile though it is 90 percent Catholic, in Peru 98 percent Catholic. American products are very expensive in Chile—a Chevrolet would cost around $15,000 and an ordinary bus $50,000, so you see a great number of small cars.

We flew from Santiago to Puerto Montt in the Chilean lake region. The lakes are magnificent and picturesque. We stayed in Puerto Varas hotel and left there by skirting the beautiful Lake Lanquihue, visiting the Petrohue Falls and rapids. From Petrohue we took a launch across the lake to Peulla where we spent the night in a most beautiful setting. In the region around Puerto Varas occurred the earthquake and tidal wave which claimed 20,000 lives in 1961. We traveled all around the volcano Calbuco that erupted at that time and we saw the damage and destruction.

We left Peulla by bus and crossed into Argentina. At Puerto Frías, Argentina, we took the boat to Puerto Alegre, then a bus again to Puerto Blest, then boat again, arriving at Hotel Liao Liao near the city of Bariloche. We had two days of leisure at this famous resort hotel surrounded by mountains on beautiful Lake Nahuel Huapi.

Wealthy Argentines spend their leisure time here enjoying the scenery, boating, fishing and water skiing and taking life easy. From Bariloche airport on the western edge of Argentina we flew in to Buenos Aires stopping at Hotel Plaza.

Argentina is a young country and shows the greatest European influence of any Latin American country. Spanish is their official language but in Buenos Aires and other important cities English, French and Italian are spoken. We took a comprehensive tour of Buenos Aires visiting Government House, Congress, Calon Theatre, Avenue July 9th, the widest street in the world, and Avenue De Mayo, the longest in the world. The tradition and style of the old world blends beautifully with the charm of the new world in their architecture, their shops and their way of life. Their religion is Roman Catholic, though there is tolerance for other religions. The Baptists have a seminary in Buenos Aires and many missionaries in the country. The peso is their monetary unit with 150 to the U. S. dollar and the rate fluctuates.

We traveled across the flat and fertile Pampas to a typical Argentine estancia (ranch). It belonged to a wealthy Argentine cattleman. We were served cocktails and lunch by the host and hostess, Senor and Senora Zemorain of Buenos Aires. They have a lovely ranch home. We watched the Gauchos at work in their native dress and after lunch had a drive in an old coach belonging to the Estancia.

We went to see the opera "Madame Butterfly" given in Spanish at an open air theatre. It was magnificent. We had a lovely cruise by launch through the canals and around the islands of the Delta of the River de la Plata. It is 30 miles wide at its mouth and 240 miles long. Buenos Aires is the capital of Argentina and is a great shipping port of South America. It has about 6 million inhabitants and is known as the "Paris of South America."

Our next stop was Montevideo, Uruguay. Our hotel was Victoria Plaza overlooking the Plaza Independencia, the center of the cultural and business districts. Uruguay is a democratic republic similar to Switzerland and is ruled by a council of 11 men. Their population is 3,000,000; they have freedom of religion, though the Catholic religion predominates. They have 10 million cattle and 28 million sheep. Montevideo is the capital and principal city. We made a tour of the city and saw the principal points of interest.

Then we drove out to Atlantida, a beautiful resort city and country club. The electrical workers union led by Communists was on strike while we were there. This affected communications and transportation but we were able to get around and to fly out safely. We left Montevideo on Pluna Airlines for Sao Paulo, Brazil, stopping at the Jaraguá Hotel. Sao Paulo is undoubtedly the most important industrial center of Latin America, and is said to be the fastest growing city in the world. It is called the "Chicago of South America." It is a melting pot for all colors, all classes, all creeds and is a magnificent example of how to work and live in a constructive, democratic and peaceful way. We visited many places of interest, the Cathedral, the museums, zoological garden, Jockey Club, municipal market, the world famous Snake Farm, pioneer monument, the birthplace of Brazilian independence. You find many statues and monuments and parks that are dedicated to their liberator, San Martin. Sao Paulo is a city of skyscrapers and they are building them as fast as they can. They are a hustling, bustling people and are very progressive in their ideas. We had a full day in Santos, the coffee capital of the world, connected with Sao Paulo by a multi-level super highway. This is one of the great ports of South America, handling besides coffee, rice, bananas, sugar, cotton, hides and minerals. We visited the coffee exchange building and the huge plant of Anderson-Clayton where they buy coffee and make the many blends that are exported. We visited the beaches and the resort city of St. Vincente. Near Santos we saw the electric plant that supplies all of Brazil with electricity, the largest in the Southern Hemisphere. Brazil is famous for its gemstones—amethysts, topaz, tourmalines, emeralds and diamonds and we had great fun shopping for jewelry.

Spanish is spoken in every Latin American country with the exception of Brazil where Portuguese is the national language. Though they got their independence from Portugal in the eighteenth century they still retain many of the customs and traditions of the mother country. Their monetary unit is the cruzeiro, 640 to the U. S. dollar. Our next stop was in Rio de Janeiro where we stayed at Hotel Excelsior on the famous Copacabana Beach. Rio is one of the most beautiful cities in South America on the Atlantic coast. It has a magnificent harbor, many beautiful colorful beaches and with the mountains in the background, it is most picturesque. The view of the city from Sugar Loaf Mountain is breath-taking. We made the ascent by cable car in two different stages, quite a feat in itself. The drive through Tijuca Tropical Forest and the climb to the hill where the magnificent statue of Christ stands with outstretched hands as if He were blessing the entire city, is another of the beautiful views of Rio. We made an all-day tour to Petropolis, a resort town of great wealth, where one of the most fabulous hotels with a casino was built. It operated for about two years and then a law was made prohibiting gambling and it was closed. We also saw here the former home of Peter II who ruled Brazil before they gained their independence.

Several of our group with our Brazilian guide had a wonderful night tour in Rio where we really saw how the people played and lived. We rode on a streetcar, walked on the sandy beaches without shoes, surged in the noisy crowds that were assembled for the Carnival parade of the Queen, her escorts and dancers. We decided people were about the same the world over, whether in Rio, Dallas or New York. We won't forget soon our Saturday night in Rio. We couldn't leave Brazil without seeing Brazilia, their great new capital built out in the interior of a vast plateau. It is huge, it is as modern as tomorrow and space for everything. Their buildings are very modernistic and it is an architect's dream. They have given choice places for the buildings of the embassies of the different countries. Their first choice went to the Vatican (being a Catholic country), second to Portugal (the mother country) and third to the USA (rich old uncle).

From Brazilia, we took Pan American to the island to Trinidad at Port of Spain, just off the coast of Venezuela. We had a wonderful evening's entertainment, dinner and floor show of native songs and dances. Trinidad is an English island, the climate is superb. They raise sugar cane and many luscious fruits and vegetables. It is inhabited mostly by Negroes. On our flight to Miami, we touched Caracas, Venezuela, and Curaca, a dutch province.

We spent one night in Miami at the International Airport Hotel. We had a nice tour of the city of Miami, Coral Gables and Miami Beach. Our flight home was by way of New Orleans, Houston and Dallas.

It was a most wonderful experience seeing other countries and the different races of people, how they work and live, and play. We had most delightful weather everywhere, no rain or storms; we made 19 different flights on airlines of every country and every one was perfect. I enjoyed our party of 26 people from over the Panhandle and made some lasting friendships. We were all glad to get back to our own America, the greatest country in the world, after about eight weeks under the Southern Cross.

Mrs. John Fowler and Mrs. Myrtle Howard were in Amarillo Monday to attend a Helena Rubinstein Beauty clinic.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart had as guests over the weekend their daughter, Bobbie Stewart and a friend, Delores Johnson of Amarillo and another daughter, Betty Stewart and one of her students, Linda Vanley, both of Odessa and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Stewart of Childress.

On Friday evening Betty was complimented with a surprise birthday dinner. Other than those mentioned above, guests included Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Pederson.

Over 1 Million Acres In Northwest Texas Susceptible To Wind Erosion

More than a million acres in northwest Texas are presently susceptible to severe wind erosion, according to reports just received by H. N. Smith, State Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service. This is mostly cropland on which there are insufficient residues to protect the surface from wind.

The areas most susceptible are the sandy soils of the southern High Plains south and west of Lubbock and the sandy soils in the eastern Panhandle around Wellington and Wheeler. There are about one half million acres in the south High Plains that are presently unprotected.

Although the wind season has not fully started, there have already been 39 windstorms reported in the southern High Plains that have been of sufficient velocity to move soil and about 62,000 acres of cropland have already been damaged, according to reports from the SCS field offices.

The windy season, when damaging winds are most frequent, is just starting, according to Smith. March and April are the months when the greatest amount of wind damage usually occurs. The extent of the damage this year will depend largely on how severe the winds and how much moisture is received so that the farmers can list or otherwise treat their land as an emergency measure to control erosion.

State Conservationist Smith warned that the present conditions have the potential for a severe dust season. Twelve soil conservation districts out of 51 reporting are very dry, the soil moisture inadequate to plant crops. Thirty-four have only fair moisture conditions and unless additional moisture is received, will be in poor shape to resist erosion even with emergency treatment. Only 7 counties report good moisture conditions.

Wind erosion is always a potential problem in the northwest part of the State and when coupled with drought, conditions can get serious in a short time. The only means of controlling wind erosion is to use cropping systems that maintain considerable amounts of residues on the surface for protection, and to keep soils subject to severe wind erosion under permanent grass cover.

Soil conservation districts have been providing assistance for preparing plans that will control wind erosion. Research data and farmer experience has shown that residues left after grain sorghum harvest will provide adequate protection if they are left on the surface through the blow season. A conservation plan includes crops that resist wind erosion and provides for the management of the residues to protect the soil.

Texas Highways To Have Trail Blazer Signs

Daniel Boone did it by hacking notches in trees to direct pioneers to the overland trails. The Texas Highway Department plans to do it by posting "Trail Blazer" signs pointing the way to the Interstate highways.

Mindful that many more miles are being completed on the Interstate Highway System each year, the Texas Highway Commission today announced a new service for the traveling public:

Trail Blazers will be erected at strategic locations to direct traffic to Interstate highways and other controlled access highways.

Whether you're visiting the State Fairgrounds in Dallas, the international airport at Houston, or the shopping districts of El Paso or San Antonio, finding the way through the streets of a strange city to the Interstate highways will no longer be a puzzle when the Trail Blazers are eventually erected.

Trail Blazer "assemblies" will be erected at major places of public gatherings which often attract out-of-town traffic, such as the business districts, municipal airports, universities, auditoriums and fairgrounds.

From top to bottom, this is how a Trail Blazer assembly looks: A black-and-white sign marked "To." A blue sign bearing the cardinal direction, such as north or south, when needed. A red, white and blue Interstate shield sign bearing the number of the Interstate route number. A black and white sign with an arrow pointing the direction.

A pole may bear only one assembly, or it may bear as many as three.

Traffic and engineering studies are made to determine where to erect the Trail Blazers. The signs may be erected on city streets which are designated or marked as part of the State Highway System; or by agreement, on county roads and city streets which are not part of the State Highway System.

But no matter where they are located, the street or combination of streets which are selected as Trail Blazer routes will provide the shortest route in terms of travel time from a specific area to the Interstate highway or other controlled access highways.

As construction of the Interstate system proceeds, the Trail Blazer routes will be updated accordingly.

Easy to identify and simple to read, the Trail Blazers will point the way.

Hall County Soil Conservation District News

Considerable interest has developed in the Hall County Soil Conservation District the past few months about the sprigging of midland bermuda grass.

Midland bermuda grass can be sprigged on about any type of soil in Hall County provided the land can be irrigated or has a high water table. Usually a sandy loam soil is best suited for bermuda grass.

Midland bermuda grass must be sprigged from the roots. The grass will make a seed head but the seed will not germinate. The seedbed should be prepared flat for the sprigging machine. The bermuda grass is usually sprigged at the rate of 10 to 20 bushels per acre. The grass should be sprigged when the soil begins to warm up and until about September 1 under irrigated conditions. Bermuda grass is usually sprigged in 36 inch rows.

Fertilizer should be applied when the grass is sprigged. If you do not have a soils analysis on your farm, the usual rate to fertilize is 50 pounds of phosphate for the first application. Then throughout the growing season the grass should be fertilized with 50 lbs. of nitrogen per acre. Under proper management conditions a total of 200 pounds of nitrogen per acre is usually required per growing season, under irrigated conditions.

The grass will usually be ready to graze in 8 to 10 weeks after sprigging. It is best not to graze the grass heavy the first growing season thus allowing for root development and the grass to get properly established.

Cost-share assistance is available to farmers and ranchers in the Hall County SCD for the establishment of bermuda grass through the Great Plains Conservation Program and the Agricultural Conservation Program. Grass planted on cropland under the Great Plains Conservation Program and the Conservation Reserve Program maintains the crop history of the farm for the period of the Great Plains or Conservation Reserve contract plus an equal number of years that the grass is maintained.

For further information about midland bermuda grass contact your local Soil Conservation Service Personnel at the Court House in Memphis.

Are Chemicals Necessary For Farm Operation?

The "secret" of avoiding poisoning farm animals, or any other crop, with agricultural chemicals is to follow directions on the container, a Texas A&M College veterinarian says.

This tongue-in-cheek advice comes from Dr. R. D. Turk of the Veterinary Parasitology Department.

To all of us whether we live on the farm or reside in a town.

Good grassed waterways are a must for controlling water erosion on many farms. If you do not have a grassed waterway or you have one that does not function properly, all other parts of the water control system for your farm or field may fail too.

The next time you have a heavy rain on your farm, take a look at the natural drainageways and low areas in your field. Are there finger gullies on the field and silt bars in the low areas? If so, you should consider the need for a grassed waterway.

Properly established grassed waterways can be a profitable area. Besides serving as a water outlet for the field, it can be used for hay, grass seed production or limited grazing.

To you town people, grassed waterways are important in controlling erosion. Water coming from a washing field carries many tons of silt. If protection is not provided, this silt eventually makes its way to reservoirs and recreational areas causing untold damage. The next time you are on your favorite lake, walk up to the place where the water enters. See if there is a silt bar. This will tell you if the land is being protected from water erosion.

Grassed waterways are like a foundation that supports a house. The grassed waterway may be supporting all of the water conservation measures on the farm. Make sure your water conservation foundation is strong.

ment, a speaker at the 12th Annual Texas Agricultural Conference held at A&M.

Dr. Turk paraphrased the axiom: "When everything fails, try following the directions." But then there are always those who feel that if a little is good, a little more is better.

"We have the crop dusting off the spray or dust, and when they turn over pastures where some who poison themselves. However, these incidences are coming fewer and fewer."

Referring to current available publicity about adverse effects of pesticides upon livestock and wildlife, Dr. Turk posed this question to the 200 persons attending the conference: "Do we need chemicals?"

"If you have ever seen a bull, a bollweevil infested field, or a good pasture covered by army worms, the answer is yes," he said. "Some people say we don't need chemicals. Usually, we don't need insecticides, automatic washers, and things."

The veterinarian cited statistics showing how chemicals made U. S. farm production the world's best, and how chemicals have improved human health. He added that chemicals can be properly used.

"Certainly chemicals are necessary. So are automobiles, planes, electricity and even life. Did you know that last year more than 100,000 people were killed by misuse of aspirin as a recreational chemical. There are a few dozen people killed by chemicals. More than 35,000 were caused by automobiles," Turk said.

Port O'Connor Defies a Hurricane's Fury

General Telephone towns are on the move!

In September of 1961, the Texas Gulf resort and fishing center of Port O'Connor suffered almost total destruction from Hurricane Carla.

But the proud, determined and energetic community of about a thousand people, refused to admit defeat. Today, homes, business buildings and fishing facilities have been rebuilt larger, more permanently and with a fresh, new look.

Port O'Connor's amazingly complete come-back is another reason why we say that big things are happening in General Telephone towns.

Yes, towns in our service area are on the move. Community improvements are under way, local resources are being developed, new industries are coming in. If your town seeks additional information about this expansion, we are at your service. Just write our Community Development Dept., Box 1001, San Angelo, Texas.

Report From Washington

By WALTER ROGERS
Representative, 18th
Congressional District

HALF-PAST TEEN

must be viewed as such and not otherwise. It is the highest citizenship to which one can aspire. It should never be associated with a position less than first.

tion granting honorary citizenship to Sir Winston Churchill we set a precedent, but more than that, we fragmentize U. S. citizenship, and we create another citizenship category by statute. This should only be done, if at all, by the people of the United States of America by amendment to the Constitution.

"Sir Winston is a British subject. His first allegiance is to the British Crown. I am sure that Sir Winston is deeply proud of his citizenship and of the fact that he is a subject of the Queen. I do not believe that he would, under any circumstance, renounce that status, nor do I believe that he would support a proposal to extend honorary British citizenship to any human being unless that person would swear first allegiance to the British Crown. The first allegiance of Sir Winston Churchill will always be the British Crown. Hence, any status of citizenship granted him by this country must be in second place. I cannot subscribe to the position that citizenship of the United States should ever, in whole or in part, be secondary to that of any other government.

"The world and the United States are deeply indebted to Sir Winston Churchill for the great contributions that he has made as an individual who has lived during our times. I would not want to detract from his just due in the slightest. I would be one of the first to stand up and request unanimous support for a resolution paying just honor and tribute to a great statesman.

"I do not criticize those of you who adhere to different views on this resolution nor do I quarrel with anyone who does not care to join me. I express my views because I feel very deeply on the subject. Whatever may be the consequences or whatever may be the choice of others, my vote will never be cast to dilute the citizenship of the United States of America, nor will it be cast to yield the sovereignty of this Nation, in whole or in part, to any other individual or entity."

This was my position. When the vote in the House was taken, 377 Members answered "yea", and 21 of us voted "nay."

Those visiting in the home of Mrs. W. F. Hodnett and Carolyn over the weekend were Mrs. Guy Edens of Fort Worth, Mrs. Reba Messer and children Chubby, and Kathie of Plano, Mrs. Roland Salmon of Brice. Dinner guests Sunday were Roy Jenkins, and Gene Moore of Childress. That afternoon the group enjoyed an outing to Burson Lake and the Caprock where they took pictures.

and Winston Churchill honorary citizenship to Sir Winston Churchill. I would not for one minute permit my remarks to be used as a reflection on those who would take a position opposite to mine with reference to this resolution. My position is dictated solely by my feeling that U. S. citizenship is something sacred. It is my feeling, in keeping with the basic tenets of international law, that an individual is either a citizen of a country or he is not a citizen of a country. Citizenship does not come in varying degrees. It does not come in varying colors. It is not something that contains many fragmented facets that can be separated one from the other.

"Citizenship in the United States of America carries with it basic rights, privileges, powers, and immunities that have stemmed from the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. These are balanced by the burden and responsibilities that must be assumed if the rights, the privileges, the powers, and the immunities are to be preserved and protected. To me, citizenship in the United States of America does not require an adjective before it or an explanatory phrase behind it. It is a single unit that

When the issue before the House was granting honorary citizenship to Sir Winston Churchill, I voted my conviction. I voted his unquestionable status as one of the century's great statesmen. I could not in good conscience vote to grant honorary citizenship to Sir Winston Churchill when I had just voted my position before the House in these words:

It is only after a long and exhaustive search of the records that I take the floor to announce this resolution to grant
