The couple moved to Wilbarger County in 1941.

Mr. Gerlach preceded his wife in death in 1952.

She was a member of the Methodist Church.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Bernice Rivers of Plainview and Mrs. Hugh B. McCoy of Shiprock, N. M.; one grandson, Buddy Fred Rivers of Lubbock; one granddaughter, Mitzie McCoy of Shiprock, N. M.; one sister, Mrs. Leta Gerlach of Memphis; one brother, Eddy Haskett of Casper, Wyo.

Tuesday, three people were injured in a wreck at the intersection of State Highway 256 and FM 1041 west of Memphis.

Second Half LL Play Still Tied

The second half of play in the Little League is still tied up between the Indians and the Giants, each supporting a four win, two loss record.

The Tigers are in third place with a three, three record and the Yankees have a one win, five loss record.

With three more nights remaining, the Tigers, Indians or Giants could win the second half of play.

Schedule Changes
Due to "The Music Man" production, Friday night's games have been postponed to Saturday night, Coordinator Milton Miller said. The farm teams will play Thursday night (tonight), however, he said. Next Monday night will be the last games for the farm teams.

The LL Tuesday night will be held as scheduled. Then Thursday night at 6:30, the All Star team will begin area play-offs against Carson County All-Stars at Clarendon. If the All-Stars win, the Friday night games here will be postponed until the following Tuesday because the All-Stars will play in the finals Saturday night.

In last week's story on the All-Star team, one member of the team, Spencer Gilliam, was not named in the news story.

Week's Play
Friday night, the Giants defeated the Indians 7 to 6 with each team tallying four hits. Moss was the winning pitcher and Lockhart was the losing pitcher.

Also, Friday, the Tigers defeated the Yankees 15 to 13 in a high scoring contest. The Yankees had 14 hits and the Tigers 9 hits. McQueen was the winning pitcher and Carroll and McElreath were the pitchers for the Yankees.

Tuesday night, the Tigers outscored the Giants in a last inning rally to win the game 16 to 10. The losing pitcher was Dameron and the winning pitcher was Kilpatrick. Tome runs were hit by Smith and Smithee for the Giants.

The Indians sneaked by the Yankees Tuesday night 10 to 9. Pitching for the Yankees were Carroll and McElreath, while Band and Lockhart pitched for the Indians. Gilliam hit a home run for the Indians in the first inning.

LITTLE LEAGUE GIANTS—Shown above are members of the Little League Giants team which is presently in a first place tie with the Indians in the second half of play. On the second row from the left are: Junior Kennon, James Jerrel, Allen Velo, Ronnie Bradshaw, Bill Smithee, and Steven Smith.

Mid-year financial reports of the four county banks, which are being published this week, show continued stability in Hall County. Only a slight drop was seen in total assets and total deposits compared this time in 1963.

The statements of conditions of the four banks at the close of business on June 30, 1964, showed total assets at $12,366,452.59. The four institutions—First National Bank and First State Bank in Memphis, First National Bank in Lakeview, and Peoples State Bank in Turkey—listed the total deposits at $11,002,887.46. This year's figure of deposits is $195,362.07 less than that reported at this time one year ago.

Total assets showed a gain of $36,844.80, when compared to the figures released in June of 1963.

Loans and discounts of the four banks showed a decrease from those reported 12 months ago. In 1963, the figure was $6,597,712.53. As of June 30, it stood at $5,786,323.86. The difference in the financial picture for the county, as shown by loans and discounts, is $811,388.67.

Farm Bureau To Send Two Firemen To A&M Course

Hall County Farm Bureau is sponsoring the attendance of two volunteer firemen from this county at the 35th annual Texas A&M University at College Station, according to H. A. Hodges of Memphis, president.

Local volunteer firemen planning to attend are Wayne Hutcherson and Arvin Spencer, both of Memphis.

The training school is being conducted by the Engineering Extension Service in cooperation with the Texas Education Agency. The school furnishes up-to-date training and information on fire protection and prevention as well as fire-fighting techniques.

In addition to attending the regular courses at the school, volunteer firemen sponsored by Farm Bureau will also attend two special seminars July 20 and 21 dealing with rural fire protection.

Farm Bureau pays $52.50 of the $57.50 tuition for sponsored members of local volunteer fire departments. This covers lodging and meals for the one-week course. Across the state, some 59 county Farm Bureaus are cooperating with the Texas Farm Bureau Mutual Insurance Company of Waco in helping defray expenses of 140 volunteer firemen in attending the school.

H. A. Hodges pointed out that Farm Bureau carries on a year-round fire prevention and fire protection program. Joe Smetana, Waco, Texas Farm Bureau safety director, has presented a fire prevention demonstration to 140 schools and 30 clubs in the past year. The TFB Mutual Company also pays $75 to local fire departments answering a call outside city limits to fight fires involving property of Farm Bureau insureds.

Something To Do

There was a day not too long ago when a generation of Americans came home from school and found a lot of chores waiting for them.

There was wood to be chopped or coal to be carried, errands to run, cows to milk, pigs and chickens to feed, water to be pumped from the well, and what seemed to be a multitude of other responsibilities that solidified the home. Then came supper, school lessons, and finally bedtime. Next day there were more chores before breakfast and then off to school again.

We were not too fond of these chores, and would have avoided them if possible. But Dad was in the barn and Mom was in the kitchen; they were the authorities, and their word was law. From them we learned the meaning and value of discipline; we also learned to love and respect them.

Along came another generation and with it, electricity, supermarkets, modern plumbing, station wagons, and many other "work-savers" associated with prosperity. Living came easy but the price was high.

Dad came out of the barn, and Mom came out of the kitchen door with her arms full of frozen TV dinners. Meanwhile, the kids took to the woods. Junior coined a new phrase for an alibi, "There ain't nothin' to do."

Family problems have now become a national problem. We are told that 40 percent of the younger men who came before medical boards in the armed forces during World War II were rejected for physical or mental unfitness. This figure is certainly higher today.

Since 1957, according to the FBI, crime has increased nearly 50 percent, and many worried officials are asking, "How much crime can this nation stand before we have a total police state?"

We do not pretend to know all the answers, but we have learned some of them from the kids who have been with us the past 25 years. At Boys Ranch, Dad is "still in the barn" and Mom is "still in the kitchen." There is still a multitude of chores being done, and our boys know the value of the dollar they are earning by doing them.

All of our boys over 8-year-old walk an average of five miles every day, in addition to the exercise they get in athletics. Even the youngest Ranchers walk about two miles each day. We believe that if you run the wind out of a boy, he will lie down instead of throwing rocks. This is why our boys are busy the year-round with more than a dozen sports, and the many chores that have to be done around their home.

When a Boys Rancher comes home at the end of the day, he is a happy youngster, and ready for bed. He is filled with a pride of personal accomplishment that has come by fulfilling his daily responsibilities, and when the sun goes down, he finds he never had time to say, "There ain't nothin' to do."

State Ad Valorem Tax May Be Abolished

Local governments in Texas may be the main benefactors if the state government winds up the current fiscal period with an $80,000,000 surplus. Governor John Connally recently predicted that the big surplus was a possibility.

Should such a surplus be reached, Connally told newsmen, it is "fairly" certain he will recommend abolishing the ad valorem tax on property for state revenue purposes. This would leave that source of revenue exclusively to local governments.

Connally said $20,000,000 of the expected surplus could be set aside in a special fund to retire college building bonds which are backed by ad valorem tax contributions.

In predictions that the surplus will not be less than $75,000,000 and probably will reach the $80,000,000 figure, the governor joined those who have contended all along that the general revenue fund will be so far in the black by 1965 that new tax problems will be eased, if not erased.

Local governments which are desperately in need of additional revenue, in a majority of cases include counties, cities, school districts, and water and hospital districts.

Know What You Are Voting For

This is the time of year, as November approaches, that the "Get Out the Vote" campaign begins to warm up.

Here in Post and Garza County, we rarely come face-to-face with these campaigns, since they're largely confined to the more populous centers. But, most of us get at least one reminder in one form or another that such campaigns are shaping up.

One attractive leaflet we've seen is entitled "Just One Vote" and is aimed squarely at the eligible voters who stay away from the polls. Any they amount to a disgracefully large number. In 1960, a presidential election year, more than a third of the voters failed to exercise their right of franchise—a right which is at the very heart of representative government and a free society. In the off-year elections of 1962 the showing was worse still, with more than half of the eligible voters staying away from the polls.

So much for facts and figures. Another point needs stressing. The country doesn't need "Just Voters." It needs "Informed Voters."

men and women who study the issues and the positions of the candidates, all the way from town to country to Capitol Hill and the White House, and know exactly what they are voting for.

So, when the time comes—vote, and vote intelligently for the people and the principles you believe in. It appears that there will be a wide variety of both this election year.—Post Dispatch.

Earlier this week a small news release appeared on the inside page of the nation's newspapers. Although it was a small release in space it is very important news to ranchers and agricultural communities.

The news release was from Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman in which he stated that the U. S. Agriculture Department was recommending a change in the grading of beef for human consumption. Under present grading, mature beef has been given the advantage which encouraged the feeding and marketing of beef at heavy weights. It had been maintained that beef must be heavily fed with marbelization of fat to give flavor to beef.

Recent tests, according to Freeman, have proved that taste and flavor may be obtained in lighter animals thereby refuting the old assumption. The discriminating housewife has been insisting on leaner beef to such an extent that butchers have found it expedient to remove the marbelized fat before placing it in the display case.

A change in the grading of beef to properly recognize baby beef will result in the earlier marketing of beef with a resulting favorable price picture for the cattleman. It will also give the housewife a wider selection of beef with cuts more to her liking.

We realize that this is small solace to the cattleman in the present depressed price picture. Yet, there is hope and a silver lining in future years if the new gradings are adopted.—Dalhart Texan.

Palo Duro Canyon State Park

Etched deeply in the high plains of the Panhandle, just south of Amarillo, lies a spectacular gorge, widely renowned for its scenic beauty. This is Palo Duro Canyon, a great 15,000 acre state park of Texas. You enter it on a road which winds for miles along the bottom of the vast gorge. You see many remarkable formations such as the "Lighthouse" and "Balanced Rock" which have been formed by centuries of erosion which created the Canyon. As you drive slowly along the Canyon's beauty is enhanced by constant changes in delicate coloring. Coronado explored the Canyon in 1541, and in 1876 Col. Goodnight drove the first wagon train down a huge rock slide into its great gulf. Palo Duro Canyon is easily reached on major highways through many of our towns, and is a high spot in places to go and things to see in General Telephone Country.

University had a vision of this world organization while at prayer in 1933. Mrs. Latham of Australia, who is now the president, says that the women at their meetings are so full of joy in the strength of the Holy Spirit's power they are ready to do God's will.

Mrs. L. G. DeBerry gave an informative report of her recent trip to Mt. Sequoia, Fayetteville, Ark., where she attended the Jurisdiction School of Missions. Mrs. DeBerry has recently been elected president of the Woman's Society of Childress District. She told about a panel of three visiting students from Malaysia, India, and South Rhodesia. Each drew on a large board his impressions of America in comparison with his working toward a better understanding among nations.

Mrs. DeBerry was privileged to hear the author of our study book on Genesis, Dr. Chas. Kraft of Northwestern University, lecture. He stated that the Genesis book of the Bible is the greatest drama ever written.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health.

AUSTIN—Housewives normally wash dishes three times daily in a sinkful of suds. A flick of her wrist when dishes are done, and dishwasher vanishes down the drain.

The discarded water, laden with suds, joins other liquid wastes and flows along a network of pipes to a community sewage treatment plant. Here plant specialists apply modern scientific processes to clean up or "degrade" the waste materials.

After the chemical cleansing, the water is shunted into a creek or river or bayou.

Given the right equipment and the right personnel, there are no special difficulties inherent in handling the ordinary range of municipal wastes. But when it comes to degrading some of the popular modern-day detergents which housewives are so fond of for dishes and laundry, city sewage plant managers are temporarily stumped.

Their problem: what to do with the suds?

It is a particularly difficult question to answer in states where cities and industries border a single river, using and re-using the same water. Foam accumulates with each deposit of waste water from thousands of sinks and washing machines.

The result is drinking water with a head on it like a stein of beer. Besides its possible adverse effects on human health, it is aesthetically unpleasant to drink. And it is unsuitable for many industrial uses.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN
by Vern Sanford

Pot Won't Boil Over
Even a watched pot boil over occasionally.
To prevent kettles from bubbling all over your outdoor cooking fire, cut a couple of green hardwood sticks and lay them across the top of the utensil.

Removing Shot From Quail
If you've ever clamped your choppers down on embedded shot, when eating quail, you will appreciate this hint:
After skinning a quail, hold the carcass up to strong light. Shot then will be silhouetted . . . much as in an X-ray . . . and can be quickly removed.

Arrow Baukdrop
An archer living in town is faced with a serious problem when target practicing. Too many times an arrow will miss the target and do great damage in a crowded neighborhood.
Eliminate the danger by stretching a wool rug behind the target to catch stray arrows. To be most effective stretch it far beyond the four sides of the target.

Keep A Straight Tongue
Hunters often have a hard time keeping the tongues straight in their boots, causing great discomfort when walking.
Prevent this by cutting two slits on each side of the boot tongue; two near the top and two midway between top and bottom. Run laces through each of these four slits and further trouble will be eliminated.

Handy Boat Bailer
No need for duck hunters to sit in a boat with their feet in cold water.
Come prepared with a couple of boat bailers made by cutting L-angle openings in plastic bleach bottles.
But be sure the opening is cut out opposite the handle.

Pheasant Shooting Suggestion
Now that pheasant shooting has become popular with Texans, it might help to tip off you Lone Star sportsmen as to the best spot to aim for when you press the trigger at a rising bird.
Texans, because of their unfamiliarity with this type of bird hunting, are apt to be fooled into dropping their lead by the pheasant's long tail. Always shoot for the head and mid-section, and

Beware The Safety Button
Many a hunter has shot himself, or somebody else, simply because he relied too heavily on the safety catch on his shotgun.
Safety on shotguns are apt to give a sportsman a false sense of security. All the safety snap does is block the triggers so they can't be pulled.
It doesn't block the hammers so they can't fall and hit the firing pins. And hammers are what fire the guns!

Picking Best Pup In Litter
Often the best looking pup in a litter won't necessarily make the best hunting dog. It's the nose that counts, not the looks.
To find the sharpest nose among the pups, turn them out in the yard and scatter a fistful of meat chunks around. The pup that noses out the most meat has the sharpest hunting nose.
Keep him!

Finding Camp In Dark
Coming in to camp on a dark night takes precision and a certain ability many of us don't have.
You can find the camp on the blackest night if you will tack up car reflectors on trees in a circle some distance from camp.
Your flashlight then will guide you in.

Teaching The Retriever
Now and then a retriever will acquire the bad habit of chewing the ducks he retrieves.
This can ruin a lot of good meat if carried in excess.
Habit is hard to break, but it can be done.
Train him with a "duck" made of a tin can, weighted, and with duck wings and tail attached to it realistically.

Dusk Shooting Made Easier
A lot of good shooting is passed up because darkness blots out good gun sight focus.
You can get in quite a few accurate shots even after the light gets dim by touching up the bead of your front sight with white enamel. It will show up clear and bright against the indistinct form of your target.

Keep Gunstock Polished
There is no excuse for you to carry around a gun with a dull finished stock when you can keep it glowing with a soft luster, with little effort.
Simply crush the meat from half a dozen pecans or walnuts and keep these crushed nut kernels in a piece of cotton cloth.
Tie the cloth ends securely, then rub wood thoroughly with this oily pad.

Finally, polish the stock to a high gloss with a clean cloth.

Don't Stall Car In Midstream
There are few situations more annoying than having your car stall in midstream on a cold wintry day. Not only do you get thoroughly soaked trying to get the car out, but it sometimes takes hours to get the engine started again.
You can lessen the danger of having this tragedy happen to you if you will, before entering the stream, loosen the fan belt so it won't splash water on the spark plugs and the ignition system, or ruin the fan blades by rotating too fast.
Also, as you enter the stream, pull out the choke or throttle and ride the clutch to keep the engine revving high.
If yours is a late model passenger car, just don't try to ford the stream!

Almost as tragic as having your car stall in midstream on a cold day is to traverse some back road and have the wheels of your car sink deep in loose sand.
The more you spin the wheels, the deeper they sink. So, don't do it!
Stop at the first wheel spin, get out, walk to the nearest water, fill a pail, or your hat, then douse water around both rear wheels to pack the sand.
This will enable you to drive out with relative ease.

Handy Water Carrier For Dog
Waterholes are scarce in Texas during bird hunting season. This makes finding water a problem when hunting.
Avoid this dilemma by carrying under your coat a well filled hot water bottle. Cold water, however!
When your dog needs a drink, line a shallow hole in the ground with aluminum foil to form a drinking dish for the dog. Then fill the "dish" from the water bag and let him drink.

Keeping Bread Fresh
Bread is a hard commodity to keep fresh on a camping trip.
You can do so, however, if you will buy bread that is packaged in a plastic bag. Or use your wife's plastic clothes-dampening bag.
Place the bread inside the bag, squeeze out the air, then zipper up the fastener.
This will keep the bread in good condition.

Hall County Soil Conservation District News

The limiting factor in the production of wheat and other small grains in the Hall County Soil Conservation District is moisture. We all know that with irrigation or an exceptionally wet spring we can produce more than twice the average yields. Where irrigation water is not available and in a limited rainfall area, we must make every effort to conserve the moisture that we get.

Crop residue use or management is one way of saving our moisture on land that has been planted to small grains. This residue should be maintained on the soil surface. This cover or residue slows down evaporation, retards runoff and keeps the land from blowing.

The best way to maintain the residue on the soil surface is with sweep type equipment. Only about 10 percent of the residue is destroyed or covered up with equipment. When a disc or one-way is used, they cover up about 25 percent each time over the field.

Weed control is another important factor. A heavy weed crop through the summer can get all of our moisture and cause a failure next winter. Weeds use from 3 to 4 times as much moisture as wheat.

By using and managing crop residues it is possible to increase your yields up to 20 to 30 percent. This much increase in yields is enough to double your net profit. We need to plan throughout the year to conserve our soil and moisture. By planning ahead and taking the necessary steps at the right time, we can improve our soil and yields through the use of crop residue.

Your Soil Conservation Service technicians are available to assist you in developing soil and water conservation measures for your farm or ranch.

CJC Offering Contracts To Haul Students

Contracts to transport students from surrounding towns to Clarendon Junior College are available through student car contracts, college officials announced.

A student who resides in an area town may enter into a contract with the college to transport other students from this area, it was explained.

The driver-student is paid according to the distance each student travels. There must be a minimum of three students riding with the driver before the group is eligible for a contract.

The college will pay two cents per mile plus a set per dollar fee, which is available on each student rider. Over 60 miles travel one way, $10 per rider per month is offered. Under 30 miles one way, $5 per rider per month is offered.

Students who ride with a contract driver may also pay him a like amount each month.

Such a contract enables a student to drive his car to school at almost no expense to himself and provides the same transportation for those who ride with him at a very nominal cost.

Students desiring to negotiate such a contract should contact the Dean's office as soon as possible. It is preferred that these contracts be confirmed before a school term begins.

Light Boll Weevil Infestations Are Seen Near Hall

Light boll weevil infestations exist in at least two counties near Hall County, W. B. Hooser, County Agriculture Agent, said.

During the last ten days, punctured squares have been found in counties near Hall, and it is likely other infestations may show up soon, he said.

These light weevil populations now appearing near Hall County should be controlled at once in order to prevent a buildup and spread of the weevils. Most of these early populations near Hall County are confined to small areas and can be controlled without spraying the entire field.

Producers in Hall County should begin weevil control programs when the punctured square count reaches 10 to 15 per cent. More difficulty and expense will be encountered if populations are allowed to build up to high levels before control is started.

In order to avoid the heavy populations and late migration which occurred last year, good control measures must be carried out. The success of a diapause control program this fall may depend on how well boll weevil infestations are contained during the season, Hooser said.

PCA Urges Farm Safety Week Observation

Farm and ranch families throughout the United States will observe the twenty-first annual National Farm Safety Week, July 19-25, and are being urged by participating agencies and firms to utilize good safety practices in an effort to decrease the more than 2,000 non-traffic rural fatalities that occur in the nation each year.

The Production Credit Associations of Texas, home-owned and operated agricultural financing institutions, are cooperating with the National Safety Council, the U. S. Department of Agriculture and various other agencies in the promotion of safety among the nation's rural population.

A slogan of "Safer American Families Everywhere" is being utilized, and emphasis this year is being placed on safe use of pesticides and tractors.

"Both pesticides and tractors are safe if they are used safely," commented James Van Pelt, general manager of the Memphis Production Credit Association.

Van Pelt urged that farm and ranch families throughout Childress, Collingsworth, Cottle, Donley, Foard, Hall, Hardeman, Motley and eastern Briscoe counties, served by the operator-owned Memphis Production Credit Association, observe proper safety rules this year around to help decrease loss of life and costly lost-time accidents.

The observance of safety rules in the use of pesticides and tractors will eliminate many costly accidents each year, Van Pelt said. Tractor accidents are caused chiefly by tipping, falls, power take-off, runover and highway collision, he said, and proper safety precautions will prevent many of these accidents.

In 1962, according to the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, there were 2,245 fatal accidents on U. S. farms and ranches, excluding traffic and home accidents. Highest number of fatal accidents occurred with machinery and highest incidence of fatalities occurred in the 15-19 age bracket, the figures revealed.

There are also several simple suggestions for the safe use of pesticides, he said, which will eliminate most of the serious accidents resulting from dusting and spraying: follow directions

Representative, 18th

Military Manpower
The present Selective Service law will not expire for another year but one of the sub-commissions to receive increasing attention in the months ahead is the "draft" again should be amended, modified, or suspended altogether. The President has ordered a comprehensive study of the draft system to be introduced in the Congress to establish a Presidential commission to study the draft and make recommendations. An act would require that the Secretary of Defense submit within 90 days an alternate to the draft on a voluntary system of conscription.

cent of eligible men will, for one reason or another, be excused from serving. Our armed forces simply do not need all the young men becoming eligible for the draft.

Exempted from service are men with criminal records or moral shortcomings, men who are mentally or physically below "standard" (and "standard" is arbitrary and subject to change), men who can stay in college until they reach 26 and thus beyond reach of the draft, men whose employes can make a case for their being essential, men who marry early.

Only one man in every 30 now in the Armed Forces is a draftee. However, one of the arguments against doing away with the draft is that young men no longer "join up". One study indicates that approximately 20 percent of first-term Army enlistees did feel that the draft was of "some influence." But 63 percent, the study indicated, probably would have joined the Army in any case. Advocates of plans for substituting a voluntary system for the draft say that enlistment rates could be increased by boosting pay in lower enlisted grades and by lowering eligibility standards.

Whatever the approach, the objective of the studies would be to let the President and Congress know the facts so that they properly evaluate two fully developed systems, one voluntary and one compulsory, for meeting the military manpower requirements.

President Johnson has noted that we may have drifted from the original idea of universal military conscription based on the belief that all should share the obligations of military service equally and in accordance with a fair and equitable system. How have we drifted? The central facts are these: The draft now calls on the average of about 90,000 men a year. Nation in which 1.4 million men each year reach the age of 18, more than 670,000 of 14 million youths annually are 18 will be needed for military service so long as our manpower requirements remain constant at 2.7 million. Only about 85 percent of theoretically eligible will ever be in uniform. Although Americans think of our military system as one requiring military service, 42 percent of eligible men will, for one reason or another, be excused from serving. Our armed forces simply do not need all the young men becoming eligible for the draft.

I believe we should embark on serious and realistic studies to determine whether or not our military manpower requirements can be fully met through a system of

Donations Provide For Stage Flats

Private citizens and several Memphis firms, through generous donations, have equipped the Community Auditorium stage with a complete set of stage scenery.

This is in addition to the proscenium curtain, concert curtain, ceiling borders, end and back cycloramas, listed in last week's story as having been donated to dress the stage in the Community Center.

The equipment consists of two stage wagons on casters and enough reversible flats and door voluntary recruitment. Perhaps the results of such studies will indicate that there is no satisfactory alternative to the draft, but I believe such studies should be made. A great strength of our legislative process is that it permits study, reflection, and debate in advance of decisions of vital issues. So it is with questions affecting the draft. By going to work on the problem now, Congress will be well prepared to make sound, responsible decisions when next called upon to consider the Selective Service law and its impact.

Corkwood trees in the Lower Brazos Valley furnish the lightest wood native to United States.

flats to make four scenes, 24 feet wide or eight scenes 12 feet wide. The flats are mounted on metal hooks at the top and bottom of the stage wagons and the scene is changed in ten seconds by turning the wagon or by turning the flats over on the wagon, depending on the requirements of the dramatic production.

The white pine from which the 16 flats, two single doors and one set of double doors was built was donated by Memphis Lumber Company, managed by E. E. Roberts, and Cicero Smith Lumber Co., managed by Gene Lindsey.

Casters for the stage wagons were donated by Thompson Bros. Hardware Co. and canvas to cover both sides of the reversible flats and doors was donated by Hall Plant, Postex Cotton Mills, managed by Fred Eyerly.

Mayor H. J. Howell donated $10 on door hardware and paint and the Lions Club, with Billy Ray Jones as president, donated the remainder of the hardware, the glue, base paint, nails, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn McKown and sons, Lowell and Kenneth, were responsible for the designing and construction of the equipment.

The flats and doors have been painted with a latex base paint so that scenery may be painted with water paint to fit the occasion.

The water painted scenes may then be sponged off with clear water and the flats can be repainted for another production. The two stage wagons are put together with thumb bolts for easy dismantling for storage when not in use. The flats and doors were designed to fit upright and be stored in the prop room along with the three-fold end flats donated by the Delphian Club last March.

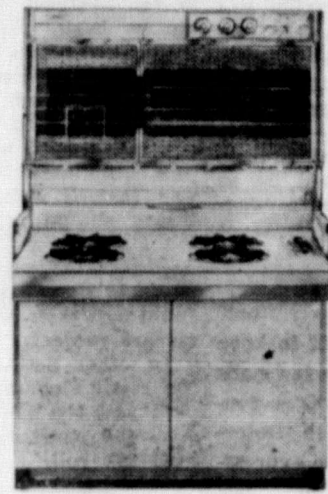

An outdoor scene was also painted on the roll-up type backdrop, which was donated by the Delphian Club in April. The scene, painted by Mrs. Lynn McKown, Mrs. Jack Rose and Jessie Murdoch is of soft mid-summer colors with tall trees on each side of a still brook.

All the equipment donated is the property of the community and is to remain at all times in the building. It is not to be borrowed, but is to be used by the community in the Community Center, it was explained.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

A hot day in August is a good day to wash the boat. Put it in shallow water and, wearing your bathing suit, you can slosh and throw around all the water you want. Modern motors aren't damaged by any moderate amount of accidental water. Be sure to get the scum off the bottom—in some areas even fresh-water algae have been known to cut speed by as much as four mph. Use a long-handled brush for larger boats; it will do a faster job.

A clean cockpit is always nice, and in these days of fewer floorboards, it takes less work to keep it that way. Pouring in a few pails of water and detergent is a popular way of doing the job. Detergents and soaps packaged expressly for boats are excellent, but household detergents are often satisfactory. Use a sponge on any obviously dirty spots. Try a more powerful industrial detergent if necessary. Some boat owners then get rid of the water, if they've been careful not to pour in more than several pails, by taking a spin and opening the drain plug. Of course the whole process can be repeated. Another popular method is to wash the boat at a marina or waterfront boat-service shop, wheeling up a power pump to clear out the dirty water. Even small waterfront establishments are likely to have such no-effort pumps today, and all you have to do is to ask for them, for most often they're kept out of sight and half the customers don't know about them, according to Willard Crandall, Boats Editor of Sports Afield Magazine.

I hope you haven't lined your pier with tire casing, a one-time favorite, for if you have, I don't want to land there. Black marks on the side of the boat result, and they are difficult to remove. Discarded fire hose, another old favorite, prevents gouges and puts no rub marks on the boat. It's generally hard to obtain, though. Now you can buy not-too-expensive plastic pier liners, mostly foam, to do a complete job. Of course, there are plastic fenders on the market, too, to hang over the side of your boat when you land, particularly if you dock at an unpadded pier. And fenders of older materials still do a good job.

Commissioners—

black top work and the amount the county is to receive on the airport work, has been set up so each of the two parties have agreed to the work exchange.

The four precincts of Hall County will work together on the county's share of the work outlined in the contract on a joint cooperative basis. This work includes the construction of runways at Memphis Municipal Airport. The county will load gravel trucks, haul gravel, run maintainers and dozer and haul water.

A stipulation of the contract was that if rains or any other things should come up whereby the Commissioners felt that they needed their equipment to drag roads in the county, then they could pull their equipment off the airport project.

In other action by the court, the regular monthly bills were paid and the reports accepted. Also the court approved the annual tax roll.

some life-long friends, and we will never forget the enjoyment of working with the students of Memphis.

"I would like to express my appreciation and thanks to the school board for the fine cooperation of the past years. You have been extra nice and it has been a pleasure to serve," Thomson said.

Thomson has served in a principal capacity in Memphis for the past 11 years. He was Austin Elementary principal until 1960 when he became junior high principal and was assigned other duties.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomson have two children, Randy, 10, a fifth grader, and Ronnie, who is a senior in Texas Tech. The Thomsons are members of the First Baptist Church, here.

Mr. Thomson stated the family would be moving to Shallwater before August 1.

officer nominees, who have been selected by the areas of the state. Voting delegates to the National FFA Convention in Kansas in October will be elected.

Awarded Trip
Durwood Wilkinson, another Memphis FFA lad, has been awarded an expense paid trip to the National FFA Convention in Kansas City by Southwestern Public Service.

Durwood was notified of the award last Thursday when he was attending the Electric Short Course of Southwestern Public Service in Amarillo. Durwood competed for the trip in the electrical heating division. Attending the short course beside Durwood was Robert Maddox.

The state convention will select a sweetheart from the ten candidates elected by the areas and also the top talent team in the state.
