Council Receives Engineers Report On Sewage Plant

Wayland Merriman and Gene Barber, consulting engineers of Pampa, submitted to the Memphis City Council a report on the status, and a preliminary design and cost estimates for a proposed new sewage treatment plant of the city, at the Tuesday night meeting of the council.

The council accepted the report and voted to make application to the State Health Department for a grant of 30 percent of the actual cost of the plant under Public Law 660. The amount would be later determined by the contractors' bids, it was explained.

included several interesting statements: 1. The projected population for Memphis by about 1980 is 5,000 people. 2. The existing sewage treatment plant is outmoded and has no salvage value. It should be abandoned and a new plant constructed.

The Quitauque boys team is still on top in District 12-B and in the girls race, the Estelline girls and the Quitauque girls are all tied up, each having lost to the other.

Probably the key game played in the district was at Estelline last Friday night in the girls division. The Quitauque girls were undefeated and the Estelline girls had only one loss to Quitauque.

The contest was sponsored by the American Legion, and Tony was accompanied by Hubert Dennis, chairman of the youth enlargement division of Simmons-Noel Post No. 175.

Cyclone To Host Bucks Here Fri.

The Memphis Cyclone will host two District 2-A powers Friday and Tuesday nights in what promises to be real action packed basketball games.

Tomorrow night the White Deer Bucks will come calling and the Cyclone would like to renew the defeat the Bucks gave them at White Deer. Both teams are even matched and the game should prove to be a good one.

Then, Tuesday night, the Cyclone will host the Wellington Skyroockets, and the grudge battle will continue. The Cyclone has taken it on the nose from Wellington all season and this is the first time the two teams have met in Cyclone gym.

Probably the most amazing demonstration of shooting the Memphis fans have seen in many seasons occurred at the local gym Friday night when the Cyclone took a 102 to 68 victory from Canadian.

Texas' Tourist Boom

A publicity release from the Texas Tourist Development Agency dated Jan. 31 contained a year-end survey of visitors invading Texas attractions during 1964 and the conclusion was drawn that the final figure was record breaking.

For numerous years Texas rocked along unmindful of the many attractions of this state and did little or no publicizing of them and at the result, states like Colorado, New Mexico, California, etc., were considered the only places where Texans should vacation. But, times changed and Texans began to wake up.

With the invention of air conditioned cars, motels and hotels, restaurants, etc., the hot states began to come into their own as summer vacation areas. Texas has always had its fair share of winter-time visitors from the cold states up north, but in the summertime, when most vacations are taken, few felt that Texas was much of a place to vacation.

But times have changed. The Texas Tourist Development Agency explained that an increasingly significant portion of the increase was a rising volume of out-of-state guests. Note was also taken of swelling Mexican and Canadian markets.

The across the board increase for the year was 14 per cent. This was identical with the mid-year tabulation. The first half only recorded a 6 per cent out-of-state increase while the second half showed a climb of 24 per cent at representative sites.

Included in the tabulation were 18 attractions plus the state parks. They are situated in every part of Texas. The Panhandle Plains Museum at Canyon was the check point for the Panhandle, and the Museum reported that it had 89,329 visitors last year who came from 50 states and 73 foreign nations.

The Canyon Museum had more visitors than did the Fort Davis National Historic Site in far West Texas which had 86,509 visitors. Even though Fort Davis is only in its first full year of operation as a national facility, it attracted 10,000 more visitors than the more established and better-known Fort Laramie National Historic Site in Wyoming.

The report listed the actual figure increases this way. Together all check points reported hosting 24,989,714 visitors an increase of 3,006,484 over 1963.

Six Flags Over Texas and the John F. Kennedy Memorial Causeway near Corpus Christi each reported identical 24 per cent increases in non-Texas business. The Southwestern Historical Wax Museum in Dallas' Fair Park reported its non-Texas business accounted for half of all tickets sold last year. The Old Stone Fort in Nacogdoches reported a sharp increase in out-of-state visitors.

The Aquarena at San Marcos talked of a 76 per cent gain in the Dec-Jan. period compared with the same period a year earlier. A tremendous increase in visitors from Mexico was noted.

Midwestern and Canadian visitors was also giving the Wonder Cave in San Marcos a brisk winter business. Lake Texoma Assn. said its nearly 8.2 million visitors last year exceeded by Cameron County Park had an unprecedented year.

The largest single percentage of increase was recorded by Nacogdoches Old Stone Fort whose 5,268 added visitors last year accounted for a 41 per cent gain over 1963.

In our area, many times we laughed at statements made in a joking way: "I understand that tourists are easier to pick than cotton" . . . but Texas as a state is making an all-out bid for its share of tourists' dollar. A sign which has been seen for a few years, "See Texas First," gives us a good lesson.

Recently we heard a good travel program given to a civic club about the beauties and interesting facts of Big Bend Park by Waller Diggs. He encouraged those attending to make a trip to the park.

This summer, make your plans to do your vacationing in Texas. When you can say you have seen Texas, then tour the U.S.A.

Permanency For Government Records

The merits of cotton fiber are recognized by the masses, and its competitors, the synthetics, have been making inroads for the past 20 years. One of its uses, in the making of paper, is little known.

Recently Congressman Silvio Conte of Massachusetts recommended that all permanent government records be printed on 100 per cent cotton paper. His reason: to increase their endurance.

He pointed out that a report from the National Bureau of Standards shows continued use of microfilm records will damage them beyond repair. He said, "I am interested in seeing that future records be kept on material that will last centuries. The alternative to present materials would be 100 per cent cotton fiber paper, which endures."

It's a suggestion which even the most voluble of political critics will have trouble finding fault. His idea would not only solve the problem of permanency in government records, but would go a long way toward solving the problem of permanency in our cotton surplus as well.

A wise man once said that most every family would be improved if parents would get back on spanking terms with their children.

To the optimist it is a rose bush, but to the pessimist it is a bush of thorns.

What Other Editors Say

Bring Goodwill

A phone call to our office about this time of year four or five years ago was from a reader who had just read an abusive letter to the editor which we published. The caller said she didn't think we deserved it and that she was calling because of her own New Year's resolution to try to do something every day to make someone happy.

She continued, saying that she had always been aware of the unhappiness created by idle gossip, biting words and the thoughtlessness of unkind persons. And she said it occurred to her that she had been guilty of these same habits without realizing it.

She had resolved that during the New Year, she was going to spread a little goodwill each day instead of adding to the heavy load of her friends and neighbors already were carrying.

In this instance, she invested perhaps five minutes of her time in the noble cause of bringing a little happiness into the life of a fellow human being.

When we consider the many, many opportunities which are ours every day to spread a little sunshine and when we are brought face to face with our dire neglect, we find it difficult to soothe our consciences.

That the world is full of troubled people we know all too well. Even in our limited circle of acquaintances there are those who have experienced a recent bereavement, who are experiencing domestic difficulties who are troubled over economic security, who are perplexed over wayward children, who are suffering ill health, who are lonely and blue.

We have it within our power to ease these burdens. And the cost of this priceless balm is nil perhaps a telephone call, perhaps a letter, perhaps a visit, perhaps a few words of friendship or sympathy expressed by a card.

Most of us neglect this ministry not because we want to, not because we lack good intentions, but because it just hasn't occurred to us because we lack the self-discipline necessary to avoid procrastination, or because we underestimate our own ability to be of service to our fellowmen.

Only way we can bring discipline into our own lives in this respect is to follow a definite plan such as the one mentioned by the woman who phoned us. If we train ourselves to do just one kind act each day . . . it becomes as much a part of our routine as brushing our teeth . . . and we find that at the end of the year we will have 365 stars added to our "crown."

We all are prone to phone that neighbor or acquaintance when we want to call his hand for something he has done which displeased us when his dog treads on our lawn, when his trash blows into our yard. We are quick to tell him what it is about him we don't like. We all call the newspaper when it left out our story or perhaps let a mistake slip by. But why not be just as diligent in spreading goodwill as we are in dispensing gloom?—H. M. Baggarly in The Tulsa Terald.

Greene gave a most enjoyable review of "The Fatal Weakness," a comedy in three acts written by George Kelly.

"Poor Papa," and a woman doctor at that she says.

"The two women agree that the affair has probably been going on for months. Mabel asks if Mr. Espenshade has been doing a lot of looking at himself, doing a lot of whistling, not home evenings?"

"The two plot to have Minerva Nichols to do the syring and Ollie says, 'What time will you call me? I have to go to a wedding at St. Stephens.'"

Mrs. Espenshade is never absent from a wedding.

"Penny, the Espenshade's daughter, comes for a visit about the time Mr. Espenshade arrives and Penny admires his suit and how young he looks, Penny and her father get along beautifully, says to her mother, 'I think you'd better watch him. I think he has plans.' At that Ollie says, 'He's being watched.'"

"Mrs. Wenz says she is having some funny shoulder pains and that she had gone to town for tablets and Penny says, 'Why don't you go to a woman osteopath?'"

"I didn't know there was such a thing."

"Oh, yes, I think there are. There are women osteopaths, aren't there, Popsy?"

Popsy, busy hunting some golf tees in a console drawer, answers absentmindedly, "I don't know. I never heard of one. Why, has somebody dislocated something?"

He poo-poo's Mrs. Wenz's shoulder trouble. "If you'll just lean heavily upon me," he offers, "You'll be astounded at what it'll do for you."

When they leave, Mrs. Espenshade asks Penny about Vernon and how they are getting along to learn that Vernon has been gone for two nights because they had a discussion about a couple having been married for more than 20 years, the man was having a romance. Vernon said if they had stayed together that long he thought they should be sufficiently adjusted to spend the rest of their time together. And I didn't agree with him.

Mrs. Espenshade asked her if Vernon knew this married man and Penny said she did not know if he did or not. During their conversation Vernon calls and asks for Penny but she does not want to talk to him but Ollie invites him over and Penny leaves.

Mrs. Espenshade tells the maid, Anna, not to mention that Penny has been there. Then Anna reminds her that she has an appointment for three o'clock and it is now past two. Did I say what the appointment was, Anna?

"I believe it was a wedding at St. Stephens Church, whose wedding is it?"

"I don't know, Anna, but their pictures were in Sunday's paper, and she is the most beautiful thing you've ever seen in your life." Anna looks at her curiously as she continues, "And the young man she's marrying is quite a good-looking."

Act Two finds Mrs. Espenshade returning from the wedding. Mr. Espenshade calls that he is having dinner at the club and Vernon calls that he wants to see his mother-in-law right away, also, Mrs. Wenz has called.

The door bell rings and it is Mrs. Wenz to report on the snoopings of Winnie Nichols; Mr. Espenshade did go to the Country Club but only stayed about fifteen minutes and then he had picked up the woman osteopath, that her name is Dr. Claudia Hilton, and that Minnie had followed them around for nearly two hours.

Vernon is quite upset over the way things are with him and Penny and the lectures she has been attending; he wants his family and his home but that Penny has taught their three year old child to act so ugly.

Vernon tells her about the man and woman having been married over twenty-five years and that he thinks they should reach some sort of understanding. She asks him if the man is Mr. Espenshade and he said yes.

Later, Penny calls her mother to tell her of the "goings on" of her mother knows about Mr. Espenshade and Dr. Hilton. Mrs. Espenshade tells her that actually her husband had told her "by his skipping, whistling and leaping every time he crosses the floor. And dancing in front of the mirror trying to make believe his hair isn't going. When you see a man starting that kind of thing, you may be sure there's a lady in the woodpile somewhere.

Espenshade came in with a twisted ankle that he had received when he "hopped" out of his car to assist Dr. Hilton in and upon arrival at home gave a very detailed description of a trap at the 14th hole on the golf course then he asks Penny if she is going to Maine this summer and that he has decided to go to the mountains for a change and that he would visit Ollie occasionally on weekends but not every weekend.

As Act III opens we find Penny talking to her mother about her father, his not visiting the shore on weekends, matter of fact, for more than a month, he picked his lady friend up, drives to the mountains, registered at the hotel, drives on to her cottage, back to the hotel to check out two days later, Penny really thinks her mother should divorce her father, but Ollie has other feelings.

Espenshade suddenly appears in the doorway. "What's going on?" he inquires. "What's the matter?"

"There's nothing at all the matter with me!" cries Penny. "Mother is simply distributing a few divorces here this evening; so if you wait around a while you may get one of them." She storms out of the apartment.

Espenshade tells her how his golf has been and that she would have no idea what his score is. Then Ollie answers "Yes—I do." Me was amazed and said, "Why, how would you know?"

"I've been keeping score for the last three weeks. And I know the kind of game you've been playing. So, I hope you won't be tiresome now, and start telling me about the osteopathic treatments you've been having."

About six weeks later, Ollie is opening a florist's box and removes an elaborate corsage of orchids, sweet peas and lillies-of-the-valley. Mabel arrives on schedule to ask "Where are we going, Ollie?"

Ollie has a letter from Penny telling her that Espenshade and Dr. Hilton are to be married that afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Little Church of the Woods. Of course, Mabel tries to talk her out of it. She is even planning to wear a veil that she may not be recognized. See us. We deliver: a lot of comfort, not a lot of come-on.

We sell one kind of Chrysler. The full-size kind. No jr. versions. What's more, seven out of seventeen 1965 models are priced only a few dollars more than the most popular smaller cars, comparably equipped. That small difference includes power steering, power brakes, automatic transmission, radio, heater and a 383 cu. in. V-8 that runs on regular gas. It figures like this: If you're going to pay the price of a Chrysler, get one. It's that easy. See us. We deliver.

Around and About

By HELEN COMBS

Colds, sore throats and flu have been so prevalent the last few days that most families had at least one member of the family ill. And, the epidemic has been so severe that quite a few persons have had to be hospitalized.

We are happy to report that Mrs. Leonard Wilson, who underwent surgery in Dallas a couple of weeks ago and thought for a time that she might have to have further surgery, is now doing good and probably will be home sometime later in the week.

Also, friends of Mildred Williams will be happy to know that she is now home and doing nicely. Mildred was also in Dallas about two weeks for medical treatment. At the present time, she is not allowed visitors because of the flu epidemic. So, please wait a few days before going to see Mildred . . . after all one may come down with the flu at any time.

Have you bought your tickets to the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet? Plans are being made for a very good banquet this year and guest speaker will be Mr. Charles A. Gibson of Greenville, S. C., president of B. I. Cotton Hills Division Burlington Industries. Tickets may be purchased from Chamber of Commerce directors or by calling Manager Clifford Farmer at his office.

Several members of the Little Theater are working feverishly this week on rehearsals of a one-act play, to be presented next Tuesday evening at the annual Founder's Day program of the Travis and Austin PTA Association. Everyone is so busy these days it's hard to get all the cast together . . . and we have showed up late at both rehearsals . . . fortunately we only have about a dozen lines in the play.

Speaker at the program will be Bob Marshall of Berger, District 19 president.

FLASH . . . Lionesses! Off the record, we have heard whispers that the Lions are planning to entertain us ladies royally at the Sweetheart Banquet next Thursday night. So, don't let the hubby forget to take you to this gala affair. If plans materialize, we will be en route to Austin at this time . . . surely regret that we will have to miss the affair.

Jack Toland Transferred To Shamrock Dept.

Jack Toland an employee of the highway department will be moving his family to Shamrock on February 19 where he is being transferred.

Mrs. Toland is the former Dolores Husband.

CARD OF THANKS

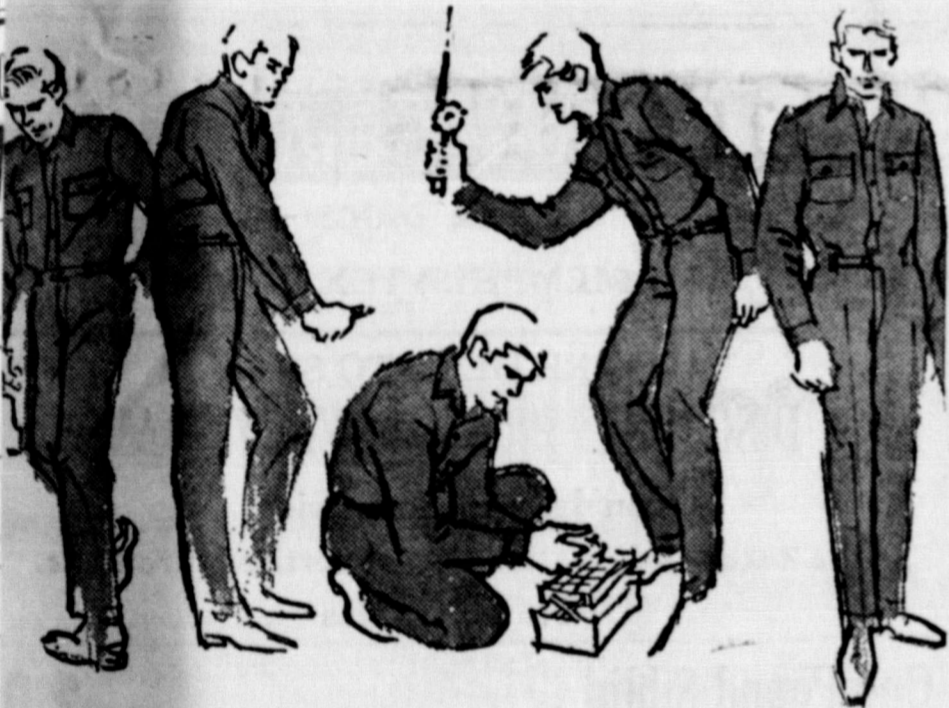

I want to take this means of expressing my sincere thanks and appreciation to the many friends who remembered me with their prayers, cards, letters, and flowers during my recent stay in Baylor Hospital in Dallas. Your many acts of kindness was gratefully and deeply appreciated. May God bless each of you.

Atalantean Club Observes 37th Anniversary At Breakfast Sat.

Beasley, Waller Diggs, Bob Douthit, W. R. Scott and Kent Magness, were in charge of arrangements.

As the members arrived they were invited into the den where they enjoyed pleasant conversation. A former member, Mrs. Fred Byerly of Post, was present for the occasion.

The group was ushered into dining area where they enjoyed "A Grecian Breakfast." The theme for the day was "Knowledge of Mythology."

The attractive blue covered serving table was centered with a replica of three Gothic columns entwined with grapes and laurel leaves. On either side was a Greek statuette. Small Grecian urns with lighted blue candles marked each place setting. Place cards were in astrologic guise. Miss Gertrude Rasco offered grace. A delicious breakfast was served.

Following the meal, Mrs. Robert Sexauer, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Kent Magness, who ably discussed "Knowledge of Mythology," saying mythology was started by primitive man who could not understand the universe in which he lived. He made up stories to explain anything he could not understand. Different parts of the world had their different myths and most were fashioned out of fear, but not so with the Greek myths. Dr. Kenyon Is President-Elect Of Okla. S.M.A.

Dr. Kenyon, M. D. of Oklahoma City, has been named President-Elect of the Oklahoma State Medical Association and was the subject of an article in the "S.M.A. News," the Jan.-Dec. 1964 issue, a publication of the American Medical Association which gives a working guide to positive medical public relations.

Dr. Kenyon received the Service Award from the Okla. S.M.A. at the annual meeting of the Okla. S.M.A. in Oklahoma City and is currently a professor of pathology at the University of Oklahoma School of Medicine.

The article as published in the magazine is as follows:

"Dr. Kenyon, President-Elect of the Oklahoma State Medical Association, is a man who fervently believes that a physician must do more than practice medicine if he is to further the cause of his profession.

"A physician can best serve his patients and the public interest by being a community worker," he says. "There is a great need for people in other professions and occupations and they seem to have and respect him. Then when he speaks up to tell medicine's story, he finds a lot of listeners among these various leaders."

"When I came to carrying out this honor, Dr. Kenyon stands on a high peak of his devotion and unselfish energy, he has helped to save many lives—medical, medical public relations and even in the human state."

"It is my hope that Dr. Kenyon will be a young man destined to become a leader in organized medicine when he was a medical student at the University of Oklahoma. He helped found the Oklahoma Chapter of the Student American Medical Association and served as a student delegate."

University of Oklahoma School of Medicine.

"The organized Oklahoma's first county medical officers conference and last year was chairman of OSM's council on public policy. A political speaker, he has given more than 100 speeches on medicine in the past year."

"For the past three years Dr. Kenyon has been a member of OSM's board of directors. He is the current president of the Oklahoma Medical Society and a past president of the Oklahoma Association of Pathologists."

"Dr. Kenyon's work has many facets. He is a member of the board of directors of Oklahoma City's Chapter of Consumers, Better Business Bureau and American Cancer Society. His ardent belief in the city's United Baptist Organization, he has served it as a director and as a speaker. He was chairman of U.S. fund drive a young professional man this year. He also has served three years on the board of directors of the Methodist Church of Wichita Hills."

Report From Washington

By WALTER ROGERS
Representative, 18th
Congressional District

"Pep Pills" and "Pep Pills"

Committee on Interstate Commerce began last week on H. R. 2, a bill to deal with proper depressant, stimulant and narcotic drugs. It is the opinion of these drugs should be under controls similar to those of narcotics and heroin. Most referred to in H. R. 2 are amphetamines, a distinct service to the abuse and amphetamines, which are a system of depression where a hypnotic effect is desired; of amphetamines and similar central nervous system stimulants, which are used to deal with depression of appetite; tranquilizers are usually helpful in the treatment of distressed patients, are causing a rising toll of deaths in this country in the way, juvenile delinquency and bizarre crimes, other antisocial behavior.

Congress have established that the abuse and mis-use of these drugs have been on a marked increase, and that this increase has been in small as well as the large communities. The Commissioner of Food and Drugs, Mr. George P. Larrick, testified that the illegal traffic in amphetamines spawned in truck stops, service stations, and roadside taverns had spread throughout the Nation; that there were organized rings bootlegging barbiturates and amphetamine drugs; that it is an interstate and a national problem in all respects, and that tremendous profits are involved. For example, the Food and Drug Administration has established that amphetamines can be purchased at wholesale at less than $1.00 per thousand and sold at wholesale in the illegal traffic at $30 to $50 per thousand, and at retail for as much as 10 to 25 cents each. This substantial profit makes this business most inviting to organized criminals and could very well bring about another era of gangsterism. In addition to barbiturates and amphetamines it is important to note that there are other types of drugs capable of causing unnatural effects and hence, subject to mis-use and abuse. In one instance, a chemical commonly referred to as LSD-25, which produces immediate hallucinations and aberrations, was also found capable of inducing lasting changes in the mental and emotional stability of some users. Instances of college students who took doses of the drug for thrills became disturbed to the point that they had to leave college or even enter mental institutions. Tranquilizers have also become agents of abuse and it was concluded by one authority that the popularity of Miss Sara Turner of Silverton spent the weekend in Turkey visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Turner.

Miss Mary Ann Robison of Silverton spent the weekend in Turkey visiting with her mother, Mrs. I. T. Robison, and other relatives.

J. T. Mullin of Turkey underwent surgery at the Hall County Hospital last Friday. He is reported to be improving satisfactorily.

J. R. Browder Sr. of Turkey was returned to his home Monday after an extended stay in the Stanley Hospital at Matador.

Mr. and Mrs. Doc Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Majors and children visited in Paducah Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Majors.

William Beck, stationed at Ft. Sill, Okla., visited in Turkey with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Beck, over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Deam Jewett of Amarillo visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Jewett.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lane spent Thursday and Friday of last week visiting in Van Horn, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Dub Smith and children of Lubbock spent the weekend in Turkey visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lusk.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Salem and tranquilizers as suicidal agents rival barbiturates.

The problems posed must be solved. The Food and Drug Administration is asking for substantial expansion of Federal authority including wide discretionary powers. The question before the Congress is the extent of power that should be vested in a Federal bureau (which is not directly answerable to the electorate) without invading the Constitutional guarantees of the private citizen and without preempting the rights and powers of the States. Hitler would have solved the problem by simply commissioning his Gestapo to deal with the subject without regard for the innocent people that might be hurt. The United States, however, places the rights of innocent people first. Hence, the Congress must be very careful in the powers and authority it delegates to a board or a bureau. It is in a situation of this kind that the aid and assistance of all God-fearing law-abiding citizens of this country is needed to solve a difficult problem yet retain the rights of the individual under the constitution.

REMEMBER WHEN?

"I bet there are few people alive today who remember when this 1895 antique was actually used as a source of heat. Besides not giving out just an awful lot of heat to an awful lot of space, it didn't exactly smell like the breath of spring either. Times have certainly changed.

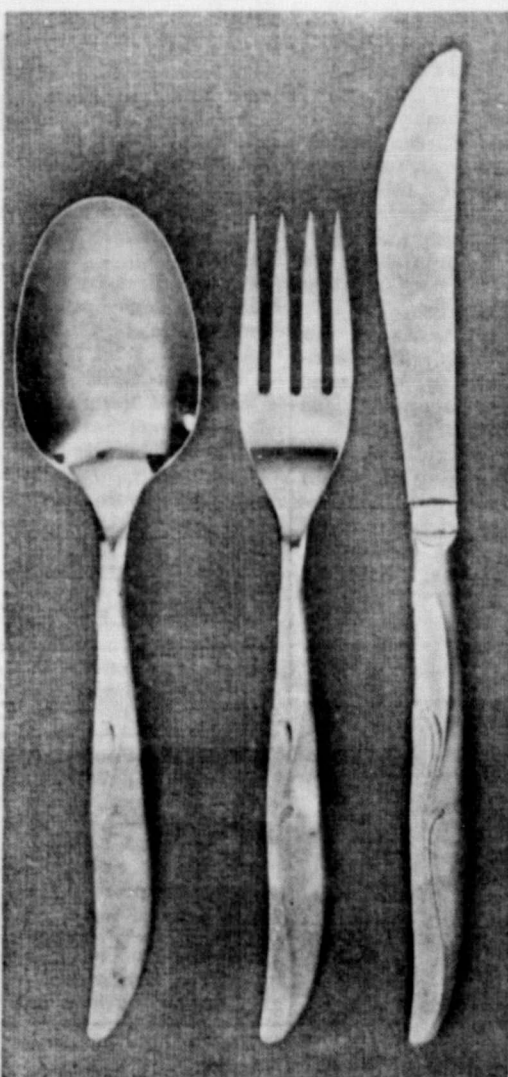

Now-a-days safe, flameless electric heating carries even, steady heat to all parts of a room or home. Hot spots, cold spots and drafts are things of the past. Since electric heating is totally flameless there are no pilot flames to go out or gaseous odors, no soot, film, smoke, or residue to rest on indoor walls and furniture. The house stays clean, comfortable, and fresh smelling.

If you aren't enjoying the comforts of flameless electric heat call a WTU representative or see your electrical heating contractor right away."

The winter killer—carbon monoxide—takes its toll of lives about this time each year in Texas.

You too may be flirting with carbon monoxide poisoning if you make a habit of any of these practices.

Do you drive around in your auto on cold winter days with all windows and vents tightly closed?

Do you sometimes warm up the car engine in your garage without first opening the garage door?

Do you neglect a checkup of exhaust and manifold on your car unless something starts rattling or falls off?

If your answer to any of these questions is "Yes", you are asking for trouble.

Carbon monoxide is an odorless, colorless, tasteless gas that comes from your auto exhaust.

In the open air it usually is dissipated without harm to anyone.

But in an enclosed space it can be deadly.

Each winter brings reports of deaths from carbon monoxide poisoning. The gas can seep up through the floor boards from a leaky exhaust. The victim becomes drowsy and then "falls asleep."

It takes only a short time for an engine running in a closed garage to fill the building with deadly gas.

No one knows how many auto accidents are caused by motorists whose reaction time is somewhat slowed by a small seepage of carbon monoxide into a closed auto.

If your exhaust and manifold are in good shape and fitted tightly, you are more likely safe. But it's even safer to leave a rear window open a crack.

While the car is moving you probably can escape danger even with a leaky exhaust. The most dangerous time comes sitting in a parked car with the motor running and the windows closed.

This is a frequent occurrence in cold weather when the auto heater is turned on. Always open a window when you're parked with the motor running.

Carbon monoxide poisoning is a serious health hazard. Remind yourself and your family to be on the alert against this danger.

Tax Man Sam Sez—

If you haven't read your tax instructions that you received in the mail about January 1, now is a good time to start. There are more taxpayers that cost themselves by simply failing to take time to read the instructions than there ought to be. These folks simply don't take the deductions that they have coming to them. Most of us don't like to read, but being lazy when it comes to reading tax instructions costs more than we can afford. If you start now, April 15 will be a nice beautiful day.

Estelline scored 32 for Flomot. The girls game was not played due to illness of some of the Flomot players.

Tuesday Games

In games played Tuesday night, the Quitauque teams won two from Lakeview teams. In the boys game, Quitauque took an easy 99 to 55 victory from Lakeview. Johnson scored 21 points for the Panthers while Kirby Hatley scored 19 for Lakeview.

In the girls game, Quitauque won the contest 52 to 26. Jill Johnson had 15 points for Quitauque and Tommie Payne scored 11 for Lakeview.

Estelline and Turkey teams met at Turkey gym Tuesday night and when the night was over, the Estelline girls were victorious and the Turkey boys came out on top. In the girls game, Estelline took an early lead and went on to win the game 60 to 29. Jane Helm was high scorer with 27 points while Turkey's Karen Arnold had 13.

In the boys game, Turkey was out to revenge itself from the Bear Cubs' earlier victory. Moving to a 15 to 11 first quarter lead Turkey went on to claim the victory by a final score of 56 to 46. Jackie Young hit 21 of Turkey's points while Jodie Rapp had 16 for Estelline, to be high scorers.

Final Games
Tomorrow night's games finish up the round robin portion of District 12-B play. As the end nears Quitauque boys have claimed the first half championship despite the outcome.

publications—and also knowing something about the many items, etc., it takes to put the finished product, The Memphis Democrat, into the hands of our subscribers—you will have to go elsewhere to find out how much of each and that—I do not have time to cover the newspapers in the United States.

During the war between the North and the South—which ended about 100 years ago—Henry Watterston was an editorial writer in Washington. When the fighting started Watterston went along with Southern armies and published the Rebel. Following the war he went to Louisville and in 1868 started the Courier-Journal. My father, who fought with the Southern army against the "Yanks", was one of Watterston's subscribers and continued a fervent reader many years. When I learned to read, only two papers came to our home—The Courier-Journal and Wise County Messenger.

SAN JACINTO . . .

in 18 Minutes—Blessed Freedom!

At 3:30 P.M. on April 21, 1836, General Sam Houston launched his attack. So sure was Mexican Army Commander Santa Anna of his troops' superiority that he did not even post sentries during the customary afternoon siesta.

The freedom-inflamed Texans, shouting "Remember the Alamo!", sprang upon the enemy. In the incredibly short space of 18 minutes Texas' freedom was won.

Santa Anna was captured. Six hundred and thirty officers and men were killed; the rest taken prisoner. Texas lost only nine men killed or mortally wounded, with 30 less seriously wounded. When the captured Santa Anna ordered his troop commanders to leave Texas, the last threat to peace was removed. Texas was free!

FREE MEN DEPEND ON US!

Today, we cannot—with one decisive stroke—wipe out the threats to freedom that are all around us. Instead, we must join together for an almost unending task of holding at bay those who would destroy the liberty we hold so dear.

Our dollars, banded together in U.S. Savings Bonds, help keep our defenses strong—making sure that no enemy will smash through to victory over freedom.

You can be an active partner in defending freedom by buying U.S. Savings Bonds at your bank or on the payroll savings plan where you work.

Keep Freedom in Your Future with

U. S. SAVINGS BONDS
