The new building will contain 5,000 square feet and will be a one-story structure of concrete, steel, tile and masonry construction.

It will have drive-in window facilities, and night depository (which is the only item being moved from the present bank building at 6th and Noel).

The driveway will be on the east side of the building which will face the south. There will be a parking area in the rear of the building, it was announced.

Turkey Council Calls For Bond Election March 6

The City of Turkey, Hall County, announced that Saturday, March 6, is the date set for a water improvement bond election.

Mayor Elmer Lacy stated that if the water improvement bond election carries, it will mean the only bonded indebtedness of the City of Turkey.

The election will be held Saturday, March 6. The $50,000 in bonds will be repaid from revenue from the sale of water, it was explained.

The election order was carried by a unanimous vote of the City Council at their meeting on Feb. 15, and stated that G. O. Coker shall be the presiding judge, and Mrs. Ila Turner shall be the alternate presiding judge.

If the issue carries, the money from the sale of the bonds will be used to purchase water rights of 80 acres of land, located near the rate of 25 cents per 1,000, it present city reservoir, it was pointed out. The area is approximately two miles from Turkey.

When new plans of the city are completed, two new wells will be pumping into the system. Also, plans call for bringing in a new eight-inch main line from the city's water storage reservoir.

Mayor Lacy said this will eliminate the recurring summer water shortage, which Turkey has experienced in past years.

Plans also call for the establishing of a gathering system of lines in the new service area, it was explained.

In the proposition to be submitted to the voters is the proposal to increase the minimum water rate for the first 3,000 gallons from $2.00 to $2.50. The present rate of 25 cents per 1,000 gallons for all over 3,000 will remain at was pointed out. The new rate will be established by a city ordinance.

Bond, if approved, will be issued to mature serially in 20 years at rate not to exceed five per cent per annum, "for the purpose of constructing improvements and extensions to the city's waterworks system."

The ballots shall carry the wording for (or against) "The issuance of revenue bonds for constructing improvements and extensions to the City's waterworks system and pledging the net revenue of the City's combined waterworks and sanitary sewer system to the payment thereof", the legal notice being published in this issue stated.

Banquet Speaker Lists 'Stumbling Blocks, Holes'

"There is one interesting fact I have noticed as I travel over this land, there is a tremendous interest in industrial growth, especially in agricultural areas," Charles A. Gibson, president of B. I. Cotton Mills Division of Burlington Industries, Inc., of Greenville, S. C., told 324 citizens at the 45th annual banquet of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce here Monday night.

The principal speaker stated that not only was this interest shown in the United States, but it is the same in Mexico and Canada and many European countries he has visited.

The reason for the interest, he said, is because industry provides employment which brings about growth. But he said there are many blocks to growth which prevent progress.

On this note he introduced the subject of his address, "Stumbling Block That Prevent Progress." To emphasize his points, he displayed 18 blocks of wood to represent failures in community's growth which he explained were holes many communities fall in to in community development.

The hell hole is a mental attitude block. No cooperative spirit, citizens talk a good fight but don't do anything. All communities, towns and cities have rat holes, unsightly places in the community, unsightly buildings, poor streets, poor lighted areas.

Some have digging holes, no plan to follow or leaders who will bring the people along on plans. Then, some find fox holes to climb into to hide from opportunity, hiding the talents they have. "Do nothings don't grow, they slip backward," he said.

Time itself is a hole, you can't afford to let things stand still. "We have a saying in our company which goes . . . you don't get what you expect, you get what you inspect," Gibson explained.

Then there are pigeon holes, putting off what needs to be done. Many look for loop holes, a way out because they don't want to carry the load, or they turn to plug the holes with patches on top of patches.

Gibson said cities need golf holes, a place for recreation, having fun together, this is important.

Shamrock Dr. Buys Memphis Hotel

A landmark in Memphis for the past 38 years changed ownership Wednesday for the first time since the building was built in 1927 when the Memphis Hotel building was sold.

Buyer of the building from the family of the late E. P. Thompson is Dr. Donald E. Blacketter, medical doctor of Shamrock.

Considerable speculation by many citizens for the possible future use of the building has been made during the past few days when word was spread that the building was up for sale.

In response to this, Dr. Blacketter said: "I am buying this property because I thought it was a good investment; from what I have heard, Memphis is a progressive city, and I believe that it will be to my advantage to have acquired the property. My plans for the use of the property are very indefinite."

Consideration involved in the sale of the building was not disclosed. For the present time, the Memphis Hotel will continue to operate as in the past.

The three-story brick building, located on the northeast corner of the Memphis square, was erected in 1927 by E. P. Thompson and his father, George M. Thompson. It was operated by them until the death of George M. Thompson in 1943; and then was operated by E. P. Thompson until his death in 1958. Since that time, Mrs. E. P. Thompson and her family have continued the business.

70 MPH First Anniversary

Citizens will remember the big cry which went up late in 1943 when the 70 mph speed limit was passed, and many statements which were made about everyone driving too fast.

Well the Texas Highway Department published a report early this month about the situation. Many of those who cried woe, had their "I told you so" moments immediately after the new speed law went into effect because frankly Texas drivers "fitted" with excessive speeds after the speed limit was raised to 70 mph.

But the latest survey turned up an interesting fact. The firing has stopped, according to a speed survey made by the Texas Highway Department a year later. Texans for the most part are now observing the speed limit.

Take passenger cars, for instance. The Highway Department radio-checked speeds of at least 25,000 of them in 30 locations scattered over the state. In 1943, a fraction more than 13 per cent of the motorists were clocked at more than 70 mph. A year later, under the same highway conditions, and in the same places, the figure had dropped to just 5.1 per cent.

It's the same pattern across the board, with pickups, trucks, and buses logging dramatically reduced speeds. This new occurrence in speed figures and it is unusual. Many speculations are being made as to why motorists have slowed down, but even without reason, it is a good thing.

The average speed of all vehicles surveyed last autumn was 56.6 miles an hour. A year before, just after the new speed limits became effective, the average was 54.3 mph. And just before the new speeds were posted, the average had been 56.5 mph.

Of all vehicles surveyed only 3.6 percent were exceeding the 70 mph speed limit last fall. A year earlier, 8 per cent of the vehicles of all kinds were breaking 70.

So, for once, we have our bright star in the dark traffic picture. Really worth noting is that the average speed of all vehicles is now almost exactly the same as it was before speed limit was changed. The only difference being that more of the drivers are not exceeding the legal limit.

One explanation is appropriate, we think. All drivers know that the average 56 mph over any given highway, the vehicle must travel from 5 to 10 miles per hour faster to acquire the average. It has been our long-ago observation that most drivers like to drive around 65 mph, give or take one or two mph either way. The reason for this is most drivers like to average a mile a minute which is easy to figure when telling friends and relatives what time to expect them to arrive.

LEJ Reaffirms Interest in Agriculture

Americans having over the slightest interest in the future of American agriculture breathed a sigh of relief last Friday when President Johnson renewed his interest in agriculture's survival.

Prior to that time, his budget director had indicated bad days for agriculture. He had indicated that agriculture might be turned loose after this year, something long demanded by proponents of corporate farming.

But the President told Congress that farm price support programs should be continued and improved. He called for attention to other measures since "at parity of opportunity for rural Americans."

He said the price programs, instituted 29 years ago in the administration of Franklin Roosevelt, have helped create a commercially successful agriculture.

And over the past four years, he said, the price support programs have raised and sustained net farm income at an annual level of nearly a billion dollars above 1940.

"Few activities so dramatically indicate the value to farmers of good programs well-administered," Johnson said. "Yet the consumer is the major beneficiary of farm programs. While retail food prices have risen in recent years, the prices of what the farm sells have actually declined 15 per cent since 1945-1946."

This Johnson said, is what is needed to have parity of opportunity for rural Americans:

1. National economic prosperity to increase their employment opportunities.
2. Full access to education, training and health services to expand their earning power.
3. Economic development of smaller and medium-sized communities to insure a healthy economic base for rural America.

We concur with the administration's desire to curtail spending... but there is no economy in saving one dollar if it means having to spend two extra dollars somewhere down the line. Reducing the farmer's income would drive many small farmers off the farm... this might help agriculture, but what will it do to the overall economy?

Agriculture must not be penalized for being efficient. We're reducing the price of its product to the consumer. All he is receiving in the way of so-called "concessions" is parity with other segments of our economy, labor and industry. Labor sets its wages... and the people pay. Industry sets its prices... and the people pay. Should the people also pay so that the farmer can get his share of the pie... or should he be made the goat?—Tulsa Herald.

PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS IN COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

This is a sign of active community development

Many towns in our service area are engaged in or planning community development programs. One outstanding example is the continuing development of Robert Lee. Here, aggressively energetic citizens have built a new Court House, a new school building, a new Post Office, and a modern bank building. They have developed a City Park with recreation building, swimming pool, sports fields and a nine-hole golf course; modernized the City Hall, paved city streets and voted a bond issue to enlarge the local hospital. And, they can now claim a population gain. Robert Lee's proud record is a Pattern for Progress of what can be done in Community Development which improves the chances of continued growth, making the community a better place in which to live, work and play. Growth-conscious towns are invited to contact their local WTU manager for assistance from our staff development representatives.

Sandra Shults Is Betty Crocker Winner For MHS

Sandra Shults is this year's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for Memphis High School. She scored highest here in a written homemaker examination taken Dec. 1 by 552,704 senior girls in 14,236 of the nation's high schools. She is now eligible for state and national scholarship awards ranging from $500 to $5,000.

Test papers of all school winners in the state are being judged competitively. From this, the State Homemaker of Tomorrow will be named, and will receive a $1,500 scholarship from General Mill, Inc., sponsor of the annual Betty Crocker Search. In addition, her school will be awarded a set of the Encyclopedia Britannica by Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc. The second-ranking girl will receive a $500 educational grant.

Following her selection, the State Homemaker of Tomorrow, together with a school advisor, will join winners and advisors from each of the 49 other states and the District of Columbia in an expense-paid educational tour of Colonial Williamsburg, Va., Washington, D. Chosen from among the state winners on the basis of her original test score, plus personal observation and interviews during the tour, her scholarship will be increased to $5,000. Grants of second-, third- and fourth-ranking girls in the the ground. Any early tillage on sorghum land should be done with equipment that will leave the stalks standing. The crop residue should be left standing until about April 1, or through the blow season.

Fields that have a cover of winter peas or small grain should not be disturbed until about April 1, or until as late as possible. When another crop is to follow the cover crop, the cover crop should be shredded and or disked about two weeks prior to seedbed preparation. Residues left on the surface dry out quickly and are easier to get through when planting the following crop. These residues will also give some protection even after the cover crop has been destroyed.

Fields with no protective cover of any type should have some type of surface roughening tillage performed. Some type of tillage implement should be used that will leave the soil surface "cloddy". This practice should be used only as a last resort and should not be used to replace high residue crops or cover crops.

Contact your local Soil Conservation District Supervisor or your local Soil Conservation Service Technician on the best methods of maintaining soil protection from wind erosion.

Gamma Kappa Chapter Meets In Wellington Sat.

Gamma Kappa Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma met Saturday, February 20, in the First Baptist Building, Wellington, at 2 p. m.

"Officers of the Gamma Chapter" was the program theme. It began with the international program theme, "Patience is Other Virtues," Mrs. Lois White of Chicago gave an analysis of the "Economic and Sociological Patterns" developing in the six continents of the Common Market.

Through a series of films, the economic patterns are full employment, the importation of labor, property, higher wages, and a way of life superior to any period in their history. Sociologically, provision is made for job retraining, education, information, transportation, compensation, insurance and socialization benefits, and technical assistance to businesses.

Mrs. Lois White of Chicago continued the analysis of "Political and Educational Patterns" being brought about by the European Economic Community. Letting down of political barriers is making the nations become a United States of Europe. Education for the masses is growing in place of the education of the few as in the past. Equal opportunities for all are being developed.

Mrs. Elsie Goltz of Memphis introduced the program for the afternoon.

Mrs. Steve Hardisty of Chattanooga, president of Gamma Kappa Chapter, conducted the business meeting. The innovation was given by Mrs. Lady Belle Walker of Memphis, and the official Delta Kappa Gamma song was led by Mrs. Velma K. Warner of Chattanooga.

possible? At least, they are right. The President and a number of the cabinet are giving it their best judgment. . . . Have we not failed in the affairs of other countries, and started up a lot of trouble? Should we put up our hands and go home? Should we send more help, and do the work in WW I and WW II? Should that it comes to such an end, surely the thinking leaders make the right conclusion. Has the trouble been caused because the Latin people and Western people have been thinking differently for centuries?

We welcome your suggestions on how to help make Hall County's 75th Anniversary Diamond Jubilee the BEST.

Never before in history had a nation founded its life on the belief that people are the heart of government. We believe that government exists to serve the happiness of the people; that government gets its power only through the approval of the people it governs. In 1776, those beliefs were set. Today, the Declaration of Independence is the best known American document in the world. One hundred two years ago President Lincoln said at Gettysburg: "This nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Included on the agenda will be visits to the following: Mount Vernon, Arlington Cemetery, U. S. House and Senate, Department of Agriculture, Smithsonian Institute, Bureau of printing and Engraving, Lincoln Memorial and other places of interest.

Robert Gordon Is Guest Speaker At Delphian Club

Mrs. Henry Hayes was hostess to Delphian Club on Tuesday. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. C. C. Hodges, president, and the pledge to the flag was given.

Mrs. L. L. McKown introduced the program — Prospectus—Planimeter to Determine Steps being taken to Conserve Natural Resources.

Acres of Beauty was the meditation chosen by Mrs. McKown. She began, "It is now officially springtime. The wood thrush has returned and stamped it with his approval. I heard him this morning in an early recital. I stood beside a stretch of calmest water, unruined by even the faintest breeze. Beyond rose the deep woods and from the moss hung cypresses the clear call of the feathered flutist was borne across the little lake to me."

As Mrs. McKown continued we were made to feel that spring is really here as she described the woodland voices of the baby ducks, the wild geese, homeward bound, the cardinal, the yellow throat, the warblers, and other sounds. "Shut off your radio and television and attend a woodland concert, and if you listen in the light of His Word, you shall hear the things high and holy, God's call."

Mrs. McKown presented Mr. Robert Gordon, local soil conservationist. "He is head of all of the County of Hall, parts of Childers and Motley. Mr. Gordon came here two years ago from Gainesville with his family. He has been with the department for 15 years, holding a degree from East Texas State College."

A film and narration was given by Mr. Gordon. The film entitled "Soil Conservation is Your Business" was most interesting. He said, "So much of our everyday needs come from the soil—food, clothing, lumber, paper, alcohol, and dairy products. If the soil is productive, the people are prosperous. Products of the land built main street. Livestock, poultry, and raw material are two-thirds of American industry. Such as food processing, meat packing, dairy products, textile mills, paper manufacture, Pittsburgh actually depends more on agriculture than on its steel industry."

"Spreting to conserve and destroy insects is a part of conservation," Mr. Gordon continued. "We need to improve the land. Some 50 million acres have been ruined by soil erosion and another 50 million acres are facing this condition. Gullies grow as the soil is washed away. Some filling in can help for a brief period but in time it, too, is washed away. This happens to grass land as well as to the farm land. Another dust bowl in the near future unless something is done about this condition."

"Streams filled with silt carry away the good soil every year. This silt in reservoirs causes a lot of work yearly, too. Farmers desert their land when it becomes poor, consequently the entire community becomes poor, the towns disappear," he said.

"We can conserve and improve land while it is producing, different kinds of land require differing treatments, all land can be used for something, trees are best for some land, others will not support trees. When trees are ready for harvest they will produce a steady income. Grass is best for some land, but it must be properly treated to get the best results. In cultivating crops, contour cultivation and rotation is best for level land, terraces for irregular land, terraces hold water, and contour strip cropping for grass.

"Stubble mulching prevents both water and soil erosion, as well as green manuring, that is plowing under plants while still green. Drainage is essential for some areas where irrigation is the key in others. Fertilizing is very important.

"Another step is farm ponds, these furnishing water for livestock, fire safety, and stocking for fish.

"Soil conservation districts are units of local government with which farmers and ranchers cooperate in carrying out their farm program. Neighbors work together, occasionally swapping out work in cases of illnesses or other emergencies, whatever the crisis may be. On our local board are Wayne Hutcherson, Lee Scriver and Bill Bradley. The Soil Conservation originally was the C C Camp and other agencies before becoming known as it is today," Mr. Gordon concluded.

Lovely refreshments were served to Mr. Gordon, Mrs. Gordon, Mrs. McKown, Mrs. Hodges, Mrs. Roddy Bice, Mrs. Carroll Gardener, Mrs. R. C. Clements, Mrs. F. A. Finch, Mrs. O. R. Goodall, Mrs. Rayford Hutcherson, Mrs. J. S. McMurry, Mrs. R. H. Wherry, Mrs. A. Anisman, Mrs. Mildred Stephens, Mrs. Sim Reeves, Miss Maud Milam, and one guest, Mrs. P. B. Barrett, and Mrs. Hays.

Lester Campbell Is Guest Speaker At Pathfinders

The program topic for the afternoon was "Signs of Influential Living."

Guest speaker for the afternoon was Lester Campbell, who spoke on "Human Relations."

In his discussion, Mr. Campbell pointed out that being a good listener is as important as being a good speaker; a smile costs nothing and means so much; do unto others as you would have them do unto you. He said that human behavior is human relations.

Estelline Teams Announce Basketball King And Queen For 1965 Season

The Estelline basketball teams announced its basketball King and Queen for the 1965 season, last Friday afternoon.

Jan Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wyman Davis of Newlin, was elected by the Bear Cub team as their Queen. Dale Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Ward of Newlin, was elected by the Cubette team as their King.

Jan and Dale are both members of the Estelline Senior Class. They have played basketball all four years of high school, and are co-captains of their teams this year.

Was reading this week that one of the national projects President Johnson is going to push is more vacationing at home and less in Europe. . . a tremendous amount of money, something like a billion and a half dollars, is being spent each year in Europe by American tourists. . . and many of these people have seen very little of their own country.

Actually, Texas has done nothing to promote the state as a vacation spot until the past few years. . . and we have many interesting, unusual and picturesque spots of natural beauty in the state. We are glad that at long last the state has allocated money to advertise some of our points of scenic beauty.

Again, this weekend while visiting our daughter and family in Austin we were impressed with the beauty of our capital city. Somehow or other it seems just right to be the headquarters for our Lone Star State. The legislature is in session, and we would have enjoyed a visit to the House or Senate, but since we went especially to help Pat and A. J. move into a home they have purchased in Austin, our time was limited.

Flomot School Board Appoints Study Committee

The Flomot Board of Education has been discussing the problems of intergration, Supt. J. A. Barron stated this week, and a lay-committee has been appointed by the board to study the situation and to make recommendations.

The issue has not come to a vote in the Flomot Board of Education, Supt. Barron said.

Dr. J. W. Edgar, Commissioner of Education, has informed all school boards of Texas that they must sign a letter of intention to integrate the schools and comply with the provisions of the Civil Rights Legislation of 1964, or the local schools would lose federal funds for lunchrooms, vocational homemaking, surplus property, library and equipment aid, and all other federal money.

According to Supt. Barron, there are no Negroes living in the Flomot Independent School District. Since this is the last district in this area not integrated, fear has been expressed that Negro organizations in other areas might make an issue as Northern groups have in Alabama and Mississippi.

Supt. Barron stated that if President Johnson's program of full educational opportunity is passed in its present form, Flomot District would tend to gain close to $20,000.

NEWLIN

HALF-PAST TEEN

"This was about 3 1/2 times the maximum amount authorized to be spent for comparable housing for a commanding officer of a military post," the GAO reported. Among many other specific points in the report, the Agency for International Development was criticized for not having adhered "to accepted standards of programming and project planning" in providing $124.8 million for earthquake relief to Chile; the Labor Department was advised that updating its mailing lists could save the Government $41,000 annually; the Department of Agriculture was criticized for making 2,400,000 unnecessary mailings at a cost of about $180,000, but the GAO reported that the practice is being corrected.

Sharpshooting past actions of departments and agencies, and the Congress itself, is only part of the GAO's assignment. Its staff provides assistance to the agencies so that proper accounting procedures will be followed. In advance of activities planned by departments and agencies, the GAO is frequently called upon to advise as to the legality of contemplated expenditures. The GAO also makes recommendations to the Congress for new legislation to tighten responsibilities in the handling of government funds. By ways of setting an example for other government offices, the GAO ran its activities last year for $2 million less than Congress had appropriated for the purpose—and in the past ten years the size of the GAO staff has been reduced by nearly one-quarter.

Although its work is little pub-spending approximately half of all government funds spent each year, the Defense Department receives the heaviest attention. Among the many findings and recommendations affecting this department was one that many former G. I.'s would be glad to know about: The Army was criticized by the GAO for failing to utilize properly its trained enlisted personnel. "We found that about 35,000 of such personnel were not utilized in duties commensurate with their military or civilian training or experience," said the GAO report. "The training which the 35,000 men had received at a cost of about $48 million was being wasted."

In another example of fiscal mismanagement which should never be repeated, the GAO found that the Justice Department, at the U. S. Penitentiary in Leavenworth, Kansas, had built and furnished a residence for the warden at a cost of about $100,000.

By pointing the finger at errors made, the GAO serves the taxpayer by helping to make sure that bad practices are not repeated. In 1964, for example, the GAO found that the Army and Marine Corps could not agree on whether tropical wool trousers, part of their uniforms, should or should not have pocket flaps. The issue was not resolved and the services continued to procure both types. "We estimated that the Government incurred additional supply management costs of about $58,000 annually. . . ." said the GAO report, noting that a previously reported dispute among the services in regard to officers' shoe procurement had been straightened out with an annual potential saving of about $158,000. Banquet Speaker— block, he said. Get people to know what you are trying to do so your community can have team work. Some have a participation hole in which only a few does everything. "The lack of participation can be a very serious thing," Gibson warned.

Every community faces graveyard holes, tasks which look impossible, but they can be done if we will get out of our pot holes, the rats we are in, and put our round-hole people in round holes and our square-hole people in square holes. Everybody isn't suited for every job and the leaders must place the right man in the right job.

Cities face historical blocks, the resistance to changing anything. "We go along in a peaceful coma," the speaker said.

"People," he said, "are like this rough block of wood. They must be twisted together into a team to build strength through joining, like this twisted block."

President Gibson said that Memphis is "a big small city", and since he has been visiting here he has found true friendship. "On behalf of our company, we want to express our appreciation for the wonderful support and cooperation we have received."

The speaker concluded with the encouragement of making plans for progress and asked that the leaders work together for better churches, schools and all improvements with an improved attitude.
