For the public's information, the fire siren is the tornado alert signal. When it blows a long, steady blast it is time to make for the cellars, basements or wherever, because a funnel has been (Continued on Page 12)

Country Club To Have Man-Woman Team Scotch Tournament Next Week

Teams have already started signing up for what promises to be the largest man-woman scotch golf tournament to be held in Memphis in a number of years, Jack Norman and Dink Miller, co-chairmen of the Memphis Country Club tournament, announced this week.

Entry deadline is 6 p. m. Saturday, June 5, and the announcements of the 8-team flights will be made at a covered dish supper beginning at 7 p. m. Saturday night. Entry fee is $1 per person.

The women members of the teams are asked to bring covered dishes for the supper. Following this, a team putting contest will be held on the practice green.

"We will have flights for all of the golfers and three prizes will be awarded in each flight: first place, runner up and consolation," Norman said.

"We will have eight teams in each flight and as many flights as there are teams entered," it was explained.

The tournament committee requested that any questions concerning the tournament should be referred to either Jack Norman, Dink Miller, Mrs. Ira McQueen or Mrs. Lester Campbell.

The Memphis City Council Tuesday night at their regular monthly meeting canvassed the ballots of the bond election and approved a budget of $112,773.63 for the 1965-66 fiscal year.

It was not announced as to when bids would be taken to build the new sewage disposal plant.

The Council worked until after 11 p. m. drafting the budget for the City of Memphis. When final figures were tabulated it was estimated the City would spend $112,773.63 next year. This figure does not include the bond issue approved Tuesday by city voters, City Secretary A. L. Gailey explained.

The City's estimated receipts for the next fiscal year totaled $112,835.77, leaving in the budget a surplus of $62.14.

The council listed the following as expenditures by departments: Street, $19,975; Police, $15,725; Fire, $14,275; Health and Sanitation, $8,345; Carnegie Library, $1,953; City Park, $3,378; Cemetery, $4,670; Swimming Pool, $4,712; General Administration, $17,565; Interest and Sinking, $17,800; Community Building, $4,375.

The 59th Texas Legislature

Big problems faced the 59th Texas Legislature at the beginning of its session several months ago and the speculations from political observers was that many of them would tie the session up so that other needed legislation could not be enacted. However, this was not the case.

Governor John Connally, in an address before the 59th Legislature Monday night before its adjournment, called the Legislature's session "the most productive of any session in this century."

Our Legislature has, for the most part, overcome many obstacles, arriving at the decisions which have been reported during the past several weeks; but to the average citizen it might appear that quite a bit of buck passing was also going on at the same time. For the Legislature is sending to the people of this state 22 constitutional amendments to be decided upon by Texas voters this fall.

Possibly the most important single piece of legislation handled by the 59th Legislature was the redistricting, congressional, legislative and senatorial, and this generated most of the passions of the session. The Legislature called a vote of the people Sept. 7 on expansion of the Senate to 39 members, but passed no 39-member redistricting bill. If the amendment passed, Gov. Connally would have to call a special session.

When the Legislature opened its session in January, predictions were that the lawmakers would require one or two special sessions to settle the redistricting to comply with the requirements of federal court decisions and guidelines. This did not occur.

What has the 59th done during a short five months period? The list is long and impressive as far as students of government are concerned. In an effort to keep our readers informed, we have chosen to include the major decisions:

Gave teachers a $101 million pay raise, averaging $553 annually per teacher; levied a three-cent state tax on cigarettes to pay for the teacher pay raise (this increase gave Texas the nation's highest state cigarette tax—11 cents per pack); created a central coordinating board to oversee all higher education; created a new State Department of Mental Health to replace the State Board for Hospitals and Special Schools on Aug. 31; shifted responsibility for the state's tuberculosis hospitals from the Board of Hospitals and Special Schools to the State Health Dept.; created two new state colleges (bills have not been signed by Governor, however); thoroughly revised the state's Code of Criminal Procedure for the first time in more than a century (a task climaxing four years of work); enacted a controversial pooling bill allowing the railroad commission to require landowners to join together in larger oil and gas producing units; approved a $3.648 billion state budget for 1966-67, the largest in history; and sent to the people 22 constitutional amendments.

The amendments are, or should be, of vital importance to the citizens of Texas for each qualified voter will have opportunity to express his judgment concerning these. The proposals include poll tax repeal, four-year terms for Governor and state representatives, expansion of the Senate to 39 seats, creation of an $85 million student loan fund, permission for the state to participate in medicare, authorization for issuance of $400 million worth of water development bonds and $200 million more in veterans land bonds, permission of regional airport authorities, a raise from $4,800 to $12,500 for the speaker and lieutenant governor and others.

SHE'S VERSATILE

The average homemaker must be versatile. She is not only the family cook, but as well the maid, family chauffeur, shopper, arbitrator of disputes and disagreements, and keeper of the budget.

With all these responsibilities, she learns there is a "best" way to take care of each responsibility. Ask her, for example, about the advantages of shopping in local stores. She'll tell you that it is both convenient and economical. The wise shopper saves both time and money when she trades with the established local merchant who has built his business on a policy of quality merchandise at fair prices.

Don't just take our word for it. If, for some reason, you have gotten out of the habit of shopping locally, visit your neighborhood merchant next time you have a particular need. You'll be glad you did.

Trade at Home for your own sake! and community progress.

Our College Campus Revolt

Student rebellions on college campuses are causing people all over the country to wonder what is wrong. Most of the answers have been rather poor, but at least part of the trouble is shown in the way we go about urging our young people to pursue every opportunity for the best possible education. It is not wrong that we urge this, but the arguments lack something. That lack indicates that if today's students are confused they got their confusion honestly from the adult society in which they are being educated.

The nation continually advises its youths that they must stay in high school, then get university degrees if they expect to get good jobs and have good incomes. They are told that they are likely to be unemployed much of their lives if they fail to prepare themselves to meet the rough competition of the future. They are given figures showing how much money certain college degrees are estimated to be worth. There is, indeed, so much emphasis on the money value of an education that a student is likely to lose sight of the fact that there are other values to be considered—values which should offer added reasons for an education and influence the student in choosing his field. If the student is led to believe that he is preparing himself only to make as much money as possible it should not be surprising if he is somewhat confused, for this is in conflict with nature.

In order to consider that a student needs to prepare himself for a useful life as well as for financial security it is not necessary to belittle the need to be able to earn a living or to deny the desirability of commanding a really handsome income. The older generation may have some reason, but not enough, for seeming to believe that money means everything. Sometimes we may think we believe it, but we do not. If we are due any degree of pardon for this attitude it is because we are concerned with unemployment brought about partly by the rapid changes in business and industry which have made unemployables of people without skill. We have seen the growing demand for scientists and doctors and teachers. The country needs them and has reason to urge young people to prepare themselves to fill the need. But the financial reward is the argument that is emphasized above all else.

There is something in the nature of all people that makes them want to do something worth while. We have it from our earliest consciousness. We are not always aware of what drives us but it is there. In our youth, when we are vigorous and developing, we are looking for our place in the world. We want to reform the world we have. We cannot afford to destroy it and start over. We must live in it while we change it.

The impatience of youth passes, but the need of a man to be useful remains with him. He is never more miserable than when he has that feeling of frustration that comes from believing that what he is doing is not worth doing. He does have to make a living, and that need sometimes causes him to be doing something that gives him no satisfaction, but he continues to do it simply because he has not prepared himself to do anything else.

This is something that youth needs to know and something that young people of today would understand better if they had grown up in an adult world with a more balanced sense of values. Most older people have found their places in life and accepted them. Students, who have their lives before them, are being told to study hard and learn to make money. That is not wrong. They need to learn to take care of themselves. But that is not enough for them. They also need to learn to do something of which they can be proud. Many of them have not found out what that is. They are not getting much help from people who try to tell them that money is everything.—Ft. Worth Star-Telegram.

Proof that medical practice wasn't unknown to the ancients are the following laws, quoting in part the regulations concerning fees, created by Hammurabi, a Babylonian ruler of about 1925 B. C.:

"If the doctor shall treat a gentleman and shall open an abscess with a bronze knife and shall preserve the eye of the patient, he shall receive ten shekel's of silver.

"If the doctor shall open an abscess with a bronze knife and shall kill the patient or destroy the sight of the eye, his hands shall be cut off."

Rogers Reports On Skip-Row Planting Rule

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Congressman Walter Rogers said last week he was encouraged by developments in the campaign to prevent any change in skip-row cotton planting rules. "But the battle is a long way from over," he said.

Congressman Rogers has taken a leading role in Congress in opposing a proposed Department of Agriculture rule change altering the way in which cotton planted in skip-row patterns is measured for cotton allotment purposes. Under the proposed rule change, a part of the non-cotton land would be considered cotton acreage.

"There are three very encouraging developments to report," Congressman Rogers said. He listed them as follows:

1. Chairman Harold Cooley of the House Agriculture Committee advised Congressman Rogers that the Department has given assurance that no final action on the skip-row proposal would be taken until the Committee has held hearings on cotton legislation. "Further, Mr. Cooley has agreed to explore the whole matter of a skip-row rule change during the hearings, as I and Congressman George Mahon had asked," Congressman Rogers said.

2. In its report accompanying the agricultural appropriations bill, the House Appropriations Committee stated, "In the opinion of a majority of the Committee, the adoption of such changes would be a definite step backward, since it would result in a failure to fully utilize the results of extensive research in this area."

3. Farm organizations, Congressman Rogers noted, are unified in their opposition to a change in skip-row rules and have made their views clear to the Department of Agriculture and to Congress.

Mrs. Joe Montgomery and Mrs. Paul Montgomery went to Wichita, Kan., this week after Miss Sarah Beth Montgomery, who has been a student at Kansas University this past year. They returned home Wednesday.

The club then enjoyed the installation of new officers for the coming year. Mrs. F. W. Foxhall conducted the installation.

Incoming officers were installed around the Maypole with each colored ribbon of the pole being taken up by the new officers. Mrs. R. S. Greene, president, introduced Mrs. M. G. ### About— Civil Defense

By W. B. Hooser
Hall County Agent

Q. Have school officials had any problems in securing good teachers for the Laredo, Texas, school built with underground fallout shelter?

A. The school has attracted teachers who formerly taught at such places as Dallas, Houston, and Corpus Christi. A teacher said, "You don't know how nice it is to have 25 kids looking at you and listening instead of daydreaming and staring out of the windows."

Q. Do students feel more secure in a school with fallout shelter?

A. A teacher noted that the school "creates a definitely secure state of mind in the students, young as they are. They read of Viet Nam or other alarming newspaper headlines and say calmly, 'Well, we're safe.' It gives them a good feeling."

Q. How did the community accept the new school with fallout shelter built at Laredo, Texas?

A. There was good community acceptance. Everyone liked the beauty, comfort, and safety of the building to such an extent there was an increase in land values. The demand for homes in the school neighborhood is rising faster than houses can be built.

Q. How does the size of bomb affect fallout area?

A. It is believed that the height of the explosion, wind and weather conditions, and other factors may have more effect on the size of the fallout area than the size of the weapon. However, size certainly is an important variable.

Q. What are the effects of a nuclear explosion?

A. They are heat, blast, and fallout. Fallout contains the radiation that we need to protect ourselves from. Planning and preparation will give us the tools to do the job.

Q. What does fallout look like?

A. Larger fallout particles near the blast might look like sand or ashes. Further downwind it would be like pepper or just dust.

Q. How can I tell if dust is radioactive?

A. You can't see, feel, taste, or smell radiation. Geiger counters or other monitoring devices are necessary to detect and measure radiation.

Q. How can we be sure what areas will be hit by fallout?

A. We can't. We could not be sure of the area of fallout even if we knew where the explosions might occur because of the many variables such as wind, size, etc. This is why we all need to be prepared.

Q. Why are we no longer planning to evacuate people to a safer place?

A. Actually, certain emergency evacuation is included in our total Civil Defense plans. The development of the new bomb delivery techniques will not give time to evacuate large urban centers. However, after the initial emergency, it may be necessary to move some people to safer places but protection should be sought first where you are or nearby. People who have been caught in large city five o'clock traffic will understand that mass evacuation in a few minutes is impossible.

Seven Cub Scouts At Caprock Sat. Lost On Outing

The Cubs were found shortly after the planes began flying over the canyon.

Scouts who became lost from the sponsors and other troop members were Lanny Sherman, Joan Lyles, Norman Mullin, Larry Hartman, Jerry Melton, Joe Lyles and Joe Lynn McKay.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Williams of Amarillo announce the arrival of a son, Jeffrey Lawrence. The baby was born May 24 and weighed 6 pounds, 6 ounces. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hedrick of Turkey.

Golden Spread Chapter Of TNHA Meets Here Thurs.

The Golden Spread Chapter of the Texas Nursing Home Association met at the De Ville Restaurant in Memphis on May 27, with 13 persons in attendance, representing 7 nursing homes. Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin, Martin Nursing Home, Claude, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rude, Vivian's Nursing Home, Amarillo, Mr. Lloyd Nollner, Thurman's Nursing Home, Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Jones and Mrs. Mildred Stephens, Cousins Home, Memphis, Mr. and Mrs. Trusten Thomas, Thomas Nursing Home, Wellington, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Thompson, Edward Abraham Memorial Home, Canadian, Mrs. Helen Hartshorn, Perryton Nursing Home, Perryton.

The president, Mrs. Rude, presided over a brief business session meeting and members voted to have all future meetings in Amarillo as it is more centrally located. The meeting will be on the 4th Thursday of each month at 7:00 p. m. The June meeting will be on the 24th with the place to be announced later.

Mr. Thomas was elected to head a committee on entertainment, that is to secure a program for each meeting, either by a doctor, a nurse, a dietitian, TNHA board member or State Welfare Worker.

A brief history of Texas Nursing Home Association was given by Mr. Martin. He said, "In a brief 5 year period the Association has grown from a mere 40 members to 209 for 1965. Our goal is for 300 paid members for the current year. Out of 254 counties in Texas, 91 are in our District. Some sub-standard homes have been closed."

"Not as many Veteran's Hospitals will be closed as was the recent outlay. The Veteran's Administration is now building its own nursing homes. Some veterans are being released to nursing homes but not more than 50 will be released in the entire state," Mr. Martin said.

"We should be very proud of a former Memphian, C. B. Francis, who is now treasurer of the American Nursing Home Association, he is also past president of TNHA," Mr. Martin said.

He brought out some of the phases facing nursing homes, such as rehabilitation, getting the patient having surgery, broken limb, or other illness up and able to re-

County Veterans Receive $119,220 In Fed. Benefits

Hall County veterans and their families received more than $119,220 in Federal benefits in Hall County last year, Hubert Dennis, Veterans County Service Officer, announced recently.

Dennis was notified by Charles L. Morris, Executive Director of Veterans Affairs Commission, who stated that this amount represents only the cases handled by the Veterans Affairs Commission and the veterans' organizations with which the commission is accredited.

Dennis explained that none of the benefits paid to veterans, their dependents and the survivors are automatic. A formal application had to be made by each eligible person before any monetary benefits may be paid. From the amount of Federal benefits brought into Hall County, it is obvious that Hall County has filled and processed numerous claims, Morris stated.

Dennis stated that any veteran, their dependents and their survivors should be familiar with the benefits offered and administered by the Veterans Affairs Commission.

Boles Home is a community within itself, where 12 grades of public school are conducted on the campus. Services are rendered to boys and girls from pre-school ages through college or vocational training. Gayle Oler is superintendent.

The public is cordially invited to attend the concert.

Preceding the program, a covered dish supper will be served in the church basement at 6 p. m.

Highlights Of Senior Trip To Colorado Told By Class Member

(Editor's Note: The Senior Class of Memphis High School returned from the annual Senior trip on Monday evening. The following account of the trip was written by the valedictorian of the class, Ronald Pate. The account is as follows:)

By RONALD PATE

After commencement exercise on Tuesday night, we boarded the two buses at 11:00 P. M. and started for Colorado Springs. We made our first stop for gas at Amarillo and our second one at Dalhart. We ate breakfast in Raton, New Mexico. We arrived in Colorado Springs at 11:00 A. M. Wednesday morning. There was not much sleep on the bus, so everyone thought that this was the longest day of his life. Our motel was the Rainbow Courts. Everyone slept most of the afternoon Wednesday. That night, everyone dressed up and went to Embers Steak House. It was a night club with a live band and singers and the steaks were delicious.

On Thursday, we toured the Garden of the Gods, the Cave of the Winds, Seven Falls, the Miracle House, a ghost town, and the Van Briggie Pottery Plant. We then made a tour of the Broadmoor Hotel. That night, one bus load went back to the Broadmoor for a night of ice skating.

On Friday, we loaded up and went to Canon City to tour the Colorado State Prison. After this, we went to the Royal Gorge. This bridge is the highest bridge in the world. Everyone rode the cog train to the bottom of the canyon and a few walked across the bridge to a cafe on the other side. We arrived back at our motel at 6:30 P. M. and went to the picture show at the Broadmoor Hotel at 7:30 P. M. The show was "Hush, Hush Sweet Charlotte".

On Saturday morning, we left for Denver. We went to Lakeside Amusement Park that afternoon and then to Central City. Everyone had a glorious time in an old time saloon. A man played the piano and sang any requests we had. After Central City, we went back to Denver to Elitch's Garden, another Amusement park. Harry James and his orchestra were playing there. We arrived back in Colorado Springs about 1:30 A. M. Sunday mornning.

On Sunday morning, a few went to church, but most of us slept till dinner. That afternoon, we toured the U. S. Air Force Academy, and then went back to Denver. We ate supper and went to the cinema. The movie was "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World". Everyone laughed their heart out.

On Monday morning, we packed the bus and started home. We ate dinner in Trinidad, Colorado, and went to the horse races at Rton, New Mexico. We left the bus at 4:00 P. M. and ate supper in Dalhart. We arrived in Memphis at 12:00 Monday night and were greeted by a caravan of Memphis people.

The trip was a complete blast and everyone had a wonderful time. Special thanks are due to our sponsors: the Royce Frisbies, the Arlie Shaws, and Jeanie Nesbitt. Everyone enjoyed them and they certainly were good sponsors. No one could ask for any better people. Also to our bus drivers, Coach Chambless and Mr. Bradshaw. After Mr. Bradshaw's time of sorrow, Jerry Burleson took over as bus driver and brought us back to Memphis safe and sound.

32 YEARS SERVICE—Mary Lee Mabry, pictured above with Bryon Baldwin, has completed 32 years service with Baldwin's, and will continue to be employed with the firm after the change of owners this week. Recently, Miss Mabry was presented with a watch by the firm upon her completion of 32 years service. She is wearing the watch in the above picture.

Report From Washington

By WALTER ROGERS
Representative, 18th
Congressional District

EXCISE TAX CUT COMING
Congress is preparing to enact the fourth major tax-reduction program of the past five years. House of Representatives will agree to a wide margin—the "Excise Tax Reduction Bill of 1965." You may know from press releases, the bill provides for a series of excise tax reductions and eliminations effective July 1. In all, these reductions will amount to an estimated $1.75 billion.

A second series of excise tax reductions and eliminations will take effect on that date with an effect on that date will amount to $1.7 billion. Thus, both series will total $3.4 billion annually. With certain other reductions and eliminations due to effect on Jan. 1, 1967, 1968, 1969, the aggregate drop in the taxes is expected to be $5 billion.

For years, I have campaigned for a major revision of the tax structure. Excise taxes are a legacy of wartime, and in the first place to discourage the production and sale of goods made with vital war materials such as to raise revenue. They and luggage are two classes of products, and they are of the four categories of excise taxes to be repealed effective July 1. The others are and toilet preparations.

In addition to the retailers' tax-manufacturers' excises of 5 to 10 percent will be repealed. A long list of items effective July 1. These items are involved: conditioners, business machines, cameras and film, electric gas and oil appliances, freezers, musical instruments, pens and mechanical pencils, phonograph records, playing cards, radios and phonographs, refrigerators, sporting goods (except fishing equipment), and television sets. Also due for complete repeal July 1 are taxes of the rent of safety deposit boxes, a seemingly small item but one which has netted $7 million annually in tax revenue.

The excise tax reduction concerning automobiles calls for reductions in the 10 percent manufacturers' tax to 7 percent on July 1 (refunds will be granted to May 24); to 6 percent on January 1, 1966; to 4 percent on January 1, 1967; to 2 percent on January 1, 1968; and total elimination as of January 1, 1969.

It is good to know that progress is being made in reducing to some extent the heavy tax burden on the citizenry. However, I am disappointed that further success has not been obtained in reducing income taxes. I have long advocated an increase in the individual and dependents' exemptions. I proposed an increase in this exemption from $600 to $1,000. Anyone with children knows that a $600 exemption from income taxes is completely unrealistic. Actually, an exemption for dependents should be closer to $2,000. If this increase in the exemptions could be accomplished the additional money available to the low and middle income classes as a result of this income tax reduction would in my opinion provide substantial added vigor to the economy. It would serve to create additional purchasing power in those segments of our economy where additional spending money is most needed. It would contribute to the betterment of large families and would serve in many instances to help relieve the poverty which we are supposed to be warring against.

When I first introduced this legislation during my early years in the Congress, I had six dependents. Some of the other Members of Congress facetiously called this "a bill for the private relief of Walter Rogers." However, my dependents have grown up and I have only two left. My desire and advocacy of this type of legislation has continued to grow strong-

350 Persons Attend Annual Giles Picnic

By VIRGINIA BROWDER
Judging from the attendance, the dancing, singing, and all-around merry-making, the tenth annual Giles Picnic was a grand and glorious success. Some 350 people gathered on the banks of old Buck Creek to enjoy the day's festivities.

The hotly contended sheriff's race between Walter Johnson and Dave Browder was won by "Brave Dave". Of course, the vote was taken by a show of hands and some one may have held up both hands, but legal or not, a younger man was needed to keep law and order in the Giles community. Pete Land was elected "Custodian of the Out Houses" over his opponent, Dick Shelton of Clarendon who's manager Shirley Johnson did all she could for her candidate.

Awards of carnations (compliments of Leslie's Flowers) were given to Mrs. Foster as the oldest present resident in Giles; to little Sissy Johnson as the youngest resident in Giles; to Jake Thaxton and Mrs. California for coming the farthest distance to the picnic; Mrs. Hughs as the oldest woman present.

The Hall County Singers led by Malcolm Glass of Giles entertained with good old-fashioned "hymn singing" with Ruby Glass at the piano which was graciously furnished by Sug Lemons, Jack Pritchard, Richard Stotts, a Mr. Miller from Wellington, and Walter Johnson kept the fiddle music rolling all day and into the night with round and square dancing the order of the day. Bob Ayers, the very able master of ceremonies, doubled on guitar when needed, a quartet "obliged" with a few hymns.

Tommy Potts had a few words to say and jokes to tell. John Mc-Mickin led the opening prayer and gave the invocation before the delicious dinner was served.

We wish to thank all who made this picnic a success. Clyde Morris for hauling water with a tank from the Memphis Compress; Floyd McIntush & Co. for the wood hauling; Mrs. Carl Wood for painting the Giles sign; J. B. Yates and the other musicians for their lively renditions; The Hedley Methodist Church and First Presbyterian Church of Memphis for chairs; and the Memphis Methodist Church for the tables. Without the assistance of these good friends, we could not have had the Giles Picnic. Hope you had enough food and fun to repay you for your trouble.

business men and citizens filled the store where he and Mrs. Baldwin have worked for many years. This was the day Mr. Baldwin also turned the store over to the new owner, Les Sims. When the Baldwins walked into the store, they were greeted "Happy Birthday," then Tommie Potts, speaking for all present, gave Mr. Baldwin a plaque recognizing him for the many years of service to the people of Memphis and this area. May Byron continue to be a community builder.

Once in a while, one meets a friend or neighbor who acts like discouragement has him down. And that is the first step toward display, and the beginning of doubt and distrust of the power of good over evil. In other words, discouragement is lack of confidence or faith in God, in humanity, in one's self, or in all these. On the other hand, a grateful man is usually less likely to listen to the pleadings of the pessimist. . . . Gratitude gives one appreciation of many joys. In search of flowers and finds them, he forgets thorns and thistles; delights in the nightingale's song and forgets the hooting owls or croaking frogs; admires the starry firmament and looks not on the depths of Hell; and in his appreciation for the joys and blessings of life, he thinks about the trials and difficulties lying in his path, and in overcoming same, he has won a wonderful victory.

News that lives in hearts of people is covered by Weeklies. The case in favor of small town reporting as against metropolitan glamour, was recently presented by the Carville, Ill., Enquirer, as follows:

"So you're just a small-time reporter on a small-town weekly—and you could be writing the things that would live. You spend your days, writing of births, deaths, marriages, and parties—while you might be reporting world-shaking events from far-away places. Yet, the other day, you saw a greying woman, turning the faded pages of a scrap book. What did you see? The birth of a daughter, Suzan, at Mercy Hospital . . . Miller is survived by his wife and five children . . . a birthday party for her daughter, Jane, six . . . married in the Methodist Church at noon . . . Suddenly, you know that, of these things—births, deaths, marriages, funerals—these are the stuff of which life is made. Long after the names of political big-wigs, glamour girls and sensational headlines are forgotten, these things will live. Small-town reporter on a small-town paper—take pride in your job, for you are chronicling the events that live always in the hearts of people."

A former Hall Countian, Jeff D. Wilson, 29, has purchased the entire interest of James Doneghy in the City State Bank in Wellington, according to an announcement released last week.

ighted which poses a threat to our area.

Last night, it was reported a funnel was seen in the Quitaque area proceeding in our direction. Apparently the major portion of the system went to the south of Memphis and broke up by 1:30 a. m.

The longtime residents of Memphis came awake at the signal and spent some time in the cellars.

The system gave Memphis .68 of an inch of rainfall, according to J. J. McMickin, official weather observer. Lakeview and area received about one inch with the rains heavier to the west and south. Estelline reported two-tenths from the system.

The Memphis Fire Department, the City Police, the Sheriff's Department, and the Highway Patrol, all combined to keep a tornado watch on the major roads around Memphis during storm systems.

These men over the years have done outstanding work and to our knowledge no tornado has slipped up on Memphis area without adequate advanced warning being given.

Memphis Council

rent tax rate of $1.40 will be adopted at the July meeting of the council when the City's ad valorem tax ordinance will be drawn up.

Mayor Howell announced to the council that the Municipal Airport runway was completed and all paving had been done by Tuesday.

The final work was done by Ray Boswell of Pampa, who also did some paving on parts of North 17th Street.

It was explained that property owners along each side of the newly paved street participated in financing the cost in the same way as other paving projects were conducted.

Will Leslie, a representative of the Memphis Garden Club, met with the council and presented them with a request adopted by that organization asking for an ordinance to prohibit any but fireproof buildings to be constructed along Boykin Drive. The council referred the matter to the City Attorney for a legal opinion.

The council approved the purchase of a floor polishing machine for the Municipal Building.
