Automobile Accident Takes Life of Jay Dunbar, Well-Known Memphian

Jay Sherwood Dunbar, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Dunbar and student at the University of Texas, was killed shortly after 9 p. m. Friday night in an automobile accident near Quanah. Jay was en route home from Vernon where he had been to qualify in the Vernon Invitational Golf Tournament. Investigating officers said the car driven by Jay plunged off a railroad overpass on U. S. Highway 287. He was dead on arrival at the Quanah hospital.

JAY DUNBAR

A freshman student at the University of Texas last year, he was born and reared in Memphis. He was a member of the freshman golf team at the university and only recently won the City Golf tournament in Memphis. Jay was enjoying a vacation here with his parents and had planned to return to Austin in July to attend the second semester of summer school. An outstanding student, Jay was listed in Who's Who his senior year at Memphis High School. He was a regional Medalist in golf his sophomore, junior and senior years and a Golf-State Medalist his sophomore year. He was born May 17, 1947, in Memphis. He was a member of the First Methodist Church. Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. Sunday in the First Methodist Church with the Rev. David Hamblin, pastor, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Steve Harper, a Baptist minister from Haskell. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery with services under the direction of Spicer Funeral Home.

The Memphis City Council met Tuesday night in regular session and handled several items of importance in city affairs. One of the items handled was the passage of an ordinance setting up Street Warrants of $25,000. The warrants are to retire in 1977 and bear interest of 5 percent the ordinance stated. The money will pay for a $21,462, contract with W. D. Turner Construction Company for seal coating the city's black topped streets. The council also has added two additional projects to their original contract. The parking area around the Municipal Building will be paved by the Turner firm. Also, the park loop will be seal coated. City Secretary A. L. Gailey explained that a lot of patch work is having to be done and the contractor is doing this work on the 218,000 square yards of streets in the original contract. City fathers were pleased that the additional work could be done as cheaply as it is being done, Secretary Gailey said. The council received a petition to close an ally in Block 19, original town of Memphis. This ally is between property owned by Donley County WCID No. 1 and the Memphis Lumber Co. The council passed Ordinance No. 423 approving the closing of this ally. Alderman Cayle Greene, a member of the Airport committee, made recommendations concerning control at the Municipal Airport. Following his report the council took action. The council voted to require a $100 annual deposit from all aerial spraying firms using the airport. Any damage to crops or (Continued on Page 10)

EDITORIAL

Weather Builds Character

The July 4th weekend is just past and it will be remembered by area residents for its violent and heartbreaking deaths and for its extremely hot and humid weather. Both had profound effects on the residents.

Living in our area are a group of strong willed individuals, tender hearted by nature, often kind and gentle. When tragedy strikes, they are quick to respond. This is the way it should be.

It has been said many times that there is a great difference between the rural dwellers and city dwellers in this country and state. Recently, an editorial we read gave a partial explanation for this difference; one with a certain amount of truth and logic to it.

Have you ever thought about the weather as an influence on our dwellers. The weather means different things to different people, and nowhere is this difference so great as between city and country.

For many thousands of years of human history, the farmer has had to learn to resign himself to the vagaries of the weather. He never knows from year to year, or from month to month, how his crop will fare and he must remain largely helpless before the uncertainty.

In our area, communities, even merchants and businessmen are vitally concerned about the weather and how crops are fairing. Farmers do not stand alone on this point.

Man has not yet learned to control the weather, and while the farmers know fully well how important the weather is to their cotton and grain fields, it is equally important to the ranchers' grassland, or to any other agriculture endeavor throughout our state and nation.

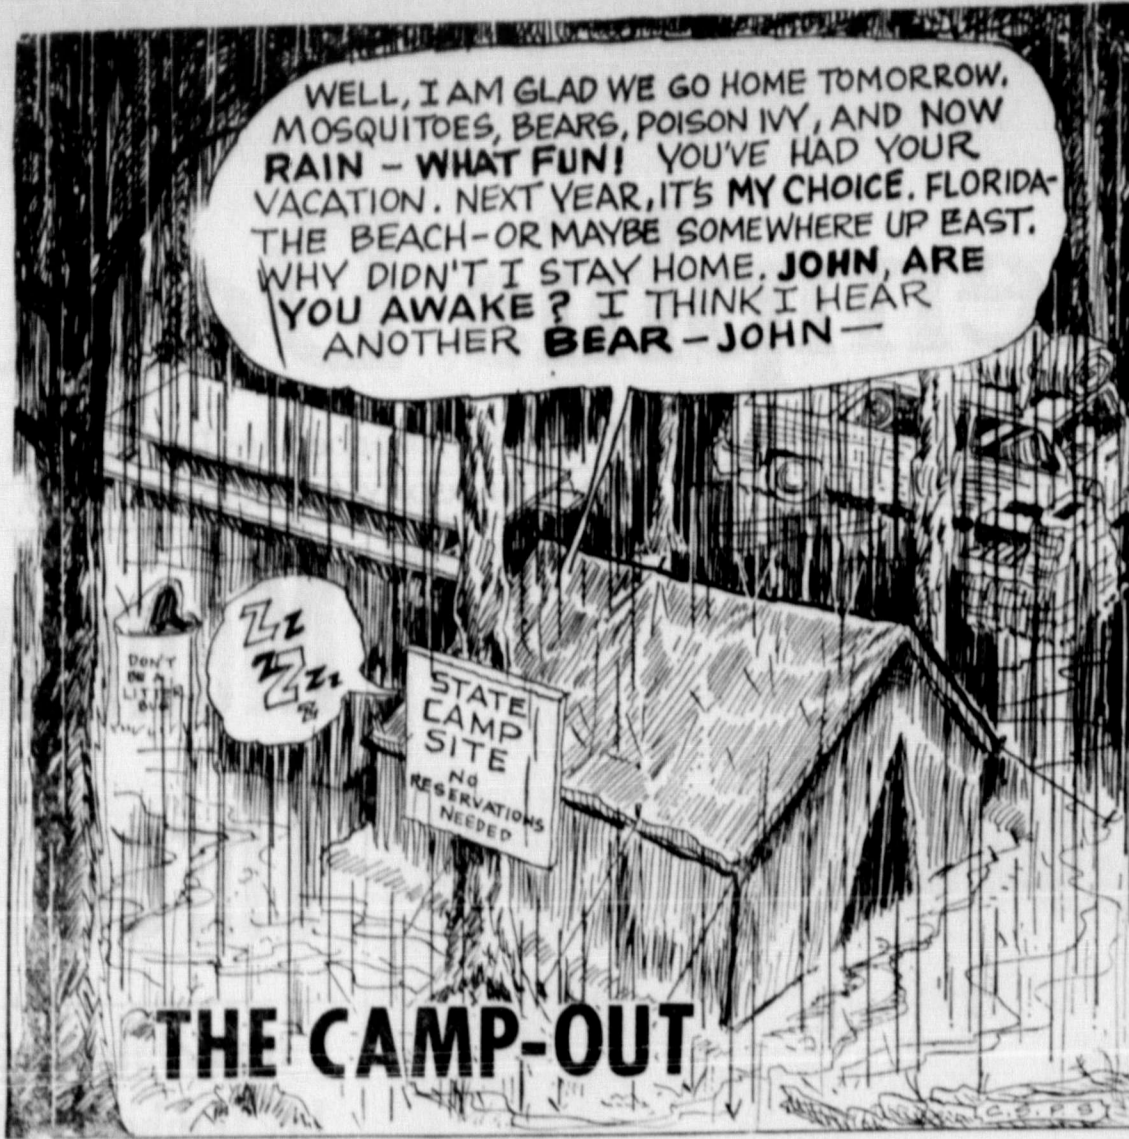

This past weekend, the hot, dry weather heralded the coming of dry-hot July and August. June passed with many opportunities for rainfall and certain portions of the county were blessed with good rains. However, the eastern portion of the county received only a small portion of what is needed.

Farmers have learned to live and work under conditions where a neighbor may receive as much as five inches more rainfall in a season as does the adjoining farm. Also, the rains may be accompanied by damaging hail, or high winds, which take their toll.

Dependence upon the weather has bred in the farmer the world over a kind of fatalism scarcely seen anywhere else in modern society. City dwellers find it hard to understand how a farmer can stand to see his crop and his year's income, wiped out by one storm, but the farmer has to take such things in his stride if he is to be a farmer.

If a man never knows when the freeze will hurt his crop, or the rain will wash out the cotton, or the hail will destroy his crops, the basic uncertainty is bound to affect his general view of life, giving him what has been called "rural" characteristics. Topin-point what is meant by "rural" characteristics is beyond the scope of this article.

Farmers, generally, religiously, economically and even believe politically, like their crops, are the products of the climate in which they live.

What Other Editors Say

Texas

The big new summer production at the Palo Duro Canyon Amphitheatre . . . Paul Green's musical-romance of the Texas Panhandle called "Texas" . . . has been picked by the National Association of Travel Organizations in Washington, D. C., as one of the top twenty travel attractions in the United States this year. And we'll bet that it will be!

With the tremendous backdrop of the Palo Duro cliffs at sunset, the show has got to be spectacular . . . and if Paul Green's professional production is any better than the amateur "Thundering Sounds of the West" show produced at the amphitheatre last summer, it's got to be terrific.

The show opens on July 1 . . . and is scheduled to run through the remainder of the summer. Better make your plans now to look in on the Pioneer Amphitheatre and Paul Green's "Texas" before very long . . . so you'll be able to join in the conversation . . . because everybody's going to be talking about it—Canadian Record

Don't Downgrade Officers

There is widespread campaign on downgrading law enforcement officers, with police on all levels being held up as a force to be despised. The civil rights campaign has much to do with this, by numerous accounts of "police brutality" and the U. S. Supreme Court, in its zeal to protect the right of the individual, has further tied the hands of the law officers.

The harassment of the law takes place everywhere, not just in the slum districts of the big cities. Here in Perryton the city police have their detractors, and any city of any size has people that actually hate the men in uniform.

The term "police brutality" brings to mind a picture of a man in uniform clubbing and beating innocent people. It is also applied to men in uniform who carry limp demonstrators off the public street, to men in uniform who herd marching demonstrators off busy paved highways, to men in uniform who disperse rioters and unruly crowds.

The term "police brutality" has been applied to a lot of things, when as a matter of fact, the police have been less brutal than some people have been on them. There are times that a police officer has to use force or be killed. We must remember that the police deal with a lot of different kinds of people. They deal with the upper crust of society and they deal with the scum of the earth. They have to be tough, their job demands it.

But we should never lose sight of the fact that the policeman is all that stands between decent citizens and anarchy. There are few cities in this country that would be safe to travel in were it not for the police to uphold law and order—Ochiltree County Herald.

Depending Upon Cars

The American economy depends a great deal upon the automobile, and our entire way of life is built around this machine.

Right now, the automobile industry is experiencing a drop in sales, off from last year's record breaking sales volume, and this decline has affected a lot of other lines of business.

Automobile sales are down about 10 per cent from a year ago and this has caused the manufacturers to shut down production on the 1966 models ahead of time.

This month most of them will shut off the 1966 models and get ready to produce 1967 models.

All the auto companies have already chopped thousands of cars from their current production schedules and have quickened the pace of shutdowns for change-over.

Of course, the auto industry didn't expect to keep setting new sales records year after year. Last year topped the record sales year of 1955, and the 1966 model year started off just as fast.

But the pace slowed and a lot of reasons were given for it. The new withholding tax rate, uncertainty about the Viet Nam situation, higher Social Security taxes, increased spending for other items rather than cars, the satisfied demand for cars following the record 1965 year, and the fact that the 1966 models were little changed from the year before are all given as reasons for the decline.

Still, the current sales year is a big one, one that stimulates the entire economy. Everybody has high hopes for an even better car sales year for the 1967 model year.—Ochiltree County Herald.

An Impractical Theory

When the teacher in a high school class in economics found that his pupils were in favor of the theory of taking from those who had more than enough, and giving it to those in need, he announced that beginning immediately, he would put the system in operation in the class. He would subtract from the grades of the top students, and add it to the grades of the poorest students, so all would get an average grade.

The first month, the system worked pretty well. The grades of the best students were high enough to offset the deficiency of the lower ones, and the class average was above the passing work. Then the situation changed.

The top students saw no reason to put forth extra effort required to get good grades, with which they would not be credited.

The medium students put forth less effort for they were assured passing grades.

The dullards did not work at all, since they would pass with the aid of the grades from the others.

So, while at first the system provided passing grades for all, within a very short time the entire class was failing. They then realized that this socialistic-communistic theory was impractical.

Report From Washington

Representative, 18th
Congressional District

Dollar And The Farmer
The share of the consumer spent for food ranges from 10 to 70 percent, according to a report recently issued by the National Commission on Marketing. This lengthy report on the economics of food marketing, which from farmer to retailer comprises the National Food Industry, shows that farmers are not to blame for high prices in recent years. The report points up the extent to which consumers are being made the victims by other segments of the economy.

size and bigness in food marketing and in proposing new regulations and restriction. In view of many, the Commission exceeded its grant of Congressional authority by making recommendations for action to be taken—and these aspects of the report, to which some Commission members issued strong dissents, are sure to be followed by a long round of argument and debate in Congress and the country.

But the factual side of the report—the studies on where the housewife's dollar goes—are very revealing, and in this research the Commission and its staff performed a helpful service.

It is obvious that when the housewife buys a food product in the market, she pays for all the services involved in producing, processing, and distributing the food. Many housewives, however, don't understand the relationship of the price received by the farmer to the price she pays. Since the product is food, too many housewives tend to blame the farmer for the cost. The Commission report should help many Americans to understand the truth in the farm-retail price spread. Using figures for 1964, the Commission determined that consumers' expenditures for domestically produced farm food totaled $69.8 billion. The marketing bill made up 68 percent of the consumer's food dollar that year; the farm value was 32 percent.

That $69.8 billion spent by consumers in 1964 breaks down as follows: Of the $47.3 billion marketing bill, $20.8 billion went to labor costs; $5.1 billion went to transportation; $18.7 billion is classed as "other" costs, including costs of buildings and equipments, containers and supplies, and advertising and promotion; and $2.7 billion were corporate profits. The farm value—again, 32 percent of the total spent—was $22.5 billion.

As I indicated above, the report notes differences in the farm share of the consumer's dollar for specific products. For example, the farm share for butter is approximately 70 percent because processing is relatively simple, transportation costs are low since the product is highly concentrated, and handling costs are moderate. By contrast, the farm share of the dollar spent for canned tomatoes is low—16 percent—mainly because of high processing and container costs. Twenty-one leading farm food products were surveyed in detail. This is the breakdown for a pound of choice beef retailing for 70.8 cents: Retailing costs were 17 cents; wholesaling, transportation, and other distribution costs were 2.3 cents; processing costs were 5.2 cents; assembly cost 3.8 cents; and farm value was 42.4 cents. For one pound of white bread, retailing at 20.7 cents, the breakdown is: Retailing, 3.7 cents, wholesaling, transportation, and other distribution, 6.1 cents; processing, 6.7 cents, assembly, .2; and farm value, 4 cents.

Hand it to the farmer and his efficiency. The report states that although farm prices of a market basket of foods were unchanged between 1950 and 1965, the farm-retail spread rose 37 percent and retail prices increased 20 percent.

Linda Miller, Michael Branigan United In Church Wedding

Miss Linda Miller and Michael Branigan were united in marriage in an impressive ceremony solemnized at 7:00 p. m. Saturday, July 2, in the First Methodist Church in Memphis, Texas.

The Reverend David Hamblin, pastor, read the double ring ceremony before an arch of sunburst arrangement of commodore fern flanked by arched candelabra holding votive candles and baskets of gladioli. The altar rails were covered with greenery.

Pre-nuptial selections were played by Billy Cosby, organist, who also accompanied soloist, Jimmy Stewart as he sang "Because" and "Whither Thou Goest". The "Wedding Prayer" was sung during the ceremony. Billy also played the traditional wedding marches for the processional and recessional.

Attendants

Miss Shirley Hale of Midland, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a formal length gown of wedding blue brocade with an empire waistline, with scoop neckline. Her headpiece was fashioned of blue nylon roses with dangling for-get-me-nots, complemented by illusion veil. She carried a single long-stem white rose.

Bridesmaids were Miss Elmonette Branigan, Memphis, sister of the groom, and Miss Kay Barrington of Abilene, cousin of the bride. Each wore gowns identical to the maid of honor. Miss Mary Lou Simmons, cousin of the groom was junior bridesmaid. She wore a formal length gown of white brocade, fashioned at the empire waistline with a satin bow. Her illusion veil was complemented with a blue dior bow for her headpiece. Miss Donna Wallace, niece of the bride, and Barry Lynn Simmons, cousin of the groom, were candle lighters, marking the aisle by lighting the votive candles decorated with white bows placed on the pews. Debra and Donna wore gowns fashioned as the junior bridesmaid.

Best man was John M. Ferrel of Memphis and groomsmen were Dana Gibson of Lakeview, and Connie Mack Moore of Clarendon. Junior groomsman was Edward Neal Foxhall of Memphis. Mark Alan Simmons, cousin of the groom was ring bearer.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of peau de soie with hand clipped chantilly, enriched with iridescent sequins. Her bodice was empire fashioned with a scalloped neckline and long pointed sleeves. The A-line skirt with the chapel train was fashioned with a bow, topped with a rose nestled on the cask of the waist line. Peau de soie and lace enhanced the lace hat of petals, centered with crystals in simulated pearls which held the English silk illusion shoulder-length veil. The bride carried a large white orchid; sprinkled with stephanotis atop her white lace Bible. She wore the traditional blue garter with a good luck piece of her father's which was a 1846 penny. The diamond pendant cross she wore was borrowed from Miss Elmonette Branigan.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Miller wore a pastel blue lace dress, complemented with matching hat of pillbox design. Mrs. Branigan wore a blue linen with matching lace duster. Her accessories were white. Both wore corsages of white.

Reception

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Methodist Annex. Mr. and Mrs. Miller were hosts, assisted by their daughter, Mrs. Hub Hopper of Abilene, Mrs. Dewey Simmons, Mrs. T. O. Pounds, Mrs. Jess Roden, Mrs. Forrest Power, all of Memphis. Mrs. Conny Mack Moore presided at the register and the receiving line was comprised of the bride, groom, the bride's attendants and the parents of the bride and groom. The guests were served at a table covered with a cloth of white satin with a blue tulle overskirt. The centerpiece of blue and white daisies were enhanced by blue candles in crystal candelabra. Mrs. Pounds, assisted by Mrs. Simmons, served the cake and Miss Sue Watson of Memphis presided at the punch bowl.

For the wedding trip, the bride chose a suit of pastel blue with an inset white ruffle, forming a V-shaped neckline. Her accessories were of white and her corsage was the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Branigan is a graduate of Memphis High School and has attended Draughton's Business School in Abilene. She will resume her studies in Draughton's of Oklahoma City, Okla. The groom is also a graduate of Memphis and has completed a course in H. C. Lewis School of Electronics in Oklahoma City. The couple will be at home at 3528 N. W. 39th Street in Oklahoma City as the groom plans to enter pharmacy at Central State College in Edmond in September. He is presently employed with the J. C. Penney Co. in Sheppard Mall in Oklahoma City.

Courtesies extended to the bride prior to the marriage included a miscellaneous shower in Abilene, given by Mrs. B. R. Bernard. A bridal shower was held at the home of Mrs. Billy Thompson June 28, and a lingerie shower was given by Mrs. Jimmy Fields in the home of Mrs. Wayne Hutcherson June 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmont Branigan were hosts at the rehearsal dinner at the Big O Restaurant July 1 for members of the wedding party. Mrs. Freddie Smith of Hitchcock, Okla., and Mrs. Hub Hopper were also guests at the dinner.

Snowdon-Baker Nuptial Vows Read In Pretty Church Service

Miss Margaret Elaine Snowdon became the bride of Dewey Richard Baker at 4:00 p. m. Saturday, July 2, in the First Methodist Church in Memphis. The Reverend David Hamblin read the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Snowdon of Memphis. Mr. Baker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey V. Baker of Beeville, Texas.

The vows were exchanged before an arch candelabra with votive candles and baskets of white gladioli. The altar rail was draped with snailx entwined with white silk wedding rope and accented by votive candles.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown fashioned of chantilly lace and silk organza. The empire lace bodice with scattered seed pearls was fashioned with scalloped neckline and scalloped elbow-length sleeves. Two soft pleats in the back of the reed slim organza skirt gave added fullness. The train of lace wattleau flowed from a bow at the shoulders into chapel length. Her elbow-length veil of illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls. For "something old," Elaine wore her maternal grandmother's wide gold wedding band. The bride carried two white cymbidium orchids and stephanotis atop a white Bible.

Attendants

Serving as her sister's maid of honor was Miss Anita Snowdon of Memphis. Miss Marian Meadows of El Paso was bridesmaid. They wore identical long sheath gowns with a modified empire bodice of jonquil yellow dotted Swiss with sabrina necklines. The elbow-length sleeves were trimmed in ruffles of dotted Swiss and gimpure lace. They carried yellow and white pom-poms in cascade arrangements.

Allyn Harrison of Lubbock served as best man. Groomsman was Thomas Snowdon of Austin, brother of the bride. Ushers were Fred Earl Snowdon, brother of the bride, and Jerry Beasley, both of Memphis.

Miss Mindy Osment was flower girl and wore a floor-length gown fashioned after the bride's attendants. She wore a crown of yellow pom-poms. Ringbearer was Ben Barris of Beeville, nephew of the groom.

Organ selections were rendered beautifully by Miss Sandra McQueen of Memphis, who also accompanied Miss Mollie Bynum, soloist from Carlsbad, New Mexico, as she sang "Always," "How Do I Love Thee," and "The Wedding Prayer."

Mrs. Snowdon chose for her daughter's wedding a mint green silk sheath dress with beige accessories. She wore a corsage of salmon pink glamelias.

Mrs. Baker, the groom's mother, chose a blue dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink glamelias.

For her wedding trip, Elaine chose an ice-blue silk suit with matching hat and black patient accessories.

Railroad Asks To Discontinue Two Trains

Memphis would lose two passenger trains between Dallas-Fort Worth and Denver if a request is granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The Fort Worth and Denver and the Colorado and Southern Lines announced Wednesday they will seek permission to discontinue joint passenger trains Nos. 1 and 8.

CHAMPION—James (Rich) Gilbreth of Lakeview, proudly shows his coon hound, "Red" and the five trophies his dog won at the South Plains Coon Hunters Assn. field trials at Lubbock last weekend. The tallest trophy, (center) was for the high point dog as "Red" earned 11 points to lead the field of entries.

Lakeview Coon Hound Wins Lubbock Contest

James "Rich" Gilbreth, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gilbreth of Lakeview, was a mighty proud boy when he returned from Lubbock last weekend because his coon dog, "Red", a two-and-a-half-year-old animal, had been selected high point, grand champion dog at the show.

The South Plains Coon Hunters Assn. field trials for July were held the first weekend and "Red" a three-fourth Blue Tick and a one-fourth Walker coon dog hound was awarded four of the nine trophies given along with the top trophy.

"Red", named after his red tick color, won trophies for being second in line, second in treeing in the drag race, first place in the treeing contest, giving him a 11 point total, tops at the meet. "Red's" father, "Joe" won first place tree in the drag race, beating his son out in this event and brought home a trophy for himself.

"Rich" Gilbreth entered his "Red" in the West Texas Coon Hunters Assn. meet in June at Quitaque and won first place in the treeing contest. This was the first coon contest the animal had ever been in, "Rich" said and he was so pleased he decided to go to the bigger trials at Lubbock, never thinking his dog had a chance.

"Red" did not have any extra training before he went to the show other than being turned loose on the river and creek in Hall and surrounding counties to run racoons up trees and being

Richard Gilbreth, principal in the Lakeview High School, said he has always enjoyed coon hunting with dogs and encouraged his son "Rich" in the sport. There are quite a few men in the Memphis and Lakeview area who enjoy hunting coons and coyotes with dogs. The sport seems to be catching on now that more animals are available to hunt.

Readers who are not familiar with events in coon hunting contests might be interested to know that the coon is taken down a trail for about one-quarter of a mile and then placed in a tree. The dogs are released at the start of the trail and are judged on the speed in which they follow the trail at the finish line (line race) the order they find the tree with the coon and their barking at the tree.

Animals who have not had ample field training sometimes fail to find the tree with the coon in it or even loose the trail. Gilbreth said that he and his son were real proud of their two dogs because they reacted to the events the same as when they were in the field.

ley County, the investigating officer in the shooting, stated the killing took place about 3 a. m. Monday, July 4, about five miles east of Hedley on Highway 287. The two men and their wives had been returning to Hollis early Monday morning when they stopped on the side of the road.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL—Shown above is the construction site of the new home of Memphis High School, as it is from the northeast side. The structure is taking shape. One of the interesting features in the construction is the use of which is being used to hoist heavy materials to the top of the structures. The completion deadline for the building is 1967. The shooting took place shortly thereafter. Nichols was shot once in the left breast by a .22 caliber rifle.

Mrs. Gladys Jewell Cole, 40, and Mrs. Hazel Ruth Nichols, 35, were taken into custody by Donley Officers. They were both charged with drunkenness. Later they both plead guilty to these charges and were fined in Clarendon.

The first any of the Law Enforcement Officers knew of the shooting was when Cole caught a ride into Memphis and turned himself in to the City Police Station here. City Police Chief Tomie Tucker notified Donley County Sheriff who took charge of the investigation.

Marshall Harrison Nichols was born in Detroit, Texas. He worked as a farm laborer in Oklahoma. He is survived by his wife of Hollis, five daughters, four sons, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Murphy Nichols of Paris. Services and burial will be in Paris, Okla., Wednesday.

He was a veteran of World War II, serving in the 101st Airborne Division.
