Turks Battle Matadors In Dist. 6-B Opener

Field in Matador will be Friday night for the 6-B opener for two old-time Turkey Turks and Matadors will again meet in their long time battles. Neither team has managed to get high for this as it has long been a bitter contest from start to points. But here the total may be misleading as the Matadors have played much tougher competition. Two of their one sided losses were to the No. 3 and No. 5 rated Class A teams in the State, Crowell and Spur.

Both teams will go all out in an attempt to start the district race on a winning note. As they were picked to battle it out for 4th place in pre-season prediction, a win is a must if they expect to have any hope for the district 6-B crown.

So far, teams from District 6-B haven't fared too well against outside competition. But this could be misleading as most have played a tough non-conference schedule against teams of higher classification. Right now it looks like the pre-season favorite Chilli-cothe will be the team to beat as they have the only winning record in the district. With their only loss coming by a narrow margin up a total of 116

J. Claude Wells, Pioneer Publisher, Dies; Funeral Services Are Saturday

J. Claude Wells, 87, known throughout the Tri-State area as The Dean of Panhandle Newspaper Publishers, was laid to rest beside his wife, Pearl Wells, on a beautiful fall afternoon Saturday in Fairview Cemetery in Memphis.

He died at 12:30 p. m. Thursday, Sept. 27, in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo of heart failure following a lengthy illness. He had been in ill health since July 20 and was transferred from Hall County Hospital to Amarillo three weeks ago.

Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. Saturday at the First Methodist Church with the Rev. David Hamblin, pastor, officiating. The Rev. Gene Jorgenson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, assisted.

The veteran newspaper publisher was born March 25, 1879 in Booneville, Miss. His wife, the former Pearl Vineyard, preceded him in death last December. The couple was married on Oct. 30, 1904 at Claude, Texas.

Claude Wells was honored in his home town on March 22, when it was declared to be "J. Claude Wells Day in Memphis". A joint meeting of the Memphis Lions and Rotary Clubs was held at which time it was announced that he had contributed $50,000 to the Hall County Hospital for an addition which in the planning stage calls for additional 20 rooms and a new wing. The contribution was made in memory of his wife.

A publisher on the Plains for over 64 years, Mr. Wells left streams of newsprint and printer's ink laced throughout nearly the whole civilized history of this area. He was also the subject of numerous magazine articles. He was a philanthropist, a business man, a civic leader, and a man with vision concerning civic improvements.

Mr. Lacy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Lacy, formerly of Turkey and now residing in Groom. He died Friday morning, Sept. 30, in a Fort Worth hospital of anemia after an illness of several months.

Mr. Lacy was valedictorian of his graduating class at Turkey High School where he had won all-regional honors as captain and a fine brand of football." "We are trying to get physically as well as mentally ready for district competition," he said.

The last non-conference game on the Bears schedule, the Estelline-Oklaunion game should be a good one with the Bears determined to even up their season record with a victory.

The Estelline Jr. High team played Guthrie Tuesday and won the game 46 to 20. They will play Turkey next Monday at Estelline.

Coach Jimmie Adams' Bears will be going into this game in the best physical condition the squad has been in since the season began, as Senior Triston Mabry is back in pads and expected to see action.

The Jr. High team showed a lot of aggressive play getting two points on the scoreboard with a safety on the opening kickoff.

Oklaunion carries one senior and two juniors on their roster, with the rest of the team composed of sophomores. The team is reported to be small in size, with good speed and a lot of desire to play a hard hitting game.

White rags to be used in making bandages are badly needed by the Hall County Cancer Society, members said this week.

Coach Adams, in talking about his season record, said the Bears need this game to have a 2-2 mark. "We lost two games in the final minutes because our boys did not take the games seriously enough."

White material of the soft type used in sheets and tablecloths is needed in order that the group may continue their valuable service. Donations of cloth will be greatly appreciated.

"With a little more individual pride in themselves and the team, to give their best effort throughout the entire game," Coach Adams said, "our boys can play

Cloth contributions may be placed in a box located in Greene Dry Goods, or persons wishing to have rags picked up may call Mrs. F. McIntush, 259-2318, or Hubert Dennis, 259-2560.

Driskill's Car, Bison Tangle Near Turkey Fri.

David Driskill, sophomore student at Clarendon Junior College, walked about eight blocks to his home in Turkey following a car-animal wreck Friday night.

MELVIN JENNINGS

When he arrived home, he told his father, G. P. Driskill, Jr., "I hit a cow, a horse, or a buffalo and tore the car up."

He and his parents went back to the scene of the wreck which was about 300 yards from the Turkey city limits sign northeast of Turkey. The Driskill car was heavily damaged when it hit a 1600-lb. bison, commonly called a buffalo in West Texas.

Driskill said he recognized the buffalo as it galloped in front of the 1963 Chevrolet he was driving, but he was unable to avoid hitting the animal. Due to the fact he was wearing a safety belt, he escaped without serious injuries, according to his report.

To date no one has claimed ownership of the buffalo, he said. Although occasionally reports of buffalo-sightings have been received, this is the first case of a car-buffalo wreck to be reported. The 1600-lb. bison is a full-grown beast, capable of ranging over large areas.

Seeking a second victory in District 3-AA action, the Memphis Cyclone will play host to the Dimmitt Bobcats in Cyclone Stadium Friday night. Game time is 7:30 p. m.

The Cyclone has five boys on the injured list this week who have seen only limited workout action. Chuck Jennings, William Welch, Larry Gaston, Junior Graves and Clyde Wilson were named by Coach Bert Glascock as being hampered by injuries.

When Coach Brown Smith's Dimmitt Bobcats come to Memphis Friday, they will be seeking their first district victory, as they lost a heart-breaker to Hale Center last week 7 to 6.

The Bobcats whipped Hale Center everywhere but on the scoreboard last week, holding them to only 91 yards total yardage while the Bobcats pushed out a total of 179 yards rushing against Hale Center.

Coach Glascock said, "The Bobcats like to play power football. Their defensive unit is big and powerful, marked by aggressive line play."

The Memphis coach believes this game will be one of the physically tough games of the season for the Cyclone lads as the Bobcats physically whipped Hale Center.

Offensively, the Bobcats like to run over their opponents defense. No. 44 Ronnie Hutton, a halfback, is their best back and No. 20 Tommy Stafford is their

Demonstration Of Stage Makeup Given For Little Theatre Members Thursday

The Art of Stage Makeup" program presented Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 28, for Little Theatre members in the Classroom of First Methodist Church.

Whitten, John Deaver, Herschel Combs, Johnny Harrell and Leo Fields.

Speaker for the afternoon was Ronald Myers, a graduate student in the Speech Department at Texas Tech. He stated that makeup artists should study and think about the character they wish to make up of an actor. He demonstrated makeup on Glenn Pope, a junior student in the Tech Speech Department.

Using shadows and highlights, Myers demonstrated Pope into the devil character of Mephistopheles, from Goethe's "Faust." He made a pointed face with an illusion of horns, using a sable brush to apply the makeup. Harsh pencil lines should be avoided, the speaker said, and all lines must be shaded into a natural look.

After the program, refreshments were served from a table laid with a pale yellow cloth. Peace roses in a brass container and a brass candelabra holding green tapers centered the table. Punch was served from a brass punchbowl, with assorted cookies. Pale yellow napkins completed the setting.

Guests for the meeting included Mmes. Jerry Hassell, Dennis Ward, Bill Lorraine, Isabel Chavez and W. E. Roark. Members present, other than the hostesses, were Mmes. Mildred Stephenses, Harold Phelps, R. S. Greene, L. G. DeBerry, Carl Yancey, Leo Fields, Harry Boswell, Gayle Greene, Hubert Jones, Robert Sexauer, Peaches Harrison, R. E. OPENING SESSION—Officers of the 1913 Study Club are pictured above at a Kaffeeklatsch which opened the 1966-67 club year for the study club. Shown, left to right, are Mrs. Byron Baldwin, parliamentarian and critic; Mrs. F. W. Foxhall, press reporter and scrapbook custodian; Miss Neville Wrenn, recording secretary; Mrs. Edd Hutcherson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. O. L. Helm, vice president, and Mrs. Bob Hutcherson, treasurer.

'Kaffeeklatsch' Opens Season For 1913 Study Club Sept. 21

The 1913 Study Club launched its year with a "Kaffeeklatsch" on Sept. 21 at 9:30 a. m. in the DeVille Restaurant. The hostesses were Mmes. Wray Studstill, W. C. Davis, Virginia Browder, Lacy Montgomery and Mills Roberts.

The headtable was attractively laid with a hugh coffee cup, a saucer and a spoon. Colorful zinnias were arranged in the cup as a centerpiece. Along the side tables were antique demitasse cups and spoons which were collected in Europe by Mrs. Davis.

Place cards contained the date, time and place of the occasion and interesting facts about coffee which were read at roll call by each guest. On the front of each card was tied a tiny gold slipper, denoting the club theme for the year, "In Step With the Times." Mrs. Byron Baldwin won the door prize from the lucky number on back of her card. She received an apron in the same print as the colorful bonnets given as favors and worn by all those present.

While everyone enjoyed the delectable food with coffee, Virginia Browder explained the meaning of "kaf feek lat sch," which originated in Germany in the early 1800's. She said that teasing husbands coined the phrase poking fun at their social "Kaffee," of course, means coffee, and "klatsch" means scandal or gossip. The speaker said that its three requirements are: two or more compatible women, a big pot of steaming coffee, and lots of lively chatter. "This strictly 'female gathering' set the stage for woman's exciting new role as a free talker and a free thinker,

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Payne and Judy of Lakeview spent the weekend in San Antonio with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Newton. Accompanying them was Mrs. Jean McQueen, who met her daughter, Susan, there. Susan attends Southwest Texas State College in San Marcos.

and played an important new role as a free talker and a free thinker, and played an important part in securing social equality for woman in a man's world."

Mrs. D. L. C. Kinard gave the invocation.

Mrs. Herschel Combs, the new president, gave an impressive talk entitled "Getting In Step," which was climaxed by her statement that we have a responsibility to our club as well as to our home, our church, our community and our nation.

Mrs. O. L. Helm, vice president, gave an informative preview of the programs for the year carrying out the theme. Quoting Theodore Roosevelt, she said, "It is only through labor and prayerful effort, by grim energy and resolute courage, that we move on to better things."

"Summer Footnotes" were the reports of each member on her vacation activities, all of which were worth-while and interesting. The highlight of the reports was a humorous poem composed by Mrs. Byron Baldwin in collaboration with her husband concerning her summer activities.

During the business session, Mrs. Johnnie Farnsworth, who was present, was voted in as a new member.

Mills Roberts Becomes One Of The 'Unemployed'

'Old Fighter' Retires As Division Manager Of GTC

By JEAN RYON
Public Information Director
General Telephone Co.

If you asked ten coworkers about Mills Roberts, chances are each would stop cold, hesitate and say: "Well, he's a character." But a smile and affectionate tone of voice would accompany the comment.

Mills Roberts, who has been division manager at Memphis for General Telephone Company of the Southwest since 1955, has made many close friends during his telephone career which began in 1928.

The identification which follows him seems to be the result of Mills' never changing and never ending dry wit and double talk. His comments and jokes seem to be completely spontaneous, but those who know him best say he works hard at developing a joke. The implication is that making people laugh and keeping people happy is Mills' ultimate desire.

What's more he's never met a stranger. All people—men, women, top officials, the caddy at the golf course—are equally subject to Mill's often-confusing comments.

And speaking of the golf course, some say he's a full time golfer and part time telephone man. But those who know he began on a construction crew in Pullman, Washington and has for years held responsible jobs in areas subject to the careful scrutiny of moguls (both inside and outside the company) know that it takes more than being a full time golfer to survive.

Even on campus during his college days at Washington State College (now Washington State University), Mills had the reputation of being "brash," extremely popular, scared of girls but more inclined to get by on his personality than his brains. In fact, he always enjoyed art and the musical fraternity on campus, but could never quite settle on a major. As a result, he had sufficient credits to graduate, but never got his diploma. Instead, he started to work for what is now General Telephone Company of Washington in Pullman as a ground man. This means, in effect, that he stayed on the ground and handed tools to other telephone men who were setting poles and stringing lines.

In 1930 the depression was being felt more severely in Washington than in Texas and the Interstate Telephone and Telegraph Company offered to transfer Mills and his good friend and ex-roommate, Art YAGGY, to Lubbock, Texas, where there was more action. Both being bachelors at the time the transfers were accepted.

Since 1930, except for a brief time in California, Mills has been with General Telephone of the Southwest. He has served as plantman, sales manager, commercial manager and district manager at Lubbock, Littlefield, Brownfield, in Texas, Carlsbad and Hobbs, in New Mexico and Wagonka in Oklahoma.

A new district manager in Louisiana may be doubtful about the name of one of the company officers, but you may be sure he's heard of Mills Roberts . . .

for one reason or another. And one of the reasons is most likely to be his sales letter to employees which are sent each year to all Northern Division employees during the residential extension sales campaign.

The fantastically worded comments and accompanying cartoons have gained renown at least company-wide and in some cases even in other companies. These are always signed "Old Fighter" and this is a name to which he answers as quickly as Mills.

There's really no way to describe a Mills' bulletin so here are a few excerpts from a recent "Mills publication." No, not excerpts—it must be all or nothing at all. Here it is:

"Old Fighter has been silent too long, amid the attacks of those big city sales people at Sherman and Irving. Other dogs are also biting at his heels. We arise out of our bed of pain, painfully flex our cramped muscles, slowly work our arthritic joints. Our language, our phrasing, use of words and our living conditions are criticized. Once around we can take. The second time around we give. It's time to put up or shut up."

"We are challenged. Will you, our beloved people in the staked plans take up your cudgels? Will you remain silent in the face of these violent vitriolic and vaporous mouthings? Abe Lincoln, the story teller, once told of the man being rode out of town on a rail. When asked if he had anything to say he replied, "If it wasn't for the honor of it he would just as soon not make the trip."

"Old Fighter is retiring, and would like to go out in a swirl of glory, a foamy wave of extension sales to snuff out his lamp of employment. When he went to work on the construction gang on July 13th, 1928, he had the strange feeling the job wouldn't be permanent. The cramps he had in his arms that night and the blisters on his hands did nothing to dispel the apprehension. One day at a time, beyond 40 years, now comes the moment of truth (October 31) come hell or high water. Old Fighter is ready for unemployment, and a period of reflective anticipation of future independence of the dependence on those who have carried him these short years.

"Now sharp shooters, fellow upper and lower plates. Gather your wits, sharpen your pitter, putty your pates. Let's hear the pitter patter pitilessly put to point on the plated Panhandle Plain. We have had rain. It helped the fairways on the golf courses. It made the weeds grow. It made the bugs happy, but the cotton and grain sorghums are coming on. The farmers are happy, even though they say it could have come 12 days earlier, and they will have to spray the boll weevils and chop down the tall cereales weeds. If the farmers are happy, business is brighter and sales are greasy easier."

And then there's Ila who can stand on her own two feet—anyway you look at it. She is described as smart, intense, likeable and last but not least, a Republican! Some say she has managed to live with Mills all these years since her name was changed from Ila Holt of Idalou, Texas on July 21, 1932 only because she could ignore him. But here again, the comment is said with a grin. And it is obvious to all that they have an understanding of each other that few couples manage to gain.

His old friend, Art Yaggy, may have best summarized what many others have either thought or said: "There are two things about Mills that are always true. He's absolutely 100 percent a real Christian gentleman in the true sense of the world—not in the corny sense—and he likes for people to get along with each other and will go to almost any lengths to see that they do."

red flags were thrown all over the field and illegal procedure was tagged on the Longhorns. Actually several rules were broken by the Longhorns. On the fourth down try, the pass receivers were all covered up and the pass went incomplete. The Cyclone made nine yards on the first two attempts, taking the ball to the 19-yd. line. FB Cornish failed to make the first down so the Cyclone lined up for a punt. This time the snap from center went to the mark and Punter Carroll got off a high, 37-yard punt which Sissney fielded on the Lockney 43. HB Gary Rea, covering on the punt, split Receiver Sissney wide open on the tackle and Sissney was knocked loose from the ball. End Jones recovered for the Cyclone. This started the Cyclone's second scoring drive. The highlight of this drive was a 30-yd. pass from QB Pounds to HB Rea. Rea was downed on the Longhorns three-yard line. HB Rea got the call on the next play and sliced his way into the endzone. A pass for points was incomplete so the score was 12-0. The Longhorns roared back and scored on a long pass play, then kicked off to the Cyclone. The local lads got another drive going, only to lose the ball on a fumble on the Memphis 40. On the next play, Lockey QB passed to an end who caught the ball on the Cyclone 10. A red flag was thrown and a one-half distance to the goal line penalty was stepped off to the Memphis five. There was only seconds remaining before halftime. On the next play, Lockey passed into the end zone but the ball was not caught, another red flag was thrown and pass interference was called against Memphis, giving the Longhorns a first down on the Memphis one yard line with only 17 seconds left showing. Lockey tried a FB power play and Tackle Bobby Carroll met the ball carrier at the line of scrimmage, and Linebacker Willie Devoree knocked the ball loose on a vicious tackle. One of the Cyclone linemen recovered on the five. The Cyclone stalled until the clock ran out. Two scoring drives and two goal line stands climaxed the first half. Midway in the third period, the Cyclone got another drive going, which began on the Cyclone 31-yd. line. Cornish, Rea and Tail Back Junior Graves rambled at will as the Cyclone marched down the field to the Lockney 20-yd. line. On the next play, with a third and one needed situation, HB Rea saw an opening on the outside and cut into the opening around left end, raced 20 yards into the endzone. A pass from QB Pounds to Tail Back Junior Graves was good to two-point conversion and the score was 20 to 7. Memphis fans were feeling good about this time, and apparently the Cyclone defensive unit was feeling over confident, because the Lockney Longhorns came back and ran their TD in one play, making the score 20-14. After the kickoff, Memphis marched back down the field and got to the Longhorns 9-yd. line before the drive was stopped. Lockney punted 62 yards to the Memphis 24. The ball was marched down to the Cyclone 9-yd. line on a 15-yard clipping penalty. On the third down, the Cyclone lined up in punt formation, and Punter Carroll really got his toe into the ball, sailing it 63 yards to the Lockney 28-yd. line. The Longhorns ran one play and made no yardage, then went into pass formation. Possibly the most confusing play of the night resulted on this pass play. The Longhorns left tackle pulled out of the line one count ahead of the snap, drawing a Cyclone defender off sides, flags went down and the Lockney QB tried to pass to a receiver but Memphis' Junior Graves intercepted the pass about the 40-yd. line and ran it back all the way. Both stands were quiet while a conference went on near the goal line with four officials and two captains, but as soon as the decision was reached the Memphis stands knew the Cyclone got a favorable call because the Memphis defensive unit came racing off the field cheering. The call was the Longhorns off-sides which was refused and the interception TD went on the scoreboard. FB Cornish tried a two-point conversion, was stopped short of the goal line. Lockney got another break late in the game when another bad snap from center went over Carroll's head and Lockney got the ball on the Memphis 26. On the last play of the game, a pass was intercepted by a Memphis defender which ended the action. The Cyclone offense continued to show a well balanced attack as William Welch carried 11 times for 44 yards averaging 4 yards per carry. Cornish carried 12 times for 50 yards averaging 4.2 yards. Pounds carried six times for 10 yards. HB Gary Rea carried 12 times for 62 yards for a 5.2-yard per carry average, while Junior Graves carried 10 times for 62 yards for a 6.2-yard average. End Jones carried once for 17 yards. Texas receives more than a third of a billion dollars a year for gas sold to other states.

Statistics do not tell the story of the hard hitting and aggressive Cyclone defensive unit which effectively bottled up the Longhorns ground game on all the plays and held on two of the three stands that warmed the Cyclone fans. Clyde Wilson, Bobby Carrington, Willie De-Allen Booth and Kay Miller are the really good jobs they did in all, it was a real team effort.

the ball controlling attack of the Cyclone, Bert Glascock said, "You move the ball constantly at a defensive team like this without good blocking and running." Cyclone took the opening kickoff and after a fine kickoff by Dwayne Jones, marched their first TD. The drive got started with a carry by William Welch in the middle field strip, and then Kenneth Cornish made the down to the Lockney 43. Rea, a 140-lb. speedster, hit on around end for 13 yards and a first down to the drive was set back on a penalty and the drive moved back to the 45-yd. line. On the next play, QB Pounds hit End Dwayne Jones in the flat, and with good blocking Jones avoided two would-be sacks and raced for the first down on the Lockney 19. Pounds was QB Pounds and Tail Back Welch netted 16 more yards as the Cyclone was knocking on the Longhorns three-yd. line. On the next play, FB Kenneth Cornish found a hole open and through for the TD. On the point attempt, an attempted kick was fouled when the Cyclone center went over the QB Pounds, who hustled and passed it to HB Rea in the endzone, but the pass was intercepted by Sissney. The second climax of the night, late in the first quarter, the local squad tried its best of the night. A snap from center went over the head of Bobby Carroll and the Cyclone lost 28 yards and Lockney over on the Cyclone 22-yd. line. On the next series, on a fourth and five for the TD, the Cyclone tried to pass for the TD. The pass was completed in the endzone but cause the Lockney Longhorns came back and ran their TD in one play, making the score 20-14. After the kickoff, Memphis marched back down the field and got to the Longhorns 9-yd. line before the drive was stopped. Lockney punted 62 yards to the Memphis 24. The ball was marched down to the Cyclone 9-yd. line on a 15-yard clipping penalty. Woman's Society, Wesleyan Guild Holds Joint Meeting For Bible Study

Members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild met Monday, Oct. 3, at 7 p. m. in the church annex to begin a unified Bible and mission study.

A worship setting of inspiration was an arrangement of "The Praying Hands" and an open Bible.

Mrs. Ed Hutcherson and Mrs. John Fowler, secretary of Spiritual Life Cultivation in the two groups, presided at the opening session of the Bible study of the Books of James and I Peter. Study theme was "Christian Being and Doing." Mrs. Fowler pointed out that moral revival faces the church of our day as much or more so than for the early Christians.

A ten-minute break was held, and coffee and cookies were served by Wesleyan Service Guild members.

The last half of the study session was presented by the secretary of Mission Education and Service, Mrs. Cyril Keith, and the secretary of Christian Social Relations, Mrs. Bob Hutcherson, of WSCS. A one-act play, "Two In a Trap," was ably presented by the two women. A cleverly arranged elevator in a large apartment building was the setting for the playlet and the dialogue forcefully and vividly depicted the theme for the Christian Social Relations study, "Affluence and Poverty: Dilemma for Christians."

The study will continue for the next three Monday evenings in October at 7 p. m. in the church annex. Rev. David Hamblin will also present sermons Sunday morning or evening for four consecutive messages from the letters of the New Testament James and I Peter.

Attending the first session were Mmes. George Greenhaw, Elsie Giddens, Sarah Hill, Bess Crump, Juanita McDaniel, Pearl McMaster, Myrtis Phelan, Bernice Courser, Viola Morris, J. W. Oliver, Harold W. Smith, Lloyd Becker, Bill Whitten, Beulah Martin, Roy Spruill, Bob Fowler, Cyril Keith, Bob Hutcherson, Lee Brown, David Hamblin, M. G. Tarver, Yvonne Miller, John Fowler, Mildred Hutcherson, Mildred Giddens, Pauline Wynn, R. S. Greene, L. G. DeBerry and Carl Morris, and Misses Ira Hammond and Neville Wrenn.

Turks Battle

The Turks need a win badly Friday as their next conference game will be against the favorite, Chillicothe. So the Turks will either get off to a flying start or could be out of the running hardly before the district race gets underway.

The Turks haven't faced too well in recent years in their rivalry with the Mustangs, having won only two games in the last 12 years. The Turks won last year in a very close contest and would like nothing better than to extend their winning streak to two games over their opponents. The Mustangs will be trying just as hard to get back on the winning road against the Turks.

So far, a favorite has not been established and the game may very well be rated as a toss-up. But one thing can be said, it will not be a dull game, as you can always look for the unexpected. For pure excitement, no game anywhere will overshadow this contest as the Turks and Mustangs will be fighting tooth and nail.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Pope have returned from a two-week vacation in West Virginia and Kansas City, Mo., where they also visited relatives. They were accompanied by Mrs. Pope's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jones of Oklahoma City. While in West Virginia, they saw beautiful fields of tobacco which were being harvested by sickle. Pope also said that the tobacco leaves were hung on racks outdoors to dry in the sun during the day, and returned to sheds at night. He reported an enjoyable trip, with a total mileage of 2,800 miles.

Average expenditure for drilling wells in Texas is $11.48 per foot.

Winter Cover Crops Help Combat Water, Wind Erosion In County

Landowners in Hall County Soil Conservation District are combating wind and winter erosion by planting winter cover crops, according to Henry Gregory, Soil Conservation Service technician.

Gregory stated that there are several crops being used by farmers in the county that are suitable for winter cover crops. Rye, wheat and oats are some of the crops being sowed.

Wayne Hutcherson, supervisor of the local district, has found that rye and wheat have done a good job of protecting his land from windstorms that occur each year. Lynn McKown, ASC office manager, stated there are 10,000 acres being seeded to rye cover crops under Agricultural Conservation Programs. McKown says that cost-share on cover crops may be obtained by making application at his office.

Several farmers have started seeding rye cover crops. Foy Young, 192 acres Benson Brothers, 100 acres; Robert Sexauer, 100 acres; Paul Smith, 70 acres; T. U. Hughes, 60 acres, and James M. Richburg, 80 acres.

Your local Soil Conservation Service technicians, Henry Gregory, Royce Frisbie and Cyril Keith, will assist cooperators in planning and selecting cover crops best suited to your land.

'Quarantine' Is Subject Of Meet In Plainview

Ranchers and County Agricultural Agents from 38 Panhandle counties met in Plainview, Monday, Oct. 3, with District Extension Agents and officials of the Texas Animal Health Commission and U. S. Department of Agriculture to discuss plans for lifting the quarantine on cattle in eight of the Texas Panhandle counties.

Dr. Robert I. Brown, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Hyattsville, Md., gave a presentation on Scab Mites and their effect on cattle. Dr. Jack Pritchett, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Austin, explained why eight counties in the Texas Panhandle have been quarantined for ten months due to cases of cattle scabies in each of the eight counties. He stated that all of the cattle in the 38-county area of the Texas Panhandle would have to be inspected and if any of the cattle are found to be infected with scabies, the cattle would have to be dipped in Lindane or Toxaphene.

The quarantine involves inspecting any cattle shipped out of the state if they are not going to a federally inspected slaughter plant.

Dr. Royce Henderson of Plainview, an inspector for the Texas Animal Health Commission, presented plans to inspect all cattle in the 38-county area of the Panhandle. The inspection for scabies started Tuesday, Oct. 4, in Lamb, Hale, Childress and Motley counties. The Texas Animal Health Commission expects to complete the inspection of the cattle by March 1, 1967.

W. B. Hooser, Hall County Agricultural Agent, who attended the meeting, gives the following information on "Cattle Scabies" which was presented to him at the meeting Monday:

Scabies in cattle commonly known as "common cattle scab" is caused by parasitic mites of the psoroptes variety. Psoroptic mites live in groups on the surface of the skin, producing lesions that spread in all directions from the spot first affected. The first lesions usually occur on the withers, over the back and around the root of the tail. The scab mite pricks the skin to obtain food and in so doing causes a slight inflammation, but this early stage of the disease is rarely detected. As the mites multiply, large numbers of small wounds are made and are followed by intense itching and oozing of serum to the surface. Serum soon hardens into yellowish or grayish color scabs which are frequently stained with blood. In the early stages the scab may be about the size of a pea, but gradually increases in size. Some of the mites migrate to other parts of the body and start new lesions which extend until they cover large areas. As the disease advances, increasingly large areas show loss of hair and become covered with thick adherent scabs. The itching is severe and the animal is constantly irritated. In its effort to relieve the itching and irritation, the animal spends so much time licking, rubbing and scratching that it has very little time for feeding; consequently it loses weight, becomes weak and emaciated and occasionally dies from heavy infestations.

It is a good practice to observe all cattle carefully at regular intervals for evidence of scabies. Select a location from which you can watch the animals without dis-

The Memphis Democrat

Report From Washington

By WALTER ROGERS
Representative, 18th
Congressional District

FOR THE PANHANDLE surface water, but also includes every possible source of obtaining additional water. The Act authorized studies and investigations in all possible fields of solving water-need problems. Studies will be made with reference to conservation and more effective use of existing supplies, increased usability by reduction of pollution, innovations to encourage the highest economic use of water, interbasin transfer, technological advances in all areas including desalting, weather modification, vast water purification, water reuse, and sources such as underground as well as surface supplies, wherever located.

When I first proposed inclusion of West Texas in the studies and investigations sections of the Colorado River Basin Project Act, it was generally thought that I was confining authorization to studies as to the feasibility of bringing water from the Columbia River Basin to Colorado or New Mexico and thence into the West Texas area. I quickly advised that this was only one of the many possible sources to which we in West Texas and the Panhandle were looking. I pointed out that we had in mind full studies of obtaining ample supplies of fresh water whether it came from Alaska, the St. James Bay in Canada, the Missouri or Mississippi Rivers, or whether it came from sources other than surface deposits. The points was made that a full study of underground sources should be made both as to fresh water and water having a mineral content that could be purified by desalting processes now in being. It was also pointed out that the studies might look to man's ability to better control atmospheric conditions. Also much can be gained in better development or purification of polluted water and of recycling and reuse of available supplies. It might be pointed out that accomplishing the inclusion of the Panhandle, West Texas, and the western part of Kansas in this bill was not easy. The people in the West are all plagued by water shortages and they do not look with great favor on bringing in other areas to divide the pie. However, in our case it was an absolute must that I be successful in including the Panhandle and West Texas in this legislation, because our section of the State of Texas had been virtually orphaned in our own "Texas Water Plan". Frankly I do not like our being left out of the "Texas Water Plan". I have always felt that our section of the State should be included in studies having to do with water problems of the West, and we should not be left out of projects and programs in our own State. We should be included in both. I am indeed proud that by virtue of the help and assistance of my fellow committee members of the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs that I was able to have our section included in the federal phases designed to help solve the water problems.

CARD OF THANKS
I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to all my many friends and neighbors for the flowers, cards, gifts, long distance calls and prayers for me during my stay in the hospital. I will always be grateful for the wonderful kindness shown to me. May God's blessing be upon you is my prayer.
Mrs. E. H. Stanford.

CYCLONE OF THE WEEK—No. 30, Gary Rea, the Cyclone's talented, speedy halfback was the Cyclone Booster Club's unanimous choice of player of the week in the Memphis-Lockney game Friday. Shown above as he broke for the goal line on a 20-yard TD carry, Rea scored two TDs for the local squad. He was knocked unconscious in the closing minutes of the game but was feeling pretty good by the time he got home. Rea brought local fans to their feet in the second quarter when he made a fine tackle on Lockney's speedster, Sissney, and knocked him loose from the ball. An effort which got Memphis off to the second TD drive.

Farm Bureau Urges Prevention Of Rural Fires

Observance of National Fire Prevention Week, October 9-15, in Hall County is being urged by both rural and city fire prevention leaders.

Memphis Fire Chief Kenneth Dale and Wayne Hutcherson, president of the Hall County Farm Bureau, urge citizens of Hall County to pay special heed to the observance this year by taking steps to prevent costly fires.

"We urge everyone to develop good fire safety habits which include such things as care with matches and smoking, good house-keeping to get rid of rubbish, proper use of electrical fuses, appliances, and extension cords, and a constant general awareness of the ways fires start and how to avoid them," the local fire chief said. He added that fires killed 12,000 people and the cost exceeded 1.76 billion in the United States last year.

The local Farm Bureau president said that the fall and winter months are the most vulnerable times of the year for rural fires. "When fire occurs on farm or rural property, damage is 3 to 6 times greater than in the average city fire," Hutcherson said.

Hutcherson said that Farm Bureau has two programs designed to help curtail fire losses. The local organization, in cooperation with the Texas Farm Bureau, sponsors the attendance of local volunteer firemen at the annual its most terrible cost is counted, not in dollars, but in human misery, he said.

Fire claimed 12,000 lives in this country last year. Of these, over one-third were children. Many hundreds of fire victims are still recovering from serious, often disfiguring injuries.

Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 9-15, offers a special opportunity to bring much-needed information on fire hazards and corrective action to the minds of citizens.

The purpose of Fire Prevention Week, Chief Dale said, is to give thought to keeping fires from happening, not only during this special week but throughout the year.

Citizens should keep in mind such advice as disposing of combustible trash, keep electrical appliances in good repair, if you smoke, keep numerous ash trays handy, and empty, make and use a fire escape plan in the home, never smoke in bed, know how to call the fire department.

Families should always tell baby sitters what to do if there is a fire, Chief Dale said.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Corley were his sisters and brothers-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Roberts of Lamesa and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Redwine of Shalwater.

Fireman's Training School each July in College Station. Local fire-fighters sponsored this year were Bill Ballew and Bobby Howell. The state and local Farm Bureau organizations also pay $75 to local fire departments for each call made in rural areas involving fires of Farm Bureau insured property.

In addition to these programs, county Farm Bureaus sponsor a graphic 45-minute fire prevention demonstration presented over the hundred times a year before schools, civic clubs and other groups by the TFB Safety Department. More than 10,000 dry chemical fire extinguishers have been sold to Farm Bureau members as a continued program of rural fire protection.

Claude Wells—

Memphis School Board. He was a Boy Scout leader, having organized the second scout troop in the Panhandle at Hedley over one-half century ago. He served as deputy scout commissioner for the Panhandle in 1925.

He was a Democrat, serving many years as chairman of the Hall County Democratic Executive committee and was named as an alternate to the National Democratic convention in Chicago in 1952.

Mr. Wells was an active Methodist and was at one time president of the Methodist Board of Stewards.

Claude Wells became interested in newspapers when he went to work for a country weekly in Alford, Tex. After moving around and working at numerous jobs, he began his publishing career in 1903 by starting the Hollis, Okla., Herald.

He sold the Hollis Herald in 1906 and worked for the Amarillo Herald and the Amarillo Daily Panhandle before moving on to Texico, N. M., and an experience which almost cost him his life.

It is in Texico while working for the Daily Trumpet in 1908 when Mr. Wells had his most hair-raising experience as a journalist. An irate citizen who had been under attack by the editor of the paper came looking for the editor who was out of town. Since Mr. Wells was alone in the building, the angry man knocked him to the ground and pulled out a gun.

In the fight, several bullets were fired, which attracted help, and luckily none of them found their mark.

Despite such harsh experiences as a pioneer newspaperman, he later said, "Experience taught me that more can be done by using coated molasses instead of pepper, and to look upon others as people just like me—subject to same transgressions—when in their hearts they desired a peaceful existence."

In 1910, Mr. Wells established the short-lived Claude Courier, and later that year founded the Hedley Informer which he published until 1917.

He started the Wellington Leader in 1917 and ran it with his cousin, Deskin Wells, until 1925 when they bought the Memphis Democrat. Three years later he purchased the Hall County Herald and consolidated the two under the Democrat banner.

Of all of his accomplishments, he possibly was proudest of an award given in 1928 when his Memphis Democrat was awarded the Dallas News trophy for being "The best all-around Weekly in Texas."

Business firms in Memphis were closed from 3 to 4:30 p. m. Saturday in memory of Mr. Wells and at the request of a proclamation issued by Mayor H. J. Howell.

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. R. L. Madden of Memphis; a brother, Percy Wells of Wellington; and a brother-in-law, George Sexauer of Memphis, and a large number of nieces and nephews. Pall bearers included T. H. Deaver, Sr., Lloyd Martin V. C. Durrett, Ben Parks, Byron Baldwin, Bill Combs, O. E. Bevers and Tomie Potts.

in Amarillo after a long illness. He had been making his home in Canyon with a daughter, Mrs. Jessie Booth, for the past year.

Born Dec. 9, 1879, Mr. Wolf moved to Hall County in 1916. He was united in marriage to Della Deeman in 1903. Mrs. Wolf preceded her husband in death in 1929. One son also preceded his father in death.

For many years, Mr. Wolf took an active part in the growth and development of the community in which he lived. He had served as a school board member at Webster School in the early days of the county.

He was a 32nd degree Mason and a past Worshipful Master of the Lakeview Lodge.

Mr. Wolf was also an active member of the Lakeview Baptist Church for many years.

Active pall bearers were members of the Lakeview Masonic Lodge.

Survivors include two sons, Carl of Roswell, N. M., and W. M. of Belen, N. M.; two daughters, Mrs. Mozelle McMillan of Alanreed and Mrs. Jessie Booth of Canyon; a sister, Mrs. J. W. Townsend of Cleburne, nine grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Early in the season the Bobcats lost their starting quarterback and fullback to injuries, but have been coming back strong since this setback.

The Dimmitt game is a must game for the Cyclone if the local team is to stay in contention for the district championship. One week deep in district play, Abernathy, Friona, Hale Center and Memphis are the forerunners.

The Cyclone-Bobcats game here Friday promises to be a real thriller. The Cyclone defensive unit will be in for a tough night of stopping Dimmitt's power attack and the offensive unit will be in for a night of trying to score again Dimmitt's rugged defensive.

Tonight's Games

The featured game tonight, which local fans should enjoy seeing, is an 8-man contest between the Memphis B team and the Lakeview Eagles beginning at 7:30 in Cyclone Stadium. Admission fee will be charged.
