President Urges More Use Of School Facilities!

In releases prepared by the President's Council on Physical Fitness, President Lyndon B. Johnson and Vice President Hubert Humphrey are asking all communities to open up their school sports and recreation facilities for the after-hours, weekend and summer use of people of all ages. We feel this program has much merit and deserves the support of all citizens.

President Johnson stated, "Tomorrow's school will be the center of community life, for the grownups as well as the children: a shopping center of human services." It might have a community health clinic, a public library, a theatre and recreation facilities.

"It will provide formal education for all citizens—and it will not close its doors any more at 3 o'clock and its teachers around the year. We just cannot afford to have an $85 billion plant in this country open less than 30 per cent of the time."

The program urges maximum use of facilities. The American public is beginning to recognize the advantages—and the necessity—of multiple use of public facilities. The public school is one of our largest investments, yet in most communities school plants operate at capacity only seven or eight hours a day, 180 days a year. The public has a right to demand after-hours, weekend and summer use of these resources when it does not interfere with normal school activities.

Schools are strategically located and ideally suited to become neighborhood sports, fitness and recreation centers. Almost all high schools have gymnasiums, activity rooms, tennis courts, playing fields and facilities for showering and dressing. Some have swimming pools and special exercise and dance rooms.

In many towns and small cities, the school is the only agency with adequate sports and recreation facilities. In other communities, access to school facilities would greatly expand the available recreation resources.

The President's statement concluded with this thought. Every community should give serious consideration to the school-community recreation plan, in which all resources—public and private—are pooled in programs providing year-round activities for people of all ages and varied interests.

It is quickly seen, that a program of this type can not be a haphazard affair unlocking the doors and throwing out the balls. Supervision, instruction, equipment and maintenance all cost money, and good organization and community cooperation are essential.

We read in the TEXAS OUTLOOK, official publication of the Texas State Teachers Assn., that the Hurst-Euless-Bedford school district will get its entire community-wide physical fitness-recreation program under way, with federal financing and with cooperation from Texas Christian University.

Planning will begin February 1 for what is described as a "first" in this type of fitness-recreation program for an entire population.

The $121,000 program will be partially supported by an $82,500 grant under Title III from the U. S. Office of Education. The first year will be spent in planning and curriculum developments. The program will be designed for everyone from kindergarten to adults interested in a program of lifetime sports and recreation.

Why shouldn't the residents of each community use the gymnasiums, tennis courts, playing fields, running tracks, activity rooms and swimming pools (if they have them) of the schools which they build and support with their tax dollars? All of us—young and old alike—could use the exercise, and every community could use the facilities which would be added to its resources for recreation.

Here in our area, we see the school tennis courts used frequently each summer with high interest being seen in tournaments, etc. Community action sponsoring groups and individuals, Little League Assn., Lakeview Tennis Club, and others are fine examples, as are the annual volleyball tournaments held throughout the area.

Opportunities such as summer music camps, drama clinics, science lectures and demonstrations, etc., are well within the capabilities of our facilities and can be financed with only a few dollars per capita per year if school staff and facilities are utilized.

In conclusion, we should say that much has been done along these lines in past years, but these projects have not been coordinated into one over-all community-wide action plan, but rather, each project was under separate sponsorship. Trained leadership and much planning is the first major step to draft a detailed organization plan.

If A Child Lives...
Rarely is someone's writing found worthy of framing in offices for all to see and think about.
This honored treatment is being given in a number of California schools to some thoughts by Dorothy Law Nolte.
We believe her eloquent message to both parent and educator deserves consideration in Texas, as well.
Here is her message:
"If a child lives with criticism, he learns to condemn...
"If a child lives with hostility, he learns to fight...
"If a child lives with fear, he learns to be apprehensive...
"If a child lives with ridicule, he learns to be shy...
"If a child lives with jealousy, he learns what envy is...
"If a child lives with shame, he learns to feel guilty...
"If a child lives with encouragement, he learns to be confident...
"If a child lives tolerance, he learns to be patient...
"If a child lives with praise, he learns to be appreciative...
"If a child lives with approval, he learns to like himself...
"If a child lives with recognition, he learns to have a goal...
"If a child lives with sharing, he learns about generosity...
"If a child lives with honesty and fairness, he learns what faith in himself and in those about him...
"If a child lives with friendliness, he learns that the world is a nice place in which to live...
If you live with serenity, your child will live with peace of mind."
The truth of these observations, while obvious, are not so easily practiced. They deserve to be placed in a prominent position where they can be read and re-read.—The Lewisville Leader.

Income Tax Q. And A. Column

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to tax- payers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—My return was audited and the agent disallowed some of my deductions. Is there any way I still might be able to claim them?

A—When you receive the notice of the proposed adjustment to your tax liability, you may request a district conference. This will enable you to present your side of the story to a conferee. Procedures for requesting this conference are described in the letter you will receive enclosing the agent's report.

Q—We sold some furniture in our home at a loss when we moved. Can we deduct this?

A—No. Losses on the sale of personal property are not deduc- tible.

Before you file next year's re- turn, be sure to look into the de- ductions and exclusions you might be entitled to as a result of your change of residence, however.

Q—I'm a doctor and have my own private practice. How much can I put aside a year for retire- ment?

A—You may contribute to a retirement plan as much as $2,500 a year or 10 percent of income earned from your practice, whichever is less. Your deduction for such contribution is limited to half the annual amount, up to $1,250. Remember that if you set up such a plan you must include each of your full-time em- ployees who have completed three or more years of consecutive serv- ice.

IRS Document No. 5592, "Re- tirement Plans for Self-Employed Individuals," explains the rules and filing requirements for these plans. A free copy is available by writing any district director.

Q—My employer wants me to take a single course in business administration which will help me in my job. If I do this, will my costs be deductible as an educa- tional expense?

A—If your employer requires you to take the course to retain your present job, status, or pay or if it is necessary to improve or maintain the skills needed for your present job, then the costs are usually deductible. If the course qualifies you for another job or a promotion then the costs will not be deductible.

When you have a deductible edu- cations expense, tuition, books, supplies, laboratory fees and simi- lar items are covered. Travel expense including meals and lodg- ing may be deductible, too, if in- curred with deductible education- al expense.

Q—Are traffic violation fines tax deductible? We got stuck with one while on vacation.

A—No, they are not deductible.

In concluding the discussion, Mrs. Morris said, "Faith in Jesus Christ must mean obedience to the will of God as Jesus revealed it. According to latest reports from Humble Oil & Refining Company's refineries, the members of the odor panels which tests the aroma—and this the purity—of a host of petroleum products ranging from naphtha used in dry cleaning fluid to solvents used in making cooking oils, margarine, and peanut butter, prove the nose knows best. By simply smelling a product sample, panelists can detect minute impurities. The expert smellers avoid after shave lotion and chewing gum, and will not sniff when they are suffering from colds or allergies. Thus science (and the human senses) move on.

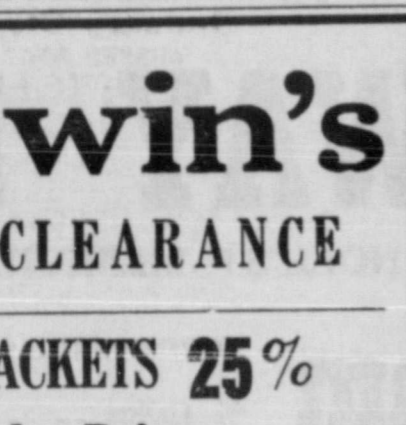

The stolen tire and wheel came back. That's what John Vallance reported Tuesday. Now that's the kind of report we like to make.

Over one-half million veterans have applied for certificates to attend college or take some other form of training under the new GI Bill. This report was released last week by the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco. With the over-crowded conditions already existing in our universities, many of us wonder how these additional students are being handled as the spring semester starts. The fact remains that these veterans will benefit from this schooling, and their economic status will be increased.

Weather: cold and dry. We are reminded of the report a few years ago about employees of the NYC weather bureau being asked to choose their vacation period. They all pulled out their charts, studied weather conditions, and then all asked for the same three weeks.

Just received word from Austin that State Senator Jack Hightower drew a four-year term. Redistricting caused the lottery.

Delphian Club Has First Meeting Of New Year

The Delphian Club held its first meeting of the year at the Big O Tuesday, Jan. 3, with Mmes. W. C. Dickey and Jimmy Roden as co-hostesses.

The program topic, "Youth" was introduced by Mildred Stephens. She gave the meditation, "Advantages of Being Born in the U.S." The instant a child is born in the United States, the guardians of his future surround him. They come a long way—through tyranny, oppression and the dark, grim battlefields of war. They decree that this child, the American shall be protected by a Constitution and a Bill of Rights.

He shall never go his way alone. The power invested in him as an individual by his Constitution will give him freedom to achieve whatever goal he sets for himself. He can carve his own destiny. If his life reaches the summit of success, he will be praised. If he falls into poverty, he will be helped. He will be given the opportunity of an education, freedom to worship the God upon whose words this nation was founded, and freedom to live his life without fear.

"Have Faith in Your Adolescent" was brought by Mrs. Gaylen Ariola. Adolescence is often a time of trials and bewilderment both for the adolescent and his parents. This is the age of saying goodbye to attitudes and conditions that were once so familiar and reassuring. These children of yesterday now stand on the threshold of the new world. They are eager to enter it and exercise the rights and privileges of adulthood.

Their desire to be part of a grown-up world and yet to remain in their safe, familiar one cause many a conflict within themselves. If parents can be forbearing during this time, they will be rewarded by seeing their child develop into a normal, co-operative adult.

Mrs. Neal Hindman then presented "The Isolation of Youth". Middle age steals upon youth almost before he is aware. The later years of youth and the early years of middle age are in truth the dangerous age. Youth has the energy and ideals, but middle age has the prestige and power. Youth has the isolation, the independence, the disinterest so that it may attack any foe, but middle age has the reserve force to carry it through.

Delicious refreshments were served to the following: Mmes. Clyde Smith, C. C. Hodges, Mildred Stephens, Henry Hays, F. A. Finch, Sim Reeves, Jack B. Boone, Abe Anisman, R. M. Wherry, J. S. McMurry, Joe Bob Browning, J. L. Barnes, W. C. Dickey, Jimmy Roden, Neal Hindman, Cyril Keith, Gaylen Ariola, and Miss Maud Milam.

Caprock Trail Riders Hold Regular Meeting

Twenty-three members were present when the regular meeting of The Caprock Trail Riders was called to order by the president, Haskell Howell, the evening of January 4 in the Riding Barn adjacent to the City Park. During the business session, members were reminded of dues for 1967. It was unanimously voted by the membership to keep the dues as they had been to date, e.g. $10 for a family with only one rider.

A committee was appointed to investigate possibilities for a change of colors in costumes from blue and white to black and gold.

In a brief summary of the year's activities, the following record of rides was established: The Caprock Trail Riders had participated in five out-of-town parades (Clarendon, Childress, Hollis, Wellington, Hedley) and the Grand Entry at the Giles Junior Rodeo, May 30. They rode in the hometown parade during the Hall County Reunion and escorted Santa Claus to town during the Christmas holidays.

The riding club enjoyed two cook-outs at the City Park, a cook-out and overnight stay at Cedar Hills Ranch, another cook-out at Mrs. Young's west of Memphis, and one at Phaeton Alexander's. The group won a trophy as the best riding club in the parade at the Hedley Cotton Festival in October and, all in all, have had a happy year as equestrian enthusiasts.

For membership in this going organization, see Haskell Howell, Louise Howell at the West Texas Utilities office, or any member of the group. We welcome newcomers to our ranks.

Cedar Hills Ranch, North Of Memphis, Has Added A New Breed Of Beef Cattle

By VIRGINIA BROWDER

While much cotton, some soy beans, and a great deal of grain sorghum and alfalfa is grown in Donley and Hall counties, this area boasts many ranches of considerable size and several different breeds of beef cattle. There are the Hereford, black Aberdeen Angus, red Aberdeen Angus, Charolais, Brahma and Galloway. Now a new breed has been added to the impressive list. Now, there are at Cedar Hills Ranch in Donley County four Beefmaster yearlings.

Until recently, the only Beefmasters in this part of the Panhandle was the nice herd belonging to Donald Black of Childress. Mr. Black has some twenty cows and a herd bull he purchased from the foundation herd owned by Mr. Lasater of Matheson, Colorado.

Several years ago, Mr. Lasater (a Texan, of course) crossed three registered breeds of beef cattle—Herefords, English Milching Shorthorns and Brahmas—to obtain a thrifty new breed which he called Lasater Beefmasters.

While there is no determining the color because they are a three-way cross, there is much to be said in favor of the Beefmaster breed. The six outstanding essentials of the breed are: Disposition, Conformation, Fertility, Hardiness, Weight, and Milk Production.

At weaning time, a Beefmaster calf will outweigh a Hereford calf at least 100 pounds and that is what counts in the final analysis.

The mother cows suckle their calves well, are hardy and very gentle by nature.

If you would like to become better acquainted with these newcomers to Donley County, come to Cedar Hills Ranch five miles northwest of Memphis, west of Highway 287.

Director Says Get Inspection Stickers Early

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, reminded Texas motorists this week that most vehicles have not yet been inspected for their 1967 vehicle inspection sticker.

"The inspection period is two-thirds over and only about one-third of the vehicles have been inspected," said Garrison. "This means that during the weeks remaining before the April 15 deadline for inspections, more than twice as many persons each week must have their car inspected to avoid long lines forming at the end of the period."

In urging motorists to have their vehicle inspected at an early date, Garrison pointed out that official inspection stations are easily identified by the standard sign displayed at or near the service entrance of the garage.

He advised that inspection stations are being urged to request permission to inspect any vehicle brought into the garage for repairs or regular service.

"In this way," Garrison pointed out, "time will be saved for the motorist as well as for the inspection station."

"And if you have not had your vehicle inspected, take it to an authorized inspection station for a 'check-up' and start the new year off right with a safe vehicle."

CARD OF THANKS

May we take this method of thanking our neighbors and friends for their kind expressions of sympathy in our bereavement. These expressions have been deeply appreciated.

Our special thanks to Dr. Stevenson and the staff at Hall County Hospital and to the men of the church who sat up with my husband at the hospital during his illness. Also our thanks to the people who brought the food and flowers.

The family of Morris Woods.

Some people create happiness wherever they go—others whenever.

Just as we swore to quit using puna a Texas judge sends a girdle thief up for a stretch.

Postmaster Says Use Of ZIP Code Rally Aids Mail Handling

Postmaster C. E. (Gene) Lindsey said this week that the use of ZIP Code will make it easier to mail packages after the new rates and a new system of identifying parcel post zones go into effect on that date as provided in legislation signed in 1965 by President Johnson on the youth of 20, 1966, the postmaster said.

The new rates will average 10 cents a parcel, Lindsey said. Starting July 1, the law provides for a series of size and weight increases on packages between first-class offices. The new rates are expected to provide an additional $74 million a year for the Post Office Department. The later size and weight increases will add another $32 million a year. The additional revenue is to help keep the Department within 4 percent of costs on parcel post as the law requires.

Lindsey said that the new ZIP Code in the recipient's address will enable the mail clerk to quickly determine the proper zone, and the rate, for the package. ZIP codes will be based on the 552 sectional center in the country, Lindsey said.

Consulting a simple chart, which is available at all post offices, the zone can be readily identified because the first three digits of the ZIP Code represent the sectional center. This replaces a method in which a directory had to be consulted to locate the proper zone for each of the Nation's 33,000 post offices.

The new rates will range from 40 cents for a three-pound parcel destined for local delivery to 60 cents for the same parcel to zone 3 (150 to 300 miles) to $1.05 to zone 8 (over 1,800 miles). The new zoning method will also apply to air parcel post, catalogs and to publishers who pay zone rates on the advertising portion of their periodicals.

Postmaster Lindsey noted that all parcels mailed between post offices within the Childress sectional center will be charged at the first zone rate. There are 41 post offices within the Childress sectional center.

The new rates are expected to provide an additional $74 million a year for the Post Office Department. The later size and weight increases will add another $32 million a year. The additional revenue is to help keep the Department within 4 percent of costs on parcel post as the law requires.

Four Hall County Girls To Attend TWU Conference

Texas Woman's University, Denton, Texas, offers each year the opportunity for a limited number of high school senior girls to visit the campus and attend Mid-Winter Conference on Future Speech Therapists and Teachers of the Deaf.

Housing and meals will be provided at no expense to the young women who are accepted as guests. The girls who are guests are expected to participate in the programs planned for them. Every effort is made to give the high school girls a preview of life on a university campus and professions of speech and hearing therapy and education of the deaf.

Those to attend from Hall County are Suzette Smith, Lynette Hoover, Estellene senior; Mary Nell Carlie and Shirley Johnson, both seniors from Turkey School.

Miss Topsy Gilreath, County Superintendent and Vice Chairman of Hall County Society for Crippled Children, will sponsor the girls. The Hall County Society of Crippled Children sets up a budget each year for educational purposes and this trip to Denton is one of the projects of Education.

The girls will leave February 2 and return February 4.

Amarillo Social Security Office Will Check Claims

Older people in the Panhandle who have paid doctor bills but have not claimed their medicare insurance payments are invited to have their claims checked by the Amarillo social security office before mailing them to the medicare insurance carrier, according to Travis C. Briggs, district manager.

Some benefit payments are delayed because the applicants do not include all the necessary information with their claims. Briggs believes most people should need this help only the first time they make a medicare claim. "The Medicare Handbook" which is given to all beneficiaries explains how to make the claims," he said.

The doctor can apply for the medicare payment directly and bill the patient for the amount not paid by medicare, or the patient can pay the doctor and request reimbursement from the medicare insurance carrier, which is Blue Cross & Blue Shield in Texas. A statement from the doctor showing treatment given and charges already paid by the patient must be furnished. The request for payment form is mailed to the insurance carrier by the doctor or the patient.

Marksmen in a competitive pistol-shoot make the sport look ridiculously easy.

But a person who has never fired a handgun can't seem to hit the side of a barn even when all doors are shut!

Handgunning is one of the most demanding of all outdoor sports. But it also is one of the most fascinating.

Tin-can plinking with a pistol is a relaxing way to spend an idle afternoon in the wide-open spaces. But precision pistol shooting requires the utmost in concentration. A man who hits the target regularly forgets all his personal and business problems. And this is about as good a backdrop as you can give to any sport.

One of the best pistol shots in the business is Billie K. McElroy. He's the special firearms instructor who teaches every Texas peace officer to shoot. The Texas Department of Public Safety employee also is a top-notch competitive shooter.

Here's his step-by-step guide to learning to shoot a handgun:

Grasp the gun firmly in the shooting hand with the grip seated against the heel of the hand. Barrel should be a prolongation of the wrist and forearm. Your hand should be high on the grip with the middle finger under the trigger guard. Hold the grip ed to the insurance carrier by the doctor or the patient.

"The social security office does not make the decision or pay the claim," Briggs said. "The law requires that payments be handled through the selected medicare insurance carrier. But we can help answer questions about medicare and assist people in our area to get their applications ready.

The Amarillo social security office is located at 1006 S. Adams, telephone is DR 6-5151, and is open 8:15 to 4:30 p. m., Monday through Friday, and is open until 7:30 p. m. on Thursday evenings. A representative of the Amarillo social security office will be at Memphis at the American Legion Hall on January 18 and 25 from 8:30 to 11:30 a. m. firmly but not so tight as to cause tremors.

Placement of the feet should be relaxed and comfortable. If you are not at ease you will be forcing your shots to go in an unnatural position.

Take a stance about 45 degrees from the target, extending your arm toward the target.

Shooting hand should be fully extended toward the target, wrist and elbow locked. Other hand should be placed in your pocket in a relaxed position. Shooting arm should be slightly higher than your other arm and shoulder. But not strained into a higher position.

Your body should be erect, but not stiff. Muscles should be relaxed with the weight of your abdomen falling solidly on your lower trunk. Weight should be evenly distributed on both legs.

Sighting itself consists of two distinct phases: sight alignment and sight picture.

Sight alignment is when the front sight is centered in and level with the top of the rear sight. This is accomplished by looking at the front sight. The back sight and target will be fuzzy.

Remember, if you see the target clearly you are not looking at the front sight. Therefore, you cannot ascertain whether or not you have correct sight alignment. Any error in sight alignment will be multiplied by about 150 with the target 25 yards away.

You will not be able to hold the handgun on target, which is sight picture. But with proper grip and stance you will be able to keep proper alignment while firing.

Sight picture is sight alignment plus the target. Some shooters prefer to aim so the bull's-eye is resting right on top of the front sight. Personal preference should dictate your choice.

Ideal situation is to be able to press the trigger straight to the rear without disturbing correct sight alignment and sight picture. Mastery of this difficult feat should not be attempted until fundamentals of grip, stance and sighting are completely understood and practiced. This will avoid developing bad shooting habits.

Release of the hammer to fire the handgun should be accomplished by a steady, even pressure on the trigger. Even when the sights move away from the target, the pressure should be maintained. As the sights return to target, added pressure is applied until the hammer is tripped. This can be practiced by "dry firing" —snapping the empty gun until the habit of slowly building up pressure will not disturb the sight alignment and sight picture.

Breath control also is important. Breathing will tend to throw you off target. Before sighting on the target, get the correct sight picture and start applying proper trigger control. Then draw a medium breath and align sights. Next, take a shallow sight picture and start applying proper trigger control. Firing should occur within about five seconds.

Don't expect any miracles in the beginning. Accurate pistol shooting requires concentration and practice. Perfection only comes after hours of dry firing, followed by actual blasting at a target.

No contract can be signed for a period of less than three years, nor more than ten years. Most of the contracts signed in Hall County Soil Water Conservation District are for four years. The scheduling of work periods is decided by the landowner at a time when he thinks he will be best able to carry out the program.

Contracts can be changed to fit the conditions that exist, or to work around problems that may arise in the carrying out of the contract. Cost-share varies from 50 to 80 per cent, depending on the practices.
