Eligible voters in the city can vote any time Tuesday between the hours of 8 a. m. and 7 p. m., when the polls will close.

Considering that only one absentee ballot has been cast, there has been little interest generated in the election. Friday is the last day to vote absentee at City Secretary A. L. Gailey's office.

Two candidates have filed for election to the office of Memphis Mayor. They are both active civic leaders and have stated publicly that the reason they were running was to better serve their community.

E. E. Roberts to Retire From Memphis Lumber

After 35 years of continuous service with local lumber companies, E. E. (Skipper) Roberts, manager of the Memphis Lumber Company, will retire effective Aug. 1, 1967, it was announced this week.

Tom Bartlett, formerly of Canadian, who has been associated with the Memphis Lumber Company for the past six or seven months, will take over as manager upon Roberts' retirement.

Bartlett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bartlett of Canadian and a Canadian High School graduate. He has served three years in the U. S. Army, with the combat engineers, with two and a half years of this service in Germany.

Tom is married to the former Sue Hext, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hext of Canadian, and the couple have two children. The Bartletts go to the Presbyterian Church.

Roberts began work in the lumber business in 1914 as manager of the J. C. Woodriddle Co. yard in Gore, Texas. He married Mable Sue Wilfong in Fayetteville, Ark., on June 17, 1920. He worked at lumber yards for this company in Seymour (1928-31), in Wellington (1931-32), and in Memphis, from April 20, 1932, until Dec. 1, 1947, when Memphis Lumber Co. bought out the J. C. Woodriddle Co. yard here.

Roberts, the past year, has overseen the remodeling of facilities here which included wrecking four structures, building three structures and tripling the office and store space.

Skipper, as many know him, has served eight years on the City Council, 12 years on the Memphis School Board, and has held all the offices of the Memphis Rotary Club, an organization he has belonged to since he moved to Memphis 35 years ago.

He is an elder in the First Christian Church and is presently Sunday School superintendent. He has been a teacher in the church for many years and has held many other offices.

Mrs. Roberts has also worked for the Memphis Lumber Co., serving as bookkeeper for about eight years, until her retirement last year.

The Roberts have two children, Evan Roberts of Lubbock, associated with Stiles, Roberts and Messersmith, Architects, and Mrs. E. L. Derr of Fort Worth.

Bartlett announced that beginning Saturday, Aug. 5, the Memphis Lumber Co. will remain open until 5 p. m., instead of closing at noon as has been the policy in the past.

Many Farmers Delay In Reporting Acreage

Under the new certification program it is the responsibility of the individual farmer to determine and report his acreage to the county office not later than Tuesday, Aug. 15.

The only exception to this requirement will be the farmers having a part of their farms under an old Soil Bank Contract, Roy L. Gresham, chairman, Hall County ASC committee, announced today.

The delay in making acreage reports will also delay making payments as applications are being processed and mailed to New Orleans as reported.

The request for assistance in determining crop acreage on a farm does not relieve the farmer of his responsibility of certifying to his acreage at the county office.

"We have no provision for extending the reporting date beyond Aug. 15, 1967. All reports must

What About New Draft Board Policy?

Much confusion has been seen in past months on draft board policy with colleges and universities having to supply class standings and test grades of college students. Under new policy just announced by the State Selective Headquarters, scholastic deferment of undergraduate college and university students who meet the requirements of the new draft regulations now is mandatory upon the request of the students.

This new policy clears the air over an issue which threatened to put many college students into uniform before graduation. Test ranking and test scores in the consideration of student deferments is now "officially immaterial" Colonel Morris S. Swartz, state Selective Service director, advised the state's 155 draft boards.

The boards have also been advised officially by Colonel Schwartz to reopen the classification of qualified undergraduate college students now classified in 1-A as available for military service, even though they may be under induction orders.

To be qualified for deferment, the student must be under 24 years old and must be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction toward a baccalaureate degree. Students must have requested deferment in Class 2-S after July 1, 1967, he continued.

An undergraduate student now eligible for statutory deferment must continue satisfactorily to pursue a full-time course of instruction in order to remain eligible. And if he does, he is deferred by law until he completes the requirements for his baccalaureate degree, or reaches his 24th birthday, whichever occurs first.

Students taking commercial or vocational courses not leading to a baccalaureate degree may still be deferred for their activity, but this deferment is not mandatory. They would be classified 2-A instead of 2-S as college students would and deferments will be by local board judgement of the merits in each individual case and may be denied on the basis that it is not in the national interest.

The deferment of graduate students in medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, osteopathy or optometry is mandatory under new amendments to the Selective Service regulations. The Director of Selective Service is expected to identify other studies necessary to the maintenance of national health, safety, or interest upon the advice of the National Security Council, and deferment for advanced study in these subjects will also be mandatory. Time limits will be set on masters degrees and doctoral or professional degrees or the equivalent and these time limitations are mandatory.

What these new regulations mean to our nation may seem small right now but the effect will be more young men in colleges and universities. These young men will still face possible military service after finishing school. This nation needs all the college trained men our society can afford to produce.

The United States of America is facing problems of heavy military commitments throughout the world. On the other hand, our society cannot continue to grow and advance without a continual influx of college trained graduates, especially young men. If college men are "drafted" into the military, then the chances of these young men ever finishing their college work is small. Also, the military needs fighting men who have the knowledge of using and maintaining the complex instruments of war which modern technology is developing.

For these reasons the new draft board policy concerning college deferments is both sensible and vital to our national security and health. We would continue to encourage young men interested in furthering their education to take advantage of draft deferments and to complete their college education. You will be doing our nation a service by doing so.

Thoughts for Thursday

A MAJOR WEAKNESS of frail humanity is its tendency to pay too high a price for certain luxuries. There are people who will spend $15,000 for an automobile and $30,000 for powder rooms in their homes—but this isn't necessarily the type of extravagance to which we refer.

-THOUGHTS FOR THURSDAY-
THERE ARE persons who are too frugal to eat a square meal when it comes to handling their bank accounts—yet in other ways they are excessively extravagant.

For example, they will purchase a few more dollars at the price of their honor or perhaps the respect of their families.

They will purchase a few moments of happiness at the cost of their character.

Or they will purchase the questionable satisfaction that comes from unwillingness to forgive someone who wronged them at the price of their good personality which becomes distorted and repulsive as the result of the hate they harbor in their heart.

There are people who forfeit their health and even their lives in an attitude of spite.

-THOUGHTS FOR THURSDAY-
QUITE OFTEN we hear of brothers who haven't spoken to each other perhaps for 40 years. Perhaps they have forgotten the incident which first caused a breach between them—but they still remember that they "don't speak."

There are neighbors living side by side who because of a disagreement between their children years ago refuse to speak or to visit.

-THOUGHTS FOR THURSDAY-
OF COURSE this point could be illustrated with literally hundreds of variations. Yet, usually behind the trouble is a 5-letter word called "pride."

Pride is that trait which causes a man deliberately to forfeit the friendship of a potentially good friend for a lifetime—all because he is too proud to admit a mistake, too proud to say "I'm sorry," too proud to overlook an affront. It is pride that causes a parent to refuse to accept a newly acquired son-in-law or daughter-in-law because that daughter or son married against the wishes of the parent. The cost of this pride may be the loss of the child's love for generations to come. What a price to pay for this luxury called "pride."

It is pride that often causes a divorce for almost no justifiable reason—except that one or both unwilling to swallow a little pride.

It is pride that causes church splits.

Pride can divide a town or a county.

It can cause civil wars.

It can cause a proud soul to steal in order to maintain a front rather than to accept a financial reverse and perhaps a lower standard of living.

It can fill prisons and electric chairs with people who prefer such punishment to the thought of giving up a husband to another woman.

-THOUGHTS FOR THURSDAY-
FOOLISH IS the man who instead of taking five minutes alone with himself to forget an incident will instead choose to forfeit his happiness, his peace of mind, his health, and perhaps his very life.

-THOUGHTS FOR THURSDAY-
"FOR ALL THAT is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world." —I John 2:16.

Tulia Herald

You never know how much you are going to miss someone—or rather you never know how much a person does—until they leave.

Well, Dorothy Ray, who works for the Vindicator as society editor, has gone on vacation, and I fully realize how much work she does and how much I am going to miss her the rest of her vacation.

Weddings aren't exactly my cup of tea—several terms have me completely baffled.

The first, and most mystifying, is "bride-elect." Someone brought in a story this week saying she was the bride-elect of so-and-so. My first thought was perhaps her fiancé had brought home several girls for his family to choose from and then let them vote on their favorite.

I looked at her face and she was beaming just like someone who had just won an election—but knowing that the time of arranged marriages has long since passed, I knew my assumption was incorrect.

I asked several women around the office if they knew what it meant and none of them could explain it adequately. They say it means it was the one he chose, but you either elect or choose, you don't do both.

The second term that stumped me was "peau de soie." I heard it several times used in connection with weddings, but I can't exactly remember where.

It sounds like some kind of dance, sort of a little French minuet, and I have heard a lot of people say "I'll dance at your wedding."

But as dignified as wedding stories are, it would seem funny to say that "Susie Q. did the peau de soie at Jan Doe's wedding. Rev. Jones promptly asked her to leave the church.

I then thought maybe it was some kind of food the guests were served at the reception. You know sorta like "the guests ate peau de soie at Miss Doe's wedding."

But after reviewing a few weddings in back issues of the Vindicator, I came to the conclusion that "peau de soie" is something the bride carries on her person.

Maybe it's like the Victorian novels, where the French words were used when the English was considered risqué or too spicy.

Maybe it should read "the bride wore her mother's peau de soie where no one could see it." But that doesn't sound too nice, either.

And another thought, why does there seem to be an absence of men mentioned in the newspaper stories about the wedding.

I've been in several weddings in the past few years and I know that men go to the things—although I don't know why. But when you read about it in the paper the next day, they don't tell anything about the men, only about the women.

Wedding stories should tell what the men wore also.

For example, "The bride's father had on a black suit and socks with two shoes, a white shirt and a tie. In his right pocket he carried an extremely flat and empty pocketbook and in the left he carried hidden from sight, a white "peau de soie."

Well, if the bride can do it, so can the bride's father.

Some good advice: don't get married, engaged or have any big social event until Dot Ray comes back.

Please?

AUSTIN, Tex. — Newspaper editors throughout Texas soon will be seeing long columns of news about important issues as the secretary of State John Hill begins to advertise the six proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on November 11.

Fourteen additional amendments will be on the 1968 ballot. Eight of the 20 amendments of interest mainly to special groups (eg: legislators or state employees). Eight others would provide local governments with powers or duties. Only four of the group directly affect most citizens.

Amendments to be voted on this year will appear on the ballot in this order:

No. 1, House Joint Resolution 3, to permit counties to put tax money in a single general fund rather than dividing income specified amounts among separate funds for earmarked purposes as is now required.

No. 2, HJR 37, allowing cities and other governmental units to levy taxes for participation in mental retardation community centers.

No. 3, HJR 17, reviving the veterans land program and the authorizing a total of $400,000,000 bonds to finance continued purchase of farm and ranch land by veterans, including those who served in Southeast Asia during present hostilities.

No. 4, HJR 6, authorizing counties to pay medical, doctor and hospital bills of county law enforcement officers injured in the line of duty.

* No. 5, HJR 12, authorizing a $75,000,000 state revenue bond issue for the development of state parks and recreational areas. Bonds are expected to be financed by a small admission fee.

No. 6, HJR 27, permitting state officers and employees to hold non-elective positions under the state or U.S. governments where there is no conflict of interest and where the state might benefit.

That's all for '67.

Top interest in these amendments doubtless will center on the park bond proposal and the veterans land amendment.

Hospital mental health and mental retardation groups will emphasize the importance of Amendment No. 2 to the new community center approach of treating mental patients close to home.

Calling the 1967 election for Veterans day on a Saturday, undoubtedly, was to assure a large voter turn-out for the land fund amendment. A substantial campaign to urge its passage already is taking form.

Gov. John Connally is the principle backer of the parks bond issue. Last December he unveiled a 10-year plan for acquiring and developing 150,960 acres of recreational lands and historical sites. This would more than triple present state park acreage and open a variety of new facilities for outdoor recreation.

Only opposition to the amendment to date has been based on the $1 a car park-entry fee, initially proposed by Connally to finance the vast program; and scattered complaints that facilities included in the governor's master plan don't adequately serve some areas of the state.

He is expected to spearhead an intensive fall campaign—supported by parks, recreational and outdoor groups—to put over the bond issue.

The veterans land amendment would add another $200,000,000 to state bonds previously authorized and through which 35,300 veterans have purchased farm and ranch properties at low interest rates spread over a 40-year pay period.

This amendment would raise the amount which could be borrowed under the program from $7,500 to $10,000. The program was initial in 1949. Additional bonds were approved by voters in 1951 and 1956. Amendments to enlarge the bond authorization were rejected at elections in 1963 and 1965. Opposition came mainly from Dallas and Houston.

Proponents emphasize that while thousands of veterans have benefitted from the program, it has cost the state no money and actually has turned a profit of $2,500,000 a year while providing an expanded land market.

Opposition has adopted the argument that is not a function of the state government to engage in the loan business and that veterans have had plenty of time to participate. Some also contend that "cheap money" invites purchases of land not needed and which will not be put to productive use.

Amendment No. 2 specifies that the legislature, in providing for creation of hospital districts, does not have to require that the district assume full responsibility for community mental health and retardation centers and services. It would permit cities and counties to levy taxes and issue bonds for such services. Subdivisions within existing districts would be authorized to do so unless statutes creating the districts expressly prohibit.

An attorney general's opinion held that the constitution does not allow political subdivisions within the boundary of a hospital district to levy taxes for medical and hospital service. Under that ruling, cities and counties located in such districts were restricted from participating in establishment of community health centers. Therefore, only hospital districts could establish such centers, a key part of the mental health program.

Amendments No. 3, 4, and 5 are self explanatory and apparently non-controversial.

Amendment No. 6 is aimed primarily at permitting educators, who are paid from state funds

Around and About

By HELEN COMBS

The trip to Palo Duro to see the production, "Texas" on Sunday evening offered more excitement for Gary and Jimmie Tarver, and T. E. and Emma Noel of Denton, than they had anticipated. Upon arrival, they noted an unusual number of camera people on the scene and soon learned that the wife of the president and her daughter and husband, Lucy and Pat Nugent, were expected. It so happened that Mrs. Johnson and the Nugents sat just a few seats in front of them at the production.

T. E. and Fama have recently returned from a trip to Exposition '67 in Canada, and they saw some out-door productions while to the two adjoining rooms to Fellowship Hall.

The refreshment table was covered with a white net cloth over underskirt of blue and centered with blue and white carnations flanked by royal blue candles in white milk glass holders. White napkins with silver edging were engraved "Jeanette and Earnest."

Punch and cake were served by Miss Sarah Holland and Darlene Bragg.

Miss Jane Helm presided at the register to secure signatures of the guests.

A lovely array of gifts were on display. The hostess gift for the couple was stainless steel cookware.

We spent an enjoyable weekend in Austin with our daughter, Pat Welch and family. Saturday afternoon we took a scenic drive up Lake Austin to Mansfield Dam and Lake Travis. We had heard about the drought down state, but had not realized it was quite so bad until we drove through that section. Pastures are parched and fields of cotton and feed are burned up. In fact, crops (Continued on Page 5)

Magnetic Coding On All Bank Checks Will Become Effective On Sept. 1

Keep your hand off the panic button, Mr. and Mrs. Check Writer, this automation business which goes into effect on checks come September 1 is not so bad as many people have believed.

The above is the advice given by a reporter in a Panhandle newspaper recently, after he had investigated the impact of the Federal Reserve Bank order and instructions regarding magnetic coding of checks.

In a conference with Marvin Duren, vice-president of the First State Bank, and with O. L. Helm, vice president of the First National Bank in Memphis, the following points have been developed which are in the public interest:

Two things are to go out the window with the September 1 deadline established by the Federal Reserve Bank — the courtesy checks, or drafts, where the check drawer fills in the name of his bank, and the practice of ink changing the name on a printed check to the proper bank.

Behind all of this are some "funny little numbers" which dance across the bottom of a check which has been properly imprinted with the bank's code number.

These are coded numbers, in magnetic ink, which help processing machines separate the checks according to proper banks rather than the more tedious and more expensive process of hand sorting the checks.

Many of the larger banks in the larger cities will also have the customer's personal account number encoded to the right of the bank number, so that they too may use the processing machines.

Readers of some of the large dailies have been misled by this portion of the information, believing that they would have to have personally imprinted checks by the September 1 deadline.

At some future time, the Memphis banks may go to processing machines, but at the present time, this will not be necessary, and check writers on these banks will need only to insure that they have a check with the bank's number encoded in the magnetic ink.

This will mean that the commonly used "counter" checks will still be usable, so long as the number of the bank are there.

For some time all Hall County banks have been using the encoded checks, and they are in general circulation now. All persons who still have checks upon which the bank's number is not printed in magnetic ink are advised to destroy them prior to Sept. 1.

Checks without the code number can be handled by the banks and the Reserve Banks, even after the Sept. 1 date, but the customer can expect to pay a service charge, since these will be handled as "collection" items.

Great Plains Conservation Program Is Proving Very Popular In County

The Great Plains Conservation Program is proving very popular in Texas as well as in the Hall County Soil and Water Conservation District according to Herb Evans, Soil Conservationist with the Memphis work unit.

In Texas all funds available in the 1967 fiscal year ending June 30, 1967, according to H. N. Smith, State Conservationist, Smith continued by saying that $1,729,000 were already obligated in the 1968 fiscal year.

The farmers and ranchers in the Memphis work unit area were so interested in the Great Plains Program in the 1967 fiscal year that they obligated about 174 percent of the money budgeted to Hall County.

prepared in Hall County are W. R. Scott, O. L. Helm, M. A. Beasley, G. W. Lockhart and Mack Richards.

Several farmers and ranchers are looking toward their future needs and are in the process of preparing Great Plains contracts for their farms. These men are Ace Gailley of Memphis and Tom Eudy of the Turkey Community.

The conservation practices that are in the greatest demand in the Hall County Soil and Water Conservation district, according to Evans are seeding native grasses on cropland that is unsuited for cultivation, reseeding of native grasses on poor condition rangeland and the construction of parallel terraces.

If you are a farmer or rancher needing conservation work the Great Plains Conservation Program gives you an excellent opportunity to get both technical Soil Conservation Service. For and financial assistance from the further information about the GPCP contact your Soil Conservation District Supervisor or see personnel of the Memphis Work Unit.

LIBRARY LORE

By Jim Roark

"For we cannot tarry here, we must march, my darlings, we must bear the brunt of danger We, the youthful sinewy races, all the rest on us depend, pioneers! O pioneers!"

Heroic Harriet, the central character in this biographical novel for adults, became heir to a legacy of such puzzling treachery that to this day it remains unexplained to haunt any historian who probes this phase of Texas history. It was through her second husband, Robert Potter that this treachery came about. Robert Potter, a signer of Texas Independence and for whom Potter County was named -- and eloquent speaker, poet, politician -- and enigma. The above quote from Walt Whitman is a salute to this true pioneer woman who bravely faced every hardship of the days Texas was a-borning.

She is a legend, and we stand in awe of this tiny woman, and the unbelievable perils she confronted! She wrote her life story and there are speeches and a pamphlet by Robert Potter, all of which are still in existence. So again, truth is stranger than fiction.

Prominent Texans, with this material at hand, thought her story should be told. The Texas State Historical Association selected Edith Hamilton Kirland to write "Love is a Wild Assault." The story of the most notorious woman in Texas in those early years certainly belongs to the forming of the history of our state.

"Love is a Wild Assault" is one of the newly arrived books at the library in Memphis.

COURAGE

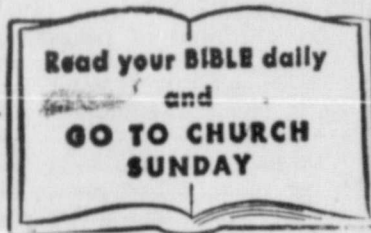

"Be strong, and let your heart take courage, all you who wait for the Lord!" —Psalms 31:24

Money in the bank is not an assurance of peace of mind, nor a guarantee of a lifetime of health and happiness.

Sometimes the events of everyday life must be dealt with through the application of courage and determination.

Whatever the challenge, the best recourse is to faith. If we have faith in God's power, in God's presence, we usually find the personal courage to see us through.
