Combs Captures City Golf Title

In an exciting climax for the golf championship of the Memphis Country Club, Sunday afternoon, Frank Foxhall and Bill Combs met in the finals, in 18-hole match play. Foxhall had previously defeated James (Skeeter) Bray in the opening round and Dana Gibson in the semi-finals. Combs had previously defeated Danny Scarborough and Bink Miller in the quarter and semi-finals. Early in the Combs-Foxhall match, Combs recorded birdies on the No. 2, No. 3 and No. 4 holes to capture an early three-hole advantage. He led at the halfway by two holes after Foxhall birdied the No. 9 hole. Combs held on to his lead during the final round to win the championship. This is the first time he has won a club championship tournament. Foxhall has numerous city championship honors to his credit and was also runner-up last year. He won the tournament in 1964 but was unable to compete in 1965, the tournament Allyn Harrison won. In the championship flight consolation, Sam Goodnight defeated James Bray one up on the 18th hole, in the finals. In the finals of the first flight, Gayle Monzingo defeated Ronald Pate, one up on the last hole. In the consolation of this flight, Jackie Bridges defeated Harlie Taylor in the finals. In the finals of the second flight, Mackie Allen defeated David Hamblin on the 18th hole to win the flight. The consolation finals between Randy Brown and Oren Jones have not been played as yet. In the third flight finals, Chuck Jones defeated Clyde Smith. Joe Allen Ballard defeated Larry Helm in the third flight consolation finals. Several of the matches had to go into extra holes. The longest match was decided on the 21st hole between Sam Goodnight and Danny Scarborough which advanced Goodnight to the consolation finals. The matches of Ed Foxhall and Alan McNally, and Mills Roberts and Lester Campbell were decided on the 20th hole. McNally and Roberts were winners.

City Council Adopts Resolution For Joint Construction Of 4-Lane 16th St.

The Memphis City Council in a special meeting, recently, adopted by resolution the Texas Highway Commission's Minute Order No. 59601, which authorizes the joint construction of one-half mile of four-lane paving of 16th Street from Grundy St. north, and east on Delaney St. to Highway 287 in Memphis. The street will be 4-lane, 48 feet wide, curb and guttered, and will be designated a farm to market road. This is one-half of the total project which when completed will connect State 256 and U. S. Highway 287 by a four-lane FM Road. City Secretary A. L. Gailey said the city's portion of the total project is expected to run about $22,500 for which the city will issue time warrants to cover the expense. The City of Memphis must provide right of way, clear all obstructions and provide for the immediate construction of curbs and gutter, utility adjustments, etc. The Texas Highway Department will provide for the construction of pavement and its support within the limits at an estimated cost of $22,000 and will maintain that portion of the work. The state's $22,000 will cover the cost of construction of pavement on the one-half mile stretch of the project from Grundy St. north to Highway 287. Secretary Gailey said the Memphis Independent School Dist. will cooperate in the financing of the paving project with the City of Memphis in the amount of $4,000. The Memphis City Council adopted the resolution unanimously at a special meeting on July 20, 1967, and approved the minutes of the resolution Tuesday night. The second half of the project will be authorized for construction by the Texas Highway Department at a later date.

Sandy McQueen Receives Letter Of Commendation

Sandy McQueen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry McQueen, received a letter of congratulations from Nelson G. Patrick, Director of Music Service, The University of Texas, concerning her performance in the State Solo and Ensemble Contest early this summer. The letter stated: "Congratulations on your having been selected as an outstanding performer at the 1967 State Solo and Ensemble Contest." High School Principal C. E. Voyles has received a letter from Mr. Patrick which stated, "Sandy McQueen of your school has been named an Outstanding Performer at the 1967 State Solo-Ensemble Contest. Of the 3,500 participants, 15 were selected as 'Outstanding Performers.'" "This is a compliment to your school, the student, and her teacher. To all of these we offer sincerest congratulations. May we suggest that as early as convenient in the Fall term the student be recognized in a suitable manner. The enclosed certificate is to be awarded by you (Voyles) to the person named (Sandy)." The contest was held June 5-6 in Austin and Sandy played her trombone solo: "Blue Bells of Scotland" and received a Division I rating. She was accompanied on the piano by Kay Coppedge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Coppedge. Sandy's solo was selected to be recorded and kept on permanent file at the University, an honor in itself. Patrick also announced that during the week of Sept. 10, Sandy's solo will be broadcast over 15 radio stations over the state. Miss McQueen will be a junior student at Memphis High and holds the distinct honor of being Texas' best high school trombonist, having earned this right by sitting first chair in the All-State Band last spring. This was her second year to go to the All-State Band. Sandy returned home last weekend from the West Texas State University Summer Band Camp which was held July 16 through 28 in Canyon. She was selected for a scholarship at Midwestern Music and Art Camp at University of Kansas this summer but did not accept the scholarship, but hopes to go to the camp next summer. In the letter Mr. Patrick wrote to Sandy, he requested a picture of her to run in the September "Interscholastic Leaguer."

Disrict 3-AA Coaches Give Favorite Nod To Floydada's 1967 Whirlwinds

With only three weeks of summer vacation left, interest in the 1967 football season has been growing steadily. The Memphis Coaching Staff of Bert Glascock, head coach, Bill Lorraine, backfield coach, George Berry, line coach, and the new Basketball and Asst. Football Coach, Denzil Lacy, are away this week at San Angelo to attend the 35th Annual Texas High School Coaches' Association School. Among the activities at this school, is the annual balloting of coaches on which teams are favored to win in District competition. Coaches of District 3-AA have balloted and the results were published by area daily newspapers yesterday. It comes as no surprise here that the Floydada Whirlwinds, have received the favorite nod by district coaches; however, the balloting was close between Floydada Olton and Memphis. These three teams were picked No. 1, 2, 3 in that order. Friona is the fourth place pick, Dimmitt fifth, Hale Center sixth, Abernathy seventh and Lockney eighth. In a write-up about District 3-AA in the Texas Football magazine published recently, the district was described as "close" a year ago and "the description fits as well as any for the scuffling expected this time around." The magazine seems to give Olton the edge with Memphis in second and Floydada in third place, but says that any of these teams present title threats. Memphis has 12 lettermen returning from a 7-3-1 season last year which won the right to compete in the state play-offs. The Cyclone will begin this season without an experienced line. QB Tony Pounds will be back as will HB Gary Rea and Tailback William Welch, so the backfield will have experience and quickness, but lack size. The Cyclone squad will begin working out the morning of Monday, Aug. 14. First game will be (Continued on Page 8)

Talent Contest To Be Held in Turkey

Plans were announced this week for a Talent Show Contest sponsored by the United Peace Officers of America to be held Friday, Aug. 11, at 8 p. m. in the Turkey High School Auditorium by Hall County Sheriff Elmer Neel. All talent entries are asked to notify either Sheriff Neel in Memphis or Hall County Deputy Sheriff Clyde Rogers in Turkey. Winner of the Turkey contest will compete with other show winners in area-wide competition Friday, Aug. 25. The winning talent in this area-wide show will win an all expense paid trip to either the Astrodome in Houston or 6 Flags Over Texas between Fort Worth and Dallas, whichever the winner selects. Last Friday night, the first of these shows was held here in Memphis with Turkey's "The Senders", a band composed of Rod Adamson, Rickey Mosley, Rodney Setliff and Russell Barnhill, winning first place in talent competition. Second place went to a Canyon youth, Tony Burrus, a 12-year-old. Third place went to a band called "The Country Gentlemen," composed of Jarrell P. Fielding, Travis Maynard, Phillip T. Mackey, and David Phelps, all of Memphis. "Despite the heavy rain Friday night, we had a good turnout at the show here," Sheriff Neel said. Area citizens are reminded that proceeds from these talent shows will be donated to the educational fund of Boys Ranch. There is no age limit for entries of amateur talent into these shows. The shows are interesting to spectators and several non-competing numbers perform.

Improved Program And Plan For Area Conservation!

Last Thursday, a letter of congratulations from the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture, Orville Freeman, to Chairman Earnest Rea of the Hall County Soil and Conservation District, emphasized the importance of the progressive action taken by this District in updating the soil and water conservation program and modernizing the memorandum of understanding with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The letter stated: "I want to commend the governing body of your District. This is an important initial step in helping private landowners move forward more effectively with their resource conservation and development effort."

The governing board of the district, including Chairman Rea, Lee Scrivner, Don Ray Crook, Wayne Hutcherson, and Kenneth Ellis have completed a big job. The job is the drafting of a District Program and Work Plan and having it published into a 24-page booklet. Also, the supervisors have drawn up a new Memoranda of Understanding between the Hall County Soil and Water Conservation District and the United States Department of Agriculture which was recently signed by Sec. of Agri. Orville Freeman. This document sets out what the USDA will do and what the District will do toward carrying out the new approved plan of work.

The Hall County SWCD has operated under a program and plan of work outlined in the 1940's, shortly after the combined Childress and Hall County districts were joined together. Since that time, many new ideas have been put into conservation practices, new programs begun, and most important of all, new objectives set. All of these are drafted into the new plan and program of the Hall County SWCD.

"The district movement has gained enormous strength over the past quarter century because you and other dedicated men have given freely of your time, energy, and imagination in the finest tradition of democratic action and self government," Secretary Freeman said.

"We are on the threshold of a new era in the management of our resources—of land and water, forest and wildlife—by our people. I am convinced that your District has an important part to play in giving reality to our broadened concepts of conservation and rural development. I urge you to push forward in every way you can conceive to achieve maximum advancement in the conservation and economic development of our soil and water resources within your District," he said.

To go into the wealth of information contained in the booklet entitled "Program and Plan" is beyond the scope of this editorial. A copy of it can be provided by the district to those individuals having a real need for the booklet.

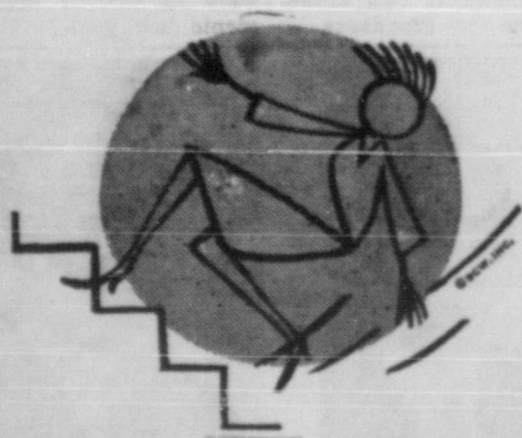

This newspaper has long been a supporter of conservation practices and will continue with whole-hearted support by publishing news stories, feature articles and editorials. We extend our congratulations to the district supervisors for their progressive planning.

Postal Rates Are Going Up

We have no intention of joining a chorus of protest against the Post Office Department's proposal to make another sharp increase in rates for mailing newspapers . . . we believe, and always have, that our media, like all others, ought to pay its way.

Nor are we in a position to argue with the Post Office Department about how much the postal rates for newspapers should be. . . we have to assume that the department's computers are giving the newspapers a fair shake when they come up with the answer that a 30 per cent increase or thereabouts in postal rates for second class mail is necessary to meet costs of handling this class of mail.

If this is so, so be it. If this kind of increase in postal rates is taken, you can probably look for a corresponding increase in mail subscription rates for newspapers and magazines, because publishers . . . unlike postal departments . . . can't operate at a continuing loss. And if the Post Office Department is handling our publications below cost now, it shouldn't be.

But newspaper and magazine publishers can be expected to protest, and protest heatedly, unless the post office Department also puts other classes of mail . . . particularly the "junk mail" third-class matter which is the chief headache of the overburdened mail service now . . . on a paying basis.

We don't want the Post Office Department subsidizing our newspapers, but neither do we want our newspapers subsidizing the direct-mail industry which chokes the postal service and our post office boxes with a tremendous volume of unsolicited material competes with second-class publications for the advertising dollar, and offers no public service at all. We're perfectly willing to pay our own mailing costs . . . but we don't want to help pay the mailing costs of the junk-mail industry and we don't think the rest of the public should have to help pay it either.

Alphabet Neurosis (P.P.)
Comes now Dr. Trevor Weston, a London physician, who reports he has discovered a new ailment that afflicts people whose last names begin with letters found at the tag end of the alphabet.

A 10-year study, Dr. Weston says, convinces him folks whose names begin with S, T, U, V, W, X, Y, and Z have an average life expectancy 12 years shorter than the rest of the population.

He says members of this "S to Z Club" are especially prone to ulcers and heart attacks. He believes this is due to the extra strain the S-to-X's must endure because the alphabetical order used so much by our society dooms them to the perpetual status of also-rans.

Alphabetic neurosis really isn't a new disease. And it affects the A-to-R Club as well as the S-to-Z. As a matter of fact, this ailment stems from the early days of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal. It started, if memory hasn't been clouded by neurosis, with FDR's AAA—the Agricultural Adjustment Adm.

Hard on the heels of the AAA came the NRA, WPA, PWA, etc.

Nor are things getting any better. For instance, the very day the story about Dr. Eston's diagnosis discovery appeared, the news columns were sprinkled with alphabetic allusions to the UAR, UAW, MBA, SAM, FOP, DA, UPI, TV, VFW, GOP, VA, GI, AMC, ARVN, DMZ, MIG, IRS, LBJ, CIA, AC-LU, FAA, SST, CBS, AISI, WABCO, SUB, GM, FBI, GAL, AL, QB, MVP, UPS, UFO, CIO (what no AFL?) and NRA (which now stands for National rifle Assn. rather than FDR's National Recovery Administration).
Whew! H-E-L-P.

OLD STONE FORT Nacogdoches

The Old Stone Fort standing on the campus of the Stephen F. Austin State Teachers College at Nacogdoches is generally believed to have been built during 1779 or 1780.

It has been held and garrisoned at various times by Spain, Mexico, the Republic of Texas, the Confederacy and the United States.

It was truly an outpost in the wilderness!

Nacogdoches itself, one of the four oldest civilized settlements in Texas, was named for the Nacogdoches Indians. Here in 1716 the Spaniards established Mission Nuestra Senora de Guadalupe around whose deserted buildings Nacogdoches was permanently established in 1779.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

(Editor's Note: Recently Vicki Rose, Dayna Hickey and Tommy Greene attended the band and twirling school at McMurry college in Abilene. Saturday the following letter was received from the band director of the college):

Last week and the week preceding on the McMurry College campus, it was our pleasure to be host to some 400 young musicians on the occasion of the 20th annual McMurry Band and twirling school. A good group came from your town along with students from 72 other towns and cities of our Southwest. After dealing with these young people and noting the seriousness of purpose they have and the fine self discipline they manifest, I want to say to your school and your community, if these are samples, you can well be proud of your youth.

So much emphasis is placed on the delinquent, the derelict, the protestors, etc., (certainly I know there are many of these) it was refreshing to me as an educator and band director of many years to work with so ambitious and so cooperative a group. The excellent behavior pattern of these band students is not accidental. I hope and believe we on the McMurry campus nurtured the attitudes for right of these students but I know that these attitudes have been instilled in your community by concerned parents, by the stabilizing influence of church and by schools with teachers who care.

Specifically I believe much of the credit for the excellence of your young people who came to us is due to the discipline of band. Behind this is a band teacher who teaches respect for law (rules of conduct in playing or marching or on trips are the foundation of legal laws) and engenders pride of the band organization which may carry over to the larger loyalties to home, church, community and finally the nation. I commend you for having provided your band program (and other commensurate worthwhile outlets for the energy of our young people) and believe such programs properly taught are worth far more than they cost and are the vehicles whereby our generation can perpetuate the democratic society which is our United States of America.

Certainly all who came to us were not perfect and neither are we who teach and direct. Certainly, we had some problems but these too were so few and so minor and preponderately the majority of those who learned with us were so fine the twenty great teachers who composed our faculty experienced a renewed confidence in the present and buoyant hope for the future. These youths were an oasis in the desert of unrest. We thank you for having sent them to us and hope that ALL who read this will continue and even augment our efforts to the end that the coming generations of our children will be decent, law abiding and God-fearing. Our school hands can make great contributions in more areas than music.

Management Publication Shows County With High Market Rating In Nation

NEW YORK.—Hall County is given a high market rating on the strength of its economic showing during the past year.

Just how well it shapes up, compared with communities in other parts of the country, is indicated in Sales Management's new copyrighted "Survey of Buying Power."

It shows that local residents earned more and spent more, on average, than those in most other areas.

The record level of consumer spending results in a sales volume in Hall County's retail stores of $12,294,000, as against the 1965 total of $11,069,000.

It was more than might have been expected on the basis of population. Figured that way, retail business locally should have amounted to only .0034 percent of the national volume, because that is the portion of the population in the local area.

It did better than that, however, accounting for .0041 percent of the national total.

Consumer spending, sparked by rising income, was in high gear throughout most of the year. As a result, gains were recorded by nearly every type of retail and service business.

Sales of soft goods, including clothing and food, were strong. Also in heavy demand were home furnishings, cosmetics, small appliances and sporting goods. Sales of the more expensive durable items, such as washing machines and refrigerators, eased somewhat toward the end of the year, due to the tight money situation.

In items of income, 1966 was a better-than-average year locally, the survey shows.

Local residents, after payment of their personal taxes, had net earnings of $11,642,000, an increase over the previous year's $11,208,000.

It was equivalent to $5,292 per household, determined by dividing the total by the number of households.

The fact that retail sales were greater than earnings locally, indicates that many non-residents come into the county to shop.

The relative standing of one community to another, with respect to purchasing power and business vitality, is shown through an "index of sales activity," which takes into account population, income and spending.

Hall County's index is given as 121, or 21 percent above the national average.

Jerry D'Arcy and attending The Calgary Stampede in mid-July. This year Canada is celebrating its centennial anniversary.

Mr. D'Arcy, a native of Dennison, Texas first went to Canada fourteen years ago for the oil company by which he was at that time employed. He has since amassed a sizeable income as an executive of two oil companies, a wheat farmer, and horse rancher. His beautiful ranch is located twelve miles out of Calgary but his offices in the city.

Besides being very busy inspecting horses for AQHA registration during their sojourn, Dick Stotts, learned there were seventy horses waiting to be shod when he arrived in Canada. So he flew his "helper" Buster Guest from Amarillo in order to get the work done and have time for The Stampede which ran from July 6 through July 15.

As guests of the D'Arcy's, the Texas Panhandle party enjoyed several of the performances of the Calgary Stampede which is a rodeo on a grand scale. The arena is a huge area of open prairie with the top hands performing in two shows daily. The Blackfoot, Crow and other Indians tribes native to that country add much color to the show daily. Two highlights of the gala festivities are the chuckwagon race and the Canadian Mounted Police Precision drill. However, the fireworks displays in the evening shows are phenomenal with great balls of color exploding in midair to spell out the sponsor's name in fireworks. Cary Grant and Pete Brown (Laredo) were honored guests of the Stampede. The Andrews Sisters sang.

The Stotts party made the most of their stay in the Canadian Rockies by visiting the nationally popular resort area around Lake Louise about eighty miles from Calgary. The country through the Canadian National Park is breathtaking against a backdrop of snow-capped mountains. This year a three-inch snow left the 15th of June and the winter and spring blizzards were so severe that there were no leaves on the trees until after the first of May. Eleven feet of new snow on the ski slopes delighted the skiers. The natives declare it to have been the worst winter ever in Canada. As many as 50,000 head of cattle were lost because they could not be reached with feed.

However, now, the grass though only about eight inches high because of the protracted winter weather is a vivid green with geraniums growing wild everywhere like buttercups in this country. During the drive through the Canadian National Park en route to Lake Louise, the travelers saw all kinds of animals native to that terrain except a bear. Deer, pheasant, big horn sheep, antelope and mountain goats were everywhere.

The motels at Banoff and Lake Louise cater to millionaire tourists as is evidenced by the fact that some of the suites cost as much as $600 a day. Whether or not one can afford such plush accommodations, the natural beauty of the Rockies, the countryside, the animals, and the Calgary Stampede made the trip for Cordia Levi a memorable experience.

Paisano Antique Shop To Open In Memphis Friday, August 4

A new business for Memphis is the Paisano Antique Shop which will open at 9:30 a. m. Friday, August 4. The shop will be operated by Mrs. R. E. (Jim) Roark at her home located at 501 South 6th Street.

Mrs. Roark cordially invited visitors to the grand opening Friday to browse and buy if interested.

Mrs. Roark, long interested in antiques, is truly a connoisseur of antiques. Well qualified through years of collecting and study, she not only has a credible knowledge of the objects for sale in her shop, but is able to advise others as to the value of rare possessions and to appraise for possible purchases articles of unusual quality.

Visitors to the Paisano Antique Shop will find there a goodly variety of antique and art glass, rare pieces of china, pictures and gilt frames of an early-day vintage. Also The Paisano is offering for sale "primitives" in mint condition or for personal refinishing by "do-it-yourself" such as milk cans, fruit jars, wagon wheel hubs, and butcher block to mention a few items.

The "Paisano" the Spanish word for chaparral, was chosen as a name for Mrs. Roark's shop because of the Chaparral or road-runner is a busy fellow forever on the run to say nothing of his relation to the cuckoo bird. In like manner, an antique dealer is forever busy ferreting out good buys for the shop.

Families, from mediaeval times down to the present day, have possessed treasured worldly goods which have been handed down as priceless legacies from one generation to another. Because of their peculiar beauty, rarity, or uniqueness these heirlooms have become more valuable with the passing of years. Their monetary and sentimental value having increased with time when these "objects d'art" were known to be one hundred years old they were labeled "antique". Of recent date, however, anything forty or fifty years of age and not at present in daily use may be called antique.

Oftentimes, the heirs of such treasures coming on hard times were compelled to part with family pieces of intrinsic value. And so, "a connoisseur" of such finery in prowling the Flea Market in Rome, Italy or the Rag Market outside Paris, France, haunting antique auctions or pawn shops might come to possess a rare find in pictures, china, glass, or furniture.

The revolutions in Russia and France, other wars and overthrows of monarchies, pillaging, and hard times have put numerous antiques into circulation all over the world. The refurbishing of old mansions, a mania for collecting (collectors) and the sheer pride of possession have boosted the trade and sales of antiques to a thriving and respectable business.

However, as in any other business, there are tricks of the trade and one must needs be able to discern the genuine from the replica. Today more than ever before, antiques and "primitives" (early-day artifacts) are being copied and "aged" in wholesale lots until it behooves even the experts to detect the difference. Scouts in the antique business, people who can tell the real from the replica, known as "pickers" are constantly on the prowl to supply certain rare articles to dealers.
