Education Committee Unfolds Details of Controversial Plan For District

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
USTIN, Tex.—Just before New Year dawned, the Governor's Committee on Public Education unfolded details of a controversial plan to reorganize school districts and dramatically revise financing formulas.

systems should be either countywide in size or contain at least 2,600 students in average daily attendance. Exception would be sparse areas stretching over a county or more with less than 1,600 pupils and 24 special-purpose units like that operated in connection with military bases.

Heritage Hall and Grows As Gifts Continue

wo generous contributors to Heritage Hall have been made during the past week by former Memphis residents and several residents have also donated the fund to establish a museum. Byron Baldwin, announced making his donation, Orville H. Dalhart, stated in a letter to Mrs. C. W. Kinslow that he thought the museum was a wonderful project for Memphis. Others who have made donations include the Ben H. Parks of Dallas, R. B. Gillis of Cleve, Mrs. Frank Monzingo of Memphis in memory of her husband, Frank, and Mr. and Mrs. Foster.

Governor's Committee recommended that the Legislature adopt its proposed district maps for further study by special local countywide study committees charged with approving the new pattern or recommending something better to suit their own area needs. State Board of Education would compile the final reorganization plan by June 1, 1971. Projected plan would slash the number of school districts from 1,218 to 354. All but 19 of 662 districts which now have less than 500 pupils would be eliminated. There would be 35 multi-district counties (those of larger population) with from two to 13 districts. All of the latter would have fewer districts than they now have. Committee's proposals for figuring local districts' adjusted share of a basic foundation school program will also prove controversial, particularly in rural areas. Local share is calculated on the actual property taxing ability in each district. In many counties the number of districts would be reduced drastically. They include the following: Bowie from 14 to two; Cameron 14 to three; McLennan 20 to (Continued on Page 10)

Local Cagers Host Iowa Park Teams

Memphis Basketball teams continue District 2-AA competition against visiting teams at Iowa Park in the Memphis School gymnasium Friday, Jan. 2. The girls' game begins at 7 p. m. and the boys game is immediately following. Coach Denzil Lacy reports that Iowa Park girls have two outstanding forwards which the Memphis girls will have to stop if they are to capture a victory. The Hawks went to the AA football semi-finals, and their basketball players late joining the team, but these lads are doing a good job on the court, the local coach says. We are expecting two hard games against Iowa Park Saturday night. Then Childress Cyclone and the B team travel to Childress next Tuesday to take on the highly rated Bobcats, and the B team Cyclonettes will be idle Tuesday night. Wellington Games Monday night, Memphis teams lost district games to Wellington. In the girls game, the local girls started off on a "nervous" note, Coach Lacy said, and Wellington jumped to a 17-0 lead before Memphis scored its first point. "After this, our girls fought to within four points of Wellington," Coach Lacy said. Sue Milton scored 31 points for Memphis while Mary Lou Holton had 27 for Wellington. Wellington girls 5-19-34-44 Memphis girls 17-32-41-52 In the boys game, the Skyrockets, primarily by a good rebounding effort by Glen Barber, who also scored 26 points to lead the Rockets, won the contest 68 to 54. "We didn't get a rebound all night under either basket, our press wasn't very effective, and we were cold shooting the basketball," Coach Lacy said. "I really don't know how we stayed as close as we did, but there was a time when we could have made the game real interesting," the coach said. Memphis boys 14-26-41-54 Wellington 20-39-49-68 Ronnie McFalls scored 17 points to lead Memphis scoring.

Highway Patrol Has New Method To Check Speeders

The Texas Department of Public Safety is now using a revolutionary new speed control device in an effort to reduce accidents caused by excessive speed. It's called Average Speed Computer and Recorder (Vascar). It is actually a computer mounted in a patrol car and works on the simple formula: Distance divided by Time equals Speed.

Suppose you are breezing along the highway at 30-85 miles per hour. You keep watchful eyes to the rear to be sure a patrolman is not following you. You slow down when you see a car parked beside the highway until you're certain a patrolman is not in a car equipped with radar. You watch for patrolmen ahead of you and you keep a lookout for painted stripes across the highway which could be marked distances for calculating your speed from a helicopter. You feel apprehensive most of the time you're speeding, but one thing is certain: it's a relief to see a patrolman pass from the opposite direction, because you know he must be going in the same direction to clock you with his speedometer. You know his radar unit is ineffective unless it's stationary. Not so with Vascar! Don't be surprised some day if a patrolman passes you from the opposite direction, then overtakes and stops you. If he does, the situation might have been that he suspected you were speeding as you went under an overpass, for example. As you traveled under the overpass, the patrolman flips on a time switch, one of two toggle switches that are a part of the unit—a square box mounted in front of the dashboard of the patrol car. When the patrolman passed the suspected speeder, he turned off the switch, putting into the Vascar machine the exact time it took the motorist to drive between the two points, the over-

Will the 1968 Hall County cotton harvest reach a bale to the acre? It appears now that this could well be the case as the 13 Hall County gins have now reported 59,132 bales.

A telephone survey this morning of the ginning points over the county revealed the latest total and also spread new light on the final tabulation. Actually, gins in the Turkey area report they are from 85 to 90 percent complete and the Estelline area reports that they are expecting from 500 to 800 more bales before the season is over. This could well mean that over 1,000 bales are yet to be reported, which would give Hall County almost 61,000 bales for the 1968 crop. Lynn McKown reported last September that Hall County had 61,546 acres planted to cotton. Approximately 3500 bales were processed in the past seven days, which indicates that the harvest is in the final stages.

COTTON HARVEST PAST PEAK

Cotton harvest in the Eastern Panhandle is past its peak, according to W. E. Cain, Memphis Cotton Classing Office, Consumer Marketing Service. "We have three days of classing samples in the house now," Mr. Cain said. "I'm expecting we'll be caught up about the middle of next week with our backlog." The Memphis Classing office worked throughout New Year's holidays in an effort to keep up with the classing of cotton samples.

Mr. Cain said that since several of the staff had been out with the flu and the office was over three days behind, the decision was made to work New Year's Day. There was no significant change in any quality classed last week. Light Spotted grades accounted for 62 percent. Spotted grades were 28 percent, and Tinge grades rose to 4 percent up from 2 percent last week. Staple qualities also remained about the same as the week before. Predominant staples classed were 15/16, 8 percent; 31/32, 36 percent; and 1 inch 42 percent. Micronaire, or fineness and maturity readings, show 6 per-

Don Ferrel Buys Farm Supply Firm From Omer Hill

The sale of Omer Hill Elevator to Don Ferrel was announced by the two men this week, and Mr. Ferrel took over active management of the business Wednesday, Jan. 1. The new name of the firm is Hall County Farm Supply.

In the transaction, Ferrel became owner of all buildings including the elevator complex, warehouse and storage, as well as equipment, and the entire stock owned by Hill.

Omer Hill entered business here in 1944. With the sale of his farm supply firm, he completes 25 years serving the farmers and ranchers of this area. He purchased a business operated by T. W. Weatherby on Noel Street, the Weatherby Feed Store, Jan. 1, 1944. In 1946, he enlarged his operation and moved to the present location and erected elevator facilities. Later he erected a nearby storage building for grain.

His future plans were not announced, but he indicated that he would continue to be active. Don Ferrel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Crump Ferrel of Parnell. He was born and reared in that community, and is a graduate of Estelline High School and West Texas State University. He has been actively engaged in farming and stock raising since 1961. His wife is the former Betty Orcutt, and they are the parents of two children, Donna, age eight, and Mike, who is three years old. Recently they moved to Memphis.

Ferrel announced that Clarence Morris, long-time employee of the firm, would continue in his present capacity. An addition is being made to the fertilizer and weed control equipment of the firm, which will be available to customers.

In the boys bracket Quitaque plays Friona at 2 this afternoon. Quail plays Lakeview at 3:30 and Memphis takes on Estelline tonight in the final game at 8:30 p. m.

Final rounds will be played Saturday afternoon and evening.

Seven beautiful silver trophies will be awarded winning teams. The Memphis Compress Co. is furnishing both the first place trophies with other trophies being donated by First National Bank, First State Bank, Ward Motor Co., Fowlers Drug and Lockhart Pharmacy.

Supt. of Schools C. L. Chambers expressed the thanks of the school administration to the local businesses for providing the trophies. They are on display in the hallway outside the gymnasium. Fans are invited to attend any or all games in the exciting tournament.

"I feel we have an exceptional strong girls bracket in the tournament with some of the top ranked girls teams in the Panhandle competing," Coach Denzil Lacy reported.

Srygley Sells Client's Shop To Jim Goldston

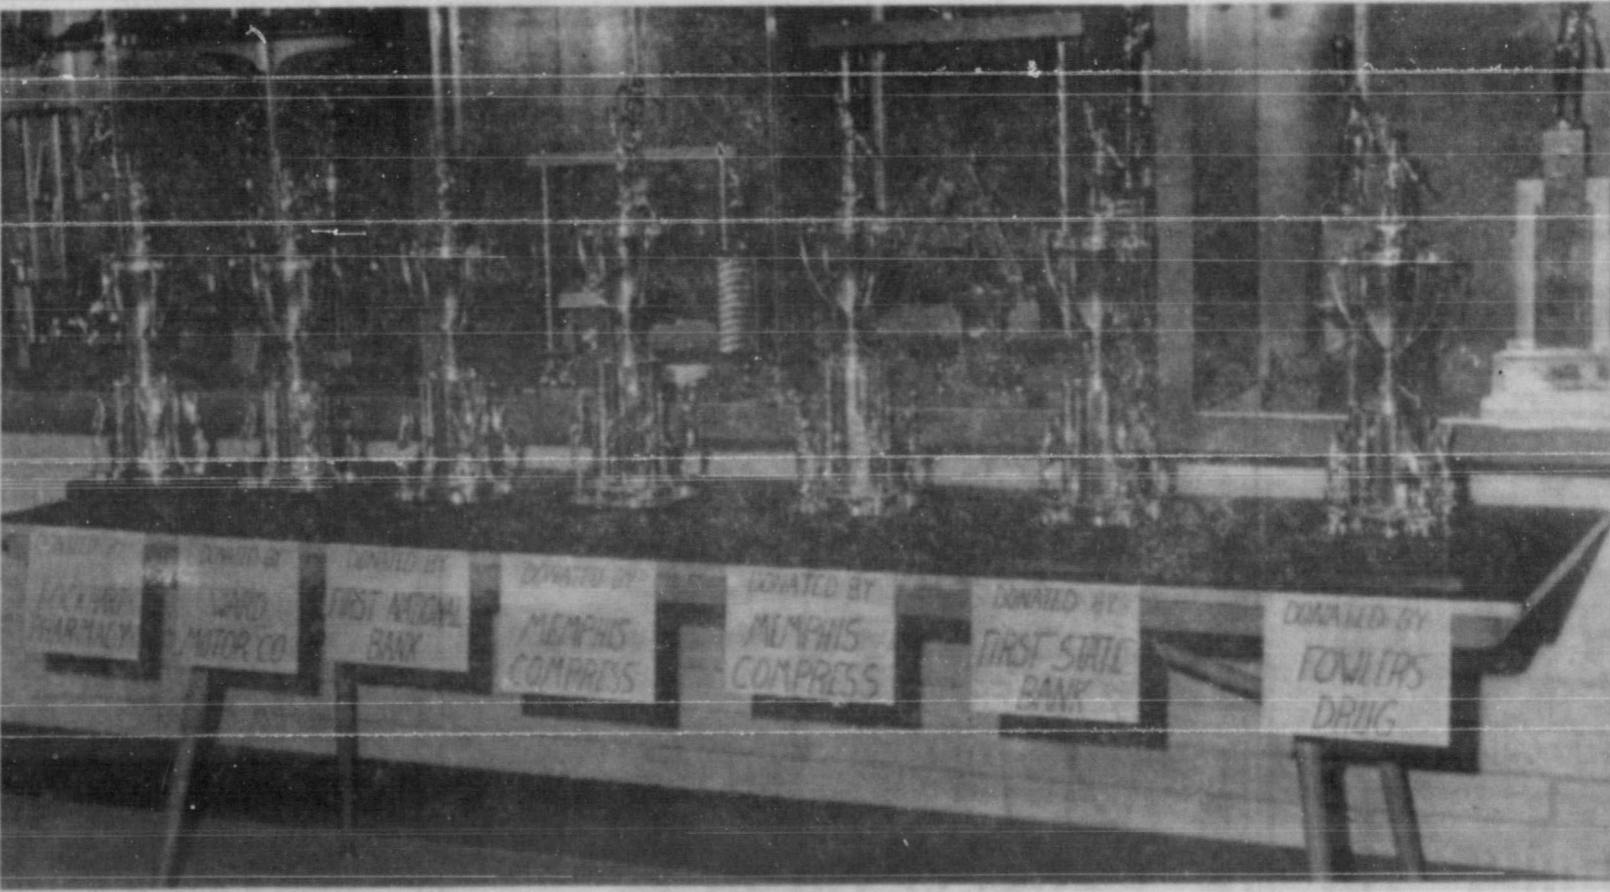

Clenton Srygley this week announced that he had sold his barber shop to his son-in-law, Jim Goldston. The transaction became effective Wednesday, Jan. 1.

Srygley, who is one of the better known barbers in this area, is completing 43 years in the profession. Since 1936 he has been located in Memphis, and most of that time was owner of Client's Barber Shop.

In making the announcement, he pointed out that he was not quitting completely; that he would be at the shop, located on the east side of the square, at irregular times. He said he would try to be around on Fridays and Saturdays, if he and his wife were in Memphis.

At the end of last term of school in Memphis, Mrs. Pansy Srygley retired as a teacher in Memphis High School. At that time, she had completed a career of 31 years in the teaching profession. She had taught four years at Lakeview, one year at Lesley, and for the past 26 years had been on the teaching staff in Memphis.

Goldston married the former Frankye Lynn Srygley in 1962. They are the parents of two sons. Mrs. Goldston is a third grade teacher in Travis Elementary School.

'Thou Shalt Not ...'

In this New Year's week, it is good to give some thought, if only for a moment, to the basic law by which we Americans have, for nearly 200 years, lived and prospered and pursued our own ideas of happiness unmolested by an arbitrary government.

In a recent issue of The Butler County American, a little four-page tabloid published in Hamilton, Ohio, we found a fascinating discussion of the Bill of Rights.

It listed the key phrases in these first 10 amendments. There it listed the key phrases in these first 10 amendments. There you read:

- ... shall make no law ...
- ... shall not be infringed ...
- ... without the consent ...
- ... shall not be violated ...
- ... without due process ...
- ... right to a speedy and public trial ...
- ... no fact tried by a jury shall otherwise re-examined ...

- ... excessive bail shall not be required ...
- ... shall not be construed ...
- ... powers not delegated ... are reserved to the States respectively or to the people.

What is the thread that runs through them all? It is the thread of restriction of government. It is a listing of things the government is forbidden to do.

In no other major written constitution is the government restrained by the people from exercising certain powers. This is the genius of the U. S. Constitution.

'Thou shalt not' is directed at government, not the people. —Amarillo Daily News

Future Farm Policies

Farmers of this country, by their voting preference in the recent presidential election, largely spoke a common sentiment which was to do away with Democratic farm policies or at least make some changes.

What kind of a farm policy will the new administration put in?

Richard Nixon didn't make any promises about the farm program except to promise to put a man in as Secretary of Agriculture that knows farming and farm problems. He also said that he would rely upon farm organizations themselves to recommend legislation or changes that would improve the farm situation.

Right there he hit the first roadblock. The American Farm Bureau, the National Farmers Union and the National Farmers Organization all have different ideas about what should be done.

The Farm Bureau says take off subsidies and controls gradually and let a free market return.

The Farmers Union says subsidy, controls and marketing quotas must not be reduced but expanded. The NFO calls for a national marketing organization which would give farmers a united bargaining voice with the supermarket chains and the other giants of the food industry.

So if Mr. Nixon is going to wait on the farm organizations to recommend answers to the farm problems, he may be through his term of office before any agreement can be reached.

Of course, any change is going to be hard to make. The Democrats are still in firm control of the agriculture situation in Congress, Senators Ellender of Louisiana, Holland of Florida, Eastland of Mississippi and Talmadge of Georgia are all Democrats, along with Poage of Texas, McMillan of South Carolina and Abernathy of Mississippi in the House Agriculture committee.

Somehow we doubt that any new administration will work miracles overnight for the farm problem. All we can do is hope.

That gigantic $19 billion plan to pipe water to Texas from the Mississippi River is sure going to be a boon to water skiers.

One citizen claims that the Texas water problem is the result of so many Texans voting dry.

Texas cities, however, are faced with only a few problems, such as taxation, annexation, sinisation, vexation and voter relation. Don't burn the charter, Mr. Mayor.

Many people are upset because Mr. Nixon did not select a Texan for his cabinet. Come to think of it, Texas did not select Mr. Nixon for the presidency.

Despite the modern fashion, Mr. Nixon refuses to wear those narrow trousers. Well, he is certainly not narrow-minded.

SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS

Older people who enter the hospital under Medicare on Jan. 1 or after will be responsible for an additional $4 of their hospital bills.

"Up to now," Travis C. Briggs, social security district manager, said, "medicare has paid all but the first $40 of a Medicare beneficiary's hospital bill in each spell of illness. Effective Jan. 1, it will cover all but the first $44. The hospital bill for an average stay by Medicare beneficiaries now runs about $600.

The increase of $4 in the portion of the hospital bill for which a Medicare beneficiary is responsible results the annual costs review required by the law. This showed that hospital costs have changed enough to require the deductible be raised.

Also to be raised Jan. 1 are the amounts a beneficiary is responsible for when the hospital stay exceeds 60 days—from $10 a day to $11 a day—from the 61st through the 90th day. If he has a posthospital stay of over 20 days in an extended-care facility, he will pay $5.50 toward the costs of the 21st through the 100th day. Other costs of the hospital deductible amounts are raised proportionately.

For Medicare beneficiaries who enter a hospital before the end of this year, the deductible will be $40 rather than the $44. Also the dollar amounts they will pay toward a hospital stay of more than 60 days or for post-hospital extended care of more than 20 days will be payable at the old rate—even though the services may be provided in 1969.

Persons who have questions about these changes, or other questions about social security or Medicare, should contact the social security office located at 1006 South Adams, Amarillo. This office is open from 8:15 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. on weekdays, and is open until 6:30 p. m. on Thursdays.

McKown Family Enjoys Holiday Vacation Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn McKown and sons, Lowell and Kenneth, enjoyed a holiday vacation in New Orleans, La. They left Memphis Christmas Day and returned home Monday.

While in New Orleans they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bowman, who accompanied them on sight-seeing trips of the area. They enjoyed the many tourist attractions to be found in that area.

En route home they stopped in Houston where they visited NASA Space Center. Although the center was closed to visitors at this time, the McKown family were able to tour the center due to the fact that Kenneth had been awarded a NASA science award, which included an invitation to visit the center at any time. Kenneth said, "We enjoyed the tour very much and were given some of the first press releases made by the astronauts who had returned from the trip to the moon."

Misses Ginger and Carol Greene, who are attending college in Missouri, enjoyed spending the Christmas holidays here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Greene.

MRS. GARY LYNN GRIMES

Vail-Grimes Vows Read In Amarillo

Wedding vows for Miss Marie Lee Vail and Gary Lynn Grimes, both of Amarillo, were solemnized at 8 p. m. Friday evening, Dec. 27, in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Vail of 6108 Jameson, Amarillo.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester M. Grimes of Amarillo, former Memphis residents, and the grandson of Mrs. J. S. Grimes and the late J. S. Grimes of Memphis.

Providing organ music and the traditional wedding songs were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry D. Dillon of Tulsa, Okla.

Capturing the interest of the guests, the bride and her attendant descended the stair which was draped with a rope of Plumosis and white satin ribbon.

Vows were read beneath an archway of white candelabra banked with emerald palms and Plumosis. The couple knelt on a white satin prayer bench. The Rev. Howard G. Lyons, pastor of the Tascosa Baptist Church, officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The Bride

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white floor-length gown of imported Dupioni silk and Venice lace designed with long tapered petal-point sleeves and high victorian jewel neckline. The skirt, a controlled A-line, swept to back fullness, and the empire waistline of the dress was enhanced with bias cord and Venice lace appliques. Her double mantilla fell from a silk coif. Lace appliques traced a pattern on the tiers and seed pearls were re-embroidered on the motifs and on the scalloped edges of lace. She carried a nosegay of white roses.

Attendants

Matron of honor was Mrs. Robert R. Vail of Amarillo, sister-in-law of the bride.

Serving as best man was Totch Upshaw of Amarillo. Usher and candlelighter was Robert R. Vail, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Vail chose for her daughter's wedding a suit of raw silk in green with accessories of the same hue and a yellow orchid corsage.

Mrs. Grimes, mother of the groom, was attired in an embossed satin dress of deep champagne with matching accessories. Her corsage was also a yellow orchid.

The grandmothers of the bride and groom, Mrs. Wink Holland and Mrs. J. S. Grimes, wore corsages fashioned of pink orchids.

Reception

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the den.

The bride's table featured a centerpiece of white roses and Baby Breath and was appointed in silver. Noted on the table and the buffet were silver candelabra holding white tapers. White punch and the wedding cake were served. Members of the house party included: Misses Becky Powell, Jody Trammell, Brenda Box and Sandra Wilkins. Mrs. Grimes is a student at Tascosa High School. This past summer she studied ballet at American Dance Academy, Gulf Park Girls' School in Gulf Port, Miss.

The groom is a graduate of Tascosa High School. He attended Amarillo College and is a student at West Texas State University.

Mr. and Mrs. Grimes are at home at Lake Tanglewood.

Pre-nuptial Courtesy

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Grimes were hosts Thursday night, Dec. 26, for a rehearsal dinner in the Gold Tree Room of the Bank of the Southwest.

Dinner was served to members of the wedding party from a table featuring white long-stem roses, fern, white wedding bells and white tapers.

A small orchestra played appropriate background music.

Among out-of-town guests attending the wedding was Mrs. J. S. Grimes of Memphis.

Happy New Year!

We can think of no greater blessing to give you on this New Year's Day than that which is contained in "This Is the Year" written by Russell A. Kemp. As you read the following words will you think of them as written for you?

"Wonderful, wonderful, fortunate you,

This is the year that your dreams come true,

This is the year that your ships come in;

This is the year you find Christ within.

This is the year you are glad to live;

This is the year you have much to give.

This is the year when you know the Truth;

This is the year when you find new youth.

This is the year that brings happiness;

This is the year you will live to bless.

Wonderful, wonderful, fortunate you,

This is the year that your dreams come true!"

This is our prayer for you; this is our vision of you and your life this coming year.

Duck hunting in Texas as a favorite sport of the outdoorsmen has been in the process of evolution during the past few years.

It wasn't too long ago when the waterfowl hunter headed to a nearby lake or river or to the Gulf of Mexico for his pleasure. But times have changed.

Several factors have contributed to this change. One is an ever-expanding complex of farm ponds and stock tanks. Ten years ago water supply was dictated by available rivers and lakes. But not anymore. More and more tanks are popping up on the landscape every day, offering spots for ducks to alight and feed. True, there are fewer ducks today (you couldn't tell it by an inseason visit to Altair) but also they are spread thinner over more waters.

This decrease in duck population also has contributed to the change in duck hunting. At one time the daily limit dwindled to two. This made an elaborate trip not worthwhile. There just wasn't much incentive to get up before dawn, head for a duck blind which had required hours to construct, sit patiently in the dismal cold and wait for ducks to hit the scene. One flock could come winging in and — kaplooe — your limit was filled. All that preparation for one flurry of action?

At the same time there was a drastic reduction in the number of canvasbacks and redheads, the most predominate species on the Texas coast. A coastal trip just wasn't worth it, not when you couldn't shoot cans or redheads anyway. Emphasis was off the diver ducks, like cans and redheads, and was put on puddler ducks, species like the mallard, teal and gadwall.

Yes, duck hunting has changed. But that doesn't mean it isn't sporty anymore. There's a new kind of duck hunting available today that you can enjoy at a fraction of the cost and with little preparation . . . yet you can still kill just as many ducks.

This "plain-vanilla" duck hunting is done on stock tanks. Basically, there are two ways you can go about it. One is conventional duck hunting, with decoys. The other is stalking ducks and jumpshooting them. Both have their merits.

The former is for the hunter who enjoys seeing a flock of ducks coming in to a stool of imitations, watching them circle wearily and then finally lock their wings and drop in unsuspectingly.

Since puddler ducks, like mallards, teal and gadwalls, habitually travel and feed in small bunches, you won't need many decoys. A dozen is more than sufficient.

Just place your decoys about five yards out from shore and space them widely. A tight-knit bunch of decoys indicates to wary ducks overhead that it is an uneasy, unsettled gathering.

Ducks, when they first alight, tend to remain tightly bunched, until they've had time to look things over. Later they'll disperse to feed. Present an overall picture of serenity, one of ducks feeding. This will bring others unsuspectingly into the ambush.

Just remember to put out fresh decoys each trip. Don't make the mistake of leaving them in the water indefinitely. When ducks visit a pond in the afternoon, they will detect that their "brethren" are fakes and they'll have little appeal later.

Put the decoys out early, around daybreak, before the first contingent arrives (legal shooting time is sunrise). No call is necessary. When ducks fly over and see the decoys, they're going to come on in. That is, if you're hidden effectively and if they see nothing that makes them suspicious.

Stalk shooting can be accomplished throughout the day. A windy day is best, one when ducks have been driven off the more open waters and onto the protected tanks.

Park your vehicle far enough away so you won't alarm the ducks. Then walk quietly to the pond. Best have at least two or three hunters in the party since one fast salvo of shooting is usually all you can expect.

An earthen levee affords a spot where you can creep close without revealing your presence.

When all hunters get ready, jump up and start bombarding. Needless to say, the ducks kick off the water and speed away with amazing suddenness. Seldom will they return immediately.

There will be just enough time as they lift frantically off the water to get in two or three licks with your favorite scattergun . . . if you hurry.

This kind of duck hunting may lack the glamour of old methods. But it's just as effective. And in this day and time, the outdoorsman must learn to make do with what he's got. Try duck hunting once and you'll admit it's fun.

YOUR COUNTY AGENT SAYS

TIMING ON CATTLE GRUB CONTROL

During the remainder of December and January cattle grubs will be showing up in the backs of cattle if they are not present already. When these grubs reach the back, much of the damage they cause has been done.

About eight months are required for cattle grubs to make the journey from the leg or hock, through the muscles, connective tissue and internal organs, to the back. The time as which grubs reach the back is dependent on the time when heel flies (the adult cattle grub) were actively laying eggs during April or May.

Another one or two months pass after the grubs reach the back before they are fully grown. The grub then squeezes through its breathing hole in the animal's skin, drops to the ground, and seeks shelter under ground trash, leaves or other debris. The larval skin hardens after a few days to form a puparium, inside which the heel fly develops. The pupal stage usually requires 20 to 60 days.

Producers have long been aware of losses in production, dockage on infested animals, meat trim losses and hide damage caused by cattle grubs.

With the use of systemic insecticides, grub control can be administered to beef cattle and non-lactating dairy cattle as sprays, dips, feed additives and back-line pour-ons. Best results are obtained by treating cattle as soon as possible after heel fly egg-laying activity has ceased. This is usually in late May or early June. Cattle should not be treated after September 1 because the possibility of side effects.

Rotenone is the only recommended insecticide for control of cattle grubs in lactating dairy cattle. Treatments should be started when grubs make a hole through the skin and repeated at 30-day intervals as long as necessary.

For further information concerning cattle grubs and chemicals for their control, contact your County Extension Agent.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Moore and daughter of Corpus Christi spent the Christmas holidays here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Red Moore. Also visiting with the Jones was their son, Robert Gardner, who is attending medical school in Dallas.

THANKS To Everyone For Your Patronage

I have sold my business to Don Ferrel, who took over Wednesday, Jan. 1st. In the transaction, I sold everything: stock, equipment, building, etc., and am retiring from the feed, seed, fertilizer and grain business.

As I pass this business on, I take this opportunity of expressing my sincere appreciation to all of you who have patronized me since I located here Jan. 1, 1944. You have been good to me, for which I am thankful.

It is my hope that you will continue to do business with Don Ferrel, who has changed the name of the firm to Hall County Farm Supply. He is a native of Hall County, and is familiar with the needs of farmers and ranchers of this area.

Thanks, again. It has been my pleasure to have served you.

FOOD For Thought

—By DON DAVIS

Do you know the derivation of the term "aspic"? It comes from the French "Spike Jelly." It means jelly flavored with "spike" or lavender.

Aspic is a clear, savory jelly. It is made from meat. It enhances the flavor and appearance of entrees, tongue, salads and the like.

The avocado or alligator pear is a native of Mexico and Central America. Today it is widely grown in Florida and other Southern States. The word "avocado" comes from the Aztec term "ahuacatl," meaning fruit.

Marmalade was created by the Portuguese. Originally it was made from quinces and called "marmelo." King Henry VII took it to us with gusto.

"Blanching" means to whiten. It comes from the French verb "blancher."

Celery was practically overlooked by the epicures of ancient times.

Sgt. Galvan Gets Wish And Goes To South Vietnam

Most people would back away from a chance to go to South Vietnam, but the desire for action is taking Marine Gunnery Sgt. George Galvan back for a second tour of duty.

Sgt. Galvan is the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Doland Salmon of the Lesley community, and is married to their daughter, Gaye.

The Marine has been in charge of the Recruiting Station in San Luis Obispo, Calif., for the past two years. For the past year he has been trying to obtain reassignment to Vietnam, where he spent 1965-66 in the Chau Lai and Phu Bai areas.

He gained his objective two weeks ago when he was ordered to report to Camp Pendleton on Dec. 20 for another flight across the Pacific to South Vietnam.

Sgt. Galvan began his military career with the Navy in 1948, when he enlisted for three years and was held over an additional year because of the Korean conflict. He was discharged from the Navy in 1952. After five months, he re-enlisted, but in the Marines. He has seen duty in Okinawa, Japan and the Philippines; and spent a period as drill instructor in San Diego.

Sgt. Galvan left a new daughter, Gail, two months old, and his wife, Gaye, when he left San Luis Obispo.

pass and the patrol car.

At the same time he turned off the time watch, he also turned on a distance switch. When the patrolman reached the overpass, he turned off the distance switch. The Vascar unit is connected to the patrol car's speedometer. This puts into the machine the exact distance on which the patrolman had timed the motorist.

The electronic unit computes the speed of a motorist through a linkage between the time and distance measurements inside the Vascar.

Patrolmen are able, by varying the sequence in manipulation of the switches, to determine the average speed of a motorist no matter which direction the patrol car and the target vehicle are traveling.

That distance can be checked between numerous objects, such as overpasses, underpasses, inter-

Twenty Memphis Telephone Operators Put In Hard Days Work On Christmas

This year 20 Memphis long distance operators worked on Christmas Day so that the seasonal calls from Clarendon, Dodson, Estel-line, Flomot, Hedley, Lakeview, Memphis, Quitaque, Turkey and Wellington were taken care of with the greatest speed and convenience to the caller.

"On Christmas morning, after the last crushed bow is picked up, the children are shushed momentarily, and you have dialed 'O', the feminine voice answered 'Operator' belonged to a real live human being who spent her holiday at your disposal putting in the hardest day's work of the year," Sherron T. Lee, division Manager of General Telephone Company of the Southwest, explained.

We hope you keep the fact in mind that your call to wish Aunt Minnie a "Merry Christmas" was delayed a while because nearly everyone else in the country was making holiday calls also, there just aren't enough facilities in existence to handle all calls, Lee explained.

Delays are caused by the fact that the equipment is being used to capacity, and then some. It wouldn't be possible for telephone companies to maintain enough circuits and switch equipment to handle the business promptly because it would mean idle facilities the of the year.

Heading the traffic operation is Mrs. Billie Waites. Mrs. Waites stated that last year on Christmas Day her department handled 828 long distance calls and in 1966. She estimated the operators should handle 2,300 this year.

Jerry Beasley, student at Tech, Lubbock, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Beasley, the Christmas holidays.
