EDITORIAL

On Disorder On Campus, ROTC Disfavor, And Anarchy!

We have been reading a steady stream of developments concerning college radicals and the trouble they are creating by seizing college buildings and staging widespread assaults on ROTC facilities and other buildings which represent one type of official authority or the other.

Our newspapers and news magazines are full of reports of these so called revolts and what steps college administrators are taking to curb these activities.

It hasn't been too long ago, only one decade, since this editor was involved in trying to meet standards of graduation in a land-grant college in this nation and at the same time qualify for a ROTC commission in the U. S. Army. It seems that things have certainly been changing since my experiences 10 years ago.

We had students expelled from college for being caught gambling in the dorm, slipping off with co-eds on week long trips to Mexico, selling alcoholic beverages on campus, being caught at cheating on examinations, getting into fights with visiting students from other (rival) schools, and about every other infraction of administration policy you can imagine.

A panty raid was broken up efficiently when a college dean of men made the statement, "any student identifiable in the pictures to be taken within the next few minutes will be expelled from this campus permanently." The raid broke up promptly because there wasn't a student present who doubted what the dean of men said.

It seems that part of that discipline is still present on some campuses over this nation. The attack on the ROTC program has caused little official concern. Officer programs are so popular they are graduating record numbers—and are sought by several hundred more colleges.

We overheard a statement recently which went, "can you imagine how far one of those militant groups would get crying 'down with ROTC' on the campus of Texas A&M?" Knowing Texas Aggies as we do, we would not even try to picture the outcome.

This year, the Army expects to graduate a record-breaking 16,606 new officers with ROTC commissions. By comparison West Point will turn out only 750 second lieutenants. It is the same story with the other services. The Air Force this year will gain 5,000 new lieutenants from the Air ROTC program while graduating 750 officers from the Air Force Academy. Even the Navy, with its smaller NROTC program, expects to turn out 1,700 officers from NROTC programs, compared with 1,150 from the Naval Academy.

The ROTC program is 50 years old and of 343 colleges offering ROTC today, fewer than 10 fail to provide some academic credit for its courses.

It appears to us that no established institution with authority will escape the movement of open hostility to law and order. Even with the constitutional right of freedom of worship in this country, militants have broken up church services with their demands for recognition and reparations.

The reason we are so concerned about this whole mess is that it appears there is a young movement afoot which would deny the entire concept of human rights, with the sole aim of disruption.

News Media are calling the movement the "New Left". Organizations include: Students for a Democratic Society, Students Afro-American Society, Black Panther Party for Self-Defense, National Black Economic Development Conference, Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, Revolutionary Action Movement, called RAM, Youth International Party (YIP), Progressive Labor Party, Young Socialist Alliance, W. E. B. Du Bois Clubs and many others.

In general, many of those named above are communist inspired and financed organizations with the goal expressed by Mary Alice Waters, national chairman of Young Socialist Alliance, "We want to enlist more students in the struggle to build the Socialist movement in the United States and bring down capitalism and imperialism."

Court Justice, believes firmly in the Constitution, and believes that whatever problems come up can be worked out through the Constitution. He said it is possible to find new ways of moving nonviolently within the Constitution, bearing in mind that there are many of us in this country who are not going to let it go down the drain. We are not going to continue to stand for anarchy, and that's a simple fact.

ACROSS THE DESK

What Other Editors Say

'From Candidate - To President'

The difference between being a candidate and being president perhaps never will be better illustrated than by the difference between Mr. Nixon's statements last August when he was decrying the Pueblo incident that cost one American life and his own action last week following the shooting down by the North Koreans of one of our snooper planes and the resultant loss of 31 American lives.

As a candidate, Mr. Nixon was sure no "fourth rate military power" should humiliate us. As president, Mr. Nixon "played it cool" when an incident came along.

This is not to say that he didn't do proper in each instance. There probably always will be a difference between what a candidate says should be done and what a president can wisely do. And a president must always act wisely.

Of course, as citizens on the sidelines, a lot of us are not familiar with the options open to a president to take in a grave international incident. We are even more unaware of what options of retaliation the prospective enemy has to each of our options.

Some may say we have the option to quit snooping and thereby quit getting our noses bloodied by "fourth rate military powers". But in this distrustful world we'd better keep informed, incidents or no incidents.

Mr. Nixon's hurry-up solution to stop shooting down of unarmed planes sounds good for public consumption. The armed forces will provide fighter protection.

But such an order will bring tears of chagrin to those who must handle and use wisely the costly resources of men and machines at their disposal. To put one plane in the air for one hour in those distant areas calls for the expenditure of thousands of dollars and thousands of man hours. It produces wear and loss of both planes and pilots.

Protecting patrol planes around the clock could be like having an army infantry squad and a tank accompany the village cop as he walked his beat. It'd protect the cop, but wouldn't be a very wise use of the squad and tank — especially since they are needed elsewhere.

Another solution that may already exist and be in operation would be the use snooper submarines equipped to do all the required radar work, plus having the ability to jam incoming radar and as a last resort, submerge to escape harassment.

Of course, if the snooped-upon country was friendly to Russia, we might find our snoopersub being dogged by a Soviet sub.

That's the trouble — there's always an option — for the other fellow, too.

— Johnson County Capital-Democrat

(Tishomingo, Okla.)

This guy can kill you!

This Guy may maim or kill you!

Or he may do the same to members of your family or good neighbors.

How can you recognize him?

He's out there on the road every time you are. He's faceless — hard to recognize — because his automobile is an almost perfect disguise.

But there are certain things that give him away.

He drives in spurts — agonizingly slow for no reason, then unreasonably fast for no reason. He weaves through traffic — and he changes lanes even if there isn't traffic.

He passes cars when it isn't safe — because his depth perception is impaired.

He overbrakes, he underbrakes, and he brakes too late — because his reactions are slowed by at least 15 percent.

He misses traffic signs and signals.

He drives with the windows open in cold weather — and may even stick his head out into the cold to wake up.

He is the biggest killer on the road.

Last year, 55,500 Americans died in automobile crashes, and at least half of the deaths involved drinking. A study reported to the Congress by the U. S. Dept. of Transportation shows that one of every 50 drivers on the road is drunk. Not drinking. DRUNK!

The situation is almost out of control, but you can do something about it. You can agree that the drunk driver's license should be revoked. You can tell your governor and legislators you support the strong state drunk - driving laws outlined by the National Highway Safety Act. You can support your judges, prosecutors, and police when they enforce drunk driving laws fairly.

The life you save by your opposition to drunk drivers may not only be your own, but his, too, also that of your friends, neighbors or folks you've never known.

B.B. Shots

By BYRON BALDWIN

Thought I was going to be out of ammunition this week, but not so. Don Cockrell and his directors of the First State Bank gave us extra incentive to go forward and have a Heritage Hall of which we will all be proud. Three more donors on the building fund came in the past few days, Roy Alvin Massey of Dallas, James Richburg of Lakeview and Mrs. E. E. Rice of Memphis. Notice in the narrations of Washington, D. C. that it took about a century to finish the Washington monument. We hope to beat that record.

Had a special showing of Heritage Hall last Thursday to Lakeview third and fourth grade pupils. I think they enjoyed it even though all cases are not full yet. The room mothers, along with their teacher Mrs. Jones, had about 25 kids and they were a well-behaved group. We had a good time with them; Mrs. Sheron Lee playing the organ and the children singing. Assisting as hostess were Miss Maud Milam, Mrs. C. C. Hodges, Mildred Stephens and Grace Cochran of Oklahoma City. This was the first group showing since starting a permanent place. Another outstanding item in Heritage Hall is the lard and crackling press furnished by Mrs. Creed. Thanks to her.

I was checking with Myrtle Howard a few days ago on a family that use to live here and were newspaper people. The Dalton family. Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Dalton, father and mother not living now, also Paul, the older son is gone. Kate Dalton Williams now lives in Midland . . . she was a snappy dresser. Tommy is now in California; John is now in Dumas and married to Nell McMurry. Margaret Dalton is married to Buddy Guest and they are living in Grapevine, where Buddy is operating a store. It is good to hear from former families of the old home town.

Quite a number of people came back to their home town for mother's day. Just a few I came in contact with were Marjorit Stone Howard and boys of Lubbock, Estelle Guthrie of Lubbock, Candler and Ruth Hawkins of Houston, Carlene Harrison Alderman of Midland, Maurine Thompson Montgomery of Richardson, also Mrs. Claude Benton (Margaret Harrison) of Dallas. Also I had the pleasure of a short visit with my daughter - in - law, Jo. With her was Pinky Vineyard and wife of Dallas and Mrs. Johnny Winters of Austin en route to Amarillo to spend the weekend. A lot more of them were here that you will find in the locals this week. I noticed one real proud grandmother out at the hospital, Mrs. Guy Smith, with a big smile. A new granddaughter for Mother's Day . . . 8 pounds, 6 ounces.

It has been said years ago that the "Hands that rock the cradle ruled the world". After looking at TV shows of riots, strikes, and dissatisfaction among young people today, we can't keep from wondering if the mothers have stopped rocking the cradle for other things in life.

Mothers draw the least amount of pay for what they do. Their day is never done in keeping the home with all its chores and heartaches. They must keep the home fire burning. We are so grateful for the mothers who have kept the home fires burning with love and right principals to live by. The largest pay they get is the returned love of their children and sometimes it is too late after she has gone that we realize what a mother's love really is. But with fine principals taught by her they will live on in years to come through her offspring.

Several people were talking about taking their kids to the big circus this weekend. You almost have to be five people to see everything as there is so much going on at one time. I remember my first tent show was Molly Bailey's and one of the outstanding performances was Si Perkins riding the wagon wheel around the ring pulled by horses.

Just overhead Allyn Harrison's mother, Ruth, say that Allyn had written home for some okra seed. He and Helen are living in a high rise apartment in Minneapolis and I am guessing that he will have something different in a window planter box or else he remembered Mr. Funk and Soapy Tribble raising okra on concrete sidewalk a few years ago in front of their places of business.

Noticed Mrs. Gene Hamill and Mrs. Temple Deaver, Jr., gathering up boxes and packing, getting ready to move when school is out. Hate to see them leave. The Hamills are going to Lubbock and the Deavers to Dennison. I am wishing them the best things of life as they move to their new homes.

Our industrial committee has been meeting a lot here of late and I have not asked many questions, but they may have something good for us. Best wishes to them for their untiring effort in looking for something to help our town to be a better place in which to live. This is a responsible, free job for them.

Robbie, the two headed calf in Heritage Hall, keeps having a little company in. Henry Hays added a horse collar and brass trimmed hames. Elmont Branigan a display of old watches; Soapy Tribble brought in an ox yoke with a history as well as some more guns. He had a real collection. Seeing the old ox yoke made me think of the first time I heard any cursing when I was very young in East Texas. The loggers would come out of the woods with cren pulling the log wagon and would get stuck in the sand, and then they would open up their whole vocabulary on them. We have room for more displays if you will bring them in.

Another interesting article was recently donated to the museum by Mrs. Brice Webster. It is the boy dress worn by the first boy born in Hall County. The dress was made from the mother's apron.

Mrs. Carl Wood painted the signs on four sides of the clock . . . grateful to her for this good work. She is another "old faithful" to help you out when you need her. We do not have an old fashioned black cast iron wash pot, and do not have the old round top trunk, and we can still use some more mounted deer heads. Each day I appreciate more that George Bernard Shaw said: "Youth is such a wonderful thing. What a shame to waste it on children."

County Farmers Urged To Answer May Questionnaire

The Hall County Technical Action Panel encourages all Hall County farmers to complete the questionnaire they will receive during the last half of May. They will be part of the 40,000 Texas farmers receiving the questionnaire from Cary Palmer, State statistician of the Texas Crop and Livestock reporting service, Austin.

The information will be the basis for the official estimates of crop acreage for the State of Texas and for each county. There are 254 counties in Texas and reports are needed from many farmers so that each county will be well represented. Accurate estimates are of great importance to farmers in planning production and marketing and in providing an unbiased picture of Texas agriculture.

The Texas Legislature has provided a program of estimates for each county. Texas covers such a wide area that the state totals alone do not provide adequate information on Texas most basic industry — agriculture. This is a cooperative effort of the USDA's statistical reporting service and the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Maud Milam, And Sister Enjoy Historical Tour

Mrs. Felix Cochran (the former Grace Milam) returned Monday to her home in Oklahoma City after a visit with her sister, Miss Maud Milam, and Mrs. Clyde Milam.

While here, Mrs. Cochran and Miss Milam attended the historical pilgrimage at Jefferson. They visited the Excelsior House which has been restored to its former splendor. Jay Gould's private railroad car, the Atlanta, is just across the street from the Excelsior House.

The Jefferson Museum is stored in a former government building which was completed in 1889. It was bought by the Jefferson Historical Society in 1965. The collection of antiques is outstanding, Miss Milam said. Another interesting experience for Miss Milam and Mrs. Cochran was a tour of the colonial style homes in a "Surry with the fringe on the top".

Countians Receive $88,000 In Monthly Benefits From SS

"$88,000 in monthly social security benefits was being paid to residents of Hall County at the end of December, 1968," Travis C. Briggs, district manager of social security, said today.

"Throughout the country, monthly benefits payable at the end of 1968 amounted to nearly $2.1 billion. Approximately three-quarters of the increased monthly amount resulted from higher benefit rates authorized by the 1967 amendments to the Social Security Act. The remainder of the increase was due to the greater number of beneficiaries."

Although retired workers comprise the largest group of beneficiaries, almost one-fourth of all people receiving benefits are under age 60. Almost four million children and a half million widowed mothers receive monthly benefits.

In Hall County, 215 people under age 60 are receiving benefits. 1013 60 or over receive monthly social security payments.

Uncle Charlie is very concerned about world problems...

We're very concerned about Uncle Charlie!

You see, being concerned is about as far as Uncle Charlie ever goes. He worries about this...he gripes about that...but actually getting out and doing something to solve some of those problems...well...that never occurs to him. So, the problems remain...some get worse...new ones arise...and good old Uncle Charlie always has plenty to voice concern about.

At Lone Star Gas, we believe in concern plus action. And we put that belief to work in the communities we serve, and for our more than one million customers. There are over 6000 of us at Lone Star Gas, and we like to think there isn't an "Uncle Charlie" among us!

YOUR COUNTY AGENT SAYS

Weeds in Pastures Rob Livestock of Good Grazing

"Uncontrolled pasture weeds use from 4 to 11 times more water for growth than do grasses and also compete for nutrients, light and space. They rob livestock of good grazing since weedy pastures produce little forage," says County Agent W. B. Hooser. "Properly timed mowing is an effective control measure for most broadleaved weeds, but spraying is cheaper, faster and more effective," adds Hooser.

The basic pasture herbicide is 2,4-D. Usually one application, using one pound of 2,4-D amine salt per acre in 15-25 gallons of water will give good weed control throughout the growing season. The cost will average about $2 per acre. A pressure of not more than 30 pounds should be used on a spraying system rigged with coarse droplet nozzles.

Weeds should be sprayed in early spring when they are four to six inches tall and good growth and moisture conditions prevail. Best weather conditions include a range in temperature from 55 to 85 degrees and wind velocity of five miles per hour or less, says the county agent.

Estelline 8th Grade To Graduate Thurs., May 22

The Estelline 8th Grade will hold its graduation exercises Thursday evening, May 22, at 7 p. m. in the high school auditorium. Supt. David L. Hays has announced.

The public is cordially invited to attend the program.

Honor students of the class are Lisa Abram and Donald May. Lisa completed the 8th grade with a 96.0 average while Donald has an average of 94.33.

Where nearby crops may be injured by herbicide drift, applications should be made before crops start growth.

The county agent reminds the chemical weed control is not a "cure-all". Prevention is by the best means of control, and this can be accomplished by good seedbed preparation, use of adapted plants, adequate fertilization and proper grazing or forage. Hooser adds, "A few dollars invested in a weed control program now can mean more grain grazing or hay later in the year."

Senator YARBOROUGH'S REPORT

This week let us talk about the federal tax system. This month President Nixon announced his proposals for reforms of our present income tax laws. I said at that time that I thought it was a step in the right direction but I thought his proposals should go further. The cost glaring omission in the tax message of the President is any reference to changing the present personal exemption of $600 per year per person.

On March 27, I introduced into the Congress a bill that would raise the personal income tax exemption from the present $600 per person per year to $1200 per person per year. And I believe that increasing the personal exemption per person should have first priority in any tax reform package.

The personal exemption has not been raised in 21 years. The present exemption of $600 was set in 1948. It was supposed to represent the basic cost of living for one month for one person which was calculated as $50 a month or $600 a year. In the past 21 years the cost of living has gone up over 48 percent. But the personal exemption has not been raised one cent in that 21 years. Everybody knows that $50 a month or $600 a year is not enough for basic food and clothing.

If the personal exemption were to be changed to reflect just this 48 percent increase in the cost of living it would have to be an $889 a year exemption in place of the present $600. But to fit today's standard of living, and to take into full account the increase in cost across the board, the personal exemption should be raised to $1200 a year or allow $100 a month for basic living expenses. This would be particularly helpful to young families who are trying to meet the 1969 living cost and expenses with a 1948 personal exemption, outmoded decades ago.

Increasing the personal exemption is just one of the reforms we must have in our tax laws. The lower and middle income families are carrying too heavy a tax burden. The income tax families living on their salaries, their wages, their fees, their commissions, are paying the burden of cost of this government. The income over $1,000,000 a year are largely escaping their share of the tax burden. President Nixon called for repeal of the 7 percent investment tax credit. The repeal of this special tax privilege is long overdue. It gave a bonus to a favored few of the big businesses while the average tax payer was being hit in the pocketbook, right in the breadbasket with a 10 percent surcharge on his taxes. I think the 10 percent surcharge should be lowered this year and not next year as the President advocates.

The President's tax proposals are a start on the tax reform so long overdue in this country. An increase in the personal exemption to $1200 a year along with some of the reform measures now being offered by my colleagues in the Congress and some of those in the President's message would help. These other reforms should be added to the President's proposal to bring about real tax relief now.

Tax Man Sam Sez—

Within a few weeks thousands of young Texans will trade their classroom chores for a three month turn in the world of work. Perhaps in our society the students are earning money for those extras or for money to buy that car. Contrary to the practice followed by quite a few employers, students or any employees who work for a short period are subject to the same withholding, social security and other employment taxes for both the employee and the employer, that apply to regular employees. Even if you are only going to work a short time, you must take your employer your social security number and fill out a Form W-4. Don't forget to get your W-2 on the job at the end of the summer, or by January 31. Taxes withheld during the summer spend quite well during the spring term of school. However there is one little chore — you must file a tax return for the government to know that you are due a refund of part or all of your tax withheld during the summer.

FHA Makes Over $6,000 Rural Housing Loans

About 56,000 rural families in the United States were benefited by the Rural Housing program administered by the Farmers Home Administration according to James E. Chappell, County Supervisor.

Funds may be advanced to improve, or repair existing buildings and related facilities, to buy an existing house and Farmers may borrow to build house for their own use or for laborers or tenants.

Farmers Home Administration are made to families who for various reasons are unable to obtain credit from private sources. Under the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 low income families who do not have adequate income to meet payments at the usual rate of interest may qualify for interest credit. The amount of interest these families would pay depends on the family income, and the size of the family; however, it would never be less than 1 percent.

"The rural housing program creates the type of rural community that encourages people to live in rural areas. It is instrumental in helping to check the flow of rural residents to urban areas. Rural housing loans stimulate the economy of rural communities thru the sale of building materials, home furnishings and increase employment opportunities," County Supervisor said.

Interested individuals should contact James E. Chappell, Co. Supervisor, of Hall County, office located 517a Main St., Memphis, for further information.

Farm Ownership Loans At FHA Are Available

Farm ownership loans are available to local farmers through the Farmers Home Administration according to James E. Chappell, County Supervisor who serves Hall County from his office at Memphis.

Chappell stated that farm ownership loans are made to applicants for various purposes. Some loans enable tenant - operators to become owner - operators and others enable present owners to enlarge, improve or refinance their farms. Loans to purchase farms, in most cases, include funds to fully develop the farm.

In recent years one of the most prominent uses of loan funds has been to purchase and improve farms for young tenant farmers who are trying to establish themselves more soundly in the farming industry. With loan terms at 5 percent interest and up to 40 years, the young farmers will more likely be able to pay the land debt, meet operating expenses and realize a profit.

District 1 of the Farmers Home Administration which is made up of 25 Texas Panhandle Counties was servicing about 300 Farm Ownership loans as of December 31, 1968.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Combs and Bret, Miss Stacy Watts and Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Combs attended the circus in Amarillo Monday night.

YOUR COUNTY AGENT SAYS

LOCAL COUNTY AGENT OFFERS RECOMMENDATIONS FOR CONTROL OF INSECTS ON PEACHES

Setting a good crop of peaches is only part of producing a nice peach crop. There are several insects which may feed on the peaches between now and the time you harvest them.

The catfacing insects (stink and lygus bugs) feed on the fruit, causing peaches to become folded and distorted or water-soaked and dimpled. Strings of gum may exude from the feeding punctures.

The plum curculio also damages peaches. These insects feed on peaches, lay their eggs in peaches, and the young larvae also develop in peaches. There are several generations of the plum curculio each year and the larvae of this insect may be found in the fruit at harvest time.

Control of catfacing insects in the some orchard with only a few peach trees can be obtained by applying three tablespoons of methoxychlor 50 percent wettable powder with three gallons of water, or three tablespoons of malathion 25 percent wettable powder and nine tablespoons of wettable fulfur with three gallons of water. Where the plum curculio is a problem, use three tablespoons of DDT or one tablespoon of dieldrin with malathion and wettable sulfur in three gallons of water.

Effective control can be obtained from now until harvest by applying insecticides: (1) at the shuck split stage, (2) again at 10 to 14 days after shuck split, and (3) 14 to 21 days later. Should damaging infestations of insects occur after the third application, carbaryl (Sevin) can be used to control insects such as the 12-spotted cucumber beetle and grasshoppers which may be feeding on the fruit.

Listed below are the number of days that should elapse from the last application of specific insecticides before harvest:

Insecticide	Days
DDT	30
Dieldrin	45
Methoxychlor	21
Malathion	7
Sulphur	0

For further information concerning control of peach insects, the Texas Guide for Controlling Insects and Diseases on Fruit and Nuts can be obtained at your county Extension Agent's office.

Ronald Bradshaw, James Lange To Go To Nuclear Science Symposium Soon

Ronald Bradshaw of 819 Dover and a student at Memphis High School, has been selected to attend the Ninth Texas Nuclear Science Symposium for High Schools at the University of Texas at Austin, June 3-6.

He will be accompanied to the symposium by James Louis Lange, science teacher at the high school.

They will be sponsored by West Texas Utilities, a member of the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation which is joining with the university in putting on the symposium. The foundation is made up of ten investor-owned power companies in Texas.

Some 500 outstanding science students and their teachers, selected by their schools, will attend the four-day meeting. They will have the opportunity to hear scientists from the fields of both industry and education discuss nuclear physics and related topics, according to Roff W. Hardy, company president.

The participants will spend two afternoons touring the science laboratories at the university, including those where experiments are being carried on in thermonuclear (fusion) research by the university for the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation.

"This is an excellent opportunity for students interested in careers in science to hear about and to see the latest achievements in nuclear science," President Hardy said. "We are pleased that we can make this opportunity available to them."

James T. Ramey, a member of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission from Washington, D. C., will speak at a banquet during the symposium. Dr. Norman Hackerman, president of the university and a professor of chemistry, also will address the gathering.

Other noted speakers include Dr. Peter Fortescue, chief research and development engineer for Gulf General Atomic Inc. of San Diego, Calif.; Dr. Louis Rosen, division leader in medium-energy physics at Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory, Los Alamos, N. M.; Dr. J. R. Maxfield, Jr., Maxfield Clinic and Radiological Center of Dallas; and Dr. Richard E. Wainerd, head of the activation analysis research laboratory at Texas A&M.

Also on the program from the University of Texas at Austin are Dr. A. E. Robson, research scientist in the plasma physics research center; Dr. Harold P. Hanson, chairman of the physics department; and Dr. W. T. Guy, Jr., professor of mathematics. Dr. B. H. Amstead, assistant dean of engineering, is chairman for the symposium.

"West Texas Utilities Company and the other nine electric companies in the foundation are vitally interested in the thermonuclear research program at the university," Mr. Hardy said. "A tremendous amount of energy is released in the nuclear fusion reaction. Experiments at the university are aimed at harnessing this energy for such purposes as the generation of electricity.

"Our association with the university in this program also has provided a field of research for a number of university students and the opportunity to have these annual high school science symposiums."

What were some of the training rules for the ancient Olympic athletes?

Some 2500 years ago, the training of the Olympic athletes was very strict. All competitors had to swear that they had undergone a ten-month period of training. And this was before they ever appeared at the Olympic training field!

Prior to the Olympics, contestants went through a thirty-day period of training. They were fed and exercised according to rigid rules.

At one time the training table diet for Olympic athletes was fresh cheese at all meals. Unfortunately, they could have nothing else except water!

A great gymnasium was equipped with hot and cold baths for these ancient athletes. There were also drying rooms, dressing rooms, and rooms for resting after training.

Livestock Producers Asked To Help Eradicate Screwworms In Hall County

Livestock producers in Hall County and throughout Texas are making plans to wage a more effective preventive action campaign against screwworms.

Guy Smith, chairman of the Screwworm Eradication Committee for Hall County, is asking all livestock producers to cooperate in this eradication program.

The county committee calls producers' attention to the fact that preventive action is needed by all livestock owners and wildlife enthusiasts in order to avert a major outbreak of screwworms this year. These "screwworm vigilantes" emphasize that in 1968, a total of 9,268 Texas screwworm cases were confirmed and Arizona and California and New Mexico had outbreaks of major concern. Mexico also recorded many outbreaks last year and through the winter. The present season is expected to be even worse.

Preventive action — such as inspecting all livestock regularly, treating all wounds and spraying herds — is needed by producers if a serious screwworm epidemic is to be avoided this year.

inuse to approve Watershed Work Plans."

"Our plan is still in Washington," Montgomery said, "We are hopeful that it will be approved during this session of Congress. We have been in touch with Congressman Bob Price and he is working with us to expediate the approval."

He said of some concern to us is the Administrator's budget recommendation to allow only 50 new watershed projects to begin construction in the entire nation during the 1970 fiscal year. They are also recommending to Congress a cut of over $17 million in the watershed program.

"We have written Congressman Price, and Senators John Tower and Ralph Yarborough protesting this cut," Montgomery said. He recommends that other interested people do the same.

The president said although local farmers have made good progress in giving necessary estimates we are a good way of having all easements made. To date, there have been easements signed in the Lakeview Watershed.

There are still approximately 68 land owners who have not been contacted. Some of the easements have been prepared. Persons needing to sign easements are urged to go to the County Judge's office and to Judge E. (Gip) McMurry's office is located on the second floor of the County Courthouse, in the east wing.
