EDITORIAL

The Truth and Justice of Farm Subsidies!

Within the past few months "liberal" and "conservative" and "moderate" editors in smaller towns throughout this area, and perhaps throughout the rural areas of this nation which have primarily an agricultural economy, have been pleading for Congress to recognize the plight of the American farmer when enacting new legislation, and the merits of the farm subsidy program.

City dwellers, both merchant and laborer, have no conscience when it comes to putting a price tag on their contributions to the economy. Taxes are raised or the cost of living index goes up, so labor demands and gets a salary increase. Manufacturers then raise their price to the suppliers. Suppliers then raise their cost to retail outlets and the retailers raise their price to their customers.

If the customer is a laborer who received a raise recently, then all is fine, but if the customer is a farmer whose income per bale, bushel, or what have you, is still below 1948 prices, then it is something else entirely.

Unlike the city dwellers, that farmer can not say, "due to rising costs I must have more for my grain or livestock, or cotton or vegetables, or what have you." Or through some kind of special unionization the farmers could make the price of products negotiable, just as is done in the case of labor. Or through a government program, parity could be attained by setting the price of agricultural products where it should be, then sending the bill to the consumer.

Now either of these so-called plans would get the farmer out of his dilemma and one plan is just as fair as the other whether you pay higher prices at the market place or you pay taxes.

The American farmer has been able to survive this long due to the fact that we have such progressive, modern farmers who rely on efficiency, high production and better quality in order to stay in business.

Some editors, such as Melvin Young of the Hereford Brand feels that Congress today, more interested in urban problems than rural problems, will not come up with an equitable farm program. He said, "Agriculture has never been more competitive than it is now. On top of this, we can no longer count on an equitable farm program to help carry us through, therefore most farmers have diversified their interests and many are now shareholders in cattle feeding operations."

But what can Rural Editors do crying the voice of justice of farm subsidies when urban dailies keep crying injustice. Parade Magazine, a daily newspaper supplement, in its Parade's Special column edited by Lloyd Shearer leads urbanites along with these thoughts: "Sen. James Eastland, Democrat from Sunflower County, Miss., received $116,978 in federal farm payments last year. But the chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee was a piker compared to the really big farm operators in this country who receive millions from the government for crop subsidies and not planting their land." He goes on to say that J. G. Boswell of Kings County, Calif., received $3 million, the largest single payment. Then Shearer says, "Texas doesn't have as many land operators as California, but is leads in the number of recipients, each getting more than $25,000. In 1968 it had 1,826 operators who were paid a grand total of $74,190,026."

What Shearer doesn't say is that the average payment is somewhere near $40,000 a year of Texas' biggest farmers and that Texas is the richest agriculture state in the nation; so, therefore, would naturally receive the largest farm subsidies. But Shearer ends his otherwise factual report with a nonfactual conclusion. "The way to make a fortune in American agriculture is to buy a tremendous farm and let it remain idle." Apparently the Parade's Special Editor has no idea how much of an investment would be necessary to "make a fortune" by letting agriculture land lie idle under current farm subsidies.

What happens when the farmer does not receive a fair price for his commodities? The same thing happens if he takes his business elsewhere for patronizing "low price" merchants in big cities. The local economy does not share in added profits, tractors and automobiles are not purchased, clothing is worn a little longer and purchases of all necessities are cut back. Businesses close down and taxes are cut off. And the local economy suffers.

There is one statement all editors in rural America make, regardless of political philosophies, "How long is it going to take the public to accept the fact that the farmer can no longer accept whatever is offered him for his produce... and survive?"

Concerning Tranquilizers

A medical doctor whose practice is said to include a sixth of the world's population spoke at a Knife & Fork club meeting which we attended. Dr. Amolak Ram Mehta is head of the public health service in India.

In tracing the development of medicine and treatment of the ill, the doctor told of the blessing of anesthesia. He told of the era when doctors chopped off an arm or leg when amputation became necessary.

Since the patient was fully conscious, chopping was faster and less painful than using a knife and saw. He described the atmosphere of the operating room during surgery when there was no anesthesia. Strong men and straps were used to hold the screaming patient while doctors cut his flesh.

When anesthesia was first used, the thing that most impressed observers of operations was the quietness of the operating room. The doctor, however, is quite disturbed over the too frequent use of modern tranquilizers. He admits their value under certain conditions, but he shudders when he learns that tranquilizer prescriptions by the millions are written by medical doctors each year. This does not include other millions of tranquilizer pills which we secured without prescriptions. Too much suffering can be an evil, just as can be too little suffering!

While man should not have to suffer unnecessarily, still too many tranquilizers can have a harmful effect on the vital organs of the body if taken indiscriminately. The real danger, he says, comes from making humans insensitive to the problems of life.

The doctor asked a New York doctor why American doctors prescribe so many tranquilizers. He was told that prescribing a tranquilizer pill is easier than listening to stories of the mixed up lives of people and finding solutions to their myriad and complex problems.

Dr. Ram Mehta sees virtue in problems. It is because of problems that we think, that we perhaps grow spiritually and socially, that we advance, that we are protected from something much worse than our momentary problem.

through the indiscriminate use of tranquilizers is consistently protected from psychological factors, who is rendered insensitive to worry and concern, might have no incentive to solve the inevitable problems of life. He would learn to live only for the present.

One difference between the human and the animal is the human's ability to think, to live not just for the present. Render insensitive this ability—and man, in behavior, is little different from the animal.

YOUR COUNTY AGENT SAYS

Weed Control In Hay Crops

To control weeds, producers need to give their hay crops a head start, County Agent W. B. Hooser says.

Weeds reduce hay yields by competing for moisture, plant nutrients, light, air and space. Weeds also usually lower hay quality and some are poisonous. Other weeds such as bullnettle and sandburs, prevent grazing by livestock.

Hay crops should be properly fertilized throughout the growing season because many times the wanted plants can suppress weed growth. Most fast growing hay plants will make more efficient use of plant nutrients than weeds.

Hooser noted that although several other chemicals have been registered for use in hay pastures, 2, 4-D still is the most used herbicide in Texas. This chemical will give effective control of most broadleaved weeds and can be used without risking damage to susceptible crops. The butyric forms (2,4-DB) may be used for control of broadleaved weeds n for boys, prison and parole rehabilitation, alcoholic treatment centers and other social services.

alfalfa and some other legumes. Other conditions permitting, chemicals should generally be used when the unwanted plants are small and growing rapidly.

When weeds are thick, the hay should be cut if practical before weeds and weedy grasses are past the bloom stage. It also should be cut before sandburs form seedheads, since the presence of a few sandburs seriously reduces the value.

Far further information on weed control in hay crops, Hooser suggests that producers get publication L-476, "Weed Control in Cultivated Pastures and Meadows," available from the County Extension office or the Dept. of Agricultural Information, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843.

Are Insect Stings More Deadly Than Snake Bites?

Insect stings can be deadly. Figures on a national basis show that more deaths result from bee stings than from bites of poisonous snakes.

The list of stinging insects, says

County Agent W. B. Hooser, includes bees, wasps, hornets and yellow jackets.

While the reaction by most individuals is a sharp pain for a short time followed by swelling, the reaction by others may be an acute allergy, a serious illness or even death for some people. Yellow jackets, honeybees, bumble bees and hornets are listed as the worst offenders.

Persons sensitive to insect stings must be extremely cautious when doing jobs which expose them to stinging insects, advises the county agent.

He suggests the use of a good insect repellent or the wearing of protective clothing when working outdoors. Light colored clothing is suggested.

Avoid sudden motion. Motion and air movement will attract a mad bee. Bees and wasps most often sting when they are touched or their nests are disturbed.

Persons sensitive to insect stings are advised to seek the advice of a physician on what to do in case of a sting. It could save a life.

Former Memphian Views Apollo 11 Moon Shot Wed.

Mrs. Jerry (Bobbie) Beavers of Lorenzo, formerly of Memphis and a former employee of The Memphis Democrat was among spectators on Site Two, viewing the launching of Apollo II yesterday.

How this came about is a clear cut example of the Biblical prophecy, "Ask and ye shall receive". Mrs. Beavers, editor, publisher, and salesman, reporter and photographer of the Lorenzo Leader, asked Rep. George Mahon on July 1, "Rep. Mahon, do we have room for a West Texas editor at the launch? I think there should be one—and I think it should be me."

On Monday morning, July 7, just before Bobbye went to work on her weekly newspaper which she started about a year ago, the phone rang. It was all "arranged". She would be viewing the launch from the second site, which was farther away "but just as beautiful" as site one. She would have to go through by car, not helicopter, but Mrs. Beavers "would just as soon walk or crawl, so long as I can go."

She and a daughter, Penny, "will sleep on bedrolls in the office of the First United Methodist Church, Titusville, Fla., as arranged by the Rev. Mike Shirley, Florida pastor, and the Rev. Bruce Parks, a former Lorenzo resident who is now pastor of the Methodist Church in Slaton. All motels and homes are "full-up".

Bobbie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred V. Clark, now of Lorenzo, formerly of Memphis. Mr. Clark worked as a pharmacist in Memphis for many years.

She received her first newspaper training on The Memphis Democrat. Bobbye is the only representative of a West Texas newspaper attending the Apollo Moonshot and the Lubbock-Avalanche-Journal will carry her impressions in a special report.

Susan Stevenson Is On Honor Roll At Texas Tech

Susan Stevenson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Stevenson, was listed on the Dean's honor roll for the Spring Semester at Texas Tech College, according to information received this week.

Miss Stevenson is a freshman student at the college. In order to be named on the honor list a student must maintain a grade point average of 3 points or better.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Young were in Hamlin Sunday where they attended the Young Family Reunion held at the J. C. building there. Mrs. Young stated that there were about 70 in attendance.

A Note of Appreciation
Words cannot adequately express the love in my heart for the people of Memphis. You have done so many acts of kindness, your prayers, letters, cards, flowers, building fund contributions, visits, food. The death of our loved one has been easier to bear because of your love and concern.

May God bless each of you is our prayer.

Letter To Congress Express Area Views On Ag. Legislation

The U. S. Congress in the proposed Agricultural Act for 1969, and considering the Agriculture Appropriations Bill for 1969, local and area farmers are deeply concerned with the type of legislation which will be written.

Several farmers have written letters to their elected representatives in Washington, D. C., and this week one of these letters was authorized for publication. The letter is from Leon Helm, who lives in Childress and Hall Counties east of Newlin, and is typical of the desires being expressed by area agriculturalists.

Mr. Helm wrote:

"I am concerned about the recent action by the House in attaching a rider limiting the amount of payments to $20,000 per farmer to the Agriculture Appropriations Bill for Fiscal 1970. I am quite sure you are aware that the government payments to farmers do not represent in any way money over and above the cost of production. Generally, the payments are largely used to meet production costs. In the case of a $20,000 payment, this would usually represent only a small margin of profit, if any. I do not believe this action would be in the accepted American tradition of rewarding initiative, labor and risks involved.

"This action could be compared, for example, to limiting all government contractors to a $20,000 gross profit.

"In the event the limitations of payment passes both houses of Congress and is signed into law, I would urge you to resist all efforts to repeal the Snap-Back Clause. (Section 103, D 12 of the Agriculture Act of 1949, as amended in 1965.)

"Many Government programs have been enacted in the past to attempt to make rural living more attractive and to keep people on our farms. Yet, if the proposed Agriculture Act of 1969, or similar legislation, were to be passed, I firmly believe at least 40 per cent or more of our farmers would be forced off their farms for economic reasons. I cannot believe this would be in our local, state, or national interest.

"If all acreage controls, marketing quotas, etc., were to be phased out, it would almost be a certainty that our cotton acreage would move to the more intensive farming areas, such as Arizona and California. This alone would be a disastrous blow to the local and state economy.

"Regarding the so-called compensatory payments, any fair minded person can easily see these payments represent more of a subsidy to the consumer rather than the producer. At the present level of prices for our products, it is absolutely imperative that we continue to receive these payments to pay our ever increasing costs of production.

"Many people say that we must lower the cost of cotton in order to make it more competitive; yet at the same time contend that in a free market, unhindered by any Government controls, the price of cotton would rise to a more profitable level. This statement, widely circulated, is unrealistic and is not consistent nor logical.

"It is my firm belief that only the U. S. Government can afford farmers an umbrella of protection that will give us the opportunity to enjoy a reasonable standard of living.

"The vast majority of farmers in our area to whom I have talked on this matter supports the extension of our present Agriculture Act of 1965 or similar legislation. They are not in favor of phasing out our present system of payments and controls as advocated in the proposed legislation H. R. 9478."

The letter ends with an appeal for consideration and protection of farmers and the Nation's interests.

Daniel To Head Probe Of Auto Insurance Rates

Governor Preston Smith announced Thursday, July 10, that he would launch a "full-scale" investigation into the spiraling private passenger automobile insurance rates in Texas.

"The announcement Tuesday, July 8, that the Insurance Commission staff has recommended an 11.4 per cent increase in private auto rates borders on catastrophe and has become intolerable for many of our citizens," the governor said.

This week he appointed former Gov. Price Daniel to head an inquiry on auto insurance rates, as a member of a nine-man committee. Smith asked his committee to complete its work by early this fall.

In addition to Daniel, Gov. Smith appointed to the committee: DeWitt C. Greer, chairman of Texas Highway Commission; John C. Hill, former secretary of state; Dr. Alford R. Hazzard, physician; Edwin E. Merriman, President of Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants; W. O. Shafer of Odessa, former president of State Bar of Texas; Sam S. Wood, editor of American Statesman in Austin; Eddie Barker, news director of KRLD-TV; and Harry Hubbard, Jr., legislative director of Texas AFL-CIO.

Governor Smith Urges Use Of New SMV Emblem

AUSTIN — Texas Governor Preston Smith has proclaimed July 20-26 Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Week and called on rural residents to make use of the new SMV emblem on slow moving agricultural vehicles as added protection when traveling on Lone Star State highways.

He also urged rural residents to take advantage of modern technology designed to remove many of the hazards in agricultural enterprises and cited that in spite of a declining rural population and advances in agricultural technology, farm and ranch accidents in Texas continue to steadily increase.

Last year 297 persons in Texas died as the result of farm accidents, an increase of six percent in the number of fatalities over the previous year. Injuries over the past year are estimated at 33,200 as compared to 31,400 in 1967.

"If we are to reverse this trend, we must renew our efforts to prevent accidents among our rural residents as they go about the hazardous task of producing the commodities needed by the entire population," the Governor said in his proclamation.

The Texas observance coincides with observance of National Farm Safety Week, proclaimed by the President, to focus attention on farm accident prevention throughout the nation.

During this special week, a unified statewide farm accident prevention education program will be undertaken by a number of Texas organizations. Joining in this concerted effort will be the Texas Safety Assn., Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, Texas Farm Bureau, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Future Farmers and Future Homemakers of America and Young Farmers of Texas, and other groups.

"Such a campaign can do much to call attention to the need for accident prevention among our rural residents," the Governor added.

Joe Smetana, Waco, Vice President for Farm and Ranch Safety for the Texas Safety Assn. and President, Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, said all county judges in Texas will be called on to participate in the campaign by making local proclamations for the safety week observance.

"In addition, there will be a number of special events taking place throughout the state to call attention to rural accident prevention," he added. "Special emphasis will be placed on the advantages of use of the SMV emblem on farm vehicles."

Use of the emblem on all motor vehicles, designed to operate at a maximum speed of 25 miles per hour or less, will be required beginning next January 1 under a new Texas law.

The triangular-shaped SMV emblem features a red and orange reflective surface that is visible day or night for a distance of at least 300 feet.

"Operators of slow moving vehicles are especially vulnerable to high-speed traffic," the safety leader noted. "In an emergency, their vehicles do not have maneuverability that high-powered vehicles have and operators are often dangerously, physically exposed in case of an accident because of no cabs on the vehicle."

Non-Traffic Toll High

Firearm accidents accounted for the greatest number of non-traffic rural deaths last year—49 persons were killed. Other major causes of the 297 deaths were burns, 54; falls, 44; tractor accidents, 33; drowning, 33 and farm machinery other than tractors, 22.

Most of the increase in 1968 is attributed to the increased number of deaths due to falls and tractor accidents. The only category that showed a marked reduction in fatalities was drowning. Thirty-three rural drownings occurred last year as compared to 41 in 1967.

SPORTS CORNER

"Byron I have never cared for Storms, but, this Storm, I really love, even if she turns into a hurricane." Mrs. Storm spoke up and said, "My neighbors said that sometimes I am a Tornado." One of these dear ladies from Amarillo told me that she had the best time here she had had in all of her 100 years, was very much pleased with what we had accomplished in the Heritage Hall in such a short time. I think they played a little bridge out at the lake house. I played bridge with Tot Bryant when she and I were very young, that was London bridge. She stayed with bridge and I went off after mumble-peg.

The Lee family had another reunion the fourth of July with Carrie Bell, did not get to see them all but Mrs. Ball of Lubbock and Mrs. Ollie Lee of Hobbs, N. M. and Ike and Lulu's grandson made the rounds in the Heritage Hall. In reminiscing, Mrs. Ball said their family rode the excursion train from Alabama in 1904 to Memphis, Texas, but when they arrived in Memphis, they had not reached their destination as her father had a brother living in Wellington, they were going to visit.

There were 10 in the family and how many could stand that much company at once with only two or three guests today.

Coy Lee Odom of Portales, N. M. said he was proud of our Heritage Hall. He was down the fourth of July holiday, said he had to come down and straighten his dad out every now and then. I can remember when Doc had to straighten Coy Lee out so I guess you will call this "reciprocation".

Seeing the write-up in the Amarillo paper about Mr. and Mrs. E. A. 'Tater' Thomas brought back memories. We had the privilege of attending their 50th anniversary in Amarillo ten years ago and she showed me her wedding dress and said she bought the material from my dad, and she remembered how much a yard she paid for it and also who made it and how much it cost to make the wedding dress.

I remember selling her lots of merchandise over a long period of years and I guess I sold her most of the Birdseye diapers and cotton flannel for their kids. A very soft, kind voice she had, and when she raised her head and ask your opinion of merchandise those piercing eyes as she looked at you would say "I want the truth," and we gave it the nearest we knew. Kept her as a good customer, also her family the O. B. Burnetts who were kind, patient, hard working people. I knew Tater over a long period of his law enforcing days. This was not published in the daily paper of his peculiar characteristics, for instance there was a certain way he wore his hat and cigar for different occasions. . . for making a trade, ready to scrap or ready to go to the picnic. Best wishes to them on their 61th anniversary. We still call them Hall County people and hope to see them at the picnic this year.

There is talk that the Department of Agriculture will demand control over the farm clubs of major league baseball teams. Baseball fans won't cotton to that corny thought.

A woman told me, "Housework is something you do that nobody notices unless you don't do it."

Heritage Hall Completes First Month Operation

The Hall County Heritage Hall completed the first month of operation this week and it was reported that attendance was very good.

The Atalantean Club served as hostesses last week. The 1913 Study Club is serving as hostesses this week and next week the Delphian Club will provide hostesses for the Heritage Hall.

Non-club women can also serve as hostesses if they will contact either Mrs. Mildred Stephens, Byron Baldwin or Wendell Harrison, it was announced.

Wendell Harrison reported that the Hall still has room for several more displays. "We need displays from Turkey, Estelline and Lakeview areas," he said.

An examination of the registration book at the Heritage Hall revealed that daily registration was running between 20 and 72. "We find that citizens from 100 towns outside Memphis and Hall County and 12 different states signed the registration book in the first month of operation," Byron Baldwin said.

"People are very interested in the Heritage Hall," Baldwin said. The biggest day of operation was on Saturday, July 5, when 72 persons viewed the displays.

Goodall Family Being Transferred To Williams AFB

Maj. and Mrs. Sim Goodall and children are here this week visiting with his father, Dr. O. R. Goodall, and sister, Betty Ann Shahan.

Maj. Goodall is en route to his new duty station at Williams AFB located near Phoenix, Ariz. The Goodalls have been in Wiesbaden, Germany for the last three years.

They plan to visit next week with Mrs. Goodall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wirth, in the lower valley at San Benito.

To give crisp new body to dark cottons, dip them in a weak solution of plain gelatin and water. Roll in towels to absorb excess moisture and press while still damp. They will keep a crisp finish through several wearings.

Thunder Storm Thursday Does Wind-Hail Damage

A localized thunder storm last Thursday afternoon late dumped about one and a half inches of rain and pea to marble sized hail over Memphis. Wind was high out of the cloud.

A shed-type barn was partially blown down at the home of George Williams, southwest of Memphis on the Friendship Road. They also had wind damage to some trees and the clothes line pole with a basketball goal was blown over.

A shed and fence at the Robert Hanvey, Jr. home on South 7th Street was blown down by the winds. There were numerous trees damaged by the high winds, which came from almost every direction sometime during the 45-minute storm.

The storm was not very wide, covering a two or three mile area. It began just north of Memphis, rained out past the Drive-In Theater on the west, and just out of town on the east. The cloud went on to the south.
