Over 2,500 Are Expected For 79th Hall County Celebration

RCA RADIOLA 28—Pictured above is an RCA Radiola 28, super heterodyne battery powered radio which has been donated to the Hall County Heritage Hall by the W. H. Craven family. The radio did not come equipped with the Magnavox Co. speaker on top. Old timers said these type radios had to have ear phones, unless a separate speaker was used.

Heritage Hall To Be Big Feature

Visitors and residents for the annual celebration this weekend will have an opportunity to see and enjoy displays of historical interest at the Heritage Hall, located on the north corner of the west side of the Memphis square.

Legion Plans Listed For Picnic Weekend

A turkey dinner with all the trimmings will be served Saturday from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. by the American Legion Auxiliary at the American Legion Home, according to an announcement by Mrs. Henry Gregory, unit president.

Tickets are $1.50 per plate for adults and $1.00 for children under 12. A bake sale will also be held at the Legion Home, Mrs. Gregory said, and everyone is urged to buy their homemade pies and cakes from the auxiliary to take to the Annual Hall County Picnic slated Sunday.

"We would like to invite the public to eat with us and then attend the picnic parade which begins at 2 p. m. Saturday under the sponsorship of Simmons-Noel Post 175," Mrs. Gregory stated. Another event to be sponsored at the American Legion Home (Continued on Page 10)

Heritage Hall will be open from 10 to 12 noon, and 2 to 5 p. m. Friday for those who want to register early and those who want to make a leisure inspection of the displays.

Saturday, Sept. 20, the Hall will be open from 9-12 a. m. and 1 to 6 p. m. At 4:30 p. m. or after the old fiddlers contest, community singing will be held at the Hall with Earnest Lee in charge.

Sunday, the Heritage Hall will be open from 2 to 6 p. m. with singing again scheduled for 4:30 p. m. The Heritage Hall old pump organ provides the music for these singing sessions.

To go into a description of the displays in the Hall would be prohibitive, but those who have not been in the Hall recently will find an excellent display of historical artifacts, carefully described on name cards. The museum is not full, nor is it ever hoped it will be, but the display cases appear to be almost full at this time.

The Hall is also now seeking of those over 50 years old to put on display. Also class pictures of graduating classes from Hall County's many schools are also being sought.

One of the most fascinating articles to be donated was an old style, battery powered radio from the T-V Ranch headquarters in Childress County.

Desserts Requested For Annual Hall County Picnic

Mrs. Thelma Durrett, chairman of the dessert committee for the Hall County Picnic, released a list of women who will assist with serving desserts at the City Park Sunday at noon.

Included on the list were: Mrs. Jack Beavers, Mrs. Hubert Hall, Linda Hall, Mrs. V. C. Durrett, Mrs. Theodore Swift, Mrs. Dick Fowler, Mrs. Gene Hughes, Mrs. Harold Smith and Mrs. J. P. Godfrey.

Local residents are asked to bring desserts as has been the custom in past years at the Hall County Picnic. All other food is furnished by the picnic fund through donations of firms and individuals.

Cakes, pies and cookies serve as a tasty conclusion to the barbecue dinner and seem to be enjoyed by the many who attend, Mrs. Durrett stated.

Lakeview Voters Approve City Sales Tax Issue

Last week approximately 50 per cent of the eligible voters in the City of Lakeview turned out and voted 85 per cent in favor of adopting a one per cent Municipal Sales tax.

The new city sales tax for the City of Lakeview will begin on Jan. 1, 1970, it was announced by city officials.

The actual vote was 29 for the city sales tax and 5 against. Additional funds raised by this tax will be used by the City of Lakeview to help clean and maintain the city.

Memphis Lions Club To Present Master Magician Show Here Tuesday

Can a lady float in mid-air? Can rabbits appear and vanish before the eyes of spectators? These are but two of many questions that will be answered on Tuesday, Sept. 23, when the Memphis Lions Club presents Fred Story, Master Magician and Comedian with his magical revue, "20th Century Phantasies."

The two-hour program starts at 8 p. m., and will be held in the Memphis High School Auditorium. This program is a two-hour revue of the finest in magic and illusion, and requires over two tons of stage equipment, according to Kenneth Dale, chairman of the fund raising committee of the Lions Club.

On the program spectators will see mysteries such as the "Spook in the Bottle," and many other magical impossibilities with rabbits, ducks and birds. Many thousands of dollars have been spent on special costumes, lighting and stage sets to enhance the air of mystery in this truly wonderful of magic, mystery and illusion. The "20th Century Phantasies" has been acclaimed as being one of the cleanest and most attractive as well as entertaining, shows of its kind on the road today, according to advance publicity releases.

So far, 197 easements have been signed but there are still 61 landowners who need to drop by the county judge's office, county clerk's office, or SCS office or see one of the Watershed committee members about signing needed easements. "Let us not delay construction of the Lakeview Watershed project by not having the needed easements," the sponsors stated.

Delphian Club To Have Bake Sale Sat.

The Delphian Club will sponsor a bake sale Saturday morning beginning at 9 a. m., according to Mrs. F. A. Finch, president.

The sale will be held on the sidewalk in front of Sims Department Store.

Members will be selling pies, cakes and a variety of cookies, etc., and this will be an excellent time to buy desserts to be taken to the Hall County Picnic on Sunday, Mrs. Finch said.

Progress in securing the needed easements and permits, according to Joyce Webster, secretary of the WCID.

This action constitutes authorization to provide federal assistance in the installation of the works of improvement of the Lakeview Watershed in accordance with terms and conditions as contained in the Work Plan and as funds appropriated for this purpose are made available. ### Memphis To Travel To Gruver Friday

The Memphis Cyclone will make the long trip to engage the Gruver Greyhounds in the game of football scheduled for 8 p. m. Friday at Gruver.

The Cyclone will be seeking its first victory of the season while the Greyhounds will be all set to seek revenge over a defeat last year handed them in Cyclone Stadium.

Gruver downed the Stinnett Panthers Friday night 22-0 in a strong show of defensive might while the local lads were engaged in the races at Broncho Stadium in Clarendon in an offensive tussle in which Clarendon's Moore played a big role in winning for his team.

Memphis lads in a scrimmage with Stinnett earlier settled for a two-TD tie, which would indicate that Gruver has the pregame favorite nod.

The Greyhounds for 1969 have a typical Gruver ball club, big, aggressive, and very good defensively, Coach Bert Glascock said. Offensively, they run the sweep and trap plans well.

No. 23, Larry Gumfory, 150, a halfback, is fast and an excellent ball carrier. GE Donny Henson, 145, is also one of Gruver's top players. Fullback is Wesley Maupin, 160, and wingback is John Irwin, 143.

In the Greyhounds' line, No. 76, Kim Cluck, 196, at tackle, and split end, Dwight Gillespie, No. 20, 160, are exceptionally fine players.

Coach's Comments Coach Glascock said Gruver does not have explosive type offensive attack that Clarendon has but plays much better defense than Clarendon. The Greyhounds use a 5-3-3 defensive alignment, and use a lot of "stunting" maneuvers.

"Our inexperienced linemen will have to be on their toes to pick up these stunts if we are going to be able to move the ball against Gruver," Coach Glascock said.

The local coach pointed out that last week, Stinnett was only able to pick up about three first downs against Gruver's defense. The coach reported that E. L. Kirkland will not play this week for he is undergoing medical treatment. Billy Gilbert sustained a lower back strain. James Hansard took a knee on a knee in Wednesday workout.

About Clarendon Coach Glascock announced that the winner of the Head Hunter of the Week award in the Clarendon game was Max McQueen, and the winner of the Golden Spear Award was TB Ronnie McFalls.

Several of the boys did creditable jobs in the Clarendon game but the Memphis coach felt like it was the overall effort and determination of the team which should receive commendation. "We feel our kicking game cost us a possible victory at Clarendon," the coach said. "We were 22-20 and had our momentum going, when a bad snap on a punt cost us one touchdown and a punt return that wasn't covered very well cost us another."

It is being estimated that the crowd for this year's 79th Anniversary Celebration, Hall County Picnic, will equal or surpass last year's number, over 2,500. Lester Campbell, president of the association, stated this week.

Festivities will get underway Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. with the colorful parade, sponsored by the American Legion Post of Memphis.

The Legion Auxiliary is serving a luncheon at $1.50 or $1.00 per plate for those interested in eating out at noon Saturday in the American Legion Home on South 6th Street. This is from 11 to 1 p. m.

Features of the celebration include the parade, the Heritage Hall, an Old Fiddlers Contest, a Square Dance exhibition, and the noon picnic Sunday at the Memphis City Park.

A complete schedule of events is published on this page for the convenience of readers.

Barbecue The annual free barbecue will be served at the City Park beginning at exactly 12:30 p. m. Sunday. Approximately 2,900 pounds of beef will be barbecued by the members of the Memphis Volunteer Fire Department, beginning at 4 a. m. Saturday morning when the fires will be lit.

Tickets for the meal will be issued as persons enter the park. Tickets are good for one barbecue dinner and the other half of the ticket will entitle the holder to dessert which will be furnished by those attending. Local women are asked to bring cakes and pies for the occasion.

Regular church services will be held at all churches Sunday, and visitors are cordially invited to attend, then go directly to the City Park for the meal.

In case of wet weather, the picnic will be held as scheduled, just bring raincoats, etc.

Transportation Buses will be available to take visitors and local residents to the City Park. The buses will leave at regular intervals from the square and deliver passengers directly to the picnic area. This will help eliminate parking and traffic problems in the park.

Wendell Harrison will serve as master of ceremonies for the informal program after the meal is served Sunday afternoon in the park. New officers will be elected at that time.

President Campbell Expressed heartfelt appreciation to all who have been and are working so hard preparing for this picnic.

Thanks Expressed To Beef Donors

Picnic Association officials this week expressed a public "thank you" to 12 businesses and individuals for donations of beef for the annual Hall County Picnic.

Donating one head each: Mrs. W. C. Dickey, Farmers Union Co-Op Gin of Memphis, Memphis Compress Co., First State Bank of Memphis, and First National Bank of Memphis.

Donating one-half beef are: Lesley Co-Op Gin, Memphis Farmers Co-Op Gin, Estelline Co-Op Gin, and Lakeview Farmers Co-Op Gin.

Donating $25 to beef fund are B. E. Davenport, General Telephone Co. of the Southwest, Paymaster Gins.

"Without these donations, it would be impossible to serve a free barbecue at the Hall County Picnic," a spokesman for the association stated.

Lakeview P-TA To Meet Monday

The Lakeview Parent-Teacher Association will hold their organizational meeting Monday, Sept. 22, at 7:30 p. m. in the Lakeview Elementary School Auditorium, according to Mrs. Jerry Montgomery, president.

Third Boll Weevil Spraying Date Set For Monday, September 22

Due to weather conditions the second spray for boll weevils was delayed until Monday, Sept. 15, in order to keep on a seven-day interval the next spray date was set for Monday, Sept. 22, weather permitting, it was announced this week by the Hall County Insect Control Assn.

The deadline for signing up for the third spraying will be 5 p. m. Friday, Sept. 19. This is in order to map out flight plan and give ample time for the supervisors, flaggers and assistants to familiarize themselves with the different plots and fields to be sprayed.

In order to be eligible for the assistance (1) the farmer must be a member of the Hall County Insect Control Assn. If not already, he may become a member when he signs up for spraying. (2) the farmer must be able to plot his cotton on the map according to block number, row number, and (3) pay a share of cost at time of signing. The cost to farmers is $78 per acre.

For first spraying, 6,141 acres were signed up with 46 farmers participating. In second spraying, 8,788 acres were signed up with 55 farmers participating.

In order to kill the boll worms, the spraying must coincide with a new "hatchout" of boll worms (2 or 3 days old) according to State Entomologist Fred Parker. A field inspection is made after each spraying to determine results by field supervisors, D. C. Hall and Paul A. Thompson. This report showed that dead boll weevils were found in approximately 75 per cent of fields and also it was reported that dead 2-3 (Continued on Page 10)

The Hall and Donley Counties Water Control and Improvement District, sponsor, report good progress in securing the needed easements and permits, according to Joyce Webster, secretary of the WCID.

Hall County's 79th Anniversary Celebration

This weekend, our county will celebrate its 79th year of existence with a weekend of special festivities climaxed Sunday afternoon with the picnic in the City Park in Memphis.

Major plans for the entire weekend are completed and invitations have been mailed out. Former residents and friends from all over are invited, and many will attend as they have in past years. The celebration has been going on since 1955.

Citizens residing in Hall County now are considered hosts at the annual picnic. We should all do our part in meeting our visitors and making them welcome. This is only being good hosts as we help our visitors to find former friends.

The Hall County Picnic is advertised all over with an invitation to past friends and former residents of Hall County to return to renew old ties and meet new citizens and residents those attending the Sunday barbecue will find good food, and picnic atmosphere.

This year's two-day celebration promises to be an exciting affair for young and old alike. Everything gets off to a flying start with a parade at 2 p. m. Saturday afternoon featuring bands, floats, and a lot of fun for children and adults alike. The Simmons-Noel Post of the American Legion with Jay Stone parade marshal has been working hard on the parade. An old fiddlers contest will be held after the parade on the square at 3:30 and then Saturday evening at 7:30, square dancers will put on an exhibition.

The Heritage Hall will be open both days, giving our visitors their first look at the permanent museum citizens of the county have been working hard upon ever since last year.

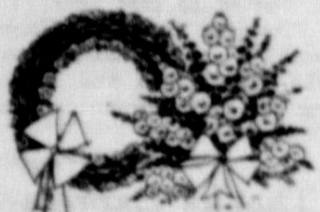

Again this year free lunch tickets will be passed out at the bridge entrance at the City Park so that accurate tabulations to the number served can be kept and so that all can go through the line before seconds are served. This has been used the past three years and has been most successful.

Citizens are again urged by the Sheriff's Office and the City Police Department to park vehicles on the square and ride the school buses to the City Park. The Memphis Public Schools provide this bus transportation. This will help eliminate the parking shortage and the traffic jam in the Park.

The Hall County Picnic is attended by a hearty group of citizens who don't mind a little rain or adverse weather. In past years the picnic has been held on rainy days and the crowd was almost as big as was expected, so, don't let a little rainy weather change your mind about attending the Hall County Picnic. Rain or shine, the barbecue will be served at 12:30 p. m. Sunday, September 21.

If we, the citizens living in Hall County right now, want to make a good impression on our visitors, we can do it again this year by being good hosts, attending the parade and picnic and pitching in and helping. Have you ever stopped to think what would happen if our out-of-town friends did not show up? There would be a lot of disappointment when they've driven many miles to see you, and you want drive a few blocks or even a few miles to see them.

President Lester Campbell of the Hall County Picnic Assn., the other officers, committee chairmen and committees, have been working hard, and deserve public thanks for their efforts. It is through the cooperative efforts of our citizens that the Hall County Picnic celebration is as successful as it is each year. Let's make this year's event another success.

Re-Locate Industry.

The Sun is glad to see help coming.

For the last ten years we have advocated moving industries out of the crowded cities, into the smaller towns.

Last week a Dallas executive, T. Louis Austin, Jr., president of Texas Power & Light Co., told Texas bankers in a meeting of the program of the Alliance of American Businessmen which has endorsed and put into operation the recruitment and training of workers in their plants and businesses to take them off the welfare rolls and make them self-supporting, dignified citizens and taxpayers.

He said bankers should take the lead in promoting industrial development in the communities between the 10,000 and 100,000 population figures and should begin moving the basic industries out of the crowded cities and into the smaller communities where they will "have the chance to live well".

We have long contended that all the small towns need is well paying jobs in greater numbers. Everything else will follow — adequate housing, good schools, facilities, you name it.

And to get industry into the smaller towns the U. S. government has only to offer tax incentives which, after a few years will result in more income to the federal treasury and end, finally the wreckage of our cities and human lives in those places.

The Nixon administration (the Johnson administration first) is talking about establishing a hundred or so new cities throughout the nation to sop up some of the ghetto population. To do this would cost billions of dollars and the end might not be as rosy as predicted. Simply to help industry move into the already established towns of the country and extending a helping hand to those towns during the first years of transition would be much less expensive and, we think, greatly more rewarding.

Trouble is, we can't find enough people listening us!

However, if the bankers will do as Mr. Austin asked them we should see results all over the place.

You should keep this in mind every time you read about someone getting out of paying their share of taxes . . . someone must make up the difference and you and I are the ones. Regardless of how benevolent the cause or how justified the forgiveness of some taxes may sound, you and I are the ones who must fill the gap. 1970 FORD LTD BROUGHAM—Built for quiet inside and out, Ford's luxurious new 1970 LTD Brougham is offered in four-door hardtop (top), two-door (bottom) and four-door sedan models. The 1970 Fords all feature new rear end side ornamentation, new exterior colors, plus new, more formal grilles.

1970 Model Ford Lineup Will Go On Display In Showrooms Friday

Ford Division passenger cars for 1970 are highlighted by all-new Torino and Thunderbird models, a new ultra-luxurious LTD series, a new mid-range Brougham series, a new mid-range engine, premium quality standard on most car lines, more comfort, convenience and security features, plus Ford dealer Eddie Fox announced this week.

The 1970 Ford lineup will be on display tomorrow in dealer showrooms throughout the nation and locally in Foxhall Motor Company showroom.

"This may be the year of the intermediates, and Torino is our most dramatically redesigned car. It's longer, lower and wider with aerodynamic styling, hot performance engines and options, and our first intermediate-size four-door hard-top models," he said.

Thunderbird also has an all-new look with a bold front-end design with longer, lower hood, forward-thrusting grille and extended headlamps.

More quiet-car luxury is offered in the standard size Ford. The new Ford line presents a more formal appearance with new side ornamentation and rear end design.

Mustang comes on stronger and better than ever with design changes, hotter engines, bright

"Grabber" colors, and interiors with upbeat stripes and hound-tooth checks.

Maverick, introduced in April as the first car of the Seventies, will remain a "simple machine" with very few changes. Maverick produced after Sept. 30 will have side marker lights which flash with the turn signals, and a three-way locking steering column.

Falcon moves into the 1970 market with the proven features of fuel economy, roomy interior and durable performance.

New Features
Several new security, comfort, convenience and performance features are included in Ford Division's 51 models for 1970.

Standard tires on Fords, Torinos, Mustangs and Thunderbirds will last longer, have greater resistance to puncture and provide better traction. Radial-ply tires will be installed on all 1970 Thunderbirds, and fiberglass belted bias-ply tires will be standard on all Fords, Torinos and Mustangs.

An all-new 351 cu.in. displacement V-8 engine, developed with the latest computerized technology and assembled on the auto industry's most advanced production line, will be offered on 1970 Mustangs and Torinos. The engine is compact, relatively lightweight and delivers excellent performance and economy.

All bucket seats offered on Ford cars are of high-back design. The higher seat backs incorporate head restraints and provide added comfort.

For the performance buffs, all the optional four-speed manual transmissions feature the competition Hurst Shifter, known for fast, smooth shifting.

Both front seat latches are automatically released when either door is opened on two-door models of Torino, Mustang and the Thunderbird models.

New steering wheels on Ford, Torino, Mustang and Thunderbird models are semi-oval in design for easier driver entry and exit and better visibility for the instrument cluster. On all models except Falcon, odometers are tamper-resistant and non-reversing.

A three-way locking steering column on all models except Falcon is designed to deter car thefts by locking the ignition, the transmission linkage and the steering wheel with the ignition switch.

Ford Lines
Twenty-one models in the Ford line—14 cars and seven station wagons—are offered in Custom Custom 500, Galaxie 500, XL LTD and the new LTD Brougham series.

The Galaxie 500, XL LTD and LTD Brougham models feature the sound absorption package that has won LTD the reputation of being the quietest car of the road.

The 1970 Mustang offers a completely redesigned front and rear. Interiors offer bold new colors and optional patterned upholstery. Seven models are available including the hardtop, convertible, the fast-back designed SportsRoof, Grande hardtop Mach I Boss 302 and the limited production Boss 429.

Maverick remains basically unchanged since its introduction in April. Its popular assets remain low purchase price, good performance, economy of operation, easy serviceability, durability and sporty design.

In Remembrance

... of those hardy and religious men and women who pioneered this area. This thought is occurring as we hold our annual Hall County Picnic. They were the settlers . . . came with faith that with the help of Providence they could establish a new life. These are the ones who made their homes upon the fertile land and in the towns of our county. They built the churches, the schools, and laid the foundations which we are enjoying today.

It is our prayer that time and circumstances may never erase the memory of the challenge of their faith.

A Report on New Products and Process in Everyday Living

Formaldehyde Found In Space

Astronomers working with the 140 foot radio telescope at the National Radio Astronomy Observatory in Greenbank, West Virginia, have found that formaldehyde is widely distributed in the clouds of dust and gases that exist in interstellar space. The discovery intensifies recent speculation about the connection between the contents of these clouds and the origin of life on earth.

Since the 1950's it has been known that vast amounts of hydrogen are present in huge interstellar clouds, and many astronomers now believe that these clouds spin and contract for millions of years and eventually form stars and planetary systems. Therefore, any gases found in the clouds could be expected in the planetary atmospheres.

At the same time that astronomers were discovering the hydrogen in space, biochemists were showing that amino acids—organic molecules known to be basic units of life—could be produced in an atmosphere of methane, ammonia, hydrogen, and water. It is now generally agreed that primitive life forms could develop from these gases, but until recently none of the complex molecules had been found in the interstellar clouds that form the planetary atmospheres.

Then last December a team of radio astronomers from the University of California reported the presence of ammonia—a molecule containing four atoms—in the clouds. In February the same team announced the discovery of interstellar water; thus the only substance remaining to complete the presumed life-forming atmosphere was methane.

Methane, unfortunately, does not have a molecular structure that makes its detection possible with radio telescopes. However, the presence of the chemically related formaldehyde molecule is strong, indirect evidence of the presence of methane; therefore the National Radio Astronomy Observatory discovery has completed, in a roundabout way, the list of chemicals necessary for the origin of life.

The work is reported by Drs. Lewis E. Snyder, David Buhl, Benjamin Zuckerman, and Patrick Palmer in "Physical Review Letters," a publication of the American Physical Society.

Doing Something About Weather Prediction

Success in long range weather forecasting will not be achieved until much more is learned about the complex connection between the sun's energy and the earth's oceans. The most ambitious effort ever made to study this connection will begin next May and is known as BOMEX—Barbados Oceanographic and Meteorological Experiment.

BOMEX Director, Dr. Joachim P. Kuettner, explains that "most of the heat received from the sun stored in the tropical oceans between the latitudes 30 degrees North and 30 degrees South, a

The part of this region selected for study is a 90,000 square mile section of the Atlantic east of Barbados, a British dependency southeast of Puerto Rico. The study, which includes the atmosphere up to an altitude of 100,000 feet and the sea to its bottom at 19,000 feet in addition to the ocean surface, will require more than 1500 people manning 80 separate projects. A dozen buoys, 24 planes, 10 ships—including one that "flips" from horizontal to vertical position—and several satellites are included in the equipment necessary for the study.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

At long last wildlife management is finding a resting place in society.

We have come to recognize wildlife management today as an accepted fact. We have an abundance of game because of proper management and we may continue in that direction so long as we maintain that management.

Deer perhaps provide the best example.

A quarter of a century ago Texas faced the loss of deer hunting because the deer were disappearing. Ranches were overrunning with deer. Little or no attention was being paid to management of the crop.

Then things changed! Today we actually have an overabundance of deer in many areas. It has been less than 15 years since wildlife specialists were able to convince some landowners and hunters that the harvesting of deer was necessary. A few counties were necessary. A few counties were necessary.

Under the regulatory authority program, permitted the harvesting of deer on a permit basis. Each year the number of permits increased, as did the number of areas where deer harvesting was permitted.

As a result the quality of the deer went up. Landowners realized that in management practices they could consider wildlife as a resource.

Through a continuous program of dam building Texas now has more inland water than any of the 48 contiguous states. That water has been stocked with game fish. A great deal of work has been done on attempts to control the trash fish also found in the waters.

It was a good thing, too. Today, with the new push for outdoor recreation, there are many more fishermen and potential fishermen than just a few years ago.

As a result of management practices paid for with funds that have come in from the sale of licenses. This money has been plowed back into the program, the same funds collected on the sale of hunting licenses. It has been a supporting program, with the fishermen of Texas carrying the load of wildlife restoration and management.

Which brings us to the point of suggesting that the vigil on the part of these funds be retained. They should not be sidetracked for other purposes. It is money paid by the sportsmen of Texas for any other use of it would be a misapplication of funds.

A great deal more work must be done in experimentation. For instance, efforts now are being made to introduce new upland birds. These birds would supplement the quail rather than replace it.

Some of these birds, partridges and pheasants, have done well in other states. They might also do well in Texas.

Similar work is being done in fisheries. Stripes and walleyes from other states have been brought in and introduced into Texas lakes. This has been going on for some time, through exchange programs with other states. So far not a great deal of progress has been made but the work continues.

Who knows? Perhaps one of these fish will take over like the white bass (sandies to some).

White now are in abundance in practically every impoundment of any size within the state. They increase rapidly. They make a fine game fish and can be caught literally by the thousands any month of the year.

The walleye may be another fish that will take over like the sandies.

Meantime, black bass, spotted bass, crappie and the various species of bream are plentiful. And blessed be the catfish, an old-timer with many friends.

New methods of hunting deer, along with the ever-increasing availability of game, are important factors leading to success in the field.

For many years there was a standard deer gun. It was the famous model 94 Winchester, Marlin or 99 Savage in the 30 caliber. There are still quite a few of them around.

However, for hunting rifles with high velocity, lighter bullets and greater accuracy, the telescopic sight has become a necessity. As a result there are many more clean kills and fewer cripples than in the old days. With a good scope - equipped, high-powered rifle - that has been sighted in - a clean kill is almost certain.

Within the past 30 years much has been done on telescope-sight development. Most of it has been done right here in Texas.

W. R. Weaver Co., at El Paso, is the largest maker of telescope gun sights in the world. This company brought the low price scope onto the market. While it produces optics of the highest quality, the prices of the best scope are considerably under the price of the gun. There was a time, you know, when shooters paid more for the scope than for the rifle.

L. A. Wilke, Austin outdoors writer and longtime hunter, with whom I occasionally hunt and fish, recalls the first shooting scope he used on a .22 rifle. It cost around $40, while the gun retailed at less than $12.

Each year the quality of the scope has been upgraded. But it remained for a recent improvement to make accuracy even greater. Although rangefinders have been built into several model scopes now, for years, Weaver simplified the method and produced the rangefinder in the production models at no increase in prices. Weaver's system is so simple one wonders why it wasn't thought of before.

Instead of one cross-hair, there are now two. Where the top hair crosses the up-down line is the No. 1 aiming point. This is the zero. It should be centered for 200 yards.

At 300 yards the impact point should be half-way between the top and bottom cross-hair. At 400 yards, aim at the bottom wire and at 500 yards, aim slightly below the bottom wire.

After "sighting in" the gun, there are no other adjustments to be made.

Using the popular 243 Winchester as an example, the bullet will hit dead center at 100 and 200 yards, it will strike midway between the two lines at 300, and drop to 400 at the bottom cross-hair.

For the serious or even the amateur shooter there is a very valuable trajectory chart for all popular calibers in Weaver's catalog. It can be had for free by writing the W. R. Weaver Co., at El Paso.

The more you lean on others the leaner your chances are for success.

Texas Dept., Public Safety Needs 120 Men to Begin Training In Oct.

Due to the rising traffic deaths and crime rate, the Texas Legislature has authorized an additional increase of manpower in the uniformed ranks of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

In carrying out this authorization a call was issued recently by Major C. W. Bell, regional commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety in Lubbock, to recruit 120 men to fill a 120-man training school beginning Oct. 21.

Major Bell said that two in-crements have been authorized by the Legislature to help fill the uniformed ranks of the Texas D.P.S. First, the salary during training has been increased to $55 per month; secondly, upon graduation the salary has increased to $82.50 per month.

Qualifications
Applicants must be between the ages of 20 and 35, a height of not less than 68 inches, a weight of not less than two hundred pounds per inch of height or more than three and one-half pounds per inch of height, and in sound physical condition.

They must have completed high school or the equivalent. They must be a citizen of the United States and be of good moral character. Those selected will take their training at the Texas D. P. S. Law Enforcement Academy in Austin. The training period is approximately four months long. Upon graduation the patrolmen will be assigned to one of the uniformed field services—Highway Patrol, License and Motor Vehicle Inspection and Drivers License.

Benefits Received
Two weeks vacation annually, or more holidays each year as provided by the Legislature, 12 days per year sick leave which accumulate to a maximum of 36 days, $10 per month added to salary at the end of each year of service, to a maximum of 25 years, a modern liberal retirement system based on (and or) years of service, social security benefits, traveling expenses when away from assignment as prescribed by law, group hospitalization and life insurance plan available, uniforms of the necessary equipment to perform duties furnished.

Training
The training of a patrolman is that of an individual's intellectual, emotional, and physical status. It is also an educational process which prepares him for one of the most self-satisfying careers in public service—law enforcement.

During the course of their study at the Law Enforcement

Academy student patrolmen are given intensive training in subjects such as: Criminal and Traffic Laws, Accident Investigation, Court Procedures, Criminal Interrogation, Narcotics, Traffic Supervision, Professional Driving, Firearms Techniques, and First Aid Training or any one of approximately 100 subjects that comprise the training program.

In addition to the classroom work they are taught self-protection by means of judo, boxing, wrestling and various other police protection methods.

Rewarding Service
The very nature of police work is demanding on the patrolmen, but it is also very rewarding. It deals with getting people to conform to the rules and regulations of society with a minimum of friction. The patrolman is taught to recognize and control situations that might arise from dealing with people under emotional stress. He is prepared for dealing with unusual situations under adverse conditions.

The patrolman's duties are as varied as the geography of the state in which he patrols. A day of duty may consist of tracking a tornado in the swirling sands of West Texas or rescuing a stranded citizen along a hurricane swept coastal area. It may involve the high speed pursuit and apprehension of a flagrant traffic law violator or wanted criminal.

His duties may also consist of accident investigation, directing traffic, regulating truck traffic, motor vehicle inspection, and testing applicants for a drivers license. Also, by his presence on the highways, the patrolman has the opportunity and duty of assisting motorists in distress. He may be helping change a tire or rendering first aid to someone critically injured in an accident—this and often being the difference between life and death.

Because of the short time remaining to test applicants, immediate inquiry is urged for young men to contact the nearest D.P.S. office or patrolman.

American Legion Auxiliary Enjoys Girls State Representatives' Report

Reports by the Girls State representatives, Nancy Voyles and Irene Foxhall, highlighted the regular meeting of American Legion Auxiliary Unit 175 held Tuesday, Sept. 16, at 7:30 p. m. in the American Legion Home. Mrs. Henry Gregory presided.

Miss Voyles thanked the auxiliary for sending her to Girls State; she said that she had not only learned the workings of government, but that she had also learned a new sense of pride, self-respect and respect for her country. Miss Voyles stated that the girls she had met from all over the state were topnotch people, and that she would always value the friendships she made. She said, "Girls State was a fantastic experience. I realize that our state and our government is truly what we make it."

Miss Foxhall also expressed thanks to the group. She explained that the girls had first attended seminars on state and national government, and had then put their knowledge in practice through city, county and state elections. Miss Foxhall was elected a city attorney. Girls State representatives and senators held a session in the Texas House and Senate in Austin and state officials took part in the Girls State inauguration in the Capitol Rotunda.

Miss Foxhall stated that the high point of the week had been a visit by former President and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson. She concluded, "We came away from Girls State knowing that a line we had learned would always be with us — 'we are the future builders'."

During the business session Mrs. Gregory reminded members of the 18th District convention to be held Oct. 25-26 in Dumas. She noted that Mrs. Ira Ott, field representative of the Amarillo Veterans Hospital, has resigned after many years and will be honored at the Dumas meeting. The auxiliary voted to contribute to a gift for her.

Mrs. Gregory announced that a Membership Workshop would be held Thursday, Sept. 25, at 8 p. m. in Childress and urged everyone to attend.

Members discussed sponsoring teen dances after the home football games, but will have to get the approval and help of the American Legion Post before definite plans can be made.

Final plans for the turkey dinner Saturday, Sept. 20, from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m., were discussed. "A bake sale will be held at the same time, and members without stated food assignments are asked to bring baked goods or a covered dish. Mrs. Gregory stated that the Annual Hall County Picnic parade would be held Saturday at 2 p. m. and a dance will be held that night at 9 p. m. in the American Legion Home. She also noted that bingo will be held Friday, Sept. 19, at 8 p. m. at the Home.

Members received new year books and then adjourned for a kitchen cleanup detail.

Voting delegates to represent the chapter at the first district meeting were also elected and include Timmy Fowler and Bobby Mac Richards.

Billy E. Dixon was selected as the chapter's nominee for district office. Chapter projects for the coming year include the concession at football games, alfalfa production and a hay feeding enterprise.

Again the "COUNTY OF COTTON" Is the Upcoming Center of Attraction!

WE JOIN IN INVITING EVERYONE TO ATTEND THE ANNUAL HALL COUNTY PICNIC

Date of the annual Hall County Picnic and 79th birthday celebration is Saturday and Sunday. As former citizens and local residents discuss bygone days, many of you will recall that the Memphis Compress Company was established here 48 years ago. From that date, we have served as headquarters for our friends in the ginning business in this county as well as a huge cotton-producing area.

Through the years we have been active in Hall County's progress. As we look to the future, we shall continue to cooperate with the cotton farmers, ginners and merchants we serve.

Let's join in celebrating this occasion. Much will be happening Saturday, and the Free Barbecue Sunday at the City Park will climax the event.

Interest is still growing in Heritage Hall. On the last Saturday August and Monday there were 112 registered, about one-third of them out-of-county, with 16 states represented.

The old Hall County boy who was in Heritage Hall visiting friends and looking things over. She still has bloom and personality.

Now in glass case is "Plains Indian Costume," the authentic Kiowa maiden ceremonial dress. All head work done by Ralph, Marjorie, Dennis and Kelly Howard of Lubbock. The Kiowa and Comanche, also other Plains Indians, roamed Hall and other Panhandle counties before driven out by the Anglo-Americans in 1870. Deep Lake was a favorite camping spot of Quannah Parker and his Comanche braves.

Another interesting picture brought to the Hall was the music class of the late Pearl Noel Ward in 1909. The following could be identified: Gradya Denney Power, Shaw Chauncey, Verse Brumley Dyer, Mammie Lou Baldwin Rouse, Kate Arnold Shelly, Willie and Howard Pardue and Courtney Denney.

Roy Alvin Massey and sister, Abbie Louise Cotrell, of San Antonio with her son, Shannon O'Neil Cotrell, named after his great-grandfather, were in over the weekend. This young fellow is two months old and a good traveler already.

Faye Wheat Street, one of our early-day beauty queens of Hall County, was in Heritage Hall visiting friends and looking things over. She still has bloom and personality.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Tarver and sons spent time in Heritage Hall and they seemed to be very much pleased with the displays. Gary was a 1950 MHS graduate and Jimmie graduated from Lakeview.

Mrs. H. L. Tellostron, sister of Mrs. E. C. Pierce, visiting Heritage Hall, said, "She was very much impressed with the many displays." Mrs. Tellostron's home is East Hartford, Conn.

H. R. Costello of Amarillo made this statement: "It is very impressive and looks like a tremendous amount of effort to get the items all assembled."

Vernon Neeley, now of San Diego, Calif., says he ran a tailor shop in Memphis about 23 years ago. His schooling was at Hulver and Parnell.

Oilton Pate and Dick Fowler both asked me the same question about the other... if I was told about the small colony they run into on vacation, I think they were both in on it, as both of them have been trying to buy fig leaf seed.

Don Reeves, county agent of Collingsworth County, was in Heritage Hall and told us he would bring in his mother's side saddle.

Albert McMurry and wife, Sallie Burnett McMurry, of Dumas visited in Heritage Hall. Will be looking for them at the picnic as they have been regular in attendance for several years.

Lester Campbell seems to have the picnic committee under control and it will click off smoothly. It is good to have these young fellows capable of carrying on where our older ones had to lay down our pick and shovel.

Well, our Mayor Kenneth Dale got too much sand in his eyes on Corpus Christi Beach, and I guess he's back with us until the beaches open up again in Texas. He reported a good season in South Texas this year.

A good many people here still call the picnic "Old Settlers Reunion," but it is not. It is "Hall County Picnic." We have a lot of new faces in Hall County and let us urge these new comers to attend and get better acquainted with your neighbors.

Ernest Lee has promised a Senior Citizen sing song in Heritage Hall at 4:30 p. m. Saturday and Sunday with old time Gospel songs. Come out and hear yourself sing. If you can't sing, whistle or hum.

I was in Dallas a few days ago and I don't believe over half of the people work in the U. S. and the others are on vacation and going some place. It looks like a big job for a fashion editor to keep up with all the styles now from Mini skirts and down and up. Just happened to note a new maternity suit on a lady. Fringed jeans 10 inches above the knee, over blouse and two huge curlers in the hair.

Bob Lindsey and wife, Doris Stilwell Lindsey, of Dimmitt, both graduates of MHS 1941 and 1940. They divided their family in two crops—two grown ups and two younger ones.

The last week in August we attended the wedding of our oldest grandson in Dallas. In that union we saw the promise of a happy marriage. It was a joyous experience. The first week in September we attended the diamond anniversary (75th) of my last uncle and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Baldwin in Lamesa. This was most inspiring and a "once only" experience. After I realized that Pearl and Charlie had looked at each other across the breakfast table 27,375 times with love and devotion I felt they had really fulfilled their marriage vows.

I met 129 cousins at this celebration and greeted them all. Twenty-nine were "kisin" cousins.

The bollworms are causing moderate to heavy damage in Hall County to cotton. In heavily infested fields as many as 25 bollworms were found on 100 plants and 50 percent of the squares were damaged. Heavier infestations were generally found in irrigated fields; however, some dry-land fields of cotton had large bollworm populations. Populations of bollworms are lighter than at this same time last year as control measures are being carried out in Hall County.

Heavy bollweevil infestations can be found in fields where infestations were established early in the growing season. In some fields in Hall County, boll weevil counts are ranging from 50 to 95 percent punctured squares.

Infestations of 20 to 60 fleahoppers per 100 terminals were reported by some Hall County farmers. Fleahoppers are causing

Congressman Bob Price Speaks On Need For New Farm Legislation

Panhandle Congressman Bob Price spoke to a joint Lions and Rotary Club assembly Friday on "Needed—New Solutions For Agriculture's Problems."

Cong. Price was a few minutes late arriving as he had to come from Muleshoe from a morning meeting.

Congressman Price began his talk explaining that Washington, D. C. is not the best, or the most fertile ground for contemplating the farm problem.

"All this is understandable, I suppose, when one looks at the smaller numbers of us in the Congress who represent predominantly agriculture districts. It reflects the 70 per cent urban—30 per cent rural mix of our population, as well as the smaller number of farm people," he said.

"A great number of people do not understand the farm problem, and take the view that farmers have been coddled and spoiled by the Federal Government for years," he said. "This is the atmosphere in which congressmen interested in solution to the farmers' problems have to work."

"This year should represent a watershed in our thinking about agriculture's policies. Existing price support and acreage adjustment legislation will expire at the close of the 1970 crop year, and we are faced with the question of whether we should renew existing legislation or take an entirely new approach to farm policy."

"We have a new administration, whose pledge last fall was: 'Farm policies and programs which will enable producers to receive fair prices in relation to the prices they must pay for other products.'"

The Panhandle congressman said what is needed is new policies for the 1970's, not a renewal of a "patchwork of old laws."

He went on to discuss the problem facing agriculture products in the market places over the world. "Where we're at is the trouble," he said, "and it is no fun for the wheat producer, or the cotton producer, or, for that matter, almost no farm producer, except, possibly, the live stock man, who's had a little bit of a break this year."

He went on to outline that in increased productivity in the United States despite taking out 45 to 50 million acres by diverting them to conserving uses, has exceeded the demand on the domestic as well as the world market. He cited figures which painted a poor future.

MHS Class To Meet For 20-Year Reunion

"Ex-students from far and near will be in Memphis Saturday night to attend the 20-year class reunion and dinner of the 1949 graduating class of Memphis High School," Roy Alvin Massey of Dallas said in a telephone conversation to The Democrat Tuesday morning.

The class reunion will be held at the O-Bar Dining Room beginning at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening. The dinner tickets are $2.50 each and reservations should be made with Mr. Massey or at The Democrat office, phone 259-2441. However, persons who have not made reservations are not to be restricted from attending, Massey said.

This is the first class reunion in 20 years and, perhaps, the only one for 20 more years; so it is hoped everyone will make an extra special effort to attend," Massey stated.

The class reunion coincides with the annual Hall County picnic. This way classmates can not only have the opportunity to visit together, but can see other friends who will be here for the picnic as well.

Wives, husbands and children, as well as other friends who were in high school with the 1949 graduating class are welcome and cordially invited to attend the dinner.

May Long of Porterville, Cal., is visiting here with cousins, Lloyd McKee, Ann Rhea Hamilton, Moselle Stout, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Grimes, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Johnson and Randolph Johnson and other friends and relatives.

The Memphis Chapter of Future Homemakers met Monday night for their second regular meeting of the year.

The program was based on the second purpose of FHA: "To emphasize the importance of worthy home membership". The guest speaker was Mrs. Joan Merrell who discussed adoption and the procedure of adopting a child. She told of some of her personal experiences and answered questions of the members.

Some people I know are a lot like blisters. They never appear until after the work is done.

Third Boll Weevil—

day-old boll worms were found in approximately 87 per cent of fields. This was an extra bonus because boll weevils are the prime interest in this program.
The state has appropriated $25,000 to be matched with farmers spraying at a rate of $1 per acre. This is enough to spray 14,929 acres have been sprayed. This should leave ample room for two more sprayings, it is reported.

Breakfast In Baldwin Home Opens 1913 Study Club Year

A lovely Southern Breakfast in the home of Mrs. Byron Baldwin on Wednesday morning opened the season for members of the 1913 Study Club. Co-hostess was Mrs. Sherron Lee.

After the invocation by Mrs. M. G. Tarver, members enjoyed a tasty menu consisting of a fruit plate, scrambled eggs, sausage, grits, hot biscuits, peach preserves, muffins, butter and coffee.

Table decorations carried out the president's theme, "Past Dimensions for Future Reference." The long table, covered with a Madera cloth, was centered with American flags flanked by miniature pioneer figurines placed on a drape of blue cloth. A white ribbon was used the length of the drape and inscribed in gold letters with the President's theme.

Mrs. Bray Cook, president, called the meeting to order and presided during the business session.

Mrs. M. G. Tarver, chairman of the eye screening project, made a report and plans were made for a representative from the Texas Society for the Prevention of Blindness to be in Memphis on Sept. 30 to hold a refresher course in visual screening.

Mrs. Sherron Lee, program chairman, distributed new year books.

After presenting year books, Mrs. Lee said, "We have tried to plan programs to entertain, educate, stimulate, amuse and inspire you. This is the beginning of a new club year. When it is gone it will be gone forever, leaving in its place something we have traded for it. We hope it is gain, not loss."

"Adlai Stevenson said: 'When an American says that he loves his country, he means not only that he loves the hills, the prairies glistening in the sun, the wide and rising plains, the great mountains, and the sea. He means that he loves an inner air—an inner light in which freedom lives and in which a man can draw the breath of self respect,'" Mrs. Lee said.

Continuing, she said: "We will study the physical beauty and variety of this country. We will look into the past and study the great documents of America—based on lasting principles. Our country's greatness is built upon the foundations laid by our founding fathers.

"We will learn more about our flag—for more than nine score years the emblem of liberty for generations after generation of Americans. Times vary and circumstances differ and nations err and the United States has had wars and faces future threats of wars. We will study this and realize that America is yet the hope of a majority of mankind," she concluded.

Mrs. Cook, in her address to club members said: "We Americans take a lot for granted. It's only natural because we've forgotten how far we've come. With few exceptions, the people who came to America were those lacking wealth, education, or highly developed skills. But they had one thing that we seem to be losing—they had rules—rules concerning life, limb, and property, rules concerning deportment, manners, conduct, and rules defining dishonesty, dishonor, misconduct and crime. The rules were not always obeyed, but they were believed in, and breaking them was punished."

"In this fall of 1969, we realize that never before have Americans had so much money—never has spending for luxurious living been at such a mad pace. And yet, there is discontent, frustration and protest. The depression years of the thirties were terribly difficult but there was not much evidence of widespread unhappiness then as there is today. Somewhere is our search for happiness we have taken a wrong turn."

"Centuries ago Pericles said: 'Happiness is freedom and freedom is courage.' In our search for the good life we have been concentrating on material comforts while neglecting more fundamental values. Ethics, morals, codes of conduct were the stern rules in the past that brought about our survival as a nation. The rules allowed us to survive, to live together and to increase."

Mrs. Cook pointed out that "Now is the time for every true American to stand up and be counted. What we need is a big dose of courage. Courage to take a position on controversial issues; courage to reject compromise between good and evil; courage to take a stand on moral issues; courage to refuse to be bought by government payments or private bribes; courage to say 'no' in business deals as well as at home; courage to accept risk as the price for opportunity.

"Only in this country may struggling thousands, from every race, color and creed, find opportunity to get an education. No other nation on earth has so afforded its people the opportunity of liberty with labor, a chance to work and to rise.

"We live in the greatest nation under heaven—a nation whose heritage has been bought by the lives of over one million men since this nation had its beginning in 13 struggling colonies. "It is only when individuals seek to gain the benefits of those endeavors have so enriched our society, without the responsibility of leadership or the courage to perform constructive labor, that the American way of life is in jeopardy. The words of the great statesman Daniel Webster are so applicable today that they seem to be written for his very time: 'If we abide by the principles taught in the Bible, our country will go on prospering, but if we and our posterity neglect its instructions and authority, no man can tell how sudden a catastrophe may overwhelm us and bury us and our glory in profound obscurity.'"

"It behooves every American to be 'visible and vital' and stand up and be counted—to display with pride our American flag—a symbol of our unquenchable ideals, to be proud of our country's stirring heritage and determined that we shall carry the American dream forward, that this nation 'under God' shall continue to be great," Mrs. Cook concluded.

Litter Is Problem Of Conservation Farming By Creating Many Hazards

Litter is almost as bitter an enemy of conservation farmers and ranchmen as erosion, a local conservationist said this week.

Henry D. Gregory, district conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service, said that was why his office and the Hall County Soil and Water Conservation District were glad to join with the Beauty Texas Council in helping focus public attention on the statewide litter problem. He said that the council recently asked all Texans to renew anti-litter efforts this summer.

"Too many people still litter our countryside with bottles, cans, and other trash," Gregory stressed. "This not only mars the beauty of our rural lands, but when it collects on farm or grassland, it can also become a conservation problem."

Gregory listed several ways litter is a conservation menace.

First, it is a fire hazard. He pointed out that under certain conditions, bottles had been blamed with magnifying the sun's rays enough to start costly grass and forest fires. Every year, countless wildlife and livestock are poisoned by litter thrown in pastures and fields. Others are injured or starved when they get their heads or feet caught in bottles, cans, and other trash.

The conservationist also said litter hinders farming and ranching operations; it can pollute the ponds and streams, killing fish; some trash catches water, increasing mosquitoes, thus becoming a health problem; it can be a safety hazard; and it costs millions of dollars just to pick up every year.

"Besides," he said, "it is ugly." "Conservation farmers and the ranchers do as much to help beautify Texas as anyone," Gregory added. "Neatly contoured fields, well-managed grasslands and the woodlands, sediment-free ponds, lakes and streams, sloped and seeded gullied acres; all this and other work done by conservation farmers adds to the beauty of the landscape.

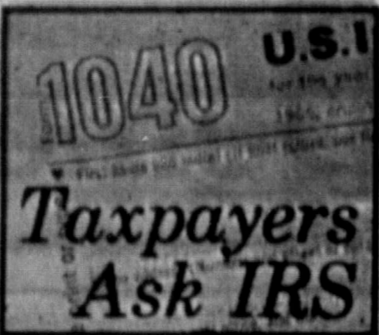

"The least the rest of us can do is put our litter in a trash can instead of throwing it on the land to mar this beauty."

Piland Helps Rescue Lubbock Tot From Pool

Gene Piland, former Memphis resident, and two Texas Tech students were successful in a joint effort to save the life of a small Lubbock boy, Steven Joe Prater, age two, after he had fallen into the swimming pool of the apartment house where he lived.

Piland and the students, also residents of the apartment house, were summoned by the screams of the youngster's sister, Fredna, who discovered him. After pulling the child from about three feet of water, the three performed mouth-to-mouth resuscitation until the members of the Fire Department came.

Steven was admitted at Methodist Hospital for observation, but was reported to be doing fine.

Q—I made a profit when I sold my vacation home. Can I postpone tax on this if I put all the money into another summer place?

A—No, the provision in the tax law that permits the postponement of tax on the profits from the sale of a personal residence only applies to the taxpayer's principal residence. A second home, or a vacation home, is not covered.

Q—I sold some standing timber on my farm to a lumber company. Is this regular income or a capital gain?

A—Such a sale is usually reported as a capital gain or loss. For details on when sale of timber is treated as a capital gain, send a post card to your District Office requesting IRS Publication 544, Sales and Exchanges of Assets.

The Department of Agriculture also has a publication on this subject. It is Handbook No. 274, "The Timber Owner and his Federal Income Tax," and is available from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., 20402, for 35c a copy.

There would be a gain to report if you received more for the car when you sold it than its fair market value at the time of your father's death.

Americans owe a debt of gratitude to Congress for taking a three-week vacation. There is no way to estimate the savings in tax money during the lull.

OLDSMOBILE—Pictured above is two views of the body style offered exclusively for the 1970 Delta 88 Royale represents the top of Oldsmobile's '88' line of cars. Standard engine on this 1970 Oldsmobile is a 455-cu.-in. V-8. A high output engine option, designated W-33, is available on the Delta 88 Royale and on all other Oldsmobile '88' models for 1970. Oldsmobiles go on display today in dealer's showrooms throughout the nation.

70 Oldsmobile Lines Feature Styling, Durability, Going On Display Today

new and luxurious personal-size heads Oldsmobile's line progressively-styled 1970 models of them featuring history-making engineering advancements at added durability and reduction in the need for maintenance, it was announced by John Belts, the division's general manager and vice president of Oldsmobile Motors.

Ward, Memphis Oldsmobile dealer, announced that all lines of the 1970 Oldsmobiles are on display in the showroom here at Ward Motor Co., today.

"The newest Oldsmobile is the elegant Cutlass Supreme Hardtop Coupe," he reported. "It is a distinctive car designed to answer growing customer demands for sporty luxury in a personalized kind of automobile. It is identified by its own roof line, its own body shape, its own external ornamentation, and its own ultraluxurious interior."

He said the new coupe and a companion convertible represent an important added element in Oldsmobile's 1970 intermediate model lineup, complementing the 4-4-2 and Cutlass 'S' series whose fastback coupes have been Oldsmobile's most popular.

"These cars, too," Belts said "have been restyled to emphasize their youthful image to an ever higher degree."

"Meanwhile," he said, "the successful look of elegance in our '88's and '98's has been further enhanced in 1970 to make them even more appealing, and the Toronado has undergone the most extensive change in appearance since its introduction in 1965."

In a major reversion of engine availabilities for 1970, Oldsmobile has introduced the 455-cu.-

in. engine which is no longer required. The 455 will also be used as part of the performance option for the new Cutlass Supreme coupe and convertible.

"The Cutlass SX," said Belts, "is only one of several options developed by Oldsmobile engineers for the buyer who wants the ultimate in performance. They particularly include Oldsmobile's now famous 'W' machines, headed by the all-new W-30, 455 cubic inch force-air package, optional on the 4-4-2 coupes. Available again on the Cutlass 'S' and F-85 coupes will be the highly successful W-31 option with the 350 cubic inch force-air engine.

He said the newly designated W-33 option is a high output engine selection available on all '88' models, while the W-34 will again identify the performance package in the Toronado.

"Front wheel power disc brakes," Belts explained, "are standard on the 1970 Toronado and the '98' models. On our '88's, if the customer orders power brakes, front disc brakes are included in the option. Both power drum brakes and power assisted front disc remain options on our F-85's."

The automatic transmissions available on 1970 Oldsmobiles are 3-speed. The Turbo Hydra-Matic 350 replaces the 2-speed Jetaway as the automatic transmission option on F-85 models equipped with the 350 cubic inch V-8 engine.

As a further theft deterrent, Oldsmobile has developed a hood catch lock that prevents opening of the hood except through the use of an "inside-the-car" release control.

All 1970 Oldsmobile coupes and convertibles equipped with the power door lock option will feature a mechanism that automatically unlocks the front seat back when a door is opened. Power door locks and deck lid release are electrically operated for 1970, allowing unlimited use of these features.

The electric rear window defogger, introduced recently on the Toronado, becomes a new option on the 1970 '88's and '98's.

LOVING MEMORIES
Your gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
The voice is mute and stilled the heart
That loved us well and true,
Ah, bitter was the trial to part
From one so good as you.
You are not forgotten loved one
Nor will you ever be,
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by, we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.

I do not claim to be a weather prophet, but stuck my neck out a few weeks ago when someone asked me when it was going to rain. I gave my prophecy that it would rain at the end of this dry spell and sure enough it did, and we are all very grateful for this good moisture.

There have been more family reunions here than usual, almost every Saturday during the summer. Reports from the J. A. Finch family reunion; this family moved to Memphis in 1890 (was date I was told); there were 37 Finches in Dalhart for the dinner, representing four generations, ages 6 weeks to 89 years old.

Clara Lemons Martin, sister of Sug Lemons, is now the wife of V. G. Martin of Dumas, Texas. Clara was a graduate of MHS 1928 class which Hiram Crawford and James Arthur Anthony say was the biggest and smartest graduating class we ever had here.

Raymond Brumley of Austin was in this past week and made a donation to Heritage Hall in memorial of his family who were old-timers here. He is an old MHS graduate. Thanks Raymond.

Two more donations to Heritage Hall this week — Linda Estes and Jess Carlton.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stargel of Amarillo were in looking Heritage Hall over and liked it very much. Roy was a graduate of MHS.

Mrs. A. B. Jones and two daughters in Heritage Hall, Ola Mae Jones Ward of Memphis and Florence Jones Brumley of Austin. Florence graduated MHS 1927 and Ola Mae graduated in 1930 along with her sister Ethel Jones Johnson of Garland. The 1930 MHS class was very popular with the Jones. The above two graduated that year along with two of Wilbur Jones — Ida and Wilford Jones. Ola Mae brought the trombone in of Thomas Hampton that he played in the Gold Medal Band around the year of 1926.

Leonard Braidfoot was in Heritage Hall last week and he had just come back from seeing Gus Stephenson. Gus was a member of the Gold Medal Band several years. He is now in bad health and will not be able to make the picnic which he always enjoys so much. He sent in the band music for us to keep as he did not want it destroyed as it was the music he and Cicero Milam used and thought it might still be beneficial to someone. If any of you want to send Gus a card I am sure he would appreciate it. Gus Stephenson, 208 High Street, SE, Albuquerque, N. M. 87102.

Noticed Si Byars family had a reunion a few days ago and in talking to one of the girls, Mrs. Hill, said she was the 13th child. There are now 4 boys and 4 girls living, but scattered out from here to California. Uncle Si Byars, according to Mrs. Hill, was the head of a Byars tribe of about 75. I knew Uncle Si . . . quite a character, and had many expressions of his own, "You think I wouldn't when I would" was one of many. To climax this reunion the V. G. Byars had their 50th wedding anniversary with lots of cousins, aunts, uncles, nephews, nieces and grandchildren. Everyone seemed to be enjoying the day.

It seems like the glass plates with a cup of punch and a piece of cake on them get slicker every time I make a social and I hate to sit down at a table or it rolls off into someone. I guess nothing the matter with me. It just those slick plates. Edna Baker, sister of Morgan Baker, left here in 1938 going to Santa Fe, N. M. and on to California. Graduate MHS 1925. She says a lot of water has run under the bridge since then. Married Ray Stacy and now in Alburn, Calif. Has three children, two girls and one boy, 6 grandchildren, two great-grandchildren. Liked Heritage Hall and reported that it was one of the nicest museums she had visited.

Verna Crump, another MHS graduate of 1919 class, now living in Lubbock visited here recently. She left Memphis in 1932. When visiting Heritage Hall, she commented we had something of which to be proud.

Jeanette Irons and Mrs. Andy Gardenhire brought the class of 25 pupils to Heritage Hall and think the youngsters got a kick out of it.

Mr. and Mrs. Bengy Estes of Houston were in Heritage Hall. Bengy was a graduate of 1937 class. He and Jane thought had well arranged displays: large old-time spinning wheel, hand woven spreads and sheets and collection of pictures from Shoe Bar and TW Ranch; Ranch Battery Radio (W. H. Craver) 345 volt battery 12 telephone brought in for display by Louis and Lois Foxhall.

CARD OF THANKS

Sgt. Donnie Bridges Fighting Forest Fires In Alaska

FT. RICHARDSON, ALASKA — A raging forest fire, regarded as the worst in Alaska in 25 years, is being battled by more than 750 soldiers of the 117th Infantry Brigade (Mechanized) from Ft. Richardson, near Anchorage.

Sergeant Donnie D. Bridges, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie W. Bridges, Memphis, is one of the men engaged in fighting the 40,000-acre fire burning on the Kenai Peninsula, about 60 miles south of Anchorage. He is regularly assigned as a section chief in Headquarters and Service Battery, 1st Battalion of the brigade's 37th Artillery.

Starting on August 3, the blaze was expanded by increasing winds to serious dimensions, destroying wildlife and recreation areas, driving hundreds from their homes. In the general area of several sites of petroleum drilling and production.

The Army's fire-fighting support elements are utilizing more than 150 vehicles, including bulldozers, trucks, jeeps, and water and fuel tankers.

Randal Hunt Enjoys Six-Week European Tour

Randal Hunt, son of Dr. and Mrs. T. A. Hunt, left July 4th with nine other students for a six-week tour and study session in Europe. Randal is the grandson of Mrs. Mable Meacham of Memphis.

From Pocatello the group flew to New York City where they spent four days and nights touring the many parts of interest such as the United Nations, Manhattan, The Statue of Liberty, Radio City Music Hall, Riverside Park and St. Patrick's Cathedral. While there they also saw the Rockettes, "Funny Girl" and the Broadway production "Fiddler on the Roof".

The morning of July 8th the group departed from John F. Kennedy International Airport in New York for Rome. Four days were spent in Rome viewing such as the Coliseum, The Catacombs. While there the group did a lot of shopping and attended the opera "Aida" by Verdi at the ancient Roman baths. At the end of their stay in Rome they visited the Vatican City including St. Peter's Basilica, the Pope's Chamber, The Vatican Museum, and the Sistine Chapel.

The next stop was Paris where two weeks were spent. While in Paris the group saw the Eiffel Tower, Invalides Hotel (where Napoleon's injured troops were kept), Louvre Museum (Mona Lisa), Notre Dame Cathedral, Montmartre shopping district, Versailles Palace (former official home of the French royal families), Fontainebleau Palace (the summer home of the royal family) and the official residence of Napoleon Bonaparte during his reign as emperor).

The last stop for the Foreign Study League group was at Leycester, Switzerland one of the most beautiful and scenic spots in all of Europe. The students started their study of French at Paris, but it was at Leycester where most of the schooling was done and the graduation took place. Upon graduation of the course credit was awarded to the students at their schools. While in Leycester man visits to the local discotheques and cafes were made. Side trips were also made to Lake Geneva, The Castle of Chillon, Bern, the capital, Zermatt, at the foot of the Matterhorn, The Diablerets Glacier. Many activities were also planned at Leycester itself, many by the students themselves. This part of the trip was the most enjoyable of all. The conclusion of the trip was the trip to Geneva from where the group flew to New York City Aug. 17th and then to Pocatello again on Aug. 18th.

Mr. Robert L. Lehot was the coordinator of the trip and the principal of the campus. Mr. Lehot is a native of France, but has made his home in Boise, Idaho, for many years and teaches French at a high school there.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Overseth were the chaperone's for the Am-pas were the chaperones for the Am- pas experience with the Foreign Study League. Mr. Overseth is employed with the Snake River Cattle Company, and Mrs. Overseth is a member of the American Falls High School Faculty. They are residents of American Falls.

Randal is a Junior this year and attends American Falls High School in American Falls, Idaho. He is also an organ student of organist, Dr. Robert Cundick of Salt Lake City, Utah.

Fall Armyworms Are Invading Hall County

Cool, wet weather favors an increase in the number of Fall Armyworms in Hall County. "This insect," says County Agent W. B. Hooser, "can do a lot of damage before it is noticed unless careful checks are made."

The fall armyworm attacks sorghum, corn, small grains and grasses, as well as alfalfa, peas and beans. The past week, during the wet, rainy weather when lawns acquired a lush, green growth, they, in many instances, were skeletonized by the armyworms. Cold weather is unfavorable to the production of many insect enemies of the worm and the favorable moisture situation provides conditions for good plant growth, upon which the larvae thrive.

"The main problem in control is early detection," says Hooser. Control is easier and less expensive when the worms are small. Since the worms leave only the midribs on the leaves, the infested spots take on a silvery appearance. If spots are noted where plants have lost their green color, better make a close check for the small worms, advises the county agent.

There may be as many as 5 to 10 generations of fall armyworms each year. The larval stage lasts about 20 days during which time the fall armyworms reach a length of one to one and one-half inches. When the larvae are full grown, they dig into the soil about an inch and pupate. The adult female emerges from the ground within two weeks and generally flies some distance before laying eggs in masses about 150, female fall armyworms produce about 1000 eggs.

The full grown larvae vary in color from light tan or green to nearly black. They have three yellowish - white hair lines down the back from head to tail; on the side next to the yellow lines is a wider dark stripe spotted with red. There is a prominent white inverted Y on the front of the head.

When large numbers of fall armyworms are present, the host plants can be cleaned out of a field; then these larvae invade adjoining fields and lawns. Build-ups are heaviest after cool, wet weather; however, when host plants are limited by dry weather, fall armyworms may be found in large numbers in grain sorghum or small grain fields (especially those fields that have been irrigated or that are in a lush green growing condition).

Cultural control by shallow cultivation is effective when the larvae have become full grown and entered the soil a few inches where the pupal stage is passed.

Insecticidal control of fall armyworms is accomplished most effectively when the larvae are small. Several applications of insecticide may be required to control larger larvae. For information on insecticides for control of fall armyworms or other pests attacking sorghums or small grains, contact your county Extension agent.

Because of the addition of big Alaska as a state, the Mason-Dixon line is now far above where it was and New York, Boston, Chicago and Detroit are now a part of the South. Maybe they will switch from the brawl to the drawl.

Congressmen blame the Pentagon for high spending but never blame the weather bureau for high winds.

The first general audit in three years of the local ASCS office was completed last week by Mr. Manford H. Levy, Auditor for the Office of Inspector General, USDA, Lynn L. McKown, Office Manager Hall County ASCS, announced recently.

Clarendon Wins Scoring Contest 41-20 In Opener

The Memphis Cyclone could not guarantee enough defensive speed or skill to contain Clarendon's lightning fast quarterback, Jim Moore, and powerful halfback, Charles Louis, Friday evening; so the home team came out on the short end of a 41-20 contest in the season opener.

The Cyclone's offense, led by Quarterback Merle Kilpatrick, and featuring the tackle-breaking running of Tailback Ronnie McFalls, scored three touchdowns and a two-point conversion.

Clarendon's Moore carried the football on 12 occasions from scrimmage and high-stepped his way for a total of 146 yards, averaging a phenomenal 12.1 yards per carry. Louis, a 170-lb.

halfback, got his hands on the ball 15 times and ground out 101 yards for a 7-yard per carry average. Besides Moore's scrimmage plays, he also had over 100 yards returning punts and kicking off during the game. One punt return went for 70 yards and a touchdown.

Offensive highlights for the Cyclone in the Clarendon game were the running of Tailback Ronnie McFalls who averaged 5 yards per carry on 23 carries, totaling 111 yards. Also the passing and running of Quarterback Merle Kilpatrick put the scores on the scoreboard. Kilpatrick completed 6 of 15 passes he attempted, one of which was to Wingback Mark Hundley for 65 yards and a touchdown, the last play of the first half ended. Kilpatrick ran over two touchdowns and a 2-point conversion after executing good fakes to Fullback Carol Thompson, who played almost all the game on a weak ankle which he had turned in workout last Tuesday.

Thompson's per carry average, 2.5 yards on 10 carries for 25 yards, possibly was caused by two factors, his weak ankle and the alert linebacking of Clarendon's Bennie Reese.

Quarterback Kilpatrick made 18 yards on 11 carries, but had to overcome a minus 19 yards when he was dumped attempting to pass the football. Fullback Roger Kehr made three yards on one carry.

Game At A Glance
Clarendon took the opening kickoff and drove down the field to score. Moore took the ball over from the 12-yd. line with 9:08 left in the first quarter. Larry Longan kicked the point after touchdown, and Clarendon led 7-0.

Memphis' Lewis Davis recovered a fumbled punt catch on the Clarendon 23 a few plays later setting up Memphis' first touchdown opportunity.

A 2-yard carry by Kilpatrick and a 9-yard pass play to TB McFalls and Memphis marched to the Clarendon 12. Two fine carries by FB Thompson for a total of 8 yards, and then a fake to Thompson and a sprint out by Kilpatrick put 6 points on the scoreboard for Memphis. Thompson tried the PAT but it was wide.

Clarendon's QB Moore almost yielded up a touchback when he was dropped on a third down pass attempt for 11 yards on the 1-yard line, a few plays later.

A Memphis fumble which Clarendon recovered earlier in the second quarter on the Clarendon 35 set up the scoring effort by the Bronchos. Louis made 8 yds. on the first down, then QB Moore, fancy stepped his way 57 yards across the field and then back across the field, running through almost all of the Memphis team to score. A fake kick, pass play from Moore to FB Reese yielded two points and the score was 15-6.

Clarendon scored again the next time they got the ball, on a 48-yard wingback reverse by Ike O'Neal. Longan kicked the PAT and the score was 22-6.

Memphis struck back with a beautifully executed pass from QB Kilpatrick to WB Hundley which covered 65 yards on the last scrimmage play before the end of the half. A two-point pass play from QB Kilpatrick to WB Max McQueen was slapped down by an alert Clarendon defender so the half ended 22-12.

Memphis opened the second half scoring with an impressive drive for a touchdown. TB McFalls carried the ball nine straight times in the drive moving the ball from the Memphis 34 to the Clarendon one-yd. line. The longest gain was 36 yards when Safety Back Moore downed McFalls on the Clarendon 8. Kilpatrick took the ball over on a third down, and also ran the two-point conversion making the score 22-20, and a new ball game.

After this Clarendon yielded the ball twice on fumbles, one recovered by Kilpatrick and the other by Thompson.

A big snap from center on a punting down gave Clarendon the ball on the Memphis 25, setting up their next score. Moore took the ball over from the 10 for the TD. Longan's kick was wide, and the score was 28-20.

Just before the end of the third quarter, Moore returned a punt 70 yards for the Bronchos' next score, and Longan again missed the PAT attempt. Clarendon scored again on a 45-yard drive after recovering another Cyclone fumble early in the fourth quarter. HB Louis took the ball over from the 3-yard line. Longan kicked the PAT, making the final score 41-20.

Faith of the Pioneers

During the past reunions of the Hall County Pioneers, it seemed that the favorite pastime was one of relating the early day experiences. Some of those tales were of hardship and sacrifice; some of friendship, love and great devotion; and some were funny or sad. However, the one thing that seemed to hold true with all of the stories, was the fact that these pioneers had two great qualities — FAITH AND HOPE.

When they came here they had few material possessions, little money, but great FAITH in the future and lots of HOPE that their coming here was not a mistake.

Theirs was a FAITH that enabled them to dare to dream, to believe, to adventure. Their FAITH was the foundation of their friendship with one another regardless of their background. Their FAITH created ideals and aspirations that enabled them to keep on believing regardless of the hardships they endured. FAITH was the power that gave them strength to live in their new world and, yet, look to the future of this generation and to those to come. Yes, they brought with them this great gift that gave this County its start — FAITH in themselves, FAITH in their fellowman, and most of all FAITH in their GOD.

They also brought and gave to us HOPE. HOPE is also a quality which abides and is more than mere wishful dreaming of idle dreams. Their hope was based on certain truths, certain expectations, and certain beliefs which they knew were eternal. They could laugh, sing, and cry all at the same time for they knew that behind every cloud there was sunshine, and each disappointment would bring a better day. When something went wrong, they did not stand around wringing their hands woefully saying "There is nothing we can do about it." They did not have time for such idle chatter—they got busy and tried to right the wrong. They felt that time was precious and every day must be spent in building what they HOPED would be a fine place to live.

We point with pride to the growth and improvements of our County, but without the Faith and Hope of our pioneers, our surroundings might have been much less attractive or progressive. We thank you for giving us these two great gifts and we pray that in the future when the 150th celebration is held, our children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren can look back and say the same of us.

We hope that you enjoy your stay here and want you to know that we welcome each and everyone. Come by and see us while you are here.

1970 CHEVROLET LINE—Going on display today in dealer showrooms over the nation are the 1970 models of Chevrolet. A new concept of elegance is the distinctive Monte Carlo Sport Coupe shown above. This newest addition to the Chevrolet line is characterized by smooth flowing lines and sculptured surfaces dramatically emphasized by the longest hood ever produced by Chevrolet. A plush interior is another feature of the Monte Carlo Coupe, adding elegance and grace to Chevrolet's newest entry.

New Chevrolet Cars For 1970 To Go On Display Today At Dealers

DETROIT — The Monte Carlo — a totally new personal luxury car — headlines Chevrolet's new models for 1970. John Z. DeLorean, General Motors vice president and Chevrolet general manager, said today.

The 1970 Chevrolet Line goes on display today in dealers showrooms over the nation and locally at Ward Motor Co. in Memphis. Seven distinctive Chevrolet lines will be shown.

"The 1970's will be an unparalleled decade of individual customer choice," DeLorean said. "Chevrolet will continue to set the industry pace with a variety of cars and options which allow each buyer to custom tailor his or her personal transportation."

"Monte Carlo adds a new market dimension by offering to the youthful, sophisticated buyer a superb and individual, high fashion styling and intermediate-size handling and performance."

"The big Chevrolet has new styling and added power for 1970 and Chevelle has an all-new appearance," DeLorean said. "Improvements in these lines are incorporated in both sizes of Chevrolet station wagons. The fast-selling Nova has fresh appeal in its new models."

Current models of the popular Chevrolet Corvette and Camaro will be continued to the end of this year with new models in each line scheduled for introduction later in the model year.

DeLorean said that among important 1970 engine changes, the base V-8 of the big Chevrolet is increased to 350 cubic inches from 327 cubic inches in 1969 to give added power for options such as air conditioning that continue to grow in customer popularity.

The base six cylinder engine of Chevelle is also increased — 250 cubic inches in 1970 compared with 230 cubic inches in 1969. "A smooth running new 400 cubic inch V-8 that burns regular fuel is introduced as an option on the big Chevrolet and also is available on Monte Carlo," DeLorean said.

"Two new high torque 454 cubic inch V-8's replace 427 cubic inch engines offered on the big Chevrolet in 1969."

He said mechanical improvements include smoother engine acceleration through the use of a transmission controlled vacuum spark advance.

Longer life, fiberglass-belted tires are standard on all 1970 Chevrolet models.

New for 1970 among Chevrolet's more than 400 options and accessories are improved electric door locks, replacing vacuum locks.

With the electric door locks is a new automatic front seat back release for coupes which unlatches when either front door is opened, for easier access to the rear seat. The latch re-locks securely when the door is closed.

Also new is an electric rear deck lid release operated from inside the glove box.

Monte Carlo — this totally new Chevrolet blends action and elegance in a sporty personal luxury car. There is one model — a 2-door hardtop coupe.

Regular Chevrolet — the industry's top selling car has a new front end appearance in 1970 with a richer looking fine mesh grille and more prominent headlights.

The exclusive Caprice and Impala Custom Coupe roofline with full-width rear window continues in 1970. This is the largest selling single body style among regular-sized cars in the industry.

Chevelle — The industry's top-selling intermediate, whose sport coupe is the largest selling single body style on the market, has a completely new look for 1970.

The bold front end design emphasizes the engine with a projecting, split grille. Dual headlights blend back into the fenders.

Nova — Chevrolet's Nova showed substantial sales increases in 1969 and continued to be the industry's top selling small domestic family car.

For 1970, Nova continues its blend of clean styling and economy. It features a new finer mesh grille and larger front, side and rear lamps.

Station Wagons — To again give the station wagon buyer opportunity to select exactly the size and features he wants, Chevrolet's eight station wagon models are grouped in a single line with two sizes in 1970. All have dual action tailgates.

On a 119-inch wheelbase and incorporating the styling of the big Chevrolet are the Kingswood Estate, Kingswood, Townsman and Brookwood.

On a 116-inch wheelbase with Chevelle styling are the Concours

There is a place for light tackle, but a fisherman should be certain he is in the right place before using it.

For instance, I've been reading about fishermen taking cobia (ling) off the Florida coast with light tackle.

Oh boy! In Texas you can figure on the average ling running 15 pounds or better. Some go up to 60 pounds. And every once a fighter!

You can get plenty tired boating them with a 50-pound-test line. So why fool around with six-pound line on a light-weight rod, and perhaps lose the fish with a hook in its jaw?

Austin Angler Glen Hayden, fishing in the Texoma tournament a year or so ago, (in which he won the top prize of a little more than $2,000), used 17-pound-test line to land his bass. He wasn't fooling with them!

Several irate fishermen from other parts of the world chided him about the weight of his line. One man wrote that he used only two-pound line and that large only because he couldn't buy 1-pound line.

A friend down at Falcon Lake recently said he wanted nothing less than 20-pound-test line for fishing in the wonderful body of water that straddles the Rio Grande between Texas and Mexico.

Fishermen now working the lakes around Texas, where there is considerable brush left on the bottom, like line 14 to 17-pound-test.

I learned a good lesson about this last fall, on a ranch tank in Southwest Texas, while using a rig that had 8-pound line.

It cast well and I cast far out to the edge of a creek channel that ran into the tank. A fourpound bass took that side-shad plug, jumped a couple of times, then headed straight for brush protruding about half-way to the bank.

With that light line I couldn't hold him. He managed to get to the brush, and I managed to tangle the line in the brush. I then waded out into the chilly water and took him off. Right then I decided it was safer, in more ways than one, to use a line that will handle a fish.

You can get just about all the distance and fun you want, with 12, 14 or 17-pound monoline. And you are much more certain of boating the fish. After all that's what most of us are after. We might turn him loose when we get him in, but don't like to lose him before he reaches the boat or the bank.

One thing can be said about today's monofilament line . . . it usually carries its correctly rated strength. There was a time when you bought a 15-pound line that probably wouldn't test over 10 pounds.

Most bait fishermen learned long ago to use a good heavy line. When they drop a minnow down in the brush bed they want something that will pull the fish out of that brush.

So, if your reel is equipped with a very light line, let me suggest you give it the spring house cleaning treatment and put on a line heavy enough to land your prize fish.
