Planning Begins For Annual Hall County Picnic, Sept. 20

Planning for the 1970 edition of the Hall County Picnic got underway Tuesday with President Earl Hill presiding at a steering committee meeting at which 30 people attended.

The Steering Committee set the date of the Hall County Reunion for the third Sunday in September, on Sept. 20, 1970.

Several problems facing the planning of this year's celebration were discussed during the hour and a half session.

Pete Land, who has been doing the cooking for several years, has reported to local leaders of the picnic that the tornado which swept by his place this spring took with it all his barbecue utensils. He still has his pits, which were not damaged, but he has been unable to find replacements for the multitude of big brass pots, and large kettles and pans which he lost to the storm.

Reunion officials are to meet with Mr. Land soon to discuss with him what is needed and arrange for whatever assists are feasible.

In one of the big changes, the Memphis Volunteer Firemen asked to be relieved of the duty of cooking the meal as helpers of Mr. Land, a chore they have had since the beginning of the Hall County Reunion several years ago.

The Memphis Lions Club was asked to assume this duty by the steering committee of the association.

County Commissioner Ed Hutcherson appealed for help in acquiring wood for the barbecuing crews to use. "We've got trucks but can't find any mesquite wood within hauling distance," he said.

If any landowners in the immediate area have dried mesquite wood, the Hall County Picnic needs five truck loads.

The committee asked the Simmons - Noel Post of the American Legion, J. T. Stone, Commander, to again sponsor the parade. The Legion is to discuss this project and report back.

The Willis Family Singers are being asked to return to the picnic this year, under similar arrangements as in past years. The Family couldn't attend last year.

Lakeview Watershed To Begin Soon

Farmers Receive Early Gov. Program Payments

Farmers who have contributed to stabilizing markets for food and fiber and to the conservation of soil and water resources by taking part in the 1970 wheat, feed grain, and cotton programs are receiving their program payments earlier this year than ever before, according to Mr. Larry B. Rogers, Executive Director, of the Hall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

The first batch of payments were made beginning July, 1970. Additional payments will continue to be made as rapidly as farmers certify compliance with program requirements and as fast as individual farm records can be processed and checks returned to ASCS county offices for distribution to farmers.

Most payments should be completed by mid-August, if farmers who signed up will complete the necessary certification indicating that they have complied with all of the program provisions. In recent years, the U. S. Department of Agriculture had advanced partial payments to farmers during the spring signup period for the feed grain program only. The balance of the feed grain payment, and cotton and wheat payments were generally made starting in late July and continuing through August and September, or later.

Because of budget restraints, partial payments could not be made this year. However, the Department made a commitment to farmers that full payments would be made as early as possible. That commitment is now being fulfilled.

The sponsors of the Lakeview Watershed Project met Tuesday night and took definite steps to clear right-of-way easements on two of the needed five construction units in the watershed in order for the detailed surveying to get underway by September, 1970.

Officers of the Hall and Donley Counties Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 and County Judge E. (Gip) McMurry and Precinct Commissioners from Memphis and Lakeview precincts all met with local Soil Conservation Service District personnel at the meeting.

It was announced that all easements on the Bitter Creek construction unit were clear so this will be one of the two units to be surveyed first and constructed first.

The sponsors then selected the Brushy Creek unit to be cleared next for construction since only a very few easements remain to be secured on this work unit. The sponsors plan to have these few easements cleared by Aug. 1 of this year.

The John Mann Creek unit has been selected as the third work unit for acquiring complete easements. The schedule commitment plan calls for detailed survey work to begin on this work in March, 1971.

In all, it will take approximately five years to complete the Lakeview Watershed Project according to the Plan of Work.

When the detailed survey is complete on a work unit, then structures can be designed, and contracts can be let for building the flood control system on the creek.

The Soil Conservation Service, according to a letter received recently here, signed by State Conservationist Clyde Graham, said that the planning party will move here September, 1970, if the sponsors have completed and certify that two of the five work units are ready to be surveyed (that landowners have signed all necessary easements).

The letter said, "It is state policy to not start construction in a new watershed until the sponsors obtain land rights on works of improvement that would provide at least two years of construction and provide a written assurance to obtain the remaining land rights on a schedule by dates that would assure continuous construction until completion of the project."

The SCS's planning party will locate headquarters in Memphis and members of this party will move into this area. Henry Gregory, District Conservationist, said that the planning party could possibly reside here for several years if adequate lodging is found and construction schedules for the Lakeview Watershed project are met.

"The sponsors hope to get started building the first part of the watershed before this year is out," Gregory said.

The sponsors attending Tuesday night's meeting were enthusiastic about the prospect of beginning the planning and construction stages of the project which has been several years in local planning.

Exciting Finale Seen In Little League Tonight

Exciting climaxes are on tap for the Little League finale tonight at Little League ballpark. The Giants and Yankees play in the first game, followed by a most important Tiger - Indians contest.

In between-game intermission, Little League officials will announce the All-Star team members selected from all four teams. The Memphis All-Stars will represent Memphis in area play-offs Monday, July 20, at Claude.

The Tigers and Indians game is vital to the outcome of the second half winner. The Yankees and Indians tied Tuesday night, 12-12 when time expired. If the Tigers defeat the Indians tonight, the Tigers will be undisputed second half winners. But if the Indians win, then a winner must be decided between the Indians and the Yankees to determine whether or not a second half tie will result, necessitating another play-off.

Whoever the second half winner is, this team will play the Giants in a one-game elimination (Continued on Page 8)

"Food Costs-Farm Prices", What's The Answer?

The U. S. House Agriculture Committee has released a document entitled "Food Costs—Farm Prices" which accurately describes the predicament of American farmers trying to survive in the unfavorable market climate in this country today.

House Committee Chairman W. R. (Bob) Poage (D-Tex.) says in the forward, "Facts and figures presented in this document show clearly that even with the assistance of the 1965 act farmers in the United States are still not getting a fair return on their investment in time, labor, and money . . . The return on crops has failed to keep up with the costs of input items that go into production of crops and livestock."

More convincing figures on the desperate situation faced by farmers have seldom been assembled. The report says farm returns are actually 3 per cent lower than they were in 1947-49; yet consumers are spending 48 per cent more for food. National income has increased 255 per cent in this period. It all begins at the farm, of course—with, for example, the farmer receiving an average of $1.79 per bu. for wheat in 1968-69, compared to $1.98 per bu. in 1948-49, and $1.32 per bu. for corn in 1968-69, compared to $1.88 per bu. in 1948-49.

The amazing thing is that even though this nation's major farm committee in congress knows these facts, duly elected representatives of the people appear to find the whole thing ignorable, and, with little concern, suggest that price protection limits be lowered instead of raised.

The report also points out that if a farmer planted his entire acreage allotment in cotton in 1948, he received 30.38 cents per lb. If he did the same thing in 1969, the price would have been 20.25 cents per lb. By drastically reducing his acreage in 1969 under the farm program, he was able to get 35 cents per lb. (including the payment for cutting back his production). Yet, his total receipts for his cotton were less in 1969 than in 1948.

Congress and the whole nation are wooed into believing that American agriculture with its tremendous advances will continue to produce abundantly, year after year, despite this cost-price squeeze brought on by declining agriculture prices.

Obviously, if farmers could have the power to negotiate prices at the market places, through organization control, which characterizes industry and labor, the farm economy would not be in the plight it is today.

Congress is overlooking a serious situation. In 1948, 24.2 million people lived on farms; today the figure is 10.2 million. The farm work force has dropped from 5.7 million to 2.9 million. These people have gone to the cities. Behind these statistics are scattered families, depleted small towns, and overcrowded ghettos.

Congressman Benjamin Rosenthal of New York City has suggested the problems of rural America are so quickly transmitted to the cities. If congress is so interested in the problems of this nation's cities, then it will do well to cure the problems in rural America.

Urbanites scream of high food prices. Do they realize how high their grocery bills will go if the $3 billion or so in direct government farm payments is cut off? It is estimated the consumer will have to pay at least $6 billion in higher food prices.

Look at the clothing industry. Plastic clothing doesn't cost less, it costs more. Sure it's stay pressed and what have you, but the clothing industry gets twice the price for each piece.

Our agricultural experts tell us that family farm units are now inefficient. It is not profitable to let Mother Nature water the fields. Being planned are giant, huge dome-like structures under which seasons of the year will become a thing of the past. The question arises, who will pay the price for this "modern" operation? How much will a tomato sell for which has been raised under an artificial sky?

It is popular in Congress today to favor limiting the amount of government subsidy payments to any one producer. Farmers ask that if farmers are limited, then why aren't all governmental-subsidy programs limited also?

This nation has encouraged the migration from farms to industrial centers simply by the economic facts. In 1959, farm workers received an average of 71 and a half cents per hour. The average factory worker that year received $2.22 an hour. Farm operators actually paid their hired hands more per hour than they received themselves.

On top of all this man-government made dilemma, the American farmer still must face drought, flood, hail, wind, insects, disease, erosion, pollution and all the natural disasters, plus increasing costs in operation and taxation to survive.

What Other Editors Say

How Not to Combat Pornography

The Washington weekly Human Events reports an astonishing letter by Rev. Morton A. Hill, a member of the hold-over President's Commission on Obscenity and Pornography, revealing that in an experiment sanctioned by committee chairman Dean W. Lockhart twenty-one young men were paid $100 each to expose themselves to "hard, hard core" pornography. This committee, we remind our readers, has somehow managed to spend nearly $2 million in taxpayer money without producing a single proposal or recommendation to combat obscenity and pornography. It would appear to us that a letter from you to the President on this matter is in order. You choose your own language. Just keep it clean.

The Craziest Answers

BILLY ARTHUR
Then there's the one about psychiatrists talking shop and the conversation got down to specific cases. "You think you've got problems," said one, "but let me tell you my tale of woe. I've been conducting a test among my patients."
"What sort of test?" asked the other.
"Well, I'll try a few questions on you. What would you say if I asked you what wears a skirt and uses the lips to please men?"
The other psychiatrist said, "I'd say it was a Scotch bagpiper."
"And you'd be right," said the doctor. "Next question. What has streamlined curves and arouses the most basic instincts in man?"
"A roller coaster."
"Of course. Now what's warm and soft and a pleasure to share a bed with?"
"A hot water bottle."

"Of course. What else? But you should hear some of the crazy answers I've been getting from my patients."

Distorting the news

Only two cars were entered in an automobile race held in Moscow — an American Ford and a Russian Moskvich. The Ford won easily. The next day, without mentioning how many cars competed, Pravda reported: "The Soviet Moskvich placed second while the American auto came in next to last."

Luck of the draw

Young men who had their priority for the draft determined in Wednesday's lottery undoubtedly were given a fair drawing.
The lottery was conducted in impartial fashion, and the results appear to be at random.
Some examples: July 9 drew number one, or top priority for next year's draft calls. But July 7, just two days earlier, is number 365 — dead last. Christmas eve (Dec. 24) drew number two, so men born on that day in 1951 are sure to be drafted if they pass the entrance tests. But Christmas Day drew 361, a safe spot. And so on.
Credit for the foolproof drawing goes to Dr. Curtis W. Tarr, the new Selective Service director who took over in the wake of criticism—and two court challenges—that last year's lottery drawing didn't work out fairly. Specifically, men born in the later months of the year tended to get lower lottery numbers than those born in the early months, apparently because of the slipshod washion in which the lottery capsules were prepared and dumped into a bowl.

Concerned by this, Dr. Tarr enlisted the National Bureau of Standards to come up with more elaborate procedures involving both computers and manual drawings to match birth dates with the numbers one through 365. This should avoid any challenge to the new lottery's results.

Probably the most significant improvement Dr. Tarr has brought to Selective Service is sensitivity to public opinion and concern over the feelings of young people and their loved ones toward the draft. On this score, the July 1 truly random lottery is a case in point.

Christian Church Members Celebrate Fourth Of July With Fellowship Supper

A Fellowship supper climaxed a recent Sunday School attendance contest at the Christian Church on Wednesday night, July 1. The losing side provided the food and entertainment for the winners under the direction of Mrs. Roy Coleman.

Red, white and blue colors carried out the theme of the evening's program. Tables were laid with white covers with red and blue runners and floral arrangements; candles and small American flags were used in the decor. A large flag stood at the head of the room.

NEWS for OUTDOORSMEN

by VERN SANFORD

Several years ago Dave Hawk, who has distinguished himself as a great bass fisherman, was weighing in a string of lunkers. A little woman approached him, looking over the string, and then asked "Don't you ever catch any little ones?"

"They are harder to catch than the big ones," Hawk replied. And therein lies a story of the few men who never seem to catch anything but big fish.

Hawk is one of them. Another is Tex Heth, who guides around Toledo Bend and Rayburn in East Texas. Then there is John Fox of San Augustine. He never seems to take one under four pounds.

It's a strange feeling to sit in a boat with an angler and both of you catch fish, but the other fellow invariably gets the lunkers. He will catch as many as you do fish-for-fish, but while you are stringing up two-pounders, he will land several in the four-pound class and some that go to six.

You'll be fishing with the same lures, and perhaps even the same make rod and reel. You watch him and try to fish as nearly as possible like he does, yet he continues to haul in the big brutes that you'd give anything just to try to land.

Such men are deliberately fishing for the big 'uns and utilizing all their knowledge and skill for taking braggin' size bass. There are many fishing secrets, and some fishermen seem to know most of them.

For one thing, these lunker-landers fish practically every day.

They know their waters. They are able to "read" water with an experienced eye. They watch for the natural habitats of big bass. They know, by studying the land adjacent to the water, where the ledges are. Then, they have a pretty good estimate of where the points run down into the water.

They mark big trees protruding in the best fishing water. They conserve their casts. When they toss out the lure, they feel that the big old bass may be lurking there again . . . and he usually is. I've known fishermen to go back to the same spot for days just because they knew one big fish lived there.

A real good fisherman, whom I will not name, once was guiding a friend of mine. They had caught a tremendous string of crappie and decided they'd try a little cove for some blacks. My friend hooked one and thought it was a log. Because he knew fishing better, the guide realized it wasn't a log but a lunker.

He went back there a couple of days later and latched onto the same bass, but he lost it, too. This went on for days. The big old bass would grab the plug, spit it out and leave the fisherman empty handed.

No man can stand that kind of treatment, even if he has already caught a boat load of big bass.

This fellow was a plug fisherman, but he just couldn't stand the pressure. He went to a half-dozen bait houses before he was able to get a few minnows about six inches long. Then he went back to that bass hole, made up a dual rig, put on two of those big minnows and tossed the twin offering out to the bass' home base.

That old bass had just heard the dinner bell ring because he grabbed both of those minnows . . . and our fishing friend set the hooks. That was all for Mr. Bass. I might all, however, that it weighed a little more than eight pounds. Moral here is that determination does it!

Fishermen are odd fellows! And, for a bit of play on words a lot of Odd Fellows are fishermen. But, anglers are not "nuts" by a long shot. They're pretty sharp cookies. (And I don't mean KOOKIES.)

Fishing is a participating sport. It's like golf in that respect. Also, there are golf tournaments—and there are fishing tournaments, but, just about here the similarity ends.

Fishermen are a mixed breed. There are thousands and thousands of them and many, many different types, with widely differing occupations.

Really, if there is a similarity to any other sport it is a comparison of fishing and hunting. Like hunters, anglers are out to find their prey . . . and in both these related games the targets are many. Hunters shoot rabbits; fishermen hook perch. Hunters shoot quail, fishermen take crappie. Hunters go after the raccoon; fishermen seek the bass.

There's a never-ending comparison . . . one sport against the other. Rods and reels versus guns; Ammo vs lures.

But here is one big difference: Lures vary widely from area to area, from manufacturer to manufacturer. There are thousands of different lures . . . ranging from live bait . . . such as worms, minnows, shrimp and what have you . . . to hundreds of different artificials . . . including plastic worms, jigs, spinners, divers, floaters—plugs numerous shapes and many different brands of topwaters.

That's where the angler is in a class by himself.

Perhaps that's why the fisherman's prime interest is not only in what you caught, but how you took it and the brand name of the product that got the job done.

Some publications hesitate to mention the makers' names. That's free advertising, they say. And, right they are! But the media that gives the names gets the readers, and often the tie-in advertisers.

Readership is a coveted thing with all publications. That's why you so often read in the newspaper the name of the product that succeeded in tempting a fish to strike. That's why we encourage publication of the name of the lure.

There is very little difference between one golf ball and another, but there's a great big difference in lures. That's why the press doesn't mention the brand of golf ball used . . . while it does tell what kind, if not what specific type and even the brand-name of lure that tempted the lunkers. Fishermen want to know this. They will call the media to find out. If not available there they will call the tackle stores.

There are literally millions of products concocted for fishermen—and by fishermen. 'Tis said that anglers are the most inventive of all sportsmen. Every fisherman has a good idea, all his own—his own special way to tie-on a lure, a short-cut to re-spooling the line, a stringer idea, etc. That is why you find so many different rods and reels and tempting baits, as well as all conceivable makes and styles of tackle, rigs and gadgets for the angler.

Drop into your local tackle shop and browse around. You'll discover much to tempt the purse and always something new and entirely different.

A looksee at the local tackle store will demonstrate to you why women like to shop for new clothes. That's the woman's lure for men. That's how they catch and keep their mates.

Don't fight it, man, encourage it!

To The Editor

Am inclosing this item for your paper if you wish to publish it this next week. I know it is a little belated, but I felt there are a few people in your territory that might be interested in reading about our family.

Will and his family moved to Memphis in 1898 to what was then called Salisbury about 4 or 5 miles down the railroad from where Memphis is now.

Later he was a merchant known as "The Memphis Supply Co." My people came to Memphis in 1905, had "The Lewis & Marshall Dry Goods and Millinery" until selling out or going out of business in 1912 or 1913.

We are both retired but in fairly good health. Will has to be in a wheel chair, being an amputee of his right leg just above the knee due to a blood clot. Also had a stroke leaving him crippled in his back.

We are grateful to be alive and a part of the dear old U.S.A. for which so many boys have given their services and lives. We had six in service but thanks to our Heavenly Father all came back alive.

Our son Frank is still in the service in El Paso.

We still enjoy the Democrat.

Mrs. W. S. Gammage was by one our old friends pass away; we never know who may be next.

C. B. Howard, Wanda L. Davis, Sheri and Ted enjoyed the 4th of July weekend in Raton and Red River. They attended the horse races in La Mesa Park Saturday. Also visited with friends in Trinidad, Colo., and friends in Red River.

Every bad habit acquired by a person actually places a chattel mortgage on his personality.

In the early days, there was a north of town we called the place. If they had been we could have called it the nest, but they were not. They were Mr. and Mrs. Crow. # LAFF OF THE WEEK

"At least she's never late..."

what I had expected. Amazing that so much could be done in such a short length of time." Mr. and Mrs. Gaynor left a nice contribution to Heritage Hall and we appreciate it very much.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Johnson and son David of Samnorwood visited Heritage Hall the past week. Wayne graduated from Samnorwood in 1953, taught in Turkey Schools 12 years and is now teaching at Lela. Mrs. Wayne Johnson is a graduate of Paschall High in Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Deen of Amarillo were looking Heritage Hall over and he made the following remark, "A real fine tribute to the community, both past and present." I believe I have been wrong more times than right in my thinking and predictions. I used to think sulphur and grease was no good for the itch, but it worked and also coal oil and sugar for a cough medicine, but it worked alright. A few months ago, I made some remarks about the ladies bowling team, that they were grandmas married to grandpas, and they just could not cut the mustard. In fact, I said something about that song, "The Old Gray Mare Ain't What She Used to Be." Well, I have to say I am wrong again, as a few weeks ago a picture came out in the Democrat of Mrs. Orville Goodpasture surrounded by bowling trophies. So with "Had-A-Call" and other things that have come in this new generation, you just cannot tell what Grandma might do. My apologies.

A traveling man told me the other day that on one of those hot, dry days he was riding in on the Wellington highway and in place of him seeing a mirage, he thought he saw two trees chasing a dog. But he did not say where he came from to get on the high- way from Wellington.

Visiting in Heritage Hall last Friday were Mr. and Mrs. Kermit E. Voelkel of Austin, and former residents of Memphis. I thought they paid Hall County quite a compliment. Mr. Voelkel said he classed cotton for the government 37 years and the outstanding part of that time was the seven years spent here with Hall County people. They liked Heritage Hall very much and had already contributed to the displays. This time they left us a check and they are now partners. Thanks to both of you, looked for them back Saturday the 4th, but we missed them. Hope they enjoyed their visit in Memphis. They left here in January 1968.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lorange of Orlando, Okla., were visiting Heritage Hall the past Saturday. We have some of the bottles on display that Wayne dug up in this vicinity. Wayne is a nephew of Ruby Leggett and he is in the school system teaching at Orlando. They have four boys and one daughter.

Air mail card from Geo. Stanley dated June 30 stated that he had been in East Germany twice that day. Do not know who he was looking for, but hope he found her. George will be home about the 25th of July. He will teach in Lawton, Okla., this year and am sure he will have a lot to tell after this session of travel education.

Others visiting in Heritage Hall were Mr. and Mrs. Mike Branning of Pasadena, Calif. Mrs. Larry Braidfoot of Waco said she wanted her parents from Dallas to see the displays. Mrs. L. D. Braidfoot of Estelline, mother of Larry, was looking things over. She was the former Annie Lee Bumpass and a graduate of Estelline High in 1935. She recalled some of her schoolmates, J. W. Coppedge, Charlotte Prewitt, Opal Sims, W. Z. Cowan and Claude Farley.

Those two little girls (seems they should be little) of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Worthington, were in looking Heritage Hall over. Mrs. Graydine Worthington Patterson graduated from MHS in 1956 and is now living in Corpus Christi. The other girl, Mrs. Lana Worthington Widener, graduated from MHS in 1965 and is now living in Ft. Worth. I think they are both good boosters for Heritage Hall. Carroll and his wife, L. B. Gresham Barryman of Lubbock were looking Heritage Hall over. Carroll was a graduate of Estelline High in 1931. L. B. was in the class of 1940. Carroll is the son of J. S. Berryman of Estelline who was along with them. L. B. is the sister of Roy Gresham. Carroll and L. B. have two daughters.

Anita Snowdon of Amarillo said she was proud of Heritage Hall after looking it over. Anita graduated from MHS in 1966 and has been away from here the past four years. She is now a registered nurse in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo, but she still calls Memphis her home. Mr. and Mrs. Don Moore, now of Madison, Wis., with their sons, Don, 10, and Bill, 13, were visiting Heritage Hall. Don was an MHS graduate in 1955. The whole family liked Heritage Hall. Mrs. J. B. Brown and son David of Kilgore visited Heritage Hall. Mrs. Brown is the daughter of Mrs. Maggie Wright. Other visitors the past week were Sewell Massey of McAllister, Okla., John Johnston of Boise Idaho, Blake of Twin Falls, Idaho, Mary Jerkins of Mass., Travis Jameson of Northfield, Horton Foster of Port Arthur.

News comes to me that Mr. and Mrs. Robert Redwine have joined the Peace Corps and are now in Philadelphia in training. They will be stationed in Ethiopia. Mrs. Redwine is the former Linda Simpson, a graduate of MHS in 1966. Best wishes to them. Since May 21, Bengy Estes' wife of Houston has been married to a Grandpa. A 9 pound boy. Congratulations!

I noticed in Paul Crume's column a few days ago a statement from a lady who says she used to read her daily paper like everyone else. She began with a front page. Lately she has made a startling discovery. She now reads from the back page to front page. She says she would throw away the remainder of the paper unread in despair of the future of the U. S. But by easing backward into the news day, she finds much that is cheerful and inspiring. (Paul comments, "Maybe we ought to start doing everything backward." If a man paid out a car before he bought it, he might have fewer worries. If we jailed robbers before they completed a robbery, crime would decline. If people were cured of the drug habit before getting on it, they would not have to buy pot. The Chinese have carried the principal approach further than any other people. They have always read backwards. So far the only backward approach project the U. S. has tried is the income tax. It requires that you pay the tax before you owe it, and it is the only tool of our fiscal policy that seems to work.

last week by donating cleaner for the floors and a case of glass cleaner for all the show cases. If any of you doubt that this cleaner works, we have the rags and just takes elbow grease as there were no motors with these cleaners. Thanks to Shirey.

I guess these three retired neighbors used to be 10-2-4 boys before they retired, and I notice now that they have left out the 2 and they are now 10 and 4 boys, Vernon Sasser, Milton Orr and Jim Vallance. I guess nap time got the 2 and they now take it black.

It was so quiet on the streets of Memphis Saturday the 4th of July that I believe if someone had dropped their powder puff on the square, it would have sounded like an explosion.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Jarrell and family of Richardson spent the past weekend visiting here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Felix Jarrell and Patsy. They were en route to Colorado on a vacation trip.

Chris Clements of Lubbock was a house guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmont Branigan over the July 4th weekend.

The season of fishing and boating enthusiasm is now in full swing. But those enjoyable occasions out at the lake or stream could turn into catastrophe unless a few simple rules are followed. The Texas State Department of Health reminds you that a safe summer of excitement and fun is in your hands.

All fishermen — experts and novices alike — should know how to swim, should know basic first aid, and have a first aid kit with them. Since fish hooks sometimes "catch" anglers as well as fish, carry needlenose pliers, wire cutters, and pocket knife in your tackle box. Always keep hooks in covered containers. Always look before casting, and make certain you have room to do so without hooking someone else. Use an overhead cast when in a boat with others. It's much safer to fish with a companion, but when fishing alone, always leave word where you will be and when you plan to return. Wear thick-soled boots in densely wooded or marshy areas. Do not wear waders while in a boat. Wade cautiously to avoid slipping on unseen rocks or stepping suddenly into deep water. Stay in open areas. Avoid swimmers, water skiers, and skin and scuba divers. Learn how to hold a fish properly while extracting a hook. Many species have sharp teeth or fins that can cause deep hand wounds.

All water skiers should know it takes a team effort, with at least three people involved — one person to ride behind the boat, one to steer with eyes front, and another to watch the skier and his hand signals. Although skimming 75 feet behind a powerboat doing 30 miles per hour may look dangerous, it need not be if you use the right sign language and follow a few safety rules. Even qualified swimmers should wear a flotation device while skiing, preferably a life jacket. Have a good communication system between the driver, the observer, and the skier. Learn the hand signal system developed by the American Water Ski Assn. The skier can use these signals for everything from making turns to adjusting speed.

If you are involved in a boating accident, do not panic. The one most important factor in avoiding panic is training and preparation. Boats will float, and you will too, if you don't lose your head. Never overload the boat, and always insist that all passengers wear life preservers. If the boat overturns, stay with the boat — it will float. Keep a level head, and practice the most important rule of them all — use common sense.

early next week for the Giants won the first half. The Tigers defeated the Giants last Tuesday night to go a half game up over the Indians. Rules read that tie games go half and half unless this game is necessary to determine a winner. So the Indians and the Yankees could be required to settle the tie in a sudden death, 7th inning contest which might last one inning or go as long as the two teams remain deadlocked. A Yankee victory would eliminate the Indians from second half contention.

Mrs. R. E. Clark returned home Monday from McGregor where she had been called on Friday due to the acute illness of her brother, John D. Freeman.

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Alewine visited over the July 4 weekend in Ft. Stockton with their daughter and husband. Mr. and Mrs. James Neighbors, and in Hobbs, N. M., with their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Alewine.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Elvins had as guests over the weekend her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. James Wylie of Dallas. Mr. and Mrs. Wylie had been on an extended vacation tour of the states of Iowa and South Dakota, of Denver, Colo., and Memphis en route home.
