Off Season Program Keeps MHS Athletes Fit, Active

By BILL COMBS
What do athletes do who are not engaged in participation in basketball during the cold winter months from the closing of football season to the beginning of track season?
Well, coaches say they participate in what is called an off-season program of physical fitness.
There are all types of off-season programs designed to develop the athlete into what is desirable for participation in sporting events.

But one thing is certain. How much good the off-season program does is in direct proportion to how hard the individual athlete works at it.

Coach Clyde McMurray and his staff at Memphis High have been most active designing and implementing an off-season program which would accomplish several objectives.

The boys have been lifting weights to build strength, taking reaction drills to develop reflexes, doing hops over low benches to develop balance, as well as working on tumbling mats, jumping ropes, and climbing ropes.

Out of all of this comes the top boys on the testing sheets.

As in all programs, the reward is visible. The boys are gaining weight, skills are developing, and each group is adding more weight to the bar than they did when the program began.

The observer notes that some of the boys are wearing special T-shirts. Some have "Bad News," some "whirlwind" and some have "Cyclone" on them.

These shirts are awarded to the boys for outstanding accomplishment on the weights, determined by the military press. To get a "bad news" shirt, a boy must press 87 per cent of his body weight. So far, Jim Dixon, Joe Torrez, Terry Wynn, Mack Miller, Roddy Hall and Chris Liner have accomplished this. To get to wear the "Whirlwind" T-shirt, a boy must press his body weight, as Mark Stevenson has done.

Robert Snider is the only boy so far who has earned the "Cyclone" shirt for pressing his weight plus 50 pounds.

As the weather grows warmer, running will be added to the program, and several of the boys will participate in track.

The basketball players have also participated in portions of the off-season program.

Cyclones To Go To Claude Friday Nite

The Memphis Cyclone and Cyclonette basketball teams will travel to Claude Friday night for the last road game of the season, but will be back in Cyclone gymnasium next Tuesday night to host the McLean Tigers in the final night of basketball for the 1971 cager squads.

The Cyclonettes will have a final shot at trying to spoil the Claude girls team's perfect record at Claude Friday night.

The Cyclone is hoping to keep a winning streak going and try to finish out the season on a winning note.

The Memphis boys, after losing the second round opener to Clarendon, have defeated Wheeler and Silverton, and hope to defeat Claude and McLean, teams that upset them in the first round.

If the local boys do win the last four games, the team will finish one game shy of a 50-50 season, which would be a respectable record for a team beginning the season with no starters returning and having no seniors among the ranks.

The Cyclonettes have already set a winning record for themselves.

Both local teams appear now to be squads to watch over the next few seasons as a talented bunch of youngsters are showing a lot of promise.

The Memphis girls were in the thick of the contest with the Wheeler girls, and pulled within four points in the final minutes of the game, after trailing by 11 at halftime, only to lose the contest 53 to 44.

Wheeler's Brenda Errington with 26 points, was the game's leading scorer. Diane Devorce had 16 for the Memphis girls.

In the boys game, Memphis held the lead all the way, after edging ahead 13 to 11 in the first quarter, to win the contest 51 to 47.

Coach Harold Gouge platooned his squad in and out of the game as all the players say a lot of action. Tommy Johnson hit 12 points and Larry Johnson scored 11. Otho Rogers had 8, Donny Scott 5, Louis Davis, Mike Browning and John Carmen each had 4 points, while Len Simpson had 2 and Larry Jeffers had 1.

Tuesday night, Memphis teams won three games from Silverton teams.

The Memphis B cagers won their contest with a one-sided score of 80 to 16 as Ronald Candia had 14 points and the other B teamers got their share.

A large number of out-of-town guests, as well as those living in the county, are expected to attend the banquet, Clifford Farmer, manager, stated yesterday.

The District 4-B races in basketball go to the wire, with the Lakeview girls holding a one-game edge by virtue of a victory over Turkey last Friday, and the Hedley boys are in position to tie up the boys bracket if they could pull off an upset over at Quitaque Friday night, otherwise, the Quitaque boys will maintain their undefeated status in district play.

It's all up to the Lakeview girls and how they do against the Estelline team at Lakeview Friday night. If Estelline defeats Lakeview, then the district round robin goes into a tie and must be settled between Lakeview and Turkey in a play-off.

Lakeview can win the round robin title with a victory over Estelline and be the No. 1 team in the girls district tournament, to begin next Thursday night in Memphis High gymnasium.

The tournament has the No. 1 team playing the No. 4 team, and the No. 2 team playing the No. 3 team in Thursday's games, with winners meeting Friday night. The fifth place team will not participate in the tournament, it was reported.

Who these teams will be, will not be determined until after Friday night's games; however, Turkey girls are open Friday and they have already captured either the second place or a possible tie with Lakeview for first place. Records of Quitaque, Estelline and Hedley girls are all so close, it appears Quitaque will possibly be the third place team, but between Hedley and Estelline, the fourth place will have to be decided Friday.

The boys tournament is not until Feb. 25 and 26.

The Turkey-Lakeview girls contest last Friday at Turkey was almost the identical match as in the first round game, but with a different winner. Turkey defeated Lakeview in the first round with a come-from-behind finish.

Friday night, Lakeview's girls trailed 18 to 16 in the first period, 31 to 30 at halftime, and 56 to 50 at the end of the third period. In the last quarter, however, Lakeview closed the gap, and a see-saw battle ensued, with Lakeview holding a 69 to 67 edge when the game ended.

Brenda Smith scored 48 for Lakeview with Carolyn Hughes scoring 11 and Sherry Proffitt 8 and Marla Gregory 2.

Turkey's scoring was by Debbie Lane with 42, Peggy Fuston 22 and Annie Polley with 3.

The Turkey boys won the boys game, 82 to 67. Ike Fuston had 18 and Billy Vivens had 14 for Turkey, while Lewis Richburg had 31 and Bill McQueen 20 for Lakeview.

Tuesday night, the Lakeview girls downed Quitaque girls in a close game 40 to 31, with a comeback in the fourth period. Smith scored 27 points in this game.

Quitaque's boys romped over Lakeview's team in that game.

Its Hard to Pay Now

Governor Preston Smith has put forth a proposal to finance state operations for the next two years by bond issues and deficit spending.

While this is an easy way out, the fact remains that Texans are going to have to dig up the money to pay for this spending and it doesn't make it any easier to postpone it a few years.

In fact, putting off paying for these state spending programs will merely mean that Texans will indeed be called upon to pay more than if they do it now.

Distasteful as it is to a politician seeking to win an election, the fact remains that the taxpayer must be strapped to the table and whittled on with a knife to pay for the things that the politicians have convinced the people they must have.

Some politicians love the plan to spend now and pay later because it carries the wonderfully attractive title of "no new taxes." When the 1972 elections come up, these legislators can tell the people that they sure didn't vote for any new taxes and thus should be returned to office.

The governor told the legislature that Texas could get an easy $450 million to finance current school spending by issuing "public free school bonds" that would be retired by future oil and gas income from state owned school land.

Of course, any bond issue calls for some additional expense. There is interest to pay and it has been estimated that this $450 million bond issue will eventually cost Texas taxpayers $800 million.

Another bond issue proposed would provide $71 million for new buildings and equipment for three new universities, two new medical schools and a new dental school.

And where would the money come from to pay off these bonds?

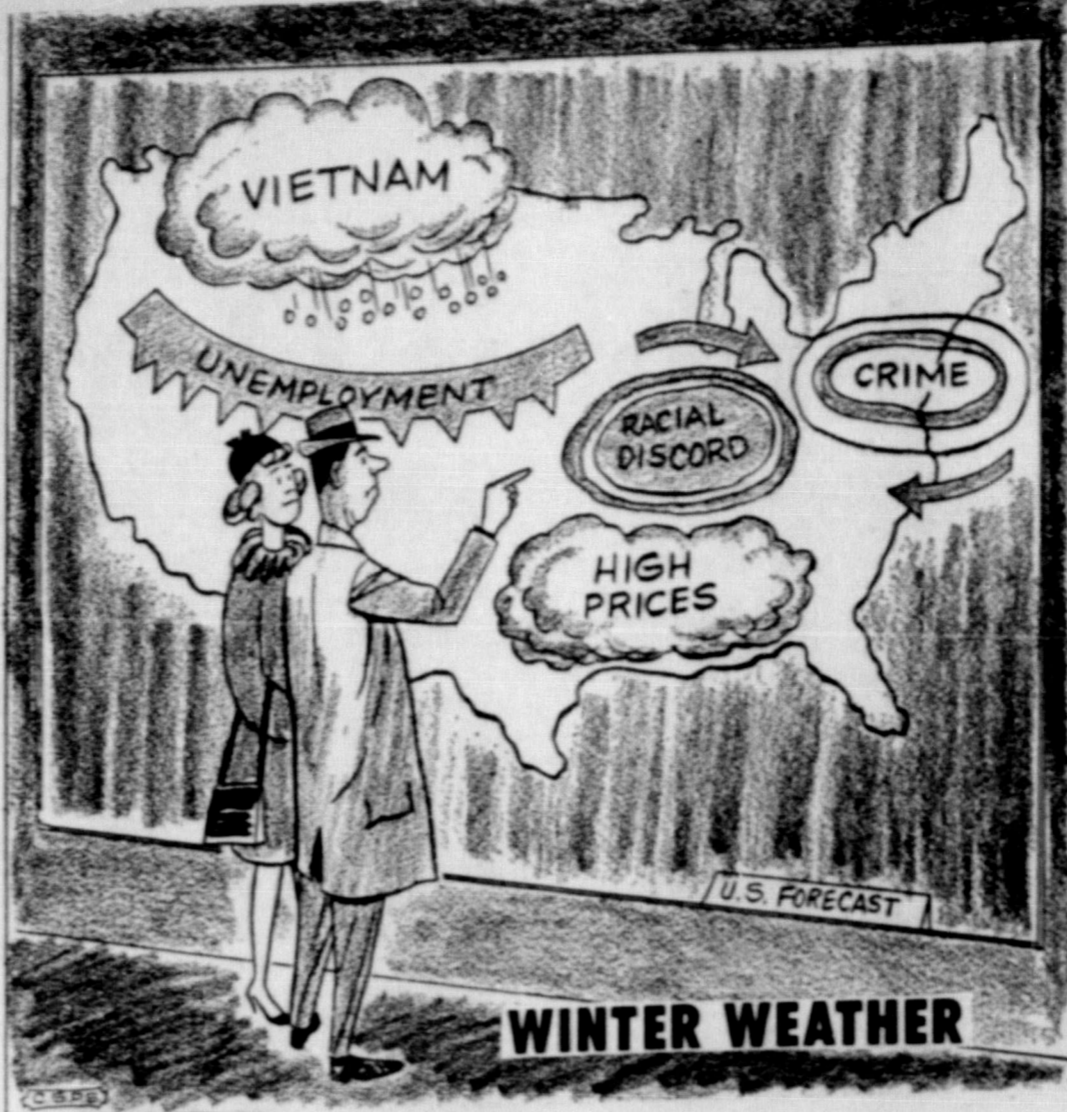

It would come from higher tuition fees from students at the state supported colleges and universities of Texas. It does not take a smart man to figure out that the bulk of this will come from Texas taxpayer parents who are already footing the bill.

It has been said that the soaring cost of welfare in Texas can be avoided by merely dumping the entire mess in the lap of the federal government. But Uncle Sam is in no hurry to take over the cost, federal bureaucrats being primarily interested in spreading the goodies to more people at more taxpayer expense.

The state of Texas is no different from an average Texas family. There are a lot of things that are needed, a lot of things that are wanted, and a lot of easy-pay plans to get them.

The only trouble is that eventually there comes a time when the creditor wants his money. It's hard to pay now, but no harder than it will be next month or next year. That's a fact of life, and there is no magic way to have your cake and eat it too.

Harnessing The Earth's Steam

The day may not be too far away when electric energy will be produced in generating plants powered by steam from under the earth's surface.

The idea isn't new. It is being done right now by the U. S. Pacific Gas & Electric Company in Western California. The company is operating an 80,000 kilowatt plant now, and hopes to increase it to 600,000 kilowatts in a few years from now.

The plan is simple. A deep well is drilled into the earth's steam pockets, and the steam is then used to operate turbine engines. It's a clean and reliable energy.

The biggest obstacle in the way of more such wells is Congress, which can't make up its mind to permit drilling for steam on federally owned land, where most of the steam appears to be located. Congress passed a law to permit drilling for steam last October, but "unpassed it" a few minutes later, according to the Wall Street Journal. The plant in California is located on private property. A new bill is now pending.

It is said steam could be drilled for in many parts of the country. One of the areas mentioned is in the Ozarks.

The use of steam to generate electricity could not come at a more opportune time than now when there is a growing threat of fuel shortages to operate generating plants, which are among the world's greatest pollution producers.

There would be no pollution with plants operated by steam taken from the earth, and the cost, once the plant is constructed, would amount to no more than the cost of maintaining the buildings and equipment. This could lead to cheaper power rates, and at the same time eliminate the pollution of the air.

It is reported that electric generating plants, especially a huge one in New Mexico, cause more dangerous pollution than anything else in the country.

Efforts in most parts of the country are being made to force the plants to find ways and means to reduce the pollution, but up to now the efforts have been more or less in vain. People must have electricity, and no really effective way has been found to reduce the pollution to amount to much.

Steam from beneath the earth's surface offers new hope. What we need now is for Congress to act favorably on the pending bill. The arguments by some of the congressmen against drilling for steam on federally owned land are difficult to understand since they already permit drilling for gas and oil on federal land.

Luggage On Airlines

It was one of those things you never want to witness because you want to believe the airlines are careful and efficient in the handling of your luggage. On the other hand it was one of those things which reason tells you must happen when the swift-moving little electric trams scoot like giant water bugs over the runways of air terminals, often loaded and pulling trailers of luggage. The driver saw the large black bag fall. It burst open on contact with the concrete and he met the challenge with determination. It was a tightly packed bag and denied room for all the articles that had been scattered in the mishap. Finally everything was stuffed back, the locks fastened and the drama ended, leaving a vapor trail of doubt in the minds of several witnesses.

The Unseen World

The human eye in all its magnificence, sees and translates for us the world we live in. The beauty of nature, the magnificence of man's towers and the wonderful varieties of life. But what the eye can't see is also a big part of our world. In fact, objectives smaller than a fiftieth of an inch in diameter, invisible to the human eye, make up the largest part of our world.

With the help of microscopes, these minute objects can now be seen. But micro organisms and molecular structures aren't the only part of the unseen world that is beyond the comprehension of the human eye. Infrared waves and micro waves, radio waves, x-ray waves and gamma-ray waves have been for years invisible forces. Today some of these forces are not only used in photography, but they can be photographed as well. We can see far out into the universe with our telescopes, and inside the human body with fiber optic motion pictures.

Then, too, we do not see the thousands of ultra-quick or extremely slow motions that are only casually noticed with little detail by the human eye. We don't see the splash of spilled milk float up into a crown, or the glittering parabolas of shattering glass broken by a screaming bullet, because these are visual occurrences that can't be studied carefully without the help of special cameras taking thousands of still pictures per second. And time-lapse photography captures, in seconds, the slow developments of a living green wiggle into a leafy, flowering plant.

These sights and more we just don't have time or opportunity to look for.

Reading an article from the Dept. of Agriculture, "Peanut Growers," Texas with almost 13,000 growers who have made the state the second largest producer of peanuts in the nation—200,000 tons produced annually make not only a major cash crop, but add 50 million dollars to the Texas economy. Peanuts are a food item choice, because of the natural taste and the nutritional values they contain. It is interesting to note that each of us consumes an average of 7.3 pounds of peanuts products each year. Peanuts are in the form of our peanut butter, while 30 percent is in candy, 10 percent in nuts and a final 10 percent in the form of peanut cooking oil. I still like about a week of peanut butter after consuming about 2500 lbs. of this food myself. I wish there was some way to add to an allotment in the County for peanuts to help the cotton feed struggle along.

noticed in one of our papers a zoo keeper caught a bird in a standing heavy rocks in the back of 11 kids and he wanted to see this bird stayed on the ground. Another population conleanor Lynn Moore Russell, the daughter of Sam and Ila was de-appointment, a Doctor Timmons who was a former school teacher in Estelline. She attended school in Memphis in the first grade and graduated from Wellington High School in 1947. She and her husband now have three children, 2 boys, Daniel Maddison, age 15, and Samuel Moore, 17, and one daughter, Diane, 20. They liked Heritage Hall very much and said they were coming back to give everything a good looking over.

Others visiting in Heritage Hall were Mr. and Mrs. Don Glen of Amarillo and formerly of Childress; H. D. McCormac of Grants, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. Jay Griffith and son, Woody, of Amarillo, C. H. Phelps, Rosie Lee Williams Scott and Versel V. Scott of California; Mrs. R. B. Davis of Canyon, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Cook of Odessa were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Grimes in Heritage Hall last Saturday.

I had the pleasure of meeting a member of the 6th generation of an early day Hall County family. Young Elisa Magoner is the member of the 6th generation of the Bass family that I had known and she is the 5th generation of the Billy Moore family that I have known. Elisa is the daughter of Mrs. Randy Wagoner of Dallas, granddaughter of Mrs. D. D. (Moore) Russell of Garland, who is the daughter of Mrs. (Ila Bass) Sam Moore of Memphis, who is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Bass. Other members of this family are John Bass of Clarendon; Mrs. (Elsie Bass) Guthrie, wife of Roy of Memphis; Mrs. Claudia (Bass) Lee, wife of Ernest Lee of Memphis. Their grandfather and grandmother were Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Bass, who were the first members of the 6 generations I knew. The other family that Elisa Wagoner represented the 5th generation in was that of her grandfather, the late Sam Moore, son of the early day Mill Iron cowboy, sheriff of Hall County in 1908 and was banker in Estelline for several years. We have the saddle in Heritage Hall that Billy Moore used while sheriff. This saddle belongs to Mrs. Russell, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Moore. Elisa had the pleasure of mounting this saddle. Hope we have our Kodak next time.

Mrs. Wendell Mitchell of Lakeview had as her guest in Heritage Hall her daughter, Nell, of Plainview. Nell graduated from Lakeview High School with the 1946 class. She was the baby girl of the Mitchells. She married Don Dean in 1952. Don was in the service and they were stationed in Germany for 18 months. They have two boys, Stanley, 16, and Randall, age 14. In conversation with Nell, I learned her husband, Don, is a brother to the singer and "Hog Grinder" Jimmy Dean. Nell liked Heritage Hall very much and is coming back to spend more time in the Hall.

Visiting in Hall County Heritage Hall last week was Jim Hoggard, born and reared in Hedley. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Hoggard, who first settled in the Newlin area. Mr. Hoggard (now deceased) but Jim's mother is still living. The first thing Jim asked about was the wolf that his grandfather shot, as he is the grandson of Mr. Barnes who killed "Three Toes." Jim is now making his home in Anchorage, Alaska, and is with a heavy machinery crew running a pipeline for Alaska oil from Prudhoe Bay to Valdez, a distance of 820 miles. It will take three to five years to complete this pipeline with 48-inch pipe made of steel 5-8 inch thick. One 40-foot joint of pipe weighs 10,800 pounds. It will take a pretty good size ditch for the pipe and insulation and several million dollars to pay for it.

The name of Plaska in Hall County was given to this county by M. N. Orr who named the post office after his native Pulaska post office in Giles County, Tennessee. He came to Hall County in 1891 with his parents, five brothers and one sister. In 1905, Mr. Orr circulated a petition for a post office and it was established in his mother's home and named Lodge P. O. The patrons carried the mail for about six months before a regular rural carrier was hired. In 1910, the post office was discontinued and a rural route was started, but it did not prove to be very satisfactory. In 1920 Mrs. Elihue Vallance circulated a petition for another post office, and since there were too many names resembling Lodge in Texas, it was necessary that another name be selected. Mr. Orr submitted Pulaska which was accepted by the Post Office Dept., but they inadvertently left out the "u" and it was named Plaska, which name the community still has since 1920.

M. N. Orr has been in a hospital in Amarillo several weeks where he had surgery and has been a real sick man. I hope he will be back home soon, ready for a cup of coffee.

I had a little personal experience the past week. If you live long enough you never know what talent will develop in you. We were invited to a church fellowship hour and the men were to make the cakes for this special occasion with no help from their wives. Well, I found one I thought was a simple recipe for a cake, but never having cooked any in this three quarters of a century, it turned out to be quite a chore. The first ingredient called for were two eggs, to be beaten. I called one lady, Mrs. Gailey, and asked what to break the eggs with and she suggested that I use a fork. But the fork did not seem to be the proper instrument. So I called the pastor's wife, Nita Murphy, and she suggested using a hammer which sounded like it would be better, but she said not to let any of the shell get in the cake mix. I told her to be sure I did not get any part of the shell, I would strain the eggs; but I will tell you they sure run slow through a strainer. Anyway, I finally got this cake all mixed with too much of one thing and not enough of another. I broiled it in the stove for 30 minutes and when I took it out of the stove, it had sunk down in the middle; and they said it fell. Anyway, I filled in the sunk-in place with an apple and decorated it with peanut butter and marshmallows and raisins. Well, I thought I did a swell job, but no one else did as they were afraid to taste it. Anyway, I made a cake, I imagine the first and the last as I do not think cooking is my talent, but had fun finding this out for myself.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eddleman of Estelline brought into Heritage Hall several days ago, Victory United States Ration books that were used by D. T. Eddins Grocery and I saw a picture. They also brought early pictures, one showing the first highway bridge just completed across Red River. Some of you will remember the wood bridge with the turn around in the center of the bridge, as it was built for single traffic and you would wait in this turn if a car or wagon had come on the bridge when you came to the turn, which was a lot better than trying to ford this river not knowing when you would hit a quicksand spot. Other pictures were of the Mill Iron cowboys changing horses, at the chuck wagon, and round-up time. Some of the cowboys identified in the picture were Rux Eddleman, J. R. Barnes, Will Taylor, Jeff Scott, Ben Prewitt, Alvis Hawkins, Billy Moore, Bert Airheart and Cross Randell. Also included in pictures were some photographs of Dr. Jim Vardy, Tom Delaney and Billy Moore in their young days sporting a neat moustache.

Visiting in Heritage Hall last week by special appointment were Mary Sue Beasley, teacher, and 12 of her students in the class of high school vocational adjustment program. They seemed to enjoy seeing the school room and also old fashioned styles, saddles, buggy, post office, two-headed calf, the wolf and old fashioned bicycle. In fact, they did make a good tour of all the museum and seemed to like it very much.

I read this statement in a magazine the other day, "We have 85 million laws trying to enforce the 10 commandments."

Bill Longshore gave me this story the other day. Said when he was attending school at "Buzard Roost," he remembered the day Della Offield Palmeyer slipped out of school and mounted one of the Nelson boys horses, and this horse, not used to a girl rider, started pitching and rearing. The horse fell over backwards with her, but that did not stop her, and I bet she can still ride a bucking horse.

Rangeland Now Covers Third Of United States

According to David Seitz of the Soil Conservation Service, more than a third of the Nation's area is privately owned rangeland, native pasture, and grazable woodland. This land is used to produce livestock, wildlife and for recreation. It is also extensively used for recreation, including hunting and fishing.

The conservation objectives of SCS on rangeland and other grazing land are to help land users to:

1. Obtain resource information by conducting an inventory of their soil, water, plant and animal resources.
2. Appraise the present and potential value of their land for alternative and multiple uses, including livestock and wildlife production and recreation enterprises.
3. Develop conservation plans that meet their objectives and needs in a manner consistent with the capability and potential of their land.
4. Apply the conservation measures in their conservation including revisions in changing conditions.

Seitz stated that the Conservation Service has a range conservationists land users to develop conservation plans for rangeland and woodland. The conservation through local SCS offices.

He pointed out that needed the use of range methods that incorporated principles and practical range management techniques.

"It has coordinated inventory with the range resource survey and range-resource information effectively interpreted survey maps and plans added.

MISCILLA says:

FOR BETTER HEALTH

What are your chances of being injured in an accident involving some consumer product this year? If you are a male between the ages of 5 and 25, working or playing at home with some consumer product between 3 and 9 p. m. on a Saturday or Sunday, you probably should take greater care to avoid potential accidents. That could be one of the lessons learned from the 1970 Product Safety Report issued recently by the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

The report is designed to furnish information concerning the types and severity of injuries, with particular emphasis on identification of consumer products usually involved or associated with those injuries.

The products most frequently involved in injuries are, in descending order: bicycles, nails, kitchen knives, tables, beds, snow-ground equipment, chairs, playground equipment, chairs, snow skis, non-prescription drugs, glass bottles, metal containers, ladders, power saws, prescription drugs, and drinking glasses. Also mentioned, but in less frequent numbers, are: clothes dryers, washers, stoves and ovens, power lawn mowers, and chain saws.

According to the statistics, almost one-half of the injured persons are under 15 years of age. And nearly 60 per cent of them are males. Almost 70 per cent of the accidents are reported to have occurred in or around the home.

J. M. Doughty, Jr. a Texas Health Department official, says these figures should not be viewed as reflecting all the consumer products accidents occurring last year. They are, however, good indicators as to the type of products involved, who is involved, and when and where they occur.

Almost 50 per cent of the injuries reported occurred between noon and 6 p. m., and more than one-third occurred between 6 p. m. and midnight. Each day of the week ranked almost equal in the number of accidents occurring on that particular day, although Saturday and Sunday showed a slight increase.

Governmental actions to protect the health and safety of the public will only be successful if the public itself becomes informed of these potential dangers from common consumer products.

That's why the Texas Health Department emphasizes that safety is part of the good health habit.

EMERGENCY FRYING PAN
The top off a 5-ballon lard can will serve in an emergency for a frying pan. And the hub off the pickup or car might be used.

Old plastic bottles are ideal for hauling water out of boats. Just cut off the tops.

Consumer Will Profit By Ag. Growth Program

The state-wide program to increase agricultural income in Texas as to $76 billion in 1976 is admittedly geared to help the agriculture industry; but what about the consumer, the housewife in the grocery store?

"Consumers are concerned of an adequate food supply; and 3.76 in '76 is a program of growth," says Dr. W. E. Black, Extension economist at Texas A. M. University. He adds that the new program is important because the increasing population must be on a decreasing amount of land used for agricultural production.

"Guidelines in the program are meant to increase production and improve quality." Dr. Black says of the project; which seeks to increase cash receipts to agriculture by one billion dollars at the end of the 1970 crop year.

The increase in production and cash receipts will benefit the consumer as well as the producer. Food prices will undoubtedly be affected by an increased efficiency in production and marketing as costly practices in current use are improving or eliminated.

The technology in production and food preparation will be reflected in food prices; although the prices of individual items will also be affected by the amount of preparation before purchase by the consumer. This would include special services such as pre-cooking and specialty packing.

Farmers will gear their production to specific markets that are dictated by the consumers' preferences. This in turn will provide consumers with higher quality foods in greater amount at stable prices.

A Texas oil man divorced his wife because she kissed him only when she asked for money. Isn't that often enough?

Don't you suppose the weaker sex is often the stronger sex because of the weakness of the stronger sex for the weaker sex?

World Of Science—
ties can Save Millions Each Year Reduction In Air Pollution Levels In

A fifty per cent reduction in air pollution levels in major urban areas could produce a saving of 80 million dollars a year in reduced incidence of heart disease and deaths, according to a study by Lester B. Lave, Ph.D., of the Carnegie-Mellon University in a recent issue of "Science" magazine.

Emphasizing that the cost figure is approximate, Lave and Sesay say that the dollar cost is on the conservative side.

For some diseases (bronchitis and lung cancer), evidence is good for a close association between air pollution and ill health. For cardiovascular disease and non-respiratory tract cancers, the evidence is only suggestive. Nevertheless, Lave and Sesay argue that an unbiased observer would have to concede that such an association exists.

Using studies made by others on air pollution and public health as the basis for their interpretations, the Carnegie-Mellon economists say that deaths from bronchitis would drop as much as 50 per cent if air pollution were lowered to what today is called "clean air" levels. Since the "cost" of bronchitis disease in terms of lost income and medical expense is $980 million per year, they conclude that a 50 per cent drop in air pollution in major urban areas alone would save up to $500 million in bronchitis disease costs alone. Similar estimates and computations for other diseases lead to the $2 billion dollar annual estimate.

It should be obvious that many health effects have not been considered in arriving at the cost figures given. For example, relatively low levels of carbon monoxide can affect the nervous system sufficiently to reduce work efficiency and increase accident rates. Psychological and esthetic effects are also important, and additional costs of air pollution on vegetation, cleanliness, and deterioration of materials have not been included in these estimates.

Terrace Systems Completed On Three Hall Farms

The Great Plains Conservation is continuing to be beneficial to conservation work in Hall County. According to Henry Gregory, parallel terrace systems have recently been completed on Rayford Hutcherson, Sam Cowan and the John W. Miller farms.

A total of 146,000 feet of parallel terraces have been completed since July 1, 1970. Diversion terraces were constructed on Sam Cowan and Rayford Hutcherson farms. A dam is under construction on the Buchanan and Fuston place in the Turkey community.

The SCS is still continuing to accept GPCP applications although Hall County has allocated all funds for this at the present time, Gregory stated. Frank Hedrick and W. W. George have proposed GPCP contracts waiting for funds.

Mr. and Mrs. Regnal Greenhaw of Amarillo spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. George Greenhaw.

Local Jehovah's Witnesses Plan To Attend Meet

The Memphis congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses are making preliminary plans to attend a three-day convention in Wichita Falls Feb. 26-28, it was announced this week.

Describing the assembly as a training program, Robert Mikesell, presiding minister of the local group, indicated some 15 hours of schooling in the field of Bible education will be featured. More than 500 are planning to attend with sessions to be held in the Hirschi High School Auditorium.

"The program is designed to provide additional training for area Witnesses to assist them in furthering the evangelistic work. Parents and children alike will receive instruction in a ministerial development school the opening night similar to the one held every week here in Memphis at Kingdom Hall, 507 N. 8th St.," according to Mikesell.

Plans to provide transportation for anyone desiring to attend were discussed at one of the regularly scheduled meetings held earlier this week.

MR. AND MRS. WESLEY BOYD

Oklahoma City Couple To Lead Methodist Services

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Boyd of Oklahoma City, Okla., who have traveled all over the Southwest in United Methodist Church evangelistic work, will be in Memphis for the Lay Mission Feb. 7 through 17. Rev. Tommy Nelson has announced.

Wesley Boyd has been a professional musician for 14 years and during that time has had many contacts with various evangelistic outreaches. He has participated in a number of the Billy Graham Crusades in different countries, and has shared in Industrial Evangelism in the British Isles; has led local Church Missions and had experience in leading discussion Bible study groups.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Boyd came from Belfast, Northern Ireland, but have made their home in Oklahoma City since their marriage nine years ago.

Mrs. Boyd, known to her friends as Margaret, is a graduate of the Royal Academy of Music in London, England, and has been a professional accompanist since graduation, having accompanied most of the leading concert artists who visited Northern Ireland. She was the pianist for the Belfast Philharmonic Society and was also a member of the Studio Symphony Orchestra in which she played the viola.

Most of the time Mr. Boyd sings and sings with Mrs. Boyd as his accompanist, but a few times each year he accepts invitations to lead a Spiritual Lay-Emphasis week, and enjoys presenting the Spiritual message from a layman's point of view. He has led special weeks of this nature in a number of states, including Texas, New Mexico, Illinois and Minnesota, according to reports.

In his native Ireland, Boyd, who is a baritone, had the distinction of winning the premiere awards at both the Belfast and the Public Music Festivals, including the coveted John McCornick Cup. Contrary to popular opinion about Irish singers, the majority of men are baritones or basses.

The public is cordially invited to attend the Lay Mission services.

Every ardent angler remembers those rare times when he gets in a school of surfacing white bass and catches a fish on practically every cast.

Schooling fish such as these often give the inexperienced angler a sense of false security. Since the whites were near the top, he figures they spend most of their time in this vicinity, and he casts or trolls shallow-running baits.

Not so, says white bass expert Bob Hill of Austin who has fished over the entire state for whites and has worked out some highly specialized methods for taking them.

Based on his observations, he says whites spend fully 90 per cent of their time in deep water over the bottom. So anyone trolling a bait, even a deep-running job, usually isn't getting down to where the fish are.

Hill likes to tell about the time he was fishing on Lake Concha near San Angelo with Billy Dieck of Austin, a Marine dealer. Several boatloads of anglers were trolling for whites, while Hill and Dieck were anchored, working the bottom, and catching a fish on almost every cast. Trollers, witnessing the phenomenal success of the Austinites, couldn't figure what they were doing wrong.

Since white bass prefer a bottom that's fairly clean, such as the mouth of a creek where a sand floor has been washed into the lake, the bottom can be worked with little likelihood of the lines getting hung up. Hill likes some sort of slow-wobbling bait, such as a silver or gold spoon or one made of solid lead.

His favorite used to be a heavy silver spoon, like the Dixie Jet, Tony Acetta or Lone Star spoon. While this spoon still produces quite spectacularly, Hill's current favorite is the Shab Spoon. It is made commercially by the Bomber Bait Co. Hill likes the shab so well he even molds his own.

This heavy, solid-lead spoon can be worked slowly along the bottom and it seems to have the slow-wobble action that whites like.

Hill casts the bait and allows it to plummet straight to the bottom. Then he brings it back in slow stop-and-go jerks, lifting it off the bottom and allowing it to wobble back down. Most times, a white will not attack this bait awfully. It sorts of pecks at it. Therefore, the angler must learn to keep a tight line, to feel the almost imperceptible bite, and watch his rod tip for the telltale bob that indicates a white is fooling with the lure.

Biggest problem in white bass fishing is finding the fish. Hill watches for bird activity. Gulls hovering and diving over the water usually indicate that white bass are feeding below. If there is no bird activity, he simply works any likely spot that might hold whites. He prospects an area for maybe 15 minutes before moving on. Usually, if whites are present and cooperative, they'll bite in a hurry. By systematically moving and trying different spots, Hill usually finds a concentration of the fish sometime during the day.

Even when the fish are schooling near the top, he quite often fishes the bottom. He points out that the small, eager fish rush to the shallow surface to feed ravenously, while the older, more docile whites wait patiently near the bottom for wounded shad to sink down to them. . . . shad that the eager youngsters have missed. A spoon dropped in the vicinity and worked to simulate a wounded bait fish usually will prompt a strike.

Nigerian Missionary To Speak Sunday At Travis Bapt. Church

Miss Betty Jane Ewen, missionary from Abokuta, Nigeria, will be guest speaker Sunday morning, Feb. 7, at the Travis Baptist Church, according to an announcement this week by Rev. James Henry, pastor.

Miss Ewen is home on furlough and makes her home at Waynesville, Mo. She is a niece of Mrs. Sam Hamilton of Memphis.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to come and hear her inspiring message on her duties in Nigeria.

Cyclone To Go

Gloria Johnson had 28 points for the Cyclonettes.

The Memphis boys, in one of their highest point productions of the season, won a 90 to 67 victory from Silverton.

"The Dwh stayed well within the contest for three periods of play, trailing only 15 to 13, first quarter, 37 to 31, halftime, and 55 to 50, at the end of the third quarter, then Memphis leads got to hitting well and tallied 22 in the final period.

Four local boys hit in double figures. Tommy Johnson had 26 points, Larry Johnson 13, Otho Rogers 16, and Louis Davis 12. Randy Gouge had 4 points, Donnie Scott 3, Mike Browning 3, Larry Jeffers 1, Lewis Simpson 2 and John Carmen 1.

Whooping cranes at the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge now total 56, for a new record. There were only 15 in 1941.

Four national forests in Texas have a total net acreage of 658,623 and cover part of 11 East Texas counties.

SCS Can Now Give Assistance To Urban Groups

According to Henry Gregory, district conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, the SCS can now legally give technical assistance to non-farm and urban groups.

"The SCS, through your conservation district, is helping more and more municipal and county officials, planning bodies and developers to cope with problems of erosion, water supply and disposal, improper land use, flooding, and sedimentation," Gregory explained.

The SCS advises and gives guidelines for controlling erosion on highways, subdivisions, shopping centers, and airports—erosion that clogs streams and reservoirs and increases the cost of water purification and road maintenance.

SCS provides information about soils and their limitations or advantages for housing, recreation, waste disposal, road construction, and many other uses.

It provides standards for temporary erosion-control devices in construction areas and advises on water supply potentials, recreation sites, and resource development trends.

According to Gregory, the help available from SCS ranges from advice and consultation to onsite technical assistance.

Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Crisler have returned from a short visit to Midland where they visited with their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Royce Crisler, and in Pecos with their grandson and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lanny Crisler, and little daughter, Victoria Leigh. Little Victoria Leigh is the first girl to be born in the V. A. Crisler family.

Loss Of Hearing Can Be Prevented With Protectors

A Pennsylvania State University professor has found a common denominator for heavy industry, rock music, skeet shooting, and power mowers. It is noise-generated at high enough levels to impair the hearing of half of the workers in America over a period of years, according to Dr. Paul L. Michael, who is reflecting the consensus of hearing specialists.

"Hearing loss is an insidious thing," Dr. Michael says. "Susceptibility to damage varies greatly among people. Some can hear loud noises over long periods without any affect, while others suffer permanent damage. Unfortunately, at present there is no good way to find out who is susceptible, so we must protect everybody as if he were."

The best way to prevent hearing damage is by using ear protectors. "The purpose of ear protectors," Dr. Michael says, "is to put a barrier between the inner ear and the noise. Without it, the energy produced as a result of noise gradually destroys the delicate nerve endings which pick up sound vibrations and carry them to the brain."

A noise-induced hearing loss is similar to that affecting people in old age; the sufferers hear a speaker but can't understand what he is saying. Until the day when permanent answers to noise pollution are found, Dr. Michael says, "ear protectors seem to be our best bet."

Gypsy moths were first introduced in this country in 1889. They now infest most of New England, eastern New York, New Jersey and eastern Pennsylvania.

A good habit to cultivate now is to like the things you get, if you can't get the things you like.
